64 inches wide. White, cream, slate and fast black. At all dry goods dealers.

FOR SALE BY

D. L. BODFISH,
CROSS BLOCK, PALMER.

Spring style
Derbys and Alpine Hats.

Every new popular style Derby is here in the Youman, Dunlap, Collins & Fairbanks, Knox and Spellman styles, colors, black, mocha and heath brown, at $1.50, $2.00, $2.50 and $3.00. You can pay one to two dollars more for your spring hat and get no better satisfaction. We've every new novelty for little folks headwear, Derbys, Alpines, Tam O'Shanters, Golf Caps and Eaton Caps.

MEIGS & COMPANY,
SPRINGFIELD, MASS.
OPEN MONDAY AND SATURDAY EVENINGS.

A Robin.

What art thou doing there,
Robin, sweet Robin,
On yonder bough so bare,
Singing or sobbing?

Through the long summer days
Heard wert thou rarely;
Lark, thrush and nightingale
Outsung thee fairly.

Now, when lark, thrush and all
Silence are keeping,
Skies like a leaden pall,
Mist undercreeping,

Where the dark yew its shade
Over churchyards is flinging,
Thou sittest and singest.
Oh, what art thou singing?

It is not of love;
Love needs one to hear it.
It is not of life;
Death and tombs are too near it.

And it is not in hope,
With the long days before us,
With the limitless scope,
And the woods sweet in chorus.

But when all else is still,
Or winds only are sighing,
Leaves falling around thee
Decaying and dying,

When some fire yet unknown
In thy warm heart is throbbing,
Thou sittest and singest there,
Robin, sweet Robin!

Gay of heart, cheerily,
Chiding our sadness;
But, oh, there are tears in thee,
Bird, in thy gladness.

—London Spectator.

PALMER HISTORY GLEANINGS.

BY O. P. ALLEN.

XI

Hostelries of Later Years.

The advent of the railroad and the growth of new villages in our town wrought many changes. The old-time taverns were either torn down or relegated to do service as farmhouses; a few of them are still used in that honorable capacity. The changed conditions of modern times and ideas caused new hotels to spring up in our town, as in many others, to meet the growing needs of a progressive age.

The Western Railroad Hotel.

Capt. E. N. Dewey came to Palmer from Becket in 1836 and bought the Capt. Daniel King farm, which comprised the land from where the Baptist church stands to Dublin street, and from the river to Tamar Hill, or Dewey Hill, as it is now called. The old farmhouse stood where Mrs. Laura Child now resides. The front part of this house was a two-story structure which the Captain moved to the site of the present Weeks House in 1839, making some changes and additions, and called it the Western Railroad Hotel, in honor of the road just opened from Boston to Springfield. Some three years after he built the Dewey homestead, where he resided during the remainder of his life. The hotel proved a success from the first, but the Captain preferred a more quiet life, so he sold the property to Ephraim and Lambert Allen in 1843. It was about this time that Lambert Allen built the brick house where C. E. Fish now resides. In 1845 the Western Railroad bought out the Allen brothers, which purchase included the hotel and brick house. The company sold the hotel to Elisha Converse, and exchanged the brick house for the old Watson house and some land, moving the Watson house to its present location near the hat factory. The hotel now came under the management of John Morrell and John Converse, who changed the name to "Union." In a short time Morrell sold his interest to P. W. Webster, Mr. Converse remaining. During the following years the hotel changed managers quite often, Converse and Webster giving place to John Allen, who was followed by Thomas Marshall, William Wallace, and Calvin Shaw. E. Boardman Shaw, the next proprietor, bought the property of Elisha Converse, enlarged the capacity of the house and changed its name to "Antique," which cognomen it bore for many years. Mr. Shaw "knew how to keep a hotel," and the house flourished under his charge. After his death it was continued under the management of John Shaw and Mrs. Tiffany. In 1873 the house was bought by J. W. Weeks. In succeeding years Mr. Weeks made many changes, and later gave it his own name, besides adding a third story, rendering the house attractive and imposing. Under his care the house became popular and widely known. Noted people were counted among his patrons, and the magnates of the Boston and Albany Railroad Co. were frequent guests. Coaching and driving parties often sought his hospitality and rejoiced in the bountiful repasts spread for their enjoyment.

But the end of this prosperous house came suddenly. On the morning of Aug 3, 1891, the house was discovered to be on fire, and so rapid was the progress of the flames that the guests had barely time to escape with their lives, save one, Rev. F. F. Williams, who perished before he could escape. The destruction of the house was a great loss to Mr. Weeks and to the village. Undeterred by misfortune, Mr. Weeks soon set out clearing away the rubbish preparatory to rebuilding, so that in January, 1892, he reopened a new house on the site of the former one, much smaller, but neatly arranged for a limited number of guests. He soon accepted a position in Springfield, since which time the house has been under the care first of Mr. Fillmore, and later of Mr. Fuller.

The Tockwotton House.

Encouraged by the promising future of the new Depot village, Elisha Converse, who had recently removed from the Old Centre, built a hotel on the site of the present Converse House. There was quite a rivalry between him and Capt. Dewey to see who would open first, so it happened that each was ready for business about the same time in 1839. The house was a two-story wooden building, with a large hall extending in the rear over a shed. The entire house was devoted to hotel purposes, there being no accommodations for stores. It was under the successful management of Elisha and John Converse until it was destroyed by the disastrous fire of April 17, 1851. Not discouraged, Mr. Converse soon erected a larger and more substantial house in brick of three stories, with a portion of the ground floor for stores, and a large hall in the second story. Many names were suggested for the new hotel, but the one which was finally adopted was "Tockwotton House," from the Indian name of a river near Providence, R. I. The new house was opened under the management of Elisha and J. M. Converse with the most elaborate ball and supper ever given in Palmer. Amos Mason was the caterer, and outdid himself in the variety and taste with which he served the guests. The supper would have satisfied Parisian epicures. One hundred twenty couples sat down to supper. Through the kindness of Mrs. J. M. Converse, who has preserved a copy of the menu of the occasion, I am enabled to give it in full, in order that the reader may see what a task the guests had to decide the important question of what to eat:

TOCKWOTTON HOUSE.

By E. Converse & Son.

BILL OF FARE—JAN. 15, 1852.

FISH.

Boiled Cod, Oyster Sauce,
Striped Bass, Egg do.
Black Fish, Wine do.

BOILED.

Ham. Turkey, Oyster Sauce.
Tongue. Chicken, Egg do.
Corned Beef. Leg Mutton, Caper do.

GAME.

Mongrel Geese. Black Duck.
Broad Bill Duck. Roast Venison.
Venison Steak. Quail.
Partridge. Wild Geese.
Canvas Back Duck.

ENTREES.

Chicken Pie. Mutton Chop.
Veal Cutlet. Fried Oysters.
Fricassee Chicken. Escalloped do.
Macaroni Cheese. Stewed do.
Rice Croquette. Ham and Egg Patties.
Venison Steak. Lobster Salad.
Oyster Pies.

MOUNTED DISHES.

Boned Turkey, in Jelly. Ham, Garnished.
do. Chicken, do. Tongue do.
do Partridge, do. Saddle Venison.
A la mode de beff. Currant Jelly.

VEGETABLES.

Potatoes, Boiled. Carrots.
Potatoes, Mashed. Turnips.
Onions, Boiled. Kole Slaw.
Beets.

ROAST.

Sirloin Beef. Chicken, Giblet Sauce.
Spare Rib. Duck.
Saddle Mutton. Gosling.
Fillet Veal. Saddle Venison.
Turkey, Cranberry Sauce.

SAUCES.

Pickled Tomatoes. Pickled Cucumbers. do Grapes. do Beets.

PASTRY.

Fruit Cake. Cranberry Puffs.
Pound do. Grape do.
Sponge do. Peach do.
Jelly do. Apple do.
Loaf do. Jelly do.
Cream do. Raspberry do.
Macaroni do. Quince do.

DESSERT.

Charlotte de Russe. Calves Foot Jelly.
Custard Cream. Currant Jelly.
Velvet Cream. Wine do.
Blanc Mange. Grape do.
Malaga Grapes. Hickory Nuts.
Raisins. English Walnuts.
Oranges and Apples. Almonds.

John Converse had charge of the house till 1853, when he was followed by Thomas Norris, with J. W. Weeks for clerk. Charles D. Foster kept the house during 1855-6, followed by Webster and Rich, who gave place to N. B. Royce in 1867 and he to J. S. Wood in 1871, when the name Tockwotton was discarded for the "American House." When Milton Turner came, about 1875, he reverted to the original name "Palmer." He was followed by Seth Stone, Mr. Smith and C. P. Stone, who again changed the name, this time to "Converse," which cognomen it has since borne. P. S. Sawyer came next, and after his retirement the house was remodeled and a fourth story added at a cost of $9000, thus largely increasing the capacity of the house for the accommodation of guests. Mr. Fillmore was the next landlord, but remained only a short time. The present proprietor, E. R. Pierce, came in 1891, and has since managed the house with the exception of one year, when he was absent in Europe, it was in the charge of Lord and Fitzpatrick. Under the present management the Converse House has become widely known to traveling men, by whom it is well patronized. This sketch would be incomplete without mentioning the fact that James F. Fenton has retained his position as clerk for more than ten years through varied administrations because of his uniform, pleasant attention to the needs of the guests.

Nassowanno House.

This house was named in memory of an Indian chieftain, Nassowanno, friend and ally of Annogomok, one time sachem of the territory embraced by the present towns of Palmer and Ware, and who, as the attorney of his friend, bargained the territory to the whites in 1686. Nassowanno was the son of Nashoonon, a Nipmuk chief who accepted Christianity and had his residence near Magus Hill in Worcester county. Nassowanno was an ally of Philip, but after his defeat was friendly to the whites, and often came with his followers to this section in the season of fishing and corn planting. The first Nassowanno House was built in 1850 by Darius and Calvin M. Shaw. It was a three-story substantial brick building with wood cornices, and covered the space occupied by the present house. The first floor was fitted for stores. This hotel was also burned in the great fire of April 17th, 1851, with a loss to the owners of $30,000.

At the urgent request of many citizens Chester and Harvey Strong undertook the task of rebuilding the house, which was finished in 1852, and still remains as a monument of their courage. At the time of its erection it was considered the most imposing brick hotel in Western Massachusetts, being four stories high, with ornamental facings. When finished and fully furnished it cost about $33,000. The second Nassowanno was opened to the public Monday night, October 11, 1852, by the proprietor, E. B. Shaw, who gave a grand supper to 150 invited guests. One paper which gave a description of the house at the time said it was furnished equally as well as the Massasoit in Springfield, and had accommodations for one hundred guests. The hall in the fourth story was a notable feature, 25x60 feet, ornamented at one end by a life-size portrait of Nassowanno. The five stores on the first floor were occupied in order, John Bowles, news, boots and shoes; C. M. Garfield, hats and furs; Chester Strong, groceries; L. A. Baily, tailor; Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Brooks, jewelry and millinery.

The house was formally dedicated by a ball December 11, 1852, Germinder's band from Hartford furnishing the music. It must have been a brilliant occasion, judging from the following poetry written to commemorate the event:

"There was a sound of revelry by night.
And Nassowanno's Hall had gathered then,
A crowd of gallantry and beauty—and bright
The lamps shone o'er fair women and brave men;
A hundred hearts beat rapidly, and when
Music rose with its voluptuous swell
Soft eyes looked love to eyes that spake again,
And all went merry as a marriage bell.
But hush! hark! a deep sound strikes like a rising knell!
Did ye not hear it? No! 'twas but the wind,
Or the car rattling on the frozen street;
On with the dance! let joy be unconfined,
No sleep till morn when youth and pleasure meet
To chase the glowing hours with flying feet.
But hark! that pealing sound breaks in once more,
The hall its thrilling echos doth repeat,
And nearer, clearer, than before,
It comes—What is the matter, tell!
'Tis Boardman, ringing loud the supper bell."

So well had the projectors looked after the details of the building that no repairs were deemed necessary till 1886, when the house underwent a thorough renovation at a cost of about $10,000, making it an up-to-date hotel in all its appointments. In 1883 Lucia E. Strong and Homer C. Strong built the block east of the hotel and connected the two together, thus adding many rooms for the use of guests. This hostelry has been a deservedly popular one since it was opened to the public, having been under the charge of many successful managers. The following gentlemen have been proprietors since 1853, in order: E. B. Shaw, Chester Strong, M. Olmstead, John Allen, J. W. Weeks, S. Taft, C. P. Stone, Thomas Mattoon, H. C. Strong, Payne & Belcher, M. E. Haradon, P. C. Sawyer, H. B. Otis and M. D. Sullivan.

Hotels in Three Rivers.

Pliney Cooley converted the original house of H. J. Kelley into the first tavern kept in Three Rivers. Probably this house first belonged to the original Three Rivers company, and was opened about 1830 by Cooley, who was followed by John and Ephraim Allen, and later by a man by the name of Smith from Canada, who was a relative of the Pauls. It is said that Smith sold the house to Abel Calkins in 1837, who had the charge of it until 1843, when he sold it to Dr. Davis, who owned it until his death in 1869. It was then bought by the Otis Co. After Mr. Calkins the house was successively in charge of Freeman Smith, Marshall Fox, Merrick Cooley, Mr. Spaulding, Andrew Holt in 1855-6, John Sherman, and Mr. Bullock in 1859. In 1872 it was kept as a boarding house by Jesse Buffington, when it was destroyed by fire. In 1880 John Rivers built the Riverside Hotel, which was subsequently bought by Mrs. Mary Hanley, who still continues it.

Bondsville Hotels.

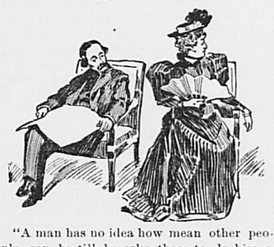
Emilius Bond opened a hotel in Bondsville about 1830 in a one-story red house located where the meat market now stands. It had at first a yellow pumpkin for a sign, and when that decayed a wooden imitation painted to represent the natural fruit was put in its place; probably to convey the idea to the public that though the house was small, yet "it was some pumpkins." This hotel was kept by Abijah Hyde, who was succeeded in 1835 by Capt. Murdock and later by Mr. Orcutt. This house was taken down in 1840. The second hotel was built by Emilius Bond about 1850. It was a two-story building and kept at first by Seth Stimson, followed by Mr. Miller, and last by Mr. Canterbury. It was discontinued as a hotel soon after 1860, since which time no hotel has been sustained on the Palmer side of the river.

Hotels in Thorndike.

The Thorndike Company built the first hotel there about 1844. It was located just north of the present Congregational church. It was first under the care of Andrew Breard, who remained about eight years and was followed by Mr. Hoar, Elias Paul, Stephen G. Newton, Charles D. Foster and others. Mr. Foster was in charge in 1852 and furnished the dinner for the 100th anniversary of this town, held at Four Corners July 5th that year. The house is now a boarding house. For about thirty years the mill operatives observed the 22d day of March each year with a dance at this house, which was known as the "blowing out night," because the mills discontinued the use of lights after that date until the succeeding autumn. In 1885 the Clinton House was built and opened as a public house by Mrs. Clifford, and is still managed by her.

The outline history of our public houses has been given in the foregoing sketches, covering a period of 163 years. Few country towns in our state are able to boast so many historic inns, around which clustered so much of the life of a community during the Colonial and Revolutionary times. All of our innholders of the last century were leading men of the town, whose rooms were always open for those who desired to council together for the best methods of carrying forward the town's part in national affairs. Our people were always patriotic and equal to every emergency, and it would be interesting to be able to give the inside history of the times and the men who figured then, and to unfold their councils matured under the hospitable roofs of the Scotts, the Thompsons, the Quintons, the Kings and Walkers of those days. It would add much to our knowledge of many noted men outside our own borders, and read like a chapter of romance. But, alas! oblivion has closed over nearly all save what the scanty records of public meetings disclose, leaving us to let imagination supply the lack of better knowledge.

Applies to Each.



"A man has no idea how mean other people can be till he asks them to do him a favor."

"Nor how strong minded he can be till his wife asks him for one."—Life.

ENGLISH AS SHE MIGHT BE SPOKE.

A Hindu pleader in British India, who had evidently learned his English with the misleading help of a book of synonyms, besides a dictionary, amazed a local magistrate, says London Law Notes, with this extraordinary tangle of metaphors: "My learned friend, with mere wind from a teapot, thinks to browbeat me from my legs. But this is mere gorilla warfare. I stand under the shoes of my client, and only seek to place my bone of contention clearly in your honor's eye. My learned friend vainly runs amuck upon the sheet anchors of my case. Your honor will be pleased enough to observe that my client is a widow, a poor chap with one post-mortem son. A widow of this country, your honor will be pleased enough to observe, is not like a widow of your honor's country. A widow of this country is not able to eat more than one meal a day, or to wear clean clothes, or to look after a man. So my poor client had not such physic or mind as to be able to assault the lusty complainant. Yet she has been deprived of some of her more valuable leather, the leather of her nose. My learned friend has thrown only an argument ad hominy upon my teeth, that my client's witnesses are all her relation. But they are not near relations. Their relationship is only homeopathic. So the misty arguments of my learned friend will not hold water. At least they will not hold good water. Then, my learned friend has said that there is on the side of his client a respectable witness, namely, a pleader, and since this witness is independent so he should be believed. But your honor, with your honor's vast experience, is pleased enough to observe that truthfulness is not so plentiful as blackberries in this country. And I am sorry to say, though this witness is a man of my own feathers, that there are in my profession black sheep of every complexion, and some of them do not always speak gospel truth. Until the witness explains what has become of my client's nose leather he cannot be believed. He cannot be allowed to raise a castle in the air by beating upon a bush. So, trusting in that administration of British justice on which the sun never sets, I close my case."

KNEW WHAT SHE WANTED.—"My husband asked me to stop and get him a piece of sacred music," said the lady, entering the music store; "it's something about hands, but I can't for the life of me think what it is." "'The Folded Hands,' perhaps," said the clerk. "No, that's not it." "'Those Beautiful, Beautiful Hands?'" ventured the attendant a second time. "No, that doesn't sound like it." "It can't be 'The Palms,'" was the third suggestion made by the clerk. "That's it, 'The Palms,'" said the little woman triumphantly. "I knew it had something to do with the hands!"—Yonkers Statesman.

Of Interest to Women.

EDITED BY MISS F. V. DOANE.

Readers of this column who have items or recipes which they think might interest others are invited to send them for publication.

Bacteriology.

Introduction.—Bacteriology as a science is comparatively new and has opened a limitless field for investigation. It is a science, a knowledge of which is valuable to every housekeeper. It is the purpose of the writer in this and following short articles to give general information on such branches of the science as are of special interest to housekeepers. These papers will not go into minute details, and will present the subject as simplified as possible. They will be abstracts and compilations from scientific works of value, from lectures, and from personal conversations with scientists. I shall attempt nothing original, but shall quote freely when a quotation expresses briefly and clearly the point I wish to make; and I shall pick out sentences here and there from my authorities as it suits my purpose.

Terms.—In this connection we notice the terms microbe and its plural, microbes, bacterium, bacteria, bacillus, bacilli, and germs. To explain fully the uses of these terms would require a history of the science. I intend to give a brief outline of that later. For the present let me say that the term germ, which comes from a Latin word meaning "to produce," was given to microbes before their nature was understood; it is much used, but is inappropriate and disapproved by many careful scientists. Let me give a few definitions. "An organism is a structure performing functions." (Webster.) Micros is the Greek word small. A microscope is an instrument for seeing small things, and a microbe is a small organism. Hence "a microbe is any microscopic organism." Bacillus and bacterium are Greek words; their plurals are bacilli and bacteria; they both mean a "staff." These terms have long been used in botany and zoology to describe rod-like filaments. They referred originally to the shape of the microbe, and were used and are now sometimes used synonomously. Yet careful writers make a distinction, using the term bacteria to describe microscopic organisms in general, and the term bacilli to describe a certain form of bacteria. For our present purpose the general terms bacterium and bacteria will best serve us.

All forms of bacteria are classified as plants; they are invisible except under a microscope, but they are innumerable. "There are no other living things in nature, from the highest to the lowest, so widely distributed in the earth, the air and the water, so commonly and multitudinously present, near us and on us and in us, as the various kinds" of bacteria.

Forms.—Whole volumes have been written on the forms of bacteria, but in general it may be said "in shape they show three varieties: Rod-like, called bacilli; spherical, called cocci; and cork-shaped, called spirilli."

Color.—"As a rule bacteria are white, so when numerous in water the fluid is milky. But of numerous species each has its peculiar color, as red, blue, yellow or green."

Structure.—"Bacteria, like other living things, are composed of cells," that is, each individual bacterium is a single cell. The wall of the cell or the outer membrane is cellulose, the substance "forming the framework of all plant structures." The inner soft substance of the cell is protoplasm, which is even more common in higher organisms than cellulose. Cell comes from a Latin word which means to hide, and was used because the cell hides what is within, in this case protoplasm. Protoplasm is from two Greek words which mean first, or beginning, and to find, so called because the substance protoplasm is the beginning substance of all living beings, for all plants and all animals are made up of tissues and these tissues are formed by the union of innumerable cells. Therein the bacteria resemble other living things except that each bacterium contains but one cell, while the organism that we see contains a great, great many.

More about bcateria next week.

New Fashions.

A few large hats are shown already in the wholesale houses for summer wear. Nearly all large hats have Tam O'Shanta crowns made of fancy braids, the brims being leghorn or plain straws with fancy edge.

A new style cuff turns back in curved curved sections and reminds one of a lily.

There is a new pattern just out for a skirt. It is for narrow goods. It has nine gores, and is five and a half yards around the bottom.

Walking shoes will have rounded toes, but broad, to fit the foot. House shoes are still to be "toothpicks," in patent leather, also in red, white, blue, and russet leather.

Large sleeves still obtain, reports to the contrary notwithstanding.

In Season.

Planting.—Now is the time to get celery and lettuce seeds planted in boxes. Pansy, nasturtium and other flower seeds also. Look over the seed packages in market, they will tell you what to plant now.

Shopping.—If you haven't bought your yearly supply of table linen do it soon, the rise in prices has already set in. Hamburgs are handsomer and cheaper now than they will be later.

Fashions.—The first openings of new cotton goods are in March. The best assortment of summer silks you will find now; all the new spring styles. How beautiful, how gay are the Persian colors. But you need not be gay to be stylish if your tastes are quiet. There are beautiful silks of various makes with prices varying from sixty-nine cents to four dollars a yard, that have the new Persian colors so harmonized that the effect is pleasing to the most modest taste. Silk waists with large sleeves will be as much worn as ever. Shirt waists show greater varieties. Besides the severe styles there are waists of dainty muslins and lawns, with frills and laces and insertions.

FLORAL DECORATIONS FOR CHILDREN'S PARTIES.—In giving a birthday party for children the table should be decorated with the birthday flower of the month in which they were born: January, snowdrop; February, primrose; March, violet; April, daisy; May, hawthorn; June, wild rose; July, lily; August, poppy; September, convolvulus; October, hops; November, chrysanthemum; December, holly. Each has an appropriate sentiment attached to it. The snowdrop means consolation; the primrose, youthful sunshine; the violet, modesty; the daisy, innocence; the hawthorn, hope; the wild rose, simplicity; the lily, purity; the poppy, the comfort of sleep; the convolvulus, contentment; hops, aspiration; the chrysanthemum, cheerfulness; holly, foresight and protection.—Ladies' Home Journal.

IN CUPID'S SCRAP BOOK.—Probably a woman would be a bride to her husband longer if she would continue making company of him. Most women begin to save their jam for visitors when they have been married three months.

The Journal.

FRIDAY EVENING, MARCH 27, 1896.

PALMER NEWS.

Publisher's Notice.—All communications intended for publication in these columns must be received at this office by noon of Wednesday, in order to appear in the next issue of the paper.

LOCAL NOTICES.

Buy the light-running Waverly, Jeweler Barton, agent.

For Sale:—Two good business wagons.
E. B. Taylor, Palmer.

Lost—A ladies' hunter case gold watch. Suitable reward for its return to G. E. Buck.

Miss K. I. McMahon will have a full line of trimmed and untrimmed millinery on and after April 1st.

C. G. Gardner has gone to New York for his health.

Silas Keith is home from his dental studies at Philadelphia.

The schools of the town closed this afternoon for a vacation of two weeks.

An auction sale of horses has been taking place at the Weeks House to-day.

Miss Abbie Wallace goes to-morrow to New York for a vacation of two weeks.

Miss Idella Holbrook has returned from an extended stay in Lynn with her brother.

Mrs. L. E. Carpenter will have her millinery opening next Friday and Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Thayer leave to-morrow for a visit of a few days in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander of Westfield spent part of the week with Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Bard.

Miss McDonald will have her milinery opening in the Cross block to-morrow and Monday.

Thomas Lodge of Masons worked the second degree on two candidates Monday evening.

Mrs. S. Whitman of New Bedford, formerly of Palmer, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Smith.

The Ladies' Tuesday Social club will meet next Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. L. E. Chandler.

George, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Buck, is sick with scarlet fever in a mild form.

Luther Cobb is moving into the upper tenement of Mr. Shepard's house on Converse avenue.

Mrs. Emma Graham has been adjudged an insane person, and sent to the insane hospital at Westboro.

L. G. Harris has disposed of his household goods and will engage in the restaurant business in Connecticut.

The buildings occupied by the Rogers-Osgood Hat Co. are to be sold at auction tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Wallace Shaw has moved his family to Salem, where he will be employed by the electric street railway company.

The Palmer Bicycle club is arranging for a minstrel show and entertainment, by local talent, to take place in the near future.

The Quaboag Literary Circle will resume meetings this evening, when Rev. H. F. Moulton will read a paper on Longfellow.

Miss Lizzie Holden entertained a large number of young friends Tuesday afternoon and evening at her home on South Main street.

"Rover," the large Newfoundland dog belonging to H. C. Strong, who has been a "dog with a history," died Tuesday at the age of 15 years.

H. A. Northrop has been appointed and has qualified as a deputy sheriff in Hampshire county, this making his fourth appointment in that county.

G. B. Kenerson has put in machinery for cleaning carpets by the beating and brushing method, and will pay particular attention to taking up and laying carpets.

The school committee organized Monday evening by the choice of Rev. W. H. Hart as chairman. The selectmen have chosen J. F. Twiss chairman for another year.

Miss Bertha Royce, who has been assisting in the post office during the illness of her father, is now sick with the measles, and C. A. Brown is assisting in the office.

The week-night meeting at Palmer Center has been changed from Wednesday to Friday evenings, at 7.30. Service on Sunday at 3 p. m., and Sunday school at 4.

A large amount of timber on the Talma and Loman Brown farm, sold recently to D. W. Cowles & Co. of Amherst, has been sold by them to the Boston and Maine road.

The performance of "Coon Hollow was given a good audience at the opera house last evening, and was much enjoyed. About 50 came from Monson on a special train.

The law will allow the catching of trout on and after next Wednesday, though the present prospects for the capture of large strings on that day are not encouraging.

A special train will be run to Willimantic next Thursday evening to accommodate those who wish to attend the performance of "A Country Circus" at the opera house.

A. E. Fitch was in Boston yesterday, attending the hearing before the Legislative committee on the petition for a bill providing for a clerk of the Eastern Hampden district court.

The Lenten service in St. Paul's church next Tuesday evening will be conducted by Rev. J. B. Reardon of Westfield. Thursday evening there will be a conference of church members.

The Mitchell property on Thorndike street, which was sold at auction Wednesday noon, did not bring a very large price, and was bought for $560 by Mrs. Samuel Brown of Palmer Center.

Henry McGilp has been ordered to vacate the premises now occupied by him as a fish market,—the Feeney block on the corner of Main and Central streets,—on account of the odor prevalent in hot weather.

The prospects for a lively town meeting next Monday are unusually good, and the session gives promise of being a long one. There are 42 articles in the warrant, giving plenty of material for discussion.

Rev. H. F. Moulton will preach next Sunday morning in St. Paul's church on the theme: "Our fourth Lenten meditation, or what should be our attitude toward the church of Jesus the Christ in Palmer?"

At the meeting of the school committee Monday, Miss Annie Bishop was appointed as teacher of the school in the Mason district, in place of Miss Berry, resigned. The truant officers of last year were reappointed.

Next Sunday will be Palm Sunday at St. Thomas's Catholic church, with services at the usual hours. Next week there will be services on Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 8 a. m., and on Thursday and Friday at 7.30 p. m.

Mrs. Ella Sedgwick and Mrs. L. E. Carpenter returned last evening from New York, where they have been attending the dress-making and millinery openings. Miss Cora Peebles, who has been with Mrs. Carpenter for several seasons, returned with her last evening.

The Hampden county convention of the King's Daughters was held in the Congregational church Monday afternoon and evening. Delegates from the surrounding towns were present. Mrs. Eliza Trask Hill, state secretary, gave an interesting address at both sessions.

Home from school for vacation: Miss Bertha Hastings from Smith Collage; Miss Ada Wing from Brown University; Miss Pearl Lawton from Ashburnham Academy; Edwin Gardner and Harold Shaw from Amherst College; Calvin Hastings from Worcester Academy.

Miss L. H. Brigham gave a lecture on "A Summer in Nova Scotia," with readings from "Evangeline," at Warren yesterday afternoon, and the Ladies' Tuesday Social Club of Palmer, of which Miss Brigham is a member, attended in a body. Miss Brigham will give the same programme next Tuesday at the residence of Mrs. G. C. Flynt in Monson.

Some of the employes of the New London Northern branch of the Central Vermont road, which went into the hands of receivers last week, are worrying unnecessarily regarding their pay. The order of the court provides for the payment of all outstanding indebtedness for supplies and labor, and the employes will all get their wages in good time.

The Eaton Club will present St. Paul's church next Sunday, at the close of the morning preaching service, with a black walnut baptismal font and kneeling desk, in memory of Mrs. Jennie E. Eaton. The presentation address will be made by the president of the club, Miss Jennie Eastman, and the acceptance address will be given by the senior deacon of the church, O. M. Graves.

Rev. F. E. Jenkins will preach in the Congregational church Sunday morning on "Enthusiasm for the coming king"—a Palm Sunday sermon. In the evening there will be a stereopticon service under the care of the Men's Sunday Evening club. It will include an illustrated solo and a picture study of the life of John the Baptist. Everybody invited, all seats free.

The Flynt Building and Construction company has the contract for a large amount of work for the Warwick Mills at Centerville, R. I. The work will include a cotton mill 490 x 104 feet, three stories and basement, engine house 79 x 48, boiler house 75 x 44, chimney 180 feet high. The price is $150,000. The company also has the contract to build a German Lutheran church at Passaic, N. J., the price being about $20,000.

The train on the New London Northern road due from the south at 10.30 a. m. yesterday did not get in until about 12 20, on account of an accident to the locomotive near Norwich. The parallel-rod on the engineer's side broke and smashed the cab, throwing the engineer, Forest Leach, off his seat and shaking him up considerably, though luckily he was not much hurt. The fireman received a sprained ankle.

At the sale of the stock in the Rogers-Osgood hat shop last Saturday a lot of finished hats were bid off by Connett & Co. of New York for about $300. The balance of the stuff was sold to G. M. Atkins for $2775. Mr. Atkins represented Palmer interests, and the shop has been started up this week to run out the stock, which will take until about the first of June. It is hoped that arrangements may be made which will enable the works to run again next season.

The engineer of the 1.30 p. m. express east Wednesday was evidently in a hurry; at any rate he sailed through Palmer at a rate which prevented the clerk in the mail car from catching the pouch from the crane, and it went under the wheels, where it was literally ground into shreds, and a bunch of 20 letters was transformed into mince-meat in short order. Most of the letters were from Palmer business men, and some of them got back fragments of the originals. E. S. Brooks had shipped a package of jewelry by this mail, but fortunately it was unhurt. G. A. Moore was not so fortunate, and a ring which he had mailed was ruined.

George S. Holden of Palmer, superintendent of Holden & Fuller's woolen mill, and Miss Katherine Cramer of Ann Arbor, Mich., were married Wednesday evening at the home of the bride. The wedding was a quiet one, only the bride's relatives and a few friends being present. The ceremony took place at 8 o'clock, and was performed by Rev. C. M. Coburn, the full Episcopal service being used. The bride was gowned in ivory silk with pearl trimmings, and carried a bunch of marguerites. Her only ornament was a brooch of pearls and diamonds, the gift of the groom. The house was decorated with yellow and white cut flowers, and palms. A wedding supper was served, the prevailing colors of yellow and white being carried out in the refreshment room. Mr. and Mrs. Holden are expected to reach Palmer to-morrow evening, and will be at home to friends after May 1st.

District Court.

Felix Lanvig of Ludlow was on Monday fined $10 for drunkenness, and in default of funds was sent up. Officer Studley found him at the railroad station Saturday evening, and Lanvig resisted arrest with a blow from his fist on the officer's right ear which cut that organ badly. Lanvig couldn't remember it Monday, however, but when told that he had struck the officer remarked: "I don't know anything about it, but it looks as though I hit him." He pleaded guilty to a charge of assault upon an officer, and was bound over to the superior court in $500 bonds.

On Tuesday Everett B. Meacham of Athol was sent to the house of correction in default of $6, assessed for drunkenness. A vagrant claiming the same name as he whom history says Pocahontas saved from fatal injuries, hailing from New York, was sent to the house of correction for 60 days; another vagrant, William E. Hegeman of New York state, was sent to assist the state on its farm at Bridgewater for the next twelve months.

Charles Gulmes of Worcester yielded up $5 on Wednesday morning for having been drunk.

PALMER CENTER.

Lawrence and Joseph Brothers have leased the "Pest House" for a year and have moved in.

The man spoken of in last week's JOURNAL as being 81 years old and voting "No" for the first time, was John Corey of this place, and he was 91 last October, probably the oldest voter in town.

THREE RIVERS.

Before selecting your wheel see the Waverly. Jeweler Barton, Palmer, agent.

R. W. Morse has moved to Belchertown.

Rev. G. S. Butler has gone for a few weeks' stay in New York.

Herbert Main of Waltham is spending a few days with A. S. Geer.

Mr. Ives, who has lived here for a number of years, has moved to Bondsville.

Lewis Calkins of Springfield has been visiting friends and relatives in this place.

Miss Edith Avery has been quite sick with a cold, but is now able to attend school.

J. W. Needham has left for New Bedford, where he has accepted a position in the mill.

The Ladies' Home Circle met at the home of Mrs. W. O. Twogood Wednesday afternoon.

It is reported that a Chinese laundry is to be opened in the store formerly occupied by A. Grise.

Mr. White, who has lived four years in this place, returned to his old home in Saco, Me., Monday.

Miss Hattie Marland of Ware, who has been the guest of J. W. Needham, returned to her home Monday.

The whist club met Wednesday evening for the last time this season. After the meeting refreshments were served.

Harry Newell, who has been home from Amherst College for six weeks on account of sickness, returned Thursday.

John West and wife of Pembrook, N. H., who have been the guests of Mr. Paige, returned to their home Monday morning.

Miss Peck of Monson has commenced giving music lessons again, after being absent for three weeks on account of the death of her mother.

A lecture is to be given this evening by Mrs. Toby of Boston at 7.30 in the Union church, after which a no-license league will be organized.

Tuesday evening J. H. Trickett was elected Master Workman of Palmer lodge, A. O. U. W., to fill the unexpired term of J. W. Needham, who has moved away.

At the Baptist church next Sunday there will be preaching by E. A. Thomas at 10 45 a. m. At 7 p. m. "Chapel Day" exercises auspices of the Sunday school of the church.

The Christian Endeavor society held its business meeting Tuesday evening, after which a social was held. Speaking and singing helped to make the occasion an enjoyable one.

BONDSVILLE.

Miss Ora Parent is home from Smith College.

Mrs. H. C. Morgan is visiting her sister in Enfield.

G. A. Jacobs spent Sunday with his parents in Lowell.

Master Morgan Ryther visited his aunt in Enfield Tuesday.

John J. Conway has returned from a short visit to his home in Norwich, Ct.

Mrs. Eva Kennedy and daughter of Ware spent Sunday with Mrs. Rufus Bond.

Mrs. Samuel Sharratt, who has been quite sick for about two weeks, is much better.

Mrs. May and children of New Bedford are visiting Mrs. May's sister, Mrs. Will Taylor.

Mr. Lee returned this week from Vermont, where he was called by the illness of his little daughter, Mabel. The child is very ill with brain fever.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Russell spent the latter part of the week with Mr. and Mrs. Getchell in Waltham, and friends in Boston. Mrs. Russell will spend several weeks in Boston and vicinity.

C. F. Armstrong was taken ill suddenly Sunday afternoon, and being no better Monday went to Springfield, where he is being attended by Dr. Chapin. It is hoped that he will be well enough to return in a few days.

According to the amount of money found in the bags at the M. E. church birthday party last week the youngest present was one year, the oldest one hundred years old. None of the young ladies present have confessed to having brought either bag.

In Memoriam.

Simon F. Moynahan passed away March 17, 1896. To those who knew and loved him, these words mean much. They mean the ending of a noble and promising life, the removal of a dearly loved son and brother, a favorite schoolmate and friend. They mean that months of pain and suffering, all so cheerfully and patiently borne, are over for him. His character was marked by its unselfishness and courage. He met death peacefully, trusting in God. He will be sadly missed among us, both in the home and in the school where he had worked so faithfully, and where he hoped to resume his studies the spring term. But God had other and better plans for him, and we know that "He doeth all things well." Simon Moynahan has left behind the memory of a beautiful character, and an example of great courage, unselfishness and patience. We feel that the world is better for his having lived. May God help and comfort those upon whom his loss falls heaviest.

"Could now the silence of those lips
Break into speech once more to-day,
What loving message would they send?
What last word, think you, would they say?

"Weep for me tenderly, for I—
Were you here lying in my place—
Would press the kisses on your brow,
And rain the hot tears on your face.

"And when this body 's laid away,
I'd have you my low earth-bed make,
All fresh with grass and bright with flowers,
And sacred for the old time's sake.

"But then, dear heart, look up and on,
Let sunshine all the clouds break through,
And do not, for my sake, forget
What for the living you must do."

* * *

THORNDIKE.

The schools closed to-day for a two-weeks' vacation.

William J. McCormick is to put in a new soda fountain.

Leon Bartlett has opened a new milk route this week.

There is talk of having a leap year dance here in the near future.

John Wagner is again confined to the house with rheumatism.

Michael Kelley of Holyoke has accepted a position with Frank Smith.

H. T. Bishop returned on Thursday from a visit to his son Walter in Millbury.

Frank Phanneff will soon move into Mrs. Thomas Lines's house on Harvey avenue.

Miss Lizzie Hartnett is spending a vacation with friends in Springfield for a week or so.

Mr. Jillson of Orange has been the guest of his sister, Miss M. V. Jillson, for a few days.

Mr. Clifford of Millbury has been the guest of his son, T. J. Clifford, during the week.

Isaac Garmache returned on Thursday morning from a four-weeks' business trip to Montreal.

Miss Alice Flynn has returned to Springfield, after spending a few days here with relatives.

Mrs. L. M. Shields returned from New York this week, having attended the millinery openings.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Kendall will leave this week for Amherst, where they will make their home.

A number from this place attended "Coon Hollow" at Palmer last evening, and were well pleased with it.

Miss Kate Fleming returned this week from Boston, where she has been attending the millinery openings.

It is said that the Young Men's Union of Ware is thinking of giving a minstrel show and dance here after Lent.

The mills will not resume work until Tuesday of next week. This will give the voters a chance to attend the town meeting on Monday.

Archie Beechard and wife left this week for Canada, where they were called by the illness of Mr. Beechard's brother, who it is said is dying.

John Shabbott of Smithville, with his family, have been the guests of his brothers here for a few days, en route for Northbridge, where they are to live.

Patrick Hurley, Jr., met with an accident one day the past week. While storing cases of manufactured goods in the storehouse one of the cases fell, striking him and injuring him about the head and face.

The grammar school of the place has organized a ball team for the coming season, and would like to arrange games with the grammar school clubs in the surrounding towns. Address W. J. Riley.

M. J. Roche of this place, who is studying pharmacy at Boston, is making rapid progress and stands at the head of his class, having received honorable mention from the professors for his work during the examination of last week.

There is some talk of reorganizing the ball club for the coming season. Kelliher, Gay and Bordro have left town, and their places will have to be filled by new men. Aside from these three all the men in last year's team could probably be brought together again.

It is to be hoped that the last has been heard of the proposed statue to Gen. Butler. If a $50,000 statue were erected in his memory, and all other departed public men in Massachusetts were to be honored in proportion, the commonwealth would be in a fair way to bankrupt itself in a short time.

New York's Republican state convention was held on Wednesday, and was carried enthusiastically for Gov. Morton. The endorsement of McKinley for second choice was defeated, 631 to 109.

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Journal finds that Reed and McKinley is one of the possible outcomes of the St. Louis convention. It would be a strong combination.

The Republican state convention for the choice of four delegates-at-large to the national convention at St. Louis will be held in Music Hall at Boston to-morrow, when the support of the party in Massachusetts will be pledged to Thomas B. Reed of Maine. The delegates will be Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Eben S. Draper, Curtis Guild, Jr.; and W. Murray Crane, but there are more than the required number of candidates for the positions of alternates, so just who will be chosen is uncertain. It is announced that the money plank in the platform will be as "strong for gold as the English language can make it." The platform declares the party belief in protection to American industries, and says that the next Republican administration must pass a new tariff bill which shall contain the reciprocity features advocated by Mr. Blaine. Sympathy is expressed for Cuba, with the hope that the United States government may use its friendly offices to restore order and establish self-government and liberty on the island. Senator Lodge calls for stringent restriction of immigration, and a plank indorses the Monroe doctrine as asserted in early times and in 1895. The platform will declare that our carrying trade ought to be in American ships, and also contain a declaration that no public money should be appropriated for sectarian purposes.

The voters of Palmer can do themselves a good turn at the town meeting next Monday by organizing, appointing a committee of 15 representative citizens to consider the matter of appropriations, and then adjourning for one week. With representatives from all parts of the town on this committee,—men who are sound in business affairs and who can be trusted to look at each proposition fairly, from all sides,—the town cannot fail to be a gainer by this course. By this method each article in the warrant would be thoroughly discussed, and facts brought to light and presented to the voters which would render them much more capable of intelligent action when it came to a vote. Some of the best students of the town's affairs have suggested this course, which may well be adopted with profit.

LEGISLATIVE MATTERS.

BOSTON, March 25, 1896.

The problem of the municipal ownership of gas and electric light works seems destined to experience no progress at the hands of the Legislature of 1896. Several petitions for leave to build and operate municipal lighting plants have been reported upon adversely. The keenness of interest which was felt in this a few years ago has passed away. It is seen that they cannot jump to a conclusion all at once. The operation of the state oversight tends to prevent abuses, and the disposition to escape from the rule of the lighting companies is not as ardent as it was. Furthermore, it would not be at all strange if the companies had exerted themselves to put up their fences so that the popular discontent with them shall be less. At any rate, the problem does not seem as near solution as it did two or three years ago.

Last November's vote against woman suffrage has not hurt the standing of the women with the committees on liquor laws and election laws, whatever may be true of the Legislature as a whole. There have been reported bills to allow women to vote on the issue of liquor licenses, and to give them municipal woman suffrage. On each instance there have been dissenters. On the other hand, the women do not seem to have as much interest in the reform this year as usual. They did not turn out nearly as many for the committee hearings as they did last year, and when the question of general suffrage was pending in the House there was no more numerous attendance of women than on other days. Perhaps they will turn out when the municipal suffrage bill is reached, but they certainly let one opportunity pass without making the slightest effort to improve it. The dissenters from the municipal suffrage bill are Senators Blodgett and Corbett and Representative Moriarty.

There is an agreement of the two branches upon what promises to be a material investigation into the charities and reformatory institutions of the state. The house has concurred with the Senate order for the inquiry, but has given the committee power to send for persons and papers and to employ a stenographer, and requires them to report by the first of January, 1897. The subject is immense in its scope, and there will doubtless be plenty for the committee to look into. Much friction exists, and has existed for years, in the management of our charitable and correctional institutions. The boards and managers are not agreed, and it is quite possible that the subject will be very fertile when once it is fairly opened.

The hearing before the committee on ways and means on the appropriation of $50,000 for a stature to Gen. Butler, taken in connection with the remonstrances against such a statue which have been put into the Legislature, have doubtless killed for this year all idea of erecting a statue to him, and it would not be strange if the proposition were never renewed again. It the first place, the petitioners have made out a remarkably weak case when they descended to particulars and were called upon for specifications of what in particular the general had done to make him worthy of this distinguished honor at the hands of the state. In the next place, the testimony on the other side has completely riddled whatever pretence there might be that Butler was a military genious. It was shown that Butler never directed the action of troops in battle but once, and then he was defeated by failure to observe a common military precaution. He had plenty of other opportunities, but he never was found in command in action again. It was not charged that this was due to cowardice, but to a knowledge that he had not the capacity to command troops in battle and that it would be better for him not to be present in person. The testimony to this effect was not given with any bitterness, nor improper spirit, but with due regard to the truth and to cold facts of history. Furthermore, it was said that, instead of the preparation of Massachusetts for the war being due to Butler, he had nothing to do with it, and the only appearance he made in that connection was to ask that a mill with which he was connected be given the contract to make the overcoats of the soldiers. Plenty of evidence was presented as to the capacity and bravery of other Massachusetts general officers, and he would revive a doubter's faith in humanity and human modesty if he could hear the testimony given regarding the solid worth and even brilliant achievements of such generals as Sumner, Bartlett, Devens, Lowell, Stevenson and others, some of whom are almost forgotten, but who actually far outshine Butler in every soldierly quality. It was not denied that Butler did well at New Orleans, but the idea of making him distinguished for all future time by giving him a bronze statue was shown to be so ridiculous that it will be presumption for his friends to ever revive it again. Doubtless there will be a lively tilt in the House when the report of the committee shall be acted upon. Very likely some hard names will be called, as there were in the committee,—"human carrion crows," for instance, being the language used by Col. N. A. Plympton regarding those who would attack the memory of Butler,—but the lack of reason for a statue has been abundantly proved, and it is to be hoped that Butler will be allowed to rest with the military burial which the state gave him.

The gas combinations which are announced make the common people feel as if they had very little to do with the control of that which they must have for the supply of their daily wants. After weeks of controversy and hostile encounter before the Legislative committee on manufactures, the Bay State Gas Company and Mr. Henry M. Whitney have arranged such a deal that the latter's Dominion coal mines will supply the former with coal for gas purposes, while Mr. Thomas W. Lawson, who stood ready to give the state $1,000,000 for the privilege which Mr. Whitney asked for with the expectation of giving nothing for it, has drawn out of the case. Thus the great advantages which the people were to receive from Mr. Whitney's Dominion coal fade away and the gas monopoly continues as strong as ever. The fight is still kept up by the Brookline company against the Bay State, but competent judges who watch the fight predict that the only possible outcome will be a combination here also, leaving the people wholly dependent upon the one source of supply, upon such terms as the monopoly may choose to give, modified by such compulsion as may be put upon it by the gas commissioners. It is to be remembered that Massachusetts has one commission which has authority to enter the field of monopoly, upon petition by the consumers, and say what the price of the commodity shall be. Thus there is hope for the people, but not by any grace of the gas companies.

One of the hardest fights of the session has been over a bill in the House to permit Brighton, which is one of the wards of Boston, to vote by itself upon the liquor licenses. The former town stands almost entire by itself, surrounded by territory which is not a part of Boston, and a strong prima facie case was made out in favor of granting it local option. But it was argued that if this were done, many other wards of cities would ask for equal privileges. At any rate, it was evident that there was far more interest in the bill than was warranted by Brighton alone. It was debated vigorously for three several times and once carried the House, but finally it was beaten by 54 to 98.

Both branches are agreed upon a general investigation of the relation of the state charities to each other, and a report has been ordered to be made by the beginning of next year. Great powers have been given to the committee and a thorough overhauling will doubtless occur. Owing to this action, there has been an adverse report made upon the proposed children's bureau for the better protection of the children of the state who are under the control of the state board of lunacy and charity. Much friction has occurred in the board, and doubtless much linen will be washed before the committee.

LANDON.

BORN.

At Ware, March 15th, a son to John D. Casey.

MARRIED.

At Palmer, 21st, by Judge George Robinson, Arthur B. Murphy and Elizabeth F. Shea, both of Quincy.

At Palmer, 25th, by Rev. F. E. Jenkins, Howard R. Barber and Lulu J. Whitney, both of Springfield.

At Brimfield, 11th, by Rev. W. K. Peirce, Warren E. Reed of Palmer and Mary F. Joselin of Brimfield.

At Ware, 24th, by Rev. A. B. Bassett, Timothy Bailey, Jr., and Elizabeth Whiting.

At Gilbertville, 25th, by Rev. Mr. Stone, George Campbell and Esther Miller, both of Ware.

DIED.

At Ware, 2'd, Lafayette Howard, 74.

At Springfield, 22d, Gustave Gutberlet, 37, of Belchertown.

TO RENT.—Two tenements on Fox avenue.
tf-44 Apply to G. S. HOLDEN.

GIRL WANTED.—For general housework. Must be competent.
tf-49 MRS. L. E. CHANDLER, Palmer.

FOR SALE.—Plymouth Rock and Buff Cochin cockerels; also eggs for hatching. tf-58 RALPH LEGRO, Palmer.

FOR SALE.—Cherry chamber set, black walnut extension dining table, and kitchen range, all in good order. Enquire at house of C. B. FISKE.

TO RENT OR FOR SALE.—On South Main street, corner Fox Avenue; tenement of 8 rooms. Inquire at the house.
tf-47 E. RAMSDEN.

FOR SALE.—White and yellow pine wood, $2.50 per cord, delivered. Plymouth Rock and brown leghorn eggs for setting.
4-49ks H. CHAPMAN, Palmer.

EGGS from Chapin's Plymouth Rocks Barred, best hens $2 per 13, good hens $1 per 13. White $1.50 per 13, 50 eggs double the price of 13. Large early laying stock. Winners at Palmer, Springfield, Stafford and other fairs. Write 6-52 GEO. A. CHAPIN, Hampden, Mass.

—— ROSES. ——

PINKS, - - - 30c Dozen
DAFFODILS, - - - 35c "
ROMAN HYACINTHS, - - 35c "
All kinds of floral designs made at
8-48 BLODGETT'S GREENHOUSE.

CARPET CLEANING.

Having put in machinery for cleaning carpets by the method of beating, brushing and airing, I am now ready to receive orders. Special attention paid to taking up and relaying carpets; orders by mail promptly attended to. Carpets called for and delivered free of charge.
26-52 GEO. B. KENERSON, Park St., Palmer.

Palmer Savings Bank,
Palmer, Mass.

Money deposited on or before Wednesday, April 1st, will commence interest from that date.

H. G. Loomis, Pres. H. W. McGregory, Treas.

Interest paid in 1895, 4¼ per cent, free of tax.

TEETH. . .
Artificial teeth without plates. Teeth extracted without pain with local anaesthetic.
GAS ADMINISTERED.
Office hours from 8 to 12 a. m., 1 to 5.30 p. m.
OPEN EVENINGS.
Dr. O. P. ROLLER, D. D. S.,
Lawrence Block, Palmer, Mass.

Insurance

of every kind placed at short notice, and all favors duly appreciated.

Yours truly,
S. H. HELLYAR.

FLOOR OIL CLOTHS,
all widths, 25c to 60c square yard.

STORE MATS,
all sizes. Large assortment now in.

W. E. STONE,
Lawrence Block,
PALMER, MASS.

WANTED.—EXPERIENCED OPERATORS on Wilcox & Gibbs straw sewing machines on men's and boys' hats. Also trimmers for the same. Plenty of work and a long season.
5-51 NELSON & LADOW, Upton, Mass.

HAVE YOU AN OLD ONE?

If you have an old Piano we will take it in exchange for one of our

New Upright Pianos.

We have an elegant stock just now, and at prices from

$250.00 to $600.00.

Call and see us.

TAYLOR'S
Music House,
412 MAIN STREET, SPRINGFIELD.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.—HAMPDEN, ss. PROBATE COURT.

To all persons interested in the trusts under the will of Eunice Rice, late of Wilbraham in said county, deceased:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said court by Arthur E. Fitch of Palmer, in the county of Hampden, praying to be appointed trustee under the will of said deceased, which has been proven in said court.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Springfield, in said county of Hampden, on the first day of April, A. D. 1896, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Palmer JOURNAL, a newspaper published in said Palmer, the last publication to be one day at least before said court, and by delivering a copy of this citation to the cestui-que-trust fourteen days at least, before said court.

Witness, CHARLES L. LONG, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this fourteenth day of February, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-six.
3-50 SAMUEL B. SPOONER, Register.

A pleasing variety
OF
newest fancies
IN SPRING MILLINERY IS FOUND AT
LaZELLE, DAWES & ESTEY,
Millinery Rooms,
353 Main Street, Springfield.

We've made hosts of friends through our coffee. People hear of its rare flavor and strength. They get some, "just to try," and find it's so much finer than any other they've ever used. Then they think if our coffee is so good—everything else ought to be in keeping with it. That's true also—and we get their entire grocery trade. Suppose you try a pound? But 38c. . . . . .

Java and Mocha Coffee 38c lb.

Bargains this week:

Royal Baking Powder, in 1 lb. cans,	40c
Gold Dust Washing Powder,	20c
1 lb. Evaporated Apricots,	10c
3 lbs. prunes for Large and soft.	25c
5 lbs. Carolina Head Rice for	25c
Can Peaches,	10c
Can Pineapple,	10c
Can Corn, 10c,	3 for 25c
Can Clams, 10c,	3 for 25c
1 gal. Golden Drip Syrup, with jug,	26c

Delicacies:

Cheese Wafers.
Reception Flakes.
Edam Cheese.
Pine Apple Cheese.
Crosse & Blackwell's Olives, in pints and quarts.
Blue Label Ketchup.

Strawberries, Cherries, Pears, Plums, Peaches, Apricots, Sliced Pineapple. — CANNED IN SUGAR SYRUP.

J. F. Foley,
Corner Walnut and Main streets,
. . . PALMER, MASS.

Don't invite disappointment by experimenting. Depend on One Minute Cough Cure and you have immediate relief. It cures croup. The only harmless remedy that produces immediate results. LeGro & Lynde.

Good looking people usually have good teeth. LeGRO'S TOOTH POWDER will keep the teeth white, gums healthy and breath pure.
LeGro & Lynde, Druggists,
Next to Post Office, Palmer.

FOR COMFORT,
BUY A . . .
HOT WATER BAG,
At...LeGro & Lynde's, Druggists,
Next to Post Office, PALMER.

"Give me a liver regulator and I can regulate the world," said a genius. The druggist handed him a bottle of DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. LeGro & Lynde.

ASSIGNEE'S SALE.

A Rare Chance for Business.

The Straw Shop of the Rogers-Osgood Hat Co. at Palmer, Mass., together with the Tools, Fixtures and Machinery, will be sold at public auction on the premises,

SATURDAY, APRIL 4th, 1896

At 2 o'clock p. m. The shop consists of a large, substantial brick building with adequate Store-Houses, Box Shop, Bleachery, etc., all in good repair and fully equipped for operation, situated in a favorable location for the successful prosecution of the straw business.

Terms and amount of incumbrances will be stated at the time of sale.
2-52 CHARLES G. GARDNER, Assignee.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE.—By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Harriet N. Josselyn of Palmer, Mass., to Calvin W. Johnson of said Palmer, dated February 25th, 1895, and recorded in the Registry of Deeds for the County of Hampden, libro 536, folio 290, will be sold at public auction, on the premises at the highway hereinafter mentioned, on Monday, the thirteenth day of April, 1896, at two o'clock in the afternoon, for a breach of the conditions of said mortgage, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed, namely:—a certain tract of land, situate in the northwesterly part of Monson in said county, and bounded and described as follows: Beginning at the northwest corner of the tract on line of land of Ert L. Maxwell and the heirs of Elijah M. Trumble; thence southerly on said Maxwell's east line to the north side of the Hovey farm, now owned by Merrill A. Stebbins; thence easterly on said Merrill A. Stebbins to the highway; thence northwesterly on the highway to land now or late of said Trumble heirs; thence westerly on said land now or late of said heirs to the place of beginning. Containing 90 acres, more or less.

The sale will be made subject to a previous mortgage on the same property to secure the sum of $700 and interest, the amount of which will be stated at the time of sale.

$100 will be required to be paid in cash by the purchaser at the time and place of sale.

CALVIN W. JOHNSON, Mortgagee.
By W. W. LEACH, his Attorney.
Palmer, Mass., March 18, 1896. 3-51

FARM FOR SALE.—Administrator's sale of farm property, located in Hardwick, Mass., midway between Ware and Barre, about three-fourths of a mile from Furnace Station on the Ware River Road; about one mile from New Braintree Station; and less than two miles from Gilbertville Station on Massachusetts Central Railroad. This farm embraces 150 acres, mostly tillable land in a high state of cultivation; keeps 20 cows, and sufficient teams to do the work of the place, and there is plenty of wood for home use. A creamery is located near by which takes all the milk produced on the farm, if party running the same desires so to dispose of it. This is one of the fine farms of the state, and can be had at a bargain. For full particulars apply at 105 Summer street, room 16, Boston, Mass. 3-51

Soothing, healing, cleansing, DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is the enemy to sores, wounds and piles, which it never fails to cure. Stops itching and burning. Cures chapped lips and cold-sores in two or three hours. LeGro & Lynde.

Piano and Banjo Lessons
given by
Misses Annie and Carrie Fish,
22-tf Palmer.

New Goods Just Opened.
Spring, 1896. ◆ ◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

A FINE LINE OF Wash Goods, Table Linen, Napkins and Towels. Goblin and Pongee Draperies.

A VERY FULL ASSORTMENT OF Dress Linings, Buttons and Braids.

IN OUR Grocery Department we have a great variety of FANCY GOODS.

IN CANNED GOODS the quality ranges from the cheapest to the best goods canned, and the prices guaranteed to be as low as any dealer in town. Call and see for yourselves.

J. B. SHAW,
FEENEY'S BLOCK, PALMER.

MISS M. C. McDONALD
WISHES TO ANNOUNCE HER
MILLINERY OPENING,
Saturday and Monday, March 28 and 30, in Cross Block, Palmer, Mass., where will be shown
A CHOICE LINE OF TRIMMED AND UNTRIMMED HATS, IN ALL THE LATEST STYLES.

Easter Goods

for men is what we want to talk about. Only give us an opportunity and we'll convince you that we have everything you need at this season. Call and see what we have, that's all we ask. The neckwear we have chosen for your inspection isn't to be duplicated in any near-by place. The new creations are simply wonderful—can't begin to describe them, you'll have to see them.

The Spring Hats,

Have you noticed 'em? Missed it if you haven't; all the popular makes in derbys, and those soft flanges for such as prefer them.

Fancy Shirts

are more varied in design than ever. You can't fail to be pleased with what we've selected for you. Of course those who come first will have the pick of the stock. We may be able to duplicate the figures and we may not. Better not put off your seeing them.

C. K. Gamwell, Palmer, Mass.

See our prices for

COAL

R. M. & Theo. REYNOLDS,
Monson, Mass.

To be delivered now, subject to advance at any time. We furnish good men to house and bin same. All coal is screened and delivered in bags.

The Lehigh is as good as any we have ever sold. The Lackawanna is the best prepared coal that comes to market for domestic use.

Send your order by postal card or leave it at our office.

Price for Lackawanna:
Stove size, - $5.85 per ton.

Prices for Lehigh:
Stove size, - $6.00 per ton.
Chestnut, - 6.00 " "
Furnace, - 5.90 " "

Less than (1) one ton 25 cents added for the load.

Delivered in Bags,
which will save expense of housing in many cases.
MARCH 2d, 1896.

Canned Goods.

Corn,	07c	Corn,	15c
Beans,	09c	Succotash,	15c
Succotash,	10c	Beans,	15c
Peas,	10c	Peas,	17c
Tomatoes,	10c	Tomatoes,	15c
Squash,	12c	Salmon,	20c
Clams,	10c	Blue Label Ketchup,	20c
Salmon,	13c

10 lb. TUBS LARD, Pure, 75c.

Codfish, per lb., -	15c
Creamery Butter, Belchertown,	28c
Vermont,	26c
5 lb. boxes, Vermont,	$1.25

AT...SMITH'S,
. . . PALMER.

A. H. HITCH

The Journal.

FRIDAY EVENING, MARCH 27, 1896.

NEIGHBORHOOD NOTES.

MONSON.

Report of the Water Commissioners.

The second annual report of the water commissioners was issued Saturday, and has been perused with much interest. They report the collecting well to have been completed April 10, 1895, at a cost of $6966. There has been $13,760.66 paid for pipe laying under contract, and a small amount is due the contractor. In addition to this there have been 863 feet of six-inch pipe, and one hydrant set; 1937 feet of pipe, mostly two-inch, have been laid to connect services not on line of water pipes. There are 78 hydrants and 67 services. With the exception of private hydrants and automatic sprinklers, all private services are provided with meters.

Nine water bonds of $1000 each have been sold at the average price of $105 27, with accrued interest. Amount of water bonds issued, $59,000, of which $58,000 is outstanding. Value of stock and tools on hand is $1,427.52. Construction receipts were $13,-367.80, and expenditures $13,575 96; balance on hand, $291.84.

Engineer Frank L. Fuller gives an account of his work from the time he was first employed by the town in 1888 to the completion of the system, in which he congratulates the town upon the excellent quality of the water, and the ample supply. His report shows that 8.95 miles of pipe was laid, and estimates that there is water enough to furnish 10 good fire streams for 4½ hours, besides enough for domestic consumption during the time. A table of elevations is given: High water in the reservoir is 695 feet above sea level; the highest point on the line of the water system is the surface of Conant's pond, 686 feet; the lowest point, is at P. Foley's on North Main street, 365. An analysis of water drawn at the town hall was made Jan. 31, 1896, with the following result:

Turbidity, none.
Sediment, none.
Color, none.
Odor, none.
Residue on evaporation, 4 30.
Ammonia, .0018.
Chlorine, .12.
Nitrogen, .012.
Oxygen, .0624.
Hardness, 1 7.
Iron, .007.

Town Report Figures.

The town reports were distributed yesterday, and made good reading. The JOURNAL has recently given advance statements of the library association, school committee and selectmen, so will mention their reports but briefly. The registration report is as follows: Births, American parents, 40; foreign, 24; one parent American the other foreign, 15; total, 79. Deaths, American born, 46; foreign, 9; total, 55. Marriages recorded, 25; marriage licenses issued, 26. Dogs licensed, 212. Names on the voters' list, Nov. 1, '95, males, 712; females, 9; total, 721. Treasurer's report: Receipts, 57,048.31; balance on hand, $124 39. Account with the water works: Receipts, $14,151 42; payments, including cash transferred to town account (674.79), $14,157 42. Monson water bonds and bills outstanding against the town, $58,-378 62. Bills due the town, $2474.31. Due from Tax Collector Clifford, $774.27. Balance against the town, $55,005 65. The debt has been increased during the year $5855 33. Trust funds, $1200. The town has 11,220 running feet of concrete walks. Wood and timber to the amount of $2500 has been sold from the town farm. A statement showing the net cost, as compared with the appropriations, makes a good showing for the town, with a gain of $3523 57. Cemetery commissioners' report: Interments in No. 1, 28; St. Patrick's, 15; No. 2, 1; No. 9, 1; receipts, $1338.08; balance on hand, $151.74. The reports of Dr. Rand, chairman of the school board, and Miss Clara A. Wood, superintendent of schools, are of unusual interest. The sum needed for the coming year for schools is estimated at $11,661.

No New Mill at North Monson.

A rumor has been afloat for two or three days that the North Monson mill property had been sold to the Otis company of Ware, and that the occupants of the tenement houses had been ordered to vacate at once, as the houses were to be torn down. A JOURNAL reporter called on the officers of the Otis company at Ware this morning and was informed that the matter of buying the North Monson property had, so far as they knew, never been thought of, and that they could not imagine what should have occasioned the report. Mr. Heery, the Monson representative of the nominal owners,—the Monson Woolen company,— is in Lowell, but in a letter written to his brother Wednesday stated that nothing had transpired, and Mrs. Rider, one of the tenants, says that to her knowledge no one has been asked to move. The financial affairs of the company are not in a flourishing condition, and it is said that a mortgage on this property will soon be foreclosed. Nothing has been done there since the burning of the main building two or three years ago. The old mill has stood since 1811. The rain of last Thursday night did some damage there, washing out the bulkhead, and across the road, tearing out the underpinning of the old dye house. It won d certainly be "good news, if true," that a business boom had struck North Monson.

Democrats Nominate Town Officers.

A Democratic caucus was held last evening in Memorial Hall to nominate town officers. The attendance was small, only 27 ballots being cast. Omer E. Bradway was chosen chairman, and Dennis P. Nellegan clerk. Party lines were by no means closely drawn, and the ticket is one which is likely to be run well so far as the principal officers are concerned. It is as follows: Town clerk, Carlos M. Gage; selectmen and overseers of the poor, Arthur D. Norcross, William H. Bugbee, Omer E. Bradway; assessors, Omer E. Bradway, Richard M. Hayes, Chester Blanchard; treasurer, Edward D. Cushman; tax collector, Charles E. Smith; school committee for three years, William Sutcliffe, Rev. Harry Blackford; cemetery commissioners for three years, George C. Flynt; water commissioner for three years, Carlos L. Peck; constables, Joel H. Thompson, David D. Maney, Hiram D. Osborne, Michael J. Kennedy, Thomas J. Sault; fence viewers, Michael D. Maloney, Horace Bumstead, Charles M. Webber; auditors, Frank L. Bliss, 2d, David W. Shea.

More About That Equal Rights Club.

The item in the JOURNAL of the 6th, suggesting the formation of an equal rights club, seems to have occasioned considerable comment in various sources. The writer of the original item has sent the following:

The projector of an equal rights club begs to say for the further enlightenment of "A Reader," and others, that she does not wish to be understood as desiring to limit in any way the possibilities of woman suffrage. Furthermore, she did not say, mind you, that when the emancipation of woman has arrived in all its fullness, and that portion of humanity known as womankind stalks forth in all the glory of up-to-date bloomers, conquering and to conquer,—i. e., to vote; no offence, please,—that she should not be found among them. On the contrary, there is every reason to believe that she will be there, minus the bloomers. But at the time of writing the need of a club for the promotion of independent thinking seemed so urgent, that to an unprejudiced observer even a matter of such moment as the equal suffrage movement of her sex seemed shrouded in comparative oblivion. Hence the implied comparison was in no sense employed as a thrust for that honorable body of females known as suffragists, but rather as a—well, "clincher," don't you see?

Mrs. W. N. Flynt is spending several days in New York.

Mrs. L. Hutchinson visited friends in Athol last week.

Mrs. Cæsar Entwistle is spending the week in Spencer.

Miss Lena Babbitt has been ill with the grippe for several days.

The Dorcas society met Wednesday with Mrs. Rufus P. Cushman.

Miss Bessie Sutcliffe has had an attack of spasmodic croup this week.

Mrs. Cunningham of Wilbraham is visiting her sister, Mrs. Miner Noble.

Horace Squier is visiting his nephew, Rev. Albert L. Squier, at Amherst.

Miss Maud Stacy left Monday for Plymouth, for the millinery season.

Rev. W. H. Marble will preach Sunday at 3 p. m. in the Silver Street chapel.

Mrs. M. J. Bradway has been confined to the house with grippe for several days.

Miss Mary Barlow and Miss Bridges of Hardwick visited at Henry M. Barlow's this week.

Marcus Keep Woman's Relief corps will serve a town meeting day dinner in Grand Army Hall.

Rev. Harry Blackford will preach at Stafford Sunday in exchange with Rev. T. C. Druley.

Miss Abbie Merchant received a fall Sunday which so injured her hip that she is still confined to her bed.

The Misses Mary and Eliza Ward have moved into the Fosket house near the New London Northern road.

Miss Maybelle L. Tucker will entertain a party of friends to-morrow evening at her home on the Quarry road.

Miss Kate Coyle is having her millinery opening to-day and to-morrow, and is showing very pretty hats and bonnets.

There will be an open session of the Linophilian and Philomathean societies in the Academy chapel at 7.45 this evening.

Next Wednesday evening Rev. H. F. Moulton of Palmer will preach the special Lenten sermon in the Universalist church.

Friends of George Clough, who was so badly hurt the early part of the month, will be glad to know that he is able to be out of doors.

Invitations are out for the wedding of Miss Maybelle K. Flynt to Robert H. Cushman, at noon, Easter Tuesday, at the residence of Mrs. W. K Flynt.

The union temperance meeting at Memorial Hall Sunday evening will begin at 7 o'clock. Dr. Tenney of Boston will give one of his celebrated chalk talks, which all should hear.

Rev. W. E. Foley of Worcester preached the Lenten sermon at St. Patrick's church Tuesday evening, and was greeted by a large audience of friends. He was formerly curate of that church.

Friends of Mrs. Frank L. Bliss and Miss Strout will sympathize with them in the death of their younger brother at his home in Millbridge, Me., last week Wednesday. Mrs. Bliss will return from there the early part of next week.

At a Republican caucus held last Friday evening these delegates were chosen to the state convention: G. C. Flynt, Dr. G. E. Fuller, S. F. Cushman, Jr., C. W. King; congressional, C. M. Gage, L. C. Flynt, R. P. Cushman, Harrison Howe.

Arline Tryon, 10, only child of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Tryon of Providence, died yesterday morning of membranous croup. Arline was an unusually bright, lovable little girl, and to Monson people the news of her death has caused much grief.

The male members of the Epworth League of the M. E. church will hold a social and entertainment in the large vestry next Wednesday evening. A clam chowder and bean supper will be served from 6 to 8, followed by a musical and literary entertainment.

The many friends of M. Sumner Gates, formerly of Monson but laterly with Packard & Co., "Pears soap," of London, England, will be pleased to learn of his marriage and that his present address is Clavemont Villa, Victoria road, Romford, Essex, England.

The Misses Gavin closed their store in Bacon's block last night, and are moving into their new store in Heimann & Lichten's block, where they will have a millinery opening next Monday and Tuesday. Miss Mary Gavin will have a dressmaking department in connection with the millinery.

The services at the Congregational church next Sunday will be appropriate to Palm Sunday. The chapel will be open every evening during the week, and on Thursday communion service will be held. Good Friday evening the service will be chiefly musical, and will be held in the audience room.

Schools opened Monday with the exception of No. 6, which will open Easter Monday. Miss L. H. Walker is substituting until then at No. 1. These changes are on account of the recent case of diphtheria in the family of the Misses Sutcliffe, who teach in these schools. The Quarry children will be transported until warmer weather.

Timothy J. Hynes's horse ran down Main street from Mr. Hynes's yard Wednesday afternoon, dragging the whiffletree and a part of the harness. He was caught near Hutchinson's blacksmithing shop. A cut received on his leg some weeks ago, where a vein was severed, was opened afresh, and he was taken into the shop where the wound was dressed. Mr. Hynes was unharnessing the horse when he started to run.

Next week being holy week at St. Patrick's church, services will be as follows: Palm Sunday, blessing and distribution of palms; Tuesday evening, Lenten sermon and rosary; Thursday morning, mass at 8 o'clock, adoration of blessed sacrament during the day and evening; Friday morning, mass and adoration of the cross—evening adoration and way of the cross, and sermon on the Passion; Saturday morning at 8, mass, with blessing of the Easter and baptismal water and the Pascal candle.

The Misses Williams will have their millinery o ening next Wednesday Thursday, and will be assisted by a first-class trimmer Passion Week will be observed at the Congregational church, with services every evening, as follows: Sunday, "The triumphant entry;" Monday, "The preparation for the Passion;" Tuesday, "The joy of the Passion;" Wednesday, "God's fatherhood tested by the Passion," communion service; Friday, "The consummation of the Passion;" Saturday, "Our fellowship in the Passion;" Easter, "The resurrection joy," Sunday school concert.

Ransom Kendall, an old soldier, who has spent a part of his life in town, died at the home of Mr. Wright yesterday of consumption. He had been moved from Asher Greene's in Wales to John Maguire's a day or two before, but the Maguire family decided that they could not keep him, and he was moved to Mr. Wright's yesterday morning, where he died two hours later. Of Mr. Kendall's earliest life nothing is known. His service in the war gave him a small pension, and he at one time had several thousand dollars. He was a fine horseman, and at one time owned a stage line which passed through Monson.

NEW SHOES.

Never have we been able to sell such fine shoes for the money as we are showing this spring.
New lines of shoes are arriving at our store almost every day.

Of course you will want a pair of . . .

New shoes for Easter.

We have not any old stock to sell you for new goods; our store is filled full of new shoes.

Hoping to see you at our store, we are yours,

WITH UP-TO-DATE SHOES.

◆◆◆◆◆◆◆◆

Geo. L. Fuller,

the distributor of fine fitting shoes.

Monson. - Mass.

WILBRAHAM.

The public schools open next Monday.

The Democratic caucus will be held this evening at North Wilbraham.

Mrs. Walter Hitchcock and daughter will leave soon for Holyoke, where they expect to locate.

WEST WARREN.

D. G. Weston has bought Joseph Davis's house on High street.

Mrs. Thomas A. McCrea of Milltown, N. B., is visiting her father, Joseph Davis.

Mrs. William Campbell and son Walter, of Nashville, Tenn., are visiting friends here.

Joseph Davis has sold his house, and will make his home in Milltown, N. B., with his daughter.

David Button, Jr., of Warren, has bought Charles Crouch's farm, and will take possession in May.

The ladies of the M. E. church held a sale of fancy and useful articles in St. Jean's Hall Thursday evening.

BRIMFIELD.

Miss Nellie Nolan of Fiskdale has been visiting Miss Lola Andrews for a few days.

Charles Baron of Pawtucket, R. I., formerly of this place, is visiting at the home of Amos Monroe.

Mrs. Samuel Brown returned last week from New York, where she has been spending the winter with her sister, Mrs. Charles Stoughton.

The entertainment given by the senior class of the Hitchcock Free High School last Friday night was much enjoyed by all. Miss Sterns and Mr. Howard fully sustained their previous reputations as artists, and a good crowd was present, including alumni of the school and townsmen.

HOLLAND.

The annual town meeting will be held April 6.

A. F. Blodgett is confined to his home with the grippe.

The town clerk reports one marriage in town for the past year, no births and five deaths.

The following officers were chosen at the annual meeting of the Congregational church held recently: Clerk, B. F. Blodgett; treasurer, Francis Wight; collector, William Lilly; prudential committee, W. L Webber, F. B. Blodgett and C. A. Webber.

The Home Missionary society has elected these officers: President, secretary and treasurer, Mrs. F. B. Blodgett; vice president, Mrs. Henry Brown.

NORTH WILBRAHAM.

Miss Edith Searles of Marlboro and Mrs. David Wallace of Harvard are the guests of their sister, Mrs. H. W. Cutler.

One hundred thirty-three new volumes have been added to the public library. They have been catalogued this week, and are now ready for circulation.

Another Fire.

The midnight freight engineer woke the inhabitants of this hamlet from their quiet slumbers last night by the blowing of his whistle, the cause being the burning of the frame building called Lane's Hall, belonging to the Lake View House. It was used for entertainments and picnics. There was a high wind at the time, but fortunately it blew the flames away from the other buildings on the estate. The fire was probably of incendiary origin.

WALES.

Peter Gadoury has moved into the house opposite Shaw's block.

Mrs. W. A. Lyon is attending the opening in Boston and purchasing goods for her store.

A. E. Freeman is under the doctor's care, suffering with neuralgia of the head and heart.

Miss Chamberlin, clerk in Chamberlin & Co's., store, is sick with grippe and rheumatism.

Mrs. Marriott of Bernardston is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel B. Perry, and one of her children has diphtheria.

The Republicans will hold a caucus next Wednesday evening, to nominate candidates for town officers to be elected April 6th.

Mrs. Elijah Shaw and H. E. Shaw left Monday for Raleigh, N. C., to visit the Shaw Institute, and friends, of whom they have a host there.

Mrs. Isaiah Hiscock, who has been severely afflicted for three weeks with a bone sore on the bottom of her foot, is now recovering slowly.

WARREN.

Mrs. Allen Day is visiting her daughter in New York.

The delivery of milk at the car has been changed to morning.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist church gave a "six" supper and entertainment in the chapel last evening.

Mrs. Reginald Leavens and daughter, Doris, of Providence, R. I., are visiting Mrs. Julia F. Newton on Bacon street.

The Universalists have held a series of meetings this week which have been well attended. The Congregational society will also have a series next week. George Harris, D. D., of Andover Theological seminary, will be present Tuesday evening and preach a sermon.

The property of the late Emory Shumway, which was sold to Alonzo C. Blaisdell, is advertised to be sold at auction next month by Morris B. Hall of Boston. It is sold pursuant to and by virtue of a mortgage deed given by Hannah B. Blaisdell and Alonzo C. Blaisdell to Elias A. Towle and Stephen J. Kenerson, dated December 14, 1895. It is sold subject to a prior mortgage of $1000, given by Hannah D. Blaisdell to George H. Shumway, November 25, 1895

The annual meeting of the Warren public library association was held Monday evening in Library Hall. Joseph G. Hastings was chosen chairman and the officers were chosen as follows: Clerk, Emily C. Sawyer; treasurer, Edward Fairbanks; directors, Harris G. Hale, William S. Tisdale, Mrs. Mary M. Richardson, Mrs. Julia M. Hitchcock and Joseph G. Hastings. The directors ex-officio are W. H. Fairbank, W. A. Jenks, Edward Fairbanks, George Shumway and chairman of selectmen and school committee. It was decided to ask the town for an appropriation of $800 and the dog tax. At a quarterly meeting of the directors held subsequently, Wilson H. Fairbank was elected president and Joseph G. Hastings librarian.

The citizen's caucus Tuesday evening in the town hall was well attended, about 150 being present. These were the nominations: Clerk and treasurer, Charles B. Blair; selectmen, three years, William E. Patrick; two years, John E. Walsh; one year, Wilson H. Fairbank; assessors, three years, Isaac E. Moore; two years, A. H. Converse; one year, Frank E. Gleason; overseers of the poor, Ella E. Morse; two years, Joseph Bodreau; one year, S. N. Cutler; board of health, three years, Olney W. Phelps; school committee, three years, H. J. Wrinn, Joseph G. Hastings and Julia M. Hitchock; tax collector, William H. Kelley; constables, Walter A. Putnam, Clarence L Thompson, John C. O'Connor, James Earley, Jr., John Collins; cemetery commissioners, three years, Wilson H. Fairbank; one year, M. J. Shea; auditors, William L. Curtis, Bartholomew Lydon, Jr., Harvey S. Ellis.

Poisons engendered by food fermenting in a dyspeptic stomach are the direct cause of rheumatism, gout, bronchitis, liver and kidney complaints, asthma, pneumonia and many nervous ailments.

These results are prevented by the use of the Shaker Digestive Cordial, a remedy discovered and prepared by the Shakers of Mount Lebanon, N. Y. It is in itself a food and has power to digest other food taken with it. Thus it rests the diseased stomach and finally masters the worst cases of dyspepsia. It acts promptly, and fresh strength and increase of weight soon follows. The first dose, taken immediately after eating, abates the pain and distress so dreaded by dyspeptics. Trial bottles—enough to prove its merit—10 cents.

LAXOL is the best medicine for children. Doctors recommend it in place for Castor Oil.

BELCHERTOWN.

C. Lyman Worden is visiting in Thompsonville.

Miss Clara Hill of Athol is visiting at the home of Captain Anderson on the Palmer road.

The ladies of the Methodist church will give a social in the vestry of the church this evening.

Charles Austin had a cancer removed from his thigh last Sunday. Dr. Seagur of Enfield and Dr. F. G. Thompson performed the operation.

News has been received of the serious illness of James H. Davis of this place, who is spening the winter in Holyoke as the guest of his daughter, Mrs. Otis Fisk.

Charles Davis, who has been suffering from a rheumatic trouble, visited Bradley C. Newell during his two days' stay in Gardner last week, and was relieved of his pain.

The body of Gustave Gutberlet, 37, who died at the hospital in Springfield last Sunday morning of consumption, was brought here for burial. He leaves a widow, Mrs. Libbie C. Gutberlet, of this place.

A Pleasant Church Wedding.

Miss Capitola Fairchild, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Fairchild of Norwich, Ct., and Frank J. Demond of Springfield were united in marriage yesterday afternoon in the presence of a large circle of friends. The ceremony took place in the Congregational church in this place, which was prettily decorated in honor of the occasion. The wedding march was played by Miss Mary Allen. The couple were escorted to the alter by the ushers, Harry A. Hopkins of Belchertown, Benjamin R. Fairchild of Norwich, Ct., brother of the bride, Lawyer Arthur H. Sherwin of Springfield, and John D. Hardy of Boston. The ceremony was preformed by Rev. V. C. Harrington, who employed the most simple form of service. The bride was attired in a traveling costume. Mr. and Mrs. Fairchild were residents of Belchertown for many years, until about three years ago, when Mr. Fairchild removed to Norwich, Ct. Since that time Mrs. Demond has taught in the Belchertown schools and is one of the town's most attractive young women. She was a member of the class of 1888 in the Belchertown high school, and a graduate of the Amherst high school class of '91. Lawyer Demond was at one time principal of the Belchertown high school, and is now with E. H. Lathrop of Springfield. Mr. Demond's parents were, a number of years ago, residents of Belchertown, and the death of his father occurred here. Among the out-of-town people who were present were R. E. Fairchild and family of Norwich, Ct., Mrs. Demond and daughter, Miss Grace Demond of Montague, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence of Montague, F. Gaylord and family of Amherst, Lawyer E. H. Lathrop, Col. M. P. Walker and Frank Walker of Springfield, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Lyman of Northampton, Mrs. William Spellman of Springfield and Mr. and Mrs. Parkman of Thompsonville, Ct. Mr. and Mrs. Demond left at once for Springfield, where they will make their home. The wedding presents were numerous and costly.

WARE.

There is talk of organizing a bicycle club.

A son, George Edward, has been born to Michael Crowley.

The Bellevue quartette will sing at the Jeffersonian banquet.

About $100 was cleared from the St. Patrick's night entertainment.

Patrick H. Shea, formerly at Bryson's, is now with Jordan & Marsh, Boston.

W. A. Anderson will be the soloist in the Congregational church Sunday evening.

Shea will catch for the Brocktons and McAuley will play with the Washingtons this year.

James M. Willis, an old resident of Ware, is soon to remove to Lynn to open a boarding house.

Palms will be distributed at the Catholic churches next Sunday, in commemoration of Palm Sunday.

W. H. H. Perkins, warden of the town farm for several years past, has a similar situation at Grafton.

There are 1230 voters on the list, five less than last year. There are 62 women voters, the same as last year.

The Ware Ice company is getting in shape for the summer work by buying a handsome pair of iron grey horses.

Quite a party of Masons, members of Eden lodge, visited Bethel lodge at Enfield Tuesday evening, arriving home about 1.30.

An A. B. C. sale and entertainment is to be held by the children of the Methodist church in the vestry next Wednesday.

"Hosanna in the highest, to Jesus the Messiah," will be the subject of Mr. Osgood's discourse at the Methodist church Sunday morning.

P. A. O'Leary is receiving names for membership in a branch of the Catholic order, Knights of Columbus, which is being organized here.

The last Assembly of the season was held Wednesday evening by the young people, with music by the Ladies Althea Club of Springfield.

The high school junior class has elected the following officers: President, H. Q. Kennedy; vice-president, Elizabeth I. Sturtevant; secretary, Mabel L. Harlow; treasurer, Albert T. Cheever.

The King's Daughters Circle of Gleaners cleared about $15 from the musical entertainment of the Little Vernon Brothers, which was of a high moral and religious character, and very pleasing.

Lafayette Howard, 74, died at the home of his son, W. V. Howard, on Sunday. He was an old resident, having lived in this vicinity for many years. The funeral was on Tuesday, conducted by Rev. A. M. Osgood.

Timothy Bailey, Jr., and Miss Elizabeth Whiting were married at the home of the bride Tuesday afternoon, Rev. A. B. Bassett performing the ceremony. There were many handsome presents of silverware and furniture.

A large lot of timber has been sold to the Boston and Maine railroad and to the Ware Lumber company from the Brown Brothers place south of Ware, just over the line in Palmer. D. W. Cowles & Co. of Amherst made the sale.

Holy Week at the Episcopal church,—next week,—there will be services as follows: Monday, 10.30 a. m.; Tuesday, 7.15 p. m.; Wednesday, 10.30 a. m.; Thursday, 10.30 a. m. and 7 10 p. m.; Good Friday, 10.30 a. m. and 7.30 p. m.; Easter Saturday, 4 30 p. m.

George Campbell and Miss Esther Miller, both of Ware, were married at the home of the groom's parents at Gilbertville on Wednesday evening, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Mr. Stone. There was a handsome display of flowers, and the presents were elegant and costly.

The following signatures of Ware parties were obtained on Wednesday as being necessary to secure a franchise for an electric road from Warren to Ware: H. C. Davis, F. F. Gilmore, J. H. Storrs, P. O. L'Henreux, H. M. Clark, F. Bombard, Edward McBride, G. E. Utley, J. A. Gendron, A. Terrien.

The election officers appointed by the selectmen are: Counters and supervisors, John Osgood, J. H. Schoonmaker, Edward McBride, Frasier O'Leary, H. M. Coñey, A. J. Mailloux, H. N. Turner, Herbert A. Demond; teller to assist at ballot box, F. R. Cunningham; checkers on platform, A. L. Hayden, A. D. Giard.

The Episcopal society is to hold a bazar in the Town Hall April 8th. In the musical programme two Boston Boy soloists will appear, both of them very highly spoken of for their rich voices. The operetta, "Golden Locks and the Three Bears," the old fairy story, will be presented by local talent. P. J. Mulvaney will take the part of the big bear.

The following committees have been appointed by the Men's Sunday Evening league: Worship, W. S. Hyde, Silas A. Spooner, D. W. Ainsworth; Music, H. E. Fisher, Dr. Blodgett, A. P. Paton, W. H. Hall, Henry Anderson; printing and invitation, W. G. Hamilton, Alvan K. Hyde, A. E. Davis, H. S. Hitchcock, H. M. Coney, Robert Dwight; ushers, Isaac Jeffries, C. H. Willard, Arthur Smith, George Brown, William S. Hamilton, G. E. Holmes, Arthur Bassett, Ernest F. Marsh; finance, William N. Newcomb, John D. Smith, A. Bryson, F. L. Bassett, Paul R. Bridgman; membership, Henry K. Hyde, H. O. Robinson, R. D. Newton, A. E. Newcomb, T. P. Studd.

The evening service at the East Congregational church next Sunday will be for the first time in charge of the Men's Sunday Evening League. This league has a large and growing membership among the men of the congregation. Its main object is to assist the pastor in making the regular Sunday evening service attractive and profitable. The peculiar features of these services will be special music, united worship by means of a printed order, and a short practical sermon. Particular attention will be given to the service of praise, the choir of the church being assisted from time to time by vocal or instrumental soloists. A cordial invitation is given to all who are not regular attendants upon the evening services of other churches.

Rev. and Mrs. A. M. Osgood were given a reception by the W. C. T. U. on Wednesday evening as a token of the appreciation of the earnest temperance work done during their stay in Ware, which has been so much help. There has been no uncertain sound coming from them, and it has always been known just where to find them on this question of such vital interest to the welfare of the town. There was singing by Mr. and Mrs. Fisher, recitations by Misses Hatch and Cambell; Miss Southworth, president of the union, read a paper giving something of a summary of the good work done by Mr. and Mrs. Osgood, which was responded to in a happy manner by Mr. Osgood. Rev. A. B. Bassett spoke of the fellowship he had enjoyed by them. Refreshments were served in a dainty manner by the ladies, the tables being very tastefully decorated with plants and flowers.

CARD OF THANKS.—We wish to thank the many friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us in many ways during our recent affliction in the death of our dear mother.

J. D. BRADWAY AND FAMILY.

Beecham's pills for constipation 10c and 25c. Get the book at your druggist's and go by it.

Annual sales more than 6,000,000 boxes.

Try a can of Hopkins' Steamed Hominy (Hulled corn.) It is delicious. Full qt., 10c.

Here is Good News for Men Suffering From Nervous Debility, Weakened Powers and Exhausted Vigor.

Weak men suffering from nervous debility, weakened power and exhausted vigor, can now take new hope. Here is something which will powerfully interest them. It is a fact that until now sufferers have been debarred from seeking a cure by the great specialists in these complaints, owing to the cost of travel to the large cities and the high fees charged by these eminent physicians.

Here, therefore, is a chance for weak men in our community which should not be lost. Dr. Greene of 34 Temple Place, Boston, Mass., who has the largest practice in the world and who is without doubt the most successful specialist in curing this class of diseases, offers to give free consultation by mail to all weakened, vigorless and nerve-exhausted men. You have the privilege of consulting Dr. Greene by letter describing your complaint and he will, after carefully considering your condition, send you a letter fully explaining all your symptoms, telling you everything about your complaint so plainly that you will understand exactly what ails you. He will also give you his advice, based upon his vast experience and wonderful success in treating and curing such cases, as to just what to do to get cured. All this will cost you nothing and you can thus have consultation with the best known physician and acknowledged most successful specialist in the world without leaving home and at no expense whatever. The Doctor is the discoverer of that greatest of medicines, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and he has discovered many other most valuable special remedies. Write to him now, for this is a chance of a lifetime to get cured which you may never have again.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER.

ABSOLUTELY PURE.

A cream of tartar Baking Powder. Highest of all in leavening power.—Latest United States Government Food Report.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall Street, New York.

One Minute Cough Cure touches the right spot. It also touches it at the right time if you take it when you have a cough or cold. See the point? Then don't cough. LeGro & Lynde.

For the bath.

Soaps, sponges, brushes, toilet waters and powders, sea salt, etc.

Proper bathing is a luxury. The things cost but little if bought of us.

LeGRO & LYNDE,
Next to Post Office,
PALMER.

FINE STATIONERY.

Many ladies are troubled to find just the size, shade or weight of correspondence paper which they would like. With some thing like

200 VARIETIES

To select from we ought to be able to please you. Any style of paper in any size or shape, and you may have 100 sheets or 1000, as you prefer. We'd be pleased to show you samples at the JOURNAL Office. Your monogram or initials embossed in color if desired.

Quick in effect, heals and leaves no scar. Burning, scaly skin eruptions quickly cured by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Applied to burns, scalds, old sores, it is magical in effect. Always cures piles. LeGro & Lynde.

Forbes & Wallace's,
Springfield.

EXHIBITION and SALE
OF
a choice collection of ORIENTAL RUGS AND CARPETS, to last ten days.

The collection is equal in richness to any we have had so far in spite of the fact that genuine old Oriental rugs and carpets are getting rarer every day. But the wonder of all wonders is the prices, the prices. We never before were able to sell choice Oriental gems for so little money—$3.25 to $1.45.

Catalogues mailed to any address.

We are ready to show the advance guard of new spring jackets and wraps, charming silk waists, and costumes, and sklrts, pretty misses' jackets and children's reefers. The show will be large and rich, and will be worth coming far to see.

WARP PRINTED SILKS.

The new silks are winning golden opinions and corresponding success; none so lovely are to be found elsewhere in the city, people say. The prettiest silks are exclusive silks and will be found nowhere else but here; and, even here, there is only enough of some of the things for a waist or two. The prettiest things are going while the snow is still on the ground.

Forbes & Wallace,
Main, Vernon and Pynchon streets,
Springfield, Mass.

Meekins, Packard & Wheat.

Chamber Sets.

If you would see values in chamber sets inspect our line of maple, curly birch and solid oak sets at $22.50, $26, $29 and $30, likewise a line at $35 and $39.

We've recently received three car loads of these sets which you'll agree are the greatest bargains for the money ever shown.

Large dressers, plain and pattern plate mirrors and brass trimmings are their special features, to say nothing of the styles, which are the newest brought out,
Fourth floor.

Carpets.

Durability and styles for the least money that desirable floor covering can be purchased.

INGRAINS.

Look at our line of extra supers at 33c and 37½c a yard. Their equals at even more money, are not on the market.

HARTFORD and LOWELLS at 50c are worth inspection. Not a limited stock on short pieces, but over a hundred full rolls of the best patterns ever produced in this grade of carpet. They are not to be passed when looking for the most for your money.

BRUSSELS.

The new patterns are here. Lowell, Hartford and Bigelow makes. Known the country around for reliability and choice designs. Lose no time in making your selections.
Carpet department, first floor.

Muslin Curtains.

Ruffled muslin curtains at $1.15, $1.25, and $1.50 a pair are three leaders in our vast stock. Finest grades at $2.25, $2 50, $2.75 and $3.

Plain, figured and dotted to choose from Drapery department.

Trunks and Bags.

Consult us on these lines. You'll find the largest, best selected and most reliable stock of goods that the markets afford.

No chances to take on qualities or prices.

See our brown leather club bags, full nickel trimmed, leatherette lined.

13	size	at	98 cents.
14	"	"	$1.05
15	"	"	1.12
16	"	"	1.19

Basement.

MEEKINS, PACKARD & WHEAT,
SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

It not only is so, it must be so, One Minute Cough Cure acts quickly, and that's what makes it go. LeGro & Lynde.

J. H. Rogers Carriage Co.,

MANUFACTURERS OF
Carriages,
AND DEALERS IN
Carriages of every description.

33 to 39 Sanford St., SPRINGFIELD.

We manufacture and carry in stock the finest line of carriages in New England. Come and look over our stock.

A FINE LINE OF SECOND HAND VEHICLES CONSTANTLY ON HAND . . . .

at very low prices.

F. F. MARCY, PALMER, MASS.
Wholesale and Retail Dealer in

ALL KINDS OF LUMBER AND SHINGLES

Windows, doors, blinds, mouldings. Carpenters' and joiners' work done to order.

Also FIRE BRICK and CLAY for sale.

ard and shop at junction of B. & A. and N. L. N. Y. Railroads—west of Depot.

Speaking of Bows,

who has not heard that at each end of the rainbow there is to be found a pot of gold? And who, in her childhood days, has not started out to hunt for one of those pots of gold, only to be disappointed? The rainbow was only a fleeting show, and the pot of gold only a myth. Now the Misses M. and M. Gavin, at their new store in Heimann & Lichten's Main Street Block, have millinery and fancy goods in all colors of the rainbow, and in many colors which the rainbow never dreamed of, and one of the never-to-be-lost-sight-of points is this: In order to purchase all these beautiful flowers, ribbons, feathers, silks and what-not it is by no means necessary for you to possess a pot of gold, for they are sold at living prices. These ladies have a millinery opening Monday and Tuesday, March 30 and 31, and invite you to call.

M. & M. GAVIN, MONSON, MASS.

Groceries and dry goods.

Shaw Brothers,

Furniture and carpets.

Just opened a new department.
Tin ware and plumbing.

Give us a trial on anything you want.

STOVES AND RANGES, DRY AIR FURNACES.
ALSO STEAM AND HOT WATER FURNACES.

Call and see us and we will suit you in price and quality of work.

Hats and caps.

Three Rivers, Mass.

Boots and shoes.

BOOTS AND SHOES FOR THE PEOPLE.

SPRING STYLES ARRIVING DAILY.

Quick sellers and great values. All the latest styles for ladies in BOOTS and OXFORDS, BLACK, RUSSET OR TAN. SAME FOR MISSES AND CHILDREN.

A few of the ladies' Dull Dongola, button, in Opera Toe and Common Sense last, which I am closing out at $2.00. The very best boots for wear on earth.

Men's, Boys' and Youth's Footwear.

I have the best assortment, for dress or heavy wear. From a heavy brogan to the finest Patent Leather. CALL.

S. C. HALL, 295 Main Street. Next to P. O. SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

Handsomest line of
STRAW MATTINGS
ever shown in the Palmer,
AT 12 1-2c to 50c PER YARD,
. . . at . . .
STONE'S,
LAWRENCE BLOCK, PALMER.

FINEST ROAD-BED ON THE CONTINENT.

BOSTON & ALBANY RAILROAD.

Only Double-Track Route to the West.

ON AND AFTER DEC. 2, 1895.

Through Trains will Leave Boston as follows:

No. 7.—Day Express.

8:30 a. m.—Daily, except Sunday. Has Wagner buffet drawing-room car Boston to Albany, there connecting with through cars to all points West. Stops at Palmer 10.53 a. m.

No. 15.—Chicago Special.

10:30 a. m.—Daily. The finest train running in New England. A solid vestibuled Wagner train, comprising buffet, library and smoking car, sleeping cars and dining car Boston to Chicago, via the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern R. R., and also via Michigan Central R. R.

No. 19.—North Shore Limited.

2:00 p. m.—Daily. Has through vestibuled buffet sleeping cars Boston to Detroit and Chicago, via Michigan Central R. R. Dining car attached at Albany.

No. 23.—Cincinnati Express.

3:00 p. m.—Daily. Has through vestibuled buffet sleeping car Boston to Chicago via Lake Shore and Michigan Southern R. R., and to St. Louis and Cincinnati via Big Four Route. Stops at Palmer 5.20 p. m.

No. 9.—Pacific Express.

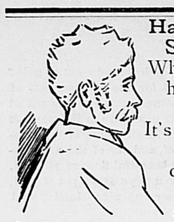
7:15 p. m.—Daily. Has through sleeping cars Boston to Chicago, via Michigan Central. Sleeping car Boston to Buffalo, parlor car Buffalo to Cleveland, sleeping car Cleveland to Chicago via Lake Shore & Michigan Southern.

No. 63.—Albany Express.

11:00 p. m.—Daily, except Saturday. Has sleeping car Boston to Albany. Stops at Palmer 1.46 a. m.

TRAINS LEAVE PALMER FOR BOSTON.

6 22	a. m.	Accommodation.
7.32	"	" "
8.25	"	Daily Express.
10.00	"	Express, except Sunday.



Have a Shampoo? When you do, have it with Pearline. It's delightful. Not only cleans your head, but clears your brain. It's good for your hair and scalp, too—invigorates them, just as a bath with Pearline invigorates your body. You're missing half the luxury of bathing, if you're doing it without Pearline. Moreover, you're not getting quite as clean, probably, as you might be. This may surprise you—but it's so.

Beware of imitations. 459 JAMES PYLE, N.Y.

It Is the Best

plan, in buying a wheel, to avoid the new and untried makes. Buy one that has stood the test of time. For seven years our "be-sure-you-are-right-and-then-go-ahead" policy has made the

"Phœnix" Bicycle

famous for beauty, durability, strength and speed. Cost, $100.

A "Phœnix," unless abused, needs no repairs—a considerable saving! Every '96 improvement, including reinforced joints, large and dust-proof bearings, barrel hubs and hanger, adjustable handle bar, etc.

Send for our Catalogue—mailed free.

STOVER BICYCLE MNFG. CO.,
575-577 Madison Ave., New York.

Must Use The Knife.

Said the Surgeon, but Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy was taken and the Knife Avoided.

The Union and Advertiser of Rochester, N. Y., recently published the following interesting account of how William W. Adams of 127 South avenue, that city, was saved from a painful operation by the use of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy.

Mr. Adams said: "Three years ago I was taken with kidney disease very badly; at times I was completely prostrated; in fact, was so bad that the day was set for three doctors to perform an operation upon me. But I decided I would not submit. I had been put in hot water baths, and, in fact, nearly every means was tried to help me. Upon the day set for the operation I commenced the use of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and from that moment began to gain, and it was not long before I was entirely cured and have had no return of the trouble since. My weight has increased and I never was so well as I am now. I have recommended to many people, for it saved my life."

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

In speaking to Mrs. Adams, she said, "About a year ago I was in a very feeble state of health, being completely run down. I had doctored considerably, but without permanent relief. One day one of my neighbors advised me to take Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, which I did. My trouble was dyspepsia, and for a long while I was unable to be about at all; but after taking a few doses I was completely cured, and now enjoy good health."

Hundreds of men and women with that "run down" condition, unable to work, have recovered health and strength through this remarkable remedy. It purifies the blood, stirs the liver and kidneys to a healthy action. In cases of rheumatism, kidney, liver and urinary troubles, it is a well-known specific.

LARRABEE'S
RHEUMATIC
LINIMENT

A standard and sovereign household remedy for over half a century. It is a wonderful curative agent in all painful diseases, such as

Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuralgia, Backache, Catarrh, Toothache,

and other painful ailments. To be had of all druggists, or by mail on receipt of 25 cents. Trade supplied by Geo. C. Goodwin & Co., or any wholesale druggist.

WINKLEMANN & BROWN DRUG CO.
BALTIMORE, MD., U. S. A.

Gendron Bicycle

SWIFT, STRONG, SURE.

Truest Bearings,
Most Rigid Frame,
Handsomest Outlines,
Easiest Running.

W. E. STONE, Agent,
Palmer and
North Wilbraham.

F. M. EAGER.

Boots and Shoes Manufactured to Measure.

REPAIRING NEATLY DONE AT SHORT NOTICE.

Dealer in Sewing Machines and Supplies.

Machines to rent or sold on monthly payments.

F. M. EAGER, PALMER.

The Song of the Brook.

I haste by hill and valley,
I haste by mead and lea,
I am the message bearer
From the mountains to the sea.
I am the mountains' courier,
And every meadow thrills
While I carry to the ocean
The tidings of the hills.
And every meadow hears it,
For, as I go each day,
Lest I forget the message,
I sing it all the way.

And the lily blooms grow whiter,
And loud the meadows ring
With the exultant gladness
Of the message that I sing.
What do I tell the ocean?
That all the hills are strong,
And all the forests on their backs,
Melodious with song.
That to the youth of nature
The hoary hills are true,
And that the ancient mountains
And this old world are new.

What do I tell the ocean?
That on the sun-kissed hills
Are perfumed winds of healing
And music-haunted rills;
From their eternal altars
Forevermore shall rise
In all the Eden freshness
New incense to the skies.
The hazy mists of summer
That o'er their summits dwell,
Brood like a benediction
That says that all is well.

What do I tell the ocean?
I say the hills are fair,
And drink an ever-fresher health
From heaven's enfolding air;
The sunward ferns are springing
Within their deepest glooms,
And that the fields are drifted
With snow of apple blooms;
And that there's mighty music
Where mountain torrents meet,
And that the heart of nature
Forevermore is sweet.

What do I tell the ocean?
I say the hills are high,
But draw new youth each morning
From the chalice of the sky;
They drink the virtue of the day,
The great sun's heat and light,
And bathe themselves in stillness
And the silence of the night.
And the winds around their summits
With strong, triumphant breath,
Proclaim above a land of graves
That there can be no death.

What do I tell the ocean?
That life blooms everywhere;
That the day is glad with music,
And all the world is fair.
And the proud tiger lillies
And meadow grasses near,
And all the drooping willows
And alders bend to hear.
My song of joy and gladness,
My song of hope and glee,
Makes one long strip of greenness
From the mountains to the sea.

So I will tell the ocean
What the strong mountains say,
With all the added gladness
I have gathered on the way;
That the smile of deathless beauty,
As at creation's birth,
With all its old, eternal charm,
Still glorifies the earth.
To tell this to the ocean
I through the land am whirled,
So that its mightier anthem
May tell it to the world.

—Sam Walter Foss, in New York Sun.

AMONG THE PARAGRAPHERS.

A REVOLTING TALE.

Quoth the waiter
"What is yours, sir?"
Said the guest, "I'll have a pie."
Returned the waiter, by and by,
"Custard, lemon,
Apple, pumpkin,
Peach or mince, sir, will you try?"
Guest, facetious—
"Give me currant,
Alternating currant-pie."
Vanished waiter hurriedlye,
Soon returned he
With the currant—
Alternating currant-pie,
First a currant,
Then a fly,
'Neath the crust alternate lie.
Perished waiter
Horriblye.

He—"If I could but be installed in your heart as—" She—"My heart is no installment house."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Daughter—"Charley Huggard kissed me last night." Mother (indignantly)—"That is outrageous. Did you sit on him for it?" Daughter—"I was."

St. Peter—"Who is that kicking up that row over there?" Angel—"Oh, it's that free silver man who just came up. He refuses to play on a gold harp."—Texas Siftings.

"Children," said the anxious appendicitis bacillus, "if I ever catch you playing with those low typhoid fever bacilli again I'll have your father attend to you."—Indianapolis Journal.

"I understand that your side lost some men in an engagement with the Cubans?" The Spanish officer glared and said nothing. "Bad generalship, eh?" "No. Typographical error."—Washington Star.

Sarcastic Officer—"What? Leave of absence to take care of your family? How many children in your family? Youthful Marine—"Four, commandant: a boy and three girls—and I am the boy."—Sketch.

Working Bee—"A fellow came around here hunting for our nest to-day." Queen Bee—"What did you do?" Working Bee—"Those of us who happened to be around at the time gave him a few points."—Truth.

Mother—"Did you try to make yourself agreeable at Mrs. Highstone's?" Little Daughter—"Yes'm; I told her all the funny things our callers said about her, and she seemed to be real interested."—Good News.

One Way Out.—Mrs. Brown—"I do wish you would go to church with me occasionally. How are the people to know that I am married, if they never see you with me?" Mr. Brown—"Easy! Take the children with you."—Puck.

"Dr. Jarley is simply wrapped up in his profession." "I should say he was. Why, they say that when he proposed to Madge Willoughby he never squeezed her hand once, but kept his thumb on her pulse all the time."—Harper's Bazar.

"Well, Johnny, how did you like the school?" "Oh, der school's all O. K., but der teacher doesn't know nuthin'." "Doesn't know anything? Why do you say that?" "'Cause she's always askin' us questions."—Texas Siftings."

"Dear me," exclaimed the new arrival in Hades, "why, here comes the shades of people whom I knew to be truly good. Well I never." "That party," calmly explained the old settler. "does not belong here. It is merely making a slumming tour."

Prof. Schuslich—"I don't know what's the matter with me, doctor, I am perpetually limping to-day. Is it locomotor ataxy, I wonder?" Doctor—"Why, professor, you are walking with one foot on the curbstone and the other in the gutter."—Lustige Blaetter.

How's This!

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by their firm.

West & Truax, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.; Walding, Kinnan & Marvin, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Price, 75c per bottle. Sold by all druggists. Testimonials free.

Sour

Stomach, sometimes called waterbrash, and burning pain, distress, nausea, dyspepsia, are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This it accomplishes because with its wonderful power as a blood purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla gently tones and strengthens the stomach and digestive organs, invigorates the liver, creates an appetite, gives refreshing sleep, and raises the health tone. In cases of dyspepsia and indigestion it seems to have "a magic touch."

"For over 12 years I suffered from sour

Stomach

with severe pains across my shoulders, and great distress. I had violent nausea which would leave me very weak and faint, difficult to get my breath. These spells came oftener and more severe. I did not receive any lasting benefit from physicians, but found such happy effects from a trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I took several bottles and mean to always keep it in the house. I am now able to do all my own work, which for six years I have been unable to do. My husband and son have also been greatly benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla—for pains in the back, and after the grip. I gladly recommend this grand blood medicine." MRS. PETER BURBY, Leominster, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.

Hood's Pills cure all Liver Ills and Sick Headache. 25 cents.

IF YOU WANT THE BEST GARDEN

in your neighborhood this season

PLANT OUR FAMOUS

SEEDS and PLANTS

all of which are described and illustrated in our beautiful and entirely New Catalogue for 1896. A new feature this season is the Free delivery of Seeds at Catalogue prices to any Post Office. This "New Catalogue" we will mail on receipt of a 2-cent stamp, or to those who will state where they saw this advertisement, the Catalogue will be mailed Free!

PETER HENDERSON & CO.
35 & 37 Cortlandt St., New York.

PULLING TEETH IN BANGOR.—Probably it is an adaptation, but a veteran Bangor dentist lays claim to being the hero of a good joke. As he tells the Commercial, Pat came to his office one day with his jaw very much swollen from a tooth which he desired to have pulled. But when the suffering son of Erin got into the dentist's chair and saw the gleaming forceps, he positively refused to open his mouth. The dentist hit upon an effectual scheme, however. He got his office boy to jab Pat with a pin, and when he opened his mouth to yell he grabbed the tooth, and out it came. "It didn't hurt as much as you expected it would, did it?" the dentist asked, smiling at his ruse. "Well, no," replied Pat, hesitatingly, as if doubting the truthfulness of his admission. "But," he added, placing his hand on the spot where the boy jabbed him with the pin, "I didn't think its roots wint so far down as thot."—Lewiston Journal.

The Advantages of Prepared Mince Meat should be honestly considered by every housewife. It has great advantages, as one trial of will prove. You will find that it is clean—it could not be more so; that it is convenient—always ready and never spoils on the shelf; that it is economical—a 10c. package makes two large pies, fruit pudding, or delicious fruit cake. Get the genuine—take no substitute.

NONE SUCH MINCE MEAT

Send your address, naming this paper, and we will send you free a book,—"Mrs. Popkins' Thanksgiving," by one of the most popular humorous writers of the day.

MERRELL-SOULE CO.,
Syracuse, N. Y.

consumption reaps his richest harvest where diseases of the throat and lungs are neglected.

HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR

If you have ever tried Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar you know what a safeguard it is against throat and lung troubles. Sold by druggists.

Pike's Toothache Drops cure in one minute.

J. W. Pierce, Republic, Ia., says; "I have used One Minute Cough Cure in my family and for myself, with results so entirely satisfactory that I can hardly find words to express myself as to its merit. I will never fail to recommend it to others, on every occasion that presents itself." LeGro & Lynde.

POSTAL

Telegraph and Cable Co.

Office in Holden's Block,

PALMER, : : : : MASS.

Direct wires to New York and Boston. Office in all the principal cities in the

UNITED STATES.

PROMPT SERVICE,

REASONABLE RATES,

ALL BUSINESS

STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL.

Engraved Address Cards. Plate engraved and 100 cards printed, only $1.50. Styles change often—your old cards may be out of style, probably are—better have some new ones, with correct size of card and style of lettering. At the JOURNAL Office.

WHEN I WAS A MAN.

I was living with my family in Paris. I was eighteen, and as at the age of eleven I had made my first appearance in public print, I was by this time not quite a tyro in the journalistic profession, which was then my recreation between music-masters and painting-teachers, and the rest of those people who go to make up the sum of a young girl's "education."

The charm that newspaper work possessed for me then was alike one of the literary bent and of the secrecy with which I chose to conduct my cacoethes scribendi. I wrote under another name than my own for home papers and magazines here in America solely, until finally one day I suddenly decided that I would try my fortune with—what, think you?

Nothing less than "Figaro" itself. But a womanly nom de plume. That deterred me. I feared, I hesitated; should it be boldly, then, my own name?

No; and at once I selected a short, crisp, yet euphonious and wholly likely masculine cognomen. I wrote my copy; addressed and sent it to Monsieur Jules Dessinoir, the well-known manager of a certain department of "Figaro." I dated the accompanying note from my own home, and forthwith took my family into my confidence, as well as the butler and housemaid, who might be likely to answer the postman's call, or the concierge's inquiry for "Count Karjak."

I waited. Not long, however, for in the next but one Saturday's issue of "Figaro," lo and behold! was my story. Not only this, but my amused father, on turning over the paper, held up to my astonished and somewhat terrified gaze the announcement that "Monsieur le Comte Karjak, a distinguished Russian now visiting Paris for the first time, would probably be induced to contribute to these pages certain other of his impressions to follow those most entertaining and unique ones contained in the present number."

How they all laughed about the table, as with flushed cheeks I sat speechless in bewildered amusement.

I was then a Russian. Very good; to that I had no objection to offer. Russians—great, big, brave blonde, fellows, speaking our English and my family's French so well—were indeed my special adoration. So, when a note came the next morning, enclosing a cheque for one hundred and fifty francs (which I endorsed "Karjak," and my father reëndorsed and obtained the money for), and asking if I would be pleased to furnish further articles on the agreeable theme of French society and manners as contrasted with those of my own country, I replied very promptly that I would do so.

My own country! Russia? Decidedly the name had misled M. Dessinoir. Very well, it made little difference. Since I had become a man, I might just as well be a Russian man as any other. So I accepted the situation, and throwing myself mentally into the little of my supposed native country with which I was acquainted, and diligently beginning at once to cultivate all the Russian people and Russian books that I knew of, I felt myself presently quite a Slav, and commenced to discover that I had a predilection for all the magnificent bizarreries and delicious incompatibilities of the women—I mean the men!—of that fascinating race.

I sent to M. Dessinoir regularly for four weeks the "Impressions of Karjak," and received in return my one hundred and fifty francs; besides which I had the pleasure of seeing him as well advertised as any journalistic writer ever is by the French custom, which is a widely different one from ours.

Presently, too, at my mother's weekly receptions, was heard mention of Karjak. Who was he? Did we know? Did I know? Since I had been lately in Russia, perhaps I had something to tell of him, his personality, age, estate? And one young and beautiful woman even went so far as to tell me in confidence that she was much taken with his style, his thoughts, his wit, humor, esprit, and native Russian-Tartaric way of looking at the amenities of Parisian social life!

She declared that she had made up her mind definitely to know him. That M. Dessinoir was an intimate friend of hers, and that he had promised her only that very day most faithfully that he would use his best endeavors to bring the Comte Karjak to her next evening at home.

I said to her "how delightful!" and I thought "how dreadful! What will M. Dessinoir do?" and then all this passed out of my mind as I caught the drift of the conversation of two literary men who stood on the other side of me.

"Oh," said one, "he is a novice, that is too evident. Still your Karjak is enormously clever. Slav au bout desongles—a little raw and barbaric still."

"You are mistaken," returned the other. "I am convinced that this new light in our 'Figaro' is a man of experience, considerable age, and perhaps tired out with what is called the 'world.'"

I turned away; the situation was too much for me. I rushed over to my young friend, Pauline A., and took refuge in discussing with her the gown I was next week to wear as her bridesmaid at Notre Dame de Lorette.

Two days later came my usual envelope from "Figaro," containing, besides the customary cheque, a note from M. Dessinoir, inviting me, most courteously, to "a little breakfast which he was about to take much pleasure in giving in my honor at the Cafe Bignon, on any day that I would be so condescending as to mention."

In my honor! The Cafe Bignon! I almost expired between laughter and nervousness as I put pen to paper, and in haste assured M. Dessinoir that—what should it be?—"a sudden call into the country on important business would deprive me of the infinite pleasure." And, foreseeing a possible further step toward M. Dessinoir's fulfillment of his promise to my pretty friend, I also added that "being a foreigner I was shy, and perhaps it was the better plan for writers not to become personally known to editors," etc., etc., etc.

In due time returned the expostulations of M. Dessinoir. "Ah, my dear fellow," wrote he, "you are making a rank mistake. Many men of note are already desirous of meeting you—even a number of lovely women have signified to me their willingness to encounter the author of your "Impressions." Pray you, reconsider, and give me a great honor and happiness."

I became quite cold. A species of terror seized upon me, as I consulted with my mother; and finally our conference terminated in my writing a temporizing but not at all convinced response.

Decidedly, if this was being a man, I devoutly wished that I had never become one!

A fortnight passed without events, at least so far as Karjak was concerned, and I had begun to console myself with the reflection that he had been forgotten amid the pressure of other men and matters.

Alas! not so. On a certain Tuesday a messenger arrived bearing a note from M. Dessinoir— "begging that I would accede to his invitation for breakfast to-morrow. He took the liberty over my modesty of naming the day himself—at the Cafe Bignon, to meet Messieurs A., B., C., D., respectively, of four of the most popular Parisian journals."

Mamma was out paying visits; papa had gone to Versailles for the day; my cousin was painting in Louvre; what should I do?

Seizing my pen, I wrote—was it inspiration or some emanation from less divine source?—thus: "That my wife being very ill, I was compelled to decline," and adding to this wholesome statement the most profound regrets and sorrow deeply dyed!

Very good. I slept in peace that night, having confided to my family not only the fact of my being a man, but that I had lately married, and now possessed a wife!

My MS. went as usual a day or two later. In the evening, my pretty friend was again at our house.

"Alas," she said to me, "I have had ill news. M. Dessinoir tells me that my adored Karjak is—married."

"Verily," I say; so I had heard."

"But I do not believe it. I will not believe it. I assured M. Dessinoir that he must prove it to me."

"And?" I interrupt breathlessly.

"He has sworn that he will do so."

"How?" I inquire. I am sure turning pale.

"He has vowed to call upon Karjak, and finally to see his wife."

I lived thereafter for some days in a kind of nightmare, trembling at every knock and ring. At last it came—the cards of M. Dessinoir. I held my brow. My knees shook beneath me.

"Say to the gentlemen," I gasped, "that M. le Comte is absent from Paris."

In a few moments Jacques returned.

"Would Madame la Comtesse deign do Monsieur the honor to see him for a moment only? A matter of business and importance—some part of the last MS. of M. le Comte had been unfortunately lost."

Decidedly M. Dessinoir intended to keep his vow. Mamma was out, of course: I drew myself up to as great a height as nature's five feet one and a half would allow, and sailed majestically, I hoped, out to meet M. Dessinoir. Since I was a man and married one, then also let me be my own wife, since fate so willed.

We met as became two well-bred persons. M. Dessinoir explained. Madame le Comtesse knew nothing of the literary affairs of her husband; while regretting her inability, she deplored her stupidity, M. l'Editeur was charmed, yet chagrined, of course, at not seeing M. le Comte. Altogether we both delivered ourselves of many compliments, and M. Dessinoir begged me to use my wifely influence to induce my gifted husband to make himself known to his many admirers, and gracefully made his exit.

I was a man; also his wife. I had been addressed as madame! Very well.

The following evening chanced to be that of a great reception at the American embassy. Although, of course, not yet "out," I was to be allowed to go as a great treat; and in my gown of white over yellow, with yellow roses and some white lilies, I had long since, in chattering with a handsome young English attache, forgotten both Karjak and his wife, when—I raised my eyes to perceive advancing toward me the daughter of our hostess leaning upon the arm of M. Dessinoir.

I did not faint or scream. I stood like a block of stone. I had never thought of this horrible possibility.

She presented him to me with due ceremony, calling me her "life-long friend and school-fellow."

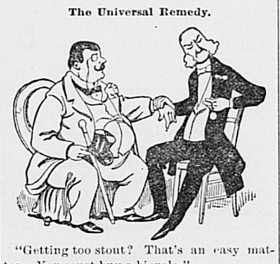
M. Dessinoir, although at first disposed to recognize me, embraced the situation, soon routed the young attache, and—quietly begged me the favor of my autograph in his pocket-album.

I became scarlet, as I took the offered pencil from his large, white hand, and, trembling, I wrote for him, as he watched me with amused yet not-cruel eyes—the name of "Karjak!"

We are the best friends imaginable, M. Dessinoir and I. He sometimes calls me "dear little fellow," and reminds me of the time "when I was a man."

So I have given you one of the many experiences of my comparatively brief journalistic career.—Fannie Aymar Matthews, in Peterson's Magazine.

The Universal Remedy.



"Getting too stout? That's an easy matter. You must buy a bicycle."

"Getting too thin? That's a very simple matter. You must buy a bicycle."—St. Paul's.

IN A KENTUCKY CHURCH.

In a pleasant, social little Kentucky town not long ago, a new minister arrived. Fervent in his mission against the world, the flesh, and the evil one, and not duly considering the points of his compass, he delivered from his pulpit the first Sunday a tirade against card playing. On Monday the wealthiest member of his flock called on him and said:

"Oh, dear Brother Parker, your sermon was very unwise. You will offend half your people if you talk against cards. We are just a little quiet community all by ourselves here, and we play cards whenever we want to. Don't say anything more about card playing."

So the next Sunday the new preacher launched out on dancing. Again the wealthy member visited him to say that his church people had always danced all they wanted to, and he must not say anything more against dancing. The evil of horse racing was his subject the following Sunday, and this brought the rich member to him in great distress of mind.

"Great goodness, Brother Parker! this is one of the finest horse sections in the state. You are beside yourself when you try to put down horse racing."

"Well, said the despondent preacher, "if you say so I'll have to let these evils alone. Next Sunday I'll abuse the Jews."

"All right," remarked the wealthy member, "but don't overlook the fact that I'm the only Jew in your congregation."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

FAR FETCHED, BUT UNIQUE.

Scene—A schoolroom in the year 1900.

Teacher (to new boy)—"Hans, have you got your certificate of vaccination against small-pox?"

"Yes, sir."

"Have you been inoculated for croup?"

"Yes, sir."

"Have you had an injection of cholera bacillus?"

"Yes, sir."

"Have you a written guarantee that you are proof against whooping cough, measles and scarlet fever?"

"Yes, sir."

"Are you provided with your own drinking cup?"

"Yes, sir."

"Will you make a solemn promise never to exchange sponges with the other boys and never to use any other pencil but your own?"

"Yes, sir."

"Do you agree to have all your books fumigated with sulphur and your clothes sprinkled with chloride of lime once a week?"

"Yes, sir."

"Hans, I see that you fulfill all the requirements of modern hygienics. Now you can climb that wire, place yourself on an isolated aluminum seat and commence doing your sums."—Washington Times.

One Day.

One day!
One day, dear heart, will come a day of days,
Soft with the air of kinder lands,
Sweet with the breath of rip'ning vine,
Bright with the smiles of glowing skies,
For on that day mine hungry eyes
Shall long and deeply gaze in thine
And lovingly within mine hands
Thine own be clasped. And in that gaze
And clasp shall fade all dissonance
Of nature's wars; all ill of sense,
Of sight and sound shall change to bliss;
All grief—aye, death itself—shall fade on this
One day.

—Emile Pickhadt.

THE DRUMMER BOY'S RESCUE.

"You can't tell how far a cat can jump by the curl of its tail," said an old regular army officer at the Ebbitt last Saturday night; "and you can't judge of a man's bravery by looking at his face." The remark was called out by a story that had just been told of a soldier's actions during a fight at one of our southern seaport towns in the late war.

"We had a German named Pfau in my regiment along at the first of the war," continued the speaker, "whose usually pale face would turn to an ashen hue at the firing of a musket; yet he had more cool bravery about him than is often found even in born soldiers. The boys used to fire jokes at him on account of his nervousness at first, but after standing up beside him in one or two engagements they dropped the funny business, and it wasn't long before the entire regiment got so they swore by 'Dutchy.'

"During the 'seven days' fight' one of our little drummer boys, who was hit with a piece of shell, was lying on a high, exposed point on the field, when the regiment fell back a little. Pretty soon there was a cross fire of light artillery from the rebels at our right and left, and the little raised spot of ground where Johnny was lying was right in the center of the cross. Johnny was a great favorite in his company, and many a sigh went up from the boys as they looked over the field at that spot and realized his danger. But there seemed to be no way to help the little fellow, and the only thing to be done was to pray that the iron and leaden hail might not touch him.

"Then a 10-pound shell plowed through the dirt on the knoll, bounding over toward our left, and burst among the 91st Pennsylvania volunteers. A groan went through our ranks as the men saw the dirt flying on the knoll, for the drummer was up there, and just then 'Dutchy' dropped his musket and made a break across the open field for the little summit, zigzagging right toward the rebel lines. There was a moment's lull in the rattling musketry, an instant's cessation of the cannonading, and 'Dutchy' was seen to stagger and partially fall once or twice, but he reached the knoll; and when he picked that little youngster up in his arms it seemed as though the whole gray-coat line jumped up and waved their hats and cheered him. Those fellows knew what bravery was as well as we did, and when the Pfau staggered back to our lines with the little wounded drummer in his arms there wasn't a shot fired.

"'Poys, here's Johnny again,' he said, as he laid the moaning little fellow in the arms of a big sergeant, then he fell in a faint, weak from loss of blood. When the doctors got him into the hospital and had taken off his clothing, it was found that he had nine bullet wounds, some pretty severe, but none fatal. The poor fellow died a few months after that of swamp fever, and was buried just out of camp with more military honors than are usually paid to an enlisted officer."—Washington Star.

WISDOM FROM THE RAM'S HORN.

God's promises are heaven's bank notes.

Affection is trying to make brass pass for gold.

The devil is not doing all his work in the slums.

When we measure others we make ourselves the standard.

When the world can't understand a man it calls him a crank.

We sometimes pray for more grace, when what we need is more grit.

Our trials do not weaken us. They only show us that we are weak.

It costs as much to be stingy as it does to be extravagant.

Elijah fled from Jezebel, but Ahab had the most to fear from her.

If any man be a worshiper of God, and doeth his will, him he heareth.

No man who gives as much as he ought to give, ever wants his money back.

The devil hates a prayer-meeting, but he likes the part some people take in it.

High up among the things written on the gate of hell, is "Sacred Concert."

It is not so much what we do, as what we love, that decides our fate.

A self-made man generally spoils his boy in trying to make him like himself.

It is just as true that little sins are real sins, as little snakes are real snakes.

God cannot put any more meaning into words than man can get out of them.

Heaven is so near that our loved ones there are closer to us than they were before.

Heaven is so near that when our eyes are opened to see as we are seen we shall be there.

When one man is heating a furnace for another, he never thinks about the price of coal.

It is hard to understand why unassuming people are so apt to wear squeaking shoes.

If you want your boy to stay on the farm, don't make him work with the dullest hoe.

The prayer of a man who hasn't heard God speak for 10 years, is a hard strain on any prayer-meeting.

Omissionary churches are like Christmas trees with their fruit tied on with strings of pop corn. The tree, having no vital roots, grows no branches. As well call a post a tree as to call a morgue a church.

The Lord is nigh unto all them that call upon him, to all that call upon him in truth. It shall come to pass that before they call, I will answer; and while they are yet speaking, I will hear.

"Well," said the suave gentleman who had just made a purchase at a London haberdasher's, "I guess you may send that over to my hotel." "Good 'eavens!" exclaimed the proprietor, after the customer had gone. "'E's an American! If he'd talked like that when 'e was buying the goods I'd have awsked 'im 10 shillin' instead of 5!"—Chicago Tribune.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

THE BEST SALVE in the world for cuts bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

Try Electric Bitters as a remedy for your troubles? If not get a bottle now and get relief. This medicine has been found to be peculiarly adapted to the relief and cure of all female complaints, exerting a wonderful direct influence in giving strength and tone to the organs. If you have loss of appetite, constipation, headache, fainting spells, or are nervous, sleepless, excitable, melancholy, or troubled with dizzy spells, Electric Bitters is the medicine you need. Health and strength are guaranteed by its use. Large bottles only fifty cents of LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

A Household Treasure.

D. W. Fuller, of Canajoharie, N. Y., says that he always keeps Dr. King's New Discovery in the house and his family has always found the very best results follow its use; that he would not be without it, if procurable. G. A. Dykeman, druggist, Catskill, N. Y., says that Dr. King's New Discovery is undoubtedly the best cough remedy; that he has used it in his family for eight years, and it has never failed to do all that is claimed for it. Why not try a remedy so long tried and tested. Trial bottles free of LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware. Regular size 50c. and $1.00.

A TELL TALE CLOCK.

Mr. Macallister McIlhenny took no note of time, albeit it was flying by at a rate of sixty minutes to the hour, and had been doing so for several hours.

Hence it had come to pass that midnight was approaching and the woman in the case was dead tired.

She was a fair young thing, too, and Macallister McIlhenny should have taken the house with him, if he couldn't have left it earlier.

While thrashing around his intelligence trying to find something interesting to talk about further, he observed a peculiar-looking clock on a cabinet in the corner, and he ambled over to it.

The girl's eyes would have followed him, but they were not somnambulists.

Inspection showed the clock to be only a very clever imitation in bronze.

"Oh, ah," he exclaimed, laughing in April fool cadences; "it doesn't go does it?"

"No," she responded, dreamily.

"I never saw one like it," he went on. "What kind of a clock is it?"

"It's a Macallister McIlhenny," said she, wearily.

And then Mac took his departure, only to find that the last car had passed beyond the scope of his optic apparatus, and he was left to walk home.—Detroit Free Press.

THE POPULAR WOMAN.—One of the hardest lessons for us to learn in this world is that others do not care so much about us and our affairs as we do ourselves. To a woman who likes to talk, and most women do, it is not easy to realize that others have not their own supreme admiration for the sound of her own voice, the account of her happenings and tastes. She must have the art of story telling, and must then tell only the best stories, who is destined to "hold forth" in a tete-a-tete or a larger assemblage. To her who would be popular the motto should be always: "Listen, listen, listen!" It shouldn't be "Talk."—San Francisco Call.

Dangerous Drugs.

Avoid the use of white or pink headache powders, they contain dangerous drugs. Taylor's Anti-Headache Powders are brown; they look like ground coffee and they have a delightful aromatic taste. Try them once and you will never be without them. Get them of LeGro & Lynde.

"The kind Boss makes his Biscuits with."

PURE, STRONG, RELIABLE.

Is the verdict arrived at by Chemical Analysis of

BOSS BAKING POWDER

Economy, Health and Satisfactory Results attend its use.

MANUFACTURED BY
C. D. BOSS & SON, New London, Conn.

35 cents

Colds are serious things. They lead to worse things. A cold is the seed of consumption. Croup is a cold's half-brother—it is generally caused by cold, and many a little life has been snuffed out by it because the proper remedy was not at hand.

Dr. Hooker's Cough and Croup Syrup

gives relief at once. It has saved thousands of lives. Every mother should see that it is always in the house. Don't wait till you need it—that may be too late. Contains no opium—absolutely safe—endorsed by physicians for 50 years. Made only by Charles B. Kingsley, Northampton, Mass.

at Drug Stores

A cold wave.

Think about winter medicines. There needn't be many of them, but they should be right. Something for the cough and something for the digestion—perhaps that's all. Try our CLIMAX COUGH CURE for the first—it suits every time, and SHAKER'S DIGESTIVE CORDIAL for the second. They are medicines that are effective. If there is anything else you want we have it, and shall be glad to supply your needs in the line of medicines, prescriptions or sundries at the lowest rates.

O. P. ALLEN, DRUGGIST,
Holden's Block, Palmer.

EYES EXAMINED FREE.

Dr. Vineberg, Refraction Specialist,

wishes to inform sufferers of headache or nervous complaints arising from defective vision, can be cured by having glasses properly fitted to the eyes.

247 Main Street, - Springfield, Mass.

"A very smooth article."

BattleAx PLUG

A GREAT BIG PIECE FOR 10 CENTS.

Don't compare "Battle Ax" with low grade tobaccos—compare "Battle Ax" with the best on the market, and you will find you get for 5 cents almost as much "Battle Ax" as you do of other high grade brands for 10 cents.

WHAT BRINGS RELEASE FROM DIRT AND GREASE? WHY DON'T YOU KNOW?

SAPOLIO

BREAKFAST—SUPPER.

EPPS'S

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

COCOA

BOILING WATER OR MILK.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 Druggists

HINDERCORNS.

The only sure Cure for Corns. Stops all pain. Ensures comfort to the feet. Makes walking easy. 15cts. at Druggists.

CATARRH.

is a LOCAL DISEASE and is the result of colds and sudden climatic changes. It can be cured by a pleasant remedy which is applied directly into the nostrils. Being quickly absorbed it gives relief at once.

Ely's Cream Balm

is acknowledged to be the most thorough cure for nasal catarrh, cold in head and hay fever of all remedies. It opens and cleanses the nasal passages, allays pain and inflammation, heals the sores, protects the membrane from colds, restores the senses of taste and smell. Price 50c, at druggists or by mail. ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren St., New York.

L. H. HENDEE, M. D.,

OFFICE AND RESIDENCE, PLEASANT ST.

Office hours 7 to 10 a. m., and 1 to 3 and 7 to 9p. m.

Half-backs, full-backs & weak-backs are relieved by Johnson's Belladonna Plaster

IT TOUCHES THE SPOT.

The Palmer Journal.

VOLUME XLVII. PALMER, MASS., FRIDAY EVENING, APRIL 3, 1896. NUMBER 1.

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY EVENING
—BY—
C. B. FISKE & CO.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.—Two dollars a year. A discount of 25 cents to those who pay in advance. Six months, $1.00; three months, 50 cents; single copies, 4 cents.

ADVERTISING RATES.—One inch (or twelve lines of this type solid) 75 cents for the first insertion, 25 cents for the second, 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. Short advertisements, "Wanted," "To Let," etc., one cent a word for the first insertion, one-half cent a word each subsequent insertion, cash; no charge less than 25 cents. Notices in local column, 15 cents per line. Liberal rates to yearly advertisers.

JOB PRINTING of all kinds executed in the best styles, promptly and at reasonable rates.

C. B. FISKE. L. E. CHANDLER.

[Entered at Post Office as second class matter.]

LOCAL BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

PALMER.

ALLEN, O. P., Wholesale and Retail Druggist and Bookseller.

BARTON, F. D., Dealer in Watches, Clocks and Jewelry, Main street.

BILLS, G. A., Fresh and Salt Beef, Pork, Ham, Lard, Tripe, etc.

BROOKS, EDWIN E., Graduate Optician. With E. S. Brooks, Jeweler, Main street.

BROOKS, E. S., Dealer in Watches, Clocks, Jewelry, Solid Silver and Plated Ware, Main street.

BROWN, C. A. & CO., Hardware, Furnaces, Stoves, Ranges, Paints, Oils and Glass.

BROWN, S. H., Trucking, Light Jobbing, Piano Moving. Order box cor. Main and Walnut streets. Orders can also be left at J. F. Foley's store.

CARPENTER, Mrs. L. E., Millinery and Fancy Goods. Also dealer in Human Hair Goods.

CHANDLER BROS., Bicycles.

CLARK & HASTINGS, Wholesale Dealers in Armour & Co's. Dressed Beef, Provisions, Main St.

EAGER, F. M., Boot and Shoe Manufacturer to Order, and dealer in Lasts and Findings.

FISKE, C. B. & CO., Publishers PALMER JOURNAL and WARE STANDARD. Job Book and Job Printers and Bookbinders.

FITCH, A. E., Law and Insurance, Savings Bank Block.

FRANCIS, R. B., Iron Foundry and Machine Shop.

GAMWELL, C. K., Ready made Clothing, Hats, Caps, Gent's Furnishings, etc.

GARDNER, CHAS. L., Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Church street.

GOODES, E., Palmer Boot and Shoe Store, corner Main and Thorndike streets.

HAMILTON, J. A., Dealer in all kinds of Coal, Wood, Grain, Flour, Baled Hay and Straw. Fertilizers and Stock Food. Main street.

HOLBROOK, C. D., Flour, Grain, Feed and Masons' Supplies, Main street.

HOLBROOK, J. F., Dealer in all kinds of Coal. Agent for National and White Star line of steamers. Drafts on Foreign Ports at lowest rates.

LEACH, W. W., Attorney at Law.

LeGRO & LYNDE, Druggists and Newsdealers, Paper Hangings, Shades, Lamps and Fixtures.

MARCY, F. E., Dealer in Lumber, Shingles, etc., wholesale and retail. West of B. & A. R. R. depot.

MARCY, OSCAR C., Livery and Feed Stable, rear of Converse House.

PALMER WATER CO., Office, Lawrence Block. Office hours to October 1, from 8.30 to 10 a. m., from 2 to 3 p. m.

SHAW, J. B., Dealer in Dry Goods, Groceries, etc. Opposite the depot.

WHITE, C. W., Marble and Granite Works. No. 1 Thorndike street.

WOOLRICH & CO., Manufacturers of Ridge's Food, Thorndike street.

THORNDIKE.

ADAMS, A. P., Druggist, Toilet Articles, Confectionery and Cigars.

BONDSVILLE.

HOLDEN, C. L., Dry Goods, Groceries, Clothing Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps, etc.

MORIARTY, M., Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots Shoes, Coal. Agt White Star and Anchor SS Co's

WARE.

ALBERTINE, J. A. Choice Fruits, Tobaccos, Cigars and Confectionery. Low Prices.

DAVIS INSURANCE AGENCY represents the best companies and gives lowest rates.

DWIGHT, R. N., Harness, Horse Saddlery, Hardware. Repairing a Specialty. Next to bank.

EDDY, C. W. Job and Fine Art Printer.

EDDY, MISS MATIE K. Teacher of Oil Painting and Crayon. Sketching or Art Work completed to order.

ELDREDGE, A. HENRY. Sign Painter. Carriages painted in the best manner. West Street.

HARLOW, A. B. Photographer. Instantaneous process only. Opposite the Bank.

HOSMER, F. N. Clothier. Hats, Caps, Gents' Furnishing Good, etc. Sanford's Block.

MARSH, F. E. Gold, Silver and Nickel Plater. Replating tableware a specialty. 7 Bank street.

PRIEST, J. E. Ware Steam Laundry. Carpet cleaning. Office at H. M. Clark's.

RICHARDSON, A. F. Dealer in Boots, Shoes and Rubbers of all kinds. Sagendorph's Block.

ROBINSON, JOHN F. Furniture, Sewing Machines, Pictures, Hardware, Paints and Farming Tools.

SIBLEY, J. B. Hardware, Tools, Agricultural Implements, Paints, Oils and Artists' materials.

SMITH, G. H. W. Jeweler. Watches, Clocks and Spectacles. Repairing in the best manner.

SULLIVAN & STRONG, Ware Coöperative Laundry. Fine Work and Carpet Cleaning. Office, 50 Main Street.

TURNER, H. H. Bookseller and Stationer, and dealer in Paper Hangings, Musical Instruments and Sheet Music.

MONSON.

GROUT, GEO. E. Dealer in Watches Clocks, Jewelry, etc. Towne's Block.

NEWTON, GEO. H., Law Office, Notary Public, Insurance, etc., near Gage's store.

SQUIER & CO., Dealers in Grain, Feed, Hay, Straw, Lumber, Shingles and Building Material.

WARREN.

KELLEY, W. H., Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Quaboag Block, Warren, Mass.

SOCIETY DIRECTORY.

MONSON.

MT. ELLA LODGE, No. 184, A. O. U. W. Meets first and third Tuesdays of each month in A. O. U. W. Hall, Monson.
FISK G. ROGERS, M. W., F. J. ENTWISTLE, Rec.

. . . Plumbing,
. . . tinning
. . . and heating.

Do you want
the best range on earth?
I have it,
AND WILL EXCHANGE WITH YOU.

CRAWFORD GRAND RANGES.

Do PLUMBING?
you TINNING?
want HEATING?
. . . STEAM?
. . . . . AIR?
OR WATER?

I have the goods in this line and can give you satisfaction.
Come in and see the goods

...MODEL GRAND RANGES..

W. H. Hitchcock,
Masonic Block, Central St., Palmer.

A high liver with a torpid liver will not be a long liver. Correct the liver with DeWitt's Little Early Risers, little pills that cure dyspepsia and constipation. LeGro & Lynde.

SOMETHING FOR EASTER.

It is the universal desire of all feminine humanity at present. It is throbbing in the hearts of every woman in this town—and it is within the reach of everyone who hits on this little notice, and those who don't, for that matter. We have a congregation of the most stunning things for Easter that have ever brightened an Easter day for this community. They bloom for all.

EASTER OFFERINGS.

Our Foster lace kid glove,

5 hook, corded back and fancy trimmings. A decided bargain at the price. We have them in the following shades: Light and dark tans, also blacks. Sizes 5¾ to 7¼. Every pair warranted. $1.00 A PAIR.

EASTER OFFERINGS.

Easter handkerchiefs, in the new linen color. Natural shade, grass linen, scalloped edge with silk embroidered center. The latest fad in the handkerchief line—both useful and ornamental as an Easter gift. EASTER PRICE 19c and 25c.

Side combs.

Celluloid. Imitation tortoise shell, curved pattern, also open top for ribbon.
PRICES 10c, 15c, 19c and 25c A PAIR.

Umbrellas.

Special value in ladies' and gent's English gloria umbrellas. Warranted fast black. Fine horn and natural sticks, including a few of Dresden balls. BARGAIN AT $1.38.

Crushed lavender flowers for perfuming household and personal linen. Retains its sweetness and very refreshing odor. EASTER NOVELTY—10c A BAG.

Perfumes.

Our ounce perfumes need no comment. They are well known for their superior quality, delicate and lasting. We have put in some new odors, including sweet sixteen, new mown hay, west end, jockey club, heliotrope, apple blossom, lily of the valley and stephanotis. With each ounce sold (while they last) we will give away free, 4½ inch high, twisted glass atomizer. PERFUME PER OUNCE, 35c.

Gent's Easter ties, in bows, tecks, four-in-hand. Made of fine India silk. The 50c pattern. New spring effects at 25c EACH.

BARGAIN DAY.

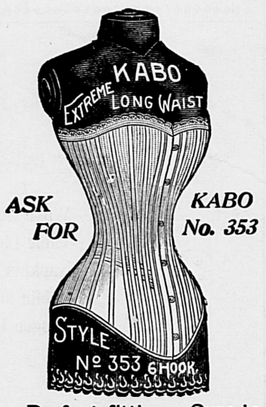
MONDAY PRICES ONLY.

5c Shaker flannel,	3 1-2c
6c yard wide cotton,	4 3-4c
10c gent's half hose,	7c pair.
100 yards spool silks,	2c each.
6 black twist for	5c
15c worth petrolatum,	8c

MONDAY PRICES ONLY.

3 cakes pure buttermilk soap,	15c
20c dozen shell hair pins,	8c dozen.
42x36 pillow slips,	8c each.
45x36 pillow slips,	9c each.
5c cotton twill toweling,	3 1-2c
10c aluminum thimbles,	5c each.

T. H. TODD, MONSON.

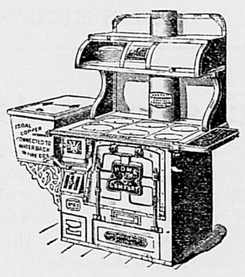


ASK FOR KABO No. 353

Perfect fitting. Sure to give satisfaction.
Price only $1.00
For sale by D. L. BODFISH, Palmer.

There is one DRESS STAY that
Won't melt apart,
Can't cut through the dress,
Don't stay bent.
It is
BALL'S PEERLESS.
All lengths; all colors.

STANDARD SOAP, ten bars for 25c. W. E. STONE, Palmer.



RUSSELL, MASS., March 14th, 1896.

Gentlemen:—One of the divisions of the Wrought Iron Range Co. of St. Louis, Mo., under the management of S. McCort, Supt., has been located in our midst for the past two months, and while here disposed of a large number of their celebrated Home Comfort Ranges, and as far as we have been able to learn the ranges are giving universal satisfaction. The dealings and conduct of these gentlemen we have found to be above reproach. We understand they are about to depart for a new field of labor, and we, the undersigned citizens, cheerfully recommend them to any community.

H. W. Arms, hotel proprietor.
William Mortimore.
Horace Parks, station agent B. & A. R. R.
L. S. Boynton, general merchandise and post office.
T. H. Clark, selectman and merchant.
E. D. Parks, postmaster.
W. S. Lincoln, Supt. Blandford B. & T. Co
Robert L. Parks, manager W. U. Tel. Co., Agent Am. Exp. Co.
A. S. Quensee, selectman.

CAROLINA RICE, six pounds for 25c. STONE, THE GROCER, Palmer.

J. H. Rogers Carriage Co.,

MANUFACTURERS OF
Carriages,
AND DEALERS IN
Carriages of every description.

33 to 39 Sanford St., SPRINGFIELD.

We manufacture and carry in stock the finest line of carriages in New England. Come and look over our stock.

A FINE LINE OF SECOND HAND VEHICLES CONSTANTLY ON HAND . . . .

at very low prices.

TRUNKS and extension cases. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Palmer Savings Bank,

Palmer, Mass.
Hours from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m.

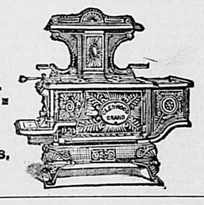
President,
H. G. LOOMIS.
Vice Presidents,
C. H. HOBBS. H. P. HOLDEN. C. F. GROSVENOR.
Secretary,
WM. W. LEACH.
Treasurer,
H. W. MCGREGORY.
Trustees,
James B. Shaw, E. G. Hastings, C. H. Hobbs, George Mooers, R. C. Newell, Geo. E. Buck, H. G. Loomis, F. F. Marcy, A. L. Hills, T. D. Potter, H. Waid, Wm. Holbrook, H. P. Holden, Wm. W. Leach, C. F. Grosvenor, Jas. S. Loomis, C. L. Gardner, H. W. McGregory
Board of Investment,
Geo. Mooers, H. G. Loomis, E. G. Hastings, C. H. Hobbs, James B. Shaw.
Auditors,
Wm. W. Leach, C. F. Grosvenor.

FIGS, dates and confectionery. W. E. STONE, Palmer.

SURE DEATH, non-poisonous, won't stain. Kills Bed Bugs, Roaches, all vermin and insects, and even their very eggs, instantly; and with the patent spout attached you can get into places which cannot be reached any other way. Very handy. Better than insect powder. Will keep moths out of the house. W. E. STONE, Palmer.

GLENWOOD RANGES

MAKE
COOKING EASY.
THREE GOLD MEDALS.



WEIR STOVE COMPANY, TAUNTON, MASS,
Agents in All Prominent Cities and Towns in New England.

MEIGS & COMPANY.

SPRING OVER-COATS AND COVERT TOP COATS.	Handsome outer garments for gentlemen that fashion decrees to be the proper thing for the Spring of 1896. All made in the proper way---proper cut, proper finish---and in all the proper new shades. The $10 coats in the new strap finish English covert cloth and satin-lined are the handsomest garments ever shown for the money---perhaps they can be duplicated elsewhere for $15. The $13.50 and $15 coats are silk-lined. The merchant tailors ask double these prices.	$5.00 $7.50 $8.50 $10.00 $12.00 $13.50 $15.00 $18.00

MEIGS & CO.

383-385 Main St., SPRINGFIELD.

SMITH & MURRAY.

SPRINGFIELD.

Goote's Dutch Cocoa Demonstration in Household Department. Sample Free.

Don't fail to see our superb spring stocks in the height of their freshness and beauty as displayed this week. Our very low prices are very powerful in drawing women who like to be well dressed without spending a great deal. GET TO KNOW OUR PRICES.

Cloaks and suits.

Fear of bragging has always led us to underestimate our values. We have merely claimed to give you better and more stylish garments for your money than you could get elsewhere.

See these new spring jackets.

At $20—Extremely jaunty coat of finest quality cream tan kersey, with the new anchor font, cornucopia back, silk ruffle, handsome cresent pearl buttons, and velvet collar; lined with either plain or pompadour Dresden taffeta.

At 10—A magnificent collection of new coats, your choice of imported clay diagonals, English black cheviots, and imported coverts; half and full lined, dart fly front, cluster button reefer front, and every other correct spring shape included.

Handsome imported capes, $5 to $50.

American made capes, $1 to $25.

Second floor, take elevator.

SMITH & MURRAY.

SPRINGFIELD.

Waist ruined for the want of the Canfield Dress Shields.

A Ruined Gown

Is generally the result when inferior dress shields are used The only certain remedy is

Canfield Dress Shields.

We agree to replace any dress damaged by perspiration when the Canfield Shield has been properly attached.

Ask for and insist upon having "Canfield Dress Shields."

CANFIELD RUBBER COMPANY, NEW YORK, LONDON AND PARIS.

For sale by dealers everywhere.

Trade-Mark on every Shield.

And in MONSON by GAGE BROS., and W. N. FLYNT & SONS.

Quick in effect, heals and leaves no scar. Burning, scaly skin eruptions quickly cured by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Applied to burns, scalds, old sores, it is magical in effect. Always cures piles. LeGro & Lynde.

Insurance

of every kind placed at short notice, and all favors duly appreciated.

Yours truly,
S. H. HELLYAR.

Horse Blankets.

A full line, for both stable
.....and street use.....
375 BLANKETS IN STOCK.
PRICES RIGHT.

D. W. Foskit,
Foskit's Mills.

STARCH for the laundry, six pounds for 25c. W. E. STONE, Palmer.

Engraved Address Cards. Plate engraved and 100 cards printed, only $1.50. Styles change often—your old cards may be out of style, probably are—better have some new ones, with correct size of card and style of lettering. At the JOURNAL Office.

Longing.

The hills slope down to the valley, the streams run down to the sea,
And my heart, my heart, oh, far one! sets and trains toward thee.
But only the feet of the mountain are felt by the rim of the plain,
And the source and soul of the hurrying stream reach not the calling main.

The dawn is sick for the daylight, the morning yearns for the noon,
And the twilight sighs for the evening star and the rising of the moon.
But the dawn and the daylight never were seen in the self-same skies,
And the gloaming dies of its own desire when the moon and stars arise.

The springtime calls to the summer, "Oh, mingle your life with mine,"
And summer to autumn 'plaineth low, "Must the harvest be only thine?"
But the nightindale goes when the swallow comes, ere the leaf is the blossom fled,
And when autumn sits on her golden sheave, then the reign of the rose is dead.

And hunger and thirst, and wail and want, are lost in the empty air,
And the heavenly spirit vainly pines for the touch of the earthly fair.
And the hills slope down to the valley, the streams run down to the sea,
And my heart, my heart! oh, far one! sets and strains toward thee.—Tennyson.

AN EASTER CARD.

"No, Jean," said Hester Dalton, with some energy, "you need not read 'Eternal Goodness' to me; I am not in the spirit for it. When Whittier wrote that, I suppose he meant what he said, but what does a man like that, whose life had always been placid and beautiful, know of a life like mine? What faith I used to have seems to have dropped from me like a cloak; and I am not quite sure sometimes that I believe in anything, or anybody—but you," she added, seeing the hurt look upon Jean's face.

The speaker was a young girl. She was only 19, but her face was old and sad for her years. She came near being beautiful too, but there was a coldness about her face as if she had repressed and held in check all softer and gentler emotions.

Her sister Jean was as unlike her as possible. No one would think of calling her beautiful, and yet her face had just what Hester's lacked.

Her eyes were gentle, and of a soft hazel, while Hester's eyes were black. Jean's hair, too, just suited the eyes; it was light brown, and broke into little rebellious curls about her face. Hester's hair was black, and she was tall and full of dignity.

Jean hardly knew what dignity meant, in regard to herself, so seldom did she practice it; she was too small, and so Hester, although the youngest by three years, always took the lead.

They were quite alone, these two; without near relatives, and few friends.

They had but little time for friends, for life with them was a very earnest thing in which there no half holidays.

They had been in Chicago two years now, ever since the death of their father.

Hester had been induced to leave their home in a neighboring town by seeing an advertisement in a Chicago paper for a first-class bookkeeper. She had had a very complete education, and this was one of the branches she had mastered, more to please her father than for any thought that the knowledge would ever be of use to her.

She started that day for Chicago, to answer the advertisement in person. It was but a short journey, and in a few hours she stood in the private office of a large dry goods establishment.

She had but a short time to wait. The senior partner of Metzon & Metzon was sorry, but they had secured a bookkeeper that morning. Did he know of any vacant position of the kind? He did not. He was sorry to disappoint her, etc.

She went out and telegraphed to Jean to come. They would have a better chance here to earn a living; she knew they could find something to do, and anyway, they must be together.

Jean came full of hope, and together they had tried to solve this difficult problem: How to live in a large city without friends and with very little money.

It was more difficult than either of them had expected, and when after the first week the money began to get low, and still there was no chance of getting employment, Hester looked into Jean's face and wondered what they should do. But the following day Jean got a position as trimmer in a small millinery establishment. How elated they were over this piece of good fortune!

Hester, too, had better success, and secured the place of a bookkeeper in a book store, at a very modest salary, it is true, for the firm was not a large one.

But together they earned enough to keep them in the simple way in which they were contented to live.

This was two years ago; they had been busy years, a constant struggle with no playtime.

"I would give it up, Jean, and go away to the country, for somebody's hired girl, only if we stop for a week we shall starve," said Hester bitterly.

"Don't get blue, dear," answered Jean. "I am head trimmer now, and my salary is to be raised next month."

It was this same evening, a dreary, drizzling night in January, that Hester had slipped coming home from work, and sprained her ankle so badly that Jean became alarmed, and getting her landlady to go with her, she had gone for a doctor, one whose name she had found in the directory, and who happened to live near. Fortunately he was at home, and went back with them at once.

Poor Hester, what hard lessons in patience she had to learn! What sombre views of life she took. Life with its straight unswerving paths, its selfish human nature, and its weary, endless strife for the mighty dollar. She wondered sometimes what would become of them, with her hands idle.

But Jean always cheered and comforted her, reminding her of the extra salary, and pretending not to dread the future in the least.

To-night she had been reading Whittier aloud, to help make Hester forget her own thoughts and her own suffering.

"Eternal goodness" was one of Jean's favorites, and she had just read:

"I know not where His islands lift
Their fronded palms in air;
I only know, I cannot drift
Beyond His tender care."

When Hester interrupted her so impatiently.

"Don't think I am cross, Jean dear," she added. "It is only this constant struggle; it is enough to undermine the sweetest nature, and the most orthodox Presbyterianism. Let me be, and I shall be better after a while."

So Jean had straightened the bandage about the poor foot, and given her sister a book, and sat idle herself.

She was thinking out a plan that had come to her as she was busy that morning with hats and bonnets.

Hester used, in her old careless, happy days, to be fond of painting, and her deft fingers and ready brush had accomplished some very good work. Here she had no opportunity; there were too many real artists for an amateur to succeed, when bread and butter depended on success. But now a plan to give Hester some work she would enjoy had come to Jean. She would get some paints the next day, and Hester should not have any more such long dreary days.

Then her thoughts went back to the old happy time when they had only understood the art of spending money, and nothing of making it. Then she thought of David Lockwood. They had known David ever since they were children, and Jean remembered sadly how glad she had been when she found that he and Hester were engaged.

Then had come the quarrel with David, which was followed almost immediately by his departure for Europe. Then their father's loss of fortune, his sickness and death, and ever since that this weary struggle.

The next day she brought home the materials for painting. Hester had some water-colors, and so it was not very expensive after all.

"Oh, thank you," cried Hester as soon as she saw what Jean had in the package. "I shall enjoy it so much, and who knows, maybe I can paint something that will sell. Only, Jean, I cannot afford the flowers to paint from as I need to, and I do so hate to use cards, the designs are sure to be so stiff."

"Why do your not paint two or three from the same design," said Jean. "You remember that beautiful bunch of Easter lillies you painted from the ones David sent you? I think you could do that again from memory, Hester, I am sure you could."

Jean had hesitated all the evening with this suggestion upon her lips, for fear of hurting her sister by this allusion to old days, and to David. But finally she had said it, and Hester was not hurt, but only looked thoughtful for a while, and then answered:

"That was admired as much as anything I ever did. Yes, Jean, I am sure I can paint that without the flowers."

So the next day she went to work, and when Jean came home at night there were three cards finished. The largest and best a bunch of Easter lillies so perfect that they almost seemed fragrant.

Jean made a special trip before dark to the city, and succeeded in getting $5 for the three cards at a book store where such things were a specialty.

She came back much elated to find that the doctor had extended his professional visit into a friendly call, and was talking to Hester, who was laughing at some witty saying, and who looked almost like her old self.

Jean came in rosy and fresh from her walk in the crisp air.

The doctor took a look at her with admiring eyes. "You do not need any of my medicine, Miss Jean," he said, laughing.

And Jean found herself blushing, in the most ridiculous and unaccountable manner. Someway she had grown conscious lately that the doctor's visits were kept up because he liked to come, more than because Hester needed the calls. He had been coming for five weeks now, and Hester would soon be able to be out again. Jean found herself thinking of the time when the visits would cease with some sadness. She intended to be quite frank with him, this very night.

And so when he rose to go, she followed him down the narrow stairs, to the door, and said: "Dr. Barton, I fear we cannot pay you very soon, but I shall attend to it as promptly as possible."

She felt angry with herself, that she had dreaded saying this to the doctor.

"It is just the same as making terms with the grocery man or the butcher, and I do not flush up and feel so foolish and embarrassed as that," she thought angrily. But for some reason it did not seem quite the same.

Dr. Barton had bowed gravely, and said for her to use her own convenience in the matter. And then he had taken her hand to say "Good night," and looked with such a kind smile into her eyes, as he said: "You must not work too hard, even to pay my bill; I can wait. Your health is of far more importance than the money—to your sister."

Jean knew that he had not intended to finish that way.

She went back to Hester, with a strange happiness and content in her heart. She felt that a new joy was coming to her, so supreme that it crowded out all lesser and baser feelings.

The next night as they sat reading, there was a step in the hall.

"It is Dr. Barton," said Jean. "But he has been here once to-day."

Then there came a knock.

"No, it is not the doctor's step," said Hester, as Jean went to the door.

The upper hall had no light; it was considered an unnecessary luxury. Only a dim flicker came from the lamp in the lower hall.

A gentleman stood in the uncertain light, silent for a moment, and then before Jean could speak, he had taken her in his arms and kissed her.

"Oh, Jean," he cried, "have I really found you at last? That blessed, blessed Easter card. I shall keep it as long as I live."

Jean drew him into the warm, bright room, and he did not wait for explanations or forgiveness. He just gathered Hester up in his arms, as if he had a right. And she only said: "Oh, David, why were you so long coming?" as if she had been expecting him all the time.

Then he told them how he had been hunting for them two weeks; ever since he returned to America, and learned of their father's death.

"And I just happened," he finished, "to see that Easter card in a window. I knew it at once, for it was just like the one you gave me, four years ago. I was sure no one else could have painted it, and that is how I happened to find you. It will be a beautiful Easter for us, Hester, after all these long years."

And Hester looked up at him with the peace that was in her heart shining from her eyes, as she answered:

"Yes, David, and I think if Jean will read 'Eternal Goodness' to us, it will do me good. I understand it to-night."—Ladies' World.

THE BRIDE'S TRAGEDY.—The bride of a brief month crouched in a corner of the divan—crouched among her gorgeous pillows, while the bitter tears streamed down and stained the delicate fabrics. This was the end of her young ambitions, her brave efforts to make life one grand, sweet song. As she uttered one last sigh of despair her mother entered the room and flew to the divan, casting her arms about her prostrate child. "My darling girl, what is it?" she cried. "Confide in your mother. What is it that thus wrings your heart?" "N-nothing, ma; nothing. B-but it is all over." "What is all over?" questioned the mother in affright. "Has your husband abused you?" "No, ma," said the bride, raising herself upon her elbow and speaking with tragic emphasis. "You remember what my ambition has been for months? W-well"—sobbing—"I cut both bloomers for one leg, and it was a remnant and I can't match it anywhere." "My child," said her mother solemnly, "your trouble is indeed too great to bear."—Judge.

Of Interest to Women.

EDITED BY MISS F. V. DOANE.

Readers of this column who have items or recipes which they think might interest others are invited to send them for publication.

Bacteriology.

How Bacteria are Studied.—I have already noted that although bacteria are so numerous that a mass presents color, white, red, blue, etc., yet individually they are invisible. How then are they studied? Under the microscope. Suppose it is desired to examine blood for bacteria. Certain dyes have been prepared which will color the bacteria one color and other portions of the blood other colors. A drop of blood by careful manipulation is colored and prepared upon a slide for the microscope. This can then be studied at leisure. I have before me a recipe giving directions "To stain bacillus tuberculosis." There are three preparations in which a thin dry "film of sputa on coverglass," is successively washed, the operations taking about two hours. When dry the film is mounted, and under a "good ⅛-inch objective the organisms should show—the bacilli red, other materials blue." The study of mounted specimens of bacteria, however, give only the appearance of the microbes. Their habits, growth and like studies are learned by means of cultures.

I cannot, of course, in an article like this go into the details of the preparation of bacteria culture, but I may give you a general idea of them. They are prepared by several different methods and with the greatest care. Some substance that when warm is liquid and when cold become hardened,—like gelatine,—is prepared with a substance upon which the bacteria will subsist. This is put into glass tubes or plates made especially for the purpose. The species of bacteria that is to be studied is then obtained by very careful methods and when introduced into the gelatine the tubes are sealed up. The gelatine is then allowed to harden and there are the bacteria hard and fast in a sea of food. The tubes are kept in conditions best adapted to the growth of the bacteria, and all they have to do is to grow for the enlightenment of mankind.

Without a microscope you can see the colonies in the gelatine; with the microscope the individuals can be carefully studied.

By and by, I shall write about anti-toxine, and tell how the diphtherias cultures are made in Boston.

Easter Dainties.

Eggshells from which the contents have been blown make excellent moulds for Easter dishes. Blanc mange of farina, sea moss, corn starch, germ meal, etc., may be poured into the shells while it is warm, and when cold the shells broken off. Coffee orange, and lemon gelatine also may be made into eggs in the same manner. Serve with whipped cream or soft custard, as you would plain gelatine.

Eggs of blanc mange may be made and laid in a glass dish or a mould. Gelatine may then be made, and when partly cold may be poured over them.

Sugar eggs may be made by melting maple sugar and pouring it when partly cool into an eggshell; or granulated sugar, boiled in water, may be used.

RECIPE.—Three cupfuls of granulated sugar, half a cupful of water, half a cupful of vinegar, one tablespoonful of butter and eight drops of extract of lemon. Boil without stirring till the syrup will snap when dropped into cold water. Makes several eggs.

When eggshells are used for moulds you should paste a piece of cloth over the smaller hole from which the egg meat has been blown, and it is well to carefully paste cloth around the shells. Use white of egg or flour paste. Of course it is better to have egg moulds when they are to be obtained. Sugar eggs may be colored with confectioner's coloring, or with colored sugar; or you may use cranberry juice.

Delicate Ways of Preparing Eggs.

No. 1.—Separate the whites from the yolks of as many eggs as you wish to use. Beat the whites to a stiff foam and drop this over a plate or platter with a slight rim. Now drop the whole yolks into this foam and stand in a hot oven a few minutes—till a delicate brown. Serve on dish in which they are cooked.

No. 2.—Butter an iron gem pan. Drop an egg into each gem. Stand in a hot oven till the whites are opaque. Serve on moist toast, buttered.

No. 3.—Boil six fresh eggs ten minutes; roll them on the table to break their shells; shell them and cut them in halves, take out the yolks; cut off a bit of the point so that the white cups will stand up. Arrange lettuce, nicely cut up, on a salad dish or glass patter. Set the white-of-egg cups around in the lettuce. Press the boiled yolks together and press into them salad cream dressing till you can mold them into balls; pile this paste into each alternate egg cup. Grind or chop chicken or any white meat very fine; press into it the salad dressing and pile into the other cups.

In England the Easter dinner is lamb and mint sauce.

Buffalo Bugs.—If you have buffalo bugs under your carpets try this to kill them: After the carpet is taken up wash the floor thoroughly; then prepare a pail of alum water, very strong, by pouring hot water on about half a pound of alum; after the floor is dry, sop it over with the alum water; leave the floor quite wet and let dry on. We tried this method on the floors at The Eliot, where the carpets were literally eaten up with buffalo bugs, and for four years now no bugs have appeared.

Miss Maria Parloa, in a lecture in Boston, gave the following advice concerning hard wood surface: Waxed floors should be washed in a solution of sal soda. A strong solution of ammonia may also be used in tepid water, and in this all brushes used about woodwork should be soaked.

Turpentine removes wax and varnish from cloths.

Cloths soaked in turpentine should never be allowed to lie around, but should be put into stone, iron or tin.

Varnished articles may be cleaned with a damp cloth and afterwards wiped with a soft rag.

Use oil for oiled surfaces, or a little turpentine in oil. Use a wax preparation for waxed surfaces.

Stains on highly varnished surfaces should be removed with oil.

"What is Home?"

A prize was offered recently by London Tid-bits for the best answer to the question, 'What is home?" Here are a few of the answers which were received:

A world of strife shut out, a world of love shut in.

Where you are treated best and you grumble most.

Home is the blossom of which heaven is the fruit.

The golden setting, in which the brightest jewel is mother.

The only spot on earth where the faults and failings of humanity are hidden under a mantle of charity.

The father's kingdom, the children's paradise, the mother's world.

The place where the great are sometimes small and the small often great.

A little hollow scooped out of the windy hill of the world, where we can be shielded from its cares and annoyances.

Baked Indian Pudding.

Add one cup of molasses and five tablespoonfuls of cornmeal to one quart of fresh scalded milk. Melt a piece of butter the size of an egg into a pudding dish, then pour in the mixture. If whey is liked add a cup of cold milk to the pudding as soon as it begins to cook. Bake in a moderate oven. Serve hot.—February Ladies' Home Journal.

"Aged One Day."

A tiny bark from a hidden shore—
No chart, no helm, no sail, no oar—
Drifting out on the unknown main,
Only to sink from sight again.

A little life, so pure, so brief;
One moan, and then a sweet relief;
A shadow thrown on some hearthstone;
A whispered prayer: "Thy will be done."

EASTER EGG CUSTOMS.

The emblem of Easter is the egg. Many opinions as to how it came to be a symbol of the day are current, but most think it is because the egg is the symbol of life, on the principle of omnia ex ovo, and hence of the resurrection.

Eggs were held by the Egyptians as a sacred emblem of the renovation of mankind after the deluge. The Jews adopted the egg to suit the circumstances or their history as a type of their departure from the land of Egypt, and it was used in the feast of the passover as part of the furniture of the table with the pascal lamb.

The custom of dyeing eggs at Easter ide dates back to the fourth century of the Christian church. The Romish church at that era prohibited the eating of eggs during Lent.

The store of eggs which accumulated was counted the property of the children, and to enhance the value of the eggs in their estimation they were dyed with brilliant colors and gayly ornamented.

Here is the right way to boil Easter eggs: Boil fresh, clean, white eggs at least ten minutes. Add a little dissolved dye, any color wanted, and a teaspoonful of strong vinegar to a pint of water. Then put in the eggs, and let them remain until the desired shade is obtained. The eggs may be eaten with safety after being colored. Eggs can be colored red by dissolving a little redwood, cochineal or carmine in the water in which they are boiled. Let them remain in the water some time. When done wipe them with a flannel slightly oiled. Spinach water will make the eggs light green; saffron, yellow.

The patterns of any print may be transferred to the egg by sewing it up in a piece of the calico, the right side next the egg, and boiling the egg for about ten minutes in water in which a tablespoonful of soda has been dissolved.

Generally it will be found best in decorating eggs to "blow" them instead of boiling. Pierce each egg with a darning needle and blow out the contents. Then the shell is ready for decoration, and may be painted in water colors or sepia.

The street gamin does not lose his share of Easter joy, though he goes to no church and has no new clothes to wear. Eggs are cheapest at Easter, and the little fellows gamble with a game that is called "picking eggs." Each boy looks for the strongest egg, testing it by tapping the end against his teeth. The sound tells whether the egg is strong or not. When the particular young purchaser is suited with the strength of his egg he finds some boy with whom to "pick." The sharp end of the egg is the "pint," the round end the "butt." The pints are struck, the boy who proposes the game striking first. The other boy holds his thumb and forefinger around the top of his egg, so it can be struck only on the "pint." The striker keeps up his blows until one egg is cracked. Then he holds up the "butt" of the egg, and the other boy strikes it until one of those is cracked. The boy who succeeds in breaking the other's egg at both ends wins the broken egg. He can sell all he wins for a cent apiece at home or in the stores, where there is always a brisk trade for cracked eggs.

The egg rolling in the White House grounds each Easter Monday is a scene not reproduced anywhere else in the United States. The grounds are thrown open to the public, and parents and nurses with children of all ages come in the morning. They carry baskets of lunch and others filled with gayly colored eggs, which are to be rolled down the grassy slopes on which the children play, or "picked" as the street gamins do fresh ones. Thousands of children fill the grounds and play with eggs under the trees until they get hungry and eat the hard boiled ovals with their lunches, with regular picnic appetites. The big band plays in the afternoon, and the visiting thousands are delighted with a sight of the presidental family, who show themselves on the piazza with their friends. Of course the little White House children are chief objects of interest.

A Mix Up.

The elements were so mixed in him that nature might stand up and say to all the world, "This was a man!"—SHAKESPEARE. —Life.

WHERE OLD MACK LOST HIS EARS.

Old Mack is a messenger in one of the departments, has a good record as a soldier, and for several years has been a faithful employe of the government. Like many of the war veterans he can draw the long bow when occasion requires. He was out in a terrible North Dakota blizzard once on a time, and when he recovered from the effects of a severe freeze, he was minus a small portion of each ear; and sometimes he gets very tired of the questions his "ear marks" bring out. Not long ago he was in a barber-shop down town having his hair cut, and the tonsorial artist had his curiosity aroused. "How did you lose part of your ear?" questioned the barber, as he was working the shears along carefully on the starboard side of Mack's head.

"Lost that under Grant, in the Wilderness," said Mack, with a sober face.

Pretty soon the shears were snipping on the other side, and another section of ear was disclosed missing.

"Hello! How did you lose this one?" the hair-dresser asked, standing off and viewing his workmanship.

"Lost that under Napoleon at Marengo," was the imperturable response.

The barber was silenced for a while, but when he had received his fee; and was shaking out his cloth, he startled the old gentleman, who had put on his hat and had his hand on the doorknob, with:—

"Did you lose anything when you were under Noah in the ark?"—Washington Star.

She—"Surely, my dear, you will consider the matter carefully before consenting to Clara's marriage to old Mr. Cashman." He—"Certainly, I shall have his books examined by an expert."—Life.

The Journal.

FRIDAY EVENING, APRIL 3, 1896.

THE ANNUAL TOWN MEETING.

An All Day's Session, and a Lively Time All Around.

The annual town meeting on Monday, to make the appropriations for the coming year, will pass into history as the longest and most exciting of any within the memory of the oldest inhabitant. The town history tells us of the meetings of a hundred years or so ago, when the voters reinforced their staying qualities by frequent adjournments to Landlord John Thompson's. There was no convenient hotel on Monday, but the proprietor of the night lunch cart was doing business in one of the ante-rooms of the town house, and helped to sustain life in those who had not been thoughtful enough to take their lunch witht hem. Everybody expected a protracted meeting, and in this respect at least no one was disappointed. The attendance was the largest since the meeting which settled the fate of the high school building some years ago. The moderator when he took the chair suggested ,that those present had evidently "come for business," and subsequent events ;roved that he had correctly sized up the crowd. They all "wanted to know, you know," and the discussion was decidedly animated at times, besides being of a rather personal character on several occasions. There was lots of needless oratory, and it was 6.11 in the evening before adjournment was had, the session having held seven hours and thirty-nine minutes without a break. The good work done by the committee of fifteen in former years was made apparent by the absence of such a body this year, and it is quite likely that another year will see some provision for its reappointment.

The temper of the meeting was first shown in the choice of a moderator, when it insisted on being allowed to vote all it chose, and declined to have the box turned after a couple of dozen votes had been cast. H. E. W. Clark was chosen, receiving 52 of the 69 votes cast. Non-voters were relegated to the rear of the hall, giving their seats to voters, and the fun began. Article 4, to act on the reports of the town officers, was first taken up. C. D. Fuller had numerous questions to ask the overseers of the poor regarding the net cost at the town farm and who got the money for work done by the warden off the farm. It was explained that this was all counted in as a part of the product of the farm, and helped reduce the cost of running the establishment. Other questions came up, and it was 53 minutes before the reports were finally accepted, unanimously.

The question of disposing of abandoned schoolhouses brought out considerable discussion, and Eugene Shorley wanted the school in his district reopened or half his taxes abated. The selectmen were finally instructed to dispose of the two buildings at Thorndike which are to be abandoned as soon as the new building there is finished.

The article referring to the establishment of a town library was disposed of by the appointment of a committee of five—the chairman of the school committee, the chairman of selectmen, superintendent of schools, O. P. Allen and John O. Hamilton—to consider the matter and report at the next annual town meeting.

A motion to appropriate $600 for the prosecution of illegal liquor sellers, the money to be left in the hands of the selectmen, was somewhat opposed, but was easily carried. Only $132.42 of this is to be raised, the balance being in the treasury, left over from last year.

The necessity for repairs on the Three Rivers and Palmer grammar school buildings was explained by W. A. Breckenridge, who read the orders of the state inspector regarding them. The chairmen of the selectmen, school committee and board of health were appointed to investigate the matter and report later. It was voted to reimburse members of the school committee for actual traveling expenses incurred in the discharge of their duty.

A proposal to renew the contract for electric lights developed considerable opposition. In this connection it was proposed to put in an additional light opposite the post office in Thorndike. A motion to indefinitely postpone the matter was lost, and then a motion to appropriate $5000 for the lights was made. It was moved to amend this sum to $3000, dispensing with the lights in the out districts and turning the lights in the villages off at 10 p. m. Debate waxed warm for a time, but the amendment was finally lost, and then the $5000 was voted, the selectmen being instructed to have the extra light at Thorndike put in if it could be done at no additional expense to the town.

The selectmen were instructed to purchase sixteen acres of land for an addition to the Depot cemetery at a cost of $450, and a "small piece in the rear of the present cemetery which can be purchased for not a large sum," and $800 was appropriated for the whole.

The question of the transportation of scholars to the schools was productive of considerable discussion and some sharp remarks, and the school committee was finally instructed to "provide transportation for such pupils as were in their judgment entitled to be transported, to and from their homes, unless satisfactory arrangements can be made with their parents or guardians to have them go part way," the intention of the mover of this motion being to have the scholars picked up at their homes instead of having them congregate at some given point and wait for the 'bus.

When the matter of a highway appropriation was called up Dr. Holbrook wanted to know why the $2000 ordered spent last year for permanent highway building had not been used, and why $500 of the amount had been taken for ordinary highway repairs. This was explained by the selectmen, and then $6000 was appropriated for highways, $2000 of this to be put into permanent improvements in addition to the $1500 left from last year. This will make $7500 available for highway purposes this year. The selectmen will have the care of the highways. New iron bridges were ordered built at Thorndike and Bondsville.

A discount of six per cent will be allowed on taxes paid before September 1st, and interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum charged on all paid after that date. The collector's salary will be $350, and he must have all taxes collected by January 1st, 1897.

The selectmen were instructed to confer with the officials of the Boston and Albany railroad in an endeavor to secure a separation of the highways and the railroad track at the Burleigh crossing.

J. B. Shaw, C. H. Hobbs, G. M. Atkins, Rev. W. H. Hart and A. L. Hills were appointed a committee to investigate the matter of the town debt, suggest the method of bonding the town for the same, and report at a subsequent meeting.

It was voted to extend the Central street sewer at the Depot village; also to build a sewer on Thorndike street in the Depot village with an extension of about 450 feet on Main street, at a cost of $1600, all being a part of the plan previously adopted by the town. The matter of a sewer in Thorndike was left to the judgment of the selectmen.

The selectmen were authorized to contract with the Massachusetts highway commission to build such strip of road as might be allotted the town of Palmer this year, and the treasurer was unanimously instructed to borrow $12,000 for this purpose.

It was voted to employ night police in the several villages, and to grade and establish the line of Bourne street in Three Rivers. The sum of $500 was appropriated to build sidewalks where the selectmen should consider necessary, where the abutters paid half the expense.

The town treasurer was authorized to borrow money not to be paid from the taxes of the current year, and also to borrow in anticipation of the taxes of the year. The list of jurors was accepted after removing the names of Edward J Kelley, William Talmadge, John W. Loftus and William Brown, and adding the names of James Foley, Oliver LaSalle, John W. Foley, Michael Griffin and William M. Sullivan.

The excitement of the day culminated in the request of the selectmen to be excused from acting as a prosecuting committee, and the motion that another committee of three be appointed. In support of the selectmen's request it was stated that the claim had been made that they were not in sympathy with no-license; their purpose in prosecuting illegal sellers the past year had not been honest, the sheriff had not been honest in his work, and the attorney in charge of the cases was not to be trusted; the no-license party had claimed that illegal selling could be stopped, and that it could do it; as here was a body of men manifestly in sympathy, heart and soul, with the work, they were the ones who should be given charge of it. The appointment of the selectmen was urged because they possessed, and during the past year had proved, their ability to enforce the law; they were the proper ones to do it and would be backed up by citizens in every part of the town. The no-license party as a party disclaimed all responsibility for the charges mentioned, and announced that such thoughts had not been and were not entertained. For the selectmen it was promised that any committee which the town might appoint would be given all the aid in the power of those officials. This committee was then nominated: Rev. F. E. Jenkins, F. A. Upham and Rev. F. J. Hale. Mr. Hale announced that he expected to leave town in about three weeks, and Rev. G. S. Butler of Three Rivers was named in his place; Mr. Upham then asked to be excused, so as not to have two members of the committee in Three Rivers, and L. H. Gager was substituted. This committee was then elected, and it was voted to give the appropriation into its hands.

It was voted to hire the present lock up and tramp room another year, and to have the list of births, marriages and deaths published in the annual town report. It was voted not to build a sidewalk from the iron bridge in Three Rivers to the French Catholick church; various petty officers were elected, and the voters went home.

THE APPROPRIATIONS.

Library,		$ 1,000.00
Suppression illegal liquor sales,		600 00
Aid to Soldiers and Sailors,		300 00
Memorial Day,		100.00
Electric Lights,		5,000.00
Depot Cemetery addition,		800.00
Schools:
Transportation of Pupils,	$ 2,000.00
Teachers' Salaries,	13,000.00
Care of Schoolhouses,	1,000.00
Contingencies and Superintendent's Salary,	2,200.00
Text Books and Supplies,	700.00
Repairs,	300.00
Fuel,	1,300.00
Drawing,	400.00
Contingences,	3,500.00	24,400 00
Railings,		200.00
Highways,		6,000 00
Bridges,		1,500.00
Sewers and Culverts,		400.00
Support of Poor,	6,000 00
Contingencies,	500 00	6,500.00
New Iron Bridges at Bondsville and Thorndike,		1,300.00
Tax Collector's Salary,		350 00
Central Street Sewer, Palmer,		100.00
Planting and Preservation of Shade Trees,		50 00
High Street Sewer, Thorndike,		600 00
Thorndike and Main Street Sewer, Palmer,		1,600.00
Night Police,		1,600.00
Bourne street, Three Rivers,		300.00
Sidewalks,		500 00
		$53,200.00
Less liquor prosecution funds in treasury,		565.58
Amount to be raised by taxation,		$52,734 42

These officers were elected: Measurers of wood and bark, H. P. Marcy, G. W. Lyman, H. T. Bishop, R. L. Bond, F. A. Upham, J. A. Palmer; field drivers, Dennis Mahoney, Patrick Hurley, E. E. Ryther, Samuel Brown, Morris McCormick, W. A. Lawson; sealer of weights and measures, J. B. Shaw; public weigher, John F. Foley.

Easter at the Churches.

BAPTIST.

The subject of the sermon at the Baptist church Sunday morning will be "The stone rolled away." The music will include the anthems "Glory to God," by Ashford, and "Olivet," by Gabriel. In the evening at 7 there will be a concert by the Sunday school, "The life triumphant," the literary part in charge of Mrs. C. A. Prescott, and the music directed by E. B. Taylor.

CONGREGATIONAL.

The choir at the Congregational church next Sunday will be composed of Mrs. Frank M. Johnson, soprano, Mrs. James C. Hayden, alto, Mr. Willis G. Chamberlin, basso, all of Springfield, Mr. Harry W. McGregory of Palmer, tenor, and Mrs. W. A. Weld organist. The programme at the morning service will be:

Organ Voluntary.
Quartette. "As it Began to Dawn." Buck
Invocation.
Psalter.
Solo. "Sing Ye, Christ is Risen." March
Mrs. Johnson.
Scripture Beading.
Quartette. Easter Anthem. Schnecker
Prayer.
Solo. (Offering). Easter Song. Van-de-Water
Mr. Chamberlin.
Sermon. "An Easter Response."
Quartette. "Christ the Lord is Risen To-day." Wilson
Doxology.
Benediction.
Organ Postlude.

In the evening at 7 the Sdnday school will give an Easter concert, under the direction of Mrs. J. C. Wing.

ST. PAUL'S UNIVERSALIST.

The choir at St. Paul's church next Sunday will be composed of Miss Clara Sexton, Miss Carrie J. Fish, G. C. Stanchfield and Harry Thompson, with Miss Annie Fish as organist. The order of service will be:

Organ Voluntary. Handel's Largo
Anthem. "Put on thy beautiful robes." Danks
Psalm, Gloria Patri, Scripture and Prayer.
Anthem. "Christ has won the victory." Rodney
Sermon. "What lesson of comfort and hope has the Resurrection of Jesus the Christ for those who mourn in Palmer."
Offertory solo. "Calvary."
Dedication of baptismal font, and kneeling desk.
Hymn. "Oh Happy day that fixed my choice."
Baptism, confirmation, and church fellowship.
Hymn and Holy communion.
Organ Postlude.

The Sunday school will give a concert in the evening at 6 The title will be "The life triumphant," and the musical part of the programme will be in charge of Mrs. W. H. Small. This will be a special song service, with solos by Miss Carrie Fish, Miss Sexton and Mrs. Rufus Flynt.

ST. THOMAS'S CATHOLIC.

The childrens' mass at St. Thomas's Catholic church next Sunday will be at 8.30 a. m. Mass will also be said at 10.30, with Sunday school at 3 p. m. and vespers at 7.30 The musical programme will be:

MORNING.

Kyrie. Millard
Gloria. Rosewig
Credo. Rosewig
Sanctus. Millard
Agnus Dei. Stearns

EVENING.

Vespers. Fiske
Regina Coeli.
O Salutaris. Millard
Tantum Ergo. Rossi
To-day He's Risen.

Fined for Obstructing the Highway.

A young man returning from West Brimfield to Palmer last Saturday night found several telephone poles across the road west of the Brainerd farm, and notified Sheriff Studley, who returned with him and found nines poles across the road between the Cooley crossing and the King farm. There had been a kitchen dance there the night before, and on investigation Alexander Fletcher of Brimfield, Herbert L. Needham and James M. Scarboro were arrested for obstructing the highway. In court Monday Needham and James M. Scarboro paid fines of $10 and $15, Scarboro being discharged.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Fayette Beauregard, formerly of this town, now of Derby, Ct., will sympathize with them in the loss of their little daughter Velma, a beautiful child of three years, who died March 23d after a brief illness with pneumonia, ending in brain trouble.

ROLL OF HONOR.

List of Public School Scholars Perfect in Attendance During March.

The following is a list of the scholars in the public schools who have been neither absent nor tardy during the month of March:

Palmer.

High School—A. W. Thayer, Principal.
Harold W. Brainerd, Clayton W. Barnes,
John J. Donahue, Clifford A. Henry,
Frank Dillon, Harry Giffin,
Clifton H. Hobson, Ernest E. Hobson,
Frank S. Keith, John E. Learned,
Charles R. LeGro, Henry W. McGlip,
William J. Morin, Daniel O'Connor,
John F. Roche, William T. Sargent,
Robert E. Stebbins, Charles K. Stone,
Jeremiah Sugrue, Walter E. Tuthill,
Marion N. Andrews, Fannie L. Barnes,
Gertrude C. Brown, Josephine Brown,
Ethel E. Caryl, Anna M. Collis,
Helen Converse, Ethel H. Ely,
Ruth Gager, Nellie Finnerty,
Phebe D. Hastings, Rosie M. Holden,
Blanche T. Lyman, Ethel M. Miller,
Mamie A. Roche, Jessie E. Whiting,
Sadie A. Whiting, Jennie May Wilder.

Grades Nine and Eight—Miss Clara D. Eddy.
Francis A. Burdick, Maggie E. Callahan,
William Desmond, Martha Fitzgerald,
Louise F. Hitchcock, Helen C. Jenkins,
Marion G. Loomis, Jennie C. Roche,
Walter B. Small, Theresa M. Newman,
Lewis G. Pope, Lucretia G. Sisk,
Forest N. Whiton, George S. Warner,
William M. Goodes.

Grade Six—Miss Abbie J. Wallace.
Rodney Caryl, Edward Collis,
Michael Dillon, Mary Holden,
Ida Hubert, Edward Learned,
Kate Monaghan,

Grade Five—Miss Helen L. Robinson.
Francis B. Barton, Clifford L. Ellithorpe,
Eudocia F. Flynt, Rufus Flynt, Jr.,
E. Grover C. Goodes, Ruth E. Graves,
A. Elizabeth Marsh, Frank McDonnell,
Elizabeth McGuire, Walter McGuire,
John R. Milligan, John Newman,
J. Clifford Shaw.

Not a tardy mark during the month.

Grades Four and Three—Miss Mabel J. Sedgwick.
David Brown, Elizabeth Chalk,
May Dillon, Alice Gager,
Mary Learned, Blanche LeGro,
James Miller, Frances McGlip,
Edward Prindle, Adolphus Rivers,
Florence Stevenson, William Thompson,
Ella Webster.

Grades Three and Two—Mrs. E. S. Leach.
Harold Atkins, Robert Barton,
Thomas Conroy, Thomas Duffy,
George Roach, Walter McGlip,
George Forgea, Harold Shaw,
Marion Buskey, Ethel Chapman,
Hazel Dillon, Hattie Fitch,
Florence Goodes, Maud Helliwell,
Florence Henighan, Anna Marsh,
Mary Miller, Olive Pope,
Eva Rivers, Alice Shaw,
Harry Thompson.

Grade One—Miss Lizzie F. Brown.
Harry McDonnell, Ethel McGregory,
Ernest Forgea, Sophia Rice,
Daniel Harrington, John Harrington,
Rose Duffy, Charles Hellyar.
Robert Laird, John O'Connor.
John Foley.

Three Rivers.

Grades Nine and Eight—Miss Helen L. Sweet.
Eva Gauthier, Mary Harrington,
Ella Holt, Martha Kuss,
Matilda Magee, Earle Paine,
Nettie Trickett, Merton Twogood,
George Moore.

Grades Seven, Six and Five—Miss Jennie C. Twiss.
Delia A. O'Connor, Mary Manning,
Nelson H. Freak, William Jones,
Arthur W. Provo, Knox S. Ruggles,
Clarence F. Collins,

Grades Four and Three—Miss Cora B. Clark.
Eva M. Fredette, Lena M. Freak,
Kate M. Hartnett, Annie C. Lane,
Rachael O. Senecal, Belle Twiss,
Mary Twiss, Maud M. Wilson,
Willie Buckley, George Manning,
John O'Connor, Glenn Paine,
Archie Rogers, Frank Rogers,
Leon Twogood, Irving Shaw,

Grade Two—Miss Katherine Twiss.
Lila B. Fish, Rachael Chambers,
Mabel E. Collins, Eliza Reed,
May O'Connor, Gertie Gauthier,
Sarah M. Barber, Lizzie E. Hartnett,
Sarah Riddle, Ludora G. Camerlain,
Eva M. Freak, G. Wilfred Lafortune,
Dalmer Marien, George N. Flarduo,
Puymirol T. Belanger, Henry H. Fredette,
Rexford R. Paine.

Grade One—Miss Annie B. Crane.
Alphonse Abare, Daniel Brosnan,
Charlie Fountain, Albert Flarduo,
Selina Fountain, Harrist Ruggles.

Grade One—Miss Mabelle S Merrill.
Eddie Barton, Gedeon Gibonleau,
Dora Gauthier, Lizzie Jones,
Henry Jarvis, Nelson Mattes,
Leo O'Connor, Maggie Reid,
Rachel Shaw, Elton Trickett,
Eugenie Renaud Lumena Renaud.

Thorndike

Grades Nine and Eight—Miss Carrie A. Parker.
Stephen G. Clark, Arthur S Johnson,
Nellie T. Lawlor, George McKenzie,
A. Agnes Murphy, Dennis E. Mahoney,
Francis S. Nelson, Leon P. Page,
Joseph N. Rouillard, Burt W. Wheeler.

Grades Seven, Six and Five—Miss Annie E. O'Connor.
Ernest Gay, Lizzie Leary,
Frank Longtine, Edward Mahoney,
Adelard Rouillard, Joseph Chenevert,
Florence Gates, Cora Girard,
Lottie Lafarre, Willie Otis,
Clovis Paradis, Fred Rouillard,
Albert Smith.

Grades Five and Four—Miss E. W. Moffatt.
Annie Brosnan, John Connor,
John Crean, Willie Crimmins,
Kittie Daly, Ida Gates,
Frank Genard, Kittie Holden,
Mary Holden, Annie Luman,
Josie Mahoney, Alexcina Manny,
Katie McKenzie, Malcolm McKenzie,
Florence O'Leary, Arthur St. Jacques,
George Whiting.

Grades Three and Two—Miss Minnie V. Jillson.
Fred Bessette, Arthur Bouthillier,
Napoleon Boutot, Ernest Brothers,
Sidney R. Trumble, Eva Brothers,
Rosanna Cadorette, Peter Cahill,
Malvena Chandonnais, Perley Emery,
Patrick Fleming, Odila Gendreau,
Celia Griffin, Daniel J. Haley,
James Holden, Nellie Keefe,
Emma St. Jacques, Sarah Trumble.

Grades Three, Two and One—Miss S. Beluah Thayer.
Henry Chenevert, Ora Chabbott,
Eliza Danlby, Leo Foster,
Louise Foster, Jennie Favero,
Thomas Roche, Bessie Roche,
Lucy St. Amen, Joseph St. Amen,
Davis Furkey, Benjamin Gay,
William Goodreau, Joseph Goodreau,
Edward Kruzyna, Mortimer LaFarre,
Dora Mongeau, Thomas Murphy,
Peter Nevue, Emma Oryell.
Fred Oryell.

Grade One—Mrs. M. E. Murdock.
Armas Beiare, Anna Bouthillier,
Ora Besette, Mary Brosnan,
Margaret Casey, Katherine Casey,
Alphonse Chandonnais, Alfred Chandonnais,
George H. Gerald, Edward McCormick,
W. Gordon Miller, Mary McKenzie,
Rosanna St. Jacque, Etta M. Sargent,
Lucy Sargent, Nellie Sullivan,
Phardina Young, Alfred Genard.

Bondsville.

Grades Nine and Eight—Miss Dora F. Cleveland.
Florence E. Bond, Nellie A. Donovan,
Annie J. Fitzgerald, Martin V. Knowlton,
Annie Lusty, Gertrude O. Marsan,
Richard R. Bruce, Patrick Sullivan.
Elsie M. Alden,

Grades Seven, Six and Five—Miss Josie E. Shea.
John Collins, Ellen E. Flaherty,
Minnie Moriarty, Leuise D. Pilon,
Edna B. Taylor, Ruby E. Taylor.

Grades Four and Three—Miss Emma F. Barney.
Emma Bruce, Josie Fenton,
Mary A. Lukin, Mary T. Moriarty,
Mary Sullivan, Nellie M. Thayer,
Thomas D. Carmody, Damase Pilon,
Dennis Slattery.

Grades Three and Two—Miss Margaret T. Shea.
Ruth Armstrong, Alice Bond,
Arthur Brin, Katherine Carr,
John Cavin, Maurice Cavin,
Minnie Collins, Fred Collis,
James Devine, Michael Donahue,
James Fitzgerald, Lucy Fitzgerald,
Lena Girouard, Joseph Lusty,
Viola Marsan, John Moriarty,
Nora Moriarty, Margaret Moriarty,
Albert Morrisette, Nettie Rose,
Henry Roberts, Arthur Stevens,
Lena Thomas.

Grade One—Miss Harriet B. Thayer.
Aurore Brin, Jessie Bruce,
Josie Devine, Alma Masse,
Annie Morse, Nettie Stevens,
Ellen Sullivan, Nellie Sullivan,
John Carr, Burt S. Collis,
Freddie Charron, Jean Fenton,
Raymond Martin, Alphonse Morrissette,
Napoleon Roberts.

Mason District.

Miss M. Eloise Stone.
Ernest H. Sherman.

Probate Court.

The probate court has granted administration in the estates of—Roxa Moulton, late of Wales, Fred M. Royce administrator; Luther Collis, late of Palmer, Timothy D. Potter administrator; Julia Needham, late of Wales, Allen Webster administrator. Wills approved of—Hannah A. Lull, late of Hampden, Epaphro A. Day executor; William M. Needham, late of Wales, Ellen A. Needham executrix; Electa Walker, late of Brimfield, Oscar F. Brown executor. Arthur E. Fitch appointed trustee in the estate of Eunice Rice, late of Wilbraham. Decree for the guardianship of insane persons granted in the case of Loverne A. Lull of Hampden, Addie A. Carew guardian. Permission granted William E. and Delila Downer of Holyoke to adopt George Dean of Monson. Administrator's accounts filed in estates of—John Graham, late of Ludlow, Leonard Miller, late of Ludlow, with the will annexed. Executor's account filed in the estates of—Stephen J. Miller, late of Ludlow; A. Whitney, late of Ludlow. Representation of insolvency was made in the estate of Edgar W. Royce, late of Wales, and further time was allowed. Leave to sell real estate was granted in the estate of Seneca F. Conant, late of Monson.

LOCAL NOTICES.

Ladies, call at Moore's and see the inch belts in gold and silver.

Miss K. I. McMahon will have a full line of trimmed and untrimmed millinery on and after April 1st.

PALMER NEWS.

To-day is Good Friday. Next Sunday will be Easter Sunday, the end of Lent.

Miss Mary Richards of Middlebury, Ct., is visiting her brother, DeWitt Richards.

Mrs. Thomas Blanchard and sons have gone to Chester for a visit with friends.

Miss Bertha Royce, who has been sick with the measles, is able to be out again.

The board of health has organized with Dr. Holbrook as chairman and secretary.

Mrs. O. P. Roller was called to Worcester Wednesday by the illness of her mother.

Mrs. H. C. Strong and daughter Grace are visiting Mrs. Cornelius Wilson at Hartford.

Horace G. Todd is spending a three-weeks' vacation with relatives in northern Vermont.

Mrs. Lyman Rice of Belchertown has come to make her home with her son, G. A. Rice.

Miss Julia Cook has been spending the week with friends in Westboro and Connecticut.

R. A. Moffatt, who has been engineer at the carpet mill for a long time, has left that position.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Sexton have returned to Palmer, and will occupy their house on Park street.

R. W. Moffatt will sell a quantity of household goods at auction to-morrow afternoon as 1 o'clock.

The Palmer National Bank paid a semi-annual dividend of 3½ per cent to stockholders April 1st.

Mrs. H. D. Converse has returned from an extended visit with friends in the eastern part of the state.

John F. O'Connor, who has been visiting his parents at Mt. Dumplin, has returned to his home in Chicago.

Mrs. W. W. Leach and Mrs. O. M. Graves have been spending a part of the week in South Manchester, Ct.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Taylor were called to Hartford Wednesday by the sudden illness of Mr. Taylor's mother.

Charles Thomas, assistant baggagemaster at the passenger station, is entertaining his brother from Bermuda.

Miss Louise and Dwight Gilmore of Des Moines, Ia., are guests of District Attorney and Mrs. C. L. Gardner.

Rev. Edwin S. Gould of Athol has been engaged to deliver the Memorial Day address for the Grand Army.

The Order of the Eastern Star will have a social and entertainment, with a farce, at its meeting next Friday evening.

The ladies of the Baptist society held a social Wednesday evening with Mrs. G. M. Atkins on Thorndike street.

The fines paid into the town treasury from the district court for the quarter ending March 31st amounted to $439.50.

The Easter concert at the Universalist church will be at 6 o'clock next Sunday evening, instead of 7, the usual hour.

All the fishermen who could get away were out after trout on Wednesday, and some unusually good strings are reported.

Miss Mabel Sedgwick and Miss Anna Fisherdick are at Washington, having taken the trip with a teacher's excursion party.

Miss Bessie Royce has returned to school at Tilton, N. H., and Miss Pearl Lawton has returned to Ashburnham Academy.

The funeral of Benjamin Kenerson, father of G. B. Kenerson, who died at the home of another son in Barre, was held here yesterday.

The overseers of the poor have appointed Dr. W. H. Bliss of Three Rivers town physician for the coming year, he being the lowest bidder.

Quite a number of Palmer people will attend the rendition of the German opera Tannhauser at Springfield next Monday evening.

A Good Friday service will be held in the chapel of St. Paul's church this evening at 7.30. Address, "Christ's seven sayings upon the cross."

The bill providing for a clerk of the Eastern Hampden district court has passed the legislative committee and been reported to the House.

A Democratic caucus is called for next Thursday evening at 7.30 at the town house, to choose delegates to the state and district conventions.

Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Holden arrived from Ann Arbor, Mich., last Saturday, and are residing for the present with Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Holden on West Main street.

E. A. Buck & Co. have an immense yellow sign, advertising the Sterns bicycles, those "yellow fellows," extending the whole length of the front of their store.

Invitations are out for the observance of the 25th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Brown, at their home on West Main street Tuesday evening, the 14th.

The ladies of St. Paul's Universalist church will hold an orange tea next Tuesday evening. Hot orange shortcake and other eatables; supper from 6.30 to 8 o'clock.

Mrs. John Sedgwick has presented the museum at the public library with a collection of minerals made by her last summer in the rocky mountains and above Denver, Col.

Fred Lacouline, bookkeeper in the freight office of the New London Northern road, leaves his position there to-night to take a place as night operator in the freight office of the N. Y., N. H. and H. road at Springfield.

Palmer Lodge of Odd Fellows has elected these officers: N. G., E. C. Buffington; V. G., A. P. Alden; R. S., G. H. Bray; L. S., L. G. Parkhurst; treasurer, A. L. Hills. The installation will take place next Wednesday evening.

The last social of the season was held in the parlors of the Congregational church Wednesday evening. Supper was served by Mrs. E. G. Hastings, Mrs. H. M. Kendall, Mrs. Hubbard Lawrence, Mrs. H. W. McGregory, Mrs. J. B. Shaw and Mrs. O. W. Studley.

The cases of Joseph and Elias Witkin of Springfield, for peddling without licenses, came up in the district court last Saturday, and Joseph was fined $30, but appealed. The case against Elias was dismissed, but for refusing to show his license to an officer when requested he was fined $30, and appealed.

The members of the Woman's Relief corps will give a leap year party this evening in Memorial Hall, with music by the Palmer Orchestral club. The floor director will be Mrs. G. W. Lyman, assisted by Mrs. Fred Thompson, Mrs. F. R. Lawton, Mrs. W. L. Shaw and Miss Angie Johnson. Admission to the hall will 10 cents, and dancing tickets 50 cents. Ice cream and cake will be served.

H. D. Converse will make an attempt next week to secure subscriptions sufficient to warrant him in starting the watering cart, and will make a tour among the business men for that purpose. If every merchant will pay his share of the expense there will be no trouble in keeping Main street, free of dust this summer; each one's share will be small if all contribute, as it is hoped they will.

Circulars have been sent out this week to the members and friends of the Eastern Hampden Agricultural society asking aid in clearing up the deficit occasioned by the poor weather at the time of the fair last September. This amounts to about $650, and those to whom the circulars are sent are requested to either take a share of the society's stock at $5, or to contribute such cash sum as they may desire. All subscriptions should be sent to the treasurer, F. D. Barton, at Palmer.

Samuel Lane of Monson was before the district court on Tuesday charged with drunkenness, and paid a fine of $5; Thomas Knowles of Gilbertville was sent to the house of correction for 30 days. Wednesday morning William L. Anderson of Monson, for assault on his wife, was fined $5, and the case continued until May 2d for performance of sentence. Yesterday Willis E. Griffin of Monson was charged with drunkenness on the 16th of last September, and the case was continued until the 11th.

Home for the Easter vacation—Miss Carrie Tuthill from Brown University, Miss Alice Brown from Fitchburg, Miss Bertha Hastings from Smith College, Harry Shaw and Ned Gardner from Amherst College, Clarence Wing from Peekskill military academy, Charles Atkins from Worcester military academy, Calvin Hastings from Worcester academy, J. A. Breckenridge from Yale, W. E. Breckenridge from Mount Clair, N. J., Louis Cross from Boston medical school, H. W. Holbrook and David Dillon from Tufts College.

BONDSVILLE.

Mrs. M. D. L. Towne of Ludlow spent Tuesday with Mrs. O. A. parent.

George Merrifield of Worcester spent the latter part of last week here with his mother.

C. F. Evans will s end Easter at his home in Lowell.

Mrs. Richard Russell has returned from a two-weeks' visit with friends in Waltham and B ston.

Miss Lou Shumway is spending the week with her cousin in Northampton.

John Carr has moved his family to Chicopee Falls.

A. H. Banister of Worcester and Miss Alice Darling of Monson spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Darling.

Mr. Skerry, the baker, has been ill for several weeks with grippe, and his place has been filled by a baker from Ware.

C. F. Armstrong has returned to his duties in the Boston Duck Co's. office, after a week's illness.

Daniel Sullivan was home from Amherst a part of the week.

Olin Parent is home from Wesleyan University for a week.

Patrick Fitzgerald, who is employed in Clark & Hastings's market, was kicked by a horse Sunday, and has been confined to the house during the week.

A meeting was held this afternoon at Mrs. Fisherdick's for the purpose of organizing a circle of King's Daughters.

Melvin Stone, second-hand in the spinning room of the mill, will move soon to Manchester, N. H.

THREE RIVERS.

The mill was closed all day Monday to give the help an opportunity to attend the town meeting.

Mrs. Toby of Boston preached a very interesting sermon last Sunday morning in the Union chapel.

T. J. Holt has returned from Providence, R. I., where he has been visiting friends and relatives.

A certain lady of this place, who is interested in dumb animals, is the possessor of fourteen birds and ten cats.

Misses Ruth and Nellie Ruggles have been spending a few days in Springfield.

Mrs. A. S. Geer is confined to her house with the grippe.

Herbert Main of Waltham, who has been visiting A. S. Geer, returned last Friday.

Three more families have left town this week.

R. S. Newell, who has been spending a few days at Clifton Springs, N. Y., has returned home.

Miss Helen Sweet, Miss Crane, Miss Merrill and Miss Clark, the school teachers, have gone to their homes for a two-weeks' vacation.

Mrs. E. Toby of Boston will give a Bible reading in the vestry of the Union church this evening.

Mr. Korff has purchased a new horse of John Twiss.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore spent a few days with friends and relatives in Springfield, returning Monday.

Mr. Abare and daughter spent a few days in Ware with friends and relatives, returning Monday.

Mr. Boise, who has lived in this place twelve years, has moved to New Bedford.

Mrs. Brown and daughter have gone to Springfield to visit among friends and relatives.

Charles Schneider, who formerly worked in the mill, is visiting friends in this place this week.

A new booth has been put in Shaw Bros'. store for the long distance telephone.

The family of J. W. Needham moved to their new home in New Bedford Thursday.

A new tin roof is being placed on one of the Company's brick blocks.

Mrs. Arthur Grise, who has been confined to the house by a short illness, is now able to be out again.

John Twiss has purchased a new express wagon.

Mrs. John Morion was severely burned the other day while frying doughnuts; her sleeve caught fire.

C. B. Clapp returned to his home in Northampton this week on account of sickness.

Mr. Chamberlain, who has been visiting friends and relatives in Barre, Vt., has returned home.

Wednesday afternoon a large wooden rim pulley broke while running 600 revolutions per minute in the saw mill of C. P. Haynes. Fortunately no one was hurt, though several workmen were close by at the time of the accident. Most of the pieces were hurled with great force through the roof of the building. A new pulley will be placed in position as soon as possible.

At the Baptist church next Sunday morning there will be preaching at 10.45 by E. A. Thomas, an Easter sermon, subject: "Rabouni, or the new gospel." At 7 in the evening there will be the fourth sermon in the Prodigal Son series, subject: "Feeding the swine."

THORNDIKE.

John Sullivan and family have moved to Haverhill.

Miss Beulah Thayer is visiting in Orange, the guest of Miss Jillson.

Timothy Lynch of Boston, formerly of this place, is visiting here.

Miss Ada Murdock spent part of the week with friends in Springfield.

Miss Lizzie Hartnett has returned from a visit with her sister in Springfield.

Charles Keith of Claremont, N. H., is visiting his brother and sister here.

Mrs. E. M. Shields will have her millinery opening this and to-morrow evening.

Miss Mary McFarlane is home from Boston, where she has been teaching school.

Miss Katie Fleming announces her millinery opening this and to-morrow evenings.

Miss Ada Murdock is taking lessons in elocution of Miss Marion Stearns of Springfield.

Timothy Reardon of Boston has been in town as the guest of Michael Roche for a few days.

Mr. Clifford of Millbury, who has been visiting in town, returned to his home this week.

Misses Dorothy Todd and Lizzie Henighan of Palmer were the guests of Miss Marion Andrews a part of the week.

Charles Clark has moved from Ware to this place, and occupies a tenement in the Dill homestead on Main street.

A handsome oak booth has been placed in the drug store of A. P. Adams by the New England Telephone company.

James D. McFarlane, Sr., is at the Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston, where he is being treated for a spinal trouble.

Thomas Chapman has taken the organization of a ball club for the season in hand, and is corresponding with several parties in an attempt to arrange games.

The following programme will be given at the 11 o'clock service in the Catholic church on Sunday:

Vidi Aqueu. Easter Hymn. A. Zoules
Kyrie Eleison. Zoteg
Gloria. Stearns
Credo. Stearns
Offertory. "Regina Coeli." Mandimus
Sanctus—Agnus Dei. Noegan

The following will constitute the choir: Sopranos, Misses Flynn, Crowley, Murphy, O'Connor; altos, Misses Holden, Loftus, Moran; and Messrs. Luman and Stokes. Vespers, with benediction, at 3. p. m.

The grammar school ball team will be made up of the following: J. Riley, T. Kennedy, McKenzie, Dailey, Hurley, Lawton, Rouillard, J. Rouillard, Crane, Leary, Johnson, Longtine, McIntire, W. Riley. The positions have not as yet been assigned.

Palm Sunday was observed at the Congregational church. The pastor preached an appropriate sermon, and "The Palms" was sung by Mr. Chapman. On Easter Sunday there will be special music and an Easter sermon in the morning; in the evening an Easter exercise will be given by the children.

A Pleasant Gathering.

Mrs. Isaac Gerald was given a pleasant surprise by a large number of her friends on Wednesday evening. The time was pleasantly spent in singing and speech making, and all present were introduced to the "New Woman," who was so bashful that she did not move from the second floor during the evening. Those present were Mrs. M. E. Thayer, Miss Jane Walker, Mrs. Hudson, Mrs. Lizzie Watt, Mrs. McIntire, Mrs. Charles Page, Mrs. H. T. Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. George Mooers, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mooers, Mrs. M. E. Murdock, Mrs. A. B. C. Deming of Boston, Mrs. Weeden, Miss Ida Smith, Mrs. James Richard, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Miller, Mrs. George Keith, Misses Susie and Sarah Page, Mrs. N. Talmage, Mrs. Lucy Knowlton, Mrs. A. C. Holton, Mrs. F. Fuller, Mrs. E. E. Kendall, Mr. and Mrs. George Lyman of Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Sterns, Mrs.

The Journal.

FRIDAY EVENING, APRIL 3, 1896.

NEIGHBORHOOD NOTES.

MONSON.

LOCAL NOTICES.

For Sale.—Small farm near the village. John S. Bogan.

Franchise for the Electric Road Granted.

The selectmen have granted a franchise to the Palmer and Monson street railway company for the use of certain streets and highways for their electric railway. The terms are as follows: The track may be laid beginning at the boundary lines between the towns of Monson and Palmer on the quarry road, and run to a point near the north bound of the farm of O. M. Graves; starting again on the quarry road at its junction with the road running easterly to the house of Isaac Ramsdell, to near the barn of the W. N. Flynt Granite company; starting again at the junction of the quarry road with Margaret street, thence along Margaret street to High street, and down High street to Main street, and along Main street to a point 100 feet south of its junction with Bliss street. Also, beginning at the Monson and Palmer boundary line on the North Monson road, and running along said road 1200 feet; starting at a point 500 feet southerly of the point mentioned and running along this road to North Main street, along North Main street to Main street. Where the grant lies over or near the state highways the poles and tracks must be located as the state highway commission and selectmen desire. Any motive power, except steam, may be used. The company must agree to bear the entire expense of construction, pay all counsel fees, land damages, and for the widening of the road, and damages in case of accidents incurred by negligence on the part of the employes. The tracks, turnouts, etc., together with the poles, must be located by the selectmen, and the tracks must be laid to conform with the present grade of the highways, and if the grades should be changed the company must at its own expense change its tracks. The selectmen reserve the right to relocate the tracks if they so desire at any time. The rails must be of iron and weigh not less than 60 pounds to the yard, and be securely spiked to chestnut sleepers laid not more than 30 inches apart. On all streets where there will be travel on either side of the tracks the rails must be flat. The gauge must be 4 feet 8½ inches, and the company must keep the portion of the highway between its tracks and for 18 inches outside of the tracks flush with the top of the tracks and in good repair, the material to be of cobble stones. Certain portions of the cross walks must also be maintained by the company. The poles must be of material, shape, height and color as determined by the selectmen. The arms and brackets must be of iron, and with the trolley wires must be not less than 18 feet above the ground. The company must remove all snow, ice, or other debris from the streets placed there in keeping its track open. When, by the town, any part of the tracks be taken up or obstructed for the purpose of repairing or altering its streets, sewer or water pipes, the expense must be borne by the company. If there are any drains, culverts, sluices or bridges over which the track passes, which in the judgment of the selectmen must to be strengthened, widened or altered, the work must be done at the expense of the company, and when the same shall be repaired the company must bear as much of the expense as the selectmen determine. No trees may be removed or mutilated unless by consent of the selectmen. The company must provide suitable and sufficient cars, and run them at such intervals as shall accommodate the public. The company must annually pay to the town treasurer one-fourth of the aggregate sum contributed toward watering the streets, and must issue annually to the school committee 25 free passes to be used for transporting school children. Unless the tracks are laid on the streets mentioned within two years, or if the cars fail to run at regular intervals for 60 consecutive days on any of these streets, the franchise so far as these streets are concerned will be null and void. The company must agree to make suitable provision for the care of all surface water that may accumulate by reason of the railway.

The franchise has been declined by the directors of the road in the following communication: "After careful perusal of the terms of the franchise granted the Palmer and Monson Street Railway Company we are obliged to decline to accept the same. Its conditions are so restrictive that they are practically prohibitive, as we believe no company could be found to operate said road. The cost of construction and maintenance of the system under the conditions imposed would be greater than returns would warrant."

Republican Nominations for Town Officers.

The Republicans held their caucus last Friday evening to nominate town officers. An unusually large number were present, and considerable interest was manifested. C. M. Gage was chosen chairman and W. A. Squier clerk. Besides the blank ballot form furnished by the town committee there were two tickets in the field. One a straight Republican ticket, and the other a so-called "temperance ticket," bearing the name of Republicans and Democrats also. There were 128 ballots cast. Although there was considerable scratching for the names for selectmen on the straight ticket, it ran easily ahead of the other one. These are the nominations: Town clerk, Charles M. Gage; selectmen and overseers of the poor, Arthur D. Norcross, Lyman C. Flynt, George H. Foskett; assessors, Charles C. Keep, William L. Ricketts, Harrison Howe, treasurer, Edward D. Cushman; tax collectors, Ralph Clifford; school committee for three years, Nehemiah W. Rand, Lee Blanchard; cemetery commissioners for three years, George C. Flynt; water commissioner for three years, William H. Gifford; constables, Joel H. Thompson, David D. Maney, Hiram D. Osborne, Edward P. Newton, Hiram A. Felton; auditor, Rufus P. Cushman and William J. Ricketts.

Successful Leap Year Party.

Misses Gilligan, Manchester, Crossman and Park gave a leap year dancing party Tuesday night. The Philharmonic orchestra of Springfield furnished music, and the stage was prettily decorated for the occasion with potted plants. The gallery was filled with spectators. There were thirty-one couples in the grand march, which was led by Miss Louise Gifford and Master Ralph Needham. The dresses of the ladies were very attractive. Miss Gilligan wore fancy India silk; Miss Parke, blue henrietta; Miss Crossman, white silk; Miss Manchester, white silk; Miss Gage, light organdie over blue; Miss Fairbanks, white serge; Miss Potter, pink silk; Miss Webb, dotted muslin over green; Miss Bissett, muslin over blue; Miss Babbitt, blue silk; Miss Gifford, blue cashmere; Miss Spencer, black silk; Mrs. Leonard, black crepon skirt, fancy silk waist; Mrs. Foskett, black skirt, steel silk waist; Mrs. Lyman Miller, black silk; Mrs. Morton L. Miller, black silk; Miss Kennedy, lemon silk mull; Miss Rebecca Kennedy, white cashmere; Miss Howe, brown skirt, fancy silk waist; Miss Stebbins, black skirt, pink silk waist; Miss Hobbs, black crepon; Miss Rood, white silk; Miss Anderson, blue crepon; Miss Mary Anderson, white serge; Miss Martha Anderson, light figured challie; Mrs. Graves, black henrietta; Miss Tucker, pink silk; Miss Palmer, cream cashmere.

. . . NEW . . .

Shoes for Easter.

We have bought a good many new shoes to make our lines complete for Easter.

NEW SHOES FOR LADIES.
NEW SHOES FOR MEN.
NEW SHOES FOR BABIES.

Ladies' Patent Leather Oxfords.

This shoe should be seen to be appreciated. Any lady wanting a fine dress shoe will find this just the thing.

YOURS WITH SHOES THAT FIT.

◆◆◆◆◆◆◆◆

Geo. L. Fuller,

the distributor of fine fitting shoes.

Monson, - Mass.

The academy closed Tuesday.

Frank Fenton spent Sunday in Springfield.

The Century company is painting its barn.

Mrs. Ella Nellis spent Sunday in Cambridge.

Mrs. Luther B. Peck had a stroke of paralysis Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Murphy have a daughter, born Monday.

Captain Henry Hurley of Utica, N. Y., is stopping at the Century hotel.

Miss Grace Perrinton of Willimantic is the guest of Miss Letha A. Potter.

A new railroad bridge is being constructed over Chicopee brook near North Monson.

Miss Alice E. Darling spent Sunday at Bondsville with her brother, Charles W. Darling.

Dwight Ayers cut his hand quite badly Wednesday on the circular saw at R. M. Reynolds's straw works.

Robert Fuller of Allston is stopping with Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Orcutt.

Miss Ellie Fairbanks of Warren has visited Miss Gertrude B. Gage this week.

Carl M. Blair of Warren has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Gage this week.

The Monson historical society will meet in Memorial Hall next Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

There will be a parish supper at the Universalist church next Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock.

The Misses Williams had their millinery opening Wednesday and yesterday, and received many visitors.

William H. Bugbee and Hiram D. Osborne have been appointed cattle inspector for the current year.

Friends of Mrs. Walter E. Morse will be glad to know that her little son, who has been ill for some time, is much better.

Dwight Moon, 71, died at the house of George D Fowler in district No. 7 and was buried in the Center cemetery to-day.

There will be a meeting of Marcus Keep Woman's Relief corps next Wednesday evening, and a full attendance is requested.

The open session of the Philo and Lino societies at the Academy last Friday evening was one of the most interesting held for some time.

The warrant for the town meeting next Monday contains 19 articles pertaining to the transaction of routine business and the usual appropriations.

Monson lodge of Odd Fellows has chosen these officers: N. G., E. B. Potter; V. G., C. H. Wright; R. S., John Cross; P. S., C. F. Aldrich; treasurer, A. A. Babbitt.

The men members of the Epworth League gave a social Wednesday evening. A good supper was served, followed by an entertainment consisting of readings and singing.

Miss Edna Blaisdell of Willimantic, Ct., has been the guest of Miss Maybelle L. Tucker the past week. Miss Tucker gave a lemon party in her honor Saturday evening.

Oliver Ditson & Company of Boston have published a sacred song entitled "After," the words by Clarissa Starks Thompson (Mrs. Charles G. Thompson) and the music by Prof. Sudds.

Miss Kate Coyle's millinery opening Friday and Saturday of last week was the first of the season, and the number of calls she received evinced the great interest taken in these matters by the "women folk."

The wedding of Edward E. Thayer and Miss Edith Clarke of Springfield will take place next Wednesday in that city, and invitations have been received by Monson friends of Mr. Thayer. He was formerly a student at the Academy.

The reading given by Miss Linda H. Brigham of Palmer at the home of Mrs. George C. Flynt Tuesday afternoon was of a very pleasing nature. Miss Brigham gave reminiscences of a summer spent in Nova Scotia, and selections from "Evangeline."

Dr. Tenney of Boston, representing the Total Abstinence Society, gave an interesting talk on temperance in Memorial Hall last Sunday evening to a large audience. On Monday he visited the schools, and left pledges which the pupils were invited to sign.

Mrs. Adelia Adams, 87, died Saturday morning at the home of her son, George W. Adams, of South Monson. The funeral was held Monday morning, and Rev. W. H Marble officiated. The burial was at Wilbraham. Mrs. Adams was a member of the Wilbraham Methodist church.

Samuel Wing died Sunday at the home of his son Leroy, in district No. 6, having been in feeble health for some time. Mr. Wing had lived in Monson at various times a number of years He leaves three sons, Reuben, Leroy and Allie. The funeral took place Tuesday, Rev. F. S. Hatch officiating. The burial was at Palmer.

Mrs. Frank Tobey of South Monson was reported to be in a critical state this morning; she has been ill for some time. Silas N. Harris of South Monson is also very low, and suffers greatly. His son Elmer, who is ill, shows decided signs of improvement. John J. Bogan has been confined to the house by illness for about a week.

A Monson friend of the late Rev. Theron G. Colton of Hudson, Mich., has received a letter giving particulars in regard to his illness and death. He had paralysis and died Saturday, March 21st, the funeral being held the following Tuesday. Mr. Colton was colleagues pastor of the Congregational church with Dr. Alfred Ely from 1856 to 1866.

The Misses Gavin had their millinery opening Monday and Tuesday in their new store in Heimann & Lichten's block. Their rooms are conveniently situated for both the millinery and dressmaking departments, and are large and well lighted. Electricity has recently been put in. The opening was well attended, and the display very attractive.

The Current Events club has arranged for two lectures to be given April 10 and 17 by Mrs. Annie Russell Marble of Worcester. The subjects will be "George Eliot and Mrs. Ward as character delineators," "American Novelists." These lectures will be given at the homes of members of the club. A limited number of tickets will be on sale, and may be obtained of Miss Wood until Monday night.

There will be special music at the various churches Easter morning, and the sermons will be appropriate to the day. Rev. W. H. Marble at the Methodist church will preach the last sermon of the conference year, and the subject will be "The final reckoning." Rev. Harry Blackford at the Universalist church will take for his subject "The Resurrection." There will be Sunday school concerts in the evening at the Congregational, Universalist and Methodist churches.

It is said that some of the farmers are much exercised over the closing of certain schools in the out districts, as they think that their property will depreciate in value on account of it. The school committee and superintendent think that the transportation does away with that argument, and call attention to the fact that the advantages of the village schools over the ungraded schools are very great. There are four new pupils in No. 15 grammar school from the out districts.

The teachers' meeting at No. 15 last Friday afternoon was well attended. Miss Sarah E Brassill, supervisor of sciences in the Cambridge and Quincy schools, gave a talk on "Geology," and James Hall, assistant state supervisor of drawing, spoke on "Design." Although the public is cordially invited to attend these meetings, which are held from time to time, few besides the teachers avail themselves of the opportunity, and miss much of interest and helpful instruction.

Rev. W. H. Marble officiated at the funeral of Mrs. Martha M. Leonard at Stafford Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Leonard was well-known in Monson, being the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith, and the widow of Milton Leonard. She died Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. Aldrich, in Stafford, and leaves two other children, Mrs. Lombard of Hartford, and Myron Leonard of Stafford, besides two sisters, Miss Eliza and Miss Julia E. of Springfield, and two brothers, Melville and Reuben of Monson.

Work has been commenced on a historical and illustrated book on Monson, to be known as "Monson Illustrated." It will be compiled and edited by William Young, an author of reputation, and from a literary point of view will be a valuable book. It is to be profusely illustrated with half-tone cuts of a superior quality. The natural beauties of the town and its surroundings, the tasty streets, the fine public buildings and handsome residences insure a pleasing volume from an artistic point of view. The book will be sold by subscription for $1 50.

The funeral of Arline M., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Tryon of Providence, was held Saturday morning, and the burial took place in the afternoon at Granville. Monson lodge of Odd Fellows, of which Mr. Tryon is a member, sent flowers, as did other Monson friends. David B. Needham and family attended the funeral, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Johnson went to Granville. Mrs. Juliette Needham and Miss Alice Murphy met the funeral party at Palmer and accompanied it to Westfield. Mr. and Mrs. Tryon have the sympathy of many friends in their great bereavement.

Next Monday will be town meeting day, and for the honor of old Monson it is to be hoped that the weather will be fair. For, no matter how vital the issue may be, if the day is unpleasant many voters will stay at home. And these same men would, if they voted, be found on the no-license side. There is a strong feeling that the town will go license, as it is understood that Palmer money and Palmer eloquence are being brought to bear upon those who have no scruples about selling their votes. If the temperance people win the day they will have to hustle. So far as the choice of town officials is concerned, it is the opinion of many that the present board of selectmen will be elected; that Dr. N. W. Rand and Rev. Harry Blackford will be the choice for school committee; that William H. Gifford will be water commissioner; that the vote for the tax collectorship is likely to be close, as is that for the board of assessors. Little interest seems to be taken in officers outside of these.

NORTH WILBRAHAM.

Albert Boedeker of Springfield visited M. H. Cooley Wednesday evening.

C. E. Fletcher and W. E. Oliver of Providence were in town for a short time Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Edwards of Springfield, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Mowry and Miss Belle, were guests of Mrs. E. W. Wall on Tuesday.

WALES.

Town meeting next Monday at 10 o'clock.

A little child of Mr. Marriott died last Saturday with diphtheria.

Mr. Hamilton has been confined to the house for a week with grippe.

W. A. Lyon & Co. have just got in a large line of new dry goods and millinery.

C. G. Needham is thoroughly repairing Mrs. Luthers' home inside by papering and painting.

Mrs. C. G. Thompson has been suffering with a severe attack of grippe, but is now improving.

Report says LeRoy Squier has sold his residence to New York parties. While new neighbors are welcome, the community would regret to have Mr. Squier and family leave town.

The Republicans held a caucus in the town hall Wednesday evening and nominated candidates for town officers for the ensuing year. J. H. Loudon was chairman and H. A. McFarland secretary of the caucus.

BRIMFIELD.

Mrs. Pease of Springfield is visiting her sister, Mrs. Porter A. Parker.

Mrs. William Easter has been spending a part of the week in Springfield.

Miss Annie L. Randall has a position in Levison's millinery store in Springfield.

Mrs. Elijah Allen returned Tuesday from a week's stay with her son in Worcester.

Mrs. Waldo Prickett of Springfield is visiting her parents, Postmaster Pierson and wife.

There are 18 articles in the warrant for the annual town meeting, which will be held next Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stewart of North Brookfield visited her mother, Mrs. C. O. Brown, last week.

Mrs. Henry F. Brown, who has been confined to her home five weeks with bronchitis, is convalescent.

The library report shows an increase in the circulation of books the past year, largely owing to the efforts of the teachers, who have carried out books to the several districts. The teachers are interested to continue this work so that families in the remote parts of the town may enjoy the privileges of the library. The teachers have used the library to a greater extent in drawing books which illustrate the lessons of their pupils. Supervisor Wood has furnished each school with a library catalogue. It is proposed to make the library assist the schools to a still greater degree the coming year, and to purchase more books which will be helpful to both teachers and pupils.

Mrs. Ezra G. Bemis, 68, died at her home in Brimfield Sunday evening from pneumonia, after an illness of less than a week. The funeral was held at her late residence Tuesday afternoon, Rev. Mr. Camp, pastor of the Methodist church of Wales, officiating on account of the illness of Rev. Mr. Kyle. The burial took place at Claremont, Wednesday. Mrs. Bemis was an unusually energetic, efficient woman, and will be much missed. She had always enjoyed remarkable health, having never been ill up to the time of her last sickness. She was a kind neighbor and had many warm friends in Brimfield, where she had lived for about eight years. She was a member of the First Congregational church, and was very constant in attendance at church services. Mrs. Bemis was born in Sutton, Vt., where her parents are now living. Her maiden name was Orpha Gray. She was twice married, and, besides a husband, leaves two sons, Fred Furness of Montreal, and George A. Furness, a student at Revere law college, and a daughter, Miss Ella Furness of Revere.

LEGISLATIVE MATTERS.

BOSTON, April 1, 1896.

The adverse action of the House on the bill for general suffrage for women foreshadowed its action upon the bill for municipal suffrage. Owing to the abolition of the women suffrage committee and the divison of its duties between the committees on constitutional amendments, election laws and liquor law, there are three suffrage questions to be debated this year, instead of one or two. While the verdict of the people of November is pleaded by the suffragists as being on their side, yet it seems that the Legislature is not disposed to allow the claim, but regards the vote as a proof that the people are so much opposed to suffrage for women that the Legislature is not justified in voting for it.

Once more the people of the state will be called upon to rally to the defense of their Bullfinch state house, for the committee on state house has reported, by six to five, a bill for the destruction of the front and the erection of a new one on the lines of the old one, but with "proper changes in width and height." Of course such a loophole leaves it possible to make many alterations, and it is not likely that there would be secured under such a bill so satisfactory results as would be attained by the plan of Mr. Cobb, which proposes to keep the old walls, to extend the wings and put a colonnade upon them to match the colonnade on the present front and on the extension, and to raise the dome and put a colonnade around it, as there is evidence Bullfinch would have done in the first place, if he had had money enough for the building. The bill which has been reported provides for a loan of $1,500,000, and for proper competition for contracts and for supervision by the governor and council. The state house influences are in favor of the entire destruction of the Bullfinch front. There is less regard for the historic associations than there is among the people at large, for the officials want fine offices and marble halls for the transaction of their daily business, and present pomp and show are worth more to them than the historic side of old walls. So, if the patriotic public has any idea of preserving the old front, it cannot be too expeditious in making its desires known.

The House has gone on record by a large vote in favor of putting an end to prize fighting under color of boxing exhibitions. The opposition to the bill used some very harsh language toward its friends. They were called cranks and men who knew nothing about boxing, and were ridiculed severely. But there were a strong majority, and it is to be hoped that they will be able to carry the bill through to enactment, for it was clearly shown to be in the public interest. It does not prohibit such private boxing as real lovers of sport delight in, but it does prevent brutal performances in public for prizes.

The fight against the cattle commission seems to be ended for this year, though something may be attempted in the House. The committee on agriculture has reported unanimously against the petitions for the abolition of the commission, or for a reduction of its members, and these reports have been accepted in the Senate. This indicated that there will be no material opposition in the House, and at least, that they will have no chance of adoption in the Senate. The Senate bill to restrict the use of tuberculin for another year has been passed to be engrossed in the House without any opposition.

The country towns seem to be getting their share of attention this year at the hands of the Legislature. The committee on roads and bridges has reported an appropriation of $800,000 for state highways, and it contains the proviso that none but citizens of the state shall be employed upon the work which is authorized by the bill.

On the extermination] of the gypsy moth there is a singular combination of difficulties. Three of the committee want to appropriate $50,000, which will just keep the moths in check, but will not allow progress toward exterminating them. Three more want to appropriate $100,000, while four others want to appropriate $400,000, the latter being the figure wanted by the commissioners. So they have been obliged to report reference to the next Legislature, though each member of the committee would give something. For it is to be fought out in the Legislature which is the most reasonable.

Politics centers at the state house considerably, and interesting facts transpire there. Attorney General Knowlton was in the House Wednesday afternoon and told me that he should not run for the second place on the state ticket if Murray Crane was to be a candidate, but he said that he might enter the race if Mr. Crane did not. To those who know Mr. Knowlton this would seem to be a most desirable turn in state affairs, for he is of full gubernatorial size, and the state could feel that it had in the second position a man who was fully equal to the first in case an emergency should arise. He is a strong, self-reliant, capable man, and it may be said with all due respect to Mr. Crane's amiability in paying off old campaign bills, that it would certainly be better for the state to have Mr. Knowlton in the second place than any other man who has been mentioned. When the state has first-class men it ought to get them.

The action of the New Hampshire convention gives great satisfaction to the many McKinley men to be found. It must be remembered that the people here are not at all in the list of those who would do anything to beat McKinley, but nearly every man of them is for McKinley second choice. This is a very important feature in the situation, which has already its effect on the men who have been chosen for St. Louis.

The end of the woman suffrage contest was reached in the House on Wednesday afternoon. The bills for granting municipal suffrage and to permit women to vote on the issue of liquor licenses were in the calendar, the latter having the first position, from which it had been brought over from Tuesday. The question was reached at three o'clock and general debate was permitted until four, allowing ten minutes more for the friends of the bill. Then came a roll call, which, with the present clerk, occupied ten minutes more. The result was a refusal of the House to order the bill to a third reading by 81 yeas to 10 nays. Doubtless this was a stronger favorable vote than could have been secured for the municipal suffrage bill, for Mr. Myers of Cambridge, who spoke for the license bill, probably represented other temperance men who are opposed to woman suffrage, yet voted for the license bill on the ground that it was a temperance measure. One of the strong points made against the claim that women would be sure to increase the no-license vote was made by Mr. Lowell of Boston, who said that on the 1100 applications for liquor licenses in Boston were the names of 491 women. More than one name was on some applications, so the proportion was not as strongly against the women as those figures would indicate. Yet the fact that so many women wanted liquor licenses must weigh against the idea that women will be solid against the saloon. The proportion of women was said to be much larger than it is in most kinds of business done by men also. Most of the defence on this bill was on general suffrage lines.

Hence it was that by the time the House reached the bill for municipal suffrage it was evident that the members were in no mood to hear further arguments, and also that the bill was pretty sure to be defeated. Mr. Stevens of Somerville said in reply to a remark by Mr. Moriarty of Worcester that he understood that the friends of the bill had abandoned it, that they did not propose to lose their opportunity to debate. But neither he nor any other member offered to take the floor, and the question was put and the bill was declared lost by a voice vote. This was by a strong majority. No one offered to secure a roll call, and so the matter appears to be ended for this session. Now the question comes up whether the referendum vote of last fall had anything to do with the action of the Legislature upon these three woman suffrage propositions,—general, license and municipal suffrage. It was clear to the observer that it did, and that the fact that 100,000 people gave a majority against woman suffrage tended to stiffen the backs of the opponents of suffrage and to discourage its friends. The verdict of the state was referred to repeatedly during the debate as settling the question, and notwithstanding what was said by the suffragists, it seemed to be the general opinion that the women do not want the vote, and this counted for much.

LANDON.

Beecham's pills for constipation 10c and 25c. Get the book at your druggist's and go by it.

Annual sales more than 6,000,000 boxes.

Try a can of Hopkins' Steamed Hominy (Hulled corn.) It is delicious. Full qt., 10c.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER.

ABSOLUTELY PURE.

A cream of tartar Baking Powder. Highest of all in leavening power.—Latest United States Government Food Report.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall Street, New York.

BRADLEY'S XL PHOSPHATE and potato manure. W. E. STONE, agent, Palmer and North Wilbraham.

WANTED.—EXPERIENCED OPERATORS on Wilcox & Gibbs straw sewing machines on men's and boys' hats. Also trimmers for the same. Plenty of work and a long season. 5-51 NELSON & LADOW, Upton, Mass.

TEETH. .

Artificial teeth without plates. Teeth extracted without pain with local anaesthetic. GAS ADMINISTERED.

Office hours from 8 to 12 a. m., 1 to 5.30 p. m.

OPEN EVENINGS

Dr. O. P. ROLLER, D. D. S., Lawrence Block, Palmer, Mass.

BUCKEYE ROLLED OATS, 7c for 2-pound packages; 4 for 25c. Equal to any. W. E. STONE, Palmer.

A pleasing variety OF newest fancies IN ◆ SPRING MILLINERY ◆ IS FOUND AT LaZELLE, DAWES & ESTEY, Millinery Rooms, 353 Main Street, Springfield.

B. M. C. BEST FLOUR. Green strip around barrel. Also in ¼ barrel sacks. Once tried you will have no other. W. E. STONE, Palmer.

TOWN OF MONSON,
TOWN WARRANT.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.—HAMPDEN ss. To either of the constables of the town of Monson, in said County. Greeting:

In the name of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts you are hereby directed to notify and warn all the inhabitants of the town of Monson qualified to vote in elections and town affairs, to meet at the Memorial Town Hall, in said Monson, on Monday, the sixth day of April, A. D. 1896, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to act on the following articles, viz:

ARTICLE 1. To choose a moderator to preside in said meeting.

ART. 2. To choose a Town Clerk, three Selectmen and Overseers of the Poor, three Assessors, Town Treasurer, one Water Commissioner for three years, one School Committee for three years, Tax Collector, five Constables, two Auditors, and three Fence Viewers. Also to vote "Yes" or "No" in answer to the question, "Shall License for the sale of Intoxicating Liquors be granted in the Town of Monson for the ensuing year?" All on one ballot.

ART. 3. To choose all other necessary town officers.

ART. 4. To hear the reports of town officers and committees and act thereon.

ART. 5. To see if the town will accept the list of Jurors as prepared by the Selectmen.

ART. 6. To see if the town will raise and appropriate money to suppress the illegal sale of intoxicating liquors, and appoint a committee to prosecute such illegal sale.

ART. 7. To determine what use shall be made of the "Dog Money" received from the county treasurer the ensuing year.

ART. 8. To raise and appropriate such sums of money as may be necessary to defray the expenses of the town the ensuing year.

ART. 9. To see if the town will raise and appropriate money for the Monson Free Library and Reading Room Association.

ART. 10. To raise and appropriate money for the discount on taxes.

ART. 11. To determine the method of collecting taxes and direct in regard to payment of the same.

ART. 12. To determine the salary of the Tax Collector for the ensuing year.

ART. 13. To see if the town will raise and appropriate money for sidewalks and direct how the same shall be expended.

ART. 14. To see if the town will raise and appropriate money for lighting the streets.

ART. 15. To see if the town will raise and appropriate money for cemetery purposes.

ART. 16. To see if the town will raise and appropriate money to Marcus Keep Post, G. A. R., for Memorial Day exercises.

ART. 17. To see if the town will raise and appropriate the sum of three hundred dollars for the use of its fire department for supplies, repairs, and pay of firemen.

ART. 18. To see if the town will vote to lease of David B. Needham, Lyman C. Flynt and Charles W. King, present lessees, that certain tract of land lying southerly of Hutchinson's shop on the west side of Main Street, and more fully described in the lease from H. C. Norcross to D. B. Needham and others, for the term of nine years from June 13, 1896, yielding and paying therefor the annual rental of twenty-two 50-100 dollars per year.

ART. 19. To see if the town will authorize its treasurer to borrow money when necessary for town use.

The polls will be open at a quarter past nine o'clock in the forenoon, and may be closed at two o'clock.

And you are directed to serve this warrant by posting attested copies thereof at each of the places designated by said town, seven days at least, before the time of holding said meeting, and by causing an attested copy thereof to be published in one issue of the Palmer JOURNAL.

Hereof fail not, and make due return of this warrant, with your doings thereon, to the Town Clerk, at the time and place of holding said meeting.

Given under our hands at Monson, this twenty-eighth day of March, A. D., 1896.

A. D. NORCROSS, } Selectmen
G. H. FOSKIT, } of
Wm. H. BUGBEE, } Monson.

A true copy—Attest:
H. D. OSBORNE, Constable.

Forbes & Wallace's,
Springfield.

MILLINERY.

Almost a thousand trimmed hats and bonnets, all ready to put on. $3, $5, $7.50, $10, $12, $15, $20, $25, $30.

You've always ordered your hat, perhaps; never thought of buying it ready made. But will you look at the hats and bonnets that our milliners have been creating? We have caught some notions from the distinguished milliners of Paris, and our workroom is a Parisian echo with reproductions and modifications of the more outre French styles. The deft fingers of our milliners would win plaudits in Paris.

Everything to create, too, if you'd rather. Here are hundreds of untrimmed shapes as rich and expensive as you choose; whole beds of roses and flowers and foliage, an abundance of every fashionable garniture.

Main floor of Pynchon street building.

WRAPS AND JACKETS AND COSTUMES AND WAISTS.

The wraps and jackets reflect the highest credit on the buyer; the costumes and waists were never happier.

There are hundreds of capes, and for a given sum of money there was never to be had so much style and worth before.

Jackets. Styles by the hundreds, and novelty after novelty, side by side. Jackets up to $60 apiece, but the assortment from $10 to $25 is rich beyond example.

Costumes from $12 to $50. We venture to say that nobody else in the city has such. Some of the richest things are combination skirts of mixed cloths with jackets or blazer of plain material faced with the skirt material. There are none more stylish than we shall want to show.

Silk waists lovelier than silk waists ever were before, and more of 'em. We have probably the largest collection of silk waists to be found in this region—$5 to $20.

Forbes & Wallace,
Main, Vernon and Pynchon streets, Springfield, Mass.

EDAM CHEESE in foil. Very fine. W. E. STONE, Palmer.

One Minute Cough Cure touches the right spot. It also touches it at the right time if you take it when you have a cough or cold. See the point? Then don't cough. LeGro & Lynde.

The newest case designs in pianos can always be found in our ware rooms. Just now we are showing some beautiful pianos in light and dark mahogany and walnut casings from factory of Newly & Evans, of New York.

These pianos are elegant in finish and tone. We can sell them at very reasonable prices.

Please call and examine them.

TAYLOR'S
Music House,
412 MAIN STREET, SPRINGFIELD.

Photographs of Caroline Miskel Hoyt for sale.

D. N. BUTTERWORTH, dealer in CARRIAGES of EVERY DESCRIPTION.

Canopy top, extension top, surrey top and open buggies. Spindle wagons, banner wagons, grocery wagons, business wagons, mason's wagons and carpenter's wagons. Order wagons, road carts. Concord buggies made at a great bargain, also second-hand wagons.

Large stock of harness, robes, blankets.

I can sell the above goods as low as can be bought of any dealer. My expenses are lower than anyone in the business. I was never undersold and won't be. Come and satisfy yourselves at

60 DWIGHT ST., SPRINGFIELD, MASS.
D. N. BUTTERWORTH.

FLAGE'S FOOD for poultry, 25c for large packages. 75c for 12½ pound bag for horses and cattle. Try it. One sale at STONE'S, Palmer and North Wilbraham.

Wall Papers.

New styles, spring patterns. Borders to match.

How nice your rooms will look with new paper on them, and more healthy, too.

For the . . . largest and best assortment, . . . go to LeGRO & LYNDE'S, next to post office, PALMER.

E. S. Bryant, D. M. D.,
Dentist,
Lynde's Block, Palmer.
Office hours: 8 30 to 12.30. 1.30 to 5 p. m.

C. H. HOBBY, PIANO TUNER.

Orders for tuning may be left at O. P. Allen's drug store, Palmer; or may be sent to me by mail to Mansfield, Ct.

We make friends of our customers and customers of our friends. . . . . .

Transient trade is all right for a superstructure, but steady custom is the foundation of a business—that's what we have worked for. We have given prices which have attracted you and treatment which will hold you—doing this we disprove the old statement that "there is friendship in business." A man had better try to get along without customers than without friends. We knew a man once—but that's another story—so is this:

Big cut in canned goods.

4 cans peas, - -	25c
4 " Maine sweet corn,	25c
4 " lima beans, -	25c
3 " clams, - -	25c
1 one lb. can Cleveland's royal baking powder,	40c
1 can condensed milk,	10c
1 " grated pineapple,	10c
1 " peaches, - -	10c

Golden Drip Syrup, 26c gallon.
(Bring jug.)

This week we are selling a 12c package of Quaker pancake flour for 5c. 2 lb. package. Every package is guaranteed fresh and put up by Quaker Oats People.

J. F. Foley,
Corner Walnut and Main streets, . . . PALMER, MASS.

Meekins, Packard & Wheat.

◆◆◆◆◆◆◆◆

A special sale of lace curtains.

A glance at the lines will convince you that we have the goods to select from. Let us help you in your purchases.

IRISH POINT CURTAINS in white and ecru, from $2.50 to 7.50 a pair. The choicest line of patterns ever seen here.

NOTTINGHAMS in white and ecru, from $1 to $3 a pair is a choice for every one who would purchase from this line.

SAXONY CURTAINS, imitations of the fin brussels, dainty patterns. Our line at $3.50 to $5.50 and $5 is exceedingly popular.

GREAT VALUES IN SWISS LACES at $5, $6 and $7.50. Equal to any shown heretofore at as much more.

Drapery department.

CARPETS.

Here's a little story that will interest carpet buyers.

$1 velvets at 85c a yard, made and laid.

$1.15 Axminsters at 85c a yard, made and laid.

There's a limited quantity of both, but patterns that you'll be glad to get. No risks to run on durability.

Best brussels at 85c and $1 a yard, made and laid.

Some of the best designs that have been brought out in floor coverings—there's a splendid variety to choose from.

Carpet department, first floor.

REMNANT CARPET ROOM.

Short lengths in brussels, Axminsters, tapestries and ingrains, moquettes and velvets at about HALF PRICE TO CLOSE.

In many enough for small hall or room.

Ingrain samples at 25c each. Brussels samples at 50c each.

Housekeepers will appreciate these.

Basement, carpet room.

◆◆◆◆◆◆◆◆

MEEKINS, PACKARD & WHEAT, SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

REVERE COFFEE. You are willing to go the whole length of Main street for good coffee. This will suit you—it suits others. W. E. STONE, Palmer.

It not only is so, it must be so, One Minute Cough Cure acts quickly, and that's what makes it go. LeGro & Lynde.

F. F. MARCY, PALMER, MASS. Wholesale and Retail Dealer in ALL KINDS OF LUMBER AND SHINGLES

Windows, doors, blinds, mouldings. Carpenters' and joiners' work done to order.

Also FIRE BRICK and CLAY for sale.

ard and shop at junction of B. & A. and N. L. N. Y. Railroads—west of Depot.

Groceries and dry goods. Shaw Brothers, Furniture and carpets.

Just opened a new department.
Tin ware and plumbing.

Give us a trial on anything you want.

STOVES AND RANGES, DRY AIR FURNACES.
ALSO STEAM AND HOT WATER FURNACES.

Call and see us and we will suit you in price and quality of work.

Hats and caps. Three Rivers, Mass. Boots and shoes.

FINEST ROAD-BED ON THE CONTINENT.

BOSTON & ALBANY RAILROAD.

Only Double-Track Route to the West.

ON AND AFTER DEC. 2, 1895.

Through Trains will Leave Boston as follows:

No. 7.—Day Express.
8:30 a. m.—Daily, except Sunday. Has Wagner buffet drawing-room car Boston to Albany, there connecting with through cars to all points West. Stops at Palmer 10.53 a. m.

No. 15.—Chicago Special.
10:30 a. m.—Daily. The finest train running in New England. A solid vestibuled Wagner train, comprising buffet, library and smoking car, sleeping cars and dining car Boston to Chicago, via the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern R. R., and also via Michigan Central R. R.

No. 19.—North Shore Limited.
2:00 p. m.—Daily. Has through vestibuled buffet sleeping cars Boston to Detroit and Chicago, via Michigan Central R. R. Dining car attached at Albany.

No. 23.—Cincinnati Express.
3:00 p. m.—Daily. Has through vestibuled buffet sleeping car Boston to Chicago via Lake Shore and Michigan Southern R. R., and to St. Louis and Cincinnati via Big Four Route. Stops at Palmer 5.20 p. m.

No. 9.—Pacific Express.
7:15 p. m.—Daily. Has through sleeping cars Boston to Chicago, via Michigan Central. Sleeping car Boston to Buffalo, parlor car Buffalo to Cleveland, sleeping car Cleveland to Chicago via Lake Shore & Michigan Southern.

No. 63.—Albany Express.
11:00 p. m.—Daily, except Saturday. Has sleeping car Boston to Albany. Stops at Palmer 1.46 a. m.

TRAINS LEAVE PALMER FOR BOSTON.

6.22 a. m.	Accommodation.
7.32 "	"	"
8.25 "	Daily Express.
10.00 "	Express, except Sunday.

"To Remove Paint.

"Sit down on it before it is dry."—(Texas Siftings.)

That's a good way—easy, too. And another way is to do your cleaning in the old-fashioned way with soap; the necessary rubbing takes off the paint along with the dirt, but this is very tiresome work. You ought to do your housecleaning with Pearline; that's the modern way—easiest and most economical way—takes away the dirt easily and leaves the paint. Saves rubbing, saves work, saves time, saves whatever is cleaned. Use Pearline (no soap) on anything that water doesn't hurt.

Millions NOW USE 455 Pearline

Become an Agent

and make money. Exclusive rights and all sales in your territory credited to you. These are the discounts on our $100

"Phœnix" Bicycle

—no better wheel has ever been made.

2 to 5	wheels,	- 15	per cent.
5 to 10	"	- 17½	"
10 to 15	"	- 20	"
15 to 20	"	- 22½	"
20 to 25	"	- 25	"
25 up	"	- 27	"

You will furthermore receive (in cash) the discount on the entire number of wheels you take and pay for up to August 30th, no matter how few ordered at the beginning.

Catalogues free for the asking.

Correspond with us at once or your territory may be taken by a neighbor.

STOVER BICYCLE MNFG. CO.,
575-577 Madison Ave., New York.

Salt Rheum

And Impure Blood Cured, says Mrs. Pierce of

AMHERST, MASS.

Mr. Geo. B. Pierce and his mother, proprietor of the Amherst, Mass., Creamery Association, relates the following experience:

"For a long time I suffered from Salt Rheum," said Mrs. Pierce, "but about two years ago I slipped and hurt my knee, which made it worse. I can't begin to tell the agony I was in, my limbs became a mass of raw flesh covered with running sores. My friends would say I could not live long, and I thought so too. Well, I heard of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy and Dr. David Kennedy's Salt Rheum Cream; I commenced using them, and in three weeks I walked out of doors. Last night I walked a mile, and I am sixty-three years of age, It shows that and Salt Rheum Cream can do more than the physicians, for they made me well after my doctor told me I was incurable. I must also tell you of another preparation Dr. Kennedy advised me to use, which did as much for me. It was Dr. David Kennedy's Cherry Balsam. I have had a wretched cough for the past fifteen years, the best doctors in the state united in saying that it was incurable, and that it was only a matter of time before my lungs would give out—my sleep was restless, I would lie awake for hours. I well recollect the first time I used Dr. Kennedy's Cherry Balsam. It relieved my throat at once, and I slept all through that night, the first full night's rest I had in several years. It seemed like a miracle. I took but two bottles and was cured.

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

Dr. David Kennedy's Cherry Balsam cures asthma, bronchitis, coughs, colds, incipient consumption, whooping cough or croup. Taken with Favorite Remedy, it never fails. Price 25c, 50c, and $1.00 a bottle. Dr. David Kennedy's Salt Rheum Cream is sold at 50c a package. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy costs $1.00 a bottle, or six bottles for $5.00.

Favorite Remedy ranks with the medical profession as the most perfect of all blood and nerve medicines. It restores the liver to a healthy condition, and cures constipation. It is a certain cure for all diseases peculiar to women, and affords protection from attacks that originate in change of life. It cures scrofula, salt rheum, tumors, rheumatism, dyspepsia, all kidney, bladder and urinary diseases, gravel, diabetes and Bright's disease. In this last disease it has cured where all else failed.

LARRABEE'S RHEUMATIC LINIMENT

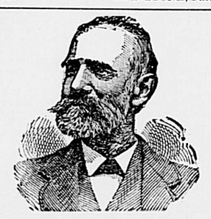
A standard and sovereign household remedy for over half a century. It is a wonderful curative agent in all painful diseases, such as

Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuralgia, Backache, Catarrh, Toothache,

and other painful ailments. To be had of all druggists, or by mail on receipt of 25 cents. Trade supplied by Geo. C. Goodwin & Co., or any wholesale druggist.

WINKLEMANN & BROWN DRUG CO.
BALTIMORE, MD., U. S. A.

INGRAIN CARPETS, 25c, 32½c, 42½c, 45c, 50c and 75c. W. E. STONE, Palmer.



F. M. EAGER.

Boots and Shoes Manufactured to Measure.

REPAIRING NEATLY DONE AT SHORT NOTICE.

Dealer in Sewing Machines and Supplies.

Machines to rent or sold on monthly payments.

F. M. EAGER, PALMER.

COPPER TEA KETTLES, nickled, full size, $1. W. E. STONE, Palmer.

BROOM BRUSHES, 3 for 25c. W. E. STONE, Palmer.

A Fiji Romance.

There was a young maid in Fiji,
And in number her lovers were three,
But which she loved best
She needed a test
To tell her, so doubtful was she.
So she stirred up a cannibal war
Till the whole land was reddened with gore,
And young man number one
Got slain with a gun—
Aut her heart was as light as before.

So she knew that she didn't love him,
That her fancy was only a whim,
But still there were two,
Both eager to woo,
And still her love's eyesight was dim.
But youth number two in a fight
Was captured one terrible night,
And they made him the meat
At a cannibal treat—
And she found that her heart was still light.

So she didn't love that one, she knew,
But she still was in doubt what do to,
For young man number three,
For all she could see,
Was no dearer than youth number two
But her fears in due time were allayed,
For the enemy made a fierce raid,
And, with arrow points filled,
Her last lover was killed—
And she lived and she died an old maid.
—Somerville Journal.

AMONG THE PARAGRAPHERS.

THE LADIES' SEWING CIRCLE.

They gathered at the house of Sister Bland,
They talked of science, of reform, and art,
They sewed some carpet rags together and
Then ripped a neighbor's character apart.
—Chicago Tribune.

He—"Do you find your typewriter a help?" She—"Yes, indeed! Why, I have been signing checks with it."—Life.

Lady—"See! There is an insect on my sleeve." Lieutenant—"Ah! Then it must be a rose-bug.—Humoristche Blaetter.

"Yes, the first five children had black hair, but the sixth was rather a chestnut." "Well, that seems appropriate enough."—Indianapolis Journal.

The burglar climbed over the office partition. "It is well to be on the safe side," he said. Then he began to work on the vault.—Chicago Evening Post.

Visitor—"You must have a mighty queer board of works here. This is the first town I ever saw where the streets were so much smoother than the sidewalks."

"Darling, did you sing any pretty songs at Sunday school?' "Yes, mamma; we sung a lovely one, about 'Greenland's ice cream mountains.' "—Chicago Record.

Kyckoff—"So Muggson has moved into his new home in Harlem—is he going to have a house-warming?" Kurdler—"I'm afraid not; it's a steam-heated flat."—Puck.

"What are you going to be when you grow up?" said Mr. Manchester to Sammy Snaggs. "I'm going to be a centenarian," replied Sammy.—Pittsburg Chronicle.

"Freddie, why did you drop the baby on the floor?" "Well, I heard everybody say it is a bouncing baby, and I wanted to see it bounce."—New York Hebrew American.

Good Samaritan—"Don't you know better than to drive that poor horse up hill so fast?" O'Connor—"Up hill, is it? Oh, begorra, the nag's blind and he can't see it!"—Pearson's Weekly.

"Dad, what's a running account?" It's an open account with a dry goods store, my son, which keeps your mother running down town all the time to buy something."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The cannibal chief—"We will open the ceremonies by stabbing the victim, then each in turn will drink his life's blood as it pours forth." The victim—"It looks as if I am to be stuck for the drinks."—Truth.

Absent-minded Party—"Why, how do you do, Barker? How's your wife?" Barker—"My wife? Why, my dear doctor, I never married." Absent-minded Party—"Really! Congratulate her for me."—Harper's Bazar.

A French lady of very elegant figure was recently asked why she always had such enormously stout servants. Her answer was characteristic: "To prevent them wearing my clothes when I am away from home."—Tid-Bits.

"Everything," she murmured, as she gazed on the wooded hill, when the frost had touched the leaves, "is turning to gold. Do you not enjoy it?" "No," he replied, without looking up. "I'm fer free silver."—Washington Star.

Editor (to office boy)—"I left some jokes on the desk here last night; have you seen them?" Office boy—"No, sir; me and the janitor spent half an hour studyin' 'em last night, an' neither of us could see a one of 'em, sir."—Vanity.

Employer (to new office boy)—"If any one calls, James, be sure and remember that I am not in." (Half an hour later)—"Didn't you hear me call, you young rascal?" James—"Yes, sir, but I t'ought yer wasn't in."—Tit-Bits.

"Why for eez it zat a woman's face eez used on zee silver dollar in zis country?" inquired a visiting foreigner. "Because," growled the impecunious native, "it is the idiom of our language that money talks."—Detroit Free Press.

"I am somewhat of a free and untrammeled child of nature," Dismal Dawson admitted, "but there is some good in civilization, nuvvertheless. Where would I be this sort of weather ef it wasn't fer the jails?"—Indianapolis Journal.

"I want to ask one more question," said little Frank, as he was being put to bed. "Well," acquiesced the tired mother. "When holes come in stockings, what becomes of the piece of stocking that was there before the hole came?"

"Arrested for having visible means of support?" they repeated after her, in wonder. The prisoner at the bar stood with bowed head. "Yes," she faltered, "my bloomers were not quite as full as the law contemplates, I guess."—Detroit Tribune.

Aunt Mandy (at concert)—"Now, what's the next thing to be done?" Uncle Josiah—"They're goin' to sing 'For a Thousand Years.'" Aunt Mandy—"For the land's sake, Josiah! You'd better sell the tickets or telegraph the children what's keepin' us!"—Mid Southern Monroe Monthly.

Sunday morning. Mamma—"Now, Johnny, I want you to tell me where you were yesterday afternoon. Your shoes are in a terrible condition, and your trousers are mud up to the waistband." "Johnny—"Didn't you tell me, mamma, that I should not talk about week-day matters on the Sabbath?"—Boston Transcript.

Mrs. S.—"By the way, I hear that Jupiter—the evening star—is worth seeing just now. Can either of you girls tell me where to look for it?" Bertha—"Yes, I can. It's exactly two yards and a half to the right of the Great Bear." Mrs. S.—"Two yards and a half! What on earth do you mean?" Bertha—"Well, I've measured it carefully with my umbrella!"—Punch.

$100 REWARD $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment; Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

☞ Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Spring

Is the season for purifying, cleansing, and renewing. The accumulations of waste everywhere are being removed. Winter's icy grasp is broken and on all sides are indications of nature's returning life, renewed force, and awakening power.

Spring

Is the time for purifying the blood, cleansing the system and renewing the physical powers. Owing to close confinement, diminished perspiration and other causes, in the winter, impurities have not passed out of the system as they should but have accumulated in the blood.

Spring

Is therefore the best time to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, because the system is now most in need of medicine. That Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood purifier and Spring medicine is proved by its wonderful cures. A course of Hood's Sarsaparilla now may prevent great suffering later on.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills cure Liver Ills; easy to take, easy to operate. 25c.

GREEN MOUNTAIN CHEESE.—Soft and rich. 10c each. W. E. STONE.

IF YOU WANT THE BEST GARDEN

in your neighborhood this season

PLANT OUR FAMOUS

SEEDS AND PLANTS

all of which are described and illustrated in our beautiful and entirely New Catalogue for 1896. A new feature this season is the Free delivery of Seeds at Catalogue prices to any Post Office. This "New Catalogue" we will mail on receipt of a 2-cent stamp, or to those who will state where they saw this advertisement, the Catalogue will be mailed Free!

PETER HENDERSON & CO.
35 & 37 Cortlandt St., New York.

GENDRON AND RELIANCE BICYCLES. Bicycles $100, $75. W. E. STONE, Palmer and North Wilbraham.

IN THE EDITORIAL SANCTUM.—Man (excited)—"I wish your paper would go to blazes!" Editor—"Why, what is the matter now?" Man—"You reported the day before yesterday that a burglar had got into my house, had broken open my writing desk, and stolen the money out of it, but fortunately the thief had not perceived the watch, which usually lies in another drawer." Editor—"Well, was not that correct?" "Correct enough, as far as that goes; only the vile scamp came again last night and collared the watch."—Ruhrbote.

Wholesome, pure and full of fruit.

NONE SUCH MINCE MEAT

is a luxury, but within the means of all. Accept no substitutes.

Send name and address for booklet, "Mrs. Popkins Thanksgiving."

Merrell-Soule Co., Syracuse, N. Y.

GINGHAM and calico aprons. W. E. STONE, Palmer.

it's a death tap at your life door. If you knew it you wouldn't neglect such a cough.

HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR

Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar is a simple remedy but it acts like magic in all cases of throat or bronchial trouble. Sold by druggists.

Pike's Toothache Drops cure in one minute.

COTTONS, brown, bleached and half bleached. All widths. W. E. STONE, dry goods, Palmer.

SOLD BY

. . SMITH, . .

THE Cash Grocer,

MAIN STREET, PALMER.

J. W. Pierce, Republic, Ia., says; "I have used One Minute Cough Cure in my family and for myself, with results so entirely satisfactory that I can hardly find words to express myself as to its merit. I will never fail to recommend it to others, on every occasion that presents itself." LeGro & Lynde.

OVERALLS, jumpers, pants and shirts. W. E. STONE, Palmer.

Piano and Banjo Lessons

given by

Misses Annie and Carrie Fish,

Palmer.

22-tf

WAS HE RIGHT OR WRONG?

"I have called you together," said the minister to the deacons, "to consult with you about the condition of the church as regards various forms of amusement. Affairs have reached a serious crisis, according to my view of the matter. What can be done to prevent the waste of spiritual energy now going on?"

Deacon A. scratched the top of his head, Deacon B. rubbed the end of his nose, and Deacon C. coughed in an embarassing manner.

Finally Deacon A. said: "I don't blame the pastor for feeling as he does. But I don't see that much of anything can be done. There has been a great deal of preaching on the subject. The pastor has certainly done his duty in that respect.

"Yes, he has laid down the principles of Christian conduct very plainly," said Deacon B.

"He certainly has," added Deacon C.

"And yet, brethren," continued the minister, after a brief but thoughtful pause, "what good has it all done? Do you know of one family that has given up any questionable amusement because of preaching?"

There was an awkward pause. The minister broke it by saying, calmly:

"Brethren, I have made up my mind to do something positive, and run my chances of being misunderstood and criticised. I am going to claim the right to do whatever my church members do."

Deacon A. stared at Deacon B., and Deacon C. stared at them, and then all three stared at the minister.

"Why—of—course—but how—what do you mean?" inquired Deacon A.

"I mean just what I say. My church members persist, in spite of all preaching and urging to the contrary, in dancing, playing cards, going to the theater and asserting that they have a perfect right to do those things. Very well; I shall claim the right to dance, play cards, go to the theater and smoke, and claim my liberty to do what my members do."

The audience looked aghast at the minister.

"But—it will create—er—remark—won't it?" anxiously inquired Deacon B.

"Undoubtedly. It creates remark now, only the 'remark' is all on one side. O, I'll arrange it all right!" and the minister calmly crossed his hands over his knee and smiled a little as he thought of his plan.

The three deacons looked at one another more perplexed than ever. Finally Deacon C. said, timidly: "But, you—really don't mean that you—er—will—er dance, and have card parties here at the parsonage—and—er—all that—really?"

"Of course I do. I shall simply claim the right to do what my church members do—won't that be all right? We are all members of the same church. The vows are no more binding on me than on them. We are all alike Christians, aren't we?"

"There seems to be a good deal of difference somewhere," replied Deacon A.

"I mean that there is no rule of the church which compels me to be any better, or to live on a higher moral plane, than any other church member, is there?"

"No—that is—well, of course you are expected to set an example—a—er—to be a little more careful than the others," said Deacon B.

"Did you mean that there is any rule of the church or of the Bible or of God that I should be better than other people because I am a minister?"

"No. I don't know—as there is—er—any rule. Nothing but custom. The people expect it."

"People are disappointed sometimes in their expectations. I am in mine," replied the minister. "And as I said I am going to turn over a new leaf, that is, new to me, and do what my church members do."

The deacons looked apprehensively at their minister. They had never seen him in this attitude before. And after a few feeble and scattering exclamations they retired.

For a week nothing unusual happened in the minister's parish. It was winter and a gay season in the capital city where he lived. Then one Tuesday night, when the usual faithful members had assembled at prayermeeting, Deacon A. received a note just before the hour for the beginning the meeting. He opened the note and read it, while a chill ran up and down his back as he did so. The note ran as follows:

Dear Deacon A:—Will you please lead the meeting to-night? At the last moment I decided to take my wife to the theater to see (here followed the name of a prominent actor) who is in town only to-night. I am sorry this occurs on meeting night, but a great many of the members will be at the theater so we will be in good company, and, as you know, I am very seldom absent. I expect to enjoy the play very much, as I have not seen anything of the kind for years.

Cordially, Your Pastor.

P. S. Please tell the people the reason I am not present.

When Deacon recovered from the dazed condition into which this communication threw him, he went forward, and murmuring something about the pastor's unavoidable absence, he led the meeting. But how it was led he never could relate.

The next day the church was informed of the minister's conduct. Very many of the members had seen him and his wife at the theater. Before night the parish was full of talk about it. The people were puzzled. Their minister had never acted so before.

As for the minister, he went about his work as if nothing unusual had occurred. He seemed to be perfectly happy. But the wonder and amazement of the parish grew almost into hysterics when, the Sunday following, another event made the theatrical incident appear very insignificant. It was during the reading of the notices that the minister remarked in a quiet, matter-of-fact tone, as if he were simply announcing an ordinary social:

"On Friday evening there will be a progressive high five party at the parsonage. The young people are especially invited. Will you please bring your own packs of cards, so there will be enough to go around?"

The effect of this simple statement on the congregation was simply indescribable. It is enough to say that, although the minister preached a splendid sermon on the value of Christian example, the church remained agitated over a different subject. The week following this Sunday contained a series of connected shocks to the minister's parish. Monday night it was ascertained that the minister had actually engaged to take dancing lessons of the principal dancing master in the city, and had been seen with his wife beginning the lessons at the dancing room. Tuesday afternoon he had been seen walking down the street smoking a cigar, and in the evening, when some people called, he was discovered still smoking, and he offered a cigar to his callers. Wednesday he went to the theater again, this time to a famous minstrel show, and was seen by more than twenty of his church members who were there.

By this time the church was excited and aroused to an unwonted degree.

Thursday evening the minister was at the meeting as usual. To his apparent surprise the vestry was crowded. People who had not been to prayermeeting for years were out this evening. At the close of the meeting, as the minister was about to give out the last hymn, one of the church officers rose and said he had been requested by various members of the church to ask for an explanation of the minister's remarkable conduct during the past week.

"In what respect has my conduct been remarkable?" meekly asked the minister in reply to the demand for an explanation.

"'In what respect! Remarkable.' Is it customary for a minister to dance and have card parties for his church at his home, and go to the theater on prayermeeting nights and smoke cigars on the streets?"

"But," said the minister, mildly, "have I done anything more than the members of this church do all the time? Are there not scores of them who dance and play cards, and smoke and go to the theater? Do I not have the right to do what they do?"

At first a great silence fell over the meeting as the minister put this question. Then a dozen members got up at once and attempted to speak. There was a unanimous objection to the conduct of the minister. It was said by all the members that the effect of his example was certainly very dangerous and much to be deplored.

"Brethren," replied the minister, firmly, after an exciting hour, "I shall claim my right to do what my church members do. There is no law of Christianity which compels me to be any holier than any other man, simply because I am a minister. There is not a member of this church who is not under the same moral law with me."

The meeting broke up in great excitement. During the week that followed the minister continued to dance, smoke, play cards and attend the theater. He performed his regular parish duties faithfully and preached two excellent sermons the next Sunday on the value of character. But the church was in an uproar of excitement. The next week a council was called by the church officers to examine into the conduct of their minister. After a long and painful session the council sustained the charges preferred against the minister and advised the church that he be discharged as unworthy the confidence and fellowship of the churches. When he was asked what reply he had to make to this decision, the minister still repeated the old statement.

"I claim the right to do what my church members in good standing do. If you disfellowship me you ought to treat them in the same way for doing the same things."

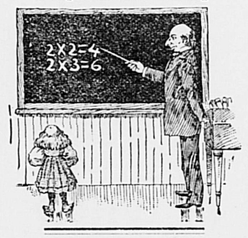
This, however, had no weight, and the council's decision was accepted as final by the church.

"Of course," said Deacon A., after it was all over, "it is out of the question for a church to have a minister who sets such an example to his pa.ish."

"Of course," said Deacon B.

"Of course," repeated Deacon C. "What else could be expected after such conduct?"—Rev. Charles M. Sheldon, in Congregationalist.

A Slight Miss-understanding.



LINCOLN'S GREAT HEART.

Will the world ever know what tenderness there was in the heart of Abraham Lincoln? An anecdote which we published several years ago brings out an instance in which his sympathies, awakened by a little child, nobly controlled his action. In one of the first skirmishes of the civil war a young Union soldier was so severely wounded in the leg that his limb had to be amputated. On leaving the hospital the young soldier, by the aid of an influential gentleman, obtained a position as a government weigher of hay and grain. Not long after he had entered upon his duties, his superior officer said to him:

"See here, Mr.—, this hay weighs so much on these scales; but to the Government it weighs more."

"I do not understand, sir, that way of doing business. I can enter but one weight, and that is the correct one," answered the young weigher.

His superior officer went away, uttering threats. The young man from that day suffered many petty persecutions for his honesty, and it was not long before he received notice that the Government had no further use for his services. The summary dismissal made him so down-hearted that when he told the story to his family he seemed like a man without hope.

"Father," replied the eldest daughter, a girl of thirteen, "cheer up! I am going to see President Lincoln; I know he will make it all right."

Her father and mother tried to turn her from her purpose, saying that it would be useless to see the President, as he would not attend to such a petty matter as the dismissal of a weigher of grain. But her faith in the president's sense of justice was so strong that she went to the White House, and after three days of patient waiting in the ante-room, was admitted to Mr. Lincoln's presence.

The hour for receiving visitors had nearly expired, and, as she entered, the President, throwing himself on a lounge, said wearily: "Well, my little girl, what can I do for you?"

She told her artless story, Mr. Lincoln listening attentively, and, with a smile added: "But, how, my dear, do I know your statement is true?"

"Mr. President," answered the girl with energy, "You must take my word for it."

"I do," replied the president, and taking her by the hand said, "Come with me to Mr. Stanton."

The Secretary listened to the child's story and was so moved by it that he indignantly exclaimed before she had finished: "The infernal rascal!" He went to the desk and wrote an order for the immediate dismissal of the dishonest official, and for the appointment of the little girl's father to the vacant place.

Mr. Lincoln never forgot the child; he told the story to several Congressmen, and through their influence her two brothers were enrolled among the pages of the House of Representatives.—The Advance.

THE BLACKSMITH'S CLOCK.—When Coleridge was staying among the Quantox hills, he was fond of riding over to Taunton whenever he could find a sober steed. One day, on a familiar route, his horse cast a shoe; and he stopped at a village to have it replaced. "What time is it?" he asked the smith, chiefly with the desire of making conversation. "I'll tell 'ee present, sir," said the man. Then he lifted up a hind foot of the horse, looked across it attentively, and added, "Half-past eleven." "How do you know?" asked Coleridge. "Do 'ee think as I've shoed horses all my life, and don't know by sign what o'clock it is?" The poet went away puzzled, but he returned that evening and offered the blacksmith a shilling to show him how he could tell time by a horse's hoof. "Just you get off your horse, sir," said the smith, with a twinkle in his eye. "Now, do 'ee stoop down and look through the hole in you pollard ash, and you'll see the church clock!"—Methodist Recorder.

ENTITLED TO ALL PRIVILEGES—It was on the Stanton Island ferry boat, sun shining, air crisp. Every seat was occupied. Each occupant felt the influence and prepared for an enjoyable sail, when she appeared dragging by the hand a screaming child. There she stood, glowering. The mild lady suggested the child might be in pain. The old bacheldor muttered that people who would have children should keep them at home. Low voiced but distinct imprecations were now rife. She took not the slightest heed of the muttering or the bawling, which were now at the highest pitch, till the suggestion that oil of birch would do it good was offered. Then she rose, as it were, and, giving the child a vigorous shake, said:

"Ethel, cry as loud as you want to. I've paid your fare."—Judge.

One Day at a Time.

One day at a time I would end my life;
I would not even look
At the page ahead, or the page behind,
In Fate's mysterious book.

"Sufficient unto the present day
Is the evil thereof" to me:
Or if, perchance, it bringeth joy,
That only would I see.

One day at a time I would live my life;—
Why should I the past recall—
Or let the weight of future cares
Upon my spirit fall?

One day at a time I will struggle on,
And pray for my daily bread;
And from the abundance of God's hand
I know I shall be fed.

One day at a time I would live my life,
Nor fret o'er earth's alarms:
For e'er beneath me, thro' the strife,
Are the "Everlasting Arms."
—Exchange.

A REMINISCENCE OF GEN. GRANT AS PRESIDENT.

During the last administration of Grant there chanced to be a young man in one of the departments, who, like so many others than and now, had entered on that horrible declivity which begins with the gilded tippling saloons and ends—who shall tell where? He was a capable clerk and his sprees and shortcomings were condoned for the sake of his honored father, Senator—. But the road was sure; and in time, with a discharge in his pocket and a drunkard's record behind him, step by step he passed the down grade of dispation, until wife, children, and friends cut loose, and the quondam gentleman slept in the parks and lived on charity. He was abandoned by all—all save the angel of mercy hovering near, though unseen. A temperance reform movement claimed him as a trophy and he began the upward struggle. Wife and children came back; but who believes in a "reformed drunkard?" It was a struggle for years to find bread for the little ones, but he fought bravely, and, disappointing those who looked for his failure, he held on, and even saved others from going over the precipice. President Grant, who had known his father, heard of his struggle and sent for him. Congratulating him on his reform, he said:

"I want to help you; what can I do?"

"I want work," was the reply.

"You shall have it. Where would you prefer to go—in new scenes or old?"

The young man said: "Send me, sir, where I left a blackened record. It may encourage others if I regain a good name, and I would be more useful in my former position."

The president wrote a note to the secretary of that department and handed it to the young man, who left, but ere long returned with an anxious face.

"The secretary sent out word that my application would go on file!"

The president, with an ironclad expletive said:

"You can't put your wife and children on file can you?" Writing another note and handing it to him, he said:

"Give this in person and bring me an answer." Armed with this missive he confronted the awful presence beyond the baize doors and met an impatient refusal.

"What shall I tell the president?" he calmly inquired.

"That there are no vacancies."

When this was delivered at the White House, the imperturbable Grant, biting the end of a cigar, seized a red ink pen and wrote across the face of his former note: "Make a vacancy, or I will!" "Take that and bring his answer!"

Yet again did the young man return unsuccessful. The president obtained temporary employment for his friend, taking him in person to another department, and awaited the cabinet meeting the following day. Here the president was as quietly imperturbable as a sphinx. As the members left the room the president followed Secretary —— to the door and said:

"By the way, Mr. Secretary, whom would you recommend for you successor?" The astonished gentlemen replied, and passing into another department, wrote a hasty resignation and sent it in. He was relieved of his portfolio the following day.

The young man made excellent use of the faith shown in him by this wonderful judge of character, and rose to a position of eminent usefulness and respectability, which he occupies to-day in one of the largest cities of our land. So did the friendless stranger win his place and the honorable secretary lose his because the warrior chief had traced his course in lurid characters, not with sword tip, but with pen," "Make a vacancy, or I will," and now, as of yore, to say was to do, and the man who would "fight it out on this line, etc., undeviating, kept his word.—Ex.

HAIR IN WEDDING DRESSES.

In pulling to pieces her wedding dress with a view to the reconstruction of the same, a lady recently found in certain parts of the hem of the skirt a quantity of small tufts of hair, varying greatly in color, and evidently coming from different heads. Inquiries were made of a dressmaker who had a very extensive business. "Why," she replied laughingly, "almost every dressmaker knows the reason of that, and I have no doubt thousands of wedding dresses are turned out every year with quite a collection of hair in them, for all the unmarried girls and women in establishments like mine believe that to sew a lock of hair in a wedding garment will bring a prosperous husband within the next twelve months, and I have known, in big places of business, cases where thirty or forty separate small tufts or separate hairs have been sewn into one wedding garment.

"This is especially the case with the richer and more costly dresses, and as most brides of wealthier classes keep their wedding dresses intact for many years, the finding of the hair seems to be quite a mystery when an old wedding dress is unpacked. To show that the custom is an old one, I have heard of wedding dresses fifty years old having these hairs found in them. In some establishments the placing of hairs is forbidden. I am sure I don't know why, but the rule in always evaded, and the girls generally have fine fun in concealing hairs about a dress."—Boston Post.

All Free.

Those who have used Dr. King's New Discovery know its value, and those who have not, have now the opportunity to try it free. Call on the advertised druggists and get a trial bottle, free. Send your name and address to H. E. Bucklen & Co., Chicago, and get a sample box of Dr. King's New Life Pills, free, as well as a copy of Guide to Health and Household Instructor, free. All of which is guaranteed to do you good and cost you nothing. LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

Free Pills.

Send your address to H. E. Bucklin & Co., Chicago, and get a free sample box of Dr. King's New Life Pills. A trial will convince you of their merits. These pills are easy in action and are particularly effective in the cure of constipation and sick headache. For malaria and liver troubles they have been proved invaluable. They are guaranteed to be perfectly free from every deleterious substance and to be purely vegetable. They do not weaken by their action, but by giving tone to the stomach and bowels greatly invigorate the system. Regular size 25c per box. Sold by LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

THE BEST SALVE in the world for cuts bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

IMPROVIDENT CANADIAN INDIANS.

In Canada the white man provides provender for the winter. He lays in a store of frozen meat, frozen game, frozen fish, and frozen milk. He has vegetables in his cellar, stacks of firewood at his door, and has his larder well stocked with all the necessaries and many of the luxuries of life. The Indians, except those now becoming civilized, do none of these things. A fatalist could not be more apathetic on the subject of his next meal than is the Red Indian, even when the prairie is beneath two feet of snow, must be so for many months, and the thermometer lingers day after day at 30 degrees below zero, with an occasional dip to 40 degrees. The wild Indian in winter starves; he starves himself. Two winters ago I was among the Stony Indians, on the lake-dotted plains of Alberta, almost within sight of the Rockies. There was not one of them who possessed more than a day's food, except the chief, who had had the foresight to grow and store a few bushels of potatoes. They subsisted by netting fish from beneath the frozen surface of a lake; they shot partridges and rabbits. Whenever they did so they feasted.

If a day came when the fish could not be caught, and the rabbits and partridges would be shot—why, then they fasted and smoked kinikinik (the inner bark of the red willow). While I was with them two squaws, after three days' sport, shot a bear, some rabbits and some partridges. One would have thought that experience would have dictated to them the expediency of freezing these for judicious consumption. Not so, however, but as Carlyle would say: "Just the opposite of so." The Indian is anything but selfish. He will not feast while his neighbors fast. On this occasion a grand dancing party was convened, the whole of the spoil was cooked; the next day not a mouthful was left, and the feasters slept the sleep of the gorged.—Westminster Review.

"Miss Octave is a beautiful player." "You mean she plays beautifully." "No; that's exactly what I don't mean!"—Chicago Record.

Dangerous Drugs.

Avoid the use of white or pink headache powders, they contain dangerous drugs. Taylor's Anti-Headache Powders are brown; they look like ground coffee and they have a delightful aromatic taste. Try them once and you will never be without them. Get them of LeGro & Lynde.

35 cents

Colds are serious things. They lead to worse things. A cold is the seed of consumption. Croup is a cold's half-brother—it is generally caused by cold, and many a little life has been snuffed out by it because the proper remedy was not at hand.

Dr. Hooker's Cough and Croup Syrup

gives relief at once. It has saved thousands of lives. Every mother should see that it is always in the house. Don't wait till you need it—that may be too late. Contains no opium—absolutely safe—endorsed by physicians for 50 years. Made only by Charles B. Kingsley, Northampton, Mass.

at Drug Stores

A cold wave.

Think about winter medicines. There needn't be many of them, but they should be right. Something for the cough and something for the digestion—perhaps that's all. Try our CLIMAX COUGH CURE for the first—it suits every time, and SHAKER'S DIGESTIVE CORDIAL for the second. They are medicines that are effective. If there is anything else you want we have it, and shall be glad to supply your needs in the line of medicines, prescriptions or sundries at the lowest rates.

O. P. ALLEN, DRUGGIST,
Holden's Block, Palmer.

A combination of leavening agents that are pure, strong and pre-eminently satisfactory in their action, has resulted in

BOSS BAKING POWDER

which is "The kind Boss makes his biscuits with" and has for 32 years. Over 3,000,000 pounds sold in the past year testify to their popularity.

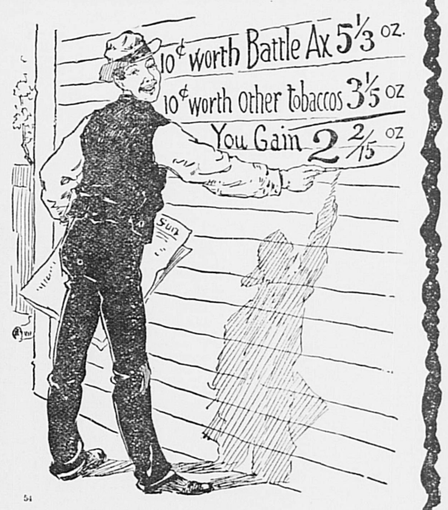
MANUFACTURERS C. D. BOSS & SON, NEW LONDON, CONN.



BattleAx PLUG

GREAT BIG PIECE FOR 10 CENTS

5⅓ ounces for 10 cents. You may have "money to burn," but even so, you needn't throw away 2 ounces of good tobacco. For 5 cents you get almost as much "Battle Ax" as you do of other high grades for 10 cents.

"THRIFT IS A GOOD REVENUE." GREAT SAVING RESULTS FROM CLEANLINESS AND

SAPOLIO

HINDERCORNS.
The only sure Cure for Corns. Stops all pain. Ensures comfort to the feet. Makes walking easy. 15cts. at Druggists.

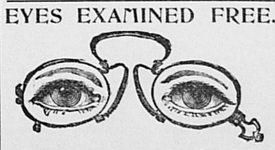
CATARRH.

is a LOCAL DISEASE and is the result of colds and sudden climatic changes. It can be cured by a pleasant remedy which is applied directly into the nostrils. Being quickly absorbed it gives relief at once.

Ely's Cream Balm

is acknowledged to be the most thorough cure for nasal catarrh, cold in head and hay fever of all remedies. It opens and cleanses the nasal passages, allays pain and inflammation, heals the sores, protects the membrane from colds, restores the senses of taste and smell. Price 50c. at druggists or by mail. ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren St., New York.

EYES EXAMINED FREE.



Dr. Vineberg, Refraction Specialist,

wishes to inform sufferers of headache or nervous complaints arising from defective vision, can be cured by having glasses properly fitted to the ey

The Palmer Journal.

VOLUME XLVII. PALMER, MASS., FRIDAY EVENING, APRIL 10, 1896. NUMBER 2.

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY EVENING
—BY—
C. B. FISKE & CO.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.—Two dollars a year. A discount of 25 cents to those who pay in advance. Six months, $1.00; three months, 50 cents; single copies, Agents.

ADVERTISING RATES.—One inch (or twelve lines of this type solid) 75 cents for the first insertion, 25 cents for the second, 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. Short advertisements, "Wanted," "To Let," etc., one cent a word for the first insertion, one-half cent a word each subsequent insertion, cash; no charge less than 25 cents. Notices in local column, 15 cents per line. Liberal rates to yearly advertisers.

JOB PRINTING of all kinds executed in the best styles, promptly and at reasonable rates.

C. B. FISKE. L. E. CHANDLER.

[Entered at Post Office as second class matter.]

LOCAL BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

PALMER.

ALLEN, O. P., Wholesale and Retail Druggist and Bookseller.

BARTON, F. D., Dealer in Watches, Clocks and Jewelry, Main street.

BILLS, G. A., Fresh and Salt Beef, Pork, Ham, Lard, Tripe, etc.

BROOKS, EDWIN E., Graduate Optician. With E. S. Brooks, Jeweler, Main street.

BROOKS, E. S., Dealer in Watches, Clocks, Jewelry, Solid Silver and Plated Ware, Main street.

BROWN, C. A. & CO., Hardware, Furnaces, Stoves, Ranges, Paints, Oils and Glass.

BROWN, S. H., Trucking, Light Jobbing, Piano Moving. Order box cor. Main and Walnut streets. Orders can also be left at J. F. Foley's store.

CARPENTER, Mrs. L. E., Millinery and Fancy Goods. Also dealer in Human Hair Goods.

CHANDLER BROS., Bicycles.

CLARK & HASTINGS, Wholesale Dealers in Armour & Co's. Dressed Beef, Provisions, Main St.

EAGER, F. M., Boot and Shoe Manufacturer to Order, and dealer in Leather and Findings.

FISKE, C. B. & CO., Publishers PALMER JOURNAL and WARE STANDARD. Fine Book and Job Printers and Bookbinders.

FITCH, A. E., Law and Insurance, Savings Bank Block.

FRANCIS, R. B., Iron Foundry and Machine Shop.

GAMWELL, C. K., Ready made Clothing, Hats, Caps, Gent's Furnishings, etc.

GARDNER, CHAS. L., Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Church street.

GOODES, E., Palmer Boot and Shoe Store, corner Main and Thorndike streets.

HAMILTON, J. A., Dealer in all kinds of Coal, Wood, Grain, Flour, Baled Hay and Straw. Fertilizers and Stock Food. Main street.

HOLBROOK, C. D., Flour, Grain, Feed and Mason's Supplies, Main street.

HOLBROOK, J. F., Dealer in all kinds of Coal. Agent for National and White Star line of steamers. Drafts on Foreign Banks at lowest rates.

LEACH, W. W., Attorney at Law.

LeGRO & LYNDE, Druggists and Newsdealers, Paper Hangings, Shades, Lamps and Fixtures.

MARCY, F. P., Dealer in Lumber, Shingles, etc., wholesale and retail. West of B.&A.R.R. depot.

MARCY, OSCAR C., Livery and Feed Stable, rear of Converse House.

PALMER WATER CO., Office, Lawrence Block. Office hours to October 1, from 8.30 to 10 a. m., from 2 to 3 p. m.

SHAW, J. B., Dealer in Dry Goods, Groceries, etc. Opposite the depot.

WHITE, C. W., Marble and Granite Works. No. 1 Thorndike street.

WOOLRICH & CO., Manufacturers of Ridge's Food, Thorndike street.

THORNDIKE.

ADAMS, A. P., Druggist, Toilet Articles, Confectionery and Cigars.

BONDSVILLE.

HOLDEN, C. L., Dry Goods, Groceries, Clothing Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps, etc.

MORIARTY, M., Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots Shoes, Coal. Agt White Star and Anchor SS Co's

WARE.

ALBERTINE, J. A. Choice Fruits, Tobaccos, Cigars and Confectionery. Low Prices.

DAVIS INSURANCE AGENCY represents the best companies and gives lowest rates.

DWIGHT, R. N., Harness, Horse Saddlery, Hardware. Repairing a Specialty. Next to Bank.

EDDY, C. W. Job and Fine Art Printer.

EDDY, MISS MATIE K. Teacher of Oil Painting and Crayon. Sketching or Art Work completed to order.

ELDREDGE, A. HENRY. Sign Painter. Carriages painted in the best manner. West Street.

HARLOW, A. B. Photographer. Instantaneous process only. Opposite the Bank.

HOSMER, F. N. Clothier. Hats, Caps, Gents' Furnishing Good, etc. Sanford's Block.

MARSH, F. E. Gold, Silver and Nickel Plater. Replating tableware a specialty. 7 Bank street.

PRIEST, J. E. Ware Steam Laundry. Carpet cleaning. Office at H. M. Clark's.

RICHARDSON, A. F. Dealer in Boots, Shoes and Rubbers of all kinds. Sagendorph's Block.

ROBINSON, JOHN F. Furniture, Sewing Machines, Pictures, Hardware, Paints and Farming Tools.

SIBLEY, J. B. Hardware, Tools, Agricultural Implements, Paints, Oils and Artists' materials.

SMITH, G. H. W. Jeweler. Watches, Clocks and Spectacles. Repairing in the best manner.

SULLIVAN & STRONG, Ware Cooperative Laundry. Fine Work and Carpet Cleaning. Office, 50 Main Street.

TURNER, H. H. Bookseller and Stationer, and dealer in Paper Hangings, Musical Instruments and Sheet Music.

MONSON.

GROUT, GEO. E. Dealer in Watches Clocks, Jewelry, etc. Towne's Block.

NEWTON, GEO. H., Law Office, Notary Public, Insurance, etc., near Gage's store.

SQUIER & CO., Dealers in Grain, Feed, Hay, Straw, Lumber, Shingles and Building Material.

WARREN.

KELLEY, W. H., Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Quaboag Block, Warren, Mass.

SOCIETY DIRECTORY.

MONSON.

MT. ELLA LODGE, No. 184, A. O. U. W. Meets first and third Tuesdays of each month in A. O. U. W. Hall, Monson
FISK G. ROGERS, M. W., F. J. ENTWISTLE, Rec.

THE Yellow Fellow

is all right. And so are our line of

Warwicks,
Stearns,
Eclipse,
Envoys,
Crescents,
Pierce.

Give us a call. We are only too glad to talk with you.

WHEELS CLEANED AND REPAIRED.

E. A. Buck & Co.,
Cross Block,
PALMER.

A high liver with a torpid liver will not be a long liver. Correct the liver with DeWitt's Little Early Risers, little pills that cure dyspepsia and constipation. LeGro & Lynde.

$350 UPRIGHT PIANO, rosewood case, fully warranted for seven years. Used six months; will sell for $300, payable $2 per week without interest. Call and see it at store of W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Fashionable ...Ladies

Know that the secret of perfect dressing is in a modern, up-to-date Corset. Moreover, it leads to a quiet consciousness of being well dressed, with a trim figure, graceful contour and stylish appearance that no other agency can bestow.

ROYAL WORCESTER CORSETS

Answer all requirements.
Designed by Experts.
Latest Models.
Fashioned to fit.

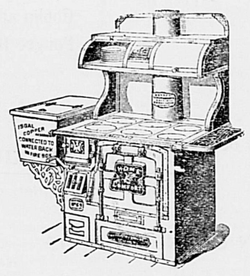
YOU'LL FIND THEM WITH

T. H. TODD, MONSON.

ASK FOR KABO No. 356

A perfect fitting corset for general wear, as well as for all athletic sports.
Price $1.00
For sale by D. L. BODFISH, Palmer.

There is one DRESS STAY that
Won't melt apart,
Can't cut through the dress,
Don't stay bent.
It is
BALL'S PEERLESS.
All lengths; all colors.



RUSSELL, MASS., March 14th, 1896.

Gentlemen:—One of the divisions of the Wrought Iron Range Co. of St. Louis, Mo., under the management of S. McCort, Supt., has been located in our midst for the past two months, and while here disposed of a large number of their celebrated Home Comfort Ranges, and as far as we have been able to learn the ranges are giving universal satisfaction. The dealings and conduct of these gentlemen we have found to be above reproach. We understand they are about to depart for a new field of labor, and we, the undersigned citizens, cheerfully recommend them to any community.

H. W. Arms, hotel proprietor.
William Mortimore.
Horace Parks, station agent B. & A. R. R.
L. S. Boynton, general merchandise and post office.
T. H. Clark, selectman and merchant.
E. D. Parks, postmaster.
W. S. Lincoln, Supt. Blandford B. & T. Co
Robert L. Parks, manager W. U. Tel. Co., Agent Am. Exp. Co.
A. S. Quensee, selectman.

Horse Blankets.

A full line, for both stable
.....and street use.....

375 BLANKETS IN STOCK.

PRICES RIGHT.

D. W. Foskit,
Foskit's Mills.

DRS. HUDSON & BARDEN,
DENTISTS.

Having severed connection with Dr. W. L. Roberts, we have opened an office in the PHOENIX, 307 MAIN ST, SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

By our exclusive method we guarantee to
FILL TEETH WITHOUT PAIN,
And by a simple application to the gums we are enabled to extract fully 95 per cent of all teeth WITHOUT PAIN.
Positively no injury to teeth or gums, and no physiological ill-effect to patient.
Artificial teeth on rubber, aluminium and gold bases.
All work guaranteed. Take elevator.
Drs. HUDSON & BARDEN,
307 Main Street, Springfield, Mass.

For the bath.

Soaps, sponges, brushes, toilet waters and powders, sea salt, etc.

Proper bathing is a luxury. The things cost but little if bought of us.

LeGRO & LYNDE,
Next to Post Office,
PALMER.

KIBBE BROS. PEPPERMINTS, 15c a pound, two pounds for 25c.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

GENUINE REDUCTION SALE

FOR 15 DAYS ONLY—
OF NEW PIANOS.

We have discontinued agencies of some well known pianos, and to make room for a new stock of SOHMER, NEWSBY & EVANS and PRINCE & SON PIANOS,
We offer sweeping discounts on the following list;

Piano.	Former Price.	Reduction Price.
2 Knabe,	$850	$115
1 Fischer,	325	285
1 Haines & Co.,	350	275
1 Knabe,	600	485
3 Gildermeester & Kroeger,	550	420
2 Fischer,	450	310
1 Haines Bros.,	450	350
4 Brambach,	300	260
2 Fischer,	425	305

All the above new, perfect and fully warranted.

There are choice bargains in the following list of

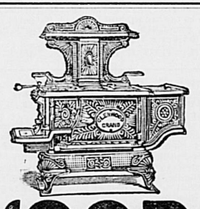
SECOND-HAND PIANOS.

Piano.	Former Price.	Reduction Price.
1 New England,	$300	$150
2 Haines Bros.,	325	175
1 Weber,	550	400
3 Haines Bros.,	350	275
1 Brambach,	375	270
1 Pease,	325	200
1 Haines Bros.,	375	250
1 Kranich & Bach Grand,	700	475
1 Haines Bros.,	375	225
1 Gildermeester & Kroeger,	500	375

All the above little used and in perfect order.
THIS SALE FOR 15 DAYS ONLY.

TAYLOR'S
Music House,
412 MAIN STREET, SPRINGFIELD.

Could every housewife know how much time, trouble and labor is saved and how easy cooking is made with a



GLENWOOD RANGE she would USE NO OTHER.

For sale in all prominent cities and towns throughout New England. | Made by THE WEIR STOVE CO., Taunton, Mass.

High Grade Novelties in Boys' Clothing.

Our line of boys' and children's clothing is very large, the largest we have ever attempted to show. Many styles are exclusive with us. We have them in worsteds, Scotch plaids, cheviots, cassimeres.

In the 2-piece suits, age 7 to 15, $1.98 to 6.50.
Reefer suits, age 3 to 8, $1.98 to 6.00.
Brownie suits, age 3 to 7, $2.50 to 5.00.
Middy suits, Washable sailor suits, 43c to $3.50.

FULL DRESS SUITS.

We carry as a high novelty, a princely dress suit, made only in real fine cloth for special occasion, and cut "Tuxedo" style, age 6 to 10, for $6.50.

GRAND DISPLAY OF BOYS' LONG PANT SUITS. Each suit showing grace and beauty. Age 14 to 20. $3.50 to $15.

COMPLETE LINE OF BOYS' HATS AND CAPS. A grand assortment of derbys and fedoras; colors and shapes in bicycle caps without number. Prices ranging from 25c to $1.48.

MEIGS & CO.
383-385 Main St., SPRINGFIELD.

SMITH & MURRAY.
SPRINGFIELD.

Women's dresses.

Such an array of tailor-made dresses as will delight any woman. Leadership as sellers of women's garments was won by painstaking work. It is maintained by excelling our own best efforts. The same is true of our suit business. Helpful hints follow, but reading of dresses is poor fun when you can so easily enjoy seeing them.

At $7.50.

Cutaway costume, made from black and blue cheviot; full sleeves and three-quarter lined with satin rhadame; seams all bound. Skirt is wide, lined throughout with cambric and finished with velveteen binding.

At $15.00.

Walking costumes of novelty cloth; the new London reefer coat, lined throughout with satin rhadame; full wide skirt, lined throughout with cambric and velveteen binding.

At $19.50.

Handsome tailor-made costume of mixed cloths, silk lined jacket, 5½ yards wide skirt. Cannot be matched less than $25.

At $25.00.

Costumes made of fine imported fabrics, silk lined jackets, beautifully made.

A few finer suits, some of them imported, at $35 and $50.

Second floor, take elevator.

SMITH & MURRAY.
SPRINGFIELD.

Waist ruined for the want of the Canfield Dress Shields.

A Ruined Gown

Is generally the result when inferior dress shields are used The only certain remedy is

Canfield Dress Shields.

We agree to replace any dress damaged by perspiration when the Canfield Shield has been properly attached.

Ask for and insist upon having "Canfield Dress Shields."

CANFIELD RUBBER COMPANY,
NEW YORK,
LONDON AND PARIS.

For sale by dealers everywhere.

Trade-Mark on every Shield.

And in MONSON by GAGE BROS., and W. N. FLYNT & SONS.

It not only is so, it must be so, One Minute Cough Cure acts quickly, and that's what makes it go. LeGro & Lynde.

Insurance

of every kind placed at short notice, and all favors duly appreciated.

Yours truly,
S. H. HELLYAR.

Do They Miss Me at Home?

Do they miss me at home, do they miss me?
'T would be an assurance most dear
To know that this moment some loved one
Were saying, I wish he were here.
To feel that the group at the fireside
Were thinking of me as I roam,
Oh, yes, 't would be joy beyond measure,
To know that they missed me at home.

When twilight approaches, the season
That ever is sacred to song,
Does some one repeat my name over,
And sigh that I tarry so long?
And is there a chord in the music
That's missed when my voice is away,
And a chord in each heart that awaketh
Regret at my wearisome stay?

Do they set me a chair near the table
When evening's home pleasures are nigh,
When the candles are lit in the parlor,
And the stars in the calm azure sky?
And when the "good-nights" are repeated,
And all lay them down to their sleep,
Do they think of the absent, and waft me
A whisper'd "good-night" while they weep?

Do they miss me at home—do they miss me
At morning, at noon, or at night?
And lingers one gloomy shade round them,
That only my presence can light?
Are joys less invitingly welcome,
And pleasures less hale than before,
Because one is missed from the circle,
Because I am with them no more?

A SORDID AFFAIR.

"My dear, what a perfectly charming bodice! I mean the Louis quinze, with the vest of white chiffon de soie."

"Ah, but do look at that skirt of old rose silk, brocaded a la Pompadour, and trimmed with duchess lace!"

"But you know, Alice, my favorite of them all is that satin foulard, the gray one, gouffred at the neck. It is so lovely, I think, and exactly my measurements, for I went in and inquired."

'Then why not have it?"

"My dear! Fifteen guineas? It was dreadful. Now if it had been ten, I might have managed it."

The speakers were two well-dressed ladies, standing in front of one of the largest plate-glass windows in Bond street, and gazing up at the dense group of slim headless figures in prim straight-cut, tailor-made costumes, or in evening dresses of many strange neutral tints which were the rage of the moment. They had raised their voices in their excitement, and gave little clutches at each other's wrists as they compared notes about the treasures in front of them. Close behind them stood a plainly-clad, middle-aged woman, with a sad, wrinkled face, and the air of one who had found the world anything but a play-ground. She had stood gazing with a critical eye at the various costumes, and listening with a half smile to the comments of the ladies beside her, but at the last remark she looked earnestly at the speaker, and put her hand out timidly toward her to attract her attention.

"If you please, ma'am," she said, "I could do that for you."

The lady looked round in surprise.

"What could you do, my good woman?"

"A dress the exact same as that one at every point for ten pounds."

"You could do it?"

"Yes, ma'am. You'll excuse my speaking to you, but I could not help hearing what you said, and I know that I could give you satisfaction. I did all Madame Davouet's work when she was court dressmaker."

The lady looked inquiringly at her companion. "What do you say, Louise?"

"Well, my dear, if you wish such a dress. You need not pay unless you are satisfied with it."

"No, of course not. What is your name, please?"

"Mrs. Raby."

"Well then, Mrs. Raby, you quite understand that I shall require the dress to be absolutely as well finished as the one in the window, material and cut identical."

"Yes, ma'am."

"And it must be ready by next Monday before ten o'clock."

"Very well, madame."

"And your price is ten pounds, inclusive."

"Ten pounds, madame.

"I have your solemn promise that the dress shall be the same, and that I shall have it on Monday by ten?"

"I promise you, madame."

"Well, then, you may call this afternoon, and take your measurements. Mrs. Clive is the name, 73 Palace Garden." She gave a nod and turned again to her companion, while the dressmaker, with another very critical glance at the window, hurried upon her way.

A busy morning lay before her, for her foulard was to be purchased at one shop, her linings at another, her braid and buttons at yet another, all down in the depths of the city away from West-end prices. At last, with her arms full of brown paper parcels, she gained her 'bus, and drove out to Brompton, where in a quiet side street of two-storied houses, a small brass plate, "Mrs. Raby, costumer and dressmaker," showed where she carried on her modest business.

In the front room an assistant was whirring away upon a hand sewing-machine, running a seam down the edge of a dress, while all around her lay heaped masses of cloth, gray strips of lining and rolls of braid.

"Whose is that, Anna?" asked Mrs Raby.

"It is Mrs. Summerton's." The assistant was a broad-faced, good-humored girl, with red hair and freckles.

"Ah, you must be very careful with it. She is most particular. The front cut straight, and the back gored and cut on the cross."

"Yes, Mrs. Raby. It's coming out fine."

"I have a new job, a foulard dress, which must be ready Monday. This is the stuff and I shall have the measurements this evening. It will take us all our time. Is Mr. Raby in?"

"Yes, he came in half an hour ago"

"Where is he?"

"In the back room."

Mrs. Raby closed the door, and went into the next apartment. A small man, black-bearded and swarthy, was seated at a side-table, stooping over a box of colors and a small piece of oval ivory, upon which he was beginning to paint a background. He was a peaky, irritable-looking person, with sunken cheeks, a nervous manner, and a blue ribbon in his button-hole.

"It is no use, Helen," he said, "I can't paint till I have an order."

"But how ever are you to get an order if you don't show folks what you can do? Why don't you paint me, John, and hang me up in a case outside the door."

"I want something that will look nice and attractive," said he, petulantly. She laughed good-humoredly. "Paint me as you remembered me when you first met me, then," said she.

"Ah, you were different then."

"Well, if I am, you ought to know, John, what it is that has changed me. It has not been an easy life for me this twenty years."

"Well, I'm sure I don't know what more I can do. I've taken the ribbon to please you."

"Yes, John, dear, you've dropped the drink, and God bless you for it."

"Six months since I had a taste."

"And aren't you better for it in health, happiness and everything? I always knew that if you were to get away from those other clerks, you would be all right. Now you are a clerk no longerr. You're an artist."

"Yes, but I earned money as a clerk, and I have made none as an artist. I don't see that I am the gainer by the change."

"Ah, I'd rather starve dear, and have you a sober man. Besides, I can earn enough for both while you are gradually getting a few customers.

"Sitters!"

"Oh, yes, sitters. But you must go to them, or they will never come to you. Why look at me! I heard two ladies talking in the street, and by pushing myself in I got a ten-pound job."

"Did you, though?"

"Yes, this very morning. My stuff will cost from five to six, but there should be four pounds profit". She took a key from her pocket, unlocked a drawer in a side-table, and, taking a tin box out, unlocked that also.

"We have fifteen pounds here," said she, turning out a small heap of gold. "We'll make it twenty soon, and then I can afford to hire another assistant."

Her husband looked wistfully at the gold. "It seems hard that you should put away all the money, and I should go about without a half crown in my pocket," said he.

"I don't want your pocket to be empty, John, but you don't need more than sixpence. It is only putting yourself in the way of temptation."

"Well, anyway, I ought to be head in my own family. Why don't you give me the key, and let me have the keeping of the money?"

"No, no, John; it is my earning, and I'll have the keeping. What you want I'll buy for you, but what I save I must have in my own hands."

"A pretty thing, too!" He went back to his painting with a snarl, while she very carefully locked up her small treasure again and then returned to the work-room. She had hardly turned her back when he sprang from his seat, rushed to the table and took two wicked little tugs at the drawer, but all was fast, so he slunk back, cursing under breath, to his paints and his ivory.

That afternoon Mrs. Raby called at Palace Gardens, obtained her measurements, and forthwith set to work with might and main upon the dress. It was a Thursday, and she had only two-and-a-half working days before her, but she had given her promise, and she was a woman who would keep her word, if flesh and blood could do it. On Saturday morning it must be ready for the trying on, and on Monday by ten o'clock it must be actually delivered. So away she went cutting, and stitching, gouffring, and tabbing, and looping, and hemming, working late and early, until on the second day a dozen seperate pieces were all brought together like a child's puzzle, a square there, a triangle here, a long, narrow slip down the front, and then, out of what to a masculine eye would have seemed the merest scraps, there rose the daintiest, neatest little dress that a heart could wish, still loosely pinned together, but taking already its ultimate outlines. In this state it was carried to Palace Gardens, tried on, and then brought back to be finally completed. By twelve o'clock at night it was finished, and all Sunday it stood upon the frame in the work-room, looking so fresh and neat and perfect that the wife, in the pride of her heart, could not forbear from running in every hour or so, and coaxing her husband in with her, to look and admire.

He had been a sorry helpmate to her. It was not work which had placed those marks of care upon her face. As a clerk in a wholesale cocoa firm, he had for years been having some three pounds a week, but of the three it was seldom that one found its way to his wife, who planned and managed as only a devoted woman can. At last she had herself turned to business, and had made herself independent of him, or rather had made him depend upon her. A long course of secret drunkenness had ended in a raging attack of delirium tremens, which could not be concealed from his employers, and which brought about his instant dismissal from his situation. But it was no misfortune in the eyes of his wife. She had long made up her mind that his weak nature was not to be reformed while he was surrounded by temptation. Now, at last, she had him to herself. Some occupation must be found for him which would hold him within her influence. It was always with others that she laid the blame, never with him, for her eyes were blind to the shattered, irritable wreck, and could only see the dark-haired, bashful lad who had told her twenty years ago how he loved her.

Could she keep out those evil influences all would yet be well. Her woman's wit was set to do it. He had long had some leanings toward art, so now she bought him paints and paper and all that an artist could require. She had prayed and argued until he had taken the blue ribbon, and for six whole months she had stood between him and danger, shutting off what was evil, encouraging the little that was good. And now at last all seemed bright before her. Her husband had forsworn his fatal habits. She had saved a little money, and there was a prospect of saving more. Soon she might hope for a second assistant, and even spend a few pounds in advertisements. As she went into her work-room for the last time that Sunday night, holding out the lamp in her work-worn hand, and looked at the delicate tint and dainty curves, it seemed to her that the long struggle was at last drawing to an end.

She slept heavily that night, for she worked almost continuously until the dress was finished. It was nearly eight o'clock when she woke. Her husband was not lying by her side. His clothes and boots were gone. She smiled to think how completely she had over-slept herself, and she dressed hurriedly, putting on her out-door things so that she might be ready to start immediately after breakfast to keep her appointment. As she descended the stairs she noticed that the work-room door was open. She entered with a sudden strange sinking at the heart. The new dress had disappeared.

Mrs. Raby sat down on a packing-case, and sank her face in her hands. The blow was so sudden, so unexpected! But she was a practical woman, and there was no use in sitting there groaning. She walked through the house. Her husband, as she expected, was nowhere to be seen. Then she wrote a short note to the assistant, left it on the work-room table, and leaving the door upon the latch, set out upon her hopeless and piteous chase.

Just around the corner, in the Brampton road, was a pawnbroker's shop, and into it she hastened. A heavy red-bearded man, who was reading the morning paper in the corner, cocked his eye at her as she entered.

"What can I do for you, marm?"

"Would you kindly tell me, sir, if any one has been here this morning to pledge a gray dress?"

The pawnbroker called to his assistant, a young, pasty-faced man, who emerged from among the countless suits of clothes and piles of miscellaneous things which blocked the store.

"There was someone here with a gray dress, Alec, was there not?" he asked.

"Yes, sir; that was the one that you thought might be a police matter."

"Ah, yes, of course. A small, dark man, with dark hair?"

"That's it, sir."

He was here at quarter-past seven, just after opening time. I wasn't down yet, but my assistant told me that the dress was a very good and new one, and the man's manner was just a bit suspicious.'

"You didn't take it, then?"

"No."

"You don't know where he went?'

"No idea."

The red-bearded man plunged back into his morning paper, and the woman hurried out upon her quest. Should she turn up the street or down? The sight of a distant glimmer of gilt balls decided her, and she found herself in another office. They had seen nothing there either of her husband or the dress.

She paused irresolute outside the door. Then she reflected that, if her husband had come up the road, he would certainly have come there. He must, then, have turned down. She entered the first pawnbroker's in that direction, and there was the gray foulard dress hanging upon a hook right in front of her. She gave a cry of joy at the sight of it. It was not yet nine, and there was time to keep her appointment.

"That's my dress," she gasped.

The pawnbroker gazed at her curiously. 'It was pawned this morning, marm, by a small, dark man."

"Yes, sir, that was my husband. How much did he get on it?"

"Three pound, five."

She had put some money into her pocket when she left home. Now she laid four sovereigns upon the counter.

"Please let me have it at once."

"Where's the ticket?"

"The ticket? I have none."

"Then you can't have the dress."

"But it is my dress, and here is the money. Why can I not have it?"

"I am sorry for you, marm, but we must stick to the law. Suppose I take your money and give you your dress, and suppose then your husband come here with the ticket and demands his pledge, what could I say to him? He could put his own price on it, and I should have to pay him."

"But I promise you he won't come. Do, do let me have the dress. I've promised it to a customer at ten."

"I tell you that I can't, and there's an end of it," said the pawnbroker, turning upon his heel.

It was heartbreaking to be within touch of it, and not allowed to take it. And yet she could not blame the pawnbroker. She could see that he could not act otherwise. What remained? To find her husband. But how could she tell in which of the hundred public-houses he was making amends for his long abstention. She paced wildly up and down the pavement. What would this lady think of her? She had given a promise, and a promise had always been a sacred thing with her. Was there no way in which she could manage? And then suddenly an idea came to her, and she ran as hard as she could back to her own house, rushed into the back room, opened her drawer, poured her little heap of savings into her purse, and hastened out to catch an eastward bound 'bus.

At Bond street she got out and sped on to the window where she had first undertaken this unhappy contract.

Thank God, the dress was still unsold in the window. She remembered that the lady had said that the measurements were correct. In five minutes more her whole savings had gone into the till of the wealthy retail firm, and she, with her great cardboard box, was driving at the top of her speed to Palace Gardens.

"My dear Alice," remarked her friend, who had dropped in early that morning, in order to criticise the costume, "you see it never does to trust people in that class of life. She said ten o'clock, and now it is five minutes past. They have no idea of the nature of a promise."

"No, I suppose not. Still, she is sure to come, for I have not paid her anything yet. Ah, here she is coming up the stairs, so she is not so very late after all."

The dress was duly unpacked, and Mrs. Alice Clive put it on at once, while her friend and the dressmaker walked slowly round her with sidelong heads, eyeing it up and down.

"Well, dear, how do you like it? It feels very comfortable and seems to sit well about the shoulders."

"Oh yes, I think it will do. I don't think, however, that the foulard is quite of the same quality as that which we saw in the shop."

"I assure you, madam, that it is."

"Well, Mrs. Raby, I am sure you will acknowledge that the lace is inferior."

"No, it is precisely the same."

The lady critic shrugged her shoulders.

"At least, there is no question as to the inferiority of the cut," said she. "I cannot refuse to believe my own eyes."

"Well, at least, it is not dear at that price."

"It is entirely a matter of taste," the other rejoined, "but I confess that I would rather pay fifteen guineas for the other than ten for this."

"Well, well, on the whole I am pretty well satisfied," said Mrs. Clive, and paid over the ten pounds to the silent, weary woman who stood before her.

But strange and wondrous are the ways of woman, and where is the man that shall grasp them? As she walked home, tired, footsore, the loser in time and in money, with all her little hopes shattered to ruins, and all to be built up once more, she saw a crowd of jeering boys at the corner of the Brompton road, and, peeping over their shoulders, she caught a glimpse of a horrid, crawling figure, a hatless head, and a dull, vacant, leering face. In an instant she had called a cab.

"It is my husband," said she, "he is ill. Help me get him into the cab, policeman. We live near by."

They thrust him into a four-wheeler, and she got in beside him, holding him up in her arms. His coat was covered with dust, and he mumbled and chuckled like an ape. As the cab drove on, she drew his head down upon her bosom, pushed back his straggling hair, and crooned over him like a mother over a baby.

"Did they make fun of him, then?" she cried. "Did they call him names? He'll come home with his little wifey, and he'll never be a naughty boy again."

Oh, blind, angelic, foolish love of woman! Why should men demand a miracle while you remain upon earth?—Romance.

A WAR REMINISCENCE.—"It was just this night thirty-three years ago when General Lee broke through our lines," said the old major, "but he'd never have done it only for one thing." "What was that?" inquired his eager listener. "He had the aid of a lot of Confederates!" said the major quickly. And then he waddled off, quite pleased to think there were still people on earth who hadn't heard his favorite joke.—Puck.

Of Interest to Women.

EDITED BY MISS F. V. DOANE.

Readers of this column who have items or recipes which they think might interest others are invited to send them for publication.

Bacteriology.

Increase.—Different species of bacteria increase by different methods, but by far the most common form of multiplication is by division. "The cellulose or outside membrane of a bacterium grows a partition through the middle of the cell," and thus two cells are formed, these separate, then there are "two of them." One observer noted that in this manner bacteria that occupied the space of one cubic inch, in five hours increased so as to fill a pint; this was under very favorable circumstances.

Classification.—There are different methods of classification; I have already noted the classification in respect to form. Bacteria are also classified with respect to their movements, their modes of multiplication, and in other ways, but by far the classification most interesting to our purpose is with regard to their influence on the human body. In this respect there are three classes, those that have no special influence and are entirely harmless, those that are a benefit, and those that do harm. Of those that are neither beneficial nor harmful it is not necessary to say anything. To those that are beneficial belong those bacteria in milk that produce cream, and that appear in making cheese. Harmful bacteria also appear in milk, and it is well for the housekeeper to know the conditions under which each kind of bacteria develop. This subject will of cussed in another paper.

What to Eat.

A lady who is an interested reader of this column of the JOURNAL sends the following clippings as of interest to housekepeers.

Celery is invaluable as a food for those suffering from any form of rheumatism, for diseases of the nerves, and nervous dyspepsia.

Lettuce for those suffering from insomnia.

Watercress is a remedy for scurvy.

Peanuts for indigestion. They are especially recommended for corpulant diabects. Peanuts are made into a wholesome and nutritious soup, are browned and used as coffee, are eaten as a relish simply baked, or are prepared and served as salted almonds.

Onions are almost the best nervine known, says the Housekeeper.

No medicine is so useful in cases of nervous prostration, and there is nothing else that will so quickly relieve and tone up a worn-out system. Onions are useful in all cases of coughs, colds, and influenza; in consumption, insomnia, hydrophobia, scurvy, gravel, and kindred liver complaints. Eaten every other day, they soon have a clearing and whitening effect on the complexion.

Spinace is useful to those with gravel.

Asparagus is used to induce perspiration.

Carrots for suffering from asthma.

Turnips for nervous disorders and scurvy.

Raw beef proves a great benefit to persons of frail constitution, and to those suffering from consumption. It is chopped fine, seasoned with salt, and heated by placing it in a dish of hot water. It assimilates rapidly and affords the best nourishment.

Eggs contain a large amount of nutriment in a compact, quickly available form. Beaten up raw with sugar, they are used to clear and strengthen the voice. With sugar and lemon juice the beaten white of eggs is to relieve hoarseness.

Honey is wholesome, strengthening, cleansing, healing and nourishing.

Fresh ripe fruits are excellent for purifying the blood and toning up the system. As specific remedies, oranges are aperient. Sour oranges are highly recommended for rheumatism.

Cranberries for erysipelas are used externally as well as internally.

Lemons for feverish thirst in sickness, for biliousness, low fever, rheumatism, coughs, colds, liver complaints, etc.

Blackberries as a tonic. Useful in all forms of diarrhoea.

Tomatoes are a powerful aperient for the liver, a sovereign remedy for dyspepsia and indigestion. Tomatoes are invaluable in all conditions of the system in which the use of calomel is indicated.

Figs are aperient and wholesome. They are said to be valuable as a food for those suffering from cancer; they are used externally as well as internally.

Apples are useful in nervous dyspepsia; they are nutritious, medicinal and vitalizing; they aid digestion, clear the voice, correct the acidity of the stomach, and are valuable in rheumatism, insomnia, and liver troubles. An apple contains as much nutriment as an potato, in a pleasanter and more wholesome form.

Grapes dissolve and dislodge gravel and calculi, and bring the stomach and bowels to a healthy conditon.

Pieplant is wholesome and aperient; is excellent for rheumatic sufferers, and useful for purifying the blood.

About the House.

Light scorch marks may be removed by simply moistening them with water and laying in the sun.

Tea hereafter must be, like coffee, percolated. Hence the teapot, beautiful and richly decorared, direct from China and Japan. Inside, a receptacle for the dry tea; then the boiling water is poured over, and it slowly drips through into the pot beneath. During this progress the gay little "cozy" of scarlet and gold is drawn over the covered pot to keep in the heat. What then? The perfection of tea, without any tannin.

This is one of those simple things which few people know of. If you are in a Pullman car get a pillow from the porter, put it on your lap and place your writing materials on it. The elasticity of the pillow will insure smoothness.

A good waterproof paper for covering jars used in preserving may be made by brushing over the paper with boiled linseed oil and suspending it over a line until dry.

Be careful where you keep flour. Like butter, it absorbs odors readily. It should not be kept in a place where there are onions, fish, vegetables, or other odorous substances, nor in a damp room or cellar. Keep it in a cool, dry, airy room where it will not be exposed to a freezing temperature nor to one above seventy degrees. Always sift the flour before using.

Milk applied once a week with a soft cloth freshens and preserves boots and shoes.

A lump of camphor in your clothes press will keep steel ornaments from tarnishing.

Salt fish are most quickly and best freshened by soaking in sour milk.

To renovate velvet, free it from dust by laying face down and whipping smartly; then brush with a soft hair brush; damp on the wrong side with borax water, and hang pile inward in the sunshine to dry, taking care that there is no fold or wrinkle on the line.

If a small piece of cloth folded double is put underneath buttons, particularly on children's clothing, they will not tear out so easily.

The Journal.

FRIDAY EVENING, APRIL 10, 1896.

LOCAL NOTICES.

Call at E. B. Taylor's and get a sample of Groote's Dutch cocoa.

18 pounds granulated sugar $1.00; New Ponce molasses 50c; at Smith's Cash Grocery.

A large invoice of sterling silverware just received at Jeweler Barton's. New styles and low prices.

PALMER NEWS.

TRIED TO PAINT THE TOWN RED.

Two Men Shoot Revolvers in the Street, Defy Arrest, and Get Done Up.

William E. Mahoney and John E. Fulton are in Springfield jail awaiting the action of the superior court on charges of assault on L. W. Caryl with revolvers; and incidentally Mahoney is waiting for his jaw to get into shape so he can eat with comfort, while Fulton is hoping his eye will recover its normal condition by the time the court convenes in May. They claim Boston as their residence.

The men struck town about 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon with a horse which had evidently been driven hard, and hitched it in front of Barton's jewelry store. Mr. Barton noticed the condition of the animal and suggested that they cover it, which was done. They then went into the Converse House office, and after inquiring about the trains to Boston one of them threatened to shoot a cigarette from a man's mouth. They finally left the hotel however and went to the railroad station, shooting their revolvers in the air at the head of Commercial street and again near the bridge over the street. One of them was heard to make the remark that he'd like to see any officer take them in.

About 3.30 they entered Caryl's saloon and Mahoney asked for a drink, but was refused by the bartender. He asked if the place was not licensed, and on receiving an affirmative reply remarked that it would be a sorry looking place in about a minute if he didn't get a drink, but was again refused. Mr. Caryl, who had been informed that the men were about town and was looking for them, entered at this time, just as the fellow drew his revolver, a 38-calibre, and at once grabbed him. He managed to fire two shots however, one of which went into the floor and the other struck a post. Before he had time to fire a third something struck him; it was only a fist, but he went down in a heap, and was at once taken care of. In the meantime W. A. Fitzpatrick, John Manning and others who had been watching the affair from the outside came in and took care of Fulton; he was not so ugly as Mahoney, but also had a revolver and attempted to use it. Both men were pretty roughly handled before they would quiet down, and when an officer came to take them to the lockup they made no resistance, but went as peacefully as could be desired. At the lockup one was heard to remark, "We came to this town for some fun, and I guess we got it."

In the district court yesterday morning they waived examination and were bound over to the May term of the superior court in bonds of $1000 each, which they could not furnish.

It is thought that the men may be a part of the gang wanted for breaking into the Whitinsville bank last week, as one of them has been recognized by a Whitinsville barber as a man he shaved the day before the bank robbery. The fellows are wanted at Gilbertville for breaking into the station of the Boston and Maine road at Wheelwright on Wednesday morning. They hoped to get the pay roll for the paper mill, but secured only about $4.

Obscene Letters Through the Mails.

Post office inspector J. M. White of Boston paid a visit to Palmer on Wednesday, and before he left town interviewed a well-known resident on the subject of sending matter through the mails which is prohibited by the postal laws. He denied the charge, but the proof was so convincing that after the inspector left town he made haste to make his peace with the parties he had wronged and beg that the matter be dropped. Nothing but the charitableness of the receivers of the letters stands between the sender and a long term behind the bars.

Several months ago a young lady received a letter containing obscene poetry, and a request for an appointment to meet the writer. A fictitious name was signed, and the reply was to be sent to a certain post office box in Palmer. The box was watched and it was soon discovered that a well-known married man was getting the mail. Three weeks later the writer became anxious to get his first letter back, but it was not returned. A few weeks ago a young married woman received a letter which was simply abusive, but contained some particularly disparaging remarks. Her husband soon evolved a suspicion as to the sender, and sent the suspected party a business letter calling for an immediate response, which was received. The handwriting on the two was of course unlike, but the watermark in the paper was the same; both sheets had evidently been torn from the same pad of paper, but the first had not come off smoothly, little scallops being torn in the edge of the sheet; the pieces which had torn out were found on the edge of the business letter, and fitted exactly, affording conclusive proof of the author of the first letter. The handwriting and paper of this was the same as that received by the other young woman. Nothing was done about the matter until the writer of the letters commenced to circulate stories derogatory to the character of the husband, when the matter was placed in the hands of the authorities, with the result as stated above. The sender of the letters has apologized most humbly, and it is probable that nothing will be done so far as the local parties are concerned; what action the postal authorities will take remains to be determined.

The schools will commence again next Monday.

The Smith Grocery Co. is out with a new delivery wagon.

Mrs E B Taylor is visiting her mother in East Hartford, Ct.

G. A. Rice is building an addition to his house on Pleasant street.

Postmaster Royce has so far recovered as to be able to be out of doors.

Extensive repairs are being made on the roof of the Commercial block.

J. J. Helliwell is making extensive repairs on the inside of his house on Knox street.

Miss Blanche Willard and Miss Clara French spent part of the week in Monson.

Miss L H. Brigham will give her talk on Saxony at Barre, Vt., next Wednesday evening.

Rev. C. R. Minard has moved from the Weeks House to Mrs. Capen's on Park street.

Mrs. Mary A. Thompson has been making extensive repairs on her houses on Pine street.

Miss Mamie Converse of Stafford Springs has been visiting Miss Harriet Coleman.

Mrs. C. F. Burke of Norwich, Ct., has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. C. D. Holbrook.

S. W. Smith was called to North Attleboro to-day on account of the death of his sister.

L. C. Snow is building an addition to his house at Shearer's Corner, making two tenements.

Miss Nellie G. Finerty spent the past week in Warren, and is spending this week in Springfield.

The theme of the sermon at the Universalist church next Sunday morning will be "Our salvation."

Good Cheer lodge of the Daughters of Rebekah will have a social at the meeting next Tuesday evening.

Mr. Sherman is moving from the Studley farm east of the village to the first house beyond the Point of Rocks.

The regular monthly meeting of the Palmer Business and Social Club will be held next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Services at St. Thomas's Catholic church next Sunday will be at the usual hours, 8.30 and 10.30 a. m., 3 and 7.30 p. m.

O. W. Studley will sell a quantity of household goods at auction at his house on Central street the 18th, at 1 o'clock p. m.

Miss Sarah Byrne, formerly of the JOURNAL composing room, was married at Middletown, Ct., Wednesday to Hugh Dolan of Ware.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Brown will celebrate the 25th anniversary of their marriage next Tuesday evening at their home on West Main street.

The machinery and real estate of the Rogers-Osgood Hat Co. were bid off last Saturday by F. F. Marcy for $56 above the incumbrances.

W. H. Small, superintendent of schools, gives a lecture in Willimantic to-night, in the high school lecture course, his subject being, "Reading for profit."

The collection at St. Paul's church last Sunday was for the benefit of those members of the choir who give their services, and amounted to nearly $60.

A. B. Sparrow of Shirley, who published the last Palmer directory in 1892 and one for Monson in 1894, will begin work soon on a joint directory of the two towns.

The Order of the Eastern Star will have an entertainment at its meeting this evening, which will include a farce, followed by a collation, for Masons and their families.

At the meeting of the selectmen on Monday J. P. Eastman, Thomas Roche and G. H. Justin of Palmer, and C. E. Shumway of Bondsville were appointed special police.

The pastor of the Congregational church will preach Sunday morning on "The Christian priesthood." In the evening there will be a question-box service, under the care of the Men's Sunday Evening club.

The annual district missionary church banquet will be held at St. Paul's church on the evening of the 21st. The committee of arrangements consists of William Merriam, G. F. Sedgwick, Mrs. John Helliwell, Mrs. W. P. French.

Mrs. S. C. Hunt returned last night from Fort Valley, Ga., where she has been the past winter with her daughter, Mrs. A. E. Barlow, of Worcester, who has been South for her health. Mrs. Barlow expects to return in about a month.

The Young People's association of St. Thomas's church will hold an Easter Kermess in the opera house next Friday evening, with vocal and instrumental music, reading, dancing, refreshments, etc.; the Palmer orchestra will furnish music.

A number of horses were sold at auction at the Weeks House stables last week, and among the purchasers were W. A. Breckenridge and W. H. Williams, whose animals died on Monday and Tuesday of this week. Clark & Hastings purchased a new pair for their delivery team.

The month of March was the banner month of the past eight years for the number of tramps at the lockup, 103 having been entertained; 37 more were lodged in the first eight days of April. The oldest was 52 and the youngest 14; there were a number 19 or 20 years old, the average age being about 30, the youngest lot of tramps seen in years.

The Eastern Hampden Agricultural Society is receiving returns from the circulars sent out last week asking for contributions toward wiping out the deficit of last fall, and hopes to have the full amount soon. It is understood that on the raising of this amount depends the fate of the fair next September, there being a feeling among the officers that unless this is raised there will be little encouragement for them in trying to prepare for another cattle show.

At the Democratic caucus last evening H. C. Strong was chairman and Richard Twiss secretary. The delegates chosen were: State, T. W. Kenefick, C. A. Brown, H. C. Strong, Maurice Moriarty, J. F. Twiss and John Loftus; congressional, T. J. Moran, M. E. Keefe, Charles McManamy, F. D. Barton, E. P. Brown and F. L. Pierce. It was voted to recommend the state delegation to support a resolution favoring the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people.

At the Congregational church last Sunday the pastor announced that he should let the congregation preach the sermon, and after a short talk gave them an opportunity to wipe out the debt of the parish, with the understanding that if more than sufficient was pledged the surplus was to be expended for music. The pledges were started at $25, and dropped by $5 notches till that sum was reached, then to $1. It took only a few moments to provide for the debt and leave a snug sum for music, about $500 being pledged.

District Deputy Fred R. Sistare of Springfield installed these officers of the Odd Fellows lodge Wednesday evening: N. G., E. C. Buffington; V. G., C. E. Alden; R. S., G. H. Bray; treasurer, A. L. Hills; P. S., L. G. Parkhurst; warden, G. H. Miller; conductor, H. E. Crofton; O. G., F. O. Royce; I. G., C. A. Royce; R. S. N. G., A. F. Stone; L. S. N. G., C. L. Johnson; R. S. V. G, H. K. Ferrill; L. S. V. G., M. D. Paige; R. S. S., A. W. Lloyd; L. S. S., F. W. Sawyer; chaplain, D. G. Buskey; P. G., L. R. Holden.

A woman, a large boy, an empty molasses hogshead, a business wagon and an ash heap were a combination which made fun for the spectators in the rear of the Holden block on Main street Tuesday forenoon. The woman and the boy were on the seat of the wagon, with the hogshead safely stowed behind them, but in attempting to drive out a short turn caused a general mixup of all but the horse. No particular damage was done, and nothing was broken but some of the commandments, which the boy shattered into fragments in short order.

The annual fire district meeting will be held next Tuesday afternoon in the district court room. The firemen held a meeting Monday evening and nominated this ticket: Prudential committee, W. E. Stone, Rufus Flynt, J. L. Wilder; chief engineer, G. A. Bills; first assistant, C. E. Fuller; second assistant, A. E. Fitch; clerk and treasurer, F. D. Barton; auditor, C. E. Fish. The articles which are likely to call out discussion are those to see if interest will be added to taxes not paid after a certain date, to see about rehanging the fire alarm bell, and to see if rubber coats and boots shall be purchased for the firemen.

Subscribers to the service of the telephone company are righteously kicking in regard to the service on the Monson line after the electric lights are started in the evening. The Monson line has never of late years worked very satisfactorily, and now it is almost impossible to talk with that town after the electric lights are turned on, the buzzing which is heard rendering conversation impossible. The electric company claims that the telephone wires were placed on its poles in Monson without permission, and that it has nothing to do with the matter. It would seem that the telephone company might do something to give its patrons the service for which they pay, and are entitled to.

Two wheelmen started for a ride last Sunday, and after pedaling to Monson and finding fairly good roads decided to keep on to Stafford. But alas! the roads from Monson to that borough were different, and they had to push through mud or walk a good share of the way, and the return trip was the same as far as Monson. From there the roads were good to Palmer, but it was the first long ride of the season for the unfortunate bikers, and the saddles didn't fit them and they didn't fit the saddles, so they concluded that the most comfortable means of getting home would be to walk—at least one of them did. There were two business men Monday who made no complaint about taking their meals off a shelf, and who will take a few more short rides before they venture on a 40-mile run again.

District Court.

Two civil cases were entered last Saturday: William A. Graham of Palmer against the Willey Company of Springfield, and C. K. Gamwell of Palmer against C. E. Dewey of the same place; both suits were action of contract.

In the criminal court on Monday Thomas and Charles Krugni of Thorndike, for an assault on John and Annie Pijtko, paid fines of $15 and 20. The affair was the outcome of an Easter celebration at the house of the Pijtkos; they had a sick child, and when the celebration became too boisterous requested less noise, but got more and a "scrap." The Krugnis announced to the court that they were simply celebrating Easter; they always celebrated it with beer and eggs, and then didn't get drunk again until Christmas. Frank and Stephen Matera, for disturbing the peace at the same time, paid fines of $10 each.

Joseph Bronskey commenced his Easter celebration Saturday night, but it lasted over into Monday, when he smashed the glass in the windows at the home of John Szhultz in Three Rivers, broke in the front door, assaulted John and his wife Annie and nearly tore the clothes off the former. He paid a fine of $10 on Tuesday for drunkenness, and on a charge of assault was released on probation, having satisfied the Szhultzs for the damage done at their place.

Yesterday Joseph Hall of Monson was sent to the house of correction for three months for drunkenness; this was his fourth appearance in about two years.

BONDSVILLE.

Look it it up—Moore's clock sale adv.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson spent Easter in Chelsea.

Ames Slate spent part of last week with friends here.

Thomas Scanlon has moved his family to Springfield.

Mrs. A. L. Squier and son Donald of Amherst are visiting E. E. Ryther.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles White of Amherst spent Sunday with Mrs. Fred Alden.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Macomber of Northampton are guests of O. A. Parent.

The W. C. T. U. will meet next Thursday at 3 p. m. with Mr. Warren Fisherdick.

Edwin Barrett has moved his family to Willimantic, where he has purchased a farm.

There will be no services at the Methodist church next Sunday on account of conference.

Wallace Knowlton was home from Worcester School of Technology part of the week.

Bond and Jenks have closed their bakery. Mr. Sherry, the baker, is ill with grippe and is unable to work.

Miss Maggie Landers is home from Westfield Normal, and has accepted a school in Belchertown.

Miss Mamie Donovan of Ware and William Donovan of Indian Orchard spent the first of the week with Mr. and Mrs. William Donovan.

PALMER CENTER.

Horace Stimson is out again after a sick spell.

Richard Wright has left town, and will have charge of the "Clark Fenton" farm, now owned by Mr. Ellithorpe.

Mrs. William Smith and children left Friday for her old home in New York state, where she will spend some weeks. Her brother Henry accompanied her; he will remain there.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Crimmings have the sympathy of a large circle of friends in the death Saturday night from Bright's disease of Nellie, their youngest daughter, a bright, affectionate child, dearly loved by all with whom she came in contact, a gentle, patient sufferer through a severe sickness. She would have been 13 years old had she lived until May.

Sudden Death of William Miller.

The community was greatly shocked Monday to hear that William Miller had died that morning at his home on the Warren road, of pneumonia and diphtheria. He was not considered dangerously sick, and did not take to his bed till Sunday afternoon, dying at 7 a. m. Monday. About five minutes before he died he asked his wife for a drink, and as she hastened to give it to him she saw a change, and calling a friend who was with her returned to find him dead. He was nearly 44 years old and leaves a wife, the daughter of Horace Smith, and one child, a boy not a year old, one brother, a number of sisters, and his mother, who made her home with him. He will be greatly missed, as he was respected by all with whom he had any dealings as an honest, upright man.

THREE RIVERS.

See Moore's clock sale advertisement.

Mrs. G. S. Butler left Tuesday for New York.

Herbert Willis went Monday to attend the funeral of his father in Ware.

Mrs E. M. Orcutt has been visiting friends in Monson for the past few days.

Henry Freak left Monday for Boston, where he has enlisted in the navy.

Mrs. R. E. Burlingame of Baptist Hill has been quite sick, but is now recovering.

The Ladies' Home Circle met in the vestry of the Union church last Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Thos. Frame, who has been visiting friends and relatives in Springfield, returned last Monday.

A party of men went out spearing the other night and had very good luck, catching 90 fish.

William Kuss is seriously ill with an attack of appendicitis at his home on the Palmer road.

Mrs. E. Norcross has returned to her home after a stay of two weeks with Mrs. J. Burlingame on Baptist Hill.

Frank Upham of Meriden, Ct., who has been visiting friends and relatives here, returned home last Saturday.

Joseph Geer, who has been living at Central Village, Ct., for two years, has returned to his farm in South Belchertown.

Miss Mary Trombley and Willie Trombley of Indian Orchard, who have been the guests of Mrs. S. P. Gauthier, returned Monday.

Mr. Korff, who has been working in the Palmer mill, has resigned his position there and will soon begin work on his farm in Sodom.

At the Baptist church next Sunday morning at 10 45 there will be preaching by Rev. C. R. Minard of Palmer; baptism at the close of the sermon. In the evening Rev. W. W. Main of Boston will give a lecture on Sunday school work, illustrated by the stereopticon.

D. Remi, aged 53 years, died at his late home on Main street Monday. The funeral accurred last Wednesday afternoon. The society of Cercle Canadien, of which he was a member, attended. About 100 men were in line. He was buried in the French cemetery. Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved family.

A Polander of Monson, who came to visit some of his friends in this place, created quite a disturbance here Monday. He became intoxicated and tried to get into a fight with everybody he met, but was finally knocked down and jumped upon. The fellow then went to one of the houses belonging to Mr. Potter and succeeded in getting into trouble there also. After breaking four panes of glass and creating a general disturbance he was arrested by Officer Manning. He claimed that $200 had been stolen from him.

THORNDIKE.

Moore's clock sale adv.; have you seen it?

Miss Eva Garland of Merrick is visiting here.

Michael Fusdail of Springfield is in town visiting with relatives.

A new front is soon to be put into the store occupied by E. J. Kelley.

Mrs. H. T. Bishop spent part of the week in Springfield, visiting friends.

John Scott and family of Springfield spent Easter with Mr. and Mrs. George Whiting.

Mrs. George Whiting and daughter Jessie have returned after spending a week with friends in Springfield.

Dr. M. W. Kelliher of Pawtucket, R. I., formerly of Thorndike, was in town during the week for a short stay.

Mrs. Avery of Goshen, who has been the guest of her daughter, Mrs. G. M. Gerrish, has returned to her home.

Miss Kate Toomey of Springfield, who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. William Lawton, has returned to her home.

Edward Longtine went to Warren this week to attend the wedding of his cousin, John Cummings, and acted as best man.

Several from this place attended the funeral of Miss Nellie Crimmins of Palmer Center, which took place Monday afternoon.

The ladies of the village who were contemplating holding a leap year ball have abandoned the idea, for the present at least.

Sunday being a pleasant day, large congregations were present at all the churches in this village, and many new and pretty Easter gowns were visible.

Through an error the names of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Adams were omitted from the list of those who were present at Mrs. Isaac Gerald's reception last week.

The millinery openings which were held here on Friday and Saturday evenings last were largely attended, and many handsome hats and bonnets were displayed.

Marcus T. Hitchcock of Springfield and Herbert Hitchcock of Lynn were in town on Wednesday for a short stay. It is understood that the Hitchcock property on Commercial street will soon be offered for sale.

The following spent Easter Sunday in town: Miss Maggie Hartnett from Springfield, Miss Mary Keefe from Warren, Mrs. Mahoney from West Warren, Dennis Crowley from Worcester, and Mary Moran from Warren.

The following players have been selected and will no doubt make up the ball team for the season, which will open here next month: Longtine, c.; Duggan, p.; Connor, s. s.; Sugrue, 1b; Riley, 2b.; unknown, 3b; Chapman and Roche in the field Boy Shot by a Playmate.

Freddie LaFarrar, a lad of 15, was accidentally shot in the leg just above the knee yesterday afternoon by a younger lad named Rouillard while shooting at a target with a 22-calibre rifle. The ball entered the fleshy part of the leg and was found somewhat flattened, having struck the bone. He was attended by Dr. LaFountain, and no serious results are expected.

LEGISLATIVE MATTERS.

BOSTON, April 8, 1896.

The committee to redistrict the state for councillors and senators has been announced. There are eight Senate members and 24 Representatives. Two of the eight and six of the 24, or just one-fourth in each case, are Democrats. This is giving them their full proportion in each branch, according to membership, though not nearly as many as they would have on the basis of their proportion to the total vote of the state. The Senate members are Galloupe of Essex, Maccabe of Suffolk, Quinn of Suffolk, Burns of Middlesex, Irwin of Hampshire, Cook of Worcester, Soule of Bristol and Chase of Hampden. The House members are Bouthwell of Malden, Adams of Framingham, Quirk of Boston, Dickinson of Cambridge, Sanderson of Lynn, Moriarty of Worcester, Utley of Brookline, McCarthy of Boston, Tuttle of Boston, Brown of Gloucester, Fairbank of Warren, Holden of Boston, Roper of Lowell, Trafton of Somerset, T. F. Keenan of Boston, Roberts of Chelsea, Bailey of Newbury, Flynn of Lawrence, King of Monson, Howard of Clinton, Kelliher of Boston, Flint of Wakefield, Harding of Orange, Tilton of Brockton.

The western members feel that they have been slighted. Not a member from Berkshire county is on, either in the House or Senate. Five counties are unrepresented in the House list,—Berkshire, Hampshire, Barnstable, Dukes and Nantucket. Other wise the House members are divided as follows: Suffolk, seven; Middlesex, five; Essex, four; Worcester, three; and Norfolk, Bristol, Hampden, Franklin and Plymouth, one each. In the metropolitan district are 11 of the 24, and the country members some of them are disposed to feel that they are regarded as of little account compared with Boston and its suburbs. It does seem as if the geographical proportions might have been observed more carefully, for a matter of this sort needs the practical advice of men who are severally familiar with the local conditions existing in every country in the state. General intelligence is not a sufficient qualification for such a committee as this. Nine of the House members are new this year, and some of them are not prominent enough to be thought of at once as the most suitable ones for such important work as this.

Of course it will be the effort of the committee to have all the contests settled before the redistricting bill is reported, for if once either branch begins to tear in pieces the plan, there is no knowing where the trouble will end. There will be many personal and municipal ambitions to settle, besides the political complications, but it is to be hoped that such a gerrymander as the last will never be perpetrated by the Legislature again.

The report of the taxation committee on the petition of the Anti-Double Taxation League for the exemption of foreign corporation stocks from double taxation was made in the House on Wednesday. It is in favor of the exemption, and there are three dissenters,—Senator Burns of Middlesex, and Representatives J. H. Mellen of Worcester and Clarke of Wellesley. The first and last are Republicans, and Mellen is a Democrat, so there is no party politics in the dissent. Col. Clarke is the secretary of the Home Market Club. This is the first time since the change was agitated that there has been a straight majority of the committee in favor of the exemption. Mr. Humphrey of Dedham of the committee voted at first against the bill, but he did so because he wanted the question of taxation to be examined by a recess committee or commission. When he found that he could not have that, he voted in favor of the bill. It is certain that there will be a vigorous fight against the bill, for the granger interest will be against it, tooth and nail, as it has been in all the years since it was proposed. There is a great prejudice against tax-dodgers, and though a strong case should be made out against the injustice of taxing property twice, yet the prejudice which has hitherto been sufficient to defeat the bill might very likely win another success. The committee has voted against the further exemption of implements of trade, Mr. Mellen of Worcester dissenting, and the fact that the committee does not propose to exempt artisans further, but does propose this exemption, will tend to hurt the chances of the pending bill.

It is possible that the session will be prolonged by the introduction of the elevated railroad problem in Boston, for attorneys of heavy capitalists of New York and Boston, of whom J. Pierrepoint Morgan is said to be the head,—and these attorneys include ex-Gov. Russell and, it is said, Attorney General Olney, though this may be a mistake, for Lewis S. Dabney who is in the case. Mayor Quincy, Chairman Crocker of the subway commission, Attorney General Knowlton and Speaker Meyer were in consultation with Gov. Wolcott on Wednesday forenoon, but nothing was done which could be given out for publication. It is said from the inside that the West End railway, on which the capitalists in question have an option of a majority of the stock, wants to control the subway so that no other corporation shall have the right to use it. Then if the subway is a success in relieving the congestion of Tremont street, there will be no occasion for using the rights which they hold, but if the subway does not succeed then they will be ready to proceed and build an elevated road. There is evidently much capital behind the scheme, and there is much danger that the interests of the public will not be looked after as they should be. Precious little consideration is shown for the public when such great concerns are after special privileges.

The druggists, temperance men, and the board of registration in pharmacy have had the first round in a sharp fight in which the druggists have come out first best by the vote of 61 to 82. The question was over the bill which repeals the act of 1894 to forbid the issue of druggists' liquor licenses to any but registered pharmacists, and puts the licenses in the hands of the state board, and which substitutes for it a weaker measure under which the licenses are to be issued by the local authorities without any action on the part of the state board. It must be said that the arguments for the new bill consisted more in denunciation of the previous act than in a demonstration of the superiority of the proposed substitute. The debate made it very evident that the druggists had lobbied the House very effectively. One who is familiar with legislative proceedings had no need of being told that many members had been seen or written to by their druggist constituents and asked to use their influence for the defeat of the bill. The matter goes to the bottom of the House calendar, where it will not be reached for two or three weeks. In the meantime, if the people who are opposed to liquor selling by druggists have any interest in the defeat of the bill and in the maintenance of the present law, they can get in their work upon the members and offset that which has been done by the druggists.

The question of a southern union station in Boston is awakening much interest, and the opposition to the plans of the railroad officials is much greater than it was when they were first announced. Assistant Secretary Hamlin of the treasury department is the most active man of the opposition, and he is doing much to defeat the bill. But it is felt that the railroad committee is on the side of the proposed station on the site of the New York and New England station, and that some sort of bill for that site will be reported.

The Senate has had its first round over the appropriation for the gypsy moth, and has settled upon $100,000, thus rejecting the figure of $200,000, which the commission thinks is necessary for the extermination of the pest, and the $50,000 which was believed to be enough by those who are opposed to the policy of the commission and who think that the moth will be very dangerous as long as the state appropriates money wherewith to exterminate it. But it would seem as if Secretary Sessions made out a good case. No one who knows him will suspect him of being dishonest. The matter goes to the finance committee, and they will reopen the whole case.

The House began forenoon sessions on Wednesday, and most of the committees are through with their hearings. LANDON.

BORN.

At Palmer, 6th, a daughter to E. C. Buffington.

MARRIED.

At Monson, 7th, by Rev. F. S. Hatch, Robert R. Cushman and Mabelle K. Flynt.

At Ware, 7th, by Rev. James Boyle, Thomas F. Murphy of West Ware and Johana Currie of Ware.

DIED.

At Palmer, 6th, William Miller, 44.
At Palmer Center, 4th, Nellie Crimmins, 13.
At Monson, 3d, Thomas Roberts, 76.
At Monson, 8th, Bertha, 26, wife of F. G. Tobey.
At Belchertown, 4th, George C. Goodwin, 53.
At Wales, 6th, Mrs. Thomas Lewis.
At Gallion, Ohio, 5th, Alonzo C. Squier, 71, brother of the late John A. Squier of Palmer.

TO RENT.—Two tenements on Fox avenue. tf-44 Apply to G. S. HOLDEN.

FOR SALE.—Plymouth Rock and Buff Cochin cockerels; also eggs for hatching. tf-38 RALPH LEGRO, Palmer.

FOR SALE.—Cherry chamber set, black walnut extension dining table, and kitchen range, all in good order. Enquire at house of C. B. FISKE.

FARM TO LET—Known as the Colonel King farm, in the eastern part of Palmer. For further particulars inquire of 1-2 P. PLIMPTON, Palmer.

AGENTS WANTED.—Live up to date farmers to sell a high grade fertilizer to farmers. Large commissions paid. Address with references P. O. Box 1804, Boston, Mass. 2-2

FOR SALE.—1 good work horse 9 years old, weighs about 1100 lbs. 2 express wagons, 1 top carriage, 1 concord buggy. 1-2 SHAW BROS., Three Rivers.

FOR SALE.—White and yellow pine wood, $2.50 per cord, delivered. Plymouth Rock and Brown Leghorn eggs for setting. 4-2 H. CHAPMAN, Palmer.

PASTURE of 28 acres, well fenced, to rent, or will take stock to pasture by the week, at a low price. ROAD CART and skeleton wagon for sale. tf-1 D. F. HOLDEN, Palmer.

FOR SALE.—Estate of the late Mrs. Evans; frame house of 10 rooms; large barn; wash room and woodshed combined; 13 acres land, mowing, pasturing; fruit trees, etc. Address, "ESTATE," JOURNAL Office.

—— ROSES. ——

PINKS, - - - - 30c Dozen
DAFFODILS, - - - - 35c "
ROMAN HYACINTHS, - - - 35c "
All kinds of floral designs made at 8*48 BLODGETT'S GREENHOUSE.

EGGS from Chapin's barred and white Plymouth Rocks. Best pens of barred $2 per 13. Good pens $1 per 13. White $1.50 per 13. 30 eggs double the price of 13. Large early laying stock. Winners at Palmer, Springfield, Stafford and other fairs. GEORGE A. CHAPIN, Hampden, Mass. tf-1

SNOW WHITE BAKING POWDER, 1 pound can with tin tea kettle, only 10c. W. E STONE, Main street, Palmer.

CARPET CLEANING.

Having put in machinery for cleaning carpets by the method of beating, brushing and airing, I am now ready to receive orders. Special attention paid to taking up and relaying carpets; orders by mail promptly attended to. Carpets called for and delivered free of charge. 26 52 GEO. B. KENERSON, Park St., Palmer.

TOWN OF PALMER.
FIRE DISTRICT MEETING.
COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.—HAMPDEN ss.

To the qualified voters of Fire District No. 1 of Palmer. You are hereby notified to meet at the court room of the District Court of Eastern Hampden in said Palmer, on Tuesday, the fourteenth day of April current, at two o'clock in the afternoon, to act on the following articles, viz.—

ARTICLE 1. To choose a moderator to preside at said meeting.

ART. 2. To choose a clerk, treasurer, prudential committee, board of engineers and all other officers and committees that may be necessary for the ensuing year, and give them instructions.

ART. 3. To hear the report of the treasurer, prudential committee and board of engineers, and act on the same.

ART. 4 To raise and appropriate such sums of money as may be necessary to pay the expenses of the Fire Department and annual rental of the Palmer Water Company.

ART. 5. To see what action the District will take toward paying the board of engineers, firemen and treasurer, for the ensuing year, and raise and appropriate such sums of money as may be necessary.

ART. 6. To see what action the District will take towards authorizing the collector to add interest to taxes paid after Sept. 1st of the ensuing year.

ART. 7. To see if the District will authorize its treasurer to borrow money in anticipation of the taxes for the ensuing year, the same to be paid from said taxes.

ART. 8. To see what action the District will take towards buying rubber boots for the use of the Fire Department, and raise and appropriate money for the same.

ART. 9. To see if the District will take any action regarding the rehanging of the fire alarm bell, and raise and appropriate money for the same.

Given under my hand this third day of April, A. D., 1896.

F. D. BARTON, Clerk
2-1 of Fire District No. 1 of Palmer.

WANTED.—EXPERIENCED OPERATORS on Wilcox & Gibbs straw sewing machines on men's and boys' hats. Also trimmers for the same. Plenty of work and a long season. 5-51 NELSON & LADOW, Upton, Mass.

Good looking people

usually have good teeth. LeGRO'S TOOTH POWDER will keep the teeth white, gums healthy and breath pure.

LeGro & Lynde, Druggists,
Next to Post Office, Palmer.

E. S. Bryant, D. M. D.,
Dentist,
Lynde's Block, Palmer.
Office hours: 8 30 to 12.30. 1.30 to 5 p. m.

WALL PAPERS,
MOULDINGS, ETC.,
AT MASON'S, PALMER.

We make friends of our customers and customers of our friends. . . . . .

Transient trade is all right for a superstructure, but steady custom is the foundation of a business—that's what we have worked for. We have given prices which have attracted you and treatment which will hold you—doing this we disprove the old statement that "there is friendship in business." A man had better try to get along without customers than without friends. We knew a man once—but that's another story—so is this:

Big cut in canned goods.

4 cans peas,	- -	25c
4 "	Maine sweet corn,	25c
4 "	lima beans, -	25c
3 "	clams, - -	25c
1 one lb. can	Cleveland's royal baking powder,	40c
1 can	condensed milk,	10c
1 "	grated pineapple,	10c
1 "	peaches, - -	10c

Golden Drip Syrup, 26c gallon.
(Bring jug.)

This week we are selling a 12c package of Quaker pancake flour for 5c. 2 lb. package. Every package is guaranteed fresh and put up by Quaker Oats People.

J. F. Foley,

Corner Walnut and Main streets,
. . . PALMER, MASS.

LADIES' KID BUTTON SHOES—$1.50. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

J. H. Rogers Carriage Co.,

MANUFACTURERS OF
Carriages,
AND DEALERS IN
Carriages of every description.

33 to 39 Sanford St., SPRINGFIELD.

We manufacture and carry in stock the finest line of carriages in New England. Come and look over our stock.

A FINE LINE OF SECOND HAND VEHICLES CONSTANTLY ON HAND . . . .

at very low prices.

OUR SPRING

Millinery Opening Continues.

You may reasonably expect every season better and better from us. This season you will be astonished as to the LEAP ahead we have taken.

The Best Style—first.
The Finest Exclusive Millinery—next.
The LOWEST PRICES—last, but not least.

Everybody cordially invited.

S. LEVISON,

350 Main St., SPRINGFIELD.

ANTI-RUST TIN WARE. Dust pans, coffee pots, dippers, milk pails, etc. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

CHERRY BALSAM

Cures coughs, colds, throat and lung troubles. Others use it, we ask you to try it.

LeGro & Lynde, Druggists,
next to Post Office,
PALMER.

Don't invite disappointment by experimenting. Depend on One Minute Cough Cure and you have immediate relief. It cures croup. The only harmless remedy that produces immediate results. LeGro & Lynde.

INGRAIN CARPETS, 25c to 75c a yard. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

"Give me a liver regulator and I can regulate the world," said a genius. The druggist handed him a bottle of DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. LeGro & Lynde.

BRASS SASH RODS, 3c a foot. Extension rods, 15c each. Drapery poles, 5 feet, 10c each. Drapery pole trimmings, 15c a set. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Soothing, healing, cleansing, DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is the enemy to sores, wounds and piles, which it never fails to cure. Stops itching and burning. Cures chapped lips and cold-sores in two or three hours. LeGro & Lynde.

CEYLON TEA—$1 per pound. Delicate flavors. Use one-fourth amount of 50c teas. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

L. H. HENDEE, M. D.,
OFFICE AND RESIDENCE, PLEASANT ST.
Office hours 7 to 10 a. m., and 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m.

New goods for spring.

Have you seen our line of

SPRING CAPES?

Beautiful silks and velvets, made in the latest styles. How can they do otherwise than please?

SEPARATE SKIRTS,
made from serges and crepons, perfect fitting and durable.

FIGURED MOHAIRS,
dainty novelties, and a complete line of wash goods can be found upon our counters.

What are they using for trimming? Everything Gimps, laces, and an endless variety of ribbons. See our stocks for all the novelties of the season.

NEW LINES OF GLOVES,
in tans, steel and mode shades. Don't fail to see our lines before purchasing.

D. L. BODFISH,

Cross Block,
PALMER.

RIDICULOUS!

The prices at which I propose to close out my whole line of clocks. I want the room they occupy, and have made prices which you'd think were an error of the printer if I'd quote them here; they are simply ridiculous. But you don't care as long as you get a clock for half of the price marked on the same goods yesterday and to-day. You'll be surprised to find how much of a clock a dollar—even less—will buy. If you want a clock come in and let's talk it over. I've all kinds, from the nickel alarm to the fine parlor.

This sale commences to-morrow—Saturday, April 11,—and closes Saturday night, April 18. . . . . .

I've got the clocks, you've got the money—let's trade.

MOORE, THE JEWELER, HOLDEN'S BLOCK, PALMER.

New Goods Just Opened.
Spring, 1896. ◆◆◆◆◆

A FINE LINE OF
Wash Goods,
Table Linen,
Napkins and Towels.
Goblin and
Pongee Draperies.
A VERY FULL ASSORTMENT OF Dress Linings,
Buttons
and Braids.

IN OUR Grocery Department we have a great variety of FANCY GOODS.

IN CANNED GOODS the quality ranges from the cheapest to the best goods canned, and the prices guaranteed to be as low as any dealer in town. Call and see for yourselves.

J. B. SHAW,

FEENEY'S BLOCK, PALMER.

The Latest Goods

for men is what we want to talk about. Only give us an opportunity and we'll convince you that we have everything you need at this season. Call and see what we have, that's all we ask. The neckwear we have chosen for your inspection isn't to be duplicated in any near-by place. The new creations are simply wonderful—can't begin to describe them, you'll have to see them.

The Spring Hats,

Have you noticed 'em? Missed it if you haven't; all the popular makes in derbys, and those soft flanges for such as prefer them.

Fancy Shirts

are more varied in design than ever. You can't fail to be pleased with what we've selected for you. Of course those who come first will have the pick of the stock. We may be able to duplicate the figures and we may not. Better not put off your seeing them.

C. K. Gamwell, Palmer, Mass.

FOR COMFORT,
BUY A . . .
HOT WATER BAG,
At... LeGro & Lynde's, Druggists,
Next to Post Office

The Journal.

FRIDAY EVENING, APRIL 10, 1896.

NEIGHBORHOOD NOTES.

MONSON.

ANNUAL TOWN MEETING.

License for the First Time in 20 Years—The Vote in Detail.

William J. Ricketts was chosen moderator of the town meeting on Monday, but he was not present when the choice was announced, and there was some delay before he presented himself.

Article three was first taken up, and Julius N. Graves and George A. Harvey were chosen surveyors of lumber; Lyman C. Flynt and Harrison Howe, measurers of wood and bark; Harrison Howe, sealer of weights and measures; Edward P. Newton, John C. Maguire and Joel H. Thompson, field drivers.

Rev. James Tufts said that he noticed in the selectmen's report that the $300 which was appropriated last year for the suppression of the illegal sales of liquor had not been used, and he would like to enquire if the selectmen thought there was no liquor sold in town. To this Arthur D. Norcross replied that he presumed that there was liquor sold, but doubted if there was as much sold as was reported to be. There was quite a skirmish over this matter.

The list of jurors as prepared by the selectmen was accepted, with the exception of Dr. Perlin W. Soule, who was excused on the ground of profession. Rev. Harry Blackford made a strong speech in favor of enforcing the liquor law, and nominated as a prosecuting committee Joel H. Thompson, Horace Squier and Charles C. Keep. Frank E. Morris proposed that the sum of $750 be appropriated for carrying on the work, and the motion was carried. It was voted that the dog money should be used for schools.

When the question of the appropriation for schools came up there was some lively scrapping. As has been mentioned in the JOURNAL, the farmers to a considerable extent oppose the closing of the out district schools, and there seemed to be an impression among them at the meeting that they were the victims of some sort of a grudge. The transportation item in which $400 was asked for seemed to them to be altogether unnecessary, and George M. Severy moved that the sum be struck out, and it was so voted. Dr. N. W. Rand made a good speech in favor of the system as adopted by the school board, saying that no schools where there were more than four pupils had been closed with the exception of East Hill, and that was with the consent of all the parents except one; that better results were obtained where there were but one or two classes in a school than where there were a dozen or more; that an experienced teacher could do better work than an inexperienced one, and that it was cheaper to transport scholars than to keep open a school for so small a number. A. Haskell White thought that personal reasons might have entered into the matter, and wanted the entire appropriation cut down. Rev. F. S. Hatch asked for light on the matter, and moved that $375 be appropriated, and to this the majority agreed. A. D. Norcross spoke in favor of an appropriation of $6000 for roads, as this is the average sum which the roads have annually cost for some time. He also spoke in favor of macadam for Main street, and divided the sum named thus: $4000 for highways, $2000 for macadam. This seemed to be pleasing to the voters in general, and the appropriation was so made. It was voted to appropriate $2000 for the support of the poor; $300 for the library; $1300 for discount on taxes, with a discount of 5 per cent on taxes paid on or before August 1, par to January 1, 1897, and 6 per cent interest after that date; salary of tax-collector, $175; for sidewalks the sum of $500 was appropriated; for street lighting, $1575; cemeteries, $800. In regard to the last-named appropriation Arthur D. Ellis said that he thought that the town could afford to be generous at this time, when so much was to be done by outside money; and Rev. F. S. Hatch spoke of the vile condition in which the town tomb is. He said that at a recent funeral when the body was to be placed in the tomb the bearers were obliged to procure rubber boots before they could enter, the water was so deep. Appropriation for Memorial day, $100; for fire department supplies and pay of firemen, $300. It was voted to lease the land on which the engine house stands for nine years at an annual rental of $22.50; to authorize the town treasurer to borrow money if necessary for use; to appropriate for interest on water bonds, $2400; miscellaneous, $3000, and $3000 was voted to be taken from the corporation bank tax for the contingent fund.

George H. Foskit had charge of the ballot box and William H. Anderson of the check list. The license issue had been looked upon as "mighty onsartin," by many; there were others who were sure that as the town had gone no-license for some 20 years it was sure to do so again. The result was license by five votes. The choice of town officers is pleasing to the town in general, but the talk heard on the streets is largely in regard to the license vote.

The result of the vote was as follows, a star indicating election:

TOWN CLERK.

*Carlos M. Gage,	508

TOWN TREASURER.

*Edward D. Cushman,	510

TAX COLLECTOR.

*Ralph Clifford,	277	Charles E. Smith,	256

SELECTMEN AND OVERSEERS OF THE POOR.

*A. D. Norcross,	403	L. C. Flynt,	245
*G. H. Foskit,	385	O. E. Bradway,	160
*W. H. Bugbee,	365

ASSESSORS.

*C. C Keep,	340	O. E. Bradway,	210
*W. L. Ricketts,	357	Chester Blanchard,	195
*Harrison Howe,	365	R. N. Hayes,	166

SCHOOL COMMITTEE FOR THREE YEARS.

*Harry Blackford,	319	William Sutcliffe,	217
*N. W. Rand,	255	Lee Blanchard,	107

WATER COMMISSIONER FOR THREE YEARS.

*W. H. Gifford,	423

CEMETERY COMMISSIONER FOR THREE YEARS.

*G. C. Flynt,	419

CONSTABLES.

*J. H. Thompson,	466	*T. J. Sault,	308
*H. D. Osborne,	364	H. A. Felton,	293
*D. D. Maney,	339	M. J. Kennedy,	229
*E. P. Newton,	311

FENCE VIEWERS.

*Lee Blanchard,	292	Horace Bumstead,	226
*A. H. White,	266	C. M. Webber,	173
*H. A. Rindge,	251	M. D. Maloney,	158

AUDITORS.

*R. P. Cushman,	348	F. L. Bliss,	203
*W. J. Ricketts,	322	D. W. Shea,	120

LICENSE.

*Yes,	276	No,	271

A recount of the license vote was petitioned for, and was given yesterday. No errors were discovered. Speculation is rife concerning the three licenses which the selectmen have power to grant. It is not known that any have as yet been applied for, neither is it known whether the selectmen will grant any if applied for, as they are noncommittal as to their intentions. They have organized as follows: Arthur D. Norcross, chairman of the selectmen; George H. Foskit, chairman of the overseers of poor; William H. Bugbee, chairman of the board of health.

The Flynt—Cushman Wedding.

An exceedingly pretty wedding occurred at the home of Mrs. William K. Flynt on Fountain Row at noon Tuesday, when her daughter, Mabelle King, became the wife of Robert Holmes Cushman. The parlors were handsomely decorated with Florida smilax, palms, Easter lilies, white tulips and white pinks, the ceremony being performed under a canopy of the smilax. To the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Grace S. Cushman, a neice of the groom, and Miss Gertrude B. Gage, the ushers, William Flynt, brother of the bride, and Edward F. Cushman, nephew of the groom, entered the parlor and passed to where Rev. F. S. Hatch stood. They carried white ribbons which were fastened at either side of the dining room door, thus forming an aisle. They were followed by eight little girls walking in pairs; they were relatives of the bride and groom and were Dorothy and Eudocia Dewey, Ruth Flynt, Kate Cushman, Carrie Lyon King, Marion Lincoln, Carrie Flynt and Blanche Cushman. As they approached the spot where the ceremony was to be performed they separated, and the bride with her maid of honor, Miss Katherine Terrell of New Hartford, Ct., and the groom with his best man, Stephen Jones of Boston, passed between them. The Episcopal form of service was used. After the marriage Mr. and Mrs. Cushman received the congratulations of about 90 relatives and friends. Refreshments were served in the dining room, which was prettily decorated with maiden-hair fern and pink flowers. The bride looked particularly charming in a gown of white bengaline. She wore a veil, and carried white lilacs. Miss Terrell wore a white muslin frock with trimmings of lace, and carried LaFrance roses. Dorothy and Eudocia Dewey wore green dresses, Ruth Flynt and Kate Cushman wore white, Carrie Lyon King and Marion Lincoln blue, Carrie Flynt white mull over green, and Blanche Cushman white mull over pink; all carried lilies of the valley.

Among the guests were Charles F. Stearns of Providence, R. I., Dr. J. N. Coolidge of Boston, both of the class of '89, Amherst College, of which the groom and the best man were members; Miss Myra Fiske of Westfield, Miss Addie Peck, Mrs. Ada Smith Francis, Mrs. Minnie Smith Beebe and Miss Helen Tucker, who with the bride formed a club when in Monson Academy, Mrs. Hector DeCastro of New York, William A. Lincoln and family, William C. Dewy and family, Henry A. King and family, all of Springfield, Rufus Flynt and family of Palmer, Mrs. J. V. Squier of Hartford, Miss Mary Lathrop of Stafford Springs. Barr of Springfield catered and Gale had charge of the floral decorations. Mr. and Mrs. Cushman left in the afternoon on a wedding tour, and are now at Ashville, N. C. On their return they will live in the Flynt cottage on High street.

Windsor Club's Easter Ball.

The annual Easter ball given by the Windsor club Monday night was very enjoyable, albeit the attendance was not as large as it has been in former years. The gallery was filled with spectators and the music by Bird's orchestra of Marlboro was fine. The floor director was Stephen H. Newton; assistant, Orillus P. Holdridge; aids, Charles B. Howard, George H. Seymour, Charles S Thayer, Frank L. Shaw, Lyman M. Mason, Thomas Spurr, Charles F. Peasley, Thomas Wentworth, Delmore F. Pease, Fred G. Thayer, Henry G. Wentworth; reception committee, William H. Gifford, George C. Flynt, Lyman C. Flynt, Julius H. Heimann, Sylvan B. Denlinger, Arthur S. Anderson, Launcelot N. Howard; committee of arrangements, Frank L. Shaw, Orillus P. Holdridge, Stephen H. Newton, Henry G. Wentworth. The grand march was led by Miss Manning and Charles B. Howard, followed by 36 couples. Among those present were: Harry Neibuler, Henry Hurley, Charles H. Ricketts, William H. Gifford, Misses Lena and Musa Babbitt, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Anderson, Charles Abbott, Dr. Andrew D Coleman, Misses Maggie and Delia Gavin, Miss Collins, Charles S. Thayer, Misses Mary and Minnie Anderson, James Fitzgerald of Stafford Springs, Herbert C. Norcross, Mr. Parsons, Miss Crowe, Joseph Chandler, Launcelot N. Howard, Sylvan B. Denlinger, Miss Manchester, Miss Annie Gallivan, Daniel Gallivan, Lysander Nevins, Eugene Hodge, Miss Birmingham, Orillus P. Holdridge, Miss Mary Hobbs, Miss Proulx, Miss Spencer, C. P. Wentworth, Miss Manning, Michael F. Moore, Miss McKenna, George Entwistle, Miss English, Mary O'Brien, Henry O'Brien, Miss Erskine, Dr. Nichols of Stafford Springs, Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Thayer, Miss Winnie Thayer, Harold Thompson, George Hobbs, Miss Alice Crossman, Harry Miller, Mr. Ritter, Miss Connell, Jerry Lyons, Peter Ward, Misses Hannah and Lizzie Parker, Misses Julia and Sadie Keefe, Ralph Darling, Miss Jennie Webb, George H. Seymour, John Keefe, Miss Marcella Coyle, Frank L Shaw, Mr. Welch, Miss Fuller, William Burdick, J. F. Crowley, Francis Hughes, Nicholas Hughes, Allen J. Buffington, Miss Mary Kennedy, Miss Bisset of Stafford Springs, Frank L. Severy, Miss Minnie Gilligan, Miss Roberts, Ezra Gould, Miss Kempton and Charles Kempton of Palmer, Miss Bacon, Miss Maggie Moriarty, Fred Moore, Arthur Bates, Miss Welch, Thomas Burke, Stephen H. Newton, Samuel Brown, Harry Needham, Willie Abbot, Perry Marsh, Frank M. Fenton, Arthur Orcutt, Ralph Munn of Springfield, Miss Mary Anderson, Eugene Cook, Mrs. Kerigan, Misses Mollie and Annie Lewis, Mrs. Rood, Miss Lizzie O'Brien.

Death of Mrs. Daniel G. Potter.

Mrs. Daniel G. Potter died Saturday morning about 5 o'clock, after a long illness. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at her late home on North Main street, Rev. F S. Hatch officiating. The burial was in the Center cemetery. Mrs. Potter's maiden name was Lydia A. Blaisdell, and she was born in Middletown, N. H., Sept. 15, 1829. On the death of her parents she come to Monson to live with an elder sister, and was married to Mr. Potter Sept. 16, 1851. She had three children, only one of whom survives her, Minnie A., wife of Ralph Clifford. Mrs. Potter was frail for a number of years, so did not mingle greatly in society; she had many friends, however, who were always welcome at her home. Mr. Potter is one of Monson's most prominent citizens.

A Small Fire.

Monson had a little excitement last night in the way of a small fire. It was in Michael O'Brien's house, and was confined to the furnishings of the sitting room. The alarm was given, and the department responded, but before it arrived Mrs. O'Brien had nearly extinguished the fire. A young son of Mr. O'Brien, in attempting to take a large kerosene lamp from the shelf, in some way caught it in the draperies and it was overturned. In an instant the lounge and other articles of furniture were ablaze, but Mrs. O'Brien caught up a rug and with it soon subdued the fire.

Mrs. Frank M. Fenton is in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Todd have a son.

Miss Bertha Underwood is ill with tonsilitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Bennett have a daughter.

Mrs. L. W. Rood has been quite ill for the past week.

The Hibernians had a dance in Osborne's hall last night.

Fuller is showing an elegant line of spring shoes this year.

James Duncan, employed at Amherst, was home the first part of the week.

The telephone exchange is in operation, and there are 32 instruments in use.

The auditorium of the Congregational church is being wired for electricity.

The Universalists will hold the annual parish meeting next Monday evening.

Fernando Strong of Willimantic, formerly of Monson, has been in town this week.

William H. Andrews has purchased the trotter, "McKinley Bill," of C. M. Webber.

The Academy opened Wednesday after a week's vacation. It will close again June 17th.

H. C. Needham of New York has been the guest of his sister, Mrs. G. C. Flynt, this week.

Mrs. Hector DeCastro of New York has been visiting Mrs. S. F. Cushman, Jr, this week.

Mrs. J. V. Squier of Hartford has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. K. Flynt, this week.

A meeting of the historical society was held Monday evening, and five new members were admitted.

It is understood that arrangements are being made for a lecture on the X rays, in Memorial Hall, at an early date.

The subject of the sermon at the Universalist church Sunday morning will be "The condition and occupations of our friends in Heaven."

Masters Fred G. and Harold E. Rogers are spending a week at their old home on East Hill, but will return to school in Brattleboro, Vt., to-morrow.

Elmer Wingate, carriage painter, of Amesbury, has entered the employ of Lorenzo Hutchinson. Mr. and Mrs. Wingate stop at the Century Hotel.

Miss Lillian A. Wiswell has been spending this week with Monson friends. Miss Wiswell was formerly a teacher at No. 8, and is now teaching in Boston.

The State street school house bounds are again under discussion, and a resurvey has been made. It is not understood that the matter has been definitely settled.

Spaulding & Co. of New York are to establish a bicycle agency at W. N. Flynt & Son's store. The Spaulding wheel has a great reputation as being first-class in every respect.

Rev. W. H. Marble is attending the annual conference, and there will be no preaching service in the Methodist church Sunday. Sunday school and prayer meeting will be held as usual.

The subject of Rev. F. S. Hatch's sermon at the Congregational church Sunday morning will be: "How we know that Jesus rose from the dead." The congregation from the Methodist church is invited to attend.

The last number in the Academy course of entertainments will be given one week from to-night in Memorial Hall. It will consist of a lecture by Principal Burke on Alaska and the Yellowstone National Park, illustrated by about 75 stereopticon views.

The parish supper at the Universalist church Tuesday evening is spoken of as having been very fine. After the supper the company listened to excellent speeches by Rev. Charles Conklin of Springfield, Rev. H. F. Moulton of Palmer and W. L Ricketts.

The senior class of the Academy has elected these officers for the spring term: President, Grace L. Cushman; vice president, Horace W. Cristy; secretary, Grace E. Webber; treasurer, Leonard A. Prouty. Committees on music and printing for graduation exercises have also been appointed.

John S. Bogan has purchased of John L. Bacon of Brimfield the block on the corner of Main and Lincoln streets for $12,000. Mr. Bogan formerly owned the block. He has sold to Mr. Bacon a house on King street in Springfield for $50,000, and has sold the farm owned by Louis Aldrich to Talcott Egerton for $800.

"Nevada" will be presented by local talent at Memorial Hall next Tuesday night, the proceeds to go to the Monson Cornet band. The play has been rehearsed weekly all winter, and will doubtless be well given. After the play there will be a dance, for which David Bissett will prompt. Music by the band orchestra of ten pieces.

Thomas Roberts, 76, a well-known man, died last Friday afternoon of pleurisy and grippe at the Monson town farm. Mr. Roberts was born in England; he came to this country when a young man and settled in Monson, where he was employed in the mills. He married Miss Sutcliffe, and after her death married Miss Letter. Her death occurred a year or two later. Mr. Roberts' nearest relatives living are two grandchildren residing in Connecticut.

District Deputy Grand Master E. W. Wall and suite installed the following officers of Monson Lodge, I. O. O. F., last evening: N. G., E. B. Potter; V. G., C. H. Wright; R. S., John Cross; P. S., C. F. Aldrich; treasurer, A. A. Babbitt; conductor, J. N. Graves; W., R. C. Millar; O. G., F. J. Flynt; I. G., David Bradfoot; R. S. N. G., G. W. Adams; L. S. N. G., H. M. Smith; R. S. V. G., C. R. Buffington; L. S. V. G., George L. Keeney; R. S. S., T. J. Sault; L. S. Kennedy.

Bertha, wife of Frank G. Tobey, died Wednesday at her South Monson home after a long illness. The funeral was held this afternoon, Rev. W. M. Marble officiating; the burial will be at Andover, Ct., to-morrow. Mrs. Toby was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jones, and was born at Andover, Ct., 26 years ago. When a young girl she came to Monson to live with Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Squier. She married Mr. Toby about eight years ago and leaves three children, who will probably be boarded at the Home for the Friendless in Springfield.

There is much discussion as to who will receive the liquor licenses, and it is naturally supposed that the two hotels would be most likely to be favored, but it is understood that the proprietors of the Century Hotel will not take one under and conditions. Monson and Stafford Springs have hotels owned by representative men of the town who are not dependent upon the income of the houses for their support, but try to run them for the best interests of the town. There is some talk of a saloon being located across the river from Palmer on the quarry road, but there is little prospect that the selectmen would grant a license there. Many are hoping that only one or two licenses will be granted, instead of the three allowed according to the population of the town.

HOLLAND.

The town meeting Monday resulted as follows: Moderator, F. B. Blodgett; clerk and treasurer, W. L. Weber; selectmen, F. B. Blodgett, W. A. Weber and C. A. Webber; school committee for three years, C. A. Webber; auditor, G. L. Webber; constables, D. C. Bennett, Myron Davis. Appropriations—Schools, $150; library, $15; paupers, $100; highways, $400; bridges, $50; miscellaneous, $375; total, $1080. Liquor license: Yes, 5; no, 12.

BELCHERTOWN.

The shoe shop is now employing 50 hands.

The personal property of the late Lyman Rice was sold at auction Monday.

The auction sale of Baggs and Dillon was held Wednesday. They sold some very fine horses.

George Fisher, who had two horses die from poisoning, has another valuable one very sick.

The creamery association made during the month of March 20,000 pounds of butter, all of which was sold to the 75 stores using the Belchertown creamery butter.

At the Grange meeting Tuesday evening the first and second degrees were conferred upon a class of seven. The Guild gave an entertainment Wednesday evening, which was followed by ice cream and cake.

George C. Goodwin, 53, died last Saturday night at his home near the depot, after a long and severe illness. A widow and three children, Miss Olive Goodwin, George and Charles, survive him. Of his father's family, one brother and four sisters are living. Mr. Goodwin was a native of Warwick, and was afterward a resident of Ware, where he enlisted in 1861 in Co. F, 31st Massachusetts volunteers, as a private. He was discharged September 9, 1865, as corporal. The funeral was held in the Methodist church Tuesday at 2 p. m. He was a member of E. J. Griggs post, 97, and was buried under its auspices.

HAMPDEN.

The schools commence next week, and the scholars from the outlying districts are to be transported to the Center school.

The pastor of the Methodist church, Rev. John Bennett, left Wednesday for conference, but it is expected that he will return for another year and supply at Glendale also.

Contrary to expectation, the town meeting Monday passed off very quietly, but there is dissatisfaction expressed at the vote to give the New England Telephone Co. $500 to build a line here, a measure which was carried by men who pay only a poll tax, and there is talk of calling another meeting to rescind the vote.

"When April blows its horn
It is good for hay and corn."

Surely if this old saying is true it will be a good year for farmers, for the oldest inhabitant does not remember a harder March and April so far. But with all the wicked weather David McCray's people dined March 1st on dandelions gathered on their farm, a fact hard to match; and Mrs. William Johnson picked pansy blossoms April 1st.

At the annual town meeting held Monday the vote on the liquor question was quite a surprise, the town going for license by a majority of 26. Money was voted for an extension of the N. E. Telephone company's service to the town. The officers and appropriations are: Moderator, W. R. Sessions; clerk and treasurer, John Q. Adams; selectmen and overseers of the poor, Mortimer Pease, Nelson M Carew and Sumner Smith; assessor, Sidney P. Chapin; school committee, D. Lincoln McCray; auditor, Clark Goodwin; constables, Edward P. Lyons, William S. Hunt and Willis A. Chapin; library trustee, Julia A. Burleigh; prosecuting agent for violation of liquor law, Sidney P. Chapin. Appropriations—Schools, $1300; permanent repairs, $100; library, $105; text-books, $150; paupers, $700; highways, $800; school superintendent, $100; public telephone, $500; interest, $60; contingent account, $700; total, $4515. Liquor licenses: Yes, 65; no, 36.

NORTH WILBRAHAM.

The Misses Ada and Annie Clement were called home this week on account of the death of their mother at Fairfield.

M. A. Lane has about decided not to rebuild the pavilion recently destroyed by fire, but instead he will enlarge the dining room at the Lake View House for a hall for dancing parties, etc.

The annual town meeting was held Monday. Two articles in the warrant aroused considerable interest and excitement; one relative to the enlarging of the cemetery and the other the straightening of the road where it crosses the tracks of the Boston and Albany railroad out toward Ludlow. The following is a list of the officers and appropriations for the ensuing year: Moderator, Francis E. Clark; clerk and treasurer, Charles E. Stacy; selectmen and overseers of the poor, Alvin Chilson and Fred W. Green; assessors, Frank A. Gurney, W. F. Morgan and B. F. Green; school committee for three years, Jason Butler; auditor, Francis E. Clark; constables, Edgar C. Clark, Frank R. Rindge, Earl M. Scott, James H. Farr and Calvin G. Robbins; tax collector, Hiram Danks; library trustee, H. Willis Cutler. Appropriations—Schools, $2800; repairs on schoolhouses, $200; drawing teacher, $100; music, $150; library, $25; advance tuition Wesleyan Academy, $20; paupers, $900; highways and bridges, $1500; grading and hardening Glendale, $350; sidewalks, $200; transportation of children, $60; care of cemetery, $25; winding town clock, $25; street lights, $250; prosecuting illegal sale of liquors, $200; new road as laid by county commissioners, $2300; enlarging cemetery, $400; Memorial Day, $75; contingent account and town officers, $1500; changing of grade, Butler crossing, $400; total, $11,745. Liquor licenses: Yes, 46; no, 127. A recount of the votes cast for selectmen resulted in a tie betwen Earl M. Scott and Jesse L. Rice. Warrants are posted for another meeting to be held next Thursday, for the election of one member of the board.

Attempt to Wreck a Train.

Albert Butler of North Wilbraham, a watchman in the mills there, was arrested by Officer Studley Monday afternoon on suspicion of attempting to wreck a train on the Boston and Albany road a mile east of North Wilbraham Saturday night. An eastbound train was passing the "Sodom" bridge, when one of the men on the train had occasion to step to the door and saw in light of the car windows a pile of sleepers on the track. The train was easily stopped, it being on the up grade, and the sleepers were discovered wedged in securely across the track to prevent them from being easily knocked away. They had just time to remove them before the west-bound freight came down the grade at a good speed. The purpose of the would-be wreckers is not known, unless it was to ditch a passenger train and get the plunder. The bank there is over 30 feet high, and it would have caused a fearful wreck if they had succeeded.

WARREN.

Henry T. Bailey, state superintendent of drawing, gave a very interesting talk in the town hall Wednesday evening on "Drawing in the public schools." The lecture was illustrated by blackboard sketches.

There was a lively runaway here Wednesday morning about 6.30. A team owned by J. P. Carey, a livery stable keeper of North Brookfield, and driven by a Mr. Haggerty of that place, ran away on Main street. It collided near the watering trough with George Mundell's milk wagon, overturning the carriage and throwing out the occupants, the lady receiving a severe bruise on the forehead. The team continued up Maple street, and freed itself from the carriage, ran down the railroad track to the iron bridge, where it fell through, breaking two of its legs. The horse was killed. George Mundell's wagon escaped with a broken whiffletree.

There was a narrow escape from a serious wreck on the Boston and Albany railroad early yesterday morning. A wedge-shaped piece of steel about six feet long and eighteen inches wide dropped from an east-bound freight train as it lay across the rails of the north track near the Swan bridge. The "owl express" passing west at 1.20 o'clock struck the steel and passed safely over it, but a west-bound freight following the express struck the steel, which in some way was carried for about a mile until it struck G. C. Buffington's switch near the station. The piece of steel was doubled up and a car loaded with coal was thrown from the track. The wrecker was sent for from Springfield and the track was finally cleared.

The town meeting Monday was a very quiet one. One of the important items of business transacted was the appointment of a committee to look up the matter of repairs on the roof of the town hall, of enlarging the stage and frescoing the interior. The committee is: W. A. Jenks, E R. Foskit, F. E. Gleason. It was voted to buy the land of the heirs of J. W. Hastings for cemetery purposes for $500. It was voted to raise $1000 for the cemetery commission to expend in improving the land recently bought for cemetery purposes. It was voted to raise $1500 for building a new barn at the town farm. D. G. Hitchcock, S. N. Cutler and George Bliss were appointed a committee to investigate in regard to a place for sheltering tramps and to report at the next meeting. One hundred and seventy-five dollars was appropriated to pay for one-half of the cost of a fire pump to be placed in the mill power-house at West Warren. The appropriation for sidewalks was doubled, one-half to be used for new walks and one-half for repairs. Four hundred dollars was voted to be used to remove stones from the highways and turn out the water. Officers and appropriations follow: Moderator, Charles H. Walker; clerk and treasurer, Charles B. Blair; selectmen, William E. Patrick three years, Albert H. Converse two years, Wilson H. Fairbank one year; overseers of the poor, Ella E. Morse three years, George Bliss two years, Samuel N. Cutler one year; assessors, Isaac E. Moore three years, Albert H. Converse two years, Frank E. Gleason one year; school committee, Joseph G. Hastings three years, Julia M. Hitchcock three years, Olney W. Phelps three years; auditors, William L. Curtis, Harvey S. Ellis, Bartholomew A. Lydon, Jr.; constables, Thomas Cunningham, Samuel D. Holdsworth, Walter A. Putnam, John W. Quinlan, Clarence L Thompson; tax collector, William H. Kelley; cemetery committee, Wilson H. Fairbank three years, Joseph G. Hastings one year. Appropriations—Town officers, $1800; schools, 16,200; care of cemetery, 250; library, 800 and dog tax; text-books, 1200; paupers, 2500; highways, 3900; sidewalks, 600; fire department, 1800; night police, 1464; street lights, 3000; insurance, 500; interest, 1800; Memorial Day, 100; contingent account, 1500; miscellaneous, 8685; total, 43,099. Liquor license: Yes, 208; no, 331.

BRIMFIELD.

Mrs. Thomas returned last week from a visit in Wakefield.

Mrs. Mary Shaw is the guest of her sister, Mrs. G. M. Hitchcock.

John Noyes is visiting in town for a few days from Jamestown, N. Y.

Miss Emma Stone, who was dangerously ill with pneumonia, is improving.

Thomas Morgan returned last Saturday from a visit in Binghampton, N. Y.

Miss Florence C. Bliss is home from Bridgewater normal school for a vacation.

Mr. Anderson of Monson is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Horatio L. Converse.

Mrs. Sarah Brisbane of New York is at the home of her brother, George Whitehouse.

Easter services were observed in the First church last Sunday morning, with a concert in the evening.

Mrs. Charles Sawin and granddaughter, Miss Edith, of Worcester, are guests of her son, Dr. Sawin.

Miss Ida Brown, who is attending Miss Simonds's kindergarten school in Boston, is home for a ten-days' recess.

Mrs. Waldo Prickette returned to her home in Springfield Tuesday, accompanied with her mother, Mrs. Albert Pierson.

The public schools opened Monday after a vacation of six weeks. Miss Agard has resigned her position as teacher of the Center grammar school and is teaching in East Longmeadow. Her position is filled by Miss Lucy Booth of Holliston. Miss Margaret Locke succeeds Miss Morse in the primary department.

There has been much sickness in town lately, but many of those who had been ill are gaining. Rev. Mr. Kyle was able to occupy his pulpit last Sunday. Mrs. Pierce is recovering from pneumonia; Miss Emma Stone is recovering from the same disease. Cheney Newton is able to be out again, and Mrs. Carder is recovering from the grippe. G. M. Hitchcock was confined to the house for several days last week, but was able to attend to his duties as clerk at Monday's town meeting.

Leonard L. Chaffee, Jr., has been chosen to superintend the highways this year, and many residents are hoping for different roads. If a certain distance could be hardended each year on all of the roads, instead of scraping the old, worn-out dirt in to blow off again, the people would find in a few years that, by the carting on of the right kind of dirt, the town would be benefitted by the money expended on the highways, and then have some first-class roads. So Mr. Chaffee, cart instead of scrape.

At the annual town meeting Monday it was voted to accept the provisions of the act of the Legislature which empowers the state library commission to expend the sum of $100 for books for the public library of any town whose valuation does not exceed $600,000, and which maintained a free public library before the library act of 1890. The act of 1890 was passed "to promote the establishment efficiency of free public libraries." Only six towns in Massachusetts which were entitled to the benefit of the succeeding act relative to libraries already established had not accepted it last year when the annual report of the commission was published. It was also voted to buy flags for schools; the sum of $50 was appropriated for Memorial Day, and $30 for markers for the graves of Revolutionary soldiers. The officers elected were: Town clerk, G. M. Hitchcock; treasurer, G. M. Hitchcock; selectmen, N. S. Hubbard, A. B. Brown, G. W. Sherman; assessors, G. H. Streeter, C. C. Brown, Sanford Booth; collector, Elijah Allen; auditors, G. W. Earle, Edward Bliss; constables, F. E. Cook, Orrin Hicks, Peter Preu; school committee, 3 years, Dr R. V. Sawin; overseers of the poor, F. E. Cook, S. H. Adams, O E. Parker; library trustees, 3 years, Rev. W. K. Peirce, Miss M. Anna Tarbell. Appropriations—Schools, $1450, library, 25; text-books, 150; paupers, 1200; highways, 2000; bridges, 200; town debt, 125; Memorial Day, 50; miscellaneous, 700; conveyance, 100; repairs of schoolhouses, 150; superintendent's salary, 225; school committee, 50; officers' salaries, 500; flags for schoolhouses, 50; markers for soldiers' graves, 30. Liquor license: Yes, 10; no, 65.

WALES.

Rev. Mr. Mitchell of East Cambridge commenced a series of revival meetings Tuesday night in the Baptist vestry.

Rev. George W. Camp, wife and daughter, with delegates E. J. Gardner and M. Royce, have gone to the Methodist conference held in Springfield this week.

Mrs. Thomas Lewis died very suddenly Monday, after a brief sickness. A short service was held Monday evening at the house and the remains were taken to North Adams Tuesday for interment. This leaves Mr. Lewis alone, as they had no children. He has the sympathy of the community. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis were members of the Baptist church, and Mrs. Lewis was an earnest Christian and much respected, always cheerful and happy, carrying sunlight wherever she went.

Curnell Baker is quite sick at his home with the grippe.

Mrs. Fenton of Willimantic has been spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Baker.

Mrs. Worth, who has been quite ill with pneumonia, is recovering.

Town Officer's Reports Criticised—A Lively Town Meeting.

The annual town meeting on Monday drew out about four times the usual number of voters, and will pass into history as the liveliest and most exciting of any ever held in the town of Wales. For some years there has been more or less criticism regarding certain matters in the town reports, and the critics brought matters to a head in Monday's meeting by openly attacking the reports of the selectmen and assessors, charging O. P. Royce with an unwarranted increase of expenses in certain directions, with falsification regarding the copying of certain town records, and with issuing a valuation list containing 40 per cent of errors. For several years the valuation list issued by the assessors has contained many incorrect figures, but these it has always been claimed were made by the printer. The valuation lists were received in town a few weeks ago, containing the usual errors, or if possible, more than heretofore. The attention of the chairman of the board was called to the matter, and the rest of the reports were immediately unavailable. Estates were figured up, and errors ranging from 50 cents to $50 found. Last Saturday night it was announced that the town reports had not arrived as expected, but they were finally found and those who wanted got a copy and began investigation.

The town meeting Monday was held in the vestry of the old Baptist church, a dark, cold, dirty, dismal place. H. E. Shaw was chosen moderator, and turning his coat collar up around his neck and drawing his cap down over his ears, grasped a stick of wood for a gavel and called for order. The reports of the town clerk and treasurer were accepted, and then came the criticism of the report of the selectmen. It was asked why the town clerk was paid about $50 last year, when the work had been done in 1890 for $13.70; also why the amount paid the assessors had increased from $28 to $92 in the same time, the selectmen from $21.90 to $59.64, the town officers from $200 to $400, and the bill for express, postage and stationery from $6.50 to $43; for the latter items it was claimed that the town of Brimfield paid only about $12 yearly. Mr. Royce stated that the bill for express covered matter sent the town clerk, overseers of the poor, assessors and selectmen, and 40 books sent by the state for public library use, but it was openly doubted if these could all be made to show $43. The assessors' report was next taken up. It was claimed that the reports of the town officers had in the past been deliberately kept back from the voters until the morning of the town meeting, so that no one could tell what they contained. It was alleged that the footing of the assessors' book was about $150 more than the amount given to the collector, and what had become of this amount was a question which was not answered. It was stated that a correct assessors' report had not been issued for six or eight years, and that in eight pages of last year's report, which was acknowledged to be a copy of the valuation list, there were 57 errors. It was voted not to accept the reports of the selectmen and the assessors until a committee had been appointed to investigate them. The report of the committee appointed to investigate the matter of copying old records showed that they had been appointed last fall after a statement by O. P. Royce that the state inspector of records had ordered three books copied immediately, or the town would be liable to prosecution. The committee read a copy of the letter sent the commissioner and also his reply, in which he stated that he had done nothing regarding the Wales records since 1892, then only in regard to rebinding, not copying, and hoped that the records would not be copied. The committee reported three books needing attention; they had been mutilated and partially destroyed by carelessness, but could be preserved by rebinding, which was ordered done. The collection of taxes was sold to the lowest bidder; bidding started at $100, and after twenty-nine bids it was given to H. A. McFarland for $35. It was voted to appropriate the $235 now in the treasury for prosecuting illegal selling, and H. A. McFarland was appointed prosecuting officer. It was voted to buy a chemical engine for fire protection, the selectmen to have care of the machine and give bonds for its safe keeping and working order. It was voted to buy a new safe for the town treasurer and to appropriate $300 for electric lights. The discount on taxes will be the same as last year. The provisions of the public statues regarding public libraries were accepted, and Rev. G. W. Davis, Rev. C. L. Camp and J. C. Burley were appointed library trustees.

In spite of the opposition to Mr. Royce he secured a re-election as town clerk and selectman, the officers elected being: Town clerk, O. P. Royce; selectmen, J. C. Burley, J. H. Loudon, O. P. Royce; assessors, E. L Needham, W. M. Peck, Nathan Green; overseers of the poor, W. A. Lyon, N. F. Rourke, W. W. Eager; school committee, three years, H. E. Shaw; town treasurer, W. A. Lyon; constables, W. W. Eager, LaRoy Squier, C. G. Thompson. Appropriations—Schools, $850 and Massachusetts school and dog fund, making about $1400 in all; highways and bridges, $700; officers' salaries, $200; miscellaneous expenses, $200; discount on taxes, $125; snow paths, $50; fire engine, $600; new safe for town treasurer, $40; electric lights, $300; public library, $100; total appropriations, $3862.

Beecham's pills for constipation 10c and 25c. Get the book at your druggist's and go by it.

Annual sales more than 6,000,000 boxes.

Try a can of Hopkins' Steamed Hominy (Hulled corn.) It is delicious. Full qt., 10c.

Surely Most Welcome News to Sufferers From Female Complaints.

It is a fact that our women who suffer from female complaints and are consequently weak, tired, nervous, dragged out and full of pains and aches, do not have the same opportunity to be cured as do the residents of the great cities where the most successful specialists in female diseases reside. In other words, our women are debarred from seeking a cure by the great and skilled physicians owing to the cost of travel to the large city and the high fees charged by such specialists.

Here, therefore, is a chance for the sick and su

Let the men wash, if they won't get you Pearline. Let them try it for themselves, and see if they don't say that washing with soap is too hard for any woman. This hard work that Pearline saves isn't the whole matter; it saves money, too—money that's thrown away in clothes needlessly worn out and rubbed to pieces when you wash by main strength in the old way. That appeals—where is the man who wouldn't want to have the washing made easier—when he can save money by it? 456

Beware of imitations. JAMES PYLE, N. Y.

It Is the Best

plan, in buying a wheel, to avoid the new and untried makes. Buy one that has stood the test of time. For seven years our "be-sure-you-are-right-and-then-go-ahead" policy has made the

"Phœnix" Bicycle

famous for beauty, durability, strength and speed. Cost, $100.

A "Phœnix," unless abused, needs no repairs—a considerable saving! Every '96 improvement, including reinforced joints, large and dust-proof bearings, barrel hubs and hanger, adjustable handle bar, etc.

Send for our Catalogue—mailed free.

STOVER BICYCLE MNFG. CO.,
575-577 Madison Ave., New York.

AUNT JEMIMA PANCAKE FLOUR, Hecker's Old Homestead flap jack flour, 15c. Hecker's self raising buckwheat, 15c and 25c. Buckwheat flour, graham flour, entire wheat flour, granulated corn meal. Every package and every pound guaranteed strictly fresh.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Salt Rheum

And Impure Blood Cured, says Mrs. Pierce of

AMHERST, MASS.

Mr. Geo. B. Pierce and his mother, proprietor of the Amherst, Mass., Creamery Association, relates the following experience:

"For a long time I suffered from Salt Rheum," said Mrs. Pierce, "but about two years ago I slipped and hurt my knee, which made it worse. I can't begin to tell the agony I was in, my limbs became a mass of raw flesh covered with running sores. My friends would say I could not live long, and I thought so too. Well, I heard of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy and Dr. David Kennedy's Salt Rheum Cream; I commenced using them, and in three weeks I walked out of doors. Last night I walked a mile, and I am sixty-three years of age, It shows that and Salt Rheum Cream can do more than the physicians, for they made me well after my doctor told me I was incurable. I must also tell you of another preparation Dr. Kennedy advised me to use, which did as much for me. It was Dr. David Kennedy's Cherry Balsam. I have had a wretched cough for the past fifteen years, the best doctors in the state united in saying that it was incurable, and that it was only a matter of time before my lungs would give out—my sleep was restless, I would lie awake for hours. I well recollect the first time I used Dr. Kennedy's Cherry Balsam. It relieved my throat at once, and I slept all through that night, the first full night's rest I had in several years. It seemed like a miracle. I took but two bottles and was cured.

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

Dr. David Kennedy's Cherry Balsam cures asthma, bronchitis, coughs, colds, incipient consumption, whooping cough or croup. Taken with Favorite Remedy, it never fails. Price 25c, 50c, and $1.00 a bottle. Dr. David Kennedy's Salt Rheum Cream is sold at 50c a package. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy costs $1.00 a bottle, or six bottles for $5.00.

Favorite Remedy ranks with the medical profession as the most perfect of all blood and nerve medicines. It restores the liver to a healthy condition, and cures constipation. It is a certain cure for all diseases peculiar to women, and affords protection from attacks that originate in change of life. It cures scrofula, salt rheum, tumors, rheumatism, dyspepsia, all kidney, bladder and urinary diseases, gravel, diabetes and Bright's disease. In this last disease it has cured where all else failed.

ENGLISH BREAKFAST TEA, 50c a pound.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

LARRABEE'S RHEUMATIC LINIMENT

A standard and sovereign household remedy for over half a century. It is a wonderful curative agent in all painful diseases, such as

Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Catarrh, Lumbago, Backache, Toothache,

and other painful ailments. To be had of all druggists, or by mail on receipt of 25 cents. Trade supplied by Geo. C. Goodwin & Co., or any wholesale druggist.

WINKLEMANN & BROWN DRUG CO.
BALTIMORE, MD., U. S. A.

MEN'S COTTON HOSE, 5c, 8c, 10c, 13c and 25c.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

F. M. EAGER.

Boots and Shoes Manufactured to Measure.

REPAIRING NEATLY DONE AT SHORT NOTICE.

Dealer in Sewing Machines and Supplies.

Machines to rent or sold on monthly payments.

F. M. EAGER, PALMER.

KENNEDY'S WHIST, water thin, grandmother's cookies, sugar cakes, ginger snaps, Newton's (fig bars), graham wafers. None better made than these. W. E. STONE, Main St., Palmer.

Over the Tubs.

Up from the laundry, all day long
Comes the croon of a little song;
Low and plaintive its measures seem
To rise and melt with the wreaths of steam.
Mrs. McGill in the mist below,
Heaping the linen, snow on snow,
Sings at her task as the moments fly;
Still as the busy hours go by,
Mrs. McGill, over the tubs,
Scrubs and washes, washes and scrubs.

Bare are her strong arms, rough and red
Her hands, with striving for daily bread.
While she works in the steam and foam,
Thoughts of the "childer," left at home,
Come to cheer her, till, after all,
The day seems short and the washing small;
For mother-love, with tender spell,
Is working its ceaseless miracle;
While Mrs. McGill, over the tubs,
Scrubs and washes, washes and scrubs.

Down through the areaway there floats
The cry of the newsboy, strident notes
Telling how on a field of fame
A warrior won him a hero's name;
The sailors clung to a reeling deck,
And served the guns of a shattered wreck;
A hero mounted the ladder tall,
And plucked a life from the flaming wall;
While Mrs. McGill, over the tubs,
Scrubs and washes, washes and scrubs.

Six o'clock! And the music swells
Loud from the throats of a thousand bells;
So, at last, when the shadows fall,
She draws about her a faded shawl,
While sweet content in the rough, worn face,
Kindles a brighter than beauty's grace.
Home she hastes, where, the long day through,
The little ones watched and waited, too.
While Mrs. McGill, over the tubs,
Scrubs and washes, washes and scrubs.

Mrs. McGill, your humble name
Has no place in the rolls of fame.
Little it matters to such as you;
Brief the page is, the names are few.
Still I know that your faithful love
Finds a place in the scroll above.
So, when my heart grows weak and faint,
This is the thought that stops complaint:
Mrs. McGill, over the tubs,
Scrubs and washes, washes and scrubs.
—Youth's Companion.

AMONG THE PARAGRAPHERS.

AN AWFUL WARNING.

He didn't read the papers, for they hadn't any news,
At least, they didn't coincide with his especial views;
And when he came to town one day with criticism ripe,
He climbed to an electric lamp to light his ancient pipe;
He hadn't read the papers—but he knew just what was best;
He simply touched the wire and—the fluid did the rest.

"You told me you and Harry loved at sight." "Yes, but we quarrelled on acquaintance."—Truth.

He—"I will work day and night to make you happy." She—"Nay, don't do that, but work during the day and stay at home at night."—Philadelphia Record.

"Your daughter has had a great many admirers." "Oh, yes, she puts nearly all her window curtains on the rods with her old engagement rings."—Louisville Courier.

Penurious—"Gamsly never treats anybody, does he?" "Treat? When he's thirsty himself he just gets out his telescope and looks at the Dipper."—Chicago Record.

Madge—"I remember a few years ago that she was seeking a hero." Marjorie—"She's got bravely over that. She's now on the lookout for a fool with plenty of money."—Life.

"There are many things in this world to which we must shut our eyes," said the paternal Gibson. "Yes, pa, and soap is one of them," chimed in the pride of the family.—Tit-Bits.

"Clarence," she sighed romantically, "do something true, something brave, something heroic to prove your love for me." "Well," he faltered, but calmly, "I have offered to marry you."—N. Y. Herald.

Harry—"What girl was that you had in tow last evening?" Willy (indignantly)—"What you are pleased to call tow is usually spoken of by people of culture as blonde tresses."—Boston Transcript.

Father—"Well, Tommy, how do you think you will like this little fellow for a brother?" Tommy (inspecting the new infant somewhat doubtfully)—"Have we got to keep him, papa, or is he only a sample?"

Upon a gentleman's tomb in Warwickshire we read that he was "accidentally shot by his gamekeeper." Under this piece of information is the text, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant."—The American.

"Sweet one, I love you," he whispered to his partner at the masquerade. "I should think you would," she replied, seeing that I'm your wife." "Didn't I know it, darling? What other woman do you think I would say that to?"—Boston Courier.

"Did you trade any when you wus ter town?" asked Silas Oatbin. "Yes," replied Farmer Corntossel, "some." "How did you come out?" "'Twus what ye'd call a standoff. I gave a feller a counterfeit fifty dollar bill fur a gold brick."—Washington Star.

Buzzfuzz—"Jove! I keep getting more and more behind in my club dues, Amabel." Mrs. Buzzfuzz—"Why don't you resign, then, Ferdy?" Buzzfuzz (hopelessly) "Why? Why, because one of the club's first rules is that only 'members may resign who are not in arrears.'"—Judge.

Reducing the surplus—"That's a pretty good idea, mother," said Mr. Jones, the father of seven quite aged daughters, to his wife. "What's that, John?" asked Mrs. J. "Why, the secretary of the navy advertises for proposals for building some torpedo boats. We might advertise for proposals for the girls!"—Harlem Life.

The studious son—"Daddy, did you know the sun rises about an hour earlier in Philadelphia than it does here?" Chicago father—"How did you get that fool notion?" "Learnt it at school." "If they are teaching at school that Philadelphia is an hour ahead of Chicago, I guess it is about time you were taken out of there and put in the store."—Indianapolis Journal.

Slightly sarcastic was the clergyman who paused and addressed a man coming into church, after a sermon had begun, with the remark, "Glad to see you, sir. Come in. Always glad to see those here late who can't come early." And decidedly self-possessed was the man thus addressed in the presence of an astonished congregation, as he responded: "Thank you. Would you favor me with the text?"

Not unreasonable—"Haven't had anything to eat for 24 hours, haven't you?" asked the man who had stopped a moment to listen to a tale of woe. "Well, here's a dime." "That won't go very far toward satisfyin' an appetite like mine," responded Mosely Wraggs, with an apologetic cough. "Ef yer don't mind, Cap'n, I'll use it for quenchin' my thirst." And he disappeared with great alacrity.—Chicago Tribune.

$100 REWARD $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment; Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

March

April, May are most emphatically the months for taking a good blood purifier, because the system is now most in need of such a medicine, and because it more quickly responds to medicinal qualities. In winter impurities do not pass out of the body freely, but accumulate in the blood.

April

The best medicine to purify, enrich and vitalize the blood, and thus give strength and build up the system, is Hood's Sarsaparilla. Thousands take it as their Spring Medicine, and more are taking it today than ever before. If you are tired, "out of sorts," nervous, have bad taste in the morning, aching or dizzy head, sour stomach and feel all run down, a course of Hood's Sarsaparilla will put your whole body in good order and make you strong and vigorous. It is the ideal Spring Medicine and true nerve tonic, because

May

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable, carefully prepared. 25 cents.

LOWNEY'S
Chocolate Bonbons.
FOR SALE BY
SMITH GROCERY CO.,
59 Main Street, Palmer.

NO APOLOGY NEEDED.—In addition to giving the convicted man a term of 10 years in prison, the judge imposed on him the gratuitous punishment of listening to a long speech made for the benefit of the reporters, in which he set forth specifically the reasons for his action. "You needn't of done all that apologizin' fer imposin' on a feller-man," said the culprit, kindly. "They ain't no hard feelings on my part. I know as well as you do that a man can't hold the job of judge and act the gentleman at the same time."—Indianapolis Journal.

can now be devoted to other uses. Its former delightful smelling and delicious tasting contents are duplicated in quality and flavor in None Such Mince Meat, a pure, wholesome, cleanly made preparation for mince pies, fruit cake and fruit puddings.

NONE SUCH MINCE MEAT

saves the housewife long hours of wearisome work and gives the family all the mince pie they can desire at little cost. A package makes two large pies. 10c. at all grocers. Take no substitute.

On the receipt of your name and address and the name of this paper, we will mail you post free "Mrs. Peploe's Thanksgiving," a book by a famous humorous writer.

MERRELL-SOULE CO.,
Syracuse, N. Y.

the ghastly terror of consumption stares a man in the face who neglects a cold.

HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR

It's so simple to get rid of a cough or throat trouble by Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar. Acts like magic. Sold by druggists.

Pike's Toothache Drops cure in one minute.

LIPTON'S JAMS, (London) raspberry and strawberry. 25c per jar—finest goods.
W. E. STONE, fancy groceries, Main St., Palmer.

Good stock and the best of care

PRODUCES

A 1 milk and cream.

MAPLE LAWN MILK FARM,
O. D. Wells, Proprietor.

J. W. Pierce, Republic, Ia., says: "I have used One Minute Cough Cure in my family and for myself, with results so entirely satisfactory that I can hardly find words to express myself as to its merit. I will never fail to recommend it to others, on every occasion that presents itself." LeGro & Lynde.

GARDEN SEEDS, all kinds.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Piano and Banjo Lessons

given by

Misses Annie and Carrie Fish,

Palmer.

22-tf

FICTION PURE AND IMPURE.

R. E Moulton of the university of Chicago, in his valuable treatise, "Four Years of Novel Reading," undertakes to describe how such reading can be made useful and profitable, which of course involves the exclusion of the trashy fiction with which the press teems and which unfortunately finds readers among the young people of both sexes and gets admittance into our public libraries. Novel reading ought to be more than a recreation—a dessert before instead of after the more substantial food—and should serve to introduce historical and other studies; but its tendency in the present age is to clog the appetite and destroy the taste for healthier mental sustenance. Besides, there are too many novels which contain poisonous ingredients, and these especially it should be the aim of all well-managed public libraries to exclude from their shelves, or at least see that they are not issued to immature persons. How to select properly is a problem which the managers of our libraries and their librarians have been unable satisfactorily to solve, and its importance is recognized when we realize that most of the young people depend upon the librarian choosing for them such books as will interest them. Most of the towns and village libraries, especially of New England, have young women for librarians, and a great majority of the readers are women and young people.

The managers of these libraries and the librarians have to depend almost altogether upon the advertisements of the publishers, and the critical notices of the magazines and newspapers in their selection of novels and the effort to exclude the impure. The first are notoriously untrustworthy, for they merely "hark back" upon a commendatory statement prepared by the publishers or author and sent to the newspapers, and the most favoring portions of this is appended to the advertisement. The magazines—even those purporting to be critical—and the newspapers are not apt to commend any book presented to them, and the latter usually make their criticism the substance of the publisher's notice. Some reviews, like the Book Buyer, which quite recently spoke freely of the poor novel, "An Imaginative Man," and fairly criticised Mr. Mallock's recent novel which is disagreeable if not dangerous, and a few newspapers like The Republican, are not afraid to speak out and show by their criticisms that their literary editors have read the books and have not used publisher's or author's commedatory notices.

The Massachusetts library club has undertaken a good work in the publication monthly of lists of fiction for adults suitable for public libraries and families. A permanent committee of 17, consisting of a chairman, secretary and 15 readers, is appointed; the readers are divided into sub-committees of three members who read and report, and according to their report the books which have been selected for their examination are accepted or rejected, and the former are entered upon the monthly list. These lists are sent free to all public libraries in Massachusetts and Rhode Island, and to all other persons and institutions who may subscribe for them at 25 cents a year. The secretary of the committee is Nina E. Browne, Library bureau, 146 Franklin street, Boston. This arrangement will be a great help to the 600 and more libraries in Massachusetts, and to parents and teachers who are or should be interested in this branch of education, and to all who desire "to purge their intellectual system and live cleanly."

An old larceny offender being brought before the court for a fresh offence, was asked by the judge if his evil habits were natural to him or acquired. The culprit incautiously answered "acquired." The judge said: "I thought so," and gave him a good long term of imprisonment. All our habits, even of writing and reading, are acquired, and that of reading is unfortunately left almost to the exclusive taste of the young people without any direction from their parents, and an insatiable appetite for novels which excludes all healthier reading has now taken possession of all classes, and it is as rare to find a person who peruses the masterpieces in literature as to discover that rara avis in terris, the black swan; and the cacoethes scribendi has become an epidemic, and almost every one with a tolerable education essays to write a book and especially a novel or story. An enterprising stove dealer in Illinois wrote to the Critic to "advise him a work which might inform him accurately how to read and write the good novel." Give him a pattern and he could turn them out as he did the stoves!

Frederick Harrison, alluding to the constant outpouring of novels in England, says: "I stand beside the ceaseless flow of this miscellaneous torrent as one stands watching the turbid rush of Thames at London bridge, wondering whence it all comes, whither it all goes, what can be done with it, and what may be its ultimate function in the order of providence."

There are so many good novels to be read that it is surprising parents do not direct or compel, if that is possible, their children's attention to those. I have seen girls of 10 and 12 years of age reading "The Scarlet Letter"—a great book, but not for children's use; and those not much older perusing novels treating of subjects which were formerly confined to French fiction, but which are now pervading English and American stories. Miss Ferrier's "Marriage," "Inheritance" and "Destiny" are three wholesome and lively stories, not often read, nor are the inimitable works of Jane Austen. English children get most of their country's history from Shakespeare and Scott's romances. The real histories of Parkman are narly as exciting and romantic in their accounts of the early settlement of our own country, and John Fiske has made the history of the United States fascinating reading. Then we have the continual flow of novels such as those of Mrs. Jane E. Austen, Hezekiah Butterworth, and others, which will lead young readers to interest themselves in their country's history and divert their minds from the frivolous literature with which our houses and libraries are filled. A public library should be rich in lessons of patriotism directed to the young; for the hope, the very life of republican institutions hang upon the patriotic enthusiasm of its youth.

Librarians and parents should not overlook "Stories of American history," by James Otis; "A Last Century Maid," by Miss Wharton; "The Patriotic Schoolmaster," by Butterworth; Charles C. Coffin's "Boys of '61," and his previous stories about our wars; "In Defense of the King," a story of the American Revolution; "Three Colonial Boys," by Tomlinson; "Hero tales from American History, by Theodore Roosevelt, and others; "Daughters of the Revolution and Their Times," by Coffin; Alice Morse Earle's life of Margaret Winthrop, and many others of similar purport in the publishers' advertisements. For adults whose appetite and digestion are not good and strong enough to enjoy such masterpieces of fiction as the novels of Scott, Thackeray, Reade, and Barsettine chronicles of Trollope, "The Caxtons," and "My Novel" by Bulwer, those of Miss Ferrier and Miss Austen, and the host of other pure and readable English works of fiction, and those of our prominent American novelists. The lists of novels issued by the Boston club will assist in leading them through the murky stream of current fiction and land them clean and safe on comparatively high ground.—Richard Goodman, in Springfield Sunday Republican.

With regard to speaking over the front gate, a good deal can be said on both sides.—Texas Siftings.

FINEST ROAD-BED ON THE CONTINENT.

BOSTON & ALBANY RAILROAD.

Only Double Track Route to the West.

ON AND AFTER DEC. 2, 1895.

Through Trains will Leave Boston as follows:

No. 7.—Day Express.

8:30 a. m.—Daily, except Sunday. Has Wagner buffet drawing-room car Boston to Albany, there connecting with through cars to all points West. Stops at Palmer 10.53 a. m.

No. 15.—Chicago Special.

10:30 a. m.—Daily. The finest train running in New England. A solid vestibuled Wagner train, comprising buffet, library and smoking car, sleeping cars and dining car Boston to Chicago, via the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern R. R., and also via Michigan Central R. R.

No. 19.—North Shore Limited.

2:00 p. m.—Daily. Has through vestibuled buffet sleeping cars Boston to Detroit and Chicago, via Michigan Central R. R. Dining car attached at Albany.

No. 23.—Cincinnati Express.

3:00 p. m.—Daily. Has through vestibuled buffet Sleeping car Boston to Chicago via Lake Shore and Michigan Southern R. R., and to St. Louis and Cincinnati via Big Four Route. Stops at Palmer 5.20 p. m.

No. 9.—Pacific Express.

7:15 p. m.—Daily. Has through sleeping cars Boston to Chicago, via Michigan Central. Sleeping car Boston to Buffalo, parlor car Buffalo to Cleveland, sleeping car Cleveland to Chicago via Lake Shore & Michigan Southern.

No. 63.—Albany Express.

11:00 p. m.—Daily, except Saturday. Has sleeping car Boston to Albany. Stops at Palmer 1.46 a. m.

TRAINS LEAVE PALMER FOR BOSTON.

6.22 a. m.	Accommodation.
7.32	"	"
8.25	"	Daily Express.
10.00	"	Express, except Sunday.
11.42	"	Accommodation.
1.40 p. m.		Express.
3.12	"	"
4.42	"	Accommodation.
6.40	"	Daily Express.
7.55	"	Sundays only. Express.
9.03	"	Express.

Time tables showing local and through service between all Stations, may be obtained at all ticket offices of this Company.
City Office, 366 Washington Street.
Station, Kneeland Street, Boston, Mass.
52-32 A. S. HANSON, Gen. Passenger Agent.

CENTRAL VERMONT RAILROAD.

NEW LONDON DIVISION.

TAKING EFFECT DECEMBER 22, 1895.

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

Leave Brattleboro, 5.40 and 10.30 a. m. and 4.25 p. m. for New London, connecting at Millers Falls with Fitchburg R. R., at Belchertown with Central Massachusetts R. R., and at Palmer with B. & A. R. R. for Worcester, Boston, Springfield, at New London with the N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R.
Leave Amherst, 7.05 a. m., 12.13 and 5.57 p. m.
Leave Palmer, 8.25 a. m., 1.50 and 7.00 p. m.
Leave Willimantic for New London, 8.25, 9.45 a. m. 3.25, 6.40 and 8.27 p. m.

GOING NORTH.

Leave New London, 5.20 and 7.40 a. m, and 2.30 p. m.
The 5.20 and 7.40 a. m. and 2.30 p. m. run through to Brattleboro and make connections for the north.
Leave New London for Willimantic and intermediate stations, 10.00 a. m. and 5.25 p. m.
Leave Palmer for Brattleboro, 8.20, 11.00 a. m. and 7.10 p. m, connecting with express for Montreal. Also with Grand Trunk R. R. for the West.
Leave Palmer for Amherst, 8.20 and 11.00 a. m. and 7.10 p. m.

SUBJECT TO CHANGE WITHOUT NOTICE.
D. MACKENZIE, Supt. J. A. SOUTHARD, D. P. A. New London, Ct.
S. W. CUMMINGS, G. P. A., St. Albans.

BOSTON & MAINE R. R.

SOUTHERN DIVISION
(CENTRAL MASSACHUSETTS)
CORRECTED TO OCTOBER 6, 1895.

TRAINS LEAVE WARE:

GOING EAST

FOR Boston—6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14, p. m Sundays 6.55 a. m.
RETURNING—leave Boston 8.45 a. m.; 1.30, 4.06 p. m. Sundays, 1.30 p. m.
FOR Worcester—6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14 p. m. Sundays, 6.55 a. m.
RETURNING—leave Worcester 9.15 a. m.; 2.25, 4.58 p. m.
FOR Oakdale, Hudson and Waltham—6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14 p. m. Sundays, 6.55 a. m.
FOR Gilbertville, Barre and Coldbrook—6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14 p. m. Sundays, 6.55 a. m.

GOING WEST

FOR Bondsville, Belchertown, Pansy Park, Amherst, Hadley and Northampton, 7.15, 11.24 a. m., 4.28, 6.47 p. m. Sundays, 4.35 p. m.
RETURNING—leave Northampton 5.55, 8.05 a. m., 2.15, 6.10 p. m. Sundays, 5.55 a. m.

D. J. FLANDERS, Gen'l. Pass'r. Agt.
W. F. BERRY Gen'l Mer

NORTHROP'S VINEGAR, 20c a gallon.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

POSTAL

Telegraph and Cable Co.

Office in Holden's Block,

PALMER, : : : : MASS.

Direct wires to New York and Boston. Office in all the principal cities in the

UNITED STATES.

PROMPT SERVICE,

REASONABLE RATES,

ALL BUSINESS

STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL.

LIGHT AND DARK PRINTS, 5c a yard, crashes, 5c a yard, Brooks' and Coats' cotton, 4c spool.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

CATARRH.

is a LOCAL DISEASE and is the result of colds and sudden climatic changes.

It can be cured by a pleasant remedy which is applied directly into the nostrils. Being quickly absorbed it gives relief at once.

Ely's Cream Balm

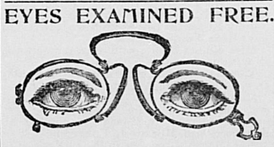
is acknowledged to be the most thorough cure for nasal catarrh, cold in head and hay fever of all remedies. It opens and cleanses the nasal passages, allays pain and inflammation, heals the sores, protects the membrane from colds, restores the senses of taste and smell. Price 50c, at druggists or by mail. ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren St., New York.

SALESMEN

Wanted to Take Orders for nursery stock. Salary or commission to reliable men. Cash advanced for expenses. First-class reference required.
The R. G. CHASE CO., Malden, Mass.

CROCKERY, glass ware and wooden ware.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

EYES EXAMINED FREE.



Dr. Vineberg, Refraction Specialist,

wishes to inform sufferers of headache or nervous complaints arising from defective vision, can be cured by having glasses properly fitted to the eyes.

247 Main Street, - Springfield, Mass.

I Love You, Dear.

"I love you, dear,"
There is no phrase so worn and old
In all the world; nor one so sweet
To lover's lips or maiden's ear—
As this refrain: "I love you, dear."

"I love you, dear,"
There is no change as time goes on,
No new words seem to mean so much
As when they're uttered fondly near
In trembling tones: "I love you, dear."

"I love you, dear,"
No night so dark, no day so long,
But Hope brings comfort to the heart;
If only "some one" standeth near
To murmur low, "I love you, dear."
—Forum.

A DINNER FOR A PENNY.

There are dinners and dinners in this city of contrasts. Some men here find it a difficult thing to get a satisfactory dinner for $25; others get along nicely on a substantial meal that costs a dime or less. And there is at least one strange little restaurant here where a full repast can be purchased for one cent. It is without doubt the cheapest eating house in the world. This cheapest dining room of all is huddled down in a corner almost touching the famous Mariners' temple of Oliver street, a block away from Chatham square, where streams of people from all the four corners of town pass and repass. It is little more than a wooden hut, some 18 feet long and perhaps seven broad, with a little addition tacked on to it, which serves as a kitchen. Small as it is, however, it feeds an average of 1000 people a day, 20 being able to squeeze in before the counter at one time; on some days as many as 1400 have eaten. Tramps, outcasts, vagrants and men who have fallen so low through drink that they will never get up in the world again, come daily, sometimes three times a day, with the last copper they have in their pockets, to drink coffee, munch the bread and eat the pea soup that constitutes the bill of fare of this most lowly of eating houses. It is a strange congregation, truly, that one sees within its narrow four walls—a congregation of faces stamped with vice and debauchery, of patched and rusty garments and unwashed cuticle. Women occasionally come to this penny dining room, but as the proprietor doesn't care for their custom, they do not annoy him often.

You ask, what can a copper buy? Well, incredible as it may seem in these days of lavish expenditure, three coppers expended at this tiny restaurant will buy a bowl of coffee, a bowl of pea soup and four slices of bread. A bowl of coffee and a slice of bread, the slice cut generously, costs but a cent. For a cent, too, a large bowl of soup is served, with another slice of bread. A cent more will buy two additional pieces of bread. The bowl of soup is a full quart, the bowl of coffee a pint. "If a man wants to eat more than this at one time," the little proprietor says, "he must be a glutton." At all events, no vagrant should starve with one of these three-cent dinners snugly stowed away beneath his soiled linen. The pea soup is rich, the coffee is cheap, but as good as one finds in many pretentious dining rooms here, and the bread is so palatable that the proprietor eats it himself. This one-cent eating house has been running for over five years, and during that time, has fed hundreds of thousands. Some months the meals served have reached the 50,000 notch. Trade has been so good of late that the proprietor is going to enlarge the place, or, rather, build a new "hut" with better accommodations and more kitchen room. The charitable society on whose ground he encroaches realizes the good he is doing in supplying food to the outcasts and the vagrants, and he has no rent to pay. All he has to do is to turn over a small percentage of his profits to the society weekly. If the week is a bad one he doesn't have to go down in his pocket to make it good. Strange to say, however, this cheap restaurant pays, and the charity that pushes it along is a gainer.

The best time to size up crowds that patronize this remarkable eating house is about 6 o'clock in the morning, when the doors open. Then a stream of hungry men, many of whom have been on "the brick?" all night, pour in, and from that hour until 8 p. m., when the place closes, trade seldom slackens. Patrons eat standing beside a narrow wooden counter that runs down the whole length of the little building. They put down their pennies first, and then eat ravenously. There's no jest or laughter—only the rattle of crockery, the smacking of lips, the jingle of small change and gruff orders for food. One spry waiter serves all comers. A helper does the fetching and carrying. The proprietor does all the cooking over a gas stove. The helper receives $2 a week, with board and washing thrown in extra. One reason why meals can be served so cheaply in this restaurant is because many bakers contribute stale bread to it. When bread is purchased, 40 to 50 cents a barrel is paid for it. The proprietor will not tell what he pays for his coffee. Possibly he pays more for the chicory that goes with it. Peas, of course, are cheap, and so is the meat that makes the stock. A large number of regular boarders patronize this cheapest of all restaurants—the only one of the kind in this city, if not in the world. It saves many a poor devil from suffering the pangs of hunger, and in this way is one of the most practical philanthropies in this great cosmopolis.—New York Correspondent of the Pittsburg Dispatch.

A LONG FAREWELL.—The Frenchman's politeness sometimes serves him in good stead to point a rebuke. A Frenchman who was staying at a hotel in Edinburgh, asked, at the cashier's desk, how much his bill was, and was astonished to find how great an amount he had been charged. He felt that he had been plundered, but he paid the bill, and then asked to see the proprietor. Presently the landlord come down in response to the call, all beaming with smiles. The Frenchman rushed up to him, exclaiming: "Ah, let me embrace you! Let me kees you!" "But why do you want to embrace me, sir? I—I don't understand." "Ah, saire, but look at zees beel!" "Your bill?" Yes; but what of it?" "Vot of it? Vy, it mean zat I s'll nevaire, nevaire see you again, saire!"—Answers.

Boarder (suspiciously)—"There is no foreign substance in this coffee, is there?" Landlady—"Um—er—well, I'm afraid there is, sir. The spoon is a souvenir from India, I believe."—Eureka Times.

Free Pills.

Send your address to H. E. Bucklin & Co., Chicago, and get a free sample box of Dr. King's New Life Pills. A trial will convince you of their merits. These pills are easy in action and are particularly effective in the cure of constipation and sick headache. For malaria and liver troubles they have been proved invaluable. They are guaranteed to be perfectly free from every deleterious substance and to be purely vegetable. They do not weaken by their action, but by giving tone to the stomach and bowels greatly invigorate the system. Regular size 25c per box. Sold by LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

All Free.

Those who have used Dr King's New Discovery know its value, and those who have not, have now the opportunity to try it free. Call on the advertised druggists and get a trial bottle, free. Send your name and address to H. E. Bucklen & Co., Chicago, and get a sample box of Dr. King's New Life Pills, free, as well as a copy of Guide to Health and Household Instructor, free. All of which is guaranteed to do you good and cost you nothing. LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

THE BEST SALVE in the world for cuts bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

A PHILANTHROPIST.

A little negro gamin passing along Bay street yesterday morning saw the stump of a cigar fall on the sidewalk in front of the store of Ellis & Hussey. He made a scientific base slide for it, and when he had it safely corralled beneath him he rolled his eyes around the points of the compass to see if another gamin had also seen the stump fall.

"Dat war in Cuba is making Havanas skace, an' you can't take any chances," he remarked, as he brushed off the ash and blew away the sand and dust from the coverted snipe. Going into the store he said to Charley Ellis:

"Boss, gimme a match, please, sah."

"Matches are not here to give away, but to sell," said Mr. Ellis, assuming a look of intense severity.

"Dey is, eh?"

"That's what they are."

"Well, how much is dey er box?"

"One cent."

The gamin tilted the stump in one corner of his mouth, held to the hand of his pantaloons with one hand, ran the other hand in his pocket, and pulled forth a copper.

"Gimme a box," and he laid down the cent.

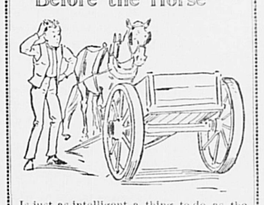
He got the box, struck a match, lit the stump so well that it poured forth volumes of smoke, and then handed the box back, to Mr. Ellis, assumed a look of intense severity, and said:

"Put dat box on the de sheff, and the nex' time a gemmen come in hyar and ax you for a match, you gin 'im one outen my box."—Florida Times-Union.

Dangerous Drugs.

Avoid the use of white or pink headache powders, they contain dangerous drugs. Taylor's Anti-Headache Powders are brown; they look like ground coffee and they have a delightful aromatic taste. Try them once and you will never be without them. Get them of LeGro & Lynde.

"The Cart Before the Horse"



Is just as intelligent a thing to do as the way some manufacturers force their Baking Powders on the public. They don't know themselves what their goods will do. WE KNOW the merits of BOSS . . .

BAKING POWDER

It's what we have used for 3.2 years in our business, and is the secret of our success. 3,000,000 of our LUNCH MILK BISCUIT alone, sold last year proves we have a meritorious article. The thousands who follow our example in their home cooking agree with us. It's not only "The kind Boss makes his Biscuits with," but the kind all should use.

MANUFACTURED BY
C. D. BOSS & SON, New London, Conn.

A cold wave.

Think about winter medicines. There needn't be many of them, but they should be right. Something for the cough and something for the digestion—perhaps that's all. Try our CLIMAX COUGH CURE for the first—it suits every time, and SHAKER'S DIGESTIVE CORDIAL for the second. They are medicines that are effective. If there is anything else you want we have it, and shall be glad to supply your needs in the line of medicines, prescriptions or sundries at the lowest rates.

O. P. ALLEN, DRUGGIST,
Holden's Block, Palmer.

Palmer Savings Bank,

Palmer, Mass.
Hours from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m.

President,
H. G. LOOMIS.

Vice Presidents,
C. H. HOBBS. H. P. HOLDEN. C. F. GROSVENOR.

Secretary,
WM. W. LEACH.

Treasurer,
H. W. MCGREGORY.

Trustees,

James B. Shaw, E. G. Hastings, C. H. Hobbs, George Moores, R. C. Newell, Geo. E

The Palmer Journal.

VOLUME XLVII. PALMER, MASS., FRIDAY EVENING, APRIL 17, 1896. NUMBER 3.

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY EVENING
—BY—
C. B. FISKE & CO.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.—Two dollars a year. A discount of 25 cents to those who pay in advance. Six months, $1.00; three months, 50 cents; single copies, Agents.

ADVERTISING RATES.—One inch (or twelve lines of this type solid) 75 cents for the first insertion, 25 cents for the second, 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. Short advertisements, "Wanted," "To Let," etc., one cent a word for the first insertion, one-half cent a word each subsequent insertion, cash; no charge less than 25 cents. Notices in local column, 15 cents per line. Liberal rates to yearly advertisers.

JOB PRINTING of all kinds executed in the best styles, promptly and at reasonable rates.

C. B. FISKE. L. E. CHANDLER.

[Entered at Post Office as second class matter.]

LOCAL BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

PALMER.

ALLEN, O. P., Wholesale and Retail Druggist and Bookseller.

BARTON, F. D., Dealer in Watches, Clocks and Jewelry, Main street.

BILLS, G. A., Fresh and Salt Beef, Pork, Ham, Lard, Tripe, etc.

BROOKS, E. S., Dealer in Watches, Clocks, Jewelry, Solid Silver and Plated Ware, Main street.

BROWN, C. A. & CO., Hardware, Furnaces, Stoves, Ranges, Paints, Oils and Glass.

BROWN, S. H., Trucking, Light Jobbing, Piano Moving. Order box cor. Main and Walnut streets. Orders can also be left at J. F. Foley's store.

CARPENTER, Mrs. L. E., Millinery and Fancy Goods. Also dealer in Human Hair Goods.

CHANDLER BROS., Bicycles.

CLARK & HASTINGS, Wholesale Dealers in Armour & Co's. Dressed Beef, Provisions, Main St.

EAGER, F. M., Boot and Shoe Manufacturer to Order, and dealer in Leather and Findings.

FISKE, C. B. & CO., Publishers PALMER JOURNAL and WARE STANDARD. Fine Book and Job Printers and Bookbinders.

FITCH, A. E., Law and Insurance, Savings Bank Block.

FRANCIS, R. B., Iron Foundry and Machine Shop.

GAMWELL, C. K., Ready made Clothing, Hats, Caps, Gent's Furnishings, etc.

GARDNER, CHAS. L., Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Church street.

GOODES, E., Palmer Boot and Shoe Store, corner Main and Thorndike streets.

HAMILTON, J. A., Dealer in all kinds of Coal, Wood, Grain, Flour, Baled Hay and Straw. Fertilizers and Stock Food. Main street.

HOLBROOK, C. D., Flour, Grain, Feed and Masons' Supplies, Main street.

HOLBROOK, J. F., Dealer in all kinds of Coal. Agent for National and White Star line of steamers. Drafts on Foreign Banks at lowest rates.

LEACH, W. W., Attorney at Law.

LEGRO & LYNDE, Druggists and Newsdealers, Paper Hangings, Shades, Lamps and Fixtures.

MARCY, F. F., Dealer in Lumber, Shingles, etc., wholesale and retail. West of B. & A. R. R. depot.

MARCY, OSCAR C., Livery and Feed Stable, rear of Converse House.

PALMER WATER CO., Office, Lawrence Block. Office hours to October 1, from 8.30 to 10 a. m., from 2 to 3 p. m.

SHAW, J. B., Dealer in Dry Goods, Groceries, etc. Opposite the depot.

WHITE, C. W., Marble and Granite Works. No. 1 Thorndike street.

WOOLRICH & CO., Manufacturers of Ridge's Food, Thorndike street.

THORNDIKE.

ADAMS, A. P., Druggist, Toilet Articles, Confectionery and Cigars.

BONDSVILLE.

HOLDEN, C. L., Dry Goods, Groceries, Clothing Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps, etc.

MORIARTY, M., Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots Shoes, Coal. AgtWhite Star and Anchor SS Co's

WARE.

ALBERTINE, J. A. Choice Fruits, Tobaccos, Cigars and Confectionery. Low Prices.

DAVIS INSURANCE AGENCY represents the best companies and gives lowest rates.

DWIGHT, R. N., Harness, Horse Saddlery, Hardware. Repairing a Specialty. Next to Bank.

EDDY, C. W. Job and Fine Art Printer.

EDDY, MISS MATIE K. Teacher of Oil Painting and Crayon. Sketching or Art Work completed to order.

ELDREDGE, A. HENRY. Sign Painter. Carriages painted in the best manner. West Street.

HARLOW, A. B. Photographer. Instantaneous process only. Opposite the Bank.

HOSMER, F. N. Clothier. Hats, Caps, Gents' Furnishing Good, etc. Sanford's Block.

MARSH, F. E. Gold, Silver and Nickel Plater. Replating tableware a specialty. 7 Bank street.

PRIEST, J. E. Ware Steam Laundry. Carpet cleaning. Office at H. M. Clark's.

RICHARDSON, A. F. Dealer in Boots, Shoes and Rubbers of all kinds. Sagendorph's Block.

ROBINSON, JOHN F. Furniture, Sewing Machines, Pictures, Hardware, Paints and Farming Tools.

SIBLEY, J. B. Hardware, Tools, Agricultural Implements, Paints, Oils and Artists' materials.

SMITH, G. H. W. Jeweler. Watches, Clocks and Spectacles. Repairing in the best manner.

SULLIVAN & STRONG, Ware Coöperative Laundry. Fine Work and Carpet Cleaning. Office, 50 Main Street.

TURNER, H. H. Bookseller and Stationer, and dealer in Paper Hangings, Musical Instruments and Sheet Music.

MONSON.

GROUT, GEO. E. Dealer in Watches Clocks, Jewelry, etc. Towne's Block.

NEWTON, GEO. H., Law Office, Notary Public, Insurance, etc., near Gage's store.

SQUIER & CO., Dealers in Grain, Feed, Hay, Straw, Lumber, Shingles and Building Material.

WARREN.

KELLEY, W. H., Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Quaboag Block, Warren, Mass.

SOCIETY DIRECTORY.

MONSON.

MT. ELLA LODGE, No. 184, A. O. U. W. Meets first and third Tuesdays of each month in A. O. U. W. Hall, Monson.
FISK G. ROGERS, M. W., F. J. ENTWISTLE, Rec.

THE··· Yellow Fellow

is all right. And so are our line of

Warwicks,
Stearns,
Eclipse,
Envoys,
Crescents,
Pierce.

Give us a call. We are only too glad to talk with you.

WHEELS CLEANED AND REPAIRED.

E. A. Buck & Co.,
Cross Block,
PALMER.

A high liver with a torpid liver will not be a long liver. Correct the liver with DeWitt's Little Early Risers, little pills that cure dyspepsia and constipation. LeGro & Lynde.

DWIGHT'S SODA—"Cow brand." 1 pound packages and bulk. Cream Tartar, Slades pure—¼ pound packages and bulk.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

FINEST ROAD-BED ON THE CONTINENT.

BOSTON & ALBANY RAILROAD.

Only Double-Track Route to the West.

ON AND AFTER DEC. 2, 1895.

Through Trains will Leave Boston as follows:

No. 7.—Day Express.

8:30 a. m.—Daily, except Sunday. Has Wagner buffet drawing-room car Boston to Albany, there connecting with through cars to all points West. Stops at Palmer 10.53 a. m.

No. 15.—Chicago Special.

10:30 a. m.—Daily. The finest train running in New England. A solid vestibuled Wagner train, comprising buffet, library and smoking car, sleeping cars and dining car Boston to Chicago, via the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern R. R., and also via Michigan Central R. R.

No. 19.—North Shore Limited.

2:00 p. m.—Daily. Has through vestibuled buffet sleeping cars Boston to Detroit and Chicago, via Michigan Central R. R. Dining car attached at Albany.

No. 23.—Cincinnati Express.

3:00 p. m.—Daily. Has through vestibuled buffet sleeping car Boston to Chicago via Lake Shore and Michigan Southern R. R., and to St. Louis and Cincinnati via Big Four Route. Stops at Palmer 5.20 p. m.

No. 9.—Pacific Express.

7:15 p. m.—Daily. Has through sleeping cars Boston to Chicago, via Michigan Central. Sleeping car Boston to Buffalo, parlor car Buffalo to Cleveland, sleeping car Cleveland to Chicago via Lake Shore & Michigan Southern.

No. 63.—Albany Express.

11:00 p. m.—Daily, except Saturday. Has sleeping car Boston to Albany. Stops at Palmer 1.46 a. m.

TRAINS LEAVE PALMER FOR BOSTON.

6.22 a. m.	Accommodation.
7.32	"	"
8.25	"	Daily Express.
10.00	"	Express, except Sunday.
11.42	"	Accommodation.
1.40 p. m.		Express.
3.12	"	"
4.42	"	Accommodation.
6.49	"	Daily Express.
7.55	"	Sundays only. Express.
9.03	"	Express.

Time tables showing local and through service between all Stations, may be obtained at all ticket offices of this Company.
City Office, 366 Washington Street.
Station, Kneeland Street, Boston, Mass.
52-32 A. S. HANSON, Gen. Passenger Agent.

CENTRAL VERMONT RAILROAD.

NEW LONDON DIVISION.

TAKING EFFECT DECEMBER 22, 1895.

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

Leave Brattleboro, 5.40 and 10.30 a. m. and 4.25 p. m. for New London, connecting at Millers Falls with Fitchburg R. R., at Belchertown with Central Massachusetts R. R., and at Palmer with B. & A. R. R. for Worcester, Boston, Springfield, at New London with the N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R.
Leave Amherst, 7.05 a. m., 12.13 and 5.57 p. m.
Leave Palmer, 8.25 a. m., 1.50 and 7.00 p. m.
Leave Willimantic for New London, 8.25, 9.45 a. m. 3.25, 6.40 and 8.20 p. m.

GOING NORTH.

Leave New London, 5.20 and 7.40 a m, and 2.30 p. m.
The 5.20 and 7.40 a. m. and 2.30 p. m. run through to Brattleboro and make connections for the north.
Leave New London for Willimantic and intermediate stations, 10.00 a. m. and 5.25 p. m.
Leave Palmer for Brattleboro, 8.20, 11.00 a. m. and 7.10 p. m. connecting with express for Montreal. Also with Grand Trunk R. R. for the West.
Leave Palmer for Amherst, 8.20 and 11.00 a. m. and 7.10 p. m.

SUBJECT TO CHANGE WITHOUT NOTICE.

D. MACKENZIE, Supt. J. A. SOUTHARD, D. P. A. New London, Ct.
S. W. CUMMINGS, G. P. A., St. Albans.

BOSTON & MAINE R. R.

SOUTHERN DIVISION
(CENTRAL MASSACHUSETTS)
CORRECTED TO OCTOBER 6, 1895.

TRAINS LEAVE WARE:

GOING EAST

FOR Boston—6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14, p. m Sundays 6.55 a. m.
RETURNING—leave Boston 8.45 a. m.; 1.30, 4.00 p. m. Sundays, 1.30 p. m.
FOR Worcester—6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14 p. m. Sundays, 6.55 a. m.
RETURNING—leave Worcester 9.15 a. m.; 2.25, 4.58 p. m.
FOR Oakdale, Hudson and Waltham—6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14 p. m. Sundays, 6.55 a. m.
FOR Gilbertville, Barre and Coldbrook—6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14 p. m. Sundays, 6.55 a. m.

GOING WEST

FOR Bondsville, Belchertown, Pansy Park, Amherst, Hadley and Northampton, 7.15, 11.24 a. m., 4.28, 6.47 p. m. Sundays, 4.35 p. m.
RETURNING—leave Northampton 5.55, 8.05 a. m., 2.15, 6.10 p. m. Sundays, 5.55 a. m.

D. J. FLANDERS, Gen'l. Pass'r. Agt.
W. F. BERRY Gen'l Mgr.

Palmer Savings Bank,

Palmer, Mass.
Hours from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m.

President,
H. G. LOOMIS.

Vice Presidents,
C. H. HOBBS. H. P. HOLDEN. C. F. GROSVENOR.

Secretary,
WM. W. LEACH.

Treasurer,
H. W. MCGREGORY.

Trustees,
James B. Shaw, E. G. Hastings, C. H. Hobbs, George Moores, R. C. Newell, Geo. E. Buck, H. G. Loomis, F. P. Marcy, A. L. Hills, T. D. Potter, H. Wald, Wm. Holbrook, H. P. Holden, Wm. W. Leach, C. F. Grosvenor, Jas. S. Loomis, C. L. Gardner, H. W. McGregory

Board of Investment,
Geo. Moores, H. G. Loomis, E. G. Hastings, C. H. Hobbs, James B. Shaw.

Auditors,
Wm. W. Leach, C. F. Grosvenor.

TELEPHONE Stone for anything in dry goods or Groceries.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

LADIES' HOSE, 10 cents a pair, plain or ribbed. Bargain.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

POSTAL

Telegraph and Cable Co.

Office in Holden's Block,

PALMER, : : : : MASS.

Direct wires to New York and Boston. Office in all the principal cities in the

UNITED STATES.

PROMPT SERVICE,

REASONABLE RATES,

ALL BUSINESS

STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL

HORSFORD'S BAKING POWDER.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

J. H. Rogers Carriage Co.,

MANUFACTURERS OF

Carriages,

AND DEALERS IN

Carriages of every description.

33 to 39 Sanford St., SPRINGFIELD.

We manufacture and carry in stock the finest line of carriages in New England. Come and look over our stock.

A FINE LINE OF SECOND HAND VEHICLES CONSTANTLY ON HAND . . . .

at very low prices.

IMPORTED SARDINES, boneless, 25c and 35c a box. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

When we say wash goods

we mean goods that will wash and won't fade nor shrink, that have none of the vices of so-called wash goods that won't stand water. We are laying no traps for you when we sell you these dainty dress percailes and figured lawns. Unusual, but true, these artistic beauties with their sunshining faces and bright bits of color are absolutely fast color.

36 INCH PERCAILES, in all the new shades and colorings, stripes and figures, just the thing for shirt waists, - - - - - - - - 12 1-2c

WHITE GOODS,
in nainsook check, large and small checks, satin effect. Also full line of dotted swiss. - - - Price from 6c to 20c a yard.
Call and see this line, whether you wish to buy or not.

DRESS LENGTHS.
Elegance regardless of expense, style and beauty. No other consideration is regarded by some ladies in a new costume. We have the finest line ever shown at 49c a yard.
No two dresses alike.

SUMMER VESTS.
Short sleeves, high neck, full sizes, 12 1-2c
" " V neck, silk trimmed, - 15c
High neck, full gauze, - - - - 25c
Higher grades, - - - - 37 1-2c up.

FIGURED LAWNS,
for hot weather wear. Endless variety. They need no introduction. They are correct, beautiful, select. - - - - - 12 1-2c

WHITE EMBROIDERY.
Our embroidery stock tells of larger quantity, greater variety than has graced our shelves before. Our new Irish point embroideries are great sellers. - - - - - 7c to 15c.
Insertions to match.

HOSIERY.
Not only good, but shapely, regular made hosiery that commend themselves for appearance as well as firmness. They look well, wear well, fit well and warranted fast black.
- - - - - - - - - 25c pair.

SUMMER CORSETS.
Our Summer corset is a prize winner. At 50c is a leader in its own right, it wins on its merits, it is the best money's worth you have ever stumbled on. Ask to see them.

BARGAIN DAY.

MONDAY'S PRICES.

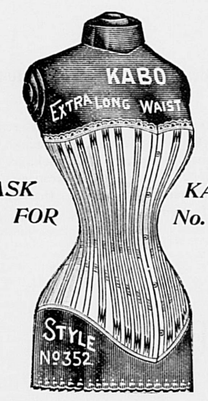
Any article on our 5c counter, - - - - 3c
1 ball colored crochet cotton 5c, - - - 4c
1 large ball knitting silk 10, - - - - - 7c
1 linen huck towel 5c, - - - - - - - 4c
6 spools black twist, - - - - - - - 5c

MONDAY'S PRICES.

Any article on our 10c counter - - - - 7c
10 yards good cotton (unbleached) - - - 45c
Remnants of ribbon, half price.
All remnants laces and embroideries at half price.

REMNANT DAY. We have laid out on our center table every remnant we have in the store, and for Monday only we will sell at half price. COME EARLY. - - - - - - - - - -

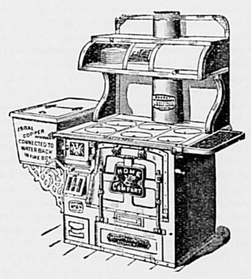
T. H. TODD, MONSON.



ASK FOR KABO No. 352

We recommend them, as they fit like a glove.
Price $1.00
For sale by D. L. BODFISH, Palmer.

There is one DRESS STAY that Won't melt apart, Can't cut through the dress, Don't stay bent. It is BALL'S PEERLESS. All lengths; all colors.



RUSSELL, MASS., March 14th, 1896.

Gentlemen:—One of the divisions of the Wrought Iron Range Co. of St. Louis, Mo., under the management of S. McCort, Supt., has been located in our midst for the past two months, and while here disposed of a large number of their celebrated Home Comfort Ranges, and as far as we have been able to learn the ranges are giving universal satisfaction. The dealings and conduct of these gentlemen we have found to be above reproach. We understand they are about to depart for a new field of labor, and we, the undersigned citizens, cheerfully recommend them to any community.

H. W. Arms, hotel proprietor.
William Mortimore.
Horace Parks, station agent B. & A. R. R.
L. S. Boynton, general merchandise and post office.
T. H. Clark, selectman and merchant.
E. D. Parks, postmaster.
W. S. Lincoln, Supt. Blandford B. & T. Co
Robert L. Parks, manager W. U. Tel. Co., Agent Am. Exp. Co.
A. S. Quensee, selectman.

Horse Blankets.

A full line, for both stable .....and street use.....

375 BLANKETS IN STOCK.

PRICES RIGHT.

D. W. Foskit,

Foskit's Mills.

DRS. HUDSON & BARDEN,
DENTISTS.

Having severed connection with Dr. W. L. Roberts, we have opened an office in the PHOENIX, 307 MAIN ST., SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

By our exclusive method we guarantee to

FILL TEETH WITHOUT PAIN,

And by a simple application to the gums we are enabled to extract fully 95 per cent of all teeth WITHOUT PAIN.

Positively no injury to teeth or gums, and no physiological ill-effect to patient.

Artificial teeth on rubber, aluminium and gold bases.

All work guaranteed. Take elevator.

Drs. HUDSON & BARDEN,
307 Main Street, Springfield, Mass.

RED KIDNEY BEANS, and salt pork.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Sohmer & Co.

Newby & Evans.

Prince & Son.

P·I·A·N·O·S.

Catalogs free. WE CAN SELL NEW PIANOS FROM

$225.00 to $600.00,

$10 per month, $25 down. If you want an UPRIGHT PIANO for $150, $175 or $200 we have them.
Have you seen the beautiful SOHMER & CO. WHITE AND GOLD PIANO in our window? PRICE $1500.

TAYLOR'S Music House,

412 MAIN STREET, SPRINGFIELD.

ISLAND BRAND LOBSTER, finest goods. Try one can. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

For Your Protection

we positively state that this remedy does not contain mercury or any other injurious drug.

NASAL CATARRH
is a local disease and is the result of colds and sudden climatic changes.

ELY'S CREAM BALM

opens and cleanses the nasal passages, allays pain and inflammation, heals the sores, protects the membrane from colds, restores the senses of ta te and smell. The balm is quickly absorbed and gives relief at once. Price 50c at druggists or by mail.
ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren St., New York.

Buy your WALL PAPER By mail
AT WHOLESALE PRICES.

100 samples free. New designs 3c and up. Elegant gilts 5c. Borders same low rates. Send 8c for postage; deduct when ordering. Warranted to suit or money refunded.

F. H. Cady, 805 Westmr. St. Prov. R.I.
Liberal discounts to clubs and agents.

HINDERCORNS The only sure Cure for Corns. Stops all pain. Makes walking easy. 15c. at Druggists.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists

If you are CONSUMPTIVE or have Indigestion, Painful fits or Debility of any kind use PARKER'S GINGER TONIC. Many who were hopeless and discouraged have regained health by its use.

MINUTE TAPIOCA, 10c a package; puddine, 10c a package; Nonesuch mince meat, 10c a package. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Piano and Banjo Lessons

given by

Misses Annie and Carrie Fish,

22-tf Palmer.

Finest wheel in the world.

Every wheel made is advertised as the "finest wheel in the world." It didn't take us very long to find out that there are only a few really fine bicycles anywhere, and when we did discover the fact, we took great care to handle only those wheels which we are sure, from personal knowledge and experience, were reliable.

We're ready to have you look at them any time. The wheels will talk louder than words. ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴

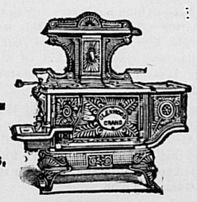
Geo. A. Moore, Jeweler, HOLDEN'S BLOCK, PALMER.

GLENWOOD RANGES

MAKE

COOKING EASY.

THREE GOLD MEDALS.



WEIR STOVE COMPANY, TAUNTON, MASS,
Agents in All Prominent Cities and Towns in New England.

SMITH & MURRAY.

SPRINGFIELD.

TO GET EVERYTHING

together for a women's wear takes a lot of time and careful planning. Our selections are just as famous for their good taste as our prices are for their littleness.

Spring Wraps.

The facilities here this week for choosing your spring coat are rather unusual. Some of the extreme Paris fads appear for the first time in medium-priced coats—and the finer grades have been materially reduced to meet their competition.

Hundreds of these garments came yesterday.

Effective styles of well-made garments at prices that strain pocket-books least.

Capes $1 to $50.
Jackets $3.95 to $25.

Silk Waists.

Two hundred came Tuesday, were marked Wednesday and are now on sale.

Second floor, take elevator.

A big lot of Japanese silk Windsor ties, ten different colors, with drawn work and hemstitched ends, 15c or 2 for 25c, actual valve 25c.

Main store, center.

Vandyke point lace collars, 59c, actual value $1.

Collarettes.

Newest designs with lace insertion and ribbon.

All lace with fancy ribbon stocks, 50c, 75c, $1, $1.50, $1.90 and $2.90.

Center store.

SMITH & MURRAY.

SPRINGFIELD.

Waist ruined for the want of the Canfield Dress Shields.

A Ruined Gown

Is generally the result when inferior dress shields are used The only certain remedy is

Canfield Dress Shields.

We agree to replace any dress damaged by perspiration when the Canfield Shield has been properly attached.

Ask for and insist upon having "Canfield Dress Shields."

CANFIELD RUBBER COMPANY, NEW YORK, LONDON AND PARIS.

For sale by dealers everywhere.

TRADE MARK Canfield

Trade-Mark on every Shield.

And in MONSON by GAGE BROS., and W. N. FLYNT & SONS.

It not only is so, it must be so, One Minute Cough Cure acts quickly, and that's what makes it go. LeGro & Lynde.

LARRABEES RHEUMATIC LINIMENT

A standard and sovereign household remedy for over half a century. It is a wonderful curative agent in all painful diseases, such as

Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Catarrh, Lumbago, Backache, Toothache,

and other painful ailments. To be had of all druggists, or by mail on receipt of 25 cents. Trade supplied by Geo. C. Goodwin & Co., or any wholesale druggist.

WINKLEMANN & BROWN DRUG CO.
BALTIMORE, MD., U. S. A.

EYES EXAMINED FREE.

Dr. Vineberg, Refraction Specialist,

wishes to inform sufferers of headache or nervous complaints arising from defective vision, can be cured by having glasses properly fitted to the eyes.

247 Main Street, - Springfield, Mass.

Only a While.

Only a little while to work,
And a long, long time to rest;
Then drive the cloud from the aching brow,
The sigh from the troubled breast.

Up! with a strong and hopeful heart;
Up! with a cheerful smile;
We've only a time to run the race,
And to rest a long, long while.

We've only a while to watch and pray,
And a long, long time to praise;
Our God, the Father, knoweth best—
Then question not His ways.

We've only a very little while,
As short as the going down
Of the setting sun, to meekly bear
The cross and the thorny crown.

Only a little while to sow,
And a long, long time to reap;
Let's sow in faith with an open hand,
And tares from the good seed keep.

Only a while to cast our bread
On the river of life so wide;
We'll find it safely gathered up
On the shores of the other side.

Only a little while to lose,
And a long, long time to find
The jewels death will rob us of—
The friends we will leave behind!

Only a while to trim our lamps,
Ere the bridegroom passeth by;
Then fill them well with the oil of life,
Let the flames rise pure and high.

Only a while—what matters it
If our life be short or long?
If we only sing a few faint notes,
Or the whole of the clanging song?

Only a while our barks must drift
Toward the misty Isle of Tears,
Where the pirate, Time, has buried deep,
Lost hopes of by-gone years.

Only a while the barks are borne
On the swell of sorrow's waves,
By the stranded joys of other days—
By a shore of grassy graves.

Only a while they'll struggle on
'Mid the darkness, and the strife;
Then God will drop their anchors deep
In the quiet sea of—Life.

—Pearl Rivers.

A DESERT TRAGEDY.

The mess of the officers of the Second Chasseurs of Africa is particularly noisy. Their merriment runs high with shouts of joy and clinking glasses as they toast Lieutenant Henri Cursol.

"Now for the adventure!" exclaims the officers in chorus.

"With all my heart," replies the young lieutenant. "You know I left Mascara with orders from our chief to the caid of the Havars about the incursions of the Tuaregs. I had accomplished my mission and was returning with my platoon, crossing a part of the immense plain of sand. We kept on our way, men and animals, although nearly overcome by the intense heat, with our eyes partly closed to avoid the reflection from the sand—a thousand times harder to endure than the heat of the sun. I was awakened from my torpor by an exclamation that came from behind me, 'El gueubeli!'

"I turned around. The sergeant major of my escort, an old African soldier, was pointing toward the horizon with excited gestures. The whole sky seemed to be covered by a thick cloud, resembling an immense column of smoke, touching the earth and reaching far into the heavens. 'El gueubeli' was marching upon us with strides.

" 'Perhaps we can get ahead of it,' I said, ordering them to gallop.

"The sergeant major shrugged his shoulders. 'If God so wills it,' he said.

"We started off at a furious rate, but the tempest came on at a still greater speed.

"A violent storm was upon us, sending blinding whirlwinds of dust into our faces at every step of the horses. Our discomfited guides lost their bearings and stopped. Our horses as well refused to move farther. They came to a standstill and braced themselves against the gusts of wind.

"I was leaning over on my horse when I felt him tremble under me; then suddenly I received a frightful shock. It seemed to me that thousands of pounds of sand fell, all at once, on my head. Stunned, scarcely able to think, I managed to struggle with my horse as he shook his bridle with rage, then raised himself on his hind feet and started off at a furious speed, taking me with him.

"The sand sifted into my eyes, my ears and my nostrils, blinding and suffocating me. I could scarcely breathe, a burning thirst was consuming me; I felt that I was dying. I said a silent good by to all the happiness that I was losing forever, then oblivion came, and I remember no more.

"When I came to myself, I found that I was under a woolen tent draped with alternate stripes of red and yellow silk, and lying on a rug which covered the entire floor of the tent. I experienced a strange sense of well being, a state of drowsiness, a delightful feeling of laziness, and I closed my eyes quickly, not caring to understand how a lieutenant of Chasseurs was metamorphosed into an Arab, master of a large tent. All at once it seemed to me a brighter light struck my eyelids, and at the same time a pungent, penetrating perfume filled the tent. I opened my eyes and saw standing at my bedside a young woman, with great fathomless eyes surmounted by two delicately pencilled arches. Her black glossy hair fell in curls down her neck, covering her cheeks with their warm shadows. She was dressed like the daughter of a wealthy house—with a haik that fell to her feet, disclosing a chemise of striped silk supported at the waist by a leather belt studded with silver and held together at the breast with a clasp of the same metal. Two enormous silver and coral rings hung from her ears, her arms were loaded with bracelets, and her fingers were covered with heavy rings.

"Acting on the realistic impression of my dream, I greeted the beautiful apparition with a most profound salaam, which was returned with salaams and gracious smiles, the beautiful Saharian displaying a set of transparent teeth behind scarlet lips. I made as if to seize the young woman, but she recoiled frightened, overthrew the lamp and fled, leaving me somewhat abashed.

"A few moments later, just as the first ray of the new day stretched itself toward my tent, an Arab entered. His tall, slender silhouette stood out distinctly against the light, as with a haughty sweep of his hand he lifted the curtain that hung at the entrance. He advanced toward me, and noticing that I was looking at him with surprise, but with regained consciousness, he began to speak in a jargon composed of bad Italian, worse French, a little Spanish and a good deal of Arabic. He bowed to me and enquired after my health. I returned the greeting, and calling to my aid the little Arabic I knew, I asked him how it happened I was under this tent.

"He informed me that I was in one of his camel hair houses; that after the tempest—during which he had been nearly buried himself—when he was returning from Ouargia, where he had gone to buy a store of provisions, he noticed lying in the sand an officer, whom his people believed dead, but who, after a careful examination, was found to have fainted and to have been only partly asphyxiated. He had ordered me to be placed on one of the camels, between two sacks of wheat.

"He then told me that he was the aga of the Cheragas, allies of the Si Sala and all the tribes not submitted to our rule. I thanked him warmly, gave him my name, and asked him if I was his prisoner.

" 'Why should you be? Your nation is not at war with mine. You are my guest, one whom God has sent me. Fear nothing and get well. Here, drink this.' At this a tall, handsome Arab handed me a cup of delicious coffee that renewed my strength and raised my spirits. He said that as soon as I should be able to stand the few hours' ride to reach Mascara he would see that I had necessary escort. He gave orders to two tall negroes to aid me with my toilet, and those two giant valets proceeded to dress me in a fine garment of white wool, in which I must have looked like a priest of the middle ages.

"El Tahar ben Moussa showed me his village of tents and all of his riches, from his working camels to his racing camels, whiter than snow and swifter than the wind; his horses, his provision tent filled with wheat, barley, oats, hashed meat mixed with cracked wheat, which the Arabs made into balls, and pots filled with dates that looked like preserves—in fact all that constitutes the fortune of an Arab, master of a large tent. He seemed much pleased by my admiration for his thoroughbreds and my compliments on the beauty of his son, a boy of ten years. But he took particular pains not to go near a certain tent, kept hermetically sealed, but from which we could hear laughter and ejaculations.

"I was well enough acquainted with Arabian customs to know that I must not enquire about the women nor speak of my fair apparition. I was, however, quite hopeful of seeing her again, for I counted on feminine curiosity.

"At the dawn of the next day El Tahar came to excuse himself for leaving me alone a part of the day, as some expedition called him five or six leagues to the south. My aches and pains not having entirely subsided, and my great weakness still preventing me from accompanying the aga, I could only witness his departure, followed by all of his horsemen, but with more joy than sorrow, I must own.

"The houri was continually in my mind, and I wished to see her. I prowled about the neighborhood of the mysterious tent—I made an effort at least, for twice one of those giant valets, with menacing gestures, invited me to direct my promenade in another direction. Was I seen from the tent? Was my disappointment noticed? Annoyed and feverish, I lay down to take a nap, as is the custom in the village, when the beautiful Arab girl entered.

"She brought me a pitcher of water filled with a refreshing liquid that quenched my nerves. We could scarcely understand each other, as I knew so little Arabic, but there are looks and gestures more eloquent than words.

"Our conversation was scarcely commenced. She had told me her name and that she was the third wife of the aga, when a great stamping of horses' feet was heard, and the barking of dogs filled us with terror. El Tahar had returned! How could she leave my tent without being seen? The wife of the aga in the tent of a man, a Christian, and with her face unveiled! She rung her hands in despair. The cursed curtain, which served as a door, moved, lifted—she had just time to throw herself behind a wooden box, thinking herself concealed; but, alas! one of her little bare feet protruded from behind the box.

"The aga entered, sat down, inquired about my health, spoke of the hunt. I seemed to be listening to his recital, but I could understand nothing. I replied at hazard. I was suffering torments. I could see nothing but the little white foot, although I did not look at it.

"While speaking, El Tahar turned slightly. He could see it! I sat breathless. It seemed to me that the black eyes of the aga—the only features of his face that I could see, for he had kept the black veil over his face, as do all the Tuaregs when away from home—glittered a moment as they fixed themselves upon the white spot, but I was mistaken, as he continued his recital quietly.

"As he arose to go he said somewhat solemnly, 'You are a guest of mine whom God has sent me—I do not forget it.'

"I stood at the entrance of my tent as he moved away with slow and measured gait. The girl was obliged to wait until night before she could leave without being seen.

"An hour after the scene there was a great commotion in the village. A troop of cavalry had arrived. It was you, comrades, in search of my body, the sergeant major and my men having carried to you the news of my certain death. You remember my reluctance to leave my tent and the manifest embarrassment in seeing you enter."

"Oh, yes! You didn't seem to be very happy over the effort we had made in searching you out, and the aga himself was obliged to place you in the saddle after the feast he offered us."

Lieutenant Cursol's orderly entered the room just then. "Lieutenant," he commenced.

"What do you wish?" asked Henri.

"There is a man outside who insists upon speaking to you, sir. A Tuareg. He wears his veil."

"A Tuareg! Tell him to come in."

"He will not dismount from his camel."

"Then let him go to the devil."

"He says he comes from yonder." And the soldier pointed in a direction over his shoulder to signify that it was some quite distant, uncertain place.

"Will you excuse me, gentlemen?"

"A message from his houri!" And the young officers rushed to the windows.

Before the steps was a camel, and sitting straight in his high seat was a Saharan, wrapped in a long burnoose, a black veil fastened under his eyes, and waiting motionless.

"I come from the Ouled Yakoud, and I bring to you a present from the aga."

"A present for me?"

"Yes, here it is," and the Tuareg unfastened from his saddle a bag made from camel's hair.

He opened it and took out a black, hairy ball. He shook it, and from this head of hair appeared a bloodless face, with cold, blue lips and eyes from whose orbs the light of life had forever fled. It was a woman's head.

The Saharan flourished this head and threw it at the feet of the young man, who stood there as pale as death himself.

"The Aga El Tahar ben Moussa sends this to you. Keep it." And, with a hoarse cry the Taureg started off at a wild gallop.

A month later Lieutenant Henri Cursol was found one evening, within a few feet of one of the busiest streets of Mascara, lying dead with a dagger between his shoulders.—Translated From the French for San Francisco Argonaut.

Nell—"Willie is dreadfully tickled with his new moustache." Belle—"I heard you were, too."—Philadelphia Record.

Of Interest to

The Journal.

FRIDAY EVENING, APRIL 17, 1896.

LOCAL NOTICES.

Two business wagons for sale. Inquire of E. B. Taylor.

All persons are hereby forbidden to fish in the "King" brook, so called, without permission from the undersigned. P. Plympton.

Anyone reading this and wishing to sell warranted nursery stock on salary will do well to write to W. D. Chase Co., Nurserymen, Boston.

A demonstration of Groote's Dutch cocoa will be given at the grocery store of E. B. Taylor next Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Ladies are invited to call and get a free sample.

PALMER NEWS.

FOR STARVING HIS HORSES.

One Animal Alleged to be Nearly Dead from Lack of Food.

For some time complaints have been made regarding the poor appearance of the horses owned by George W. Ely, coupled with the statements that they did not have sufficient food. Last fall Mr. Ely was summoned into the district court and warned regarding the matter. Recently the complaints have been more numerous, and on Wednesday Mr. Ely was summoned to answer to a complaint charging him with cruelly depriving his stock of sufficient food. There were seven charges in all, to which he pleaded not guilty. The particular case on trial was that relating to a bay stallion; the complaint was made by J. A. Palmer, agent of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and Mr. Ely conducted his own defense.

Mr. Palmer was the first witness, and testified to having found the horse in question at the barn of Rev. R. W. Graham. The animal was nothing but skin and bones and reeled from side to side as if from lack of strength, and he was afraid it would fall down while he was there. One hip was knocked down, and there was a large spot of hide off; the animal was hide-bound and his eyes were dull. It did not appear sick, but weak from lack of food.

Rev. R. W. Graham, owner of Overlook farm, testified that Mr. Ely brought the horse there on Friday of last week between eight and nine in the evening, after receiving permission to do so, placing him in a box stall. He stated that the horse belonged to someone else, and had been hurt; the stall in which the animal had been was small and he wanted a larger place for him, but had none of his own. Mr. Graham did not see the horse till next morning, when he at once ordered the animal removed from the barn; Mr. Ely neglected to do this, however. The animal was the poorest of the kind he had ever seen; it showed a lack of flesh and nourishment which could not have failed to cause cruel suffering. Some musty hay, which his horses would not eat, was thrown into the stall for bedding Friday night, and the horse had eaten every particle of it before Saturday morning. The animal ate readily both hay and oats. The horse was blind in one eye, and he had also noticed sores on the hips. When Mr. Ely curried the animal that morning large quantities of hair came out. When the horse got down in the stall he could not get up alone, but had to be raised with pulley blocks and chains, which Mr. Ely brought for that purpose. He considered that the animal's inability to get up was caused by lack of food rather than by lack of muscle caused by disease and disuse, which Mr. Ely tried to have him admit.

Thomas Blanchard saw the horse at Mr. Graham's Monday, and his testimony as to the animal's condition was the same as that previously given. The bones of the animal were nearly through the hide, and his head was hanging down as if almost ready to die; he looked starved to death. He spoke to the horse several times and tried to have it move about in the stall, but was unsuccessful. The hair was off in many places and the animal was apparently covered with lice. It was not sick with disease, but its condition was due to a lack of nourishment.

A. L. Holt, who saw the animal Tuesday, said it was the poorest animal he ever saw stand up, the most sickening object he ever beheld. Hide-bound, he said, didn't express the condition of the animal; he never saw a drum head stretched tighter. The hair on the hide was dead, and the animal was lousy. Its teeth were in good condition; it was perfectly capable of eating and would when it had an opportunity. Its condition was due to starvation; nothing else could have caused it. He had seen the horse when it was brought from Vermont about a year ago; it was then sleek and fat and could go fast, and was worth $600 or $700. On being asked if the animal was very lousy he said that it couldn't be, as they could not get their living on it. He had noticed the sores spoken of; they were not running sores, simply dried over; there was not vitality or blood enough in the animal to make a running sore. In his opinion the hip had become knocked down by lying on it and then straining it in struggling to get up while in a weak condition.

Mr. Ely announced that he was wholly unprepared for the (to him) unexpected turn which the case had taken, and the testimony of the witnesses, and asked for a continuance until he could have a veterinary examine the horse, and could produce witnesses for the defense, which would be that the animal's condition was due to injury and lack of use of his muscles, and not to lack of food. The court granted a continuance until this morning, and Mr. Graham insisted that the animal be removed from his barn. Mr. Ely announced that he had a place to which he would take it, but Mr. Palmer at first objected, alleging that after he had visited Mr. Ely's 18 animals and made his complaints they had been moved in the night to get them out of sight, being in some instances put into barns without the knowledge of the owners. The court announced that Mr. Ely would be held responsible for the safety of the animal until after the trial, and he was given permission to move it.

The examination of witnesses for the defense began at 10 this morning, but at noon the first was still on the stand. The defense is that the horse's condition is due to sickness, commencing with the distemper last fall and continuing with colic so that the animal could not be fed very much at a time, though he had been fed four times a day all he could be given without making him sick with colic.

Fire District Meeting.

The annual fire district meeting on Tuesday afternoon was an unusually harmonious affair. There seemed to be little criticism of either past action or the recommendations made, and the old board of officers was elected, as follows: Prudential committee, W. E. Stone, E. G. Hastings and Rufus Flynt; chief engineer, G. A. Bills; first assistant, C. E. Fuller; second assistant, A. E. Fitch; clerk and treasurer, F. D. Barton; auditor, C. E. Fish. The appropriations are: Salaries of firemen, $400; janitor, $96; engineers, $50; stoker, $20; coal, $40; chief engineer, $150; first assistant, $25; second assistant, $20; contingencies, $200; clerk and treasurer, $25; water rent, $1000; total, $2026.

A. E. Fitch was moderator of the meeting. The reports of the officers were read and accepted, showing the property and apparatus of the department to be in good condition. It was voted to pay the Palmer Water company $1000 for water for fire purposes during the coming year, provided the company would consent to the use of water for sprinkling the streets at no additional charge. H. D. Converse holds a contract with the company for the exclusive use of the water for street sprinkling purposes which has two years to run, and which may cause some trouble. The prudential committee was instructed to buy rubber boots and coats for the use of the firemen, the money for this purpose to be taken from that now in the treasury. The matter of rehanging the fire alarm bell was laid on the table, as it was reported that experts who had seen the bell said its tone would be little if any improved by the change. It was voted to charge interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum on all taxes unpaid after September 1st. The treasurer was authorized to borrow not exceeding $500 in anticipation of the taxes of the year, and the prudential committee was authorized to change the location of the fire alarm box at Shearer's corner, on request of the Wright Wire Co.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Brown Celebrate Their 25th Wedding Anniversary.

The pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Brown on West Main street was the scene of an enjoyable social event on Tuesday evening, when the 25th anniversary of their marriage was celebrated. Clarence A. Brown and Fannie Royce were married on the 12th of April, 1871, in the parlor of the Palmer—now Converse—House, by Rev. B. M. Fullerton, now of Waltham, but at that time pastor of the Congregational church of Palmer; the father of the bride was at that time the landlord of the hotel.

The rooms of the house were tastefully decorated with palms and cut flowers, roses being much in evidence. In an upstairs room the Philharmonic orchestra of Springfield, six pieces, furnished music during the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Brown received their guests in the large parlor from 8 to 11, and were greeted by many. About 175 invitations had been sent out, and few were not responded to in person. A dainty lunch was served in the dining room. Mr. and Mrs. Brown were the recipients of many handsome and valuable presents, including silver and cut glass, china, etc., an onyx table and an elegant banquet lamp.

Among the out of town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Holden of Bennington, Vt., Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Hatch of Springfield, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Squier, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis McLaughlin and Mrs. James McLaughlin of Stafford Springs, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Huntley of Amherst, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Orcutt of Monson, Mr. and Mrs. Moses Warren of Hampden.

The Disputed License Vote Question Taken Into Court.

Judge Allen, in the supreme court in Boston, has ordered the registrars of voters for the town of Palmer to file in court by next Tuesday an answer as to why they did not count the disputed license vote cast in the annual town meeting of March 16th. The date for the hearing is set for the 28th, in Springfield.

This order was in answer to petitions for writs of mandamus and certiorari signed by Edwin R. Pierce, Lucien W. Caryl, Marcus D. Sullivan, Homer C. Strong, Henry D. Converse, J. B. Dawson, James F. Fenton, John P. Manning, Thomas J. Moran and John F. O'Neil, three of whom state that they have money invested in the liquor business and want the question of whether the town did or did not vote for license in March settled. They claim that the vote as recounted is a mistake. It will be remembered that the first return gave the vote as a tie, 481 for and 481 against, license. A recount was petitioned for, and gave the same result. There was one ballot in precinct C which was not counted either way, the cross being on the margin of the ballot and above the spaces for the vote on the liquor question. This the registrars could not agree on, two wishing to count it for license and two deciding that it could not be counted either way. The petitioners claim that this was intended as a license vote, and petition to have its legality established.

Attempted Highway Robbery.

An attempt at highway robbery, which failed only because the intended victim had no money, was made on Walnut street near Main Monday night. William Allen was passing along the street when he met three men, only one of whom he knew. As he was passing them two seized him about the waist and pinned his arms to his side, while the third quickly went through his pockets. As he knew there was nothing in them he made no resistance, and after the fellows had completed their search they departed.

Methodist Conference Appointments.

The Methodist conference, which closed its session in Springfield on Monday, made these appointments for this vicinity: Belchertown and Dwight, Rev. G. W. Locke; Bondsville, Rev. R. E. Smith; Hampden and Glendale, supplied by Rev. J. H. Bennett; Ludlow Center, supplied by Rev. George W. Clark; Monson, Rev. W. H. Marble; Wales, supplied by Rev. G. L. Camp; Ware, Rev. J. W. Fulton; Warren, Rev. A. R. Nichols; West Warren, Rev. N. L. Porter; Wilbraham, Rev. Fayette Nichols.

The King's Daughters met with Miss Julia Allen this afternoon.

Rufus Flynt is making extensive repairs and additions to his Central street house.

Mrs. F. H. Warren of Milford, N. H., is visiting Mrs. H. A. Northrop.

Mrs. L. M. Shaw has returned after a visit of nearly three months in the West.

Miss Flora Studley is home from Bridgewater Normal school for a week's vacation.

Miss Cook has closed her kindergarten here and gone to Westboro, where she has a larger school.

Alvah Thayer of South Hyannis, formerly of this place, has been visiting friends in town this week.

J. B. Shaw has been confined to his house for nearly a week with a hard cold, but is now recovering.

A special meeting of the Young Men's Library association will be held in its rooms next Monday evening.

A meeting of the Palmer Rod and Gun club will be held in the Palmer Bicycle club rooms this evening at 8 o'clock.

Thomas lodge of Masons worked the second degree on four candidates at a special meeting Monday evening.

As Patriot's Day comes on Sunday this year the banks will be closed on Monday; the schools will not close however.

The Hotchkin Sisters bell ringers company gave a concert Wednesday evening to a small audience in the Baptist church.

J. E. Toole, the entertaining German dialect comedian, will appear at the opera house the 28th in his latest success, "Killarney and the Rhine."

The subject at St. Paul's Universalist church next Sunday morning will be "Trees of God's creation, my friends and your friends," an Arbor Day sermon.

Service this evening at Palmer Center at the house of Mrs. Burpee; subject, "A rich life." Service at the same place Sunday at 3 p. m.; subject, "Peace with God."

The ministers of the Westfield Baptist association held a monthly meeting in the Baptist church here on Tuesday. Dinner was served by the ladies of the church.

Mrs. Sarah Cummings of Springfield will give a free lecture to women on physiology in the chapel of the Universalist church next Thursday afternoon at 3, to which all are invited.

Arrangements are perfected for the kermess at the opera house this evening under the auspices of St. Thomas's association, and attendants are assured of an enjoyable time.

The engagement of Miss Carrie A. Parker, principal of the Thorndike grammar school, to a Torrington, Ct., young man, is announced, and she will leave school at the close of the present term.

One civil case was entered in the district court last Saturday, George D. Darling of Monson, et al., against Lydia B. Wright, a petition to enforce a mechanic's lien on certain real estate in Monson.

G. A. Moore has been having a special clock sale this week, at unheard-of low prices. It will close to-morrow evening; all kinds of clocks are included, from the nickel alarm to the fine parlor clock.

A free demonstration of the excellencies of Groote's Dutch cocoa will be given next Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the grocery store of E. B. Taylor in the Holden block, to which every lady is invited.

Mrs. H. W. Small has been engaged as organist at the Congregational church for the coming year, and C. F. Orcutt of Monson as director of music. An endeavor will be made to form a chorus choir for the morning services.

Miss L. H. Brigham will give her lecture on Saxony in the Union church at Ludlow next Wednesday evening, and in the Second Congregational church at Chicopee next Friday, under the auspices of the King's Daughters.

The selectmen have appointed C. T. Brainerd to have the care of the highways for the coming year. The stones are being raked out of the roads, and the Fay flat, which was badly washed out by high water in the river, has been filled.

W. H. Whiting, principal of the high school at Greenfield for the past 12 years, and formerly principal of the Palmer high school, has resigned his position in the Greenfield school, to take effect at the close of the present term.

The members of the Ladies Tuesday Social club have been invited by the Current Events club of Monson to attend a lecture by Mrs. Marble of Worcester next Friday afternoon at the residence of Miss Esther Holmes, to be followed by a reception.

F. D. Barton has taken the agency for Palmer of the American Wheelmen's Accident association of Westfield, which makes a specialty of insuring wheelmen, making a preferred class of them instead of a hazardous class, as most accident companies do.

A fire on the north side of the Boston and Albany cut east of Main street crept along toward the Palmer Bakery buildings Monday morning, and had got pretty close before it was discovered. The flames were soon put out, and no great damage was done.

Mrs. John Shaw, a former resident of Palmer, died at her home in Ashburnham on Sunday, at the age of 60 years. The body was brought to Palmer for burial yesterday. Mrs. Shaw leaves two sisters, Mrs. L. M. Shaw of Palmer and Mrs. William Lester of Woodstock, Ct.

The Hampden County Conference of Congregational churches will meet in Chester next Wednesday. Rev. F. E. Jenkins, L. H. Gager, F. B. Pope, Mrs. F. E. Jenkins, Mrs. Hubbard Lawrence and Dea. G. H. Hastings are the delegates from the Congregational church of Palmer.

The Flynt Building and Construction Co. has the contract to erect two buildings at Rockaway, N. J., for the Liondale Bleach, Dye and Print works; one is to be 379 by 84 feet, three stories, with a tower 40 by 40 feet four stories; the other will be 359 by 80 feet, three stories. The price is about $150,000.

A brush fire on the hill across the river in Monson did considerable damage in the pasture of C. B. Fiske Wednesday, and at one time threatened to cross the quarry road to the premises of H. Waid. The grass and underbrush had been made very dry by the hot weather of the first of the week, and burned like tinder.

Rev. F. S. Hatch will preach in the Congregational church Sunday morning in exchange with the pastor. Since this Sunday will be the third anniversary of the installation of the pastor, he will preach an anniversary sermon in the evening, taking for the subject, "Three anxious years; what shall follow them?"

Congressman Gillett wishes the JOURNAL to state that the garden seeds of which the agricultural department furnishes a limited number to distribute, will be ready about the first of May, and that he will be glad to send a package to any constituent, regardless of party, who will notify him by postal card that he would like them.

The members of St. Paul's Universalist church will have a banquet in the church parlors next Tuesday evening at seven, at which time the district missionary, Rev. Charles Conklin of Springfield, will make an official visit, assisted by Rev. Harry Blackford and W. L. Ricketts of Monson.

The Boston Stock and Grain Exchange has opened a branch office in the Holden block, next door to the rooms of the Postal Telegraph Co., with F. W. Davison as agent, and office hours from 9.30 a. m. to 2.30 p. m. The exchange deals in stocks, bonds, grain and provisions, and is capitalized under the laws of Massachusetts with $100,000 capital, fully paid in. The Palmer branch will be connected with Monson by telephone soon.

A traveling peddler who some time ago trusted a South Main street young woman for some goods and had hard work to get his pay, attempted to collect the balance due him last Saturday night. The young lady's "best fellow" was calling that evening, however, and resented the peddler's manner and method, proving too much for the fellow, who took to his heels with the young man in hot pursuit. The neighbors looked expectantly on in the hope that there would be a "circus," but the peddler got away unhurt.

PALMER CENTER.

A ball team has been organized among the players here as follows: N. Brothers, p.; W. Crimmins, c.; E. Mahoney, 1b.; R. Bacon, 2b.; B. Wheeler, 3b.; F. Brothers, ss.; B. Trumble, lf.; E. Brothers, rf.; captain, Wheeler. The players are all between the ages of 9 and 15 years, and the club would like to hear from other clubs whose players are of the same average age.

THREE RIVERS.

John Manning is the possessor of a new bicycle, bought at Springfield.

John F. Willis of Minneapolis, Minn., is visiting his brother, Herbert Willis.

Mrs. Ella R. Nutting of Belchertown is visiting her sister, Mrs. S. B. Barnes.

Miss Ethel Merrill of Collinsville, Ct., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. H. Bliss.

Rev. G. S. Butler, who has been spending two weeks in New York, returned home last Saturday.

Mrs. Henry C. Brown of Melrose will speak to the Junior Endeavor society tomorrow afternoon.

Miss Tobey, who has been holding a series of meetings in this place, returned to her home in Brookline on Monday.

George Larose, who has lived in this place several years, returned to his home in Plattsburg, N. Y., last Saturday.

Mrs. F. A. Upham and daughter, who have been visiting friends and relatives in Springfield, returned on Monday evening.

Hard times in this place don't seem to affect the Polanders, as two more companies arrived this week fresh from the old country.

Last Sunday evening at the Baptist church a young man who was coming down the steps thought he was near the bottom, and losing his balance, caught hold of the one behind him and threw him down, both receiving a severe shaking up.

E. A. Thomas will preach in the Baptist church next Sunday morning at 10 45. In the evening he will give the fifth lecture in the Prodigal Son series, subject, "Coming to himself." There will be solos by Miss Warriner of Palmer.

Fred Higgins, who was thrown from a wagon in Springfield last January and injured in the wrist, has been having trouble with the wrist since, and has now found that one of the flanges is out of place and some of the ligaments broken, which will seriously interfere with his work on the farm.

BONDSVILLE.

Arthur Jenks has moved his family to Amherst.

Miss Edith Hobson of Palmer spent Sunday with Miss Mabel Ryther.

Miss Lizzie Clifford is home from Westfield Normal school on a vacation.

George Farr, who has been employed in Lowell, is visiting his parents here.

Rev. A. L. Squier of Amherst visited friends here on his return from conference.

John J. Conway spent Sunday and the first of the week at his home in Norwich, Ct.

The bakery has resumed business again, under the management of Patrick Moriarty and Mr. Sherry.

Ephram Parent went to Roxton Pond, P. Q., last Saturday to attend the funeral of his sister, Mrs. Brouilette.

"Uncle" Jesse Morse, who has been confined to his bed for some time, is now much better, and is able to be out.

Mrs. McCarty, who has been for some time in Washington, D. C., has returned to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Michael Collins.

There will be a ball game at 3 p. m. on the hotel grounds to-morrow afternoon between the nine of the bleachery department of the mill and that of the repair shop.

Two notable weddings will take place this month, one being that of Miss Julia Connor to Mr. Grogan of Framingham, and the other Miss Mary Ryan to Mr. Shea of this town.

O. A. Parent is making extensive repairs and building an addition to his block opposite the St. Bartholomew church, and will move his stock of goods there as soon as the store is completed.

Among those who attended conference were Rev. and Mrs. F. J. Hale, O. A. Parent, Dr. H. A. Smith, Mrs. O. A. Parent, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Collis, Mrs. E. E. Ryther, Mrs. E. C. Russell and Mrs. Charles Shumway.

On Tuesday Miss Nellie Sullivan and John Shea were united in marriage by Rev. B. F. McKeany. The bride was gowned in blue silk. Mr. and Mrs. Shea left at five o'clock for a brief wedding trip, after which they will reside in Bondsville.

Rev. F. J. Hale, who has been pastor of the Methodist church for three years, has been appointed pastor of the Highland Methodist church of Holyoke. During Mr. Hale's pastorate here he has won many friends, who regret his departure. His successor will be Rev. Robert E. Smith of Chester.

THORNDIKE.

Fred Bishop of Orange is visiting his parents here.

Nicola J. Guillow has accepted a position in the post office.

James McFarlane, Jr., of Westboro, is in town visiting his sisters.

Maurice Lawlor is connecting his property on Main street with the sewer.

Fred D. Bishop gave a birthday party to his friends last Friday evening.

Some fine strings of fish have been taken the last few days by Mr. Morse.

Dr. Mahoney of Marlboro spent part of the week in town with relatives.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hale of Springfield is the guest of her brother, E. N. Hale.

Dennis Dailey has purchased a new wheel through the Moore agency at Palmer.

The Columbian Band will give another concert to-morrow, weather permitting.

Miss Kate Evans will soon leave for Hartford, Ct., where she will make her home.

Mrs. M. E. Murdock has returned from a few days' visit with her sister in Orange.

Mrs. McClintock of Ludlow was the guest of her sister, Mrs. George Mooers, this week.

Miss Lizzie Hartnett and Miss Nellie Riley have returned from their visit in West Warren.

The juniors will play a return game here with the Three Rivers club to-morrow afternoon.

The Columbian Band has been engaged to furnish music for the Grand Army on Memorial Day.

Miss Sadie Whiting spent part of the week in Springfield with her sister, Mrs. John L. Scott.

Miss Ada Murdock will take part in the recital to be given by Miss Marion Sterns in Springfield May 27th.

William Bartlett and daughter of Amherst have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Gerald the past week.

Rev. and Mrs. G. M. Gerrish have returned from their visit of a few days with friends in Goshen and Northampton.

John Stokes of New York is expected here in a few days, and will spend a vacation with his brother, Martin Stokes.

John Foster, who was quite badly cut in the knee with an axe while chopping in the woods last week, is able to be about

A. B. C. Deming of Boston, formerly of Thorndike, was in town this week and is having his furniture moved to Boston.

The Juniors received a crushing defeat at the hands of a Three Rivers ball club at the latter place on Saturday, the score being 40 to 14.

James McFarlane, who has been at the Carney hospital in Boston for a few weeks, has returned, feeling a little improved in health.

The Dutton homestead near the Four Corners, which was recently purchased by Mr. Dutton of Cleveland, O., is undergoing repairs and is being remodeled.

Many in town are anxiously awaiting the result of the hearing at Springfield on the 28th, as to the disputed license vote which was cast in the March election.

Louis Nephew, while at work trimming stone on Wednesday afternoon, was hit in the leg and quite badly hurt, so much so that he had to be carried to his home.

D. F. Sullivan has purchased for the Columbian Band two of Bessen's best band instruments, a B flat baritone and cornet, while he was in New York recently.

Misses Sadie and Jessie Whiting entertained the Misses Dorothy Todd, Ella and Elizabeth Henghan, Marion Andrews and Ethel Miller at their home last Saturday.

The King's Daughters cleared $22 from their supper on Wednesday evening of last week. The next meeting of the society will be held with Mrs. C. F. Mooers on the 25th.

M. F. Kelliher of this town, who played in last year's ball team and who is now attending the Boston University, played his first game of the season with the college club this week.

Quite a number from this place will attend the kermess to be given at Palmer this evening, while others will go to North Wilbraham to attend the dance given by the ball club of that place.

Mrs. Abbie T. Nichols, formerly of this place, now residing at South Hyannis, visited here with friends recently, en route to Belchertown and Enfield, where she will spend a short vacation with friends.

Persons living on Commercial and High streets are complaining of being relieved of their wood and coal by some unknown person or persons, who choose the small hours of the morning to do their thievish work.

The Columbian Band made its first appearance of the season on Saturday. The members show a marked improvement in their playing, and it is hoped by the community that they may continue in their prosperity.

A. A. Houghton has a curiosity in the form of a kitten which was born this week. It has eight legs and two bodies, but no tail, and its face resembles that of a human being. It is on exhibition in the store of A. P. Adams.

The home ball team will open the season here on Saturday next with the Wheelwrights. Duggan and Longtine will be the battery for the home team, and Fitzgerald and McAvoy will do the work for the visitors. Game at 3 p. m.

Was it the Work of Burglars?

John Moynihan's blacksmith shop was broken into on Wednesday night by unknown parties, they gaining an entrance by breaking the lock on the door. When Mr. Moynihan came to the shop on Thursday he found his belongings, including tools, and a lot of bills and receipts, thrown about the floors, the desk which held the papers having also been broken into. Mr. Moynihan cannot imagine what the intentions of the guilty parties were, unless it was the work of burglars, who broke into the place in order to receive tools with which to do a job in town.

Later it was learned that the Boston and Maine depot at Bondsville had been broken into, also Maurice Moriarty's place of business. Nothing was secured at the depot, and only about $2 and some liquors taken from Moriarty's. Some tools found about these premises would indicate that they were the parties who broke into the blacksmith shop.

BORN.

At Ware, 13th, a daughter to Frank P. Smith.

MARRIED.

At Monson, 15th, by Rev. Thomas O'Keefe, William Olney and Kate Leary.

At Bondsville, 14th, by Rev. B. McKeany, John Shea and Nellie Sullivan.

DIED.

At Monson, 10th, Silas N. Harris.

At Monson, 11th, Cornelia A., 67, widow of Eli M. Shaw.

At Brimfield, 13th, Dr. George F. Chamberlain, 69.

At Ashburnham, 12th, Mrs. John Shaw, 60, formerly of Palmer.

TO RENT.—Two tenements on Fox avenue. tf-44 Apply to G. S. HOLDEN.

WANTED.—Two adjoining unfurnished rooms. Must be within 10 minutes walk of post office. Address P. O. Box 272, Palmer, Mass.

FOR SALE.—Plymouth Rock and Buff Cochin cockerels; also eggs for hatching. tf-38 RALPH LEGRO, Palmer.

FOR SALE.—Cherry chamber set, black walnut extension dining table, and kitchen range, all in good order. Enquire at house of C. B. FISKE.

SETTING EGGS FOR SALE.—Buff cochins, Plymouth Rocks, Polands, Houdans, silver hamburgs, light brahmas, minorcas. $1 for 15 eggs. 4-3 JOHN RILEY, Thorndike.

AGENTS WANTED.—Live up to date farmers to sell a high grade fertilizer to farmers. Large commissions paid. Address with references P. O. Box 1804, Boston, Mass. 2-2

FOR SALE.—White and yellow pine wood, $2.50 per cord, delivered. Plymouth Rock and Brown Leghorn eggs for setting. 4-2 H. CHAPMAN, Palmer.

PASTURE of 28 acres, well fenced, to rent, or will take stock to pasture by the week, at a low price. ROAD CART and skeleton wagon for sale. tf-1 D. E. HOLDEN, Palmer.

FOR SALE.—Estate of the late Mrs. Evans; frame house of 10 rooms; large barn; wash room and woodshed combined; 13 acres land, mowing, pasturing; fruit trees, etc. Address, "ESTATE," JOURNAL Office.

WANTED.—EXPERIENCED OPERATORS on Wilcox & Gibbs straw sewing machines on men's and boys' hats. Also trimmers for the same. Plenty of work and a long season. 5-51 NELSON & LADOW, Upton, Mass.

—— ROSES. ——

PINKS, - - - - 30c Dozen
DAFFODILLS, - - - - 35c "
ROMAN HYACINTHS, - - - 35c "
All kinds of floral designs made at
8*48 BLODGETT'S GREENHOUSE.

EGGS from Chapin's barred and white Plymouth Rocks. Best pens of barred $2 per 13. Good pens $1 per 13. White $1.50 per 13. 50 eggs double the price of 13. Large early laying stock. Winners at Palmer, Springfield, Stafford and other fairs. GEORGE A. CHAPIN, Hampden, Mass. tf-1

O & O TEA—A blend of choice Formosa, Japan and India teas. Put up in ¼ pound cans, 20c, ½ pound cans, 38c, and 1 pound cans, 75c. Telephone connection. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

ODD FELLOWS' OPERA HOUSE,
Tuesday Eve., April 28.
The magnetic German dialect and singing comedian, J. E. TOOLE, in his greatest success,
"KILLARNEY AND THE RHINE."
Seats at Allen's, Thursday, 23d. Special train leaves Monson at 7.20. Seats at Keeney's.

GEER'S HORSE RADISH, 10c. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Good looking people usually have good teeth. LeGRO'S TOOTH POWDER will keep the teeth white, gums healthy and breath pure.
LeGro & Lynde, Druggists,
Next to Post Office, Palmer.

UNDERWOOD'S CANNED HAM, cooked and specially prepared for slicing. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

WALL PAPERS,
MOULDINGS, ETC.,
AT MASON'S, PALMER.

ASSESSORS' NOTICE.

To the Inhabitants and other Persons liable to pay Taxes in the Town of Palmer for the Year 1896:

The Assessors of the Town of Palmer hereby give notice to the inhabitants of said town, and all other persons liable to pay taxes therein, that they will receive at the Town House on Friday, the first day of May next, the valuation of estates, and all persons liable to be taxed in said town are hereby notified to bring in to us true and perfect lists of all Polls (males twenty years old and upwards), and schedules and estimates of the Personal and Real Estates for which they are liable to pay taxes in said town, possessed by them on the first day of May next.

MORTGAGED REAL ESTATE.

Any Mortgagor or Mortgagee of Real Estate situated within this town may bring in to the undersigned Assessors, within the time above specified, a statement under oath, of the amount due on each separate lot or parcel of such Real Estate, and the name and residence of every holder of an interest as a Mortgagor or Mortgagee therein. When only a part of the property described in any mortgage is situated within this town, an estimate of the amount of the Mortgagee's interest in such part; or when a recorded mortgage includes for one sum two or more estates or parts of an estate, an estimate of the amount of the Mortgagee's interest in each estate or part of an estate shall be given in such statement.—Chapter 175 of the Acts of 1882.

CHAPTER ELEVEN OF THE PUBLIC STATUES.

SECTION 14. "When any person has an interest in taxable real estate, as holder of a duly recorded mortgage, given to secure the payment of money, the amount of which is fixed and certain, the amount of his interest as Mortgagee shall be assessed as Real Estate in the place where the land lies; and the Mortgagor shall be assessed only for the value of said Real Estate after deducting the assessed value of all such Mortgagee's interests therein. When such property is situated in two or more places, the amount of the Mortgagee's interest to be assessed in each place shall be proportioned to the assessed value in the respective places of the mortgaged Real Estate, deducting therefrom the taxable amount of prior mortgages, if any, therein."

SECTION 15. "If any holder of such a mortgage fails to file in the Assessor's office a statement under oath of all his estate liable to taxation under the preceding section, including a statement of the full amount remaining unpaid upon such mortgage and of his interest therein, the amount stated in the mortgage shall be conclusive as to the extent of such interest; but the Mortgagee's interest in such real estate shall not be assessed at a greater sum than the fair cash valuation of the land and structures thereon or affixed thereto; and the amount of a mortgage interest in an estate that has been divided after the creation of of such mortgage shall not be required to be apportioned upon the several parts of such estate, except as provided in sections eighty-one to eighty-three inclusively."

SECTION 16. "Mortgagors and Mortgagees referred to in the two preceding sections shall, for the purpose of taxation, be deemed joint owners until the Mortgagee takes possession; and until such possession is taken by the first Mortgagee, the Assessors or the Collector of Taxes, upon application to any one of them, shall give to any such Mortgagee or Mortgagor a tax bill showing the whole tax on the mortgaged estate and the amount included in the valuation thereof as the interests of each Mortgagee and of the Mortgagor respectively. If the first mortgagee is in possession he shall be deemed sole owner; and any other mortgagee in possession shall be deemed joint owner with prior mortgagees."

When a statement in conformity to the law above quoted is brought in, the Real Estate therein returned will be assessed under sections 14, 15 and 16 of Chapter Eleven of Public Statutes. But in cases where the Mortgagor of the Real Estate has agreed in writing to pay all taxes assessed thereon, no statement or return is required from either Mortgagee or Mortgagor, unless requested by the Assessors in writing.

H. T. BISHOP,
JOHN O. HAMILTON,
A. A. WARRINER,
Palmer, Mass., April 11th, 1896. } Assessors of Palmer. 3-1

PRUNES, 5c a pound. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

We make friends of our customers and customers of our friends. . . . . .

Transient trade is all right for a superstructure, but steady custom is the foundation of a business—that's what we have worked for. We have given prices which have attracted you and treatment which will hold you—doing this we disprove the old statement that "there is friendship in business." A man had better try to get along without customers than without friends. We knew a man once—but that's another story—so is this:

Big cut in canned goods.

4 cans peas, - - 25c
4 " Maine sweet corn, 25c
4 " lima beans, - 25c
3 " clams, - - 25c
1 one lb. can Cleveland's royal baking powder, 40c
1 can condensed milk, 10c
1 " grated pineapple, 10c
1 " peaches, - - 10c

Golden Drip Syrup, 26c gallon. (Bring jug.)

This week we are selling a 12c package of Quaker pancake flour for 5c. 2 lb. package. Every package is guaranteed fresh and put up by Quaker Oats People.

J. F. Foley,
Corner Walnut and Main streets,
. . . PALMER, MASS.

A Man With X Ray Eyes.

A Phenomenon of Nature in Springfield.

"There are many more things in Heaven and earth Horatio, than are dreamt of in your philosophy."

There is in Springfield to-day a man of modest demeanor who makes no pretensions to greatness, but who possesses the most wonderful gift of second sight and the power to penetrate beyond the veil that hitherto has proved impenetrable to science and baffled the hypothetical powers of divination. Prof. A. J. Salisbury has been a resident of Springfield for some time past, during which he has demonstrated in thousands of cases his infallible skill in correctly diagnosing cases that have baffled the skill and thwarted the effort of the best medical practioners of the old school. All to him through the intricacies and complications of diseases are clearly revealed to him through his wonderful occult powers of vision, no matter where in one's anatomy the seeds of disease may lurk, they are clearly revealed and accurately located by Prof. Salisbury without asking the patient a single question. On this fact hinges the success of the Springfield Magnetic Institute. Prof. Salisbury tells the people every pain and ache, and tells you how you feel better than you can yourself, and it stands to reason that the cure is half performed when you are sure you know what your ailments are. After Prof. Salisbury reads your disease, then F. W. Mappherson, M. D., a man of years of experience gives you the medicines for the disease you suffer from, and if possible a cure is speedily effected. And the Springfield Magnetic Institute has justly earned the title—the place where sick people are made well.

Office hours 1 to 6 and 7 to 9 p. m. except Tuesday and Thursday evenings. No office hours on Sunday.

Remember the place, 394 Main Street.

Room 12, (over Forbes & Wallace's,)

SPRINGFIELD, - - - - MASS.

SEA & PERRIN'S WORCESTERSHIRE SAUCE. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

CHERRY BALSAM
Cures coughs, colds, throat and lung troubles. Others use it, we ask you to try it.
LeGro & Lynde, Druggists,
next to Post Office, PALMER.

PROPOSALS FOR COAL.

The school committee invite bids for coal, to be delivered as follows: Bondsville, grate, 50 tons, egg, 5 tons; Thorndike, grate, 50 tons; Three Rivers, grate, 50 tons; Palmer, grammar school, egg, 35 tons; high school, egg, 35 tons; Wire Mill, egg, 5 tons. Coal is to be screened and weighed by a sworn weigher, weight bills to accompany each load as delivered. All bids must be in by 12 o'clock, noon, on Monday, April 27. Bids shall be mailed to School Committee, Palmer, Mass., and marked "Proposals for Coal." The right is reserved to reject any or all bids. 3-2

ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE.
SAW AND GRIST MILL PROPERTY FOR SALE AT AUCTION.

Administrator's sale of the saw and grist mill property of the late Seneca F. Conant of Monson, together with the house and barn, and three acres of land; also 14 acres of mowing and tillage land, about ¼ miles from the homestead. The above property lies in the southeasterly part of Monson, about one mile from the village, on the road to Wales, and will be sold at auction on the premises, Tuesday, April 28th, at 10 o'clock a. m.

LEWIS A. CONANT, Administrator.
Palmer, Mass., April 13th, 1896, 3-2

GILT BELTS, silk belts, Windsor ties, shirt waists. Trade in these started at a brisk pace. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

AMERICAN SARDINES, 5c a can, 6 for 25c. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Don't invite disappointment by experimenting. Depend on One Minute Cough Cure and you have immediate relief. It cures croup. The only harmless remedy that produces immediate results. LeGro & Lynde.

HEINZ'S SALAD DRESSING, Keystone brand, 20c a bottle. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

New goods for spring.

Have you seen our line of

SPRING CAPES?

Beautiful silks and velvets, made in the latest styles. How can they do otherwise than please?

SEPARATE SKIRTS,
made from serges and crepons, perfect fitting and durable.

FIGURED MOHAIRS,
dainty novelties, and a complete line of wash goods can be found upon our counters.

What are they using for trimming? Everything Gimps, laces, and an endless variety of ribbons. See our stocks for all the novelties of the season.

NEW LINES OF GLOVES,
in tans, steel and mode shades. Don't fail to see our lines before purchasing.

D. L. BODFISH,
Cross Block,
PALMER.

New Goods Just Opened.
Spring, 1896.

A FINE LINE OF
Wash Goods,
Table Linen,
Napkins and Towels.
Goblin and Pongee

The Journal.

FRIDAY EVENING, APRIL 17, 1896.

NEIGHBORHOOD NOTES.

MONSON.

LOCAL NOTICES.

25 Dollars Reward.

The above reward will be paid to any person for evidence that shall lead to the prosecution and conviction of any one engaged in the illegal sale of spirituous liquors or intoxicating drinks in the town of Monson.

J. H. THOMPSON,
C. C. KEEP,
H. SQUIER,
} Prosecuting Committee.

A Monson Boy Ordained in Illinois.

The Morris, Ill., Herald of March 25th gave an account of the ordination in that city the 24th of Fred D Tucker, formerly of Monson, which will be of interest to JOURNAL readers: "Mr. Tucker read a paper which set forth facts upon which the council was able to determine his fitness for the pulpit, speaking of his early training, his education, his identification with the cause of Christ, his ideas of practical church work. After a five-minute consultation the council announced that Mr. Tucker had been unanimously favored. The ordination services took place in the evening. During the services reference was made to Mr. Tucker's coming marriage with a young lady in St. Louis, Mo."

The church has exceptionally bright prospects, and Mr. Tucker's many Monson friends have reason to congratulate him upon his charge. Mr. Tucker is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joel Tucker of East Hill, and he lived at home attending the public schools and Academy until he was about 20 years old. He then entered Phillips Academy at Andover, and Yale in 1888. After his graduation in 1892 he taught two years in the preparatory department of Washington University in St. Louis, spending his summers tutoring, later he spent a year at the Chicago Theological Seminary. One summer he worked among the Bohemians, Italians and Poles in one of Chicago's social settlements. The last year was spent in study at the divinity school of the University of Chicago. While at Yale he was president for one year of the Y. M. C. A.

Leary—Olney.

The first wedding since Lent which has taken place at St. Patrick's church was that of Miss Kate Leary and William Olney Wednesday morning. The altar was decorated with Easter lilies. Rev. Thomas O'Keefe celebrated the nuptial mass. Miss Joanna A. Leary was maid of honor, and Dr. P. J. Mahoney of Marlboro was best man. The bride and her maid of honor were prettily dressed in gowns of light silk and wool novelty goods, the gown of the former having trimmings of chesnut brown velvet, and that of the latter Dresden ribbon. The bride carried bride roses. After the mass a bountiful dinner was served at the home of Cornelius J. Leary, the elder brother of the bride, at which few outside the family were present. The guests were Miss Olney of Palmer; M. J. Cleary and son and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel O'Leary of Springfield; Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Leary and little daughter, and Miss Julia Leary of Albany. The presents included silver, linen, pictures, and a sewing machine. The couple left in the afternoon for a wedding tour.

Death of Silas N. Harris.

In the death of Silas N. Harris, Marcus Keep post, G. A. R., loses a respected member, and the town a good citizen. Mr. Harris died Friday at his home at South Monson, after a long illness. He is survived by a widow, three daughters and one son, the eldest daughter being the wife of Charles Hancock. Mr. Harris also left two sisters, Mrs. George Holdridge of Brimfield, and Mrs. George Hall of New Britain, Ct., and four brothers, James S. of Windsor Locks, Ct., Marcus L. of Brattleboro, Vt., Franklin of Norwich, Ct., and Zina Harris of this place. Mr. Harris was born at Stafford, Ct., May 11, 1835. He married Emer King in 1872. For a number of years he lived in Monson, owning a farm in the west part of the town, but two years ago moved to South Monson. The funeral was held at his late home Sunday afternoon; Rev. F. S. Hatch of the Congregational church officiated. Marcus Keep post conducted the service at the Center cemetery, and members of the post were bearers.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Bliss have a daughter.

There will be no school Monday, in celebration of Patriot's Day.

Ralph Tucker of Yale University spent last week at his Monson home.

A forest fire Wednesday burned over about 25 acres belonging to Henry Wood.

The trustees of Flynt Park are contemplating building a large hennery on the park.

The watering cart began its rounds this morning, much to the satisfaction of the citizens.

Miss Grace Blackford of El Dorado, Ohio, is the guest of her brother, Rev. Harry Blackford.

Mrs. W. N. Flynt is spending the week with her daughter, Mrs. H. A. King, in Springfield.

George Stone of the Albany Medical College returned home this week for the summer vacation.

The subject of Rev. W. H. Marble's sermon Sunday morning will be, "The minister's sphere."

Jeremiah Fairbank of Elizabeth, N. J., visited his cousin, Mrs. Lorenzo Hutchinson, last week.

Dr Ferris of Philadelphia visited her brother, Dr. Charles W. Jackson, the first part of the week.

Harry A. Merchant of the Albany Medical College arrived home Saturday for the summer vacation.

Charles F. Orcutt will sing at the Palmer Congregational church this year. He began his work last Sunday.

The subject of Rev. Harry Blackford's sermon Sunday at the Universalist church will be "Enthusiasm."

Rev. F. S. Hatch will preach Sunday morning in the Palmer Congregational church in exchange with Rev. F. E Jenkins.

Many Monson people will regret to learn of the death of Rev. John Harding, which occurred in Florida on Wednesday of this week.

Mrs. W. S. Chessman and daughter of Denver, Col., have engaged rooms at the Century Hotel. The managers expect to do an extensive summer business.

The Hampden County conference of Congregational churches will be held at Chester next Wednesday. Monson church will be represented by the pastor and delegates.

The Ladies Benevolent society of the Methodist church will have a sociable one week from Wednesday evening. A baked bean supper will be served, and an entertainment will follow.

Miss Joanna V. Cantwell attended the wedding of Miss Margaret J. Leary at Thompsonville, Ct., Tuesday. Miss Leary is a sister-in-law of Richard N. Hayes, and is well known here.

"A Bunch of Herbs and Other Papers, by John Burroughs," recently published by Houghton, Mifflin & Co., was arranged by Miss Clara A. Wood, superintendent of Monson and Brimfield schools.

The last lecture in the Academy course will be given in Memorial Hall this evening by Prof. A. N. Burke of the Academy, on "Alaska and the Yellowstone National Park," illustrated by the stereopticon.

The Hampden County Convention of Christian Endeavors will be held at Holyoke next Monday. Miss Maybelle L. Anderson is a member of the committee of arrangements, and expects to attend with a number of delegates.

"Nevada" was presented at Memorial Hall Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Monson cornet band. A large and appreciative audience witnessed the play, which was followed by a dance in which some 50 couples took part.

There was a small blaze in the shed of the No. 1 schoolhouse about 11 30 this morning, thought to have been incendiary. An alarm was rung in and the fire department called out, but only one hose was needed. The damage was not over $10.

There is talk that several Monson men need bracing up on the subject of the treatment of stock, and the remark was made yesterday by one of the citizens that unless certain abuses were stopped at once complaint would be made to Agent Anderson.

The W. N. Flynt Granite Co. has contracted with the General Electric company for a 50-horse power motor, and will run their trap rock quarry by electricity. This will be the only plant in New England to do this. The company has a contract for 6000 tons of crushed stone.

The board of water commissioners has reorganized, with A. D. Norcross as chairman and E. F. Morris as clerk. Miss Nancy Holbrook's house was connected with the town water yesterday, the first service to be put in this year. Several applications for services have been made.

The establishment of a branch office in the Holden building at Palmer of the Boston Stock and Grain Exchange will no doubt prove an accommodation to Monson investors. As the office is easily reached by telephone the trouble and expense which has hitherto been incurred in getting orders to Boston will be saved.

It was with much pleasure that the community in general, of all denominations, learned Tuesday morning that Rev. W. H. Marble would remain the pastor of the M. E church for another year. During the four years that Mr. Marble has been in town he and Mrs. Marble have made many friends. Mrs. Marble attended conference.

A Democratic caucus was held in the selectmen's room Friday evening. Omer E. Bradway was chairman and Dennis P. Nelligan clerk. These delegates were elected: State convention, O. E. Bradway, A. D. Coleman, N. A. Bugbee, D. P. Nelligan; congressional, W. H. Cavanaugh, W. E Cantwell, W. H. Anderson, H. M. Smith The delegates were instructed to work for the nomination of William E. Russell for president.

The annual parish meeting of the Universalist church was held Tuesday evening. W. J. Ricketts was moderator. The report of the treasurer showed the financial condition to be excellent. Three persons united with the parish. These officers were elected: Clerk, W. L. Ricketts; treasurer, C. W. King; parish committee, A. D. Ellis, W. J Ricketts, G A Harvey, A. A. Babbitt and Eugene S. Howlett; music committee, W. J Ricketts, Mrs. Lillian L. Chapin, auditing committee, G. W. Seymour and Marvin Bradway.

The annual meeting of the Geo. E Lyons Granite Co. of West Dummerston, Vt., which is operated by the Flynt Granite Co. of Monson, was held in Brattleboro on Tuesday, and the following officers were elected: Directors, John Mulligan, A. H Wright and H. A. King of Springfield, C. R. Lowell of Greenfield, E. F. Brooks and J. A. Taylor of Brattleboro, L. C. and G. C. Flynt of Monson; president, E. F. Brooks; vice president, A. H. Wright; treasurer, E. F. Brooks; auditors, J. A. Taylor and G. C. Flynt; clerk and general manager, Fiske G. Rogers.

Cornelia A., widow of Eli M. Shaw, died Saturday night, aged 65 years and eight months. She had been a great sufferer for some time, and her death was not unexpected. The funeral was held at her late residence Tuesday afternoon, Rev. W. H. Marble officiating. Mrs. Shaw was the daughter of Z nas and Martha Cadwell Bliss, and was born in Monson. Mr. Shaw was a farmer, and after his death 18 years ago Mrs. Shaw, with her two children, Edgar B. and Flora L., remained upon the farm until a year or more ago, when she and Miss Flora moved to the village.

A forest fire on Hovey hill Wednesday was the result of an attempt on the part of an Italian to smoke a rabbit out of a hole. The man's success in his undertaking has not been reported, but the fire was quite serious, and Selectman Norcross with 20 or more men from the village, as well as those living in the vicinity, turned out to fight it.

Miss Jane Norcross is canvassing the town in the interests of an observance of Arbor Day. She desires that at least 200 trees be set out on that day, and as one man has pledged himself to set out 20 and another 12, she feels that the people are interested in the matter, and that she will easily secure the number. If any are willing to contribute trees who have no place for them on their own premises, A. D. Norcross will provide places on the highway, beginning with the state road. Each class at the State street school will set out a tree.

Under the auspices of the Current Events Club, Mrs. Annie Russell Marble of Worcester gave a most charming talk on "George Eliot and Mrs. Ward as character delineators," at the home of Mrs. Rufus P. Cushman last Friday, and to Miss Harriet S. Pease the JOURNAL is indebted for the following outline:

To analyze one's affection for a personal friend is hardly less difficult than to attempt the same in regard to George Eliot, whose personality, both as a woman and a writer, is so very strong. The individuality of Mrs. Humphrey Ward is less complex and fascinating. To term her a second George Eliot is premature, for thus far she has produced only three novels worthy the name, and some studies in fiction. The two are somewhat alike, however, in keen, analytical portrayal of character in its formation period. Their unlikeness is due to difference of temperament and environment.

Mrs. Ward has a well-poised nature, is calm and speculative, "a Matthew Arnold in petticoats," tho e say who meet her. Her works show tenderness, pathos, hope and optimism. George Eliot was rash, impetuous and passionate. She had a masculine mind but a feminine nature. Her ill health and hampering conditions explain the seriousness of her outlook on life. Almost no humor is found save in her earliest novel, "Scenes of Clerical Life," wherein it emanates from the characters. Her creed comprised duty and service of others, pity and fairness toward others, repentance and renunciation. "Maggie," in "Mill on the Floss," is interesting as being in part a portrayal of the author's self. "Dinah Monis" in "Adam Bede" represented the author's aunt. Adam, though an ideal hero, is true to life. This work is the one most widely read of the nine novels from her pen. "Romola" is a masterly work, with vivid pictures and strongly drawn characters. The women in her stories appear in Lloyd of Chicago, is a writer of much ability. Besides his sister and brothers he leaves a widow, and a granddaughter, Alice Chamberlain, the daughter of Samuel W. French of Newtonville. He was greatly blessed in the possession of a loyal and devoted wife, without whose unceasing attentions and constant presence the problem of his success in life would not have been solved as it was. He possessed a remarkable personality which was in a great measure the key to his success as a physician. "It was not so much the medicine as the man," has been truly said of him. His presence inspired confidence and hope in the patient and the patient's friends, and there was a rare quality in his manner in the sick room. "I always feel better when I see Dr. Chamberlain coming," expresses the influence of his personality. He was liberally endowed with natural gifts. He had a splendid physique, and was an exceptionally handsome man in face and figure. It seemed as if nature had made as nearly perfect a model as possible of physical excellence, which it was a blessing to look upon. He had a fine presence and his bearing was marked by a courtly grace and dignity. A p culiar courtesy shown to all alike was never absent from his manner. But with all his dignity, the genial social nature of the man predominated, and thoroughly democratic, he met all grades of humanity in the same spirit. He had a great fund of humor, and few people are capable of enjoying a joke or a good story as Dr. Chamberlain did. His witty remarks and hearty laugh were a splendid antidote to the despondency of the sick room, while the stimulus to repartee on the part of the patient which his jokes provoked was a tonic which he well knew when to administer. He was always the boy at heart, and the children and young folks felt that Dr. Chamberlain was one of their mates in fun and frolic. His deafness deprived him of a large share of personal enjoyment, but he lived much in the lives of others, feeling with them to an unusual degree, sharing with them the joys and sorrows and problems of human life. Many are there who felt towards him as towards a father or brother. He had borne his share of human sorrow. It would be difficult to conceive of a heavier affliction than the loss of his gifted twin daughters, Annie and Alice, who died of consumption the same year at the age of 24. Upon them he must have depended to an unusual degree for society, and intercourse with the outside world; but though his trouble saddened and aged him it did not make him despondent. A granddaughter, Alice Chamberlain French, was spared to him, and he adopted more than ever into his heart the children and young people of the town.

His brothers of the medical profession speak in high terms of the ability and character of Dr. Chamberlain. He was spoken of as quick to see, reliable in judgment, careful and certain in diagnosis. Although he could not join in the meetings of medical associations he kept up to the times in a knowledge of the medical science by reading and study. He was ready to profit by the experiences of others, and when in doubt as to the nature of a disease he did not hesitate to call other physicians into the case. He was a natural and skilful pharmacist, few understanding the nature and composition of medicines so well, and the genial element in his nature seemed to enter into the mixing of his medicines to make them agreeable as well as effective. A physician of wide experience says: "In looking over his stock of medicines the other day I was greatly surprised to find among them many of the important remedies which in his somewhat retired field of labor and in view of the difficulties of keeping abreast of the advances of the day in medicine, on account of his infirmity, I had not suspected he could be familiar with." Says the senior practitioner in this region, "I have known Dr. Chamberlain over 40 years, and have never known of his refusing to go to see a patient day or night, whether he expected to be paid for it or not." Those men who were in a special sense contemporaries and friends of Dr. Chamberlain were Drs. Richardson of Ware, Holbrook of Palmer and Hastings of Warren, only one of whom, Dr. Holbrook, is now living.

Dr. Chamberlain read much always, and he was in touch with other subjects outside of those relating to the medical science. He was especially interested in the discoveries and improvements of the modern age, and in his seclusion kept watch upon the progress of affairs. He had thought much on religious subjects, and was impressed by the advance of ideas in those matters. He had united with the Congregational church in Brimfield in middle life, not from any outward influence, but after a long, close study of the Bible.

The life of a physician is especially one of service to others, and that of Dr. Chamberlain was in a peculiar way one of such devotion. His memory will be held in tender reverence and love for years to come, not only in Brimfield, but beyond its borders.

BRIMFIELD.

Mrs. Will A. Janes is visiting relatives in Worcester.

Albert R. Brown is visiting for a few days in Haverhill.

Austin N. Moulton is confined to the house with the grippe.

Miss Flora Agard of Monson spent last Sunday at her home.

Mrs. Porter A. Parker returned from a visit in Springfield last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Chapman, nee Sarah Warden, and daughter, are guests of E. Bemis.

A teachers' meeting was held at the Center school room last Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Clara Wood had charge of the meeting

Death of Dr. George F. Chamberlain.

Sadness has prevailed in Brimfield during the past week, on account of the death on Monday from pneumonia of the well-loved physician, Dr. George F. Chamberlain.

The news will be heard with sorrow also beyond the limits of the town where he had lived during 42 years of his professional life. Brimfield has been called to mourn the loss of many of its older inhabitants during the past few years, those who have been identified with the history of the town and whose places cannot be filled. The death of one who has entered into the hearts and lives of people as only the physician can, brings a peculiar grief and a sense of loss like that of a stricken household. After the news came that Dr. Chamberlain was ill with pneumonia, up to the hour of his death, it was a time of suspense in the village. Constant enquiries concerning his condition received little encouragement from the first. Tuesday evening he had suffered from a severe chill; on Wednesday morning he was too ill to go out, but he felt that he must attend to a very sick patient near by. While making the call he suffered from a severe congestion which rendered him helpless, and he was removed to his home in about an hour. The physicians who were immediately summoned could give little hope of his recovery, and his brothers, Drs. Cyrus and Myron Chamberlain, found no encouragement when they arrived. A skilled nurse gave the most watchful and tender care, but all was of no avail. Much of the time he was unconscious, although he knew his friends, and seemed to have some realization of his condition.

Dr. George Felton Chamberlain was 69 years of age, and had been engaged in active practice 46 years. Few physicians can endure the hardships and strain of such a life so long, and a few years ago it seemed as though he was breaking down in health. But of late, although he found it necessary to be more careful in his strength than formerly, he had been well and hearty, and in excellent spirits. He felt that he needed and could take more leisure than in former years, while his practice was sufficient to keep him as busy as he desired. He was one of a large family of children. As a boy he is described as being a rollicking fellow, full of fun, leader among his mates and winning many friends. As a young man he was exceptionally popular with everybody. He was a handsome fellow, always erect and graceful and carrying himself with an Apollo-like pose and bearing. When he engaged in the study and practice of medicine he settled down with a purpose to succeed, evincing an aptitude for his profession and manifesting exceptional power of perception in the investigation and diagnosis of disease. His education was gained in the public schools of New Salem, and at the well-known Academy of that town. His medical education was gained at the medical schools then located at Woodstock, Vt., and at Pittsfield. He received his diploma at the age of 22, together with his brother Cyrus, who was of nearly the same age and who had been his close companion and fellow student. Soon after receiving his diploma he was married to Miss Harriet Lyon, of Woodstock, Ct. His first field of practice was in Hardwick, Mass., after which he practiced for two years at Fairfax Court House, Va. His residence in Virginia was for the purpose of benefitting his health, which had been affected by an attack of measles the preceding year. His hearing had been especially affected, but the trouble gradually increased, until during the last part of his life he became entirely deaf.

Dr. Chamberlain went in 1854 to Brimfield, where he had since lived. In spite of the disadvantage under which he labored on account of his deafness he built up and maintained a large practice, and was called a great deal to neighboring towns. His other faculties became more acute as his deafness increased, and this was especially true of his sense of touch, by which he ascertained conditions usually otherwise discerned. The courage and persistence with which he met and overcame his calamity, and the marked success which he attained in spite of it, testify to the ability of the man in a remarkable way. If he had not been deprived of his hearing he would have been a more noted doctor, but his place would have been no higher in the hearts of the people.

Dr. Chamberlain belonged to an able family. Two of his brothers also followed their father's profession of medicine. Dr. Cyrus Chamberlain, now of Andover, was a surgeon of the 10th Massachusetts regiment of the civil war, had charge of a hospital in Philadelphia, and afterwards founded a hospital in Worcester. Until recently he has had a large practice in Lawrence, from which he has recently retired. Dr. Myron Chamberlain, the youngest brother, is a prominent physician in Boston. A brother, William, lives in the West, and a sister, Mrs. Helen

WARREN.

Mrs. J. M. Hastings is visiting friends in Boston and vicinity.

Mrs. A. J. Whitney and Miss Strickland spent last week in New York.

Rev. Harris Hale and wife are spending the week in Salem and vicinity.

The Tuesday club met with Mrs. William Lincoln Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Effie Fairbanks has returned to McDuffie's school in Springfield for the spring term.

Mrs. Frederick Rice and Mrs. and Miss Chadsey are spending this week in New York.

Mrs. Collins and Master King of Nashua, N. H., are guests of Mrs. George Shumway this week.

The King's Daughters held a cake sale at the house of Miss Alice Demond on Bacon street yesterday afternoon.

C. A. Brodeur, superintendant of schools, has resigned to become superintendent of the schools in Chicopee. Much regret is expressed at his departure; the town will lose a wide-awake, progressive officer. Chicopee is to be congratulated on securing so able a superintendent, one who is thoroughly alive to the modern methods in school work.

James F. Hill was taken before Trial Justice Bush of West Brookfield yesterday, charged with mutilating the shade trees on Crescent street adjoining his property, but on the land belonging to the town. Mr. Hill had trimmed the trees to quite a distance from the ground. He claimed, however, that he had received permission from the selectmen. The case was put over for one week.

The Village Improvement society held its annual meeting at Library Hall Tuesday evening and elected the following officers: President, Miss M. S. Hitchcock; vice presidents, George Shumway and Miss Chadsey; secretary, D. G. Hitchcock; treasurer, M. Wood; executive committee, Mrs. Julia Newton, Mrs. George Shumway, Mrs. D. G. Hitchcock, Mrs. A. J. Whitney, Messrs. W. H. Fairbanks, C. N. Shepard, A. L. Converse, George Bridge and J. G. Hastings. The society will celebrate Arbor Day by planting vines and trees, and appeal to all citizens to assist them in cleaning the sidewalks, streets and gutters of refuse and papers before that day, so that all premises and streets may be freed from winter's refuse by that time.

BELCHERTOWN.

A brush fire near the house of Horatio Rice came very near setting fire to the barn on his place last Friday. The flames were extinguished by the aid of the pupils of the South Center school.

Capt. John Anderson, a retired officer of the United States army, has been appointed aide-de-camp on the staff of Department Commander W. P. Derby, and W. A. Snow, another veteran of the war, has been appointed inspector.

The selectmen have made the following appointments recently: Fire wardens, L. W. Dillon, W. E. Bridgman, H. A. Hopkins, C. E. Scott; forest fire wardens, Charles H. Randall, Homer F. Pratt, Michael Austin, Guy C. Allen, Jr., George M. Fisher, Frank B. Allen; sextons of the various burial grounds, Henry O. Mellen, Center and South burying grounds; Orin Slate, Tylersville, Irving Mills, Ludlow and Belchertown; George W. Coleman, Holyoke burial ground; Frank E. Bridgman, Lake Vale; Martin Peeso, West Hill; W. M. Goodell, Dwight; M. G. Ward, Blue Meadow; sealer of weights and measures, W. A. Snow; inspector of cattle and provisions, Guy C. Allen; superintendent of streets, A. C. Smith.

WEST WARREN.

The third in the series of musicals by the pupils of M J. Sullivan will be given next Friday evening at the residence of J. C. Grant, with the following programme:

Piano solo, "In the Month of May." Behr
Miss Anna Cronin.
Piano solo, "Message of Love." Sudds
Miss Bridgie Sheehan.
Piano solo, "Golden Ringlet Waltz." Latour
Miss Cora Forte.
Piano duet, "Loreley." Krug
Masters Willie Cronin and James Forte.
Piano solo, "Chariot Race." Paull
Miss Marion Grant.
Piano solo, "Thistle Down." York
Master Willie Cronin.
Piano solo, "Tarantelle." Heller
Miss Nellie Clark.
Piano duet, "Royal March." Winner
Misses Cora Forte and Bridgie Sheehan.
Piano solo, "Golden Star Galop." Geordeler
Master James Forte.
Piano solo, "Edelweiss." Vanderbeck
Miss Theda Walker.
Piano solo, "Fantasia on Irish Airs." Kuhe
Miss Bridgie Collins.
Piano duet, "Bright Thoughts." Baker
Misses Theda Walker and Marion Grant.

Several from this place attended the New England Conference at Springfield.

Rev. Putnam Webber, formerly pastor of the M. E church, with his wife and daughter, have been spending a few days in town.

The M. E. church choir has been reorganized for another year, as follows: Sopranos, J. A. Johnson, A. M. Grant, L. Armour; altos, Nellie Tait, Laura Thompson, Rose Brown; tenors, G. Ryecroft, J. T. Campbell; bassos, E. G. Johnson, J. Grant.

Miss Nellie West of Providence, R. I., is visiting Mrs. J. C. Grant.

Miss Elin Merritt left for Springfield Wednesday, to live with her sister, Mrs. Austin Doane.

LEGISLATIVE MATTERS.

BOSTON, April 15, 1896.

The lobby law is by no means a dead letter in Massachusetts, and the fact that it is the basis for putting on the screws a little tighter every year or two is sufficient evidence that there is virtue in it and that somebody feels the force of it, in spite of all that is said against it and of the fact that it is in its very nature a law difficult of enforcement. The House has given a large majority for a bill, and the prospect is that it will pass to be enacted, by which all legislative counsel and agents, within ten days of the time they file a statement of their engagement, must also file a written statement from their employers that they are so engaged. This strengthening of the law grows out of the fact that lobbyists and counsel have said that they were engaged by certain principals, but afterward those alleged principals have declared that there were no such engagement.

It was said in the debate in the House on the bill to prevent the carrying of concealed weapons, that, in spite of the popular impression to the contrary, there was no law against the carrying of such weapons in Massachusetts unless they were found on the person of one who had been convicted for felony. There have been so many murders and stabbings in Boston that the police and the judges of the municipal courts asked for the law in order to prevent the carrying of stilettos by Italians and the use of pistols by reckless men of all sorts, particularly by the excitable foreigners who come here in such numbers. It was said that the passage of the bill would doubtless lead to the saving of some lives. There was opposition to the bill on the ground that the term "dangerous weapon" ought to be defined so as not to permit the arrest of a peaceable mechanic, with whose tools a fatal assault might be committed, but the House thought that the interpretation of the law could be left to the court, and the bill had a vote of 100 to 8.

The Legislature is, on the whole, proving to be a first-class working body. The Senate has voted to meet at one o'clock every afternoon, and to set as late as the House does, which does not meet till two, (though the House has forenoon sessions, while the Senate does not) on every working day of the week. The House attends well to business and does not waste any more time than is usual, and perhaps not as much. The Senate is said by those who watch it closely to be a superior body. But it will be time to discuss the virtues of the Senate and House after the big schemes which are pending have been disposed of and when the hour of prorogation is reached. Mr. Bates of Boston is developing some fine points for the speakership.

The great business question before the Legislature just now is the southern union station for Boston. The hearings are ended and the side of the Consolidated road has had the benefit of the elaborate preparation of its regular counsel and of the skill of Mayor Quincy, while the opposition has had less time in which to prepare itself and has had only such counsel as it could secure on comparatively short notice. The committee on railroads has appointed a subcommittee to consider the question and to report to the full committee. This subcommittee is given much latitude, for it is not instructed to report either for or against the petitioners, but to consider the subject in all its bearings and to present its findings to the full committee. The members of the committee are Senators Wellman and Darling, and Representatives Stanley, Kellog, Holden, and Weston. No limitation of time is put upon them, for it is believed there should be no undue pressure in deciding such an important question as this. One cannot talk with the members of the committee without getting the impression that they are disposed to favor the plan to put the new union station on the site of the New York and New England station. The objections to the Kneeland street site seem great to them, and the trend of their feeling is evidently toward the desires of the mayor and of the railroad, while they are not committed to anything.

CARD OF THANKS.—We wish to thank the many friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us during our recent affliction in the death of our dear father, and we also wish to thank the choir for singing.

MR. AND MRS. L. D. WING,
MR. AND MRS. R. C. WING.

Did you ever stop to think what indigestion really means? It means simply that your stomach is tired. If our legs are tired, we ride. The horse and the steam engine do this work. Why not give your stomach a ride; that is, let something else do its work. Foods can be digested outside of the body. All plants contain digestive principles which will do this. The Shaker Digestive Cordial contains digestive principles and is a preparation designed to rest the stomach. The Shakers themselves have such unbounded confidence in it that they have placed 10 cent sample bottles on the market, and it is said that even so small a quantity proves beneficial in a vest majority of cases. All druggists keep it.

LAXOL is the best medicine for children. Doctors recommend it in place of Castor Oil.

Try a can of Hopkins' Steamed Hominy (Hulled corn.) It is delicious. Full qt., 10c.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER.

ABSOLUTELY PURE.

A cream of tartar Baking Powder. Highest of all in leavening power.—Latest United States Government Food Report.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO.,
106 Wall Street, New York.

A Woman's Weakness

NATURAL CAUSES TEND TO PRODUCE WEAKNESS.

How Best to Assist Nature That You May Recover and Enjoy Perfect Health.

"I am sick," is the despairing cry of many a woman.

She hardly knows what the trouble is. She feels inexpressibly weak and worn out, her stomach refuses to do its duty, she has no appetite, and other troubles, apparently more and more serious, continually threaten her.

Woman is sometimes named the weaker sex, and yet the tax on nerve and tissue demanded by natural physical development alone, prove a severe and exhausting strain. As the maid grows in years and develops into the woman, the mysterious unfoldings of life call for much outlay of nervous force. This demand on the strength is increased by the duties of school and society so that the maid is often in sore need of a tonic and vitalizer of the blood to regulate and support the system.

As wife and mother the demands on strength and vitality are often increased far beyond the ability to perform. The constant struggle to answer the claims of children, family and society produce an exhausted and worn state that needs a suitable help to increase the happiness and usefulness of living.

The matron finds life's sun passing the meridian and the more exacting and engrossing duties of the day left behind. This period should not be less useful and helpful than either of the preceding, though it is reached only through special physical trials peculiar to itself.

No one needs to be told that thousands of women are now complaining of tired limbs, aching heads, loss of appetite, weakness and exhaustion. They are nervous, sleepless and full of apprehensions for the future.

The cause is impure blood which is failing to carry to the nerves and tissue the nourishment which they require. Such people need an alterative and nerve tonic to purify the blood and give them an appetite, to make them feel strong and vigorous and full of hope and ambition as in the days of childhood and youth.

There is no better friend for woman, nothing that so invariably proves beneficial in building up and strengthening the system as Claflin's Nerve and Tissue Builder.

This great remedy is not strictly a patent medicine, but has been used largely with great success by some of the most eminent and successful of New England physicians. It is the result of years of study, and has been prescribed and used with the most gratifying success in hundreds of cases.

As druggists with twenty-five years' experience we have had ample opportunity to note the effects of this great remedy and have often marvelled at the striking and extraordinary benefits induced by its use.

Claflin's Nerve and Tissue Builder is an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, and the tired feeling resulting from nervous prostration, all diseases resulting from vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. Claflin's Nerve and Tissue Builder is also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. It builds up the blood and restores the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks.

Probably no other remedy is as effective as Claflin's Nerve and Tissue Builder in restoring health, color, vitality and happiness to those people who are thin, pale and enemic. After a week's treatment with this remedy the improvement is most marked. The following letter, one of many received, gives in plain, simple terms the exact benefit experienced from a short use of this remedy.

MONSON, Mass.,
March 1, 1896.

CLAFLIN DRUG CO.:

GENTLEMEN:—I received your letter; also the medicine as ordered. I must say that since I have been taking the Nerve and Tissue Builder I feel much stronger, my appetite is better, and the color has returned to my cheeks.

My friend who recommended the medicine to me has gained wonderfully while taking it.

Respectfully,
MISS M. MORIARTY.

The price of Claflin's Nerve and Tissue Builder is one dollar, and is not sold at any other price.

One hundred doses for $1, or 3 cents a day. Are you willing to pay this small sum to regain and enjoy perfect health?

Send direct to us $1 and we will deliver to you, all charges perpaid, one month's treatment, and if after taking the remedy two weeks you are not satisfied with the improvement made, return the medicine you have not used and we will refund the price paid. We cannot too strongly urge you to give it a trial. Yours for health,

CLAFLIN DRUG CO.,
HARVARD SQ., Cambridge, Mass.

PEACOCK MATCHES, tooth picks, Portland Star matches, barber's vestibule match.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Quick in effect, heals and leaves no scar. Burning, scaly skin eruptions quickly cured by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Applied to burns, scalds, old sores, it is magical in effect. Always cures piles. LeGro & Lynde.

LIEBIG'S BEEF, WINE AND IRON, 4c, half pints, 25c.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

A. H. HITCHCOCK,
OPTICIAN,
331 Main Street, Springfield, Mass.
Spectacles and Eye Glasses of all kinds.
Artificial eyes furnished.
Oculists' prescriptions promptly and accurately filled.
Mail orders solicited. 13-tf

WINDOW SHADES made to order, any size.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

SALESMEN

Wanted to Take Orders for nursery stock. Salary or commission to reliable men. Cash advanced for expenses. First-class reference required.
The R. G. CHASE CO., Malden, Mass.

CONFECTIONER'S SUGAR.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

F. F. MARCY, PALMER, MASS.
Wholesale and Retail Dealer in
ALL KINDS OF LUMBER AND SHINGLES
Windows, doors, blinds, mouldings. Carpenters' and joiners' work done to order.
Also FIRE BRICK and CLAY for sale.
Yard and shop at junction of B. & A. and N. L. N. Y. Railroads—west of Depot.

CHEESE CLOTH, lonsdale cambric, half bleached cottons, scrim for curtains.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

One Minute Cough Cure touches the right spot. It also touches it at the right time if you take it when you have a cough or cold. See the point? Then don't cough. LeGro & Lynde.

CLEVELAND'S BAKING POWDER, 5 cases received this week.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

"Give me a liver regulator and I can regulate the world," said a genius. The druggist handed him a bottle of DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. LeGro & Lynde.

LOAF SUGAR, pulverized sugar,
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Soothing, healing, cleansing, DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is the enemy to sores, wounds and piles, which it never fails to cure. Stops itching and burning. Cures chapped lips and cold-sores in two or three hours. LeGro & Lynde.

L. H. HENDEE, M. D.,
OFFICE AND RESIDENCE, PLEASANT ST.
Office hours 7 to 10 a. m., and 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m.

ARMOUR'S WHOLE OX TONGUE, canned.
Kansas City brand is best. Telephone connections. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

C. H. HOBBY,
PIANO TUNER.
Orders for tuning may be left at O. P. Allen's drug store, Palmer; or may be sent to me by mail to Mansfield, Ct.

STEEL KNIVES and FORKS, shears and scissors. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

TABLE OIL CLOTH, white, marble and wood, stair oilcloth, shelf oil cloth.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Forbes & Wallace's,
Springfield.

New bonnets and hats and wraps and jackets, and dresses must be got now or later. Every day you wait now will be thrown away.

Trimmed hats and bonnets, five hundred strong, awaiting wearers, $3, $5, $7.50, $10 to $30 apiece.

Jackets, $3.95 to $60; capes, $3.50 up; suits, $10 up; silk waists, $5 to $20. And the biggest and best varieties by far in the city.

Gloves for the multitude. But not a poor glove in the stock. Won't keep a poor glove; not even if you don't know any better than to go elsewhere to buy it. We shall be better off in the end by keeping only those sorts that we know will give satisfaction.

CARPETS.

We are doing more carpet business than usual at this time of the year, and yet we have facilities for doing five times as much as we are doing. You can, if you wish, choose your carpets now while the assortments are at their best, have them cut and laid aside if you are not ready to have them put down.

Nine-wire tapestry carpets at 65c a yard; ten-wire, 75c.

Brussels, $1 and $1.10 a yard; Axminsters, the newest patterns. $1.25; old patterns, $1.

Velvets, 85c a yard; such as you've usually paid a dollar for.

Cotton ingrains, 25c and 32½c a yard; all-wool ingrains, 35c, 50c and 62½c.

And better and bigger assortments than we have ever had before.

Second floor of Pynchon street building.

Forbes & Wallace,
Main, Vernon and Pynchon streets,
Springfield, Mass.

Meekins, Packard & Wheat.

THE BEST THAT MONEY WILL BUY IN

Furniture, Carpets and Draperies is found in our immense stocks, and "BEST" does not necessarily mean the highest cost goods, as an inspection of the various lines will show. We have already become famous for sending out thoroughly reliable goods at prices that many dealers are paying for them.

In all, we stand back of every article we sell. You know you are getting all that we claim for the goods, and any not proving entirely satisfactory we are ever ready and willing to make ready.

This season house furnishers will find us even better prepared than ever to serve them, not only in general house furnishings, but also with a complete line of KITCHEN UTENSILS.

Throughout all the stocks the newest and most approved styles, as well as many novelties, are found in abundance.

BIG STOCK and LITTLE PRICES are the prevailing conditions of our establishment.

What better place to trade than here?

MEEKINS, PACKARD & WHEAT,
SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

CHILDREN'S AND MISSES HOSE plain and ribbed, 10c a pair.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

For the bath.

Soaps, sponges, brushes, toilet waters and powders, sea salt, etc.

Proper bathing is a luxury. The things cost but little if bought of us.

LeGRO & LYNDE,
Next to Post Office,
PALMER.

BR

An old-fashioned way of getting there. Slow and safe, but hard work. Most women have got beyond this kind of traveling—found something better. Now, why can't you look at that other old-fashioned proceeding in the same light—washing things with soap and hard rubbing. That's slow enough and tiresome enough, everybody knows, and it's not as safe as washing with Pearline. It's really destructive, in fact, the wear of that constant rubbing. Break away from these antiquated ideas. Use modern methods. Pearline saves at every point. 457

Beware of imitations. JAMES PYLE, N. Y.

Become an Agent

and make money. Exclusive rights and all sales in your territory credited to you. These are the discounts on our $100

"Phœnix" Bicycle

—no better wheel has ever been made.

2 to 5	wheels, -	15	per cent.
5 to 10	" -	17½	"
10 to 15	" -	20	"
15 to 20	" -	22½	"
20 to 25	" -	25	"
25 up	" -	27	"

You will furthermore receive (in cash) the discount on the entire number of wheels you take and pay for up to August 30th, no matter how few ordered at the beginning.

Catalogues free for the asking.

Correspond with us at once or your territory may be taken by a neighbor.

STOVER BICYCLE MNFG. CO.,
575-577 Madison Ave., New York.

Kidney Trouble Cured.

The importance of knowing just what to do when one is afflicted with kidney disease or troubles of a urinary nature, is best answered by the following letter which was recently published in the Poughkeepsie, N. Y., News-Press:

MILLERTON, Dutchess Co., N. Y.

"Dr. David Kennedy, Dear Sir:—For more than eighteen months I was so badly afflicted with kidney trouble I could scarcely walk a quarter of a mile without almost fainting. I did not gain any until I began to use Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. After using the first bottle I noticed a decided improvement, which continued, and I know that saved my life, for I was in a miserable condition up to the time I began to take it—my friends thought I would never be better.

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

My sister also has been very sick with bladder trouble for over a year, so bad that quantities of blood would come from her. She suffered at times most frightful pain, and nothing seemed to help her until she began the use of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. She is now using her third bottle, and is like a different person."

MRS. THOMAS DYE.

CARPET CLEANING.

Having put in machinery for cleaning carpets by the method of beating, brushing and airing, I am now ready to receive orders. Special attention paid to taking up and relaying carpets; orders by mail promptly attended to. Carpets called for and delivered free of charge.

26-52 GEO. B. KENERSON, Park St., Palmer.

INFANTS SHOES, 35c and 50c.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Our Daily Reckoning.

If you sit down at the set of sun
And count the acts that you have done,
And counting, find
One self-denying act, one word
That eased the heart of him who heard,
One glance most kind,
That fell like sunshine where it went,
Then you may count that hour well spent.

But if, through all the livelong day,
You've cheered no heart by yea or nay;
If through it all,
You've nothing done, that you can trace,
That brought the sunshine to one face;
No act most small,
That helped some soul, and nothing cost,
Then count that day as worse than lost.

AMONG THE PARAGRAPHERS.

HER DIADEM.

She isn't very wealthy,
Yet wears a golden crown;
She bought it at a dentist's
For just ten dollars down.
—New York World.

"How all the avenues have widened to women!" "Yes, especially since we've taken to wearing big sleeves."—Chicago Record.

"Will you be my wife, Fraulein Paula, and make me happy?" "I am sorry, doctor, but I should like to be happy myself."—Humoristische Blatter.

Western train robber—"Hold up your hands!" Reggie Languid—"Aw—go to my man, deah fellaw; he always awanges about my twaveling bills."—Truth.

"Have you lost another tooth, Bethesda?" asked auntie, who noticed an unusual lisp. "Yes'm," replied the four-years-old, "and I limp now when I talk."—Youth's Companion.

The Wife—"When you proposed to me, John, did you think I would accept you?" The Husband—"Not the first time." "The second?" "I wasn't going to propose but once."—Puck.

"Hi, there!" exclaimed Jimmie Burgle. "What's the matter?" asked his fellow prisoner. "De Warden's locked hisself in and lost his keys. He wants you an' me ter help git 'im out."—Washington Star.

"I hardly know how to begin, sir," said the would-be son-in-law, as a starter. "Permit me to help you out," said the old man. The words were polite enough, but the young man thought he saw a glare, and got out unassisted.—Indianapolis Journal.

Tenant—"I tell you, sir, we can't stand it any longer; that janitor you've got bosses every one in the flats!" Landlord—"Well, I don't think you will have reason to complain much longer." "Then you are going to discharge him?" "No; I've arranged with him to get married."—Yonkers Statesman.

Mr. Wallace—"I was at the theatre last night a while—I went on Hargraves's ticket. I wish you wouldn't interrupt me that way—and, by the way, I saw your dear friend, Mrs. Fash, in a box." Mrs. Wallace—"What did she have on?" "About the only thing I could detect on her was the gaze of the audience."—Cincinnati Inquirer.

A guest in a Boston hotel, while going down the elevator, remarked to the colored elevator man: "I want to go to the wharf where the tea was thrown overboard." "Well," said the man, looking mystified, "you'd better inquire at the office; I reckon that was before I came here; I've only been in Boston a year!"—New York Tribune.

An interesting bit showing a prophetic instinct is told in county Clare. One of the Druidical priests who didn't approve of St. Patrick—and, indeed, they were his worst enemies—once asked him: "Phwere do yez ixpict to go phen yez doi, Pat?" "Oi don'no," the saint answered. "New Yark, if it's dishcovered in toime, Oi guiss, maabe."—Harper's Bazar.

$100 REWARD $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment; Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Spring Medicine

Your blood in Spring is almost certain to be full of impurities—the accumulation of the winter months. Bad ventilation of sleeping rooms, impure air in dwellings, factories and shops, overeating, heavy, improper foods, failure of the kidneys and liver properly to do extra work thus thrust upon them, are the prime causes of this condition. It is of the utmost importance that you

Purify Your Blood

Now, as when warmer weather comes and the tonic effect of cold bracing air is gone, your weak, thin, impure blood will not furnish necessary strength. That tired feeling, loss of appetite, will open the way for serious disease, ruined health, or breaking out of humors and impurities. To make pure, rich, red blood Hood's Sarsaparilla stands unequalled. Thousands testify to its merits. Millions take it as their Spring Medicine. Get Hood's, because

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Ah, old man." "Well, my boy." "Come in and break a resolution with me." "Don't care if I do." There was a shudder in the air, as if there were others.—Detroit Tribune.

DELICIOUS DESSERTS can be made from NONE SUCH Mince Meat.

Plum Pudding. Mince Pie. Fruit Cake.

Recipe on every package. Your grocer sells it.

MERRELL-SOULE CO., Syracuse, N.Y.

it is what a cough may lead to that makes it so dangerous.

HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR

Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar is a medicine that has long been tested in private practice. Sold by druggists generally.

Pike's Toothache Drops cure in one minute.

PEARL TOP CHIMNEYS, lamp burners, lamp wicks. W. E. STONE, Main street.

Insurance

of every kind placed at short notice, and all favors duly appreciated.

Yours truly,
S. H. HELLYAR.

GREEN'S MINERAL PASTE. Manufactured by W. W. Converse, Palmer. Warranted to clean and polish gold, silver, silver plated ware, mirrors and windows. Will not scratch the finest gold or tarnish silver. 25c a box.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

The Story of

Puritana.

Prof. Dixi Crosby, M. D., LL. D., who for thirty-two years was at the head of Dartmouth Medical College, belonged to the famous Crosby family of physicians, which for several generations has furnished more distinguished medical men than any other family in America. His father was Dr. Asa Crosby, of Dartmouth, who procured the charter of the State medical society, of which he was for thirty years a conspicuous member; one brother, Dr. Josiah Crosby, invented the invalid bed and the method of making extensions of fractured limbs by adhesive strips; another brother, Dr. Thos. R. Crosby, was chief surgeon in Columbian College Hospital during the war, and later professor of animal and vegetable physiology at Dartmouth College; while Dr. Dixi Crosby himself was the inventor and discoverer of various important improvements in medicine and surgery, including a new and unique mode of reducing metacarpophalangeal dislocation, opening of abscess at hip-joint, etc., etc.

At the early age of twenty-four his extraordinary skill and success in overcoming disease had already attracted the attention of medical men throughout the world, and won for him the highest honors. His greatest achievement was the discovery of an original method for perfecting and compounding in permanent form what has become known as his "prize formula," and which, under the name of Puritana, is legally protected.

The foundation of this remarkable medical discovery consists of simple New England roots and herbs, and the original family recipe for it has descended to the long line of Crosby physicians from their Puritan ancestors. Its peculiar vegetable composition rendered it necessary to brew it whenever needed in the early days of its history, and after the scattering of the Puritan families to remote localities, where the necessary ingredients were not to be found, many attempts were made to put it up in permanent form, all of which failed until Dr. Dixi Crosby discovered means and methods, the result of which is: Nature's Cure compounded in the laboratory of Common Sense.

It cures from head to foot.

Puritana

Nature's Cure

For diseases of the Stomach, Liver, Heart, Blood, Kidneys

And for Weak Lungs, Starved Nerves, Fagged Brain

It cures after everything else has failed. It cures cases that have been given up as hopeless. It cures pleasantly. It cures positively. It cures permanently.

Puritana is the prize formula of Prof. Dixi Crosby, M. D., LL. D., for over 30 years at the head of Dartmouth Medical College.

Get of your druggist this great disease-conquering discovery (the price is $1 for the complete treatment, consisting of one bottle of Puritana, one bottle of Puritana Pills, and one bottle of Puritana Tablets, all enclosed in one package) or write us, and you will bless the day when you heard of Puritana. The Puritana Compound Co., Concord, N. H.

We sell the ROYAL WINTHROP GRAND.
Also the HERALD B RANGE, the two BEST STOVES made.

Shaw Brothers, Three Rivers.

Your credit is good—

Don't wonder if this means you. 'Cause it does. It means everybody who wants furniture, carpets, mattings, stoves or ranges, crockeryware, bedwear, baby carriages, or anything else in our line.

And the only requirement we make is that whatever terms of payment you agree to—you will live up to.

Have you ever noticed how bright the handle of our front door is? Sapolio? Oh, no; just the ordinary usage of our trade.

CARRIAGES.

I have in stock a large and complete line of fine and medium grade carriages.

Top carriages, - - $50 to $350
Open carriages, - - $40 to $200
150 second-hand carriages, $5 to $150

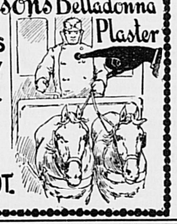
DELIVERY WAGONS OF ALL KINDS.

I have the right styles and low prices.

W. H. SMITH,
2 Park Street, Springfield.

RICHARDSON & ROBBINS BONED CHICKEN.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Johnson's Belladonna Plaster



Drives away pain.

IT TOUCHES THE SPOT.

When Company Comes.

When the pies are in the pantry,
And the chicken's in the pot,
And the house is neat and tidy,
Then the company comes not.

But when the pantry shelves are empty,
And a picked-up dinner waits,
While the baby has the colic,
Then they enter at your gates.

When the tablecloth is dirty,
Stained with gravy and with squash,
The lace curtains at the laundry
And the bedspreads in the wash,

When you're doing the spring cleaning,
Rugs and carpets on the line,
Then your husband's dear relations
Come to visit or to dine.

So they eat the picked-up dinner
And decide they cannot stay.
They "must do a little shopping,"
And they quickly haste away.

Then they tell all the relations
How their visit was a call;
That "Jane is no wife for Reuben;
She's no housekeeper at all."

When they're gone, you tell the baby,
While you wipe your misty eyes,
"Baby, when we make a visit,
We'll not take them by surprise."
—Annie E. Smiley.

ETIQUETTE OF WHIST.

The established code of whist etiquette contains the following rules, which were formulated to repress or prevent certain improprieties of conduct during the progress of the game. These rules were adopted by the third American Whist Congress, says a writer in the Forum:

1. No conversation should be indulged in during the play, except such as is allowed by the rules of the game.

2. No player should in any manner whatever give any intimation as to the state of his hand or of the game, or of approval or disapproval of a play.

3. No player should lead until the preceding trick is turned and quitted.

4. No player should, after having led a winning card, draw a card from his hand for another lead until his partner has played to the current trick.

5. No player should play a card in any manner so as to call particular attention to it, nor should he demand that the cards be placed in order to attract the attention of his partner.

6. No player should purposely incur a penalty because he is willing to pay for it, nor should he make a second revoke in order to conceal one previously made.

7. No player should take advantage of information imparted by his partner through a breach of etiquette.

8. No player should object to referring a disputed question of fact to a by-stander who professes himself uninterested in the result of the game and able to decide the question.

9. By-standers should not in any manner call attention to or give any intimation concerning the play or the stage of the game, during the play of a hand. They should not look over the hand of a player without permission; nor should they walk around the table to look at the different hands.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

THE BEST SALVE in the world for cuts bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

Free Pills.

Send your address to H. E. Bucklin & Co., Chicago, and get a free sample box of Dr. King's New Life Pills. A trial will convince you of their merits. These pills are easy in action and are particularly effective in the cure of constipation and sick headache. For malaria and liver troubles they have been proved invaluable. They are guaranteed to be perfectly free from every deleterious substance and to be purely vegetable. They do not weaken by their action, but by giving tone to the stomach and bowels greatly invigorate the system. Regular size 25c per box. Sold by LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

All Free.

Those who have used Dr. King's New Discovery know its value, and those who have not, have now the opportunity to try it free. Call on the advertised druggists and get a trial bottle, free. Send your name and address to H. E. Bucklen & Co., Chicago, and get a sample box of Dr. King's New Life Pills, free, as well as a copy of Guide to Health and Household Instructor, free. All of which is guaranteed to do you good and cost you nothing. LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

SAM HOUSTON'S WAY OF DUELING.

In the days of Gen. Sam Houston dueling was much more common then now. After removing to Texas Gen. Houston happened to give offense to a political opponent, who felt his honor disfigured to such an extent that he sent a challenge to Houston. The bearer of the challenge was received with courtly civility. He handed the written challenge to Gen. Houston, who read it and taking up his pen wrote something on the back of the folded paper and placed it in a pigeonhole of his desk. He then went on to entertain the bearer of the challenge with the pleasant conversation for which he was noted. After a while the man began to be impatient, and reminding the general of the challenge asked him if he was going to reply.

"Oh, yes," said Houston, "I am going to reply."

"Well, are you going to accept the challenge of my friend?"

"Certainly I will accept it."

"Will you fix the date to-morrow?"

"No, not to-morrow."

"Next day?"

"No, not the next day, either."

"Well, will you fix a date?"

"No, I am unable to fix a date. You saw me number your friend's note; it is No. 49. There are 48 other blanked scoundrels ahead of your friend, and I must take them in turn. As soon as I have killed them off I will attend to your friend; but he will have to wait until his turn comes."

The bearer of the challenge bowed himself out, but of course his friend's turn never came, and it is not probable that he was anxious for it to come.—Journal.

Mrs. Grimble (to her offspring)—"There you go, tracking the floor all over with mud. Didn't I tell you to wipe your feet before you came in?" Johnny—"Oh, nobody's blaming you, ma; you did all you could."—Boston Transcript.

Dangerous Drugs.

Avoid the use of white or pink headache powders, they contain dangerous drugs Taylor's Anti-Headache Powders are brown; they look like ground coffee and they have a delightful aromatic taste. Try them once and you will never be without them. Get them of LeGro & Lynde.

"The kind Boss makes his Biscuits with."

PURE, STRONG, RELIABLE.

Is the verdict arrived at by Chemical Analysis of

BOSS BAKING POWDER

Economy, Health and Satisfactory Results attend its use.

MANUFACTURED BY
C. D. BOSS & SON, New London, Conn.

F. M. EAGER.

Boots and Shoes Manufactured to Measure.

REPAIRING NEATLY DONE AT SHORT NOTICE.

Dealer in Sewing Machines and Supplies.

Machines to rent or sold on monthly payments.

F. M. EAGER, PALMER.

PILLSBURY FLOUR.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

D. N. BUTTERWORTH, dealer in CARRIAGES of EVERY DESCRIPTION.

Canopy top, extension top, surrey top and open buggies. Spindle wagons, banner wagons, grocery wagons, business wagons, mason's wagons and carpenter's wagons. Order wagons, road carts.

10 Concord buggies at less than cost to make, a good bargain. Also second-hand wagons.

Large stock of harness, robes, blankets.

I can sell the above goods as low as can be bought of any dealer. My expenses are lower than anyone in the business. I was never undersold and won't be. Come and satisfy yourselves at

60 DWIGHT ST., SPRINGFIELD, MASS.
D. N. BUTTERWORTH.

THIS IS THE MONTH

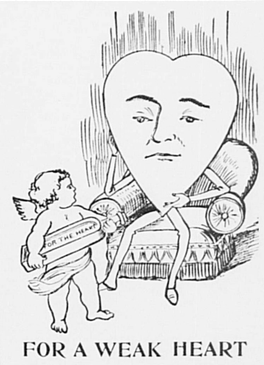
to cleanse the blood! Malaria, Chills and Fever, that dull, heavy, tired feeling, pimples, blotches and headaches, all are due to bad blood. Prepare the system for Summer's tremendous drain upon your energy by using the scientific blood purifier

DR. CLARK JOHNSON'S

INDIAN BLOOD SYRUP

Not an experiment, but a household remedy for 30 years, for all blood diseases, Rheumatism, Scrofula, Liver and Kidney Complaint and lack of vitality. Millions of bottles sold. Easy to buy, easy to take. Try it!

50c. per bottle; all druggists.



FOR A WEAK HEART

we can recommend DR. MILES' HEART CURE every time, and as this is the season when many are troubled with a weakness in the region where the heart is located, it is, of course, just the time to commence its use. If in need of any other medicine, call at

ALLEN'S DRUG STORE,
Holden's Block, Palmer.

LOWNEY'S

Chocolate Bonbons.

FOR SALE BY

SMITH GROCERY CO.,

59 Main Street, Palmer.

SIDE COMBS, dressing combs, fine combs, pocket combs, hair brushes, tooth brushes, perfumery, toilet soaps.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

ONWARD! : :

EVER ONWARD. PROGRESS IS STAMPED IN THE FACE OF EACH DEPARTMENT.

Higher and higher we mount each day—getting the results of our hard work and your shopping and looking of the past two weeks. People come back and BUY and that pleases us. We now KNOW STYLES AND PRICES ARE RIGHT, because they have stood the test of comparison. STYLE AND PRICE. That's the magic that's drawing the people from every corner of the city; that's bringing the checks in by every mail; that's what crowded our store to the very door last Saturday; that's happifying hundreds of people and making them friends and customers of MEIGS & CO. forever.

SPRING STYLES.

It would be boastful to say we hold supreme command of values in clothing.

WE don't say it, but YOU will when you buy new goods at present prices, which are lower than our neighbors charge for old goods.

YOU'LL ALWAYS FIND WHAT WE ADVERTISE right on our counters.

Here are some of THEM SPRING SUITS FOR 1896.

$10 More style, more finish, better trimmings, better fit, better quality than any $10 suit you ever $10 saw. We know they'll satisfy you better than the MANY suits you've paid $20 for. Cassimeres, serges, cheviots, worsteds, Scotches.

Don't think about the price till you've looked at the goods, then compare the PRICE with the VALUE in them and your verdict will be "BEST FOR THE MONEY."

BEST-OF-EVERYTHING SUITS.

So called because nothing but the best cloth, the best of trimmings, the best of workmanship of the best tailors—go into their manufacture.

You can buy these suits at highest-class tailors—nowhere else—and they can't POSSIBLY fit any better than these suits will, for we guarantee a fit before the suits leave the store. You'll pay $40, $45 for these identical suits at the tailors. Here you pay $12, $15, $18 AND $20.

Spring Overcoats.

English top coats—coverts and black thibet. Don't pay a tailor $30 to make you one just like it, when you get it here for TEN DOLLARS.

"Others There Are" in all cloths, styles and sizes.

Men's Negligee Shirts 48c.

MOTHERS OF BOYS, Think of it! Shirt waists 25c (unlaundered). The usual price is 50c. They are going at a quarter. Boys' knee pants, double seat and knees, 48c, boys' stockings 12½c, fast black.

YOUR HEAD, SIR.

You can't keep off the Spring hat much longer, and we want to be in your mind when you buy. We ought to be, for we show you ten hats to one shown in any other store. The best hat makers give us first choice always. You would, too, if you were making hats. So here you have a choice of the BEST and the surety of correct fashions.

AT $1.50 we sell you the newest and best styles of derbys and tourists in black, brown and fancy colors. A large and varied assortment to select from, and at the same time as good if not better than the other fellows' $2 hat.

At $2.00, $2.50 and $3.00 we sell you your choice of Dunlap, Collins & Fairbank, Youman & Worth blocks, as well as the new flange brim tourists in all the new Spring shades and black, from the best manufacturer in the country.

Guaranteed saving of 50c to $1.00 on every hat.

Boys' Hats and Caps.

Five hundred 50-cent golf caps; your choice 25c.

Caps of all sorts, styles and colors, equal to any you get elsewhere at 65c, we say - - - - - - - - - - 48c

CLOTHIERS, HATTERS,

MEIGS & CO.
383-385 Main St., SPRINGFIELD.

AND . . . . . FURNISHERS.

Battle Ax A GREAT BIG PIECE FOR 10 CENTS PLUG

As good as can be made regardless of price

5⅓ Ounces for 10 cents

Other Brands Only

3⅕ Ounces for 10 cents

57 Don't take our word for it, but buy a piece, and see for yourself.

"THRIFT IS A GOOD REVENUE." GREAT SAVING RESULTS FROM CLEANLINESS AND

SAPOLIO

4-1

The Palmer Journal.

VOLUME XLVII. PALMER, MASS., FRIDAY EVENING, APRIL 24, 1896. NUMBER 4.

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY EVENING
—BY—
C. B. FISKE & CO.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.—Two dollars a year. A discount of 25 cents to those who pay in advance. Six months, $1.00; three months, 50 cents; single copies, 4cents.

ADVERTISING RATES.—One inch (or twelve lines of this type solid) 75 cents for the first insertion, 25 cents for the second, 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. Short advertisements, "Wanted," "To Let," etc., one cent a word for the first insertion, one-half cent a word each subsequent insertion, cash; no charge less than 25 cents. Notices in local column, 15 cents per line. Liberal rates to yearly advertisers.

JOB PRINTING of all kinds executed in the best styles, promptly and at reasonable rates.

C. B. FISKE. L. E. CHANDLER.

[Entered at Post Office as second class matter.]

LOCAL BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

PALMER.

ALLEN, O. P., Wholesale and Retail Druggist and Bookseller.

BARTON, F. D., Dealer in Watches, Clocks and Jewelry, Main street.

BILLS, G. A., Fresh and Salt Beef, Pork, Ham, Lard, Tripe, etc.

BROOKS, EDWIN E., Graduate Optician. With E. S. Brooks, Jeweler, Main street.

BROOKS, E. S., Dealer in Watches, Clocks, Jewelry, Solid Silver and Plated Ware, Main street.

BROWN, C. A. & CO., Hardware, Furnaces, Stoves, Ranges, Paints, Oils and Glass.

BROWN, S. H., Trucking, Light Jobbing, Piano Moving. Order box cor. Main and Walnut streets. Orders can also be left at J. F. Foley's store.

CARPENTER, Mrs. L. E., Millinery and Fancy Goods. Also dealer in Human Hair Goods.

CHANDLER BROS., Bicycles.

CLARK & HASTINGS, Wholesale Dealers in Armour & Co's. Dressed Beef, Provisions, Main St.

EAGER, F. M., Boot and Shoe Manufacturer to Order, and dealer in Leather and Findings.

FISKE, C. B. & CO., Publishers PALMER JOURNAL and WARE STANDARD. Fine Book and Job Printers and Bookbinders.

FITCH, A. E., Law and Insurance, Savings Bank Block.

FRANCIS, R. B., Iron Foundry and Machine Shop.

GAMWELL, C. K., Ready made Clothing, Hats, Caps, Gent's Furnishings, etc.

GARDNER, CHAS. L., Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Church street.

GOODES, E., Palmer Boot and Shoe Store, corner Main and Thorndike streets.

HAMILTON, J. A., Dealer in all kinds of Coal, Wood, Grain, Flour, Baled Hay and Straw. Fertilizers and Stock Food. Main street.

HOLBROOK, C. D., Flour, Grain, Feed and Masons' Supplies, Main street.

HOLBROOK, J. F., Dealer in all kinds of Coal. Agent for National and White Star line of steamers. Drafts on Foreign Banks at lowest rates.

LEACH, W. W., Attorney at Law.

LEGRO & LYNDE, Druggists and Newsdealers, Paper Hangings, Shades, Lamps and Fixtures.

MARCY, F. F., Dealer in Lumber, Shingles, etc., wholesale and retail. West of B. & A. R. R. depot.

MARCY, OSCAR C., Livery and Feed Stable, rear of Converse House.

PALMER WATER CO., Office, Lawrence Block. Office hours to October 1, from 8.30 to 10 a. m., from 2 to 3 p. m.

SHAW, J. B., Dealer in Dry Goods, Groceries, etc. Opposite the depot.

WHITE, C. W., Marble and Granite Works. No. 1 Thorndike street.

WOOLRICH & CO., Manufacturers of Ridge's Food, Thorndike street.

THORNDIKE.

ADAMS, A. P., Druggist, Toilet Articles, Confectionery and Cigars.

BONDSVILLE.

HOLDEN, C. L., Dry Goods, Groceries, Clothing Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps, etc.

MORIARTY, M., Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots Shoes, Coal. Agt White Star and Anchor SS Co's

WARE.

ALBERTINE, J. A. Choice Fruits, Tobaccos, Cigars and Confectionery. Low Prices.

DAVIS INSURANCE AGENCY represents the best companies and gives lowest rates.

DWIGHT, R. N., Harness, Horse Saddlery, Hardware. Repairing a Specialty. Next to Bank.

EDDY, C. W. Job and Fine Art Printer.

EDDY, MISS MATIE K. Teacher of Oil Painting and Crayon. Sketching or Art Work completed to order.

ELDREDGE, A. HENRY. Sign Painter. Carriages painted in the best manner. West Street.

HARLOW, A. B. Photographer. Instantaneous process only. Opposite the Bank.

HOSMER, F. N. Clothier. Hats, Caps, Gents' Furnishing Good, etc. Sanford's Block.

MARSH, F. E. Gold, Silver and Nickel Plater. Replating tableware a specialty. 7 Bank street.

PRIEST, J. E. Ware Steam Laundry. Carpet cleaning. Office at H. M. Clark's.

RICHARDSON, A. F. Dealer in Boots, Shoes and Rubbers of all kinds. Sagendorph's Block.

ROBINSON, JOHN F. Furniture, Sewing Machines, Pictures, Hardware, Paints and Farming Tools.

SIBLEY, J. B. Hardware, Tools, Agricultural Implements, Paints, Oils and Artists' materials.

SMITH, G. H. W. Jeweler. Watches, Clocks and Spectacles. Repairing in the best manner.

SULLIVAN & STRONG, Ware Coöperative Laundry. Fine Work and Carpet Cleaning. Office, 50 Main Street.

TURNER, H. H. Bookseller and Stationer, and dealer in Paper Hangings, Musical Instruments and Sheet Music.

MONSON.

GROUT, GEO. E. Dealer in Watches Clocks, Jewelry, etc. Towne's Block.

NEWTON, GEO. H., Law Office, Notary Public, Insurance, etc., near Gage's store.

SQUIER & CO., Dealers in Grain, Feed, Hay, Straw, Lumber, Shingles and Building Material.

WARREN.

KELLEY, W. H., Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Quaboag Block, Warren, Mass.

SOCIETY DIRECTORY.

MONSON.

MT. ELLA LODGE, No. 184, A. O. U. W. Meets first and third Tuesdays of each month in A. O. U. W. Hall, Monson.
FISK G. ROGERS, M. W., F. J. ENTWISTLE, Rec.

THE··· Yellow Fellow

is all right. And so are our line of

Warwicks,
Stearns,
Eclipse,
Envoys,
Crescents,
Pierce.

Give us a call. We are only too glad to talk with you.

WHEELS CLEANED AND REPAIRED.

E. A. Buck & Co.,
Cross Block,
PALMER.

A high liver with a torpid liver will not be a long liver. Correct the liver with DeWitt's Little Early Risers, little pills that cure dyspepsia and constipation. LeGro & Lynde.

DWIGHT'S SODA—"Cow brand." 1 pound packages and bulk. Cream Tartar, Slades pure—¼ pound packages and bulk.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

FINEST ROAD-BED ON THE CONTINENT.

BOSTON & ALBANY RAILROAD.

Only Double-Track Route to the West.

ON AND AFTER DEC. 2, 1895.

Through Trains will leave Boston as follows:

No. 7.—Day Express.

8:30 a. m.—Daily, except Sunday. Has Wagner buffet drawing-room car Boston to Albany, there connecting with through cars to all points West. Stops at Palmer 10.53 a. m.

No. 15.—Chicago Special.

10:30 a. m.—Daily. The finest train running in New England. A solid vestibuled Wagner train, comprising buffet, library and smoking car, sleeping cars and dining car Boston to Chicago, via the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern R. R., and also via Michigan Central R. R.

No. 19.—North Shore Limited.

2:00 p. m.—Daily. Has through vestibuled buffet sleeping cars Boston to Detroit and Chicago, via Michigan Central R. R. Dining car attached at Albany.

No. 23.—Cincinnati Express.

3:00 p. m.—Daily. Has through vestibuled buffet Sleeping car Boston to Chicago via Lake Shore and Michigan Southern R. R., and to St. Louis and Cincinnati via Big Four Route. Stops at Palmer 5.20 p. m.

No. 9.—Pacific Express.

7:15 p. m.—Daily. Has through sleeping cars Boston to Chicago, via Michigan Central. Sleeping car Boston to Buffalo, parlor car Buffalo to Cleveland, sleeping car Cleveland to Chicago via Lake Shore & Michigan Southern.

No. 63.—Albany Express.

11:00 p. m.—Daily, except Saturday. Has sleeping car Boston to Albany. Stops at Palmer 1.46 a. m.

TRAINS LEAVE PALMER FOR BOSTON.

6.22 a. m. Accommodation.
7.52 " "
8.25 " Daily Express.
10.00 " Express, except Sunday.
11.42 " Accommodation.
1.40 p. m. Express.
3.12 " "
4.42 " Accommodation.
6.49 " Daily Express.
7.55 " Sundays only. Express.
9.03 " Express.

Time tables showing local and through service between all Stations, may be obtained at all ticket offices of this Company.
City Office, 366 Washington Street.
Station, Kneeland Street, Boston, Mass.
52-32 A. S. HANSON, Gen. Passenger Agent.

CENTRAL VERMONT RAILROAD.

NEW LONDON DIVISION.

TAKING EFFECT DECEMBER 22, 1895.

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

Leave Brattleboro, 5.40 and 10.30 a. m. and 4.25 p. m. for New London, connecting at Millers Falls with Fitchburg R. R., at Belchertown with Central Massachusetts R. R., and at Palmer with B. & A. R. R. for Worcester, Boston, Springfield, at New London with the N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R.
Leave Amherst, 7.05 a. m., 12.15 and 5.57 p. m.
Leave Palmer, 8.25 a. m., 1.50 and 7.00 p. m.
Leave Willimantic for New London, 8.25, 9.45 a. m. 3.25, 6.40 and 8.20 p. m.

GOING NORTH.

Leave New London, 5.20 and 7.40 a m, and 2.30 p. m.
The 5.20 and 7.40 a. m. and 2.30 p. m. run through to Brattleboro and make connections for the north.
Leave New London for Willimantic and intermediate stations, 10.00 a. m. and 5.25 p. m.
Leave Palmer for Brattleboro, 8.20, 11.00 a. m, and 7.10 p. m, connecting with express for Montreal. Also with Grand Trunk R. R. for the West.
Leave Palmer for Amherst, 8.20 and 11.00 a. m, and 7.10 p. m.

SUBJECT TO CHANGE WITHOUT NOTICE.

D. MACKENZIE, Supt. J. A. SOUTHARD, D. P. A. New London, Ct.
S. W. CUMMINGS, G. P. A., St. Albans.

BOSTON & MAINE R. R.

SOUTHERN DIVISION
(CENTRAL MASSACHUSETTS)
CORRECTED TO OCTOBER 6, 1895.

TRAINS LEAVE WARE:

GOING EAST

FOR Boston—6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14, p. m Sundays 6.55 a. m.
RETURNING—leave Boston 8.45 a. m.; 1.30, 4.00 p. m. Sundays, 1.30 p. m.
FOR Worcester—6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14 p. m. Sundays, 6.55 a. m.
RETURNING—leave Worcester 9.15 a. m.; 2.25, 4.58 p. m.
FOR Oakdale, Hudson and Waltham—6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14 p. m. Sundays, 6.55 a. m.
FOR Gilbertville, Barre and Coldbrook—6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14 p. m. Sundays, 6.55 a. m.

GOING WEST

FOR Bondsville, Belchertown, Pansy Park, Amherst, Hadley and Northampton, 7.15, 11.24 a. m., 4.28, 6.47 p. m. Sundays, 4.35 p. m.
RETURNING—leave Northampton 5.55, 8.05 a. m., 2.15, 6.10 p. m. Sundays, 5.55 a. m.

D. J. FLANDERS, Gen'l. Pass'r. Agt.
W. F. BERRY Gen'l Mgr.

Palmer Savings Bank,

Palmer, Mass.
Hours from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m.

President,
H. G. LOOMIS.

Vice Presidents,
C. H. HOBBS. H. P. HOLDEN. C. F. GROSVENOR.

Secretary,
WM. W. LEACH.

Treasurer,
H. W. MCGREGORY.

Trustees,
James B. Shaw, E. G. Hastings, C. H. Hobbs, George Mooers, R. C. Newell, Geo. E. Buck, H. G. Loomis, F. F. Marcy, A. L. Hills, T. D. Potter, H. Waid, Wm. Holbrook, H. P. Holden, Wm. W. Leach, C. F. Grosvenor, Jas. S. Loomis, C. L. Gardner, H. W. McGregory

Board of Investment,
Geo. Mooers, H. G. Loomis, E. G. Hastings, C. H. Hobbs, James B. Shaw.

Auditors,
Wm. W. Leach, C. F. Grosvenor.

TELEPHONE Stone for anything in dry goods or Groceries.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

LADIES' HOSE, 10 cents a pair, plain or ribbed. Bargain.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

POSTAL

Telegraph and Cable Co.

Office in Holden's Block,

PALMER, : : : : MASS.

Direct wires to New York and Boston. Office in all the principal cities in the

UNITED STATES.

PROMPT SERVICE.

REASONABLE RATES,

ALL BUSINESS

STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL

HORSFORD'S BAKING POWDER.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

J. H. Rogers Carriage Co.,

MANUFACTURERS OF
Carriages,
AND DEALERS IN
Carriages of every description.

33 to 39 Sanford St., SPRINGFIELD.

We manufacture and carry in stock the finest line of carriages in New England. Come and look over our stock.

A FINE LINE OF SECOND HAND VEHICLES CONSTANTLY ON HAND . . . .

at very low prices.

IMPORTED SARDINES, boneless, 25c and 35c a box. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

When we say wash goods

we mean goods that will wash and won't fade nor shrink, that have none of the vices of so-called wash goods that won't stand water. We are laying no traps for you when we sell you these dainty dress percales and figured lawns. Unusual, but true, these artistic beauties with their sunshining faces and bright bits of color are absolutely fast color.

36 INCH PERCAILES, in all the new shades and colorings, stripes and figures, just the thing for shirt waists, - - - - - - - - - - 12 1-2c

FIGURED LAWNS, for hot weather wear. Endless variety. They need no introduction. They are correct, beautiful, select. - - - - - - 12 1-2c

WHITE GOODS, in nainsook check, large and small checks, satin effect. Also full line of dotted swiss. - - - - Price from 6c to 20c a yard. Call and see this line, whether you wish to buy or not.

WHITE EMBROIDERY. Our embroidery stock tells of larger quantity, greater variety than has graced our shelves before. Our new Irish point embroideries are great sellers. - - - - - 7c to 15c. Insertions to match.

DRESS LENGTHS. Elegance regardless of expense, style and beauty. No other consideration is regarded by some ladies in a new costume. We have the finest line ever shown at 49c a yard. No two dresses alike.

HOSIERY. Not only good, but shapely, regular made hosiery that commend themselves for appearance as well as firmness. They look well, wear well, fit well and warranted fast black. - - - - - - - - - - 25c pair.

SUMMER VESTS. Short sleeves, high neck, full sizes, 12 1-2c " " V neck, silk trimmed, - 15c High neck, full gauze, - - - - 25c Higher grades, - - - 37 1-2c up.

SUMMER CORSETS. Our Summer corset is a prize winner. At 50c is a leader in its own right, it wins on its merits, it is the best money's worth you have ever stumbled on. Ask to see them.

BARGAIN DAY.

MONDAY'S PRICES.

Any article on our 5c counter, - - - 3c
1 ball c-lore t crochet cotton 5c, - - 4c
1 large ball knitting silk 10, - - - - 7c
1 linen huck towel 5c, - - - - - 4c
6 spools black twist, - - - - - 5c

MONDAY'S PRICES.

Any article on our 10c counter - - - 7c
10 yards good cotton (unbleached) - - 45c
Remnants of ribbon, half price.
All remnants laces and embroideries at half price.

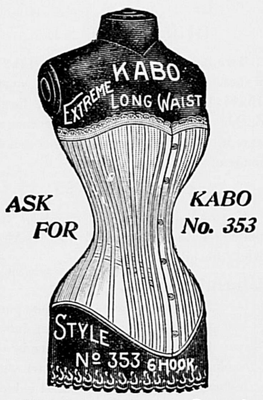
REMNANT DAY. We have laid out on our center table every remnant we have in the store, and for Monday only we will sell at half price. COME EARLY. . . . . . .

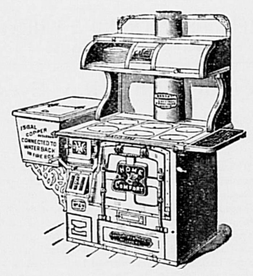
T. H. TODD, MONSON.



ASK FOR KABO No. 353

Perfect fitting. Sure to give satisfaction.
Price only $1.00
For sale by D. L. BODFISH, Palmer.

There is one DRESS STAY that
Won't melt apart,
Can't cut through the dress,
Don't stay bent.
It is
BALL'S PEERLESS.
All lengths; all colors.



RUSSELL, MASS., March 14th, 1896.

Gentlemen:—One of the divisions of the Wrought Iron Range Co. of St. Louis, Mo., under the management of S. McCort, Supt., has been located in our midst for the past two months, and while here disposed of a large number of their celebrated Home Comfort Ranges, and as far as we have been able to learn the ranges are giving universal satisfaction. The dealings and conduct of these gentlemen we have found to be above reproach. We understand they are about to depart for a new field of labor, and we, the undersigned citizens, cheerfully recommend them to any community.

H. W. Arms, hotel proprietor.
William Mortimore.
Horace Parks, station agent B. & A. R. R.
L. S. Boynton, general merchandise and post office.
T. H. Clark, selectman and merchant.
E. D. Parks, postmaster.
W. S. Lincoln, Supt. Blandford B. & T. Co
Robert L. Parks, manager W. U. Tel. Co., Agent Am. Exp. Co.
A. S. Quensee, selectman.

Horse Blankets.

A full line, for both stable
.....and street use.....

375 BLANKETS IN STOCK.

PRICES RIGHT.

D. W. Foskit,

Foskit's Mills.

DRS. HUDSON & BARDEN,
DENTISTS.

Having severed connection with Dr. W. L. Roberts, we have opened an office in the PHOENIX, 307 MAIN ST., SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

By our exclusive method we guarantee to

FILL TEETH WITHOUT PAIN,

And by a simple application to the gums we are enabled to extract fully 95 per cent of all teeth WITHOUT PAIN.
Positively no injury to teeth or gums, and no physiological ill-effect to patient.
Artificial teeth on rubber, aluminium and gold bases.
All work guaranteed. Take elevator.

Drs. HUDSON & BARDEN,
307 Main Street, Springfield, Mass.

RED KIDNEY BEANS, and salt pork.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Taylor's Music House,

SPRINGFIELD,

OPERA HOUSE BLOCK. . . . .

Dealers in.....Newby and Evans,
Sohmer, and Prince

P·I·A·N·O·S·.

$225.00 to $600.00,

$25 down. $10 per month.
Old instruments taken in exchange.

Tuning and repairing done by competent workmen.

Have you heard the GRAPHOPHONE ?

It is wonderful.

ISLAND BRAND LOBSTER, finest goods. Try one can. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Piano and Banjo Lessons

given by

Misses Annie and Carrie Fish,

22-tf Palmer.

See our prices for

COAL

R. M. & Theo. REYNOLDS,

Monson, Mass.

To be delivered now, subject to advance at any time. We furnish good men to house and bin same. All coal is screened and delivered in bags.

The Lehigh is as good as any we have ever sold. The Lackawanna is the best prepared coal that comes to market for domestic use.

Send your order by postal card or leave it at our office.

Price for Lackawanna:
Stove size, - $5.85 per ton.

Prices for Lehigh:
Stove size, - $6.00 per ton.
Chestnut, - 6.00 " "
Furnace, - 5.90 " "

Less than (1) one ton 25 cents added for the load.

Delivered in Bags,
which will save expense of housing in many cases.
MARCH 2d, 1896.

Health, beauty, economy, enjoyment, all contained in the price of a wheel. Not in every wheel—oh no!—but we're sure they're in ours. It pays very much to be sure you're getting a good wheel.

We know all about wheels, and we mean what we say, when we tell you that no where can you get such light, strong, graceful and easy running wheels as the Keating, Rambler and Relay.

Come and see them.

REPAIRING OF ALL KINDS.

G. A. MOORE, JEWELER,

HOLDEN'S BLOCK, PALMER.

Could every housewife know how much time, trouble and labor is saved and how easy cooking is made with a

GLENWOOD RANGE

she would USE NO OTHER.

For sale in all prominent cities and towns throughout New England. | Made by THE WEIR STOVE CO., Taunton, Mass.

SMITH & MURRAY.

SPRINGFIELD.

Present conditions favor very low prices on many goods—not on all.

Chances for least prices come to the largest retailers only.

Just now only such as hold clean stocks are in a position to buy. We always prepare ourselves for such chances. Hence the big values.

Ours to do the best for the public and to print the news of what we do.

The public must do the buying.

Spring wraps.

The facilities here this week for choosing your spring coat are rather unusual. Some of the extreme Paris fads appear for the first time in medium-priced coats—and the finer grades have been materially reduced to meet their competition.

Effective styles of well made garments at prices that strain pocketbooks least.

Capes, $1 to $50.
Jackets, $3.95 to $25.

Second floor, take elevator.

A big lot of Japanese silk Windsor ties, ten different colors, with drawn work and hemstitched ends.

15c, or two for 25c.

Actual value 25c each.

Main store, center.

Vandyke point lace collars,
50c, actual value $1.

Collarettes.

New designs with lace insertion and ribbon.

All lace, with fancy ribbon stocks, 50c, 75c, $1, $1.50, $1.90, $2.90.

Center store.

SMITH & MURRAY.

SPRINGFIELD.

Waist ruined for the want of the Canfield Dress Shields.

A Ruined Gown

Is generally the result when inferior dress shields are used The only certain remedy is

Canfield Dress Shields.

We agree to replace any dress damaged by perspiration when the Canfield Shield has been properly attached.

Ask for and insist upon having "Canfield Dress Shields."

CANFIELD RUBBER COMPANY, NEW YORK, LONDON AND PARIS.

For sale by dealers everywhere.

TRADE MARK Canfield

Trade-Mark on every Shield.

And in MONSON by GAGE BROS., and W. N. FLYNT & SONS.

It not only is so, it must be so, One Minute Cough Cure acts quickly, and that's what makes it go. LeGro & Lynde.

Written for the PALMER JOURNAL.

The Hypocrite.

Each Sunday, in her best array,
With drawn-down sanctimonious face,
She seeks the portals of the church
To gain a new supply of grace;
Of Christian grace, and strength to meet
The many trials of the week,—
Meekness and patience,—yes, of course
These must be what she goes to seek.
At evening meeting, on her knees
She prays (you'd think she was sincere)
For all the sick and suffering ones,
The poor and needy everywhere;
That Christians may have charity,
And strive to walk in Christ's own ways,—
The ways of truth and righteousness,—
And keep His precepts all their days.

* * * * * * *

But hear her when she is at home,
And in her week-day garments dressed;
Where is the Christian love and truth,
Or charity she has professed?
"I hear the Blanks are like to starve;
They may, before I'll give them food.
They have no fuel?" I believe
He goes out nights and steals folk's wood!
'He's called an honest man,' you say—
I tell you, we don't know the whole;
They never talk of their affairs,
And,—I don't like them,—that is all.
I know that she has been for years
A member of our church in P——,
But never goes to meeting here,
She has no claim on us, you see.
'She is an invalid, and he
Was sick all summer?' But I say
It was their duty to have made
Provision for a rainy day.
Now they have nothing?" I don't care.
I wouldn't give a bite to save
Them from starvation; let them go
Off to the poorhouse or the grave."

* * * * * * *

This is her precious charity,
Her holy Christian truth and love.
But does she think she can deceive
The great all-seeing One above?
Does he accept unmeaning vows,
Or even answer hollow prayers?
Will He reward these who transgress
The plain law which His Bible bears?
Will he claim or acknowledge those—
Or grant the gifts for which they pray—
Who scorn "the least of these," and break
The ninth commandment every day?
No, turn to Matthew 25th,
From 31st verse read the rest;
See if we may expect to find
A hypocrite among the blest.

H. F. MOORE.

North Wilbraham.

ISABELLA'S GOOD LUCK.

Deacon Darley's old red wagon had just trundled up to the post office door, and its occupants slowly dismounted, eyeing the other vehicles that were already hitched to the rail, for Ike Smith's store was a popular rendezvous for the whole neighborhood when the daily mail was opened.

He was a big pompous man, with stiff side whiskers, bristly eyebrows and spectacled eyes which seldom looked at you straight, and the assemblage instinctively made way for him as he shouldered himself into the little room.

"Six yards of brown calico like this sample," said the deacon to the store boy; "a jug o' molasses, and half an ounce of cinnamon—ahem-m! Any letters for me, Mr. Smith?"

"No deacon, no mail for you to-night, except the Weekly Farmer," said the postmaster. "Wasn't expectin' to hear from Isabeller, was you?"

The deacon's bristly eyebrows met in a frown. The crowd nudged each other, and exchanged furtive glances, for Isabella Ilford was the great man's penniless cousin who had appealed to him in vain for shelter and support; and in your New England village everybody knows all about everybody's else business.

But he ignored the question, and turned, with apparent unconcern, to read the notice newly tacked up above the post office window.

"'Dress and mantle making at reasonable prices, by Miss Ilford!' Eh! why—"

He stepped back into the little group, looking vaguely around him.

"Yes," said the postmaster, answering the implied question, as he handed a letter to old Betsey Doolittle, "you're right, deacon; it's Isabeller, sure 'nough. She did talk 'o going to Providence, but she hadn't no friends there, nor no money to pay her railroad fare"—here again the deacon winced—"and so my wife advised her to stay and try her luck here."

"Humph!" commented Deacon Darley. "Is my caliker an' molasses ready, then?"

"An' what d'ye think?" persisted Isaac, the valiant. She's bought the old Indian buryin' groun'. Well, why not? It's all laid down in buckwheat now, and a good crop they riz on it. We ain't no sartinty but that all the bones an' arrer-heads an' things was took away long ago—and she got it all-fired cheap. All she paid down was the makin' of a dress for the widow Fletcher, and the rest's on bond and mortgage, and Bill Decker, he's goin' to patch up the old shed that's on it now into a decent little house, and Isabeller's goin' on with the maple sugar makin' in spring, and sewin' the rest of the year. She's got pluck, that gal has, and sooner or later she's bound to succeed.

The deacon turned frigidly to the boy behind the counter.

"Young man," said he, I'll thank ye for my caliker and that molasses jug. I haven't time to stand here gossiping all day."

It was quite plain that, in the matter of Isabella Ilford versus Deacon Darley, public opinion was all on the young lady's side.

As the red wagon jolted along in the rosy May twilight, the deacon did not see the young couple standing in the bowery lane that led up to the house where dwelt the postmaster's cheery wife—Isabella Ilford and his only son, Howard Darley—a straight, manly young fellow, with eyebrows as thick as his father's, only with laughing black eyes sparkling beneath them. Isabella herself was a tall, pretty girl, with cheeks like carnations, and glossy brown hair, brushed in natural waves back from her forehead.

"Yes, I know you're astonished, Howard," said she; "and when I come to think of it, I'm a little astonished myself. But I couldn't bear the idea of going back to the silk factory in Providence—and it was such a sudden idea. Howard, do you believe in dreams?"

"I don't understand you, Isabella."

The sea-blue eyes shone with a sudden ray. Isabella stole her arm through Howard's, and drew him gently away.

"Don't you want to come and look at my new home?" said she. "It will be light for an hour at least, and I want to show you where I sat on the wooden step with my head against the side of the door, when I fell asleep and dreamed that dream."

"What dream, Isabella?"

"There! Isn't it a pretty spot? You can just get a glimpse of the river below; and it seems to me as if the air were purer here than it is anywhere else. And the little, tiny cabin is certainly picturesque, if it is nothing else; and when I get the few bits of furniture into it that Mr. Smith is going to lend me—"

"Isabella, you're the bravest woman I ever knew!" exclaimed Howard Darley. "But what about the dream?"

"I had been sweeping the place out, you know, and clearing the old swallows' nest out of the chimney, so I sat down a minute to rest and breathe in the sweet spring air, and all of a sudden—you know how it is in dreams—I looked around and there was an old, old wrinkled Indian chief, all in his paint and feathers, with a blanket wrapped around him and eyes that shone like coals, standing on the threshold; and he picked up a horse shoe from the ground and hung it right there," pointing to the top of the door, "and said aloud: "Daughter, you have come into the door of luck!"

"Why," cried Howard, involuntarily starting back, "there's a horse shoe there now!"

"Yes, I know," said Isabella, quietly; "that is the one."

"But, darling, you know that's all nonsense."

"Well, I don't know whether it is or not," said the girl. But how did it come there?"

"It must have been there before."

"That's just what puzzles me," declared Isabella. "Mrs. Smith's great-grandmother, who can remember when the Indians were buried here, says there never was a horseshoe over the door. And she used to pick berries here and play at hide-and-seek with the other children when she was six years old. And old Seth Soper—he's the oldest man in the county house, you know—he says that his father nailed it up himself. And it does look very old and rusty, doesn't it?"

"But, Isabella—"

"I've made up my mind," said Isabella, with a nod of her head. "I do believe the dream meant something, and I'm glad I bought the place. It's less than an acre, but it's quite a little farm to me; and I mean to save money and pay the mortgage—"

"Dear Isabella, you must let me do that for you," protested Howard.

"No!" The sea-blue eyes sparkled with sudden decision, a deeper carnation dyed the round cheek. "I love you, Howard, and I shall always love you; but I never shall marry any man whose father does not want me to enter his family."

"You're not marrying my father, Isabella; you're marrying me; and whatever my family say, I will have you for my wife!" cried the young man excitedly.

She put her hand gently on his shoulder.

"Wait, Howard," she said; "wait. We are both young; and I have a sort of pride in proving to the man who declined to support his poor relation that I can take care of myself. And you don't know how much that dream encouraged me. Oh, you will see how I shall make my way."

And Howard Darley's entreaties were powerless to alter her resolution.

"Where have you been, Howard?" asked the deacon, when his son came home that evening.

"Do you really want to know, sir? Well, I have been up at the old Indian burying ground, talking to Isabella Ilford."

"Humph! You won't give up that infatuation?" frowned the old man.

"No, sir; I won't give up that infatuation."

"Miss Cornelia Thimpleton—"

"I don't want to hear anything about Miss Cornelia Thimpleton," said Howard; and his father wisely abandoned the subject of the red-haired village heiress who was supposed to be fond of his tall son. He only shrugged his shoulders and began to read the Weekly Farmer, while Howard sat down to calculate how soon, if the crops were good and the price of hay kept up, he could afford to marry.

The red leaves of the sugar maple grove behind the old Indian burying ground were fluttering down in the October gales, when one day Deacon Darley knocked at the door of the little house, which Isabella had made quite habitable by this time.

She came quietly forward, with her sewing in her hand. No princess could have been more dignified or more composed.

"Isabella," said the deacon, looking ineffably foolish. "I—I begin to find out I've made a mistake. Howard, he ain't easy 'thout he can have you for his wife—an' Howard's like the rest of the Darley's, he's dreadful sot in his ways. My wife, she always liked you—and—and—"

Isabella stood there looking him straight in the face. By no single word or gesture would she help him out of the labyrinth of apologies, and the faintest gleam of an amused smile hovered around her lips, and sparkled beneath her eyelashes as she gazed.

"And," went on the deacon, suddenly spurring himself up, "I've come to ask you to let by-gones be by-gones, and marry Howard. It seems kind o' folorn for you to live here alone in this haunted spot, where dead Injuns were buried once, and to work for your livin', when you've got relations who'd be glad to give you a home."

"Oh, certainly, of course," demurely answered Isabella. "But I didn't know, you see, that you were so anxious to give me a home."

"Well, I be," stoutly assisted the deacon; and Isabella Ilford was wise enough not to remind him of the very different testimony he had borne not so very long ago.

And it was not till Isabella had come a bride to the old Darley farm-house that her mother-in-law bustled in one day full of news.

"The Orangebrook railroad's comin' right through the place," said she. "I heerd it down to Doctor Cullen's. It'll make a deal o' difference to us all, and they say the station's to be built just where you used to live, Isabella, on the old Indian burying ground."

"Yes," said Isabella, "the directors were here to see Howard about it this morning. They are to pay me five thousand dollars for it."

"Five—thou—sand—dollars! And didn't you never suspicion nothin' about it?"

"No," said Isabella, quietly; "why should I?"

"I did," said the deacon, folding the Weekly Farmer, with a complacent twinkle in his eyes. "I heerd three months ago that the line was projected right through the buryin' ground."

"And that was the reason," thought Isabella, that he was so anxious to receive me as his daughter-in-law. And neither I nor Howard suspected."

Again she smiled and made no comment. But a little while afterward, when her husband said to her:—

"This is the good luck that comes through you, dear Isabella," she answered, softly:—

"No, dearest: the good luck was your true and steadfast love!"

THE DESCRIPTION FITTED WILLIAM.—German policemen appreciate this lèze-majesty business about as thoroughly as anybody. One of them arrested an Englishman the other day for publicly declaring the emperor was several kinds of a blank blanked fool. "That's all right," protested John Bull, "it wasn't your emperor, but the emperor of China I was talking about." "That won't go," replied the policeman. "There's only one emperor who is—what you said!" And he had the Britisher fined a dollar and a quarter for describing the emperor in a way that a fool, though a wayfaring man, might understand.—New York Tribune.

Of Interest to Women.

EDITED BY MISS F. V. DOANE.

Readers of this column who have items or recipes which they think might interest others are invited to send them for publication.

Bacteriology.

Bacteria of all kinds thrive best and increase most rapidly in warmth and moisture. Severe cold does not kill them, but it arrests development and prevents reproduction; and they do not thrive in dry, clear air; hence the flesh of animals is kept fresh and sweet when very cold or frozen. In the ice fields of Siberia the flesh of animals buried for ages has been found so fresh that dogs would seize upon and devour it, and buffalo meat was formerly exposed by hunters to the dry air of the arid regions until it dried sweet; even now it is hung upon poles and cured without injuring it. This is because the air is pure and free from bacteria of any kind; this is also the case on the tops of some mountains, where the air is rare and pure. There are some substances that kill bacteria, corrosive sublimate, chloride of lime and alcohol being among the most effective. Borasic acid, sulphur fumes and carbolic acid destroy many kinds, and direct sunshine discourages all kinds and tends to prevent reproduction, even when it does not destroy. Boiling kills all bacteria, and heat at boiling point, 212 F. or 100 C. In perfectly pure air anything will keep fresh after being heated so as to kill existing bacteria. The reason canned fruits have to be sealed is that the air is not free from bacteria, and although the bacteria are destroyed by the heat while canning, if the jars are left open any time the bacteria in the air attach themselves to the fruit, and thus produce fermentation.

Prof. Burrell describes a glass bottle having a small curved glass tube opening into it in which for several years he kept chicken broth as fresh as when first cooked. This bent tube is so arranged that while the air passes into it, it passes from downward upward in such a way that the bacteria fail to take the circuitous journey from the air of the room to the chicken broth. The broth before being put into the bottle was boiled and was put into the bottle and sealed while hot. Heating to 212 F. sterilizes milk, that is, the heat dest

The Journal.

FRIDAY EVENING, APRIL 24, 1896.

LOCAL NOTICES.

The ladies of the Congregational church will give their annual May breakfast and dinner in the vestry May 1st. Your patronage solicited.

Anyone reading this and wishing to sell warranted nursery stock on salary will do well to write to W. D. Chase Co., Nurserymen, Boston.

SUPERINTENDENT OF AGENCIES.—Mr. Henry H. Kohn, of the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Company of Hartford, Ct., will be at the Converse House, in Palmer, in a day or two. Mr. Kohn is desirous of securing an energetic and wide-awake man to act as general agent for this old and popular company for the district. We can cordially recommend the Phoenix to those desiring to secure a profitable and permanent position. Letters should be addressed to him care of the hotel.

PALMER NEWS.

MORE ABOUT STARVED HORSES.

G. W. Ely Claims His Horses Have Been Well Fed, but are Sick.

It was the turn of the defense in the cases against G. W. Ely for starving his horses, in the district court last Friday and Saturday, and it must be admitted that from the evidence submitted Mr. Ely made out a very good showing. There were seven counts in all, the one on which particular emphasis was laid being that relating to a bay stallion. Witnesses for the prosecution all agreed that the animal was practically skin and bones, that it had sores upon its hips, was hidebound and blind, was so weak that it could scarcely stand, but was not sick, its weakness being caused by lack of food. The animal also has a knocked-down hip, which was alleged to have been caused by its emaciated condition. Mr. Ely admitted that the animal was very poor, but claimed that this condition was not due to a lack of proper food. It had the distemper about a year ago he says, and has never fully recovered. It has not been able to eat well since, and suffered frequent attacks of colic. For this reason he has not been able to feed the animal enough to keep it in good condition, but has given it all it could eat without bringing on colic. He denies that the animal is in the condition alleged by the prosecution; that it has a great deal more strength than is stated by the prosecution, and that it is not hidebound. Mr. Ely admitted being obliged to raise the horse after it had been lying down, but says that this was on account of the condition of the hip which has been knocked down, and not because of weakness on the part of the horse. The witnesses for the defense agree that the horse is able to walk a long distance; that he shows no particular weakness, and he is not hidebound.

Regarding the other horses the prosecution alleges that they are all very poor, caused by a lack of proper care and sufficient feed. Several witnesses testified as to the condition of things at Mr. Ely's barn at various times. They saw very little hay or grain in the barn, everything going to show a lack of proper feeding.

In defense Mr. Ely offered evidence as to the amount of feed he had bought and taken to the stable; also that it had not been taken away. As it is not there now it must have been fed to the horses. Expert testimony as to the amount of hay necessary for proper feeding was shown, and he claimed that he had fed more than was absolutely necessary. He admitted that the animals were thin, but that their condition was due to other causes than insufficient feeding. There has been more or less distemper among them, and they have been lousy. His aim has been to keep them in as good condition as possible, without attempting to fatten them, and he thinks they are in a fair condition to turn out to pasture, where they will thrive well. Miss Hattie N. Joslyn, who has made her home in Mr. Ely's family for a dozen years or more, testified that the horses were fed sometimes four times a day, and that to her knowledge there never had been a time when any of them lacked food.

The evidence on the two sides was decidedly contradictory, there being such a wide range of difference that Judge Robinson decided to reserve his decision for a week, and in the meantime see the animals for himself. Accordingly he and Agent Anderson visited the horses Saturday afternoon, and a decision is expected to-morrow morning.

The Street Sprinkling Question.

The sub-committee of the Palmer Business and Social club which was appointed to investigate the matter of sprinkling the streets held a meeting Tuesday evening. Not much was developed except that H. D. Converse will not do the work for less than $100 per month, and has not yet received subscriptions to that amount. Other people have been willing to do the work in the past, but have been deterred from making any move in the matter because of a contract which Mr. Converse had with the water company giving him the exclusive right to the water for street sprinkling purposes. This should not prevent any person from going into the street sprinkling business if they wish, as it is pretty generally conceded that the water company would, under its charter, be compelled to furnish water; it has no right to give one person water for a certain purpose to the exclusion of all others who wish it for a similar purpose. If the water company serves one it must serve all. The whole question is dormant at present, no move being made by any person so far as can be learned.

Special Fire District Meeting.

A special fire district meeting is called for a week from to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the district court room, to see what action the district will take toward securing a supply of water for fire protection. At the annual meeting the prudential committee was instructed to make a contract with the Palmer Water company for $1000 provided the company would include water for sprinkling the streets. This the company refuses to do, claiming that the $1000 is little enough for the 60 hydrants which it furnishes the district. As the prudential committee was instructed to include the water for the streets in the contract at that price, and as the water company refuses to give it, it is necessary to call another meeting.

Another article is to see if the district will purchase a chemical engine. It is claimed that this would be very useful in many cases of small fires, and would oftentimes save much damage from water.

Attempt to Pass a Forged Check.

An unsuccessful attempt was made last Saturday night to pass a forged check on J. J. Shea, proprietor of the night lunch cart. He has been in the habit of cashing time checks for the convenience of some of the railroad employes, and when a man came to the window of the cart Saturday night and asked him if he could cash a check for $8 he supposed that it was one of these. He handed the fellow a dollar just as the fellow passed in the check, which he then saw was drawn on the Palmer National bank, made payable to bearer, and bore the name of Merrill Stebbins. He began to scrutinize the check, and the fellow took to his heels with the dollar. Shea notified Deputy Sheriff Studley as soon as p ssible and search was made for the man, but he has not been found, and there is little or no clew as to who he was. Shea did not get a good look at him, and several others who saw the fellow have all described him differently.

New Industry in Palmer.

For months there have been rumors that a granite quarry was to be opened on the land between the village and the carpet mill known as Dewey's Hill, but nothing definite about the matter could be learned until Monday, when a gang of men commenced work there preparatory to opening a quarry. They are in charge of W. S. York, an old and experienced quarryman. Samples of the stone were taken out some time last fall, and a test of the U. S. government shows it to be among the best in the country, having a strength of 20,610 pounds to the inch. The quarry will operate under the name of the Palmer Granite Co. Mr. H. B. May, recently of Lee, Mass., and Albany, N. Y., is largely interested in the work, and will remain in Palmer to superintend the business.

Dr. G. H. Wilkins is painting his house on Pleasant street.

Rev. Fred Viger will preach in the Advent chapel next Sunday.

C. D. Holbrook is building an addition to his Knox street residence.

H. P. Holden's house on Central street is receiving a fresh coat of paint.

The Smith Grocery Co. is to put in a water motor to run its coffee mill.

Miss Hattie Blanchard spent Sunday and Monday with her mother in Palmer.

Mrs. G. A. Wason of Nashua, N. H., is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. G. H. Wilkins.

Rufus Stimson will preach in the Congregational church next Sunday morning.

A regular meeting of the school board will be held next Monday evening at 7 o'clock.

Mrs. Henry Atkins has returned from an extended stay with friends in Somerville.

Miss M. C. McDonald has a new sign over the door of her millinery establishment.

Rev. C. R. Minard has been spending the week at his home in the eastern part of the state.

The trustees of the Massachusetts hospital for epileptics held a meeting in this place yesterday.

Services at the usual hours next Sunday, the third after Easter, at St. Thomas's Catholic church.

The profits of the Easter kermess, held last Friday evening by St. Thomas's association, were $222.

A Palmer history article, on Washington's visit to Palmer, will be found on the fourth page of this issue.

The first real thunder shower of the season came last Friday, and was followed by another on Sunday.

The Main street bridge over the tracks of the Boston and Albany railroad was replanked last Sunday.

About 20 acres of land formerly used as a farm by the state primary school, is being plowed and seeded down.

Miss Mary McGuire of Lowell, who has been visiting her parents at the carpet mill, has returned to her home.

Misses Sadie and Jessie Whiting of Forest Lake spent a part of last week with the Misses Todd and Henighan.

The Ladies' Tuesday Social Club will hold its last meeting of the season next Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. W. E. Stone.

The Mt. Bunyan Granite company has furnished 60 or 70 stone posts with which to mark the bounds of the land of the epileptic hospital.

A regular meeting of the members of St. Paul's church will be held next Tuesday evening at 7 30, a preparatory service before communion.

May N. Whitcomb, wife of W. F. Whitcomb, was adjudged an insane person in the district court this morning, and was taken to the hospital at Northampton.

The prosecuting committee has requested the selectmen not to grant any druggists' licenses this year. None of the druggists have applied for a license as yet.

The theme of the sermon at the Universalist church next Sunday morning will be, "Through Samaria." In the evening Joseph Page will give an address on "Convenient excuses."

At a meeting of the Young Men's Library association Monday evening it was voted to tender the use of one of the rooms in the building to the selectmen and assessors if they desired it.

The insurance rate on the Odd Fellows' building, which has never been rated officially, has been fixed this week, and is 1½ per cent on the building, 2 per cent on the scenery and 1½ on other contents.

George N. Stone has been drawn as a grand juror, James Sharp and Matthew Gloster as jurors for the May term of the superior court, C. L. Holden and G. H. Fisherdick as jurors for the supreme court.

The attractions at the opera house during May will be the "Dr. Bill" comedy company the 5th, and Richard Golden in "Old Jed Prouty" the 21st. Several fine attractions have been booked for next fall and winter.

Two civil cases were entered in the district court last Saturday, C. W. Robinson, et al, against Franklin L. Pierce, both of Palmer; Joseph E. Holbrook against John Sedgwick and trustee, both of Palmer. Both cases were for action of contract.

Thomas lodge of Masons is making extensive arrangements for the celebration next December of the centennial of the institution of the lodge. The anniversary comes on the 13th, which will be Sunday, so the celebration will be held on the 15th.

Last week was a record breaker for April in the matter of warm weather, the temperature averaging about 20 degrees above normal. At Palmer the mercury touched 85 in the shade on Sunday. There was a sharp frost Wednesday night, but no damage was done.

The bell of the Congregational church failed to give its usual announcement of the services last Sunday. The sexton had sounded only one stroke in the morning when a part of the casting supporting the bell broke, rendering it useless until repairs were made.

Judge Robinson was in Boston yesterday and to-day attending the session of the grand council of the Royal Arcanum, of which he is past grand regent. He is also a delegate from Massachusetts to the session of the supreme council, to be held in Savannah, Ga., in May.

The directors of the Eastern Hampden Agricultural society held a meeting yesterday and voted to place the care of the park in the hands of G. C. Flynt and C. K. Gamwell. The premium list was partly revised, and another meeting will be held next Thursday to complete the work.

Mrs. J. F. Holbrook was called to Somerville Sunday afternoon by telephone on account of the illness of her son, Henry W., a student at Tufts College, who is sick with diphtheria in the Somerville hospital. His condition was so critical Sunday that he was told he could not live, but he has somewhat improved, and it is hoped and expected will ultimately recover.

A Brattleboro lad less than 16 years of age was fined $5 in the district court last Saturday for drunkenness. He was employed as a spare hand on the Central Vermont road, and on his first down the day before drank port wine which was procured by other men at Miller's Falls; at Palmer he secured several glasses of beer in a saloon, and was found badly intoxicated.

A large number of delegates from this vicinity gathered at the passenger station Monday morning to attend the Christian Endeavor convention at Holyoke, round-trip tickets from Palmer to Springfield having been advertised, and the advance programmes sent out at 45 cents. The railroads knew nothing about the matter, however, and it cost the delegates 72 cents.

Henry Dockery was arrested a week ago last Saturday night for drunkenness, and was released Sunday on his promise to appear in court Monday morning. He disappeared however, and did not return until last Saturday, when he was apprehended. He was bailed out until Tuesday morning, when his case was further continued until to-morrow. He has taken the pledge in the meantime, and is looking for work.

Thomas lodge of Masons held a special meeting Tuesday evening and worked the third degree on two candidates, after which a collation was served. Grand Lecturer Peck of Wilbraham and District Deputy Grand Master Clark of Granby were present, also a delegation from Vernon lodge of Belchertown. At the regular meeting next Monday evening the second degree will be worked on three candidates.

The captains of two ball nines in this village—F. White and M. Dillon—say that they have tried to arrange games with the Palmer Center nine whose names were printed last week over a request to hear from other nines, and that the Palmer Center nine refuses to play them, although the ages of the Palmer players average less than those at Palmer Center. The Palmer nines are ready to try conclusions with the other nine at any time.

A lively runaway took place on Main street Saturday afternoon, when a colt owned and driven by Arthur Smith ran from Knox street through Main and up Central streets. Mr. Smith was in the buggy, but had no control over the animal. At the turn up Central street the buggy hit E. L. Davis and knocked him down, but he was not seriously hurt, and was able to walk home in a short time. Mr. Smith was thrown out and his leg badly bruised.

The Palmer Rod and Gun club has chosen these officers: President, S. B. Keith; vice president, G. E. Buck; secretary, G. A. Moore; treasurer, W. J. Keith; trap manager, F. L. Dunn; these and F. J. Adams constitute the board of directors. The club had its first shoot of the season Monday afternoon, at which J. F. Adams carried off the honors with a score of 15 out of 20 clay pigeons; Silas Keith, James Dewey and F. L. Gunn scored 11 each.

The public schools were closed on Monday, in observance of Patriots' Day, although it was not so intended last week. On Sunday it was discovered that the present Legislature had passed a bill March 18th making the following Monday a holiday when the 19th of April came on Sunday. Superintendent Small hustled around and by liberal use of the telephone announced the fact that the schools would be closed on Monday, much to the joy of the scholars.

Samuel LaChapelle and Frank Julian of Sturbridge were arranged in the district court yesterday morning for obstructing the flow of water from a reservoir in Holland, the property of the Hamilton Woolen Co. of Southbridge. They had been putting a screen in the stream below the reservoir, then shutting down the gate and after the water had run away capturing the fish. They pleaded guilty and were held in $500 bonds each for the May term of the superior court.

William Allen, 71, died at the Nassowanno House yesterday morning about 8 30 from the effects of a paralytic shock Wednesday evening which affected one side. He was at the stable when he became afflicted, and was taken to the hotel, but nothing could be done for him. He was a veteran of the late war, and recently drew a pension. He expected to go to the national soldiers' home in Togus, Me., yesterday morning, his papers and transportation having been procured. He leaves three sons and two daughters.

About 175,000 feet of lumber and a large quantity of wood belonging to J. A. Palmer was burned Monday afternoon along the line of the Ware River railroad just north of Forest Lake. It is said the fire was started by sparks from Warner's train north at noon. The 3 15 train from Palmer for Winchendon was delayed about 15 minutes, the blaze being so hot that the cars could not pass. A special train and 15 men went from Palmer to aid the section gang from Thorndike put out the fire. The loss was about $3000.

Leonard Aldrich, formerly of Palmer, now keeper of the Putnam, Ct., town farm, writes that it may be interesting to Palmer people to compare the number of tramps cared for in their town last year with the record at Putnam. Palmer cared for 366 tramps during the year, while 2446 were lodged and fed by Mr. Aldrich at the Putnam almshouse during the same time; the record month was November, with 382, while there were only 13 in July. During the first seven days of the present month he cared for 125.

Palmer friends of W. H. Whiting, principal of the Greenfield high school, will be pleased to learn that he has decided to withdraw his resignation, which was announced last week. The school committee voted unanimously to request him to reconsider his action, and a large number of citizens signed a similar request, stating that, "believing that his work as a teacher and influence as a man have been good, we think it desirable that he should be retained at the head of the school;" 112 of the 113 pupils present at the school last Friday also signed a request for him to remain.

The church banquet in St. Paul's Universalist church Tuesday evening was unusually enjoyable and helpful. About 100 sat down to a bountiful supper in the dining room, prepared by the ladies of the congregation. After supper the pastor, Rev. H. F. Moulton, introduced Rev. Charles Conklin of Springfield, the district missionary, who spoke on "The parishioner in relation to his congregation;" Rev. Harry Blackford of Monson, "The relation of the pews to the pulpit;" W. L. Ricketts of Monson, "The parishioner as a drummer in the parish;" Irving Smith of Somerville, "The layman in the parish;" Rev. Marion Crossley of Norwich, "The preacher in the parish."

The Providence, R. I., News has the following to say of J. E. Toole and "Killarney and the Rhine," which will appear at the opera house next Tuesday evening:

Two large and delightful audiences congregated at the Providence opera house Monday afternoon and evening to witness the initial performance of the great dramatic success of three countries, entitled, "Killarney and the Rhine," as presented by the favorite German comedian, J. E. Toole. As the name implies, the piece is an admixture of Celtic wit and Teuton humor, and during the action of the play many unctious incidents and novel situations are evolved. Mr. Toole appeared as Conrad, a young German, who removed to Ireland and settled there and became the peacemaker of the village where he resided. His work was very fine and elicited frequent applause. His singing and dancing were features of the performance.

The annual May breakfast and dinner by the ladies of the Congregational church will be given in the church vestry next Friday, with the usual array of good things to eat. Mrs. Joseph King, whose presence in the kitchen has had so important a bearing on the success of the event in past years, will come from Westerly, R. I., to preside in that department, while Mrs. John Sedgwick and Mrs. J. C. Wing will have charge of the dining room. Breakfast will be served from 6 to 8, and dinner from 12 to 2. In connection there will be a sale of useful and fancy articles, under the auspices of the lend-a-hand club of the church, which will begin at 7 30. Breakfast will be 35 cents and dinner 50 cents, with these menus:

BREAKFAST.

Fruit.
Broiled Shad.
Sirloin Steak. Bacon. Veal Steak.
Eggs—Boiled, Fried, Scrambled.
Potatoes—Fried, Baked, Creamed.
Hot Rolls, Corn Cake, Brown Bread, Doughnuts.
Tea. Coffee.

DINNER.

Tomato Soup.
Baked Shad. Potato Salad.
Lobster.
Roast Beef. Stuffed Veal.
Spring Lamb, Green Peas.
Mashed Potatoes, Tomatoes, Corn, Lettuce.
Mince, Squash, Cocoanut, Lemon Pie.
Spanish Cream. Tapioca Cream.
Coffee Jelly.
Nuts. Tea. Coffee.

PALMER CENTER.

Mrs. Horace Hamilton is sick with rheumatism.

Rufus and Hattie Stimson are visiting at home this week.

Mrs. Hannah Bacon is able to sit up again, after being sick for some time.

Mrs. Burpee was called to Easthampton Friday by the sickness of Mrs. George Burpee.

Miss Mary Crimmins has gone to Pawtucket for her health, where she will be the guest of Dr. Kelliher and mother, formerly of this place.

THREE RIVERS.

Do not fail to attend the annual May breakfast and dinner in the Congregational church, Palmer, next Friday.

Willie Trumble of Indian Orchard is the guest of S. P. Gauthier.

Thomas McWhorter of Springfield spent Sunday with S. B. Barnes.

The cottage prayer meeting met at the home of Ralph Jones on Monday evening.

William Kuss, who has been seriously sick, returned to his work on Wednesday.

The Ladies' Home circle met at the home of Mrs. J. W. Cheney Wednesday afternoon.

The mill did not run Monday on account it being Patriots' Day, but ran all day Tuesday.

Mrs. H. C. Brown gave an interesting talk to the Junior Endeavors last Saturday afternoon.

Emery Paine has moved from his tenement to the house formerly occupied by Mr. Korff.

Pariseau has left his position as butcher for J. B. Brown & Co., his successor being Mr. Barber.

Mr. and Mrs. George Proctor of Windsor, Vt., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison this week.

Mrs. T. C. Holt has been called to Danielsonville, Ct., on account of the illness of her mother.

Charles Ackley has resigned his position in the Palmer Mill, and will return to his in Maine to-morrow.

Miss Ethel Hayes of Bondsville, who has been visiting her cousin, Miss Alice Lupien, returned to her home Monday evening.

John H. Willis, who has been visiting his brother, Herbert Willis, returned to his home in Minneapolis, Minn., last week.

Shaw Bro's. horse ran away on the Island Monday, running into the bridge and smashing the wagon to pieces. Nobody was hurt, and the horse was caught opposite the depot.

The officers of Palmer lodge, A. O. U. W., visited Mt. Pleasant lodge of Chicopee Tuesday afternoon to witness the degree work in the amplified form.

At the Baptist church next Sunday there will be preaching by Rev. E. A. Thomas at 10 45 a. m., and in the evening the sixth and last sermon in the Prodigal Son series will be given. The subject will be, "The welcome home."

THORNDIKE.

Get your May breakfast and dinner at Palmer next Friday.

Miss Katie O'Donnell of Holyoke is visiting friends here.

The Misses Walker of Worcester are the guests of their aunt, Mrs Hudson.

The Columbian Band gave another concert from the band stand on Monday.

Frank Foss of Boston is visiting friends here, and is the guest of F. E. Walker.

Loftus & Williams have disposed of their patent ice crusher to New York parties.

Sabin Parker, wife and son of Springfield, are the guests of his brother, A. J. Parker.

T. J. Clifford returned on Monday from a short vacation spent at his home in Millbury.

Rev. G. M. Gerrish attended the Hampden conference held at Chester on Wednesday.

Patriots' Day was observed by the closing of the schools and the shutting down of the mills.

Mrs. L. L. Keith of Gardner returned home on Monday, after visiting with friends here.

The After Nine club expects to hold another banquet in a few weeks at the club rooms.

Miss Bessie Shea is enjoying a visit at the home of her brother, John Shea, in Northampton.

A Doctor Martin of New Haven was in town this week, looking over the ground with a view of locating here.

The ladies of the Congregational church are making arrangements for the annual May supper which will be given next month.

The Ladies' Benevolent society held a meeting on Wednesday at Mrs. C. B. Talmage's, to make preparations for the May dinner next Friday.

Raymond, the three-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Riley, died of pneumonia on Thursday of last week. The funeral was held on Friday.

Four Poles had a narrow escape from drowning one day the past week while fishing near the Pickerel Pond from a boat, which capsized.

The remains of Mildred, the four-years-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Williams, were removed from the tomb last week and taken to Augusta, Me., for burial.

The Thorndikes played their opening game of the season here on Saturday with the Wheelrights, and were victorious by a score of 14 to 8. The features of the game were the hitting of Sugrue and Connor's catching.

A large black snake was seen by parties who were picking arbutus on Mayflower hill on Sunday, and according to reports it showed fight and chased the parties away. It was thought to be about 7 or 8 feet long.

The evening talk at the Congregational church last Sunday was in keeping with the thought naturally suggested by Patriots' Day. The pastor will use for the subject of his sermon next Sunday morning, "A city without a church."

The Thorndike Company has commenced work on an addition to the tower in the rear of their No. 2 mill, in which they will place a large tank capable of holding several hundred gallons of water, for use in case of fire. Automatic fire sprinklers will be put in throughout the mill. The company has recently purchased a large steam pump from the Knowles pump works at Warren.

BONDSVILLE.

Annual May breakfast and dinner at Palmer, May 1st. Don't miss it.

Miss Ethel Hayes spent Sunday in Three Rivers.

H. A. Sedgwick of Athol is visiting at Richard Russell's.

M. F. Fenton spent last Sunday with his sister in Huntington.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Darling were in Monson last Sunday.

The W. C. T. U. will meet next Thursday with Mrs. O. A. Parent.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lamb have a daughter, born the 16th.

Mrs. Frank Mason of Palmer is visiting her father, Warren Bond.

C. O. Walker and family of West Warren visited O. A. Parent Monday.

Rev. F. J. Hale and family left Monday for their new home in Holyoke.

The King's Daughters met at Mrs. Thomas Bruce's Monday evening.

Richard Russell spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Russell.

Alexander Adams sold his complete stock of horses and wagons yesterday at public auction.

Mrs. George Moulton, who has been ill for some time with rheumatism, is now much better.

The final ball game in the series between the repair shop and bleach house nines will take place to-morrow afternoon.

Rev. James W. Fulton, a former pastor, called last Saturday on friends here, on his way to his new appointment in Ware.

The Bondsville baseball nine went to Indian Orchard Monday and was defeated by the nine there, the score being 21 to 20.

A petition has been circulated in the village asking that no licenses be granted to that part of Belchertown adjoining Bondsville.

Last week's burglars didn't get much in this town, as they found less than 50 cents at the station. They did some damage to the door in getting in, however.

William R. Newhall, principal of Wesleyan Academy, will preach in the M. E. church Sunday morning, and will hold the first quarterly conference for Presiding Elder Thorndike.

The entertainment which was to have been given this evening by young ladies from Boston, under the auspices of the Epworth League, has been postponed on account of serious illness in the family of one of the ladies. Arrangements will probably be made for it to be given later.

An auction sale of the real estate and personal property of the late Luther Collis will be held on the premises next Thursday at 9 o'clock a. m. The real estate consists of two houses, a barn, about 35 acres of choice land and seven building lots in Bondsville, and 32 acres across the river in Belchertown, also a wood-lot of 27 acres.

The ball game last Saturday between the employes of the bleachery and repair shop was an interesting as well as an amusing affair, and was witnessed by quite a large number of people. There were many special features worthy of mention, particularly the battery work of Donahue and Alexander, the fielding of Mansfield, the coaching of Bruce, and Collins's slide to third. C. N. Shaw officiated as umpire, and the way he chased himself around the diamond was marvellous indeed. When the game was finally brought to a close the score stood 23 to 18 in favor of the repair shop nine. Another game will be played to-morrow afternoon.

Ryan—Shea.

Miss Mary Ryan, a very popular young lady of this place, and John Shea, also of this place, were married at 10 o'clock Wednesday in St. Bartholmew's church by Rev. B. F. McKeany, high mass being held. The bride wore a gown of cream cashmere trimmed with lace and ribbon. Miss Mary Donovan, the bridesmaid, wore a becoming gown of blue, with white hat and gloves. The groomsman was Mr. Mahaney of Springfield. The bridal party drove to the home of the bride, where a dinner was served, after which they took the 3 o'clock train for Worcester. Mr. Shea has been for five years in the army. He returned to Bondsville this winter.

BORN.

At Bondsville, 16th, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lamb.

MARRIED.

At Monson, 23d, by Rev. Harry Blackford, John A. Sault and Cora E. Webber.

At Hampden, 17th, Theodore Griswold and Mrs. Myra Beebe.

DIED.

At Palmer, 23d, William Allen, 71.
At Brimfield, 18th, George Whitehouse, 69.
At Brimfield, 18th, Austin N. Moulton, 73.
At Springfield, 19th, Mrs. Delisa T. Paige, 43, wife of Allen H. Warner, and daughter of the late Dea. Paul W. Paige of Brimfield.

TO RENT.—Two tenements on Fox avenue. tf-44 Apply to G. S. HOLDEN.

TO RENT.—Good up and down stairs tenement, six rooms, on Spring street. tf-4 GEORGE A. KEITH, Palmer.

FOR SALE.—Cherry chamber set, black walnut extension dining table, and kitchen range, all in good order. Enquire at house of C. B. FISKE.

FOR SALE.—Buff Cochin and Plymouth Rock eggs for hatching. Won prizes at Palmer, Northampton, Stafford and Providence. tf 38 C. RALPH LEGRO, Palmer, Mass.

FOR SALE.—White and yellow pine wood, $2.50 per cord, delivered. Plymouth Rock and Brown Leghorn eggs for setting. 4-2 H. CHAPMAN, Palmer.

PASTURE of 28 acres, well fenced, to rent, or will take stock to pasture by the week, at a low price. ROAD CART and skeleton wagon for sale. tf-1 D. F. HOLDEN, Palmer.

SETTING EGGS FOR SALE.—Buff cochins, Plymouth Rocks, Polands, Houdans, silver hamburgs, light brahmas, minorcas. $1 for 15 eggs. 4-3 JOHN RILEY, Thorndike.

FOR SALE.—Estate of the late Mrs. Evans; frame house of 10 rooms; large barn; wash room and woodshed combined; 13 acres land, mowing, pasturing; fruit trees, etc. Address, "ESTATE," JOURNAL Office.

EGGS from Chapin's barred and white Plymouth Rocks. Best pens of barred $2 per 13. Good pens $1 per 13. White $1.50 per 13. 30 eggs double the price of 13. Large early laying stock. Winners at Palmer, Springfield, Stafford and other fairs. GEORGE A. CHAPIN, Hampden, Mass. tf-1

ODD FELLOWS' OPERA HOUSE, Tuesday Eve., April 28.

The magnetic German dialect and singing comedian, J. E. TOOLE, in his greatest success,

"KILLARNEY AND THE RHINE."

Seats at Allen's, Thursday, 23d. Special train leaves Monson at 7.20. Seats at Keeney's.

GEER'S HORSE RADISH, 10c. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

NOTICE.—The third meeting of the creditors of the Rogers-Osgood Hat Company, of Palmer, Mass., insolvent corporation, will be held at the Court of Insolvency for Hampden County, at Springfield, in said county, on the twenty-second day of May next, at 2.30 o'clock in the afternoon, at which meeting creditors may be present and prove their claims.

The assignee's account will then be presented and creditors may then and there appear and object to the allowance thereof.

CHARLES G. GARDNER, Assignee.
Palmer, Mass., April 22d, 1896. 2-4

Good looking people

usually have good teeth. LeGRO'S TOOTH POWDER will keep the teeth white, gums healthy and breath pure.

LeGro & Lynde, Druggists,
Next to Post Office, Palmer.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the subscriber has been duly appointed administrator of the estate of Luther Collis, late of Palmer, in the County of Hampden, deceased, intestate, and has taken upon himself that trust by giving bonds, as the law directs. All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to TIMOTHY D. POTTER, Administrator.
Springfield, April 1st, 1896. 2-3

NEW MODEL CIGARS, 5c. W. E. STONE, Main St., Palmer.

Fairy Stories for the Children.

The JOURNAL will commence, in its issue of May 8th, the publication of a series of original fairy stories especially for the children.

These stories have never before been in print, and will be illustrated with engravings made especially for the purpose.

The JOURNAL has secured the exclusive right to print these stories in this vicinity, and will continue them for at least three months.

All children will want to read them, and should watch for the first number.

PRICE LIST.

	Credit.	Cash.
1-4 lb. Cassia,	.10	.06
" " Cloves,	.10	.06
" " Allspice,	.10	.06
" " Nutmeg.	.20	.17
1 lb. Cocoanut,	.35	.25
1 " Oolong Tea,	.50	.40
1 " Corn Starch,	.10	.08
1 " Best Raisins,	.10.	.08
1 " " Rice,	.10	.08
1 " " Tapioca,	.10	.07
1 package Soapine,	.10	.09
1 cake Sapolio,	.10	.08
1 " Bon Ami,	.10	.08
1 bottle Ammonia,	.10	.08
1 bag Worcester Salt,	.10	.08
1 bottle Cotton's Vanilla,	.30	.25
	$2.55	$1.97

You pay the grocer over 20 per cent for credit. Can you afford this?

BUY OF

SMITH.

AND SAVE THAT 20 PER CENT.

59 Main St., Palmer.

AUCTION!

Real estate. On the premises, at

BONDSVILLE, MASS.,

THURSDAY, APRIL 30, 1896, at 9 o'clock a. m.

To settle the estate of the late Luther Collis, all the real and personal property belonging to said estate will be sold to the highest bidder.

Two houses, barn, about 35 acres of choice land, and 7 building lots, in Bondsville. 32 acres just over the river, in Belchertown.

The above to be divided to suit. Taken together would make a home in a live manufacturing village, with land so situated that it could be improved at a profit.

Also about 3 acres near the cemetery in South Belchertown, valuable for the sand bank upon it.

Also a 27-acre wood lot, near Leach's crossing, Belchertown. Some extra large pine and chestnut timber.

Household goods, farming tools, wagons, hay, grain, potatoes, vinegar, etc.

Terms and conditions made known at time of sale.

T. D. POTTER, Administrator.
GUY C. ALLEN, Auctioneer.
Springfield, Mass., April 14th, 1896. 1 4

ASSESSORS' NOTICE.

To the Inhabitants and other Persons liable to pay Taxes in the Town of Palmer for the Year 1896:

The Assessors of the Town of Palmer hereby give notice to the inhabitants of said town, and all other persons liable to pay taxes therein, that they will receive at the Town House on Friday, the first day of May next, the valuation of estates, and all persons liable to be taxed in said town are hereby notified to bring in to us true and perfect lists of all Polls (males twenty years old and upwards), and schedules and estimates of the Personal and Real Estates for which they are liable to pay taxes in said town, possessed by them on the first day of May next.

MORTGAGED REAL ESTATE.

Any Mortgagor or Mortgagee of Real Estate situated within this town may bring in to the undersigned Assessors, within the time above specified, a statement under oath, of the amount due on each separate lot or parcel of such Real Estate, and the name and residence of every holder of an interest as a Mortgagor or Mortgagee therein. When only a part of the property described in any mortgage is situated within this town, an estimate of the amount of the Mortgagee's interest in such part; or when a recorded mortgage includes for one sum two or more estates or parts of an estate, an estimate of the amount of the Mortgagee's interest in each estate or part of an estate shall be given in such statement.—Chapter 175 of the Acts of 1882.

CHAPTER ELEVEN OF THE PUBLIC STATUES.

SECTION 14. "When any person has an interest in taxable real estate, as holder of a duly recorded mortgage, given to secure the payment of money, the amount of which is fixed and certain, the amount of his interest as Mortgagee shall be assessed as Real Estate in the place where the land lies; and the Mortgagor shall be assessed only for the value of said Real Estate after deducting the assessed value of all such Mortgagee's interests therein. When such property is situated in two or more places, the amount of the Mortgagee's interest to be assessed in each place shall be proportioned to the assessed value in the respective places of the mortgaged Real Estate, deducting therefrom the taxable amount of prior mortgages, if any, therein."

SECTION 15. "If any holder of such a mortgage fails to file in the Assessor's office a statement under oath of all his estate liable to taxation under the preceding section, including a statement of the full amount remaining unpaid upon such mortgage and of his interest therein, the amount stated in the mortgage shall be conclusive as to the extent of such interest; but the Mortgagee's interest in such real estate shall not be assessed at a greater sum than the fair cash valuation of the land and structures thereon or affixed thereto; and the amount of a mortgage interest in an estate that has been divided after the creation of of such mortgage shall not be required to be apportioned upon the several parts of such estate, except as provided in sections eighty-one to eighty-three inclusively."

SECTION 16. "Mortgagors and Mortgagees referred to in the two preceding sections shall, for the purpose of taxation, be deemed joint owners until the Mortgagee takes possession; and until such possession is taken by the first Mortgagee, the Assessors or the Collector of Taxes, upon application to any one of them, shall give to any such Mortgagee or Mortgagor a tax bill showing the whole tax on the mortgaged estate and the amount included in the valuation thereof as the interests of each Mortgagee and of the Mortgagor respectively. If the first mortgagee is in possession he shall be deemed sole owner; and any other mortgagees in possession shall be deemed joint owner with prior mortgagees."

When a statement in conformity to the law above quoted is brought in, the Real Estate therein returned will be assessed under sections 14, 15 and 16 of Chapter Eleven of Public Statutes. But in cases where the Mortgagee of the Real Estate has agreed in writing to pay all taxes assessed thereon, no statement or return is required from either Mortgagee or Mortgagor, unless requested by the Assessors in writing.

H. T. BISHOP, JOHN O. HAMILTON, A. A. WARRINER, } Assessors of Palmer.

Palmer, Mass., April 11th, 1896. 3-2

SPECIAL FIRE DISTRICT MEETING.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.—HAMPDEN SS.

To the qualified voters of Fire District No. 1 of Palmer. You are hereby notified to meet at the court room of the District Court of Eastern Hampden in said Palmer, on Saturday, the second day of May next at two o'clock in the afternoon to act on the following articles, viz.:

ARTICLE 1. To choose a moderator to preside at said meeting.

ART. 2. To see what action the District will take regarding a supply of water for fire and other purposes.

ART. 3. To see if the District will vote to purchase a chemical engine, or make any other provision for the extinguishment of fire.

ART. 4. To raise and appropriate all necessary sums of money.

Given under my hand this twenty-second day of April, 1896.

F. D. BARTON,
2-4 Clerk of Fire District No. 1 of Palmer.

Meekins, Packard & Wheat.

Housekeepers== Attention!

We have added to our housekeeping department a line of Oil and Gas Ranges.

You know their convenience during the warm months. Now is your time to purchase, and we can save you money.

Two burner oil ranges. Top 24x14 inches. 13 inches high. Frame and top of steel. Removable chimneys of Russia iron. Large oil reservoir, oil indicators. Doors for lighting, no dirt pockets to catch wick trimmings. A range light, portable and very strong—thoroughly up to date.

OUR PRICE $4.50.

Two burner range, 36 inches high,

OUR PRICE $4.

Two burner gas ranges. Top 14x24 inches. 17 inches high, with oven 15x14x12 inches, having extra large double burner inside. Entire range, excepting burners, grates and gas cocks, made of sheet steel.

OUR PRICE $5.

Gas and oil stoves, ovens made of tin plate and Russia iron, full lined. Also wicks for oil stoves. Basement.

Chamber Sets.

25 per cent saved on your purchase. Isn't it worth looking into?

Then inspect the two carloads of chamber sets just placed on our floors. They are the greatest values we have shown at any time for the money. Fourth floor.

Straw Mattings.

Judging from the business we are doing in this line there cannot be a doubt as to our leading in this line of floor coverings.

Plain and fancy Japan and China mattings—enough to supply every demand. Cost takes second place. Basement.

MEEKINS, PACKARD & WHEAT,
SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

A Man With X Ray Eyes.

A Phenomenon of Nature in Springfield.

"There are many more things in Heaven and earth Horatio, than are dream

The Journal.

FRIDAY EVENING, APRIL 24, 1896.

NEIGHBORHOOD NOTES.

MONSON.

LOCAL NOTICES.

For sale cheap.—Second-hand, A 1 condition, ladies' Columbia and ladies' Hartford. C. A. Bradway, agent Columbia and Hartford cycles.

Annual May breakfast and dinner at the Congregational church, Palmer, next Friday. Breakfast 6.30 to 9, dinner 12 to 2. Lots of good things to eat. Usual sale of fancy articles.

25 Dollars Reward.

The above reward will be paid to any person for evidence that shall lead to the prosecution and conviction of any one engaged in the illegal sale of spirituous liquors or intoxicating drinks in the town of Monson.

J. H. THOMPSON,
C. C. KEEP,
H. SQUIER,
} Prosecuting Committee.

Runaway Accident.

Misses Minnie L. Gilligan and Mary Anderson, Messrs. Frank L. Severy and Eugene Cook had a narrow escape from a serious accident about 7.30 Tuesday evening. They had started with a pair of Ralph Clifford's horses to drive to Stafford to attend a ball. When coming down Academy hill one of the horses kicked over the traces and the pair started on a run, and at the Monson House the occupants of the carriage were thrown out and the carriage was overturned and demolished. The horses were stopped, and the ladies were carried into the hotel unconscious, and Drs. Euller and Jackson were summoned. Miss Gilligan was hurt about the face and back, Miss Anderson received a blow on the forehead which was very painful, Mr. Cook's wrist was slightly sprained, and Mr. Severy's face was bruised. All are now able to be out.

Her Arm Amputated.

Mrs. William Stone of South Monson had her arm amputated at the elbow Monday. Her wrist was broken a number of years ago and was not properly set, and has always troubled her somewhat. Last week the bone separated, causing intense pain, and an examination revealed the fact that the bone was in such a diseased state that amputation at the elbow was necessary. Dr. Chapin of Springfield performed the operation, assisted by Dr. C. W. Jackson of Monson and Mrs. Stone's son George, of the Albany Medical College.

Oliver Bliss has recently moved to Longmeadow.

Eugene Foskett is having his house wired for electric lights.

Mrs. Robert Fleming visited friends in Boston last week.

Rev. A. L. Squier has visited his mother, Mrs. Mary Squier, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cushman returned Saturday from their bridal trip.

Miss Letha A. Potter has returned from a week's visit in Rochdale.

The pews in the Universalist church will be rented at 8 o'clock this evening.

Rev. F. S. Hatch will take for his subject Sunday, "The song of Mary."

Rev. W. H. Marble will take for his subject Sunday, "Concerning the collections."

Dr. G. E. Fuller has purchased a new horse which is said to be finely bred and fast.

A delegation of 15 or 20 attended the Christian Endeavor convention at Holyoke Monday.

John S. Bogan has sold the Joseph Pease farm in Stafford, Ct., to E. C. Wood of Brimfield.

Mrs. Sarah Gardner of Boston has been visiting her brother, Judge G. H. Newton, the past week.

Rev. F. S. Hatch was moderator at the Hampden County Convention held in Chester Wednesday.

The water works are to be extended on King avenue by a six-inch line. Mrs. Allen's house has been connected.

Miss Cora E. Webber and John A. Sault were married yesterday morning at the parsonage by Rev. Harry Blackford.

The Ladies' Benevolent Society will have a supper and entertainment in the Methodist church next Wednesday evening.

Robert Wallace, night telegraph operator in Norwich, Ct., formerly of Monson, has been visiting in town the past week.

The two-months-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Treffley Matros died Wednesday, and was buried yesterday in St. Patrick's cemetery.

Mrs. Ella Nellis of Nellisten, N. Y., who has spent the winter with Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Marble, returned to her home Wednesday.

Elliot H. Brown is soon to open a store in Noble's block. Mr. Brown was employed by Rogers & Co. for a number of years, and was popular with customers.

Miss June Norcross has nearly 200 trees pledged for Arbor Day, and there will be exercises at No. 16 school when the various classes plant their trees.

The W. N. Flynt Granite Company has the contract for about 2000 carloads of stone to be used in a Boston and Albany railroad bridge in Newton.

George Phillips is thinking of opening a training stable on the Palmer track. Mr. Phillips is exceptionally good at training colts and gaiting horses for speed.

Dr. P. W. Soule has purchased the office stock of the late Dr. Cross of Palmer. Dr. Soule attended the meeting of the dental society held in Springfield Monday.

Patriots' Day passed quietly. The schools and stores were closed, bicycles were numerous, fishing was not unheard off. A party of girl bicyclists went for a spin, taking their lunch.

The Dorcas Society held a pleasant social in the Congregational church Tuesday evening. The entire church is now lighted by electricity, the system having been put in by the Dorcas society.

The cemetery commissioners started work this week on No. 1 cemetery. It is understood that the trouble regarding the street wall has been satisfactorily arranged, and work will be resumed on the same at once.

The Little Vernon Brothers will appear at Memorial Hall next Wednesday evening, and those who heard them before will wish to do so again. They have given their entertainment in Springfield eight times this season.

At the annual meeting of the Hampden district medical society held in Springfield Tuesday, Monson doctors received their share of honors, for Dr. G. E. Fuller was elected president, and Drs. C. W. Jackson and Fred W. Ellis councilors.

Three liquor licenses have been applied for: James Mitchell at the Monson House and William Foley in Bogan's block; the third man will be given leave to withdraw his application, as it will not be granted. He wished to locate near the Palmer line.

The lecture on Alaska and the Yellowstone Park, by Principal Arthur N. Burke of the Academy, was much enjoyed by a large audience last Friday evening. This completes the course of lectures and entertainments given for the benefit of the senior class.

The reward offered for evidence of illegal liquor selling has made the purchasing of alcohol a difficult matter. It is said that a man tried to buy some the first part of the week for bathing a sick person in, but was not able to do so without a physician's prescription.

Arthur Tucker met with an exciting experience yesterday near Squier's grain mill. His horse became frightened and ran; the wagon struck the stairs at the mill and tore them down, and was then overturned, Mr. Tucker being thrown out but not hurt. The horse was soon stopped.

The school committee held a meeting Monday for reorganization. Dr. N. W. Rand was elected chairman of the board, and W. L. Ricketts secretary. After this meeting the committee went to Brimfield to hold the district meeting. Miss Clara A. Wood was unanimously elected superintendent of schools; J. M. Brown was chosen chairman of the district committee, and W. L. Ricketts secretary.

The lecture on "American Novelists" by Mrs. Annie Russell Marble of Worcester at the home of Mrs. S. F. Cushman, Jr., last Friday afternoon was thoroughly enjoyed by all present, which included Mrs. Small and Mrs. Rufus Flynt of Palmer, Mrs. Earle and Miss Bliss of Brimfield. A third lecture was given at the home of Miss Esther R. Holmes this afternoon upon "Cranford, and Mrs. Gaskell." The Tuesday club of Palmer, and all who were present at the other lectures, were invited to this one.

Monson lodge of Odd Fellows celebrated the 77th anniversary of the organization of the order at Odd Fellows' hall last evening, the party numbering about 75. An enjoyable entertainment was given; there were readings, singing by a quartette composed of Miss Joanna V. Cantwell, Mrs. Alonzo N. Beebe, Charles F. Orcutt and Leonard Phillips, and music by the Monson orchestra. After the entertainment refreshments were served, then came whist and a donkey party; in the latter Mr. Hearst won the first prize, and Mr. Kennedy the consolation.

The official board of the Methodist church held its annual meeting Monday evening. Rev. W. H. Marble was chairman and C. A. Bradway secretary. It is expected that repairs will be made upon the church property this year, and plans were discussed. It was voted to continue the free-will offering and envelope system. The following officers and committees were chosen. Treasurer, Horace Squier; sexton, A. W. Perry; ushers, Myron Wright and E. C. Bradway; finance committee, G. L. Keeney, F. M. King and H. A. Felton; committee on repairs of church property, W. M. Fay, A. W. Leonard, H. G. Rogers and T. H. Todd.

One of Monson's popular divines was seen walking down Main street Wednesday afternoon with a dignified air, but hatless. Inquiry into the matter brought to light the fact that he did not consider a cold in the head the worst misfortune that could befall him. He had visited the library and laid his hat upon the table; soon another man entered and deposited his exceedingly battered and weather-beaten hat upon the same table. Presently the later comer took his departure and the divine's hat. It is said that another Monson minister recently met with a somewhat similar experience with an overcoat, but he decided to take the chances, and recovered it.

Mr. Brainerd of Palmer has again surveyed the disputed State street property, but no decision has been rendered. The original deed of a large plot of ground was given to Hiram Newton many years ago, and as Chicopee brook is one of the bounds named, and as the deed is somewhat indefinate, it is thought that the brook may have changed its course. One thing is certain, the committee who purchased the school property had no intention of buying the brook, and Postmaster Herlihy's roadway should be 30 feet wide instead of seven, as it now appears to be at the south end, according to the heretofore supposed meaning of the schoolhouse property deed.

The fire in the shed in the rear of No 1 schoolhouse last Friday has caused considerable talk, although the damage was slight. It was at first thought that it might have been due to carelessness on the part of some of the boys who are said to be cigarette smokers, as a cigarette stump was found in the shed. Later, however, a small boy is said to have told another that he did it; that he rolled up some hay and paper and touched it off. This the boy now denies, and an official investigation Tuesday failed to bring out any incriminating evidence. The matter rests here, and the chances are that it will continue to rest. It is hoped that the cigarette smoking will be broken up.

Several Monson dealers are feeling that they have been unfairly dealt with by a Springfield advertising company. The company agreed to erect and keep in repair for a year dating from last January a bill-board on the Palmer road and one on the Wales road, with these dealers' advertisements thereon. The former bill-board is an eyesore to the public. Only one whole advertisement is on it, the others hanging in strips. The other board has failed to materialize at this writing, and a petition signed by these dealers has been forwarded to the company. The JOURNAL would refer these dealers to G. A. R. Department Commander Derby's address on advertising delivered before the students of Childs's Business College, which was recently published in the Springfield Republican.

HAMPDEN.

Theodore Griswold and Mrs. Myra Beebe were married at Mr. Griswold's residence last Friday evening.

The Glen mill, which has been closed for the past week while getting out samples, will resume work on full time soon.

The grounds near the Baptist church, formerly the site of the parsonage, which was burned a few years ago, are being graded.

NORTH WILBRAHAM.

The special town meeting last Friday for the purpose of electing a member of the board of selectmen to fill the vacancy caused by the tie vote between Jesse L. Rice and Earl M. Scott at the annual meeting, resulted in the election of Mr. Scott. The total vote was 264, Mr. Scott receiving 138 and Mr. Rice 122. It was also voted to extend the state road through the northern part of the town. The selectmen have organized as follows: Chairman, Earl M. Scott; secretary, Fred W. Green; superintendent of roads, Alvin Chilson.

WARREN.

The school committee has appointed the following sub-committees: Repairs and care of buildings, Frank E. Gleason, George P. Aborn and Mrs. C. E. Dockham; music and drawing, Dr. O. W. Phelps, George P. Aborn and Mrs. M. C. Buck; teachers and salaries, Dr. C. A. Deland, C. O. Walker and J. G. Hastings; text books and supplies, F. E. Gleason, Mrs. M. C. Buck and Mrs. J. M. Hitchcock; transportation, Dr. C. A. Deland, J. G. Hastings and Mrs. J. M. Hitchcock; rules and regulations, Dr. O. W. Phelps, Mrs. C. E. Dockham and C. O. Walker.

BELCHERTOWN.

Miss S. C. Alden and her niece, Miss H. E. Alden, gave an afternoon tea Monday to the pastors of the Methodist and Congregational churches, Rev. S. A. Bragg and Rev. V. C. Harrington.

J. W. Jackson is having mounted a calf which had two heads. The animal had two ears, four eyes and two mouths. The neck and body were perfectly formed. Both mouths opened at once and both pairs of eyes also. The calf lived only 12 hours.

At the adjourned meeting of the Park Association Monday night the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, H. A. Hopkins; vice president, Arthur Bridgman; secretary, L. A. Barton; treasurer, W. E. Bridgman; executive committee, L. W. Dillon, H. F. Curtis, R. L. Bridgman, T. J. L. Parsons, Mrs. H. G. Hoag, V. C. Harrington, W. H. Bridgman.

WALES.

Charles G. Needham is in Warren, painting for Walter Ellis.

Mrs. Persis Green, who has been caring for sick in Brimfield, returned home Wednesday.

W. A. Lyon & Co. have put in a large stock of millinery, as well as a large line of garden seeds and farming tools.

W. H. Needham is doing quite an extensive business in papering. He has the agency for a large wall paper house in New York.

F. M. Royce and family mourn the loss of their pet dog Gyp, who at the age of eleven years yielded up his life with seeming perfect resignation.

Mrs. Persis E. Smith, widow of the late F. C. Smith, was married to Charles H. Copp, formerly of Boston, on Thursday of last week. Mr. Copp came to town last November to work for Mrs. Smith on her farm; she was so well pleased with the work and the man that a short courtship ended in marriage. They left town in the morning by team for Southbridge, where they were married by Rev. Mr. Walters, after which they left for Boston on a wedding trip, to be gone two weeks. Mrs. Smith has many friends here, and all congratulate her in her new relation.

WEST WARREN.

James Marshall has moved into the house recently vacated by J. F. Davis.

A party of 22 went after trailing arbutus Monday. They reported fine success and a jolly good time.

Rev. N. L. Porter, pastor of the M. E. church, with his family, arrived at their new home Wednesday.

Commencing next Tuesday the milk car will stop here, thus accommodating many who have had to carry their milk three and four miles formerly.

Amory Crossman found a tramp asleep in his barn when he went to lock it late Sunday night. He was arrested by Officer Thompson.

The annual meeting of the Congregational parish was held Tuesday evening and these officers elected: Moderator, J.W. Lawrence; clerk, Milton Dickson; executive committee, J. W. Lawrence, Amory Crossman and John Cadwell; treasurer, George Bliss. The report of the treasurer showed the society out of debt and a small balance on hand.

Runaway Accident.

A serious runaway occurred on the Palmer road Monday, when Columbus Reed, his wife and Miss Sophia Bond were all more or less injured. Mr. Reed attempted to shoot a squirrel while sitting in the wagon. The shot frightened the horse, who started suddenly on a run. Mr. Reed's thumb was thrown out of joint in trying to hold the horse in, Mrs. Reed received a sprained knee, caused by attempting to jump from the wagon, and Miss Bond was thrown out and had to be carried into the house of Mr. Shorley. It was found that two ribs were broken and her back hurt. The horse was captured in Palmer.

BRIMFIELD.

Miss Ethel Fay, daughter of Prof. Fay of Tufts College, is visiting her cousin, Miss Rebecca Lincoln.

George Sherman, formerly of this place, now principal of a school in Taunton, was the guest of Miss Rebecca Dunham this week.

News has been received of the death of Mrs. Olive Baker, widow of Calvin Baker of this place, which occurred at the home of her daughter in Salem, where she had been spending the winter. The burial was in this place Wednesday.

Mrs. Delisa T. Page, 45, wife of Allen H. Warner of Springfield, died last Sunday after a lingering illness. Mrs. Warner was the daughter of the late Dea. Paul W. Paige of this place, and was married to Mr. Warner 18 years ago. She had been an invalid for the past five years.

Mrs. R. V. Sawin had a narrow escape from serious injury last Saturday afternoon while riding with her husband. Dr. Sawin stopped at the post office and Mrs. Sawin remained in the carriage waiting for him. The horse started suddenly, throwing her from the carriage. She was not seriously injured, although she received some bruises on the head.

Funeral of Dr. Chamberlain.

There was a large attendance at the funeral of Dr. George F. Chamberlain at his late residence last week. It was an occasion of peculiar sadness, as the people gathered to look for the last time upon the face of one who in his strength had borne their burdens, whose presence had brought sunshine into their homes, to whom they had looked for sympathy in sorrow and whom they had blessed for precious lives spared. The services were simple, but impressive. Rev. Mr. Peirce paid a most fitting tribute to the character, the work and influence of the physician so deeply mourned. Miss Alice Bacon and Mrs. Kyle sang "One Sweetly Solemn Thought" and "Abide with Me." There were many beautiful flowers. A representative body of physicians of Eastern Hampden county was present: Dr. Holbrook of Palmer, Drs. Fuller and Jackson of Monson, Dr. Webber of Wilbraham, Dr. Sawin of Brimfield and Dr. Ross of Wales. The active bearers were Drs. Fuller, Jackson, Webber and Ross. There were people from adjoining towns, besides many from Brimfield. Miss Muzzy and John M. Warren came from Worcester. The relatives and family friends present were Dr. and Mrs. Myron Chamberlain of Boston, Samuel W. French, Miss Alice Chamberlain French, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall W. French of Newtonville, Miss Helen Chamberlain of Andover, Mrs. Mary Chamberlain Clarke of Lawrence, Herbert Chamberlain of Worcester, Dr. Edwin Lyon of New Britain, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Childs of Rockford, Ia., Mrs. Mary Lyon Cheney of Boston, Clinton Dyer of Worcester.

In his remarks Mr. Peirce said:

There is no nobler calling than that of the physician. A true-hearted physician, realizing and improving the opportunities of his calling, enters the homes of his neighbors, meets them in their most sacred hours, mingles in and is associated with the most tragic, the most joyous, and the tenderest and deepest feelings and experiences of their lives. He comes to them with the healing and saving touch; the light of his kindly face seems half the battle won at the outset; his very presence is medicine and health, bringing hope and life with it. Such an one was our friend and neighbor; such was his life and mission among us for nearly half a century, and through a wide circuit outside this village as well.

We are like those on a battle field. The bullets are singing about us; one and another falls and we close up the ranks. Shining marks are struck,—they are not forgotten. A former pastor died long before I came here, and is still spoken of reverently. "Of good sense, big heart, strong and earnest character was Mr. Morse," they say. There have been those who in their time served the town in public station uncredulously. They have gone, but they are gratefully remembered. Of all who have lived and died here and are not forgotton by us, I sincerely think that there has been no one of them whose life was more replete with public service than that of him who has just left us; or that there was one who seemed more a part of the town, and an essential feature of our community. So useful was he, so intimately connected with Brimfield, that it now seems impossible to realize that he is to be among us no more forever; that the erect soldierly form, that singularly hearty, genial laugh, that greeting on the street and especially in his home, friendliness, cordiality, good cheer personified, have all gone. It will long, if ever be before Brimfield will seem just like its old self again. People say, "It did me good just to have Dr. Chamberlain come in the room when I was sick." If he had only had his hearing what a doctor he he would have been! But, as it was, you do not often find his equal. Nature seemed to have made him a physician. There are people here, and many of them, who have called him in life's saddest hours,—in sickness, in dreadful suspense in what seemed the dying hour,—who love to talk about how much those visits, that skilled hand, that sunny, buoyant presence, that hearty sympathy, meant to them.

It is fitting that there should be noted here a most remarkable trait of his character. I think everyone who knew him felt admiration and wonder at his courage. How that strong spirit rose superior to obstacles and set-backs in his career as a doctor that would have overwhelmed an ordinary nature. It was heroic. It was a triumph of energy, courage and enthusiasm, of will indomitable, and of tact and intuition. I verily believe that there is no parallel to it in the annals of his profession in the world. It is truly marvellous how for many years he held his practice under such appalling difficulties, even up to the last week of his life.

We have heard the testimony many times over to the confidence of the people in his skill. He possessed apparently an intuition amounting to genius. With wonder and admiration have been noticed his diagnosis and treatment of diseases such as those of the heart and lungs, where a doctor without the sense of hearing would seem most helpless.

It was pitifully hard to be doomed to live in silence, to that extent walled in from the world, isolated from society. It was peculiarly hard in his case, because he was so genial and social in his nature, while his natural sensitiveness made him shrink from giving people trouble in their efforts to communicate with him. That he kept so bright and cheerful through it all is a striking commentary on the recuperative power of time, too, when it seemed as though his eyesight might fail, his splendid courage and spirit did not desert him; neither did he give way to affliction and trial. Stricken childless, after seeing his two idolized daughters grown to maturity in his home, he would not give way; he would not obtrude his trouble on others or let it embitter what there remained for him to live for.

A night or two before he was taken sick, after visiting a patient, he remained talking and laughing with members of the family in his cheerful, hearty way. He spoke of the wonderful improvements, the inventions and discoveries which so enrich our time and hold such promise of the immediate future. "What a splendid thing it is to live," said he. "I should like to live to be a hundred years old if I could have my health and faculties preserved." The Christian's hope of immortality is precious and priceless to us now. He still lives,—faith tells us that, and he may already have discovered that there, far more than here, it is indeed a glorious thing to live.

Death of Austin Moulton.

Austin N. Moulton, 73, died of pneumonia Saturday after a short illness. He had not been well for some time, but was not taken seriously ill until the Monday preceding the time of his death.

Mr. Moulton was a soldier in the civil war. He enlisted as a private, Feburary 15, 1864, in Co. G, 57th Mass. Vols. The regiment was organized in Worcester and was sent to the seat of war in season to participate in the battles of the Wilderness. It was a regiment that was usually pushed to the front, and Private Moulton was not only in the Wilderness engagements, but afterwards at Spottsylvania, Petersburg, Welden Railroad, Fredericksburg and Fort Steadman.

Austin Norcross Moulton was born in Monson, December 6, 1822. He was one of eleven children and the son of Isaac Moulton. His father was a well-known brick maker before the time of brick-yards, when those who understood the business went about from place to place making bricks on or near the premises where they were to be used. Austin Moulton was a molder and moulder of iron by trade, and had worked in various foundries in Massachusetts and New Jersey. He moved to Brimfield about 15 years ago, and had recently bought the house formerly the residence of the late Rebecca Bliss. He was twice married, his second wife being Miss Laura Tucker of North Brookfield. She and two brothers, Charles L. Moulton of Monson and Franklin Moulton of Willimantic, Ct., survive him.

The funeral was held at the First Congregational church Monday afternoon. Rev. Mr. Kyle officiated and the church choir and Mrs. Kyle sang appropriate selections.

Besides townspeople, relatives were present frem Springfield, Worcester, North Brookfield, Palmer and Monson. The J. Arthur Johnson Grand Army post of Sturbridge, of which Mr. Moulton was a member, sent a large delegation, and the auxiliary Woman's Relief Corps, of which Mrs. Moulton is a member, was represented. The relief corps gave a beautiful wreath of flowers. The Grand Army burial service was held at the grave.

WARE.

All dogs must be licensed before April 30.

Dr. John Yale is again sick with pneumonia.

William B. Yale is soon to open a drug store at Orange.

Contractor Buckley has J. H. G. Gilbert's barn nearly completed.

The Black Crook is to appear at the Town Hall next Thursday evening.

The high school expects to give a concert in the Town Hall on May 14th.

There is to be a bean supper at the Unitarian vestry next Tuesday evening.

Base ball will soon be in full swing in Ware, as a team is in process of organization.

The Odd Fellows' grand concert and ball is to occur next Wednesday, in the Town Hall.

The driving park association promises a large list of entries for the opening meet next month.

Dr. A. A. Etienne and Miss Anna L. Chapman of Montreal were married at Boston on Monday.

The junior class is to give a social in the high school hall this evening in honor of the class of '96.

Prof. Croy of Springfield was in town this week, making arrangments to start a class in elocution.

The hook and ladder company and the engine company were out for practice on Thursday evening.

A protest is to be filed to-morrow by the abuttors against the granting of a license in the McMahon block.

McAuley is expected to do good work this season as catcher for the Washingtons; he has begun the season well.

The Otis Co's. and Stevens mills were closed on Monday, and most of the stores on the street closed at noon.

The Young Men's Union has engaged McEvoy's orchestra for their select social party at their hall next Friday evening.

The Fisherdick bowling team is still ahead; it won the game Monday evening from the Hinckley team by 152 pins.

Chief Fitzgerald arrested Frank Chabbotte on Tuesday on the charge of selling liquor illegally and maintaining a nuisance.

An illustrated lecture on "Ben Hur" was given in the Unitarian church on Wednesday evening by R. S. Kellerman of Orange.

A delegation of 24 Gilbertville Christian Endeavorers visited the meeting at the East Congregational chapel on Monday evening.

The gathering of ex-prisoners of war at Northampton on Monday was attended by Dr. D.W. Ainsworth and George Canterbury.

The first ball game of the season will be played to-morrow on the pumping station grounds, between the Wheelwrights and Wares.

Needed improvements have been made at the almshouse lately, which make it much more cleanly and comfortable for the inmates.

The question "Who will have licenses?" is agitating many just now. It will be decided by the selectmen at their meeting next Monday evening.

Frederick W. Pelly, A. B., will deliver a lecture in All Saints' church vestry next Wednesday on "What the monks did for Old England."

The Windsor Hotel and the Union Hotel in Gilbertville have applied for liquor licenses, so the Ware dealers will not have all of the Gilbertville trade.

A. B. Paton has been allowed $100 for damages to his team on account of the bad condition of Church street last year, and his driver received $50 for injuries.

Dr. A. A. Etienne and bride have moved to James Mc Ardle's tenement on Pleasant street. The Dr. has given up his Main street office and pharmacy in Storrs's block.

Deputy Sheriff A. J. Davis placed an injunction on the Volk saloon last night, on account of a difficulty between the Volk brothers, and the saloon is now closed.

The new boot shop is nearing completion, and is said to be very conveniently arranged for turning out a large amount of work. The shop will accommodate from 100 to 150 hands.

Edith McIlwraith was pulled off a town team yesterday morning by her sister, and was run over by one of the heavy wheels. It is not known yet just how badly she is injured, but it is hoped she will recover.

The Blue Ribbon League entertainment Wednesday evening consisted of singing by a chorus, a duet, and recitations by Misses Campbell and Hatch. The League is this week moving into its new rooms in Albertine's block. W. A. Bower has been appointed by the executive committee to act as janitor of the place.

The graduating exercises of the high school this year are to be of a different nature than usual. In place of the essays and declamations by the scholars, there will be an address by some outside party and musical selections by the scholars. There will no doubt be less interest on the part of the public than is common at the graduations in past years.

There was a large congregation last Sunday evening at the Men's Sunday Evening League meeting in the East Congregational church. Rev. A. B. Bassett's sermon on "Conquests and Crowns" was a practical one in thought and application. The music was excellent; Wulf Fries, the 'cellist, can always depend on a sympathetic and appreciative audience in Ware. For next Sunday evening's service the League has secured Mrs. Ida E. Johnson, soprano, of Worcester, who will sing "Heaven and Earth," by Pinsuti, "One sweetly solemn thought," by Ambrose, and "Rock of Ages," by Bischoff."

Ware lodge, I. O. O. F., held its installation of officers last week, and the following were installed by District Deputy Wall of North Wilbraham: N. G., Frank Hills; V. G., Fred Sharpe; C., A. B. Erwin; W., George Preston; secretary, J. T. Montgomery; treasurer, William N. Newcomb; R. S. N. G., John Apperson; L. S. N. G., William Hathaway; R. S. V. G., Charles F. Wilcox; L. S. V. G., H. S. Hawks; R. S. S., Dr. A. A. Etienne; L. S. S., E. H. Pike; I. G., W. B. Lindsey; O. G., W. H. Rivers; chaplain, W. P. Hewitt; past grand, Hugh H. Scott; organist, Frank Doane; finance committee, A. B. Erwin, H. H. Turner and W. P. Hewett; trustees, Andrew Bryson, William A. Morgan, Henry Connell.

Unsuccessful Attempt at Eviction.

An exciting occurrence took place on Wednesday, when David Rohan, who claims to have a lease of the room in the McMahon block now occupied by Mrs. M. E. Harty as the Central dining rooms, tried by every means possible to evict Mrs. Harty. Mr. Rohan has applied for a license to be exercised on the premises, and was very desirous of being in possession before the selectmen inspected the premises of those who have applied. Mrs. Harty said she would not get out until her time was up. Rohan and McMahon, by advice of their lawyer, H. M. Coney, cut an opening through from the store adjacent and at last effected an entrance. Deputy Sheriff Buckner of Easthampton was called, and after consultation ordered Rohan to put out the furniture, but this was not so easy, for as soon as a chair was put through the back window a crowd handed it back. The crowd outside were almost to a man in sympathy with Mrs. Harty, and many would have been glad of an apportunity of getting in and cleaning Rohan, the sheriff and the lawyers out. Officers Rennison and Beauchemin were on hand to make arrests if any assaults were made. Mrs. Harty's lawyer, G. D Storrs, was in Boston, and Mr. Mailloux, a student in the Storrs office, represented Mr. Storrs, and many compliments are paid him for the way he conducted himself against the bluff game put up by the other side. In the latter part of the afternoon the premises were left by the Rohan people, and Mrs. Harty was in full possession; she says she may have to vacate, but not until the first of the month. Mr. Storrs holds a mortgage on the furniture, which makes another complication. It was thought by many that a license would be granted to this place as a reward for services rendered by Rohan and McMahon at the recent election in defeating J. H. Storrs for the office of selectman. If the license is held over until Rohan gets possession and is then granted, it will be against the approval of a large majority of the people.

You would believe there was comfort in the Woman's Cushion Sole button boots if you could hear from the hundreds of school teachers who are now wearing them. They are $4.50 a pair, made in all shape of toes and sold only at Broadhurst Bros., the shoe dealers, 376 Main street, Springfield.

Try a can of Hopkins' Steamed Hominy (Hulled corn.) It is delicious. Full qt., 10c.

C. H. HOBBY, PIANO TUNER.

Orders for tuning may be left at O. P. Allen's drug store, Palmer; or may be sent to me by mail to Mansfield, Ct.

STEEL KNIVES and FORKS, shears and scissors. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

GILT BELTS, silk belts, Windsor ties, shirt waists. Trade in these started at a brisk pace. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

AMERICAN SARDINES, 5c a can, 6 for 25c. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

HEINZ'S SALAD DRESSING, Keystone brand, 20c a bottle. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER.

ABSOLUTELY PURE.

A cream of tartar Baking Powder. Highest of all in leavening power.—Latest United States Government Food Report.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall Street, New York.

A Woman's Weakness

NATURAL CAUSES TEND TO PRODUCE WEAKNESS.

How Best to Assist Nature That You May Recover and Enjoy Perfect Health.

"I am sick," is the despairing cry of many a woman.

She hardly knows what the trouble is. She feels inexpressibly weak and worn out, her stomach refuses to do its duty, she has no appetite, and other troubles, apparently more and more serious, continually threaten her.

Woman is sometimes named the weaker sex, and yet the tax on nerve and tissue demanded by natural physical development alone, prove a severe and exhausting strain. As the maid grows in years and develops into the woman, the mysterious unfoldings of life call for much outlay of nervous force. This demand on the strength is increased by the duties of school and society so that the maid is often in sore need of a tonic and vitalizer of the blood to regulate and support the system.

As wife and mother the demands on strength and vitality are often increased far beyond the ability to perform. The constant struggle to answer the claims of children, family and society produce an exhausted and worn state that needs a suitable help to increase the happiness and usefulness of living.

The matron finds life's sun passing the meridian and the more exacting and engrossing duties of the day left behind. This period should not be less useful and helpful than either of the preceding, though it is reached only through special physical trials peculiar to itself.

No one needs to be told that thousands of women are now complaining of tired limbs, aching heads, loss of appetite, weakness and exhaustion. They are nervous, sleepless and full of apprehensions for the future.

The cause is impure blood which is failing to carry to the nerves and tissue the nourishment which they require. Such people need an alterative and nerve tonic to purify the blood and give them an appetite, to make them feel strong and vigorous and full of hope and ambition as in the days of childhood and youth.

There is no better friend for woman, nothing that so invariably proves beneficial in building up and strengthening the system as Claflin's Nerve and Tissue Builder.

This great remedy is not strictly a patent medicine, but has been used largely with great success by some of the most eminent and successful of New England physicians. It is the result of years of study, and has been prescribed and used with the most gratifying success in hundreds of cases.

As druggists with twenty-five years' experience we have had ample opportunity to note the effects of this great remedy and have often marvelled at the striking and extraordinary benefits induced by its use.

Claflin's Nerve and Tissue Builder is an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, and the tired feeling resulting from nervous prostration, all diseases resulting from vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, ecc. Claflin's Nerve and Tissue Builder is also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. It builds up the blood and restores the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks.

Probably no other remedy is as effective as Claflin's Nerve and Tissue Builder in restoring health, vigor and happiness to those people who are thin, pale and enemic. After a week's treatment with this remedy the improvement is most marked. The following letter, one of many received, gives in plain, simple terms the exact benefit experienced from a short use of this remedy.

MONSON, Mass., March 1, 1896.

CLAFLIN DRUG CO.:

GENTLEMEN:—I received your letter; also the medicine as ordered. I must say that since I have been taking the Nerve and Tissue Builder I feel much stronger, my appetite is better, and the color has returned to my cheeks.

My friend who recommended the medicine to me has gained wonderfully while taking it.

Respectfully,
MISS M. MORIARTY.

The price of Claflin's Nerve and Tissue Builder is one dollar, and is not sold at any other price.

One hundred doses for $1, or 3 cents a day.

Are you willing to pay this small sum to regain and enjoy perfect health?

Send direct to us $1 and we will deliver to you, all charges perpaid, one month's treatment, and if after taking the remedy two weeks you are not satisfied with the improvement made, return the medicine you have not used and we will refund the price paid. We cannot too strongly urge you to give it a trial. Yours for health,

CLAFLIN DRUG CO.,
HARVARD SQ., Cambridge, Mass.

FINE STATIONERY.

Many ladies are troubled to find just the size, shade or weight of correspondence paper which they would like. With some thing like

200 VARIETIES

To select from we ought to be able to please you. Any style of paper in any size or shape, and you may have 100 sheets or 1000, as you prefer. We'd be pleased to show you samples at the JOURNAL Office. Your monogram or initials embossed in color if desired.

J. W. Pierce, Republic, Ia., says; "I have used One Minute Cough Cure in my family and for myself, with results so entirely satisfactory that I can honestly say that I can find words adequate to express myself as to its merit. I will never fail to recommend it to others, on every occasion that presents itself." LeGro & Lynde.

One Minute Cough Cure touches the right spot. It also touches it at the right time if you take it when you have a cough or cold. See the point? Then don't cough. LeGro & Lynde.

CLEVELAND'S BAKING POWDER, 5 cases received this week. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Engraved Address Cards. Plate engraved and 100 cards printed, only $1.50. Styles change often—your old cards may be out of style, probably are—better have some new ones, with correct size of card and style of lettering. At the JOURNAL Office.

"Give me a liver regulator and I can regulate the world," said a genius. The druggist handed him a bottle of DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. LeGro & Lynde.

LOAF SUGAR, pulverized sugar, W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Soothing, healing, cleansing, DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is the enemy to sores, wounds and piles, which it never fails to cure. Stops itching and burning. Cures chapped lips and cold-sores in two or three hours. LeGro & Lynde.

L. H. HENDEE, M. D., OFFICE AND RESIDENCE, PLEASANT ST. Office hours 7 to 10 a. m., and 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m.

ARMOUR'S WHOLE OX TONGUE, canned. Kansas City brand is best. Telephone connections. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

A. H. HITCHCOCK, OPTICIAN,
331 Main Street, Springfield, Mass.
Spectacles and Eye Glasses of all kinds.
Artificial eyes furnished.
Oculists' prescriptions promptly and accurately filled.
Mail orders solicited. 13-tf

THAT JOB OF PRINTING. There's no better place at which to get it done than the JOURNAL Office. Experienced workmen, skilled in every branch of the art.

D. N. BUTTERWORTH, dealer in CARRIAGES of EVERY DESCRIPTION.
Canopy top, extension top, surrey top and open buggies. Spindle wagons, banner wagons, grocery wagons, business wagons, mason's wagons and carpenter's wagons. Order wagons, road carts.
10 Concord buggies at less than cost to make, a good bargain. Also second-hand wagons.
Large stock of harness, robes, blankets.
I can sell the above goods as low as can be bought of any dealer. My expenses are lower than anyone in the business. I was never undersold and won't be. Come and satisfy yourselves at
60 DWIGHT ST., SPRINGFIELD, MASS.
D. N. BUTTERWORTH.

Forbes & Wallace's, Springfield.

New bonnets and hats and wraps and jackets, and dresses must be got now or later. Every day you wait now will be thrown away.

Trimmed hats and bonnets, five hundred strong, awaiting wearers, $3, $5, $7.50, $10 to $30 apiece.

Jackets, $3.95 to $60; capes, $3.50 up; suits, $10 up; silk waists, $5 to $20. And the biggest and best varieties by far in the city.

Gloves for the multitude. But not a poor glove in the stock. Won't keep a poor glove; not even if you don't know any better than to go elsewhere to buy it. We shall be better off in the end by keeping only those sorts that we know will give satisfaction.

CARPETS.

We are doing more carpet business than usual at this time of the year, and yet we have facilities for doing five times as much as we are doing. You can, if you wish, choose your carpets now while the assortments are at their best, have them cut and laid aside if you are not ready to have them put down.

Nine-wire tapestry carpets at 65c a yard; ten-wire, 75c.

Brussels, $1 and $1.10 a yard; Axminsters, the newest patterns. $1.25; old patterns, $1.

Velvets, 85c a yard; such as you've usually paid a dollar for. Cotton ingrains, 25c and 32½c a yard; all-wool ingrains, 35c, 50c and 62½c.

And better and bigger assortments than we have ever had before.

Second floor of

Look at Pearline through the wrong end of the glass, if you will; make all its labor-saving, money-saving qualities appear as small as you like; cut them down one-half;—and still there will be left a place for it in every home and an urgent call for it from every bright, progressive woman. It isn't necessary to exaggerate the virtues of Pearline. Perhaps that couldn't easily be done. But without telling of them all, there's enough to prove it the easiest, quickest, safest and most economical thing you can use, in all washing and cleaning. 428 JAMES PYLE, N. Y.

It Is the Best

plan, in buying a wheel, to avoid the new and untried makes. Buy one that has stood the test of time. For seven years our "be-sure-you-are-right-and-then-go-ahead" policy has made the

"Phœnix" Bicycle

famous for beauty, durability, strength and speed. Cost, $100.

A "Phœnix," unless abused, needs no repairs—a considerable saving! Every '96 improvement, including reinforced joints, large and dust-proof bearings, barrel hubs and hanger, adjustable handle bar, etc.

Send for our Catalogue—mailed free.

STOVER BICYCLE MNFG. CO.,
575-577 Madison Ave., New York.

UNDERWOOD'S CANNED HAM, cooked and specially prepared for slicing.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Kidney Trouble Cured.

The importance of knowing just what to do when one is afflicted with kidney disease or troubles of a urinary nature, is best answered by the following letter which was recently published in the Poughkeepsie, N. Y., News-Press:

MILLERTON, Dutchess Co., N. Y.

"Dr. David Kennedy, Dear Sir:—For more than eighteen months I was so badly afflicted with kidney trouble I could scarcely walk a quarter of a mile without almost fainting. I did not gain any until I began to use Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. After using the first bottle I noticed a decided improvement, which continued, and I know that saved my life, for I was in a miserable condition up to the time I began to take it—my friends thought I would never be better.

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

My sister also has been very sick with bladder trouble for over a year, so bad that quantities of blood would come from her. She suffered at times most frightful pain, and nothing seemed to help her until she began the use of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. She is now using her third bottle, and is like a different person."

MRS. THOMAS DYE.

CARPET CLEANING.

Having put in machinery for cleaning carpets by the method of beating, brushing and airing, I am now ready to receive orders. Special attention paid to taking up and relaying carpets; orders by mail promptly attended to. Carpets called for and delivered free of charge.

26-52 GEO. B. KENERSON, Park St., Palmer.

INFANTS SHOES, 35c and 50c.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Poem.

Written for the 25th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Brown, April 12th.

In a by-gone year one April day,
A youthful couple in bridal array
Amid high hopes and gladness of life,
Began life's journey as man and wife.

All the world seemed joyous and bright,
Flooded anew with sunshine and light;
The clouds that would their horizon span,
Were hidden away by a loving hand.

The years have flown by, the mile-stone passed,
A silvery hue has taken at last;
And now their morn has turned to noon,
But still a youthful bride and groom

Stand before you now this April day,
To celebrate in a pleasant way
This happy return of a day long gone,
That come to them in life's early morn.

Their path has not been filled with flowers—
How could that be in a world like ours?
And clouds and shadows have hovered around,
But still fresh in their hearts is now found
The sunshine that came that April day,
Which the shadows have not banished away.

May it still rest there as they journey past
The mile-stones, which are flying so fast,
And be to them as a beacon light
To guide them through any darkened night.

And when the golden stone is in view,
May the sunshine still be as fresh and new
As when they began that April day
To journey together life's pathway.

E. J. M.

AMONG THE PARAGRAPHERS.

IT HAS MADE NO CHANGE.

In spite of all the rumors
'Bout bike girls and their bloomers,
And all the talk and chatter of
The fads new women get,
It's plain to each beholder
That she can grow much bolder,
For mention of the tiny mouse
Will bring hysterics yet.

—World.

"If I only knew whether the policeman is standing there because nothing is happening, or whether nothing is happening because he is standing there.—"Fliegende Blatter.

"Chah'ty," said Uncle Eben, "will kibber er multitude ob sins, and yit most ob us doan seem ter hab much mo' dan'll go roun' foh our own pus'aal uses."—Washington Star.

"She is such a sweet young thing," babbled the mosquito; "I do so want to know her name." "Well," said the gad-fly, "you needn't wonder long. You know blood will tell."—New York Press.

Mudge—"My finances have about reached the point of saturation." Yabsley—"Reached the point of what?" Mudge—"The point where something will have to be soaked."—Indianapolis Journal.

The Cannibal king held his jaw with one hand and writhed in agony with the other. "The next time we have pirates for dinner," he said, when he was able to speak, "I'll leave the hearts to somebody else, and that goes."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Miss Stager.—"So, Mr. Waddly, you and Miss Flippant are at war again." Mr. Waddy—"Oh, no; we never actually quarrel, but we can't agree upon any subject. We are always the soul of civility to one another, however." Miss Stager—"Ah, I see, a sort of civil war."—Vanity.

"You're going to call that bicycle you've invented the Pfaddlebacker, after your own name, are you? That will be rather cumbersome and hard to say." "I know it will, but I've got tired of carrying the burden of that name. I'm going to saddle it on the darned machine."—Chicago Tribune.

The Bottle—"Glass-eating," observed a freak who was as yet unclassified, "is a bad business. A glass-eater is thrown much in the way of temptation. I have known several to become addicted to the bottle." The Zulu chief, to whom all civilization was new, laughed boisterously, but otherwise all was intensely and oppressively still.—Detroit Tribune.

$100 REWARD $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment; Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

☞ Sold by Druggists, 75c.

That

Extreme tired feeling afflicts nearly everybody at this season. The hustlers cease to push, the tireless grow weary, the energetic become enervated. You know just what we mean. Some men and women endeavor temporarily to overcome that

Tired

Feeling by great force of will. But this is unsafe, as it pulls powerfully upon the nervous system, which will not long stand such strain. Too many people "work on their nerves," and the result is seen in unfortunate wrecks marked "nervous prostration," in every direction. That tired

Feel-

ing is a positive proof of thin, weak, impure blood; for, if the blood is rich, red, vitalized and vigorous, it imparts life and energy to every nerve, organ and tissue of the body. The necessity of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for that tired feeling is, therefore, apparent to every one, and the good it will do you is equally beyond question. Remember that

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills are easy to take, easy to operate. 25 cents.

that cough or throat trouble may go to your lungs. What does that mean?

HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR

Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar isn't claimed to cure consumption, but it will often prevent it. A positive cure for a cough. Sold by druggists. Pike's Toothache Drops cure in one minute.

LARRABEE'S RHEUMATIC LINIMENT

A standard and sovereign household remedy for over half a century. It is a wonderful curative agent in all painful diseases, such as

Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuralgia, Backache, Catarrh, Toothache,

and other painful ailments. To be had of all druggists, or by mail on receipt of 25 cents. Trade supplied by Geo. C. Goodwin & Co., or any wholesale druggist.

WINKLEMANN & BROWN DRUG CO.
BALTIMORE, MD., U. S. A.

O & O TEA—A blend of choice Formosa, Japan and India teas. Put up in ¼ pound cans, 20c, ½ pound cans, 38c, and 1 pound cans, 75c. Telephone connection.
W. E STONE, Main street, Palmer.

EYES EXAMINED FREE.

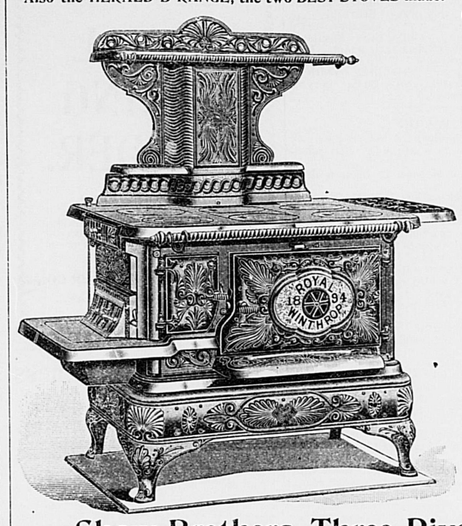
Dr. Vineberg, Refraction Specialist,

wishes to inform sufferers of headache or nervous complaints arising from defective vision, can be cured by having glasses properly fitted to the eyes.

247 Main Street, - Springfield, Mass.

GREEN'S MINERAL PASTE. Manufactured by W. W. Converse, Palmer. Warranted to clean and polish gold, silver, silver plated ware, mirrors and windows. Will not scratch the finest gold or tarnish silver. 25c a box.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

We sell the ROYAL WINTHROP GRAND.
Also the HERALD B RANGE, the two BEST STOVES made.



Shaw Brothers, Three Rivers.

Your credit is good---

Don't wonder if this means you. 'Cause it does. It means everybody who wants furniture, carpets, mattings, stoves or ranges, crockeryware, bedwear, baby carriages, or anything else in our line.

And the only requirement we make is that whatever terms of payment you agree to—you will live up to.

Have you ever noticed how bright the handle of our front door is? Sapolio? Oh, no; just the ordinary usage of our trade.

TEETH

must be filled when decayed, and when beyond repair, extracted or crowned. For the past four years, at my office, by the aid of the only successful method discovered up to date, the "Hale," we have

Filled teeth without pain

in every case. Others try to copy, but do they succeed? You know they don't. I know they can't.

By an application to the gum of a harmless preparation, we are able to

EXTRACT ◆ WITHOUT ◆ PAIN,

fully 95 per cent of all cases of bad teeth. . . . . .

Come to the largest, most complete and best dental office in Massachusetts.

Dr. Wm. L. Roberts,
DENTIST.
Court Sq. Theatre Building, Springfield.

CARRIAGES.

I have in stock a large and complete line of fine and medium grade carriages.

Top carriages, - - $50 to $350
Open carriages, - - $40 to $200
150 second-hand carriages, $5 to $150

DELIVERY WAGONS OF ALL KINDS.

I have the right styles and low prices.

W. H. SMITH,
2 Park Street, Springfield.

RICHARDSON & ROBBINS BONED CHICKEN.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

FOR COMFORT,
BUY A . . .
HOT WATER BAG,
At...LeGro & Lynde's, Druggists,
Next to Post Office, PALMER.

TABLE OIL CLOTH, white, marble and wood, stair oilcloth, shelf oil cloth.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Puritana

Trade Mark

Registered.

Nature's Cure

Puritana will positively give any man, woman, or child Perfect Digestion;—the kind of digestion that brings New Life.

92% of all sickness and all disorders of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, Lungs, Nerves, Brain, and Skin is caused by improper working of the

Stomach

Puritana makes the
Heart Right,
Lungs Right,
Blood Right,
Kidneys Right,
Nerves Right,
Health Right.

Because it makes the Stomach right.

Get of your druggist this great disease-conquering discovery (the price is $1 for the complete treatment, one bottle of Puritana, one bottle of Puritana Pills, and one bottle of Puritana Tablets, all in one package), and you will bless the day when you heard of Puritana. The Puritana Compound Co., Concord, N. H.

COULDN'T 'EXPRESS' HIMSELF.—At a recent banquet in Boston, Dr. Lorrimer told a story of a stutterer, who enters a railway station and takes his place in line of those waiting to purchase tickets. His turn comes: "I w-w-w-want a t-t-t—" A station attendant grabs him. "Come, move on, you know you must not delay the line." He goes back and takes his place in the line. His turn comes again. "I w-w-want tut-tut-ut-to g-g-go b-b-by f-f-freight—" "Go by freight?" "Why, what is the matter with you?" "I c-c-can't exp-p-press mum-mum-myself."

The Labor of getting 1095 Meals confronts some one in every home each year. Whoever the work devolves upon should know about

NONE SUCH MINCE MEAT

It's a labor-saver—a woman-saver. Without the long and wearying peeling, chopping, boiling, seeding and mixing, a woman can quickly make mince pie, fruit pudding, or fruit cake that will be the delight of her household. Since None Such is sold everywhere there is no more need of making your own mince meat than of making your own yeast. Try one package—10 cents. Take no substitutes.

Send your address, naming this paper, & we will send you free a book, "Mrs. Popkins' Thanksgiving," by one of the most popular humorous writers of the day.

MERRELL-SOULE CO.,
Syracuse, N. Y.

Buy your WALL PAPER By mail
AT WHOLESALE PRICES.

100 samples free. { New designs 3c and up / Elegant gilts 5c " " / Borders same low rates. / Send 8c for postage; deduct when ordering. F. H. Cady, 865 Westmr. St. Prov. R.I. } Warranted to suit or money refunded.

Liberal discounts to clubs and agents.

HINDERCORNS The only sure Cure for Corns. Stops all pain. Makes walking easy. 15c. at Druggists.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists

If you are CONSUMPTIVE or have Indigestion, Painful ills or Debility of any kind use PARKER'S GINGER TONIC. Many who were hopeless and discouraged have regained health by its use.

MINUTE TAPIOCA, 10c a package; puddine, 10c a package; Nonesuch mince meat, 10c a package. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

For Your Protection

we positively state that this remedy does not contain mercury or any other injurious drug.

NASAL CATARRH

is a local disease and is the result of colds and sudden climatic changes.

ELY'S CREAM BALM

opens and cleanses the nasal passages, allays pain and inflammation, heals the sores, protects the membrane from colds, restores the senses of ta te and smell. The balm is quickly absorbed and gives relief at once. Price 50c at druggists or by mail.

ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren St., New York.

SIDE COMBS, dressing combs, fine combs, pocket combs, hair brushes, tooth brushes, perfumery, toilet soaps.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

PALMER HISTORY GLEANINGS.

BY O. P. ALLEN.

XII.

Washington in Palmer.

If all the legends are true which relate how Washington was the guest of this and that private or public house, he must have had a busy time accepting the hospitalities of a grateful people, to say nothing of his other duties. It is true, however, that as commander of the continental army he was obliged to make frequent journeys to and from New England, as well as to other portions of the Old States, so that very many of the claims are well founded. Very fortunate for the relic hunter is the fact that Washington left on record an itinerary of his travels, covering the period from 1775, when he took command of the army, until the close of the war in 1783. He also kept a diary of his movements from 1789 to 1791. With these two works in hand it is often possible to verify the claims put forth by those who seek to associate their olden homes with the Father of his Country.

The other day, while looking over a large library, I chanced upon a copy of the "Itinerary" and "Diary," and copied the items which refer to Palmer and vicinity. It has long been asserted that Washington, while on his way to take command of the army at Cambridge, stopped under the elm opposite the Graves Tavern, then standing on the farm now owned by Rev. Mr. Graham, just west of this village on the Springfield road, and addressed the assembled people. As it was a time of great excitement, there can be little doubt that the people of Palmer did meet the young general there, to see of what stuff the new commander was made. While he makes no mention of Palmer, he certainly went through the town at that time, and it is highly probable that he fulfilled all the requirements which the tradition calls for.

The "Itinerary says,

"Friday, June 30, 1775. At Springfield, Mass.; met a committee from the Provincial Congress of Mass. Bay, Dr. Benjamin Church and Moses Gill, who had provided escorts for the remainder of the journey through Brookfield, Worcester and Malborough to Watertown."

When Washington passed the second time through our town in 1789, he came as the adored president of an emancipated nation. This time he came in a chariot drawn by four horses, with several of his state officers and his own servants. In his ever modest way he says nothing of the crowds which hailed him on the journey, but simply notes down his observation of the appearance of the country and the places where he was entertained. As there was no Boswell or news reporter with him, we must be satisfied with what his own diary affords. No doubt, however, our people were not backward in coming out to see the great chief pass by, and cheer him on his way. I copy verbatim from his diary that which relates to Palmer and vicinity:

"Tuesday, Oct. 22 (1789). Set out at 7 o'clock from Springfield, and for the first 8 miles rid over an almost uninhabited Pine plain; much mixed with sand. Then a little before the road descends to Chicopee river it is hilly, rocky and steep, and continues so for several miles; the country being stony and barren, with a mixture of Pine and Oak till we came to Palmer, at the house of one Scott, where we breakfasted; and where the land though far from good begins to mend; to this is called 15 miles; among these Pines are Ponds of fresh water. From Palmer to Brookland (Brookfield) to one Hitchcock's is 15 miles, part of which is pretty good, and part (crossing the hills) very bad, but whereon, the grade begins to get tolably good, and the country better cultivated, though the crops of corn do not look well and have been injured, it is said by an early frost in September. A beautiful fresh water pond and large is in the plain of Brookland (Brookfield). The fashion of the houses are more diversified than in Connecticut, though many are built in their style. The enclosures have but indifferent fences, wood or stone, according as the country abounds with the latter, of which it is full after passing the pine lands. At Brookland (Brookfield) we fed the horses and dispatched an express which was sent to me by Gov. Hancock, giving notice of the measure he was at, and to prepare for my reception on the road, and in Boston, with a request to lodge at his house."

The Scott house alluded to above stood where Andrew Holt now lives, and was kept by William Scott, 3d. The linen used on the table from which Washington breakfasted was kept in the family many years, to commemorate the occasion.

The above extract leaves no doubt in the mind concerning the presence of Washington in our town, but we have to regret the absence of the old historic tavern in which he was entertained, for if it had been preserved, it would now be a veritable Mecca, hallowed as it was by the footsteps of one of the greatest men ever produced in America.

A HEN'S LEGACY.

"If there is one thing I despise more than another," remarked a gentleman the other day, "it is a man who does not regard the truth with sacred awe. I notice that the local papers are full of big egg, big pumpkin and other stories of that sort that have little real merit in them, and I fear that some of them do not even have the redeeming virtue of being strictly true. I believe they are exaggerated. Now, I have a story for you that is not only a good one, but it is true. What does a story amount to if it is not true? Any fool can make up a lie. I hate a liar. Here is my story:

"'Madam, what is the matter with that hen?'

"'That hen,' she said, 'is lame. She has an artificial leg.'

"'Oh, it has, has it?'

"'Yes. You know there was some very cold weather last winter, and one night the hen froze her leg off. I pitied her. I nursed her and doctored her up, and she finally got well. But she couldn't walk on one leg, so I just stuck a clothespin on the stump of her leg, tied a string around it, to hold it on, and she does very well with it.'

"'Well, well,' I said, 'if that isn't strange!'

"'Yes,' replied the lady with a smile, 'but that isn't the strange part of it!'

"'No?'

"No, indeed! The strange part of it happened afterward, and one would scarcely believe it if one hadn't seen it with one's own eyes. This spring that hen with the clothespin leg wanted to hatch. I didn't think she could. 'Fraid she'd break the eggs with her stump. But I kind o' pitied her 'cause she was a cripple, and put thirteen eggs under her. She stuck tight to her business for three weeks and never broke an egg—hatched out every chicken.'

"'Well,' I said, 'that is not so remarkable.'

"'No,' replied the woman, 'that was not so very odd, but that isn't it. The funny part of it was that every one of those little chickens had a wooden leg.'"—Louisville Post.

Free Pills.

Send your address to H. E. Bucklin & Co., Chicago, and get a free sample box of Dr. King's New Life Pills. A trial will convince you of their merits. These pills are easy in action and are particularly effective in the cure of constipation and sick headache. For malaria and liver troubles they have been proved invaluable. They are guaranteed to be perfectly free from every deleterious substance and to be purely vegetable. They do not weaken by their action, but by giving tone to the stomach and bowels greatly invigorate the system. Regular size 25c per box. Sold by LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

THE BEST SALVE in the world for cuts bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

All Free.

Those who have used Dr. King's New Discovery know its value, and those who have not, have now the opportunity to try it free. Call on the advertised druggists and get a trial bottle, free. Send your name and address to H. E. Bucklen & Co., Chicago, and get a sample box of Dr. King's New Life Pills, free, as well as a copy of Guide to Health and Household Instructor, free. All of which is guaranteed to do you good and cost you nothing. LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

WORTH A LICKING.

Some years ago, in Georgia, that sect known as Ascensionists were having a great revival. One day when the meeting was in full force a storm came up, and a young gentleman who was out hunting with his servant took refuge in the church door. Being curious to see the service, the two hunters crept up into the gallery, and there hid in a place where they could observe without being observed.

"Come, Lord, come; our robes are ready. Come, Lord, come;" cried the preacher, while all present gave a loud "Amen."

"Marsa Gabe," whispered Cuffy, lifting his hunting-horn to his mouth: "Let me gib dem jist one toot?"

"Put that horn down or I'll break your head," replied his master, in a whisper.

The horn dropped by Cuffy's side, and again a brother cried: "Come, Lord, we are ready for thy coming. Come, Lord, come!"

"Do, Marsa Gabe—do jist lemme gib 'em jist one little toot," pleaded Cuffy, wetting his lips and raising his horn.

"If you don't drop that horn, Cuffy, I'll whip you within an inch of your life," whispered the exasperated master.

"Blow, Gabriel, blow; we are ready for his coming. Blow, Gabriel, blow!" shouted the minister.

Cuffy could no longer resist the temptation, and sent a wild peal ringing from end to end of the church; but long before its last echo died away his master and himself were the only occupants of the church.

"I's ready fur de licking, Marsa Gabe," said Cuffy, showing every tooth in his head, "fur I 'clare to gracious, it's worf two lickings to see de way common farm cattle kin git ober de ground wid skeared 'Scensionists behind 'em."—Epworth Herald.

Bobbs—"What are you going to do tomorrow?" Slobbs—"I can't say until the time comes. I may go sleighing and I may go out in my canoe."—Philadelphia Record.

Dangerous Drugs.

Avoid the use of white or pink headache powders, they contain dangerous drugs Taylor's Anti-Headache Powders are brown; they look like ground coffee and they have a delightful aromatic taste. Try them once and you will never be without them. Get them of LeGro & Lynde.

THIS IS THE MONTH

to cleanse the blood! Malaria, Chills and Fever, that dull, heavy, tired feeling, pimples, blotches and headaches, all are due to bad blood. Prepare the system for Summer's tremendous drain upon your energy by using the scientific blood purifier

DR. CLARK JOHNSON'S

INDIAN BLOOD SYRUP

Not an experiment, but a household remedy for 30 years, for all blood diseases, Rheumatism, Scrofula, Liver and Kidney Complaint and lack of vitality. Millions of bottles sold. Easy to buy, easy to take. Try it!

50c. per bottle; all druggists.

Insurance

of every kind placed at short notice, and all favors duly appreciated.

Yours truly,
S. H. HELLYAR.

A combination of leavening agents that are pure, strong and pre-eminently satisfactory in their action, has resulted in

BOSS BAKING POWDER

which is "The kind Boss makes his biscuits with" and has for 32 years. Over 3,000,000 pounds sold in the past year testify to their popularity.

MANUFACTURERS C. D. BOSS & SON, NEW LONDON, CONN.

"Knocks Out All Others."

BattleAx PLUG

A GREAT BIG PIECE FOR 10 CENTS

The Large Piece and High Grade of "Battle Ax" has injured the sale of other brands of higher prices and smaller pieces. Don't allow the dealer to impose on you by saying they are "just as good" as "Battle Ax," for he is anxious to work off his unsalable stock.

"THRIFT IS A GOOD REVENUE." GREAT SAVING RESULTS FROM CLEANLINESS AND

SAPOLIO

4-1

GET OUTSIDE SOME GLASSES OF THAT ICE COLD SODA.

You will realize that there is some good left in life after all, and something to look forward to when you have had one glass, you will want another, and still another—sometime at least. So much for the pleasure of life. The necessities you will find amongst our things, and medicines to dispose of that disagreeable feeling which may be worse to-morrow if neglected. For all of which call at

ALLEN'S DRUG STORE,
Holden's Block, Palmer.

E. S. Bryant, D. M. D., Dentist,

Lynde's Block, Palmer.
Office hours: 8.30 to 12.30. 1.30 to 5 p. m.

F. M. EAGER.

Boots and Shoes Manufactured to Measure.

REPAIRING NEATLY DONE AT SHORT NOTICE.

Dealer in Sewing Machines and Supplies.

Machines to rent or sold on monthly payments.

F. M. EAGER, PALMER.

D. N. BUTTERWORTH, dealer in

CARRIAGES of EVERY DESCRIPTION.

Canopy top, extension top, surrey top and open buggies. Spindle wagons, banner wagons, grocery wagons, business wagons, mason's wagons and carpenter's wagons. Order wagons, road carts.

10 Concord buggies at less than cost to make, a good bargain. Also second-hand wagons.

Large stock of harness, robes, blankets.

I can sell the above goods as low as can be bought of any dealer. My expenses are lower than anyone in the business. I was never undersold and won't be. Come and satisfy yourselves at

60 DWIGHT ST., SPRINGFIELD, MASS.
D. N. BUTTERWORTH.

BOYS' SUITS.

Do your boys need new clothes?

If so, we can give you suit after suit, the best the country over for style, fit, durability and price. We have doubled, trebled our boys' stock, and you get an assortment larger, more varied, better every way, and at prices lower and better than ever before.

Reefer suits, junior suits, brownie suits, jacket and pant suits, sailor suits.

Reefer suits, 3 to 8 years. 2-piece suits, 6 to 15 years.

Our reefer, junior and brownie suits are marvels of neatness, and comprise style after style of all-wool fabric handsomely braided, deep sailor collars, in blue and light and dark mixtures—$1.98, $2.50, $3.50, $4, $4.50 and $5.

In our 2-piece suits, age 6 to 15, we have a special drive, comprising 19 styles in a variety of shades, double seat and knee, taped seams and perfectly made, guaranteed all wool, at $2.50.

Dressy suits in brown, black, blue and light Scotch mixtures, at $3, $3.50, $4, $5, $6, and $6.50.

Boys' odd pants, made in double seat and knees, blue, black, gray, brown and corduroy, at 48c.

BOYS' SUITS.

How about that boy with long pants?

HAS HE GOT TO HAVE A SUIT? Boys' long pant suits, age 14 to 19 years, come in immense variety, and a most popular line comes in blue, black and gray, single or double breasted, at $6.50. It's a most popular, wear-resisting line, and they are fully equal in style, fit and finish, to suits sold by other houses at $8.50 and $10.

Boys, we have a treat in store for you. Come and see this suit.

Other suits we will be glad to show you, ranging in price from $4 to $15. We have selected the best and choicest product of home and foreign markets.

See our BOYS' SWEATERS at 98c.

See our BOYS' GOLF CAPS at 25c.

Boys' collars, boys' ties, boys' stockings.

Everything for the BOYS, stylish, durable and at the LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICE.

The place to buy. To buy the best.

MEIGS & CO.

383-385 Main St., SPRINGFIELD.

The place to buy. To buy the cheapest.

The Palmer Journal.

VOLUME XLVII. PALMER, MASS., FRIDAY EVENING, MAY 1, 1896. NUMBER 5.

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY EVENING
—BY—
C. B. FISKE & CO.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.—Two dollars a year. A discount of 25 cents to those who pay in advance. Six months, $1.00; three months, 50 cents; single copies, 4 cents.

ADVERTISING RATES.—One inch (or twelve lines of this type solid) 75 cents for the first insertion, 25 cents for the second, 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. Short advertisements, "Wanted," "To Let," etc., one cent a word for the first insertion, one-half cent a word each subsequent insertion, cash; no charge less than 25 cents. Notices in local column, 15 cents per line. Liberal rates to yearly advertisers.

JOB PRINTING of all kinds executed in the best styles, promptly and at reasonable rates.

C. B. FISKE. L. E. CHANDLER.

[Entered at Post Office as second class matter.]

LOCAL BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

PALMER.

ALLEN, O. P., Wholesale and Retail Druggist and Bookseller.

BARTON, F. D., Dealer in Watches, Clocks and Jewelry, Main street.

BILLS, G. A., Fresh and Salt Beef, Pork, Ham, Lard, Tripe, etc.

BROOKS, EDWIN E., Graduate Optician. With E. S. Brooks, Jeweler, Main street.

BROOKS, E. S., Dealer in Watches, Clocks, Jewelry, Solid Silver and Plated Ware, Main street.

BROWN, C. A. & CO., Hardware, Furnaces, Stoves, Ranges, Paints, Oils and Glass.

BROWN, S. H., Trucking, Light Jobbing, Piano Moving. Order box cor. Main and Walnut streets. Orders can also be left at J. F. Foley's store.

CARPENTER, Mrs. L. E., Millinery and Fancy Goods. Also dealer in Human Hair Goods.

CHANDLER BROS., Bicycles.

CLARK & HASTINGS, Wholesale Dealers in Armour & Co's. Dressed Beef, Provisions, Main St.

EAGER, F. M., Boot and Shoe Manufacturer to Order, and dealer in Leather and Findings.

FISKE, C. B. & CO., Publishers PALMER JOURNAL and WARE STANDARD. Fine Book and Job Printers and Bookbinders.

FITCH, A. E., Law and Insurance, Savings Bank Block.

FRANCIS, R. B., Iron Foundry and Machine Shop.

GAMWELL, C. K., Ready made Clothing, Hats, Caps, Gent's Furnishings, etc.

GARDNER, CHAS. L., Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Church street.

GOODES, E., Palmer Boot and Shoe Store, corner Main and Thorndike streets.

HAMILTON, J. A., Dealer in all kinds of Coal, Wood, Grain, Flour, Baled Hay and Straw. Fertilizers and Stock Food. Main street.

HOLBROOK, C. D., Flour, Grain, Feed and Masons' Supplies, Main street.

HOLBROOK, J. F., Dealer in all kinds of Coal. Agent for National and White Star line of steamers. Drafts on Foreign Banks at lowest rates.

LEACH, W. W., Attorney at Law.

LEGRO & LYNDE, Druggists and Newsdealers, Paper Hangings, Shades, Lamps and Fixtures.

MARCY, F. F., Dealer in Lumber, Shingles, etc., wholesale and retail. West of B. & A. R.R. depot.

MARCY, OSCAR C., Livery and Feed Stable, rear of Converse House.

PALMER WATER CO., Office, Lawrence Block. Office hours to October 1, from 8.30 to 10 a. m., from 2 to 3 p. m.

SHAW, J. B., Dealer in Dry Goods, Groceries, etc. Opposite the depot.

WHITE, C. W., Marble and Granite Works. No. 1 Thorndike street.

WOOLRICH & CO., Manufacturers of Ridge's Food, Thorndike street.

THORNDIKE.

ADAMS, A. P., Druggist, Toilet Articles, Confectionery and Cigars.

BONDSVILLE.

HOLDEN, C. L., Dry Goods, Groceries, Clothing Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps, etc.

MORIARTY, M., Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots Shoes, Coal. AgtWhite Star and Anchor SS Co's

WARE.

ALBERTINE, J. A. Choice Fruits, Tobaccos, Cigars and Confectionery. Low Prices

DAVIS INSURANCE AGENCY represents the best companies and gives lowest rates.

DWIGHT, R. N., Harness, Horse Saddlery, Hardware. Repairing a Specialty. Next to Bank.

EDDY, C. W. Job and Fine Art Printer.

EDDY, MISS MATIE K. Teacher of Oil Painting and Crayon. Sketching or Art Work completed to order.

ELDREDGE, A. HENRY. Sign Painter. Carriages painted in the best manner. West Street.

HARLOW, A. B. Photographer. Instantaneous process only. Opposite the Bank.

HOSMER, F. N. Clothier. Hats, Caps, Gents' Furnishing Good, etc. Sanford's Block.

MARSH, F. E. Gold, Silver and Nickel Plater. Replating tableware a specialty. 7 Bank street.

PRIEST, J. E. Ware Steam Laundry. Carpet cleaning. Office at H. M. Clark's.

RICHARDSON, A. F. Dealer in Boots, Shoes and Rubbers of all kinds. Sagendorph's Block.

ROBINSON, JOHN F. Furniture, Sewing Machines, Pictures, Hardware, Paints and Farming Tools.

SIBLEY, J. B. Hardware, Tools, Agricultural Implements, Paints, Oils and Artists' materials.

SMITH, G. H. W. Jeweler. Watches, Clocks and Spectacles. Repairing in the best manner.

SULLIVAN & STRONG, Ware Cooperative Laundry. Fine Work and Carpet Cleaning. Office, 50 Main Street.

TURNER, H. H. Bookseller and Stationer, and dealer in Paper Hangings, Musical Instruments and Sheet Music.

MONSON.

GROUT, GEO. E. Dealer in Watches Clocks, Jewelry, etc. Towne's Block.

NEWTON, GEO. H., Law Office, Notary Public, Insurance, etc., near Gage's store.

SQUIER & CO., Dealers in Grain, Feed, Hay, Straw, Lumber, Shingles and Building Material.

WARREN.

KELLEY, W. H., Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Quaboag Block, Warren, Mass.

SOCIETY DIRECTORY.

MONSON.

MT. ELLA LODGE, No. 184, A. O. U. W. Meets first and third Tuesdays of each month in A. O. U. W. Hall, Monson
FISK G. ROGERS, M. W., F. J. ENTWISTLE, Rec.

THE Yellow Fellow

is all right. And so are our line of

Warwicks,
Stearns,
Eclipse,
Envoys,
Crescents,
Pierce.

Give us a call. We are only too glad to talk with you.

WHEELS CLEANED AND REPAIRED.

E. A. Buck & Co.,
Cross Block,
PALMER.

CARPET CLEANING.

Having put in machinery for cleaning carpets by the method of beating, brushing and airing, I am now ready to receive orders. Special attention paid to taking up and relaying carpets; orders by mail promptly attended to. Carpets called for and delivered free of charge.

26-52 GEO. B. KENERSON, Park St., Palmer.

FINEST ROAD-BED ON THE CONTINENT.

BOSTON & ALBANY RAILROAD.

Only Double-Track Route to the West.

ON AND AFTER DEC. 2, 1895.

Through Trains will Leave Boston as follows:

No. 7.—Day Express.

8:30 a. m.—Daily, except Sunday. Has Wagner buffet drawing-room car Boston to Albany, there connecting with through cars to all points West. Stops at Palmer 10.53 a. m.

No. 15.—Chicago Special.

10:30 a. m.—Daily. The finest train running in New England. A solid vestibuled Wagner train, comprising buffet, library and smoking car, sleeping cars and dining car Boston to Chicago, via the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern R. R., and also via Michigan Central R. R.

No. 19.—North Shore Limited.

2:00 p. m.—Daily. Has through vestibuled buffet sleeping cars Boston to Detroit and Chicago, via Michigan Central R. R. Dining car attached at Albany.

No. 23.—Cincinnati Express.

3:00 p. m.—Daily. Has through vestibuled buffet Sleeping car Boston to Chicago via Lake Shore and Michigan Southern R. R., and to St. Louis and Cincinnati via Big Four Route. Stops at Palmer 5.20 p. m.

No. 9.—Pacific Express.

7:15 p. m.—Daily. Has through sleeping cars Boston to Chicago, via Michigan Central. Sleeping car Boston to Buffalo, parlor car Buffalo to Cleveland, sleeping car Cleveland to Chicago via Lake Shore & Michigan Southern.

No. 63.—Albany Express.

11:00 p. m.—Daily, except Saturday. Has sleeping car Boston to Albany. Stops at Palmer 1.46 a. m.

TRAINS LEAVE PALMER FOR BOSTON.

6 22	a. m.	Accommodation.
7.32	"	"
8.25	"	Daily Express.
10.00	"	Express, except Sunday.
11.42	"	Accommodation.
1.40	p. m.	Express.
3.12	"	"
4 42	"	Accommodation.
6 49	"	Daily Express.
7.55	"	Sundays only. Express.
9.03	"	Express.

Time tables showing local and through service between all Stations, may be obtained at all ticket offices of this Company.
City Office, 366 Washington Street.
Station, Kneeland Street, Boston, Mass.
52-32 A. S. HANSON, Gen. Passenger Agent.

CENTRAL VERMONT RAILROAD.

NEW LONDON DIVISION.

TAKING EFFECT DECEMBER 22, 1895.

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

Leave Brattleboro, 5.40 and 10.20 a. m. and 4.25 p. m. for New London, connecting at Millers Falls with Fitchburg R. R., at Belchertown with Central Massachusetts R. R., and at Palmer with B. & A. R. R. for Worcester, Boston, Springfield, at New London with the N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R.
Leave Amherst, 7.05 a. m., 12.13 and 5.57 p. m.
Leave Palmer, 8.25 a. m., 1.50 and 7.00 p. m.
Leave Willimantic for New London, 8.25, 9.45 a. m. 3.25, 6.40 and 8.29 p. m.

GOING NORTH.

Leave New London, 5.20 and 7.40 a m, and 2.30 p. m.
The 5.20 and 7.40 a. m. and 2.30 p. m. run through to Brattleboro and make connections for the north.
Leave New London for Willimantic and intermediate stations, 10.00 a. m. and 5.25 p. m.
Leave Palmer for Brattleboro, 8.20, 11.00 a. m. and 7.10 p. m. connecting with express for Montreal. Also with Grand Trunk R. R. for the West.
Leave Palmer for Amherst, 8.20 and 11.00 a. m. and 7.10 p. m.

SUBJECT TO CHANGE WITHOUT NOTICE.

D. MACKENZIE, Supt. J. A. SOUTHARD, D. P. A. New London, Ct.
S. W. CUMMINGS, G. P. A., St. Albans.

BOSTON & MAINE R. R.

SOUTHERN DIVISION
(CENTRAL MASSACHUSETTS)
CORRECTED TO OCTOBER 6. 1895.

TRAINS LEAVE WARE:

GOING EAST

FOR Boston—6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14, p. m Sundays 6.55 a. m.
RETURNING—leave Boston 8.45 a. m.; 1.30, 4.00 p. m. Sundays, 1.30 p. m.
FOR Worcester—6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14 p. m. Sundays, 6.55 a. m.
RETURNING—leave Worcester 9.15 a. m.; 2.25, 4.58 p. m.
FOR Oakdale, Hudson and Waltham—6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14 p. m. Sundays, 6.55 a. m.
FOR Gilbertville, Barre and Coldbrook—6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14 p. m. Sundays, 6.55 a. m.

GOING WEST

FOR Bondsville, Belchertown, Pansy Park, Amherst, Hadley and Northampton, 7.15, 11.24 a. m., 4.28, 6.47 p. m. Sundays, 4.35 p. m.
RETURNING—leave Northampton 6.55, 8.05 a. m., 2.15, 6.10 p. m. Sundays, 5.55 a. m.

D. J. FLANDERS, Gen'l. Pass'r. Agt.
W. F. BERRY Gen'l Mgr.

Palmer Savings Bank,
Palmer, Mass.
Hours from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m.

President,
H. G. LOOMIS.

Vice Presidents,
C. H. HOBBS. H. P. HOLDEN. C. F. GROSVENOR.

Secretary,
WM. W. LEACH.

Treasurer,
H. W. MCGREGORY.

Trustees,
James B. Shaw, E. G. Hastings, C. H. Hobbs, George Mooers, R. C. Newell, Geo. E. Buck, H. G. Loomis, F. F. Marcy, A. L. Hills, T. D. Potter, H. Waid, Wm. Holbrook, H. P. Holden, Wm. W. Leach, C. F. Grosvenor, Jas. S. Loomis, C. L. Gardner, H.W. McGregory

Board of Investment,
Geo. Mooers, H. G. Loomis, E. G. Hastings, C. H. Hobbs, James B. Shaw.

Auditors,
Wm. W. Leach. C. F. Grosvenor.

TELEPHONE Stone for anything in dry goods or Groceries.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

LADIES' HOSE, 10 cents a pair, plain or ribbed. Bargain.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

POSTAL
Telegraph and Cable Co.

Office in Holden's Block,

PALMER, : : : : MASS.

Direct wires to New York and Boston. Office in all the principal cities in the

UNITED STATES.

PROMPT SERVICE,

REASONABLE RATES,

ALL BUSINESS

STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL.

HORSFORD'S BAKING POWDER.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

J. H. Rogers Carriage Co.,

MANUFACTURERS OF
Carriages,
AND DEALERS IN
Carriages of every description.

33 to 39 Sanford St., SPRINGFIELD.

We manufacture and carry in stock the finest line of carriages in New England. Come and look over our stock.

A FINE LINE OF SECOND HAND VEHICLES CONSTANTLY ON HAND . . . .

at very low prices.

IMPORTED SARDINES, boneless, 25c and 35c a box. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

RING OUT THE OLD, RING IN THE NEW.

The same note that heralds the advent of the new shirt waists sounds the knell of last year's favorites. The jaunty creations for this season are simply wonderful. When you see those new ones you won't regret the passing of the old. The price, too, will add to your satisfaction. ∴ ∵ ∴ ∵ ∴ ∵ ∴ ∵

SHIRT WAISTS. SPRING OF 1896. WRAPPERS.

AT 50c — Nice quality cambric, made with laundered cuffs and collars, banded yoke, full sleeves, assorted in pink, blue, tans, black and white.

AT 69c — Fancy striped percale, assorted in pinks, blue, tans. Made with turn-over collar, and 3½ inch straight cuffs, large sleeves, full front, pointed yoke. Laundered.

AT 79c — Fine percale goods, assorted in broad and narrow stripes, colors, pink, gold, gray. Full front and pointed yoke, highly laundered collars and cuffs.

AT 89c — French percaile goods in beautiful stripes and check designs. Colors, pink and white, blue and white, gold and white, black and white. Laundered collars and cuffs, turned over collars. Thoroughly made and will fit well.

For want of space we only advertise the above, but call and see what we are showing at $1, $1.25 and $1.50, before purchasing elsewhere.

AT 89c — Our ready made wrappers are of the best, best in make and fit, best in material, best in appearance, best in fact. See them.

AT $1.23 — Our wrappers have been very carefully selected this season, and at the price, they are trade winners. Made of good quality calico, with undervest same material, folded collars and plain cuffs.

AT $1.48 — Good quality percale. Sizes 32 to 44. Full yoke and trimmed with braid to match, button vest with over loop. Hook and eye. In light and dark colors.

AT $2.25 — French sateen with black ground, colored flowers—trimmed waist, narrow silk ribbon, fit guaranteed, pretty enough to be used as an afternoon tea gown. The wrappers for the price of making.

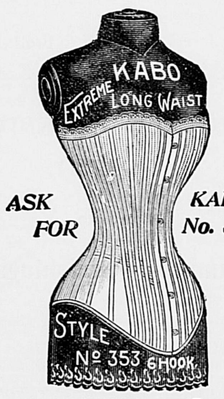
Money cheerfully refunded on all goods found not satisfactory. Wrappers or waists on approbation if desired.

A PERFECT PARADOX.

The term just fits the daintiest line of NEW SPANGLED BELTS that ever graced a counter or dressed a 20th century girl. The assortment is large and varied, and is the latest fad in the market, Good belts in all widths.

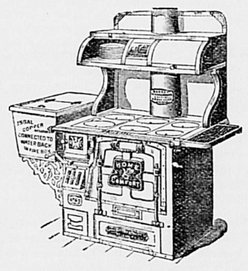
BELT PINS, STUD BELTS in great variety. A new line just received in LADIES' BOW TIES AND LONG TIES, in fact, all kinds of ties. Don't miss them.

T. H. TODD, MONSON.



Perfect fitting. Sure to give satisfaction.
Price only $1.00
For sale by D. L. BODFISH, Palmer.

There is one DRESS STAY that
Won't melt apart,
Can't cut through the dress,
Don't stay bent.
It is
BALL'S PEERLESS.
All lengths; all colors.



RUSSELL, MASS., March 14th, 1896.

Gentlemen:—One of the divisions of the Wrought Iron Range Co. of St. Louis, Mo., under the management of S. McCort, Supt., has been located in our midst for the past two months, and while here disposed of a large number of their celebrated Home Comfort Ranges, and as far as we have been able to learn the ranges are giving universal satisfaction. The dealings and conduct of these gentlemen we have found to be above reproach. We understand they are about to depart for a new field of labor, and we, the undersigned citizens, cheerfully recommend them to any community.

H. W. Arms, hotel proprietor.
William Mortimore.
Horace Parks, station agent B. & A. R. R.
L. S. Boynton, general merchandise and post office.
T. H. Clark, selectman and merchant.
E. D. Parks, postmaster.
W. S. Lincoln, Supt. Blandford B. & T. Co
Robert L. Parks, manager W. U. Tel. Co., Agent Am. Exp. Co.
A. S. Quensee, selectman.

Horse Blankets.

A full line, for both stable
.....and street use.....

375 BLANKETS IN STOCK.

PRICES RIGHT.

D. W. Foskit,
Foskit's Mills.

DRS. HUDSON & BARDEN,
DENTISTS.

Having severed connection with Dr. W. L. Roberts, we have opened an office in the PHOENIX, 307 MAIN ST, SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

By our exclusive method we guarantee to

FILL TEETH WITHOUT PAIN,

And by a simple application to the gums we are enabled to extract fully 95 per cent of all teeth WITHOUT PAIN.

Positively no injury to teeth or gums, and no physiological ill-effect to patient.

Artificial teeth on rubber, aluminium and gold bases.

All work guaranteed. Take elevator.

Drs. HUDSON & BARDEN,
307 Main Street, Springfield, Mass.

ARMOUR'S WHOLE OX TONGUE, canned. Kansas City brand is best. Telephone connections. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

We can sell you A NEW UPRIGHT PIANO for $225.

If you cannot pay it all down we will sell you on very easy terms. If you have the impression that we do not sell as low as others, call and see us, and we will convince you that we can sell lower.

TAYLOR'S
Music House,
412 MAIN STREET, SPRINGFIELD.

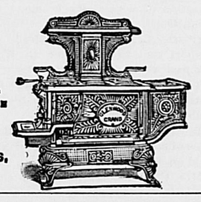
CHERRY BALSAM

Cures coughs, colds, throat and lung troubles. Others use it, we ask you to try it.

LeGro & Lynde, Druggists,
next to Post Office,
PALMER.

Piano and Banjo Lessons
given by
Misses Annie and Carrie Fish,
22-tf Palmer.

GLENWOOD RANGES
MAKE
COOKING EASY.
THREE GOLD MEDALS.



WEIR STOVE COMPANY, TAUNTON, MASS.
Agents in All Prominent Cities and Towns in New England.

Golf suits, golf stockings, golf caps, golf sweaters are here in large assortment.

MEIGS & COMPANY.

WE ARE - - - -

drawing the attention of the best dressed men in town and the surrounding towns to our stupendous offerings in

MEN'S FINE SAILOR-MADE, READY-TO-WEAR SPRING AND SUMMER SUITS AT $10, $12, $13.50, $15, $18, $20.

Here you will find every new up-to-date fabric. Neat gray worsteds, the new shade of brown in a clay weave, handsome plaids and over plaids, neat checks, and conservative weaves in fancy cassimeres and tweeds. No larger display of patterns and assortment can be found under one roof.

TOP COATS in covert cloth, handsome light tan shades, 34 or 36 inches long. $10, $13.50, $15, $18.

The conservative overcoat, 40 inches long, in dark cassimeres, clay worsteds, cheviots and covert cloth, none but what we can sell for strictly all wool—$6, $7.50, $8.50, $10, $13.50, $15, $18.

TROUSERS, some call them pants, but the price is the same. Good all wool, not coarse or shoddy, that will wear and wear well, $2—little better, little more style in the pattern, $2.50—still finer qualities, $3, $4 and $5.

Our name on every garment, shirt, collar, or hat is a guarantee of their good wearing qualities.

MEIGS & CO.

383-385 Main St., SPRINGFIELD.
(Corner Harrison Avenue.)

OPEN MONDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY EVENINGS.

SMITH & MURRAY.
SPRINGFIELD.

To be well dressed, Madame, need not mean to be extravagantly dressed. It used to, but our way of making the whole world tributary to the store has whittled down expenses and high charges until the modest housewife of to-day can command elegancies that queens could not reach a few generations ago.

Women's dresses, ready to wear.

Supremacy in dress selling rests with us season after season.

We've originated, season after season, the most taking styles. We've raised the standard of excellence in women's tailoring.

AT $7.50--

Blazer suit of worsted serge in blue or black. Skirt 5 yards wide, lined with cambric and finished with velveteen binding.

AT $10--

Blazer suit of fine storm serge. Blazer silk lined, beautifully made. Will compare favorably with suits that some dealers ask $12.50 for.

AT $15--

Blazer and reefer suits. Jackets lined with fancy silks, neatly trimmed with buttons. Skirts perfect hanging and very full.

Finer suits at $20, $25, $35 and $45.

Styles and sizes not in stock made to order in ten days.

Second floor, take elevator.

For men's wear.

Underwear for the higher temperature. Medium-weight wool shirts and drawers in natural colors, 50 cents each.
Men's negligee shirts, laundered collars and cuffs, 50c, 75c, $1.
Men's fancy shirts, collars and cuffs to match, 75c and $1.
Men's sweaters, sailor collars, black, blue and red, $2 50, worth $3.50.
Boys' sweaters, sailor collars, black, blue and red, 75c
" " " " $1.

Main entrance, left.

SMITH & MURRAY.
SPRINGFIELD.

RED KIDNEY BEANS, and salt pork.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Good stock and the best of care

PRODUCES

A 1 milk and cream.

MAPLE LAWN MILK FARM,
O. D. Wells, Proprietor.

It not only is so, it must be so, One Minute Cough Cure acts quickly, and that's what makes it go. LeGro & Lynde.

Wall Papers.

New styles, spring patterns. Borders to match.
How nice your rooms will look with new paper on them, and more healthy, too.
For the . . .
largest and best assortment,
. . . go to
LeGRO & LYNDE'S,
next to post office, PALMER.

ISLAND BRAND LOBSTER, finest goods. Try one can. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Comfort One Another.

Comfort one another,
For the way is growing dreary,
And the feet are often weary,
And the heart is very sad;
There is heavy burden-bearing
When we think that none are caring,
And we half forget that we are glad.

Comfort one another,
With the hand-clasp close and tender,
With the sweetness love can render
And with looks of friendly eyes.
Do not wait with grace unspoken,
While life's daily bread is broken—
Gentle speech is oft like manna from the skies.

Comfort one another,
These are words of music ringing
Down the ages, sweet as singing
Of the happy choirs above.
Ransomed saints, and mighty angel
Lift the grand deep-voiced evangel
Where forever they are praising the eternal love.

Comfort one another—
By the hope of Him who sought us
In our peril—He bought us,
Paying with his most precious blood,
By the faith that will not alter,
Trusting strength that will not falter,
Leaning on the One divinely good.

Comfort one another.
Let the grave gloom lie beyond you,
While the Spirit's words remind you
Of the home beyond the tomb;
Where no more is pain or parting,
Fever's flush to tear-drops starting,
But the presence of the Lord, and for all His people room.

—Independent.

CURLEY LOCK.

Robert Brayton, millionaire, sat in his private office for a moment, alone. The morning had been a busy one, and his visitors of a particularly trying kind; and now they were gone he breathed a sigh of relief, a sigh that sounded exactly like that of any ordinary individual.

Harry Temple, clerk and private secretary, sat in the outer office, wearily opening the pile of letters the postman had just left on his desk. He had sorted them in piles—the business letters were in one pile, circulars, etc., in a second, private letters in the third, while the fourth held what he termed the "crank letters."

The business letters were opened first, and more work given to the young typewriter, who sat gazing out of the window. Those requiring Mr. Brayton's personal attention were merely glanced through, in order to ascertain their nature.

Finally he reached the crank pile. It was larger than usual, but of the same nature. There were numerous demands for endowments for old ladies' homes, unheard of missions and numberless odd societies, and the usual number of requests for situations, advice, etc.

One ambitious young man wanted to borrow $25, that he might be married at once and show the city swells whom he had cut out how things were done in Jersey.

A young girl far out in the country wanted his neckties, if they weren't too soiled. She was making a crazy quilt for the cattleshow. Already she had bits of silk from several noted persons; wouldn't he please oblige her?

Another wanted any old gloves his daughter might be ready to lay aside. She wouldn't mind if they were a little large; they wore better if they were.

It was the old story over again, and one after another they were thrown into the yawning waste basket.

The last envelope bore a child's handwriting. The address had begun boldly and with care but it was too long, and the last name was crowded, and the letters ran uphill.

Half curiously young Temple tore it open. Children were not common as correspondents, and Mr. Brayton had a warm spot in his heart for children.

The paper was highly scented by a mixture of cheap cologne and soap; in the upper left-hand corner was an embossed landscape of the most impossible color and perspective. It read:

"Please Mr. Brayton won't you help me buy Nellie Fowler a new eye? Maybe you don't know who she is; well, she is a little girl who got hurt when the men blasted the road she was near, and they didn't see her and a big piece of rock hit her in the eye and then she couldn't see, and the doctor he said it must come out, and so he cut it out and now she hasn't got but one eye and it looks bad. She used to be real pretty and we called her Curley Lock, cause her hair is curley, but it makes you kind o' sick when you see that grate hole in her face, and she keeps a rag tied over it mostly, and she cries a great deal cause she looks so homely, and the dr. says she ought to have a Glass eye, but they don't make them here, and she too poor anyway, cause her father's dead, and her mother's sick, I've kind o' adopted her and I want to get her an eye awful. Say, won't you help me. You can address me

JOHNNIE LEE, ESQ.

"P. S.—Ain't this paper pretty. I bought it to the Post office and it cost five cents."

Harry Temple leaned back in his chair and gave a low whistle. The typewriter looked up from her pile of letters and smiled; but Harry was busy reading the letter.

Just after the noon hour, when Mr. Brayton returned to his office, he was given his mail, and as he proceeded to open it, he noticed that young Temple lingered.

"What is it?" he asked.

"Here is a letter," hesitatingly replied the young man, "which I don't know whether you wish to see or not," and he turned it over in his hand.

"One of your famous 'crank letters?'" queried Mr. Brayton. "Better let me see it, if it's a good one;" and he smiled as he held out his his hand.

"Poor little cuss," he said to himself; "you pin all your faith in the goodness of rich men, don't you."

Young Temple went out from the office and stood gazing down into the tumultuous street.

But in a moment his meditations were disturbed. Mr. Brayton was a man of action, and he stood in the doorway now.

"Temple!" he called. His voice was quick and incisive. "Go out and buy a ticket to that unknown place, will you? And you Miss Curry," turning to the typewriter, "inform Johnnie Lee, Esq., that Robert Brayton will receive him in his office at Mr. Lee's earliest convenience. And enclose ticket, please."

Her fingers flew over the keys, and Temple, who was half way to the door, stopped a moment. "The youngster may not have any decent clothes," he suggested.

Mr. Brayton looked thoughtful for a moment.

"Pshaw, never mind, let us see him as he is;" and the man of business went back to his stocks and bonds.

* * * * * * * * *

Three days passed and the episode had not been mentioned in the office.

Early on the morning of the fourth day, long before fashionable New York was awake, there was a timid knock at the office door. Then it opened.

It was a queer little figure that stood there, but Temple knew it at once. It was Johnnie Lee. He was a happy looking youngster, round-faced and tanned and freckled. His clothes bore the unmistakable stamp of home manufacture from cast off garments. But it was a cheery voice that spoke. "Howdy do! Mr. Brayton at home? I'm Johnnie Lee."

No, Temple informed him, Mr. Brayton wasn't in yet; he could wait; and he gave him a chair and proceeded to question him how he managed to find his way.

"Oh," Johnnie said, "just as soon's I got your letter I wanted to start right off; but I had ter wait fer ma to make me a new coat." He glanced proudly at the ill-fitting jacket.

"It was great fun coming, 'cause in one place the cars was awful crowded and lots of folks had to stand. One fellow wanted me to give him my seat, and the conductor said I'd better, too, 'cause I was a youngster and could stand's well as not. But, sir, says I, no sir, I ain't a giving up seats this trip; and I wish to be comfortable myself, for I have business with Robert Brayton. Then he looked at me queer and walked away. New York's an awful big place, ain't it? I've walked about a million miles, and I thought I must have got here a hundred times. I should think you'd find it pretty hard work getting here every day, don't you?"

Temple assured him, very gravely, that it was easy after one knew the way.

And as they kept on talking, Johnnie expressed his opinion on all subjects, from the revival at home to the Brooklyn strike. He was an Independent, he declared. He wouldn't be a Democrat, because Tom Faber was. He didn't quite like being a Republican, either. It was more convenient to be on the fence.

Just here Mr. Brayton came in. Johnnie didn't notice him particularly, for a good many had come in since he sat there. So for a moment or two Mr. Brayton listened with the others, then walked into his office, telling Temple to "send the youngster in."

And Johnnie went in; and just what conversation took place no one ever knew. The clerks in the outer office could hear the hum of voices, the rich, full voice of Mr. Brayton and the eager, childish voice of the boy. Then, when Mr. Brayton began to be in demand, Johnnie was sent out and Temple was told to make him useful until noon. So, until 12, he was kept at one thing and another; then when Mr. Brayton went out he took Johnnie with him.

First they went for lunch, Johnnie all unconscious of the interest and amusement he created, and Mr. Brayton only smiled and raised his eyebrows when his acquaintances looked, bowed and looked again.

Johnnie was modest in his desires for lunch. He despised soup—too watery for him, sir. He guessed he'd have some turkey and stuffin' and sweet potato and pumpkin pie, ice cream and nuts.

These disposed of, they went to a store, where Johnnie was told to select an eye like Nellie's, and as he did so, Mr. Brayton stood near the window, apparently looking out; but his sharp eye was on the boy, and his quick ear caught the conversation.

"No," said Johnnie, very emphatically, "that isn't the color at all. It's a different blue, just like the lake in summer when there ain't any clouds."

One tray and another was brought, but the blue the boy wanted was not there.

Finally he spied an eye in the showcase.

"That's it!" he cried. "Lets have her."

"That is an imported one of the very finest material," remarked the clerk, with a doubtful look at Johnnie, and an inquiring one at Mr. Brayton's back, "and it cost a great deal."

"Well," said Johnnie, drawing himself up with an air of superiority, "I just guess you don't know who wants to buy that eye. Mr. Brayton, here, sir, can buy anything in all this world that he wants. I guess if you'd only one eye you'd want the other to be like it, even if it is imported," with a mimicking stress on the word.

Here Mr. Brayton interposed.

"Let the boy have it," he said; and so, with the eye in its velvet box and Johnnie's pockets suffed with pamphlets telling how to insert and clean the eye, they left the store. And then, after they had bought a box of candy for Nellie, they went back to the office. There he told them about what he had seen, then gravely shook hands with them all, said good-by and started off. He had been gone only a few moments when Mr. Brayton came in from his office.

"Miss Curry," he said, "wouldn't you like a little trip? Our visitor has left his treasured eye behind him, and he may wish it. You might follow the youngster and see the end of this matter."

Miss Curry, nothing loth, shut her machine and departed. She caught sight of Johnnie just as he went into the ferry, and she followed him on the train and stepped off at the little village where he did.

But then she couldn't keep up with him. She saw him turn into a house and when once she reached it, she paused at the open door.

There was a little girl standing, looking expectantly at Johnnie, who was turning his pockets inside out in vain search for the eye.

"I had it—I had it!" he declared, and his face grew troubled, and finally the tears rolled down his cheeks.

"It was such a lovely eye," he moaned; "blue just like yours, and now it's lost, and I hate myself. I'm fit to be a Democrat;" and he threw himself into a chair as if all hope were gone.

The weary-faced mother turned her face away. Nellie's lips quivered; but she swallowed the sobs.

"Never mind, Johnnie," she said, stroking the freckled, tear-stained face of the boy—"never mind, Johnnie. You know it couldn't make me see, and I guess I don't look so very bad;" and she put her hand to the bandaged eye.

Then she looked up, for a strange lady stood in the door and handed her a package.

"See, Johnnie," she said.

Johnnie dashed the tears from his eyes and looked at the package. His face grew bright, and he tore off the papers, touched the spring of the box; and there on its white cushion lay the blue eye, smiling like Nellie's own.

"The eye! the eye!" he shouted. "See, Nellie; it's your very own;" and he threw his arms about her and kissed her again and again.

And Miss Curry, the tears fast blinding her eyes, hurried away from the happy scene.

* * * * * * * *

This is no regulation story. Johnnie Lee did not become Mr. Brayton's office boy and finally a millionaire himself. Young Temple and the typewriter did not marry each other and "live happy ever after."

In fact the whole episode was soon forgotten.

But in the far-away country town, where Johnnie is growing to sturdy manhood, the story of the trip to New York is ever a new one.

Strangers sometimes speak of the marvelous blue of Nellie's eyes, with their long, curling lashes.

Then she will repeat the words to Johnnie as he stops to leave the milk and chat, and they will laugh softly together while their faces are bright with happiness.

—Harriet Carlyle Coz, in Independent.

NOT TOO SEVERE.—"I see by yer paper," said Tuffold Knutt, who had picked up a scrap of newspaper and was blinking at it with his whisky and watery eyes, "that they wuz a banquet last night 'attended by Messrs. Thompson, Styles, Ferguson, Jones, et al.' Ef Jones ett all an' the others didn't git any he's a durned hawg. That's all."—Chicago Tribune.

Of Interest to Women.

EDITED BY MISS F. V. DOANE.

Daintiness as an Appetizer.

Let me give a description of a nurse's tray for sale at a recent hospital fair in Boston: The large tray was completely covered with a fine fringed damask tray cloth of purest white. On the tray was a tiny gold-lined silver creamer and a mated sugar bowl, a beautiful hand-painted china set consisting of a dainty teapot with an embroidered cosy to cover it, a small pitcher or water jug, a delicate teacup and saucer, a teaplate on which stood an oatmeal plate. On the oatmeal plate lay a folded napkin, and across the napkin three pink carnations. Then there was a silver dessert spoon, a teaspoon and a tea knife and fork, the whole arrangement so fresh and sweet, such a charm to the eye that its appearance in the sick room would surely tempt the delicate appetite, especially if furnished with the carefully prepared viands shown at the cookery department of the same fair. In an article, "Elements of Good Nursing," published in the JOURNAL Aug 3, '94, the author says: "The ideal nurse is neat. With her cleanliness is not only next to godliness, but above it. She realizes that sick people are sensitive, fastidious, dainty, and governs herself accordingly. She doesn't make a large quantity of broth or gruel and bring it before her patient in the selfsame bowl from day to day till all is eaten." This tray illustrates the doctor's idea, and he might have added that the ideal nurse is deft and dainty. This tray realizes the ideal of daintiness. Its exact counterpart may not be possible to every sick room, but there are few houses so illy provided but that its attractiveness can be repeated, if not its costliness. Select your prettiest wares for the sick room, and if you have a variety, change the appointments of the nurse's tray from day to day.

So far, so good, but not to sick people alone is daintiness in surroundings, an appetizer; to the well, also, is daintiness not only an appetizer but an uplifter, not to say an elevator. Dainty surroundings raise the act of eating from a mere animal indulgence to a higher plane, by bringing into activity at the same time the aesthetic sense. I am tempted to parody the often repeated lines, "Music hath charms to sooth the savage breast:" Beauty hath charms to please the savage eye. I believe the roughest and most enerate tramp hired as a farm hand may be made better and happier if the woman who lays the table for his dinner does it not only neatly but systematically, and brightens all with a spray of fresh flowers. I have seen a table that had fine damask scrupulously clean, and artistic china, look as if the wind had taken up the appointments and then dropped everything helter-skelter. The knives and forks lay at every possible angle, no two the same; the plates and everything else, ditto; and the food huddled at one side with a broad expanse of bare cloth on the other. Instead of being cut evenly, all slices of the same thickness and placed upon the bread plate as cut from the loaf, the bread was cut one slice very thin, another very thick, and all dumped in a hap-hazard fashion and perhaps in a toppling pile suggestive of the leaning tower of Pisa. I have seen a large platter of roast beef put on the table day after day, like the doctor's offensive bowl of gruel, till it was "all eaten." How much more attractive would it have been had the housekeeper had the taste and the care to cut thin slices across the grain of the meat and have placed a quantity evenly upon a platter of suitable size for her family and her table.

A common fault even among those who usually serve food neatly is the piling of steak layer above layer on a small platter. The man who carves finds it impossible to cut meat skillfully with such an arrangement, and splash goes the gravy on the clean table cloth—and too often, alas, splash goes also the temper of the housekeeper who, flushed and heated from broiling the steak, cannot refr

The Journal.

FRIDAY EVENING, MAY 1, 1896.

LOCAL NOTICES.

Columbia Bicycles, best made; Chandler Bros., Palmer.

If you are thinking of a bicycle, see the best $60 wheel in the market. F. D. Barton, agent.

All the boys and girls will want to read the fairy stories to commence in next week's JOURNAL.

Anyone reading this and wishing to sell warranted nursery stock on salary will do well to write to W. D. Chase Co., Nurserymen, Boston.

SUPERINTENDENT OF AGENCIES.—Mr Henry H. Kohn, of the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Company of Hartford, Ct., will be at the Converse House, in Palmer, in a day or two. Mr. Kohn is desirous of securing an energetic and wide-awake man to act as general agent for this old and popular company for the district. We can cordially recommend the Phoenix to those desiring to secure a profitable and permanent position. Letters should be addressed to him care of the hotel.

PALMER NEWS.

Precinct C License Ballot Not Counted.

Just what everybody expected was done in the supreme court at Springfield Tuesday regarding the disputed vote on the license question cast in precinct C, Judge Lathrop of Boston very promptly deciding that the intent of the voter could not possibly be determined, therefore the ballot could not be counted, and the petition for a writ of mandamus was denied.

The whole case occupied only about three-quarters of an hour. Town Clerk J. B. Shaw was the only person put upon the stand, and he simply for the purpose of establishing his connection with the board of registrars as its clerk, and proving the identity of the ballot, which was produced in court, the balance of the registrars being agreed that the ballot shown was the one in dispute. S. S. Taft made the plea for the petitioners, arguing that it was conceded by all that the voter of the ballot in dispute had intended to vote on the license question; no one claimed that he intended to vote "no," and consequently he must have intended to vote "yes." The law, he said, intended that a man's ballot should be counted when his intention could be determined; the mark on the ballot need not necessarily be in the square provided for it, and need not necessarily be a cross, a straight line answering equally as well, and being as effective if placed in any position on the line of the name intended to be voted for. District Attorney Gardner spoke briefly on the other side. Judge Lathrop said that he agreed that a ballot should be counted when the intent of the voter could be determined, but that from the position of the mark on the ballot in dispute it was impossible to know what the voter meant, and dismissed the petition.

Agricultural Society's Premium List.

The directors of the Eastern Hampden Agricultural society held an adjourned meeting yesterday and completed the revising of the premium list for the fair next September. In the cattle department the premiums have been left practically as heretofore; one new class has been added, a drawing match for oxen, to be tried on a drag; it will be open to all and an entrance fee of $1 will be charged, the premiums being $6, $4 and $2. The breeding and milch cows class has been dropped, and premiums of $7, $5 and $3 are offered for the best herd of eight milch cows; these may also compete in other classes. The premiums in the horse department have been materially changed, nearly all being considerably increased, the average being about double the amount offered in former years; to offset this increase an entrance fee of 10 per cent of the premium will be charged. The trotting classes have not been decided upon, but will be made up later, and the society will join the National Trotting Association, the experiment in that line last year proving so satisfactory. The premiums for vegetables have been adjusted, and those on fruits equalized. The premium list will be issued in pamphlet form in a short time.

Various School Matters.

The contract for supplying the schools with coal was awarded to J. F. Holbrook.

Miss Annie Bishop was elected teacher at the Mason district in place of Miss Berry, resigned.

It was voted to secure President E H Capen of Tufts College as the speaker at the high school graduation.

At a regular meeting of the school board Monday evening, Rev. W. H. Hart resigned as chairman of the board, and W. A. Breckenridge was unanimously elected to the vacancy.

Miss Brown, teacher in the first primary grade in the Depot village, was granted a leave of absence for the remainder of the term, and Miss Stone was elected substitute. Miss Brown is detained in Providence by the sickness of her mother.

Next Monday is the 100th anniversary of the birth of Horace Mann, and all the schools will have brief exercises commemorative of the event. At the high school the superintendent will give a talk on the life of Mr. Mann, and especially his work for the schools. This will come at the last period of the day, 12.45. The public is invited to look in on all the schools.

Attempt at Burglary.

An attempt at burglary was made at the Nassowanno House about 1.20 Tuesday morning. One of the girls employed in the house heard a breaking of glass and called the clerk, John Manning. He heard a noise in the barroom on Walnut street and hurried down, and as he went in the rear door a man ran out the front entrance; Manning followed and overtook the fellow on the street, laying him out by a blow with the flat side of a hatchet. He then discovered that the thief was a man whom he knew, and whose relatives were respectable people and had no idea that he would be found at such work; as the fellow had taken nothing he was allowed to go, and has now recovered from the effects of the blow on his head.

Fined $15 for Starving Horses.

Decision was rendered in the district court last Saturday in the cases against G. W. Ely, charged with starving his horses. There were seven counts against him. In the one relating to a bay stallion he was fined $15, but appealed and furnished bonds in the sum of $100 for his appearance in the superior court.

The other charges were dismissed, as the evidence tended to show that the condition of the animals was caused by sickness and other matters, and not from a deprivation of food to an extent sufficient to cause cruel suffering.

Fairy Stories for the Children.

Next week the JOURNAL will begin the publication of a series of illustrated fairy stories for children, and believes that all little ones will be interested in and enjoy them. These stories are copyrighted and have never been in print before, and are illustrated with pictures made expressly for them. The JOURNAL has secured the exclusive right to print these stories in this vicinity, and no other paper will have them. The stories will continue for at least thirteen weeks, and the first story will be in two chapters, so that every child should be careful to secure the first installment next week.

Communion at the churches next Sunday

E. G. Hastings is painting his residence on West Main street.

Mrs. Herbert Crofton visited friends in Springfield over Sunday.

T. J Dwyer has moved from Spring street to the west end of Park street

Miss Mabel Darling of Peacham, Vt., is visiting her sister, Mrs. E. H. Rollins.

J. W. Smith exhibits an egg measuring 6½ by 8¾ inches, laid by one of his hens.

Services will be at the usual hours next Sunday at St. Thomas's Catholic church.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Prescott and children spent Sunday with friends in Springfield.

Mrs. F. N. Carpenter's house on Thorndike street is receiving a new coat of paint.

The infant son of Mrs. William Miller, on "Hog Hill," died of diphtheria Wednesday.

Friends of Rev. F. E. Jenkins have presented him with money for the purchase of a bicycle.

Miss S. J. Webber has returned from Boston, and is stopping with Mrs. L. E. Chandler.

A. ... Hills has bought of the Odd Fellows the vacant lot in the rear of their opera house building.

H. N. Sager has closed his store in the Nassowanno block, and is moving his stock to Gardner, Me.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Phetteplace of Brookfield were guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Taylor over Sunday.

Silas Keith will have charge of the electric plant day-times when it is started up to furnish power.

E. W. Burns has secured a position in the Hotel Winchendon at Winchendon, and will move his family there.

Mrs. William Merriam is visiting her grandson in Springfield, Victor Frost, who was married about ten days ago.

The W. C. T. U. water tank on the corner of Main and Walnut streets has been repaired to-day, and is now in working order.

The subject of the sermon in the Baptist church next Sunday morning will be "Elijah on Mt. Carmel and under the Juniper tree."

The Once a Week club held its last meeting of the season at the Converse House last Saturday evening, and were entertained by Landlord Pierce.

Marcy & Gardner are putting in a new turbine wheel at their West Brimfield brickyard. It is made by the Bradway Machine Works at West Stafford, Ct.

A special train will be run to Willimantic next Tuesday evening to accommodate those who wish to attend the performance of the Camille D'Arville Co.

The theme at the evening service in St. Paul's Universalist church next Sunday evening will be "The greeting of love," with an address by Miss Ethel Ely.

About 30 members of the Springfield Bicycle club took a run to Palmer last Sunday and stopped at the Converse House, where a special dinner was served for them.

Rev. H. F. Moulton was called to Warren Wednesday to conduct the funeral services of Cutler Moore, a prominent citizen and Universalist well known to many in this village.

Representative Kenefick has been appointed a member of the committee to investigate the affairs of the Norfolk county commissioners, and has been made clerk of the committee.

Water which overflowed from a set bowl in the second story of Strong's block filtered down into the clothing store of C. K. Gamwell Wednesday night and did considerable damage to his stock of straw hats.

Mrs. William Merriam and Mrs. W. A. Barnes were delegates from the Universalist church to the union convention of the churches of Hampden and Hampshire counties at Springfield on Wednesday.

At a special meeting of the Western Massachusetts Homeopathic Medical society held at Cooley's Hotel, Springfield, yesterday, papers were read by Dr. G. H. Wilkins of this village and Dr. N. W. Rand of Monson.

The Men's Sunday Evening club of the Congregational church has voted to invite the Grand Army post, Woman's Relief corps and Sons of Veterans to attend the services at that church the Sunday evening before Memorial Day.

The pastor of the Congregational church will preach Sunday morning on "Christ in the personality of Christians." In the evening the Men's Sunday Evening club will give a special service, with "Types of Manhood" as the general subject.

Miss Jennie Brainerd had a narrow escape from injury Tuesday, when a wheel came off the buggy in which she was riding to this village. The horse started to run, but she clung to the reins until the animal was finally stopped.

The annual meeting of the Flynt Building and Construction company was held Monday, and these officers were elected: President and treasurer, Rufus Flynt; directors Rufus Flynt, L. C. Flynt and G. C. Flynt; general manager, A. T. Wing.

Mrs. Rufus Flynt was called to Springfield Thursday morning by the illness of her mother, Mrs. J. B. Atwood, who suffered a partial paralytic shock, one side and her speech being affected. She is as comfortable as could be expected to-day.

The Palmer Rod and Gun club has leased of D. F. Holden a piece of ground on the hill in the rear of Eager's hen house at the head of Walnut street, for a shooting ground. Silas Keith made the highest score in the shoot Tuesday afternoon, breaking 12; W. J. Keith followed with 11.

The Flynt Building and Construction company has an $80,000 contract for buildings for H. E. Schniewind at Sudbury, Pa., which includes a silk weaving mill 400 by 102 feet, an engine and boiler house 130 by 50, a lunch room 125 by 34, two-story carpenter shop 30 by 45, and a two-story superintendent's house.

Smoke was discovered about 6 o'clock Tuesday evening in the barn of S. W. Smith on Main street, just west of the JOURNAL office. Investigation showed that all the fire was in a pair of old overalls left there by a painter, and they were quickly thrown out. Spontaneous combustion was probably the cause.

The annunl May breakfast and dinner of the ladies of the Congregational church today was as usual, a great success, a large number being out to both meals. The fancy articles displayed by the ladies of the Lend-a-hand club were unusually attractive, embroidered linens being much in evidence and very fine.

A few copies of the annual report of the State Board of Agriculture have been received by the secretary of the Eastern Hampden Agricultural society, F. D. Barton, and can be had on application to him as long as they last. He also has a few more copies of the annual report of the local society for distribution.

A new fruit store will be opened next week in the store in the Nassowanno House block recently vacated by W. H. Hitchcock. It will be a branch of the New York house of R. G. Peroni, and the proprietors will be Joseph Rezzoagli and Brother. The firm will make a specialty of choice California, foreign, tropical and domestic fruits, confectionery and nuts.

The 250th anniversary of the founding of New London, Ct., will occur next Wednesday, and an elaborate programme has been arranged for the occasion. The Central Vermont railroad will sell tickets at reduced rates to that city and return, good going on afternoon trains Tuesday, and any train on Wednesday; returning, good on any train Wednesday or Thursday. The fare from Palmer or Monson and return will be $1.50.

A special meeting of the fire district will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the district court room, to see what action the district will take in the matter of providing water for fire protection. The Palmer Water company refuses to make a contract at $1000 which shall include water for sprinkling the streets, and as this was the only contract the prudential committee was empowered to make they ask for further instructions.

The tax for Hampden county this year will be $165,000, and has been apportioned among the cities and towns as follows; Agawam, $1860; Blandford, $620; Brimfield, $585; Chester, $895; Chicopee, $11,434; East Longmeadow, $964; Granville, $517; Hampden, $551; Holland, $138; Holyoke, $37,470; Longmeadow, $861; Ludlow, $1481; Monson, $2755; Montgomery, $207; Palmer, $3995; Russell, $689; Southwick, $758; Springfield, $80,830; Tolland, $207; Wales, $413; Westfield, $10,917; West Springfield, $5683; Wilbraham, $1171.

Palmer friends of Dr. H. M. Auger, now of Jamaica, L. I., will be interested to know that he has been chosen health officer of that town, a position which is worth about $1200 a year. The Brooklyn Times of April 18th had the following among the news from Jamaica:

The selection of Henri M. Auger as health officer by the town board of Jamaica, which was done at the meeting yesterday on a vote of 5 to 7, is received with much satisfaction. Dr. Auger is a young man of sterling qualities and has an eviable professional reputation. He has had a wide and varied medical experience, and is up to date in all that pertains to the preservation of health.

The Palmer Cemetery association has received notice to appear before the probate court in Boston on the 14th of May regarding the appointment of an administrator in the estate of Adelia M. Torrey, late of that city. Mrs. Torrey was the widow of the late Calvin Torrey, a former resident of Palmer and the leading lawyer of the place before Judge Allen. In her will a sum of money is left to the Palmer Cemetery association, the income of which is to be used in keeping the Torrey lot in the Thorndike street cemetery in repair.

Preliminary work has been begun this week for the publicatoun of a book to be called "Pictorial Palmer," to be ready for distribution about the first of August. The book will be about 8 by 10 inches, opening at the end, and bound in stiff covers. It will contain a large amount of matter relating to the past and present of Palmer, its industries, churches, residences and people, illustrated with many fine half-tone engravings and printed on heavy paper. It will be sold by subscription, and the price will be $1.50. The publishers are Messrs. Carpenter and Cady, both well known to Palmer people. The typography and presswork will be done at the JOURNAL office.

This is the first day of a year of no-license in Palmer, and the saloons have been busy carting away and storing the stock left over at the close of business last night. A story has been pretty freely circulated around town during the past few days that the prosecuting committee had gone to Judge Robinson and asked for a warrant permitting them to search to-day the places which have had licenses. This the committee most emphatically denies. It further states that it proposes to conduct its work on a perfectly fair basis, and that the places which have had a license will be given a reasonable time in which to dispose of their stocks by removal, storage, or some way other than sale, and that no other method of procedure has at any time been contemplated.

The street sprinkling committee of the Palmer club held a meeting Tuesday evening and discussed the situation. Word was received from Manager Gamwell of the Palmer Water company that water would be furnished for sprinkling purposes for $75. It was announced that Mr. Converse had not secured subscriptions to the amount he desired before starting the cart. It was stated that J. M. Allen had offered to do the work for $4 a day actual time worked, rainy days and Sundays not to count, and a subcommittee was appointed to negotiate with him. Mr. Allen has interviewed Mr. Gamwell regarding the water, and was promised an answer from him to day. He is looking for a cart, and will make a canvass of the village soon in an attempt to secure subscriptions.

The next attraction at the opera house is one which has a world-wide reputation, and although it has been played on all sides of Palmer will be presented here for the first time next Tuesday evening. The piece is "Dr. Bill," with which the Garden Theatre in New York was opened and dedicated. Besides enjoying a continuous run in New York of an entire season, "Dr. Bill" has a record of 500 nights in Paris and two whole years in London, and has been presented in every country under the sun where English, French and German is spoken. "Dr. Bill," is all laughter. It is full of surprises and merry intervals of song and dance, and is presented by a clever and capable company, with all the advantage of special stage settings, appointments, music, etc. To accommodate Monson people a special train will be run.

Owing to the breaking of the 7-inch main jack shaft, weighing about one ton, in the factory of the Wright & Cotton Wire Cloth Co. at Worcester Tuesday morning, the entire works were obliged to shut down Tuesday and Wednesday. Wednesday an auxiliary 50-horse power engine was placed in position to run the weaving, tinning and galvanizing departments, and this work will go on without interruption until a new shaft can be put in next week. In the meantime the entire wire drawing mills will have to be idle, and 100 men are thrown out of work. Meanwhile the mills at Palmer will be run till 9 or 10 o'clock p. m. to produce extra wire to help keep the weaving department at Worcester running. The company shipped from its Palmer mill yesterday a carload of solid copper electrolitic wire worth $2500. The works have a contract to make several carloads of this material, and it is expected that considerable copper wire will be manufactured in the Palmer mills in the future.

District Court.

One civil entry was made last Saturday, a writ of ejectment in favor of E. R. Bates against F. G. Thayer, both of Monson. It was tried the same day, judgment being for the plaintiff with possession and costs, and an execution was issued.

In the criminal court Minnie Pease of Monson, for lewdness was sent to the reformatory at Sherborn for a year.

On Monday George Colgrove of Monson paid $5 for drunkenness.

Yesterday Michael Traverse of Charlton paid $5 for drunkenness.

THREE RIVERS.

Columbia Bicycles are best; Chandler Bros., Palmer, sell them.

Fairy stories for the boys and girls; the first of the series will begin in the JOURNAL next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Hillman are rejoicing over the birth of a son.

A large number went to the dance in Belchertown this evening.

Harry Newell is having a new boat made, which he will place on the pond.

The Ladies' Home Circle met at the home of Mrs. Dalrymple Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Josie Fenton and Miss Tillie Bemis have resigned their positions in the Palmer Mill.

James McGuirk has resigned his position in the Palmer Mill, his successor being Robert Blair.

M. Rogers has a hen's egg measuring seven by nine inches, and weighing five and three-quarter ounces.

Mrs. Kate Shea of Springfield is visiting friends in this place, after which she will return to Ireland.

Horace Paine has purchased a new Victor bicycle. Mr. Proctor has also a new wheel of the same make.

Joseph Comm has resigned his position as painter for the Palmer Mill, and has secured a position in Webster.

Fred Lyons, who formerly worked for Keefe Bros., has accepted a position in the saw mill of C. P. Haynes.

Mr. Chamberlain, who has been living on Springfield street, has moved into one of the houses owned by F. A. Barker.

A sergeant in the Polish army is drilling a company of raw recruits on the Island this week. As there is music, they attract considerable attention.

The dedication of the new church organ which has been put into the Catholic church this week will take place next Thursday evening. The choir is now rehearsing, and the music will be under the direction of Mrs. J. C. Boulay, wife of Dr. Boulay. The chorus work will be done by the local choir. There will be many singers present from out of town, including Miss Lambert of Holyoke and a quartet of male voices from the same city. The soloists will be Mrs. J. C. Boulay and Miss Lambert. Several out-of-town clergymen will be present. The organ will be presided over by Prof. Renjuette of the Notre Dame church of Worcester, a musician of rare ability. The organ, which is considered a fine instrument for one of its capacity, was built by Casavant of St. Hyacinthe, P. Q., at a cost of $1900.

BONDSVILLE.

Boys, girls, be sure to read the first installment of the fairy stories in next week's JOURNAL.

Catalogue of the Columbia Bicycles—best wheel made—for the asking. Chandler Bros., Palmer.

Mrs. H. B. Shaw of Northampton is visiting friends here.

Mrs. Henry Morgan spent the latter part of last week in Springfield.

The King's Daughters will meet next Monday evening with Mrs. Warren Fisherdick.

Marcus Culver injured his thumb Wednesday, while tending slasher in the mill. The nail was taken off, but the bone was uninjured.

Phileos Buregard, who has been employed as teamster for the Boston Duck Co., has gone to Chicopee Falls, where he has a similar position.

A young woman has been at the store of C. L. Holden this week giving cooking exhibitions of the new cereal food and serving free samples.

Miss Josie Cavanaugh has returned to her home, after spending an enjoyable week in Springfield with her cousin, President Cavanaugh of the common council.

The newly-organized ball team will play the Indian Orchard nine on the home grounds to-morrow at three. They are as follows: Catcher, M. Sullinan; pitcher, J. Shea; first base, P. Moriarty; second base, John Conway; third base, Charles Connor; short stop, Richard Donovan; left field, James Moriarty; right field, Charles Alexander; center field, P. Kee.

A meeting was held Monday evening in Liberty Hall to form a base ball organization. The following officers were chosen: Manager, Charles Norton Shaw; assistant manager, M. J. Griffin; secretary, Richard Donovan. Anybody wishing to be a member of the association can do so by paying 50 cents to the treasurer, Bert Stevens. The nine in the past has always been good, but this year's team expects to do work far superior, and would like to hear from other clubs.

O'Connor—Garrihan.

Miss Kate O'Connor of Bondsville and John Garrihan of South Framington were married by Rev. B. McKeany Tuesday at 10 o'clock. The ceremony was performed at the priest's house. The bride wore a gown of brocaded white silk, and her bridesmaid, Miss Annie O'Connor, wore cream cashmere. Thomas Garrihan, brother of the groom, was best man. The groom's present to the bride was a very handsome gold watch. Mr. and Mrs. Harrigan took the noon train for New York. They will live in Boston

THORNDIKE.

A strictly high grade bicycle for $60 at Jeweler F. D. Barton's, Palmer.

The children will all want to read the fairy stories to begin in next week's JOURNAL.

Come in and talk it over—about the Columbia Bicycles, best wheels made. Chandler Bros., Palmer.

Miss Nellie Crowley is visiting friends in Worcester.

Mrs. William Smith is visiting friends in New York state.

O. B. Sikes has sold his farm to Mr. Felton of Greenfield.

Hiram Grigware is the latest addition to the bicycle ranks.

William McCormick has put in a handsome new soda fountain.

Miss Nellie Lynch is enjoying a two-weeks' visit with friends in Boston.

John F. Lyons of Northampton spent Sunday in town with friends.

Granger F. Clark returned on Wednesday from a visit in New York.

The long bridge at the upper end of the village is being repaired this week.

Mrs. James Garland and family of West Springfield are visiting relatives here.

Several from this place will attend the May festival at Springfield next week.

Miss Jessie Whiting, who has been quite ill for the past week, is slowly improving.

The Misses Walker of Worcester, who have been visiting here, has returned home.

J. O. Hamilton's new house on the Ware road will be ready for occupancy in a few days.

Mrs. G. A. Murdock has returned from a vacation of several weeks spent in Cleveland, O.

Charles L. Murclo of Biddford, Me., paid a short visit to his father, R. W. Murclo, the past week.

There was no game of ball here Saturday, Manager Chapman being unable to get a club to come here.

Rev. G. M. Gerrish attended the conference of ministers which was held at Springfield on Wednesday.

Mrs. C. F. Moores pleasantly entertained the members of the King's Daughters at her home Friday evening.

E. J. Fuller, who has run the grist and saw mill at Forest Lake, will finish his labors at that place this week.

Miss Katie Fleming of this place went to Warren on Wednesday evening to act as bridesmaid at a wedding there.

Miss Ada Murdock took part in the recital given at Springfield on Monday evening by the pupils of Miss Marion Sterns.

John Stokes, who has been employed in J. W. Molloy's barber shop, has resigned, and will probably go to Springfield.

The "Aligator Boy," which was on exhibition here Saturday, drew quite a crowd, and to say that he is a wonder is putting it mild.

Joseph Harkness of Utah, a former resident, is expected here in a short time to take charge of James Richards's farm, formerly the J. C. Sawyer property.

Thomas J. Moran and James McKellegett have been chosen to represent Court Hamden, Order of Foresters, of this place, at the convention to be held at Taunton next month.

Philip Lord, at one time a resident of this place and husband of Mrs. Josephine Lord, whose maiden name was Samsom and who died about a year ago, died at the House of Providence Hospital at Holyoke Sunday.

The ladies of the Congregational church gave their May dinner to-day from 12 until 2. This evening a concert will be given, at which Mrs. G. M. Gerrish will sing and Miss Ada Murdock will give a reading. Cake and ice cream will be served.

H. E. Davis, overseer in No. 2 mill weaving room, has resigned his position to accept another with the Lewiston, Me., Electric Co. as superintendent. Mr. Davis during his stay in town has made many friends, and will be much missed by the mill help and the citizens in general.

The Thorndike Juniors have organized for the season, and would like to hear from the Palmer and Palmer Center teams. The club is made up of the following players: Longtine, c; Murphy, p; Daily, 1b; Connor 2b; W. Shabbott, 3b; Walker, lf; Dunn, cf; S. Shabbott, rf; Manney, ss. The club won the first victory Saturday from the Bondsvilles, by a score of 12 to 11.

The saloon in the basement of the Clinton House was broken into on Monday night, probably between one and two o'clock, by unknown parties, who helped themselves to about $30 worth of sealed bottled liquors. It is thought they were the same parties who broke into the Nassowanno House at Palmer the same night.

At the entertainment which will be given this evening in the Congregational church the following programme will be rendered:

Instrumental duet.
Mr. Johnson and Miss Murdock.
Pantomime on Villikins and His Dinah.
Miss Murdock, Messrs. Thomas and Chapman.
Song. Asthore
Mrs. G. M. Gerrish.
Farce. A Picked-up Dinner
Mr. Chapman, Miss Ada Murdock and Miss Emma McFarlane.
Reading. The Little Dago Girl
Miss Ada Murdock.

Murray—Gearin.

St. Mary's church was the scene of a very pretty wedding Tuesday afternoon, when Miss Maggie Murphy, a well-known and popular young lady of this town, was united in marriage to John F. Gearin of Worcester, a prominent young man of that city. The ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. Francis J. Lynch, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. The bride looked charming in a handsome gown of cream novelty, with trimmings of persian and ribbon, carrying a large bouquet of tea roses. The bridesmaid, a sister of the bride, Miss Nellie Murphy of Enfield, wore a dress similar to that of the bride, trimmed with insertion and ribbon. The best man was Patrick Gearin, brother of the groom. After a short stay in town the happy couple left for Worcester on the 4.40 p. m. train from Palmer, where a supper and reception was held at their future home, 10 Spencer street. They were the recipients of many valuable and useful gifts. Their many friends here wish them every happiness and prosperity in their new life.

BORN.

At Monson, 19th ult., a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Sherman M. Stebbins.

DIED.

At Monson, 28th ult., Alexander H. Maxwell, 83.
At Ludlow, 26th ult., William A. Miller, 38.
At Belchertown, 28th ult, Horatio Rice, 77.

TO RENT.—Two tenements on Fox avenue. tf-44 Apply to G. S. HOLDEN.

TO RENT.—Good up and down stairs tenement, six rooms, on Spring street. tf-4 GEORGE A. KEITH, Palmer.

WANTED.—Numbers 1, 2 and 3 of the "Palmer Citizen," for which a fair price will be paid. Leave at the JOURNAL Office. tf5

FOR SALE.—Cherry chamber set, black walnut extension dining table, and kitchen range, all in good order. Enquire at house of C. B. FISKE.

FOUND.—On road from Thorndike to Bondsville, Friday, April 24th, a watch. Owner can have same by paying charges and proving property. 3-5 J. P. O'CONNOR, Thorndike.

FOR SALE.—Buff Cochin and Plymouth Rock eggs for hatching. Won prizes at Palmer, Northampton, Stafford and Providence. tf 38 C. RALPH LEGRO, Palmer, Mass.

FOR SALE.—White and yellow pine wood, $2.50 per cord, delivered. Plymouth Rock and Brown Leghorn eggs for setting. 4-2 H. CHAPMAN, Palmer.

PASTURE of 28 acres, well fenced, to rent, or will take stock to pasture by the week, at a low price. ROAD CART and skeleton wagon for sale. tf-1 D. F. HOLDEN, Palmer.

SETTING EGGS FOR SALE.—Buff cochins, Plymouth Rocks, Polands, Houdans, silver hamburgs, light brahmas, minorcas. $1 for 15 eggs. 4-3 JOHN RILEY, Thorndike.

FOR SALE.—Estate of the late Mrs. Evans; frame house of 10 rooms; large barn; wash room and woodshed combined; 13 acres land, mowing, pasturing; fruit trees, etc. Address, "ESTATE," JOURNAL Office.

EGGS from Chapin's barred and white Plymouth Rocks. Best pens of barred $2 per 13. Good pens $1 per 13. White $1.50 per 13. 50 eggs double the price of 13. Large early laying stock. Winners at Palmer, Springfield, Stafford and other fairs. GEORGE A. CHAPIN, Hampden, Mass. tf-1

CELERY'S HORSE RADISH, 10c. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

ODD FELLOWS' OPERA HOUSE,
Tuesday Eve., May 5.
The merry comedy, "DR. BILL."
The LONDON, PARIS and NEW YORK success.
Reserved seats at Allen's, Palmer, and Keeney's, Monson.
SPECIAL TRAIN leaves Monson at 7.20 p. m.

NOTICE.—The third meeting of the creditors of the Rogers-Osgood Hat Company, of Palmer, Mass., insolvent corporation, will be held at the Court of Insolvency for Hampden County, at Springfield, in said county, on the twenty-second day of May next, at 2.30 o'clock in the afternoon, at which meeting creditors may be present and prove their claims.
The assignee's account will then be presented and creditors may then and there appear and object to the allowance thereof.
CHARLES G. GARDNER, Assignee.
Palmer, Mass., April 22d, 1896. 2-4

DINNER PAILS, 25c, 50c, each. Tin cuspidores, 10c each. Dust pans, 10c each. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Good looking people usually have good teeth. LeGRO'S TOOTH POWDER will keep the teeth white, gums healthy and breath pure.
LeGro & Lynde, Druggists,
Next to Post Office, Palmer.

NEW MODEL CIGARS, 5c. W. E. STONE, Main St., Palmer.

D. N. BUTTERWORTH, dealer in
CARRIAGES of EVERY DESCRIPTION.
Canopy top, extension top, surrey top and open buggies. Spindle wagons, banner wagons, grocery wagons, business wagons, mason's wagons and carpenter's wagons. Order wagons, road carts.
10 Concord buggies at less than cost to make, a good bargain. Also second-hand wagons.
Large stock of harness, robes, blankets.
I can sell the above goods as low as can be bought of any dealer. My expenses are lower than anyone in the business. I was never undersold and won't be. Come and satisfy yourselves at
60 DWIGHT ST., SPRINGFIELD, MASS.
D. N. BUTTERWORTH.

LARGE INVOICE OF LACE CURTAINS JUST IN. 50c, 75c, $1, $1.25 a pair. Hard wood poles and trimmings, 25c. W. E. STONE, General Store.

SPECIAL FIRE DISTRICT MEETING.
COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.—HAMPDEN ss.
To the qualified voters of Fire District No. 1 of Palmer. You are hereby notified to meet at the court room of the District Court of Eastern Hampden in said Palmer, on Saturday, the second day of May next at two o'clock in the afternoon to act on the following articles, viz.:
ARTICLE 1. To choose a moderator to preside at said meeting.
ART. 2. To see what action the District will take regarding a supply of water for fire and other purposes.
ART. 3. To see if the District will vote to purchase a chemical engine, or make any other provision for the extinguishment of fire.
ART. 4. To raise and appropriate all necessary sums of money.
Given under my hand this twenty-second day of April, 1896.
F. D. BARTON,
2-4 Clerk of Fire District No. 1 of Palmer.

Central St., Dining Room and Restaurant.
T. A. HARWOOD, PROPRIETOR.
25 CENT DINNER BEST IN TOWN. Meals and lunches served at all hours.
Board and room, $4.50 per week. Table board, $3.50 per week. Central St., Palmer.

NURSERY STOCK.
I am selling out my nursery, consisting of a good variety of fruit and ornamental trees and shrubs, at less than wholesale prices.
3-3 J. T. GEER, Three Rivers.

PRICE LIST.

	Credit.	Cash.
1-4 lb. Cassia,	.10	.06
" " Cloves,	.10	.06
" " Allspice,	.10	.06
" " Nutmeg.	.20	.17
1 lb. Cocoanut,	.35	.25
1 " Oolong Tea,	.50	.40
1 " Corn Starch,	.10	.08
1 " Best Raisins,	.10	.08
1 " " Rice,	.10	.08
1 " " Tapioca,	.10	.07
1 package Soapine,	.10	.09
1 cake Sapolio,	.10	.08
1 " Bon Ami,	.10	.08
1 bottle Ammonia,	.10	.08
1 bag Worcester Salt,	.10	.08
1 bottle Cotton's Vanilla,	.30	.25
	$2.55	$1.97

You pay the grocer over 20 per cent for credit. Can you afford this?
BUY OF
SMITH,
AND SAVE THAT 20 PER CENT.
59 Main St., Palmer.

PEARL TOP CHIMNEYS, lamp burners, lamp wicks. W. E. STONE, Main street.

The undersigned beg leave to announce to the citizens of Palmer and vicinity that during the first week in May, 1896, they will open a branch store of the firm of R. G. Peroni, Washington Market, New York City, wholesale and retail dealers in choice California, foreign, tropical and domestic fruit, oranges, lemons, bananas, etc.
Also a fine line of
CONFECTIONERY AND NUTS.
In store No. 4 Nassowanno House Block, Palmer, Mass.
A rare opportunity will be given to purchase the goods of our line of the best quality at the lowest possible retail and wholesale prices.
We aim to secure a large trade in this vicinity by liberal and courteous treatment to our customers.
Joseph Rezzoagli & Brother.
Palmer, May 1st, 1896.

Meekins, Packard & Wheat.

Summer Furnishings.

Now is the time to be thinking about them.
How about the summer home, shore cottage, or perhaps only an extra room or two for the entertainment of summer guests—or even the veranda?
We are prepared to furnish any or all of the above in the most approved manner—complete in every detail.
Carpets and Rugs of every kind and quality are here the most for your money.
Furniture.—Hardly necessary to remind you that we are headquarters for furniture that you can depend upon. The best makes and styles at lower prices than inferior grades often bring elsewhere—the kinds you'll want for every room in the house.
Window Shades and Draperies.—On these, too, we hold first place—and our line for cottages affords wide range for choice. Many novelties.
Veranda Screens and Awnings are included in our stocks, as well as an endless variety of veranda chairs, rockers, settees and lawn swings.
Housekeeping Goods of every description—a new department with us but one of the busiest. Complete lines of tinware, wooden ware, enameled ware and aluminum. Wire goods and cutlery of the best kinds.
Oil and Gas Ranges.—When you see them and know our prices you'll agree that we can save you money on these purchases.
Beddings, Mattresses, Spring Beds and Pillows—all the comfortable sorts—made under our own supervision.
In each and all lines you'll find a neat share of the profits coming your way. What better place to trade?
MEEKINS, PACKARD & WHEAT,
SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

H. R. RYDER, D. V. S.
Veterinary Surgeon and Dentist.
Graduate of Ontario Veterinary College, Toronto, Canada.
OFFICE: Walnut Street, at Marcy's Livery Stable, Palmer, Mass.
All injuries of horses, cattle, and other domesticated animals treated. Best of references. Satisfactory treatment guaranteed.
Residence and telephone call: NASSOWANNO HOUSE.

CHEESE CLOTH, lonsdale cambric, half bleached cottons, scrim for curtains. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

TEETH. . .
Artificial teeth without plates. Teeth extracted without pain with local anaesthetic.
GAS ADMINISTERED.
Office hours from 8 to 12 a. m., 1 to 5.30 p. m.
OPEN EVENINGS.
Dr. O. P. ROLLER, D. D. S.,
Lawrence Block, Palmer, Mass.

PILLSBURY FLOUR. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Insurance
of every kind placed at short notice, and all favors duly appreciated.
Yours truly,
S. H. HELLYAR.
Office at Ridge's Food Factory.

SEA & PERRIN'S WORCESTERSHIRE SAUCE. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

One Minute Cough Cure touches the right spot. It also touches it at the right time if you take it when you have a cough or cold. See the point? Then don't cough. LeGro & Lynde.

We realize that it is useless to try and enumerate the many bargains in our various departments, but will name a few specialties that are selling at this season:

Those who favored us with their patronage last season, know that our SHIRT WAISTS were equal in value to those bought elsewhere at a much higher figure. This year our stock is from the same manufacturer and we are showing even better values.

We seem to have hit the mark in the selection of our LADIES' WRAPPERS. Our prices are right, and our goods fit.

A fine line of CAPES from $1.50 to $8.50, fills a long-felt want, of stylish goods at bottom prices.

Separate SKIRTS in figured mohairs and serges, equal in value to home-made goods.

Almost every lady who saw our beautiful 50c SILKS wanted a waist from one pattern or the other. Don't you need one?

How cool one of those DAINTY DIMITIES would be on a hot day. There are more of them coming.

Our stock of SUMMER NECKWEAR and CLOTHING contains many plums. Won't you pluck one for your own use?

It goes without saying that we have a full stock of staple dry goods, underwear, and hosiery. We make a specialty of CARPETS and CURTAINS, and would be pleased to have you among our customers. Will you give us the chance?

D. L. BODFISH,
Cross Block,
PALMER.

New Goods Just Opened.
Spring, 1896.
A FINE LINE OF Wash Goods, Table Linen, Napkins and Towels. Goblin and Pongee Draperies.
A VERY FULL ASSORTMENT OF Dress Linings, Buttons and Braids.
IN OUR Grocery Department we have a great variety of FANCY GOODS.
IN CANNED GOODS the quality ranges from the cheapest to the best goods canned, and the prices guaranteed to be as low as any dealer in town. Call and see for yourselves.
J. B. SHAW,
FEENEY'S BLOCK, PALMER.

The Latest Goods
for men is what we want to talk about. Only give us an opportunity and we'll convince you that we have everything you need at this season. Call and see what we have, that's all we ask. The neckwear we have chosen for your inspection isn't to be duplicated in any near-by place. The new creations are simply wonderful—can't begin to describe them, you'll have to see them.

The Spring Hats,
Have you noticed 'em? Missed it if you haven't; all the popular makes in derbys, and those soft flanges for such as prefer them.

Fancy Shirts
are more varied in design than ever. You can't fail to be pleased with what we've selected for you. Of course those who come first will have the pick of the stock. We may be able to duplicate the figures and

The Journal.

FRIDAY EVENING, MAY 1, 1896.

NEIGHBORHOOD NOTES.

MONSON.

LOCAL NOTICES.

All mothers will want next week's JOURNAL, to get the first installment of the illustrated fairy stories for their children. The little ones will be delighted with them.

25 Dollars Reward.

The above reward will be paid to any person for evidence that shall lead to the prosecution and conviction of any one engaged in the illegal sale of spirituous liquors or intoxicating drinks in the town of Monson.

J. H. THOMPSON, C. C. KEEP, H. SQUIER, } Prosecuting Committee.

A Grand Musical and Variety Concert is to be given in Memorial Hall, May 7th, by the celebrated Handy Family of natural musicians. This is one of the largest and youngest musical families that ever came before the public as one family, and all musicians. They play on more musical instruments than any one musical family in the world, and give a concert that is wonderful to see, and very difficult to perform, and do musical feats which everyone wants to see. Popular prices. Tickets at usual places. Dancing after concert at 5c per set. Music by Brown's Orchestra

Fire Department Organization.

The members of the fire department met Tuesday evening, and the different companies, with the exception of chemical No. 2, reorganized for the year. The board of engineers had previously organized as follows: Chief engineer, David B. Needham; 1st assistant, Lyman C. Flynt; clerk and treasurer, Charles W. King. The companies are as follows: Hook and ladder—foreman, John Lyons, Jr.; first assistant, Arthur D. Root; second assistant, Bruno Ritter; clerk, Frank C. Park; Cyrus B. Partell, George L. Fuller, Otto Ritter, John Guion. Chemical No. 1—foreman, Arthur H. Orcutt; first assistant, Fred J. Flynt; second assistant, Charles Howard; clerk, George H. Seymour; Thomas Crowley, Thomas Curley, Louis Aldrich, William A. Charles, 2d. Hose company No.1—foreman, Eugene S. Howlett; first assistant, Charles Lyons; second assistant, John A. Sault; clerk, Edward P. Donovan, George W. Adams, Thomas A. Sault, Jerry Lyons, John McQuade. Hose company No. 2—foreman, Joseph M. Fagan; first assistant, Frank A. Bills; second assistant, Nelson A. Bugbee; clerk, William A. Pease; Charles C. Keep, Timothy H. Keefe, David D. Marcy, Treffley Matross. Hose company No. 3—foreman, Hiram A. Felton; first assistant, William L. Ricketts; second assistant, William E. Cantwell; clerk, Frank Entwistle; treasurer, Milton M. Brown; Edward Murphy, Jerry Moriarty, John A. Andrews. Hereafter unless a general alarm is given only chemical No. 2 and hose No. 2 will respond to an alarm in district No. 2; only chemical No. 1 to an alarm in districts No. 1 and 3, and hose No. 3 in district No. 3. The hook and ladder will respond to all alarms. The department is desirous of having a striker put on the Congregational church bell. It has $417.09 in its treasury. Chemical No. 2 will probably organize tomorrow night.

Commissioners' Decree Regarding North Main Street.

Town Clerk Gage has received the county commissioners' decree in regard to the relocating of a portion of North Main street, which has interested Monson people so much for several months. The cemetery commissioners and others desired that a portion of the street be made 49 feet wide, the original width being 54 feet a part of the way and 66 feet the rest. The county commissioners were unwilling to do this, but after a time made the street 54 feet wide and established a grade from Eugene J. Fosket's property on the east side of the highway to the railroad track. It is understood that the bank wall on the south and east bounds of the cemetery will be built, but that which was begun last fall on the east side will be moved back. After describing the grade the decree reads that the town of Monson shall complete the work of regrading on or before July 1st, so that 24 feet in width for the entire distance, exclusive of gutters on the side, shall be safe and convenient for all teams. If practicable the center of the traveled part shall be the center of location. The road must be so shaped that the center shall be six inches higher than the sides, by a curved surface, and all irregularities shall be reduced to a level or regularly inclined plane. The material must be gravel or something which will be permanently hard. Where excavations are necessary the slope of the banks on the sides must not exceed one foot perpendicular to 1½ feet horizontal. Railings must be erected at all steep and dangerous places.

A Small Burglary.

The tenement of George Brooks was burglarized Tuesday night. When the family awoke Wednesday morning the rooms were in disorder and the sum of $20 was missing. Entrance was made by the door. The screen door, which was fastened on the inside, was cut and the hook lifted. The key was pushed from the door, and, the bolt turned.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Fuller have a daughter.

Raymond Holloway is ill with rheumatism.

William Smith is adding a piazza to his residence.

Ernest Welden of East Hill is ill with rheumatism.

There will be a meeting of the school committee this evening.

Communion next Sunday at the Congregational and Methodist churches.

Mrs. A. F. Johnson has been quite sick the past week with a severe cold.

Mahlon Cushman is building a large addition to his Pearl street house.

Miss C. A. Wood attended the superintendents' convention in Worcester to-day.

Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Liccola are proud over the advent of their eleventh child.

The foundation is in and work has begun on James Tupper's house on Wales street.

Children at the No. 8 schoolhouse set fire to brush near the building one day this week.

Elmer Harris, son of Mrs. S. L. Harris of South Monson, is very ill with Bright's disease.

A night lunch cart made its appearance in town last night, owned by P. J. Kennedy of Holyoke.

Rev. W. H. Marble will take for the subject of his evening sermon, "God's love manifested."

The Handy family of South Monson gave a musical entertainment in Memorial Hall Thursday evening.

The Little Vernon Brothers gave a very enjoyable entertainment in Memorial Hall Wednesday evening.

J. S. Bogan has bought the Conant mill property, which includes the house occupied by the late S. F. Conant.

Mrs. Fletcher of Chicopee was the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sutcliffe, the first part of the week.

Rev. Harry Blackford will preach Sunday on the Sunday school lesson of last Sunday, "The rich man and Lazarus."

A special meeting of Day Spring lodge of Masons will be held Tuesday evening, and the third degree will be worked.

George, son of Charles Raynolds, fell Tuesday and broke his arm at the elbow. He was attended by Dr. G. E. Fuller.

A. A. Babbitt has purchased a building lot on Gates street, and has given J. N. Graves the contract for erecting a house.

Horace Squier, who is Monson's authority on birds, spoke to the children of the Green street school this afternoon on the subject.

Thomas Burke, foreman of the Monson water works, who had recently been hired for another year, has left the town's employ.

Rev. Harry Blackford attended the Union conference of the churches in Hampden and Hampshire counties in Springfield Wednesday.

A lager beer sign was found on William Foley's gate post this morning. It is supposed that some of the "bhoys" placed it there.

Martin Leary met with an accident at the Flynt granite quarry a few days ago. A piece of stone fell on his foot, crushing one of his toes.

T. J. Hynes has the contract for building a house for Charles McKerwin on Highland Terrace, and a two-room addition to James Pendergast's house on Pearl street.

T. J. Hynes went to Vermont and to Boston last week on a business trip. He purchased 500,000 feet of lumber, a part of which will reach here the first of the week.

Mrs. Walter E. Morse leaves Tuesday for her home in Maine. The good wishes of a large circle of friends, whom she has won during her brief residence in town, go with her.

George M. Converse of the class of '93, a former well-known athletic, has been engaged as trainer for the Academy team that will compete at Amherst in the interscholastic meet in June.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Vaille of East Hill celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage at their home last evening. They received a number of guests. The Monson orchestra furnished music.

Brush fires have been numerous of late. One burned quite fiercely for a time Wednesday near St. Patrick's cemetery, and one near William Manning's which started that day broke out again yesterday.

John Howe, 49, died at his home at South Monson last night, of consumption. He leaves a mother. His father and seven brothers and sisters have died of the same disease since the family moved to Monson.

A report has been current that the box rent at the post office was to be raised, but as Postmaster Herlihy has not been so notified, it is safe to believe that such is not the case. A new rating was mentioned to him some time ago, but he did not advise it, and thinks that it will not come at present, at least.

Rev. W. H. Marble has invited Marcus Keep post, Marcus Keep Woman's Relief corps, and A. A. Gage camp, Sons of Veterans, to listen to a memorial sermon the 24th, and the invitation has been accepted. The Monson cornet band will furnish music for Memorial Day. The Sons of Veterans have begun to drill for the occasion.

The honors in the graduating class of the Academy were announced in chapel Tuesday morning by Principal Burke. George W. Bennett is the valedictorian, and Gertrude B. Gage the salutatorian. These, with Edith L. Hubbard of Somers, Ct., who takes third rank, are entitled to a part on the commencement programme. The class will now choose three and the faculty three to complete the participants.

Interest in the license question does not abate as the time draws nigh when the licenses may be granted. The applications were officially published last Saturday. William Foley and Joseph Connell, under the firm name of Foley & Connell, desire to open a hotel in Bogan's block, and apply for licenses of the first and fourth classes James Mitchell of the Monson House also applies for licenses of those classes. It is said that if licenses are granted the minimum prices will be charged.

A subscriber writes to the JOURNAL as follows: "A joke is all very well in its place, but sometimes it may be carried a little too far. In a local paper there recently appeared a matrimonial advertisement with an assumed name signed to it. The one whose name appeared at the end most emphatically denies having had anything whatever to do with the affair, and warns the perpetrators of the joke (for it is well known who they are) to be very careful, lest in trifling with another's name they are the cause of involving themselves in a suit for libel with the party before mentioned. Perhaps it would be a lesson to them that they would not soon forget."

LUDLOW.

William A. Miller, 38, died of pneumonia at his home in this town near the Wilbraham line Sunday morning. He was the son of Leonard Miller, who died some two years ago. Mr. Miller ran a milk route for several years in North Wilbraham, and was highly respected in the community. He was a member of the Center Congregational church, and a wide circle of friends will mourn his loss. He leaves a widow, Eva Severance, and four small children.

BRIMFIELD.

Mrs. W. A. Janes has returned after a visit of two weeks with friends in Worcester.

Miss Sena Webber, who has been spending a few weeks with her sister, Mrs. A. W. Webber, in Somerville, spent last Sunday in town at the home of her father, J. P. Webber.

Mrs. Anderson and Miss Warren, who have been spending the winter in Brooklyn, N. Y., are at the home of their sister, Mrs. Samuel Brown, where they will spend the summer.

HAMPDEN.

Miss Hattie French will open her kindergarten next Monday in the house of Sumner Smith.

Tht Methodist Sunday school has been reorganized, with these officers: John Kenworthy, superintendent; William M. Pease, assistant; A. W. Bennett, secretary; Mrs. E. Goodwill, treasurer; Miss Eva Howlett, librarian; Miss Flora Bartlett, assistant; Mrs. J. Q. Adams, organist. Rev. Mr. Bennett has charge of the young people's class, Mrs. Adams of the primary department.

WEST WARREN.

Misses Emma and Ada Crouch have returned from a visit to their old home.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Parsons of Boston are visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. Parsons.

Mrs. George Crouch of Holyoke spent a part of last week with her son, Charles Crouch.

Olney Germain, James T. Campbell and Walter Campbell spent last week Saturday in Springfield, making the journey on their wheels.

Rev. N. L. Porter and family were given a reception at the M. E. church Wednesday evening. The church was tastefully decorated, with evergreens and potted plants.

NORTH WILBRAHAM.

A man giving his name as Elwood and his home as Lynn, was badly injured here Friday afternoon while trying to jump a freight train. He was thrown and his right arm, from the shoulder down, was mangled by a wheel passing over it. He was sent to Lynn.

A. L. Bell, miller at Cutler's elevator, while soaping a belt at the mill last Friday morning, had a narrow escape from what might have been a serious accident. A loose glove on his right hand was caught by the belt and his arm was drawn in and went around between the belt and pulley until released on the lower side. He was thrown violently against a plank, but beyond a few bruises on the head and a general shaking up he was uninjured.

BELCHERTOWN.

Daniel B. Hazen has sold his farm to Ozra B. Davis of Springfield.

The council for action in the matter of the resignation of Rev. V. C. Harrington from the Congregational church will meet next Tuesday.

Eulich Sullivan has been appointed class salutatorian and Lewis Lincoln valedictorian of the class of '96, Belchertown high school, they being the two who rank highest in the class. The appointments for class historian and the class prophecy have not yet been made.

Horatio Rice, 77, died at his home Wednesday morning after a lingering illness. His wife died about a year ago. A daughter, Miss Nellie Rice, and a son, Arthur Rice of Brooklyn, N. Y., survive him. The funeral will be at Chicopee, where he formerly resided.

A freight wreck at Dwight's Station, five miles north of here, on the New London Northern Railroad, blocked the track for several hours Monday evening. A southbound freight train attempted to take a side track to allow another freight and a passenger train to pass, when one of the cars rode a frog, three cars following it, leaving part of the train on the main track and part on the siding. The tracks were cleared about 10 o'clock.

WALES.

W. R. Lathrop comes out with a new Keating bicycle, for which he has the agency.

Annie Howe leaves this morning for Brookfield, where she will have a position in a laundry.

Mrs. Entwistle and children of Monson are spending the week with her father, Simon Taylor.

The Excelsior Woolen Co's. engine gave out Monday, which caused the stopping of the mill until Thursday morning

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Copp returned Wednesday evening from their wedding tour in the eastern part of the state. They will reside at the bride's former home.

On and after next Monday the Wales stage will leave Wales at 5:30 a. m. and Brimfield at 6:30; returning, it will leave Palmer at 5:30. This change will continue daily until further notice.

The funeral of Mrs. Nancy Smith, aged 88, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Preston, at Ware, was held at the Methodist church Wednesday forenoon, conducted by the pastor, assisted by the pastor of the Baptist church. Interment was in Laurel Hill cemetery. Mrs. Smith had spent most of her married life in Wales; her husband died many years ago. She leaves one brother in the West, who was too feeble to attend. She also leaves six children to mourn her loss, Condon Smith of Worcester, Calvin Smith of Stafford Springs, Mrs. Neff, Mrs. O. P. Smith, Mrs. W. E. Needham of Wales, and Mrs. Preston of Ware, all of whom were at the funeral service. She was a member of long standing of the Methodist church, an earnest and devoted Christian, and will be greatly missed.

WARREN.

The pews in the Methodist church were rented Wednesday evening.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Congregational church met in the ladies' parlor Tuesday afternoon and elected officers for the ensuing year.

The pews in the Congregational church were rented Monday evening. Many of them brought a premium, in addition to an advance in price over last year.

The survey of the electric road was made Saturday, and it is hoped that none of the shade trees will have to be sacrificed. The road will occupy one side of the highway, except through the village, where it takes the middle of the street.

Arbor Day was observed by the Warren Village Improvement society by the setting of a large number of trees and the planting of vines. The streets were thoroughly renovated, and it is hoped will continue to present the cleanly appearance they did that day.

Death of Cutler Moore.

Cutler Moore, an old resident of this town, died suddenly Sunday evening of apoplexy at his home on School street. He had been in his usual good health and rode down town Saturday, but was stricken in the evening and remained unconscious for the 24 hours before his death. Mr. Moore was born in Brookfield January 1, 1815, and came to Warren in 1842, where he had resided since. He was a prominent and successful shoe manufacturer from 1857 to 1884, when he retired from active business life. He was very much interested in town matters and his voice was always heard in town-meeing, where he was accustomed always to take a conservative view. He was a vice president of the Warren savings bank, with which he had been connected for many years. He was very closely indentified with the Universalist church, of which he was a member, and always stood ready to help its interests. He was married in 1837 to Miss Lucia Olds of Brookfield. She died in 1864, and in 1865 he was again married to Mrs. Charlotte Lombard Curtis of Brimfield, who survives him. He leaves also one son Fitz Henry Moore. The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon in the Universalist church, Rev. H. F. Moulton of Palmer officiating, a large number of the townspeople being present. The floral offerings from friends were very fine.

WARE.

There is talk of laying a concrete walk through Park avenue from North to Bank street, past the school house.

The Johnson place on the corner of Pleasant and North streets has been purchased for about $3000 by Dr. J. A. Gendron; he will continue to live there, and also intends to open a drug store there.

The Hampshire county convention of the King's Daughters is to be held with the Ware circles at the East Congregational chapel to-morrow afternoon and evening. The state secretary, Mrs. E. Trask Hill, is to be present and address the meeting.

Licenses have been granted in Gilbertville to the Windsor House and the Union Hotel. There was a public hearing last Saturday, when letters were read from the Geo. H. Gilbert Mfg. Co., Rev. W. F. Grace, and others, requesting that no licenses be granted.

The following licenses were granted by the selectmen at their regular meeting on Monday evening: First and fourth classes and innholder's licenses to F. F. Gilmore at the Mansion House, D. H. Jennison at the Hampshire House, and W. J. Volk in the new hotel on North street; first and fourth to F. A. Volk on Bank street, Felix Bombard on Parker street, Smith & Co. and John Malboeuf on Water street.

Mrs. Frank Hill of Boston, who is well known as a very interesting speaker, will give an address in the East Congregational church on Sunday evening at 7 o'clock on "Evangelistic and reformatory work in prisons and jails." Suitable music by a male choir will be a part of the services, which will be under the auspices of the Men's Sunday Evening League. The object of this league was to increase the attendance and interest in the Sunday evening service, and so far the object has met with success, as the attendance has been nearly doubled since the League was organized.

LEGISLATIVE MATTERS.

BOSTON, April 29, 1896.

Mr. Kenefick of Palmer has had the honor of an appointment on the Norfolk county investigating committee, and of being made clerk of the committee.

The House witnessed on Friday a scene whose parallel has not occurred within the memory of the present legislative generation. In a debate over a bill for sanding street car tracks automatically, in order to relieve the strain upon the motorman, Mr. J. H. Mellen of Worcester was defending the bill and commented upon the lack of information upon the matter shown by Mr. Forbes of Milton. The latter became excited at once and demanded, "What do you know about it? What do you know about it?" Mr. Mellen retorted that he knew more than the member from Milton. Mr. Forbes was intensely excited and paid no attention to the rapping of the chair to call him to order, for it is the height of parliamentary impropriety for members to address each other during debate. Mr. Mellen held his temper well, but did not forbear sarcastic reference to the costly horses owned by the Milton member, while himself had "to foot it" or ride in electric cars, and thus had an opportunity to talk with the employes and learn their desires in these matters. Coming from such a member as Mr. Forbes, his bad break in parliamentary manners was the occasion of severe comment.

The House had an interesting debate on another street railway matter, the bill for protecting motormen from inclement weather by having vestibules on the platforms. The street railway committee was against the bill, but after it had been shown that the system was working successfully in Springfield, Chicopee, Holyoke, and in the whole state of Ohio, the House concluded that the West End company could conform to such legislation, and refused to reject the bill.

The outlook is that for another year the impending taxation fight will not get further than the committee room. Last year, when all parties were ready, the opponents of the anti-double taxation league won a complete victory on a parliamentary point, so that there was no debate to speak of on the merits of the bills. This year the committee on taxation is unanimous in favor of a paid commission of five to investigate the whole taxation question thoroughly, and report to the Legislature of 1898. But the plan is to have the report finished in November, 1897, and have it sent to every member-elect of the Legislature of 1898 before he comes to the state house. This will take out of the Legislature of next year the entire taxation fight, and it is expected that it will also take it out of this year's calenders. The committee has reported reference to the next Legislature on the petitions for the further taxation of personal property, and it is expected that there will be no debate over the bill for the relief of foreign corporation stocks from double taxation, but it will be disposed of in some way to await the action of the expected commission.

The Legislature could do nothing less than appoint a committee to investigate the doings of the Norfolk county commissioners, after the action of several towns and cities in the county, and after the general currency of a belief that something was not right. It should be in the doings of the commissioners. The officials themselves could not ask for anything less, if they expect to stand before the state as honest men, while the people, after all that has been said, would not be satisfied until it had been learned whether there was any fire where there was so much smoke.

The House gave little time to the Senate bill to forbid the keeping of more than one bar under the permission of one first class license. This proposition was aimed at such places as Young's Hotel, which keeps three bars under one license. There have been Houses which have fought strenuously for this limitation of license, and it would have been thought that this supposedly strong temperance House would have been likely to pass the bill, especially since it passed the Senate. But, queerly enough, they took very little interest in it and killed it by an almost unanimous vote after one speech against it and none for it.

The Senate has defeated the House resolutions expressing the opinion of the Legislature upon the Venezuelan message of the president, thereby depriving the president and the United States of the guiding power of the Massachusetts Legislature. The history of these resolutions has been comic. There was a prodigious excitment when they were introduced, and Senator Southard of Bristol was going to make his eternal reputation on them. But wiser counsels procured the shelving of them till the war fever abated. Then they had to be materially overhauled for repairs. After being adopted by the Senate, they went into the House and were kept for weeks. When they were acted upon they were rejected for a much milder substitute. This has now been killed in turn by the Senate, and so nothing at all is the outcome of all the fuss.

The oleo manufacturers have not been able to convince the House yet that the present restrictions ought to be relaxed, for, after the hottest kind of a fight against the bill to draw the restrictions tighter, the friends of the bill carried their point by a large majority. The praises of oleo were sung as they were in the days before any restrictions were enforced, and the members were assured that it was better for people to eat than poor butter, and it was said to be impossible to detect the difference between oleo and butter, except in the case of the best butter. Samples of each product were put before the House, and taste, smell and sight were challenged to find any difference in favor of the butter. But the oleo side was beaten after all.

A movement has been started for the defeat of the pending amendment for biennial state elections. A meeting was held at the Parker House Wednesday noon which was attended by Gamaliel Bradford, Col. Bowdlin S. Parker, John D. B. Hayes and others at which the first steps were taken to unite the annual men from all political parties for the defeat of the amendment. It was found that the opposition to biennials is much stronger than appeared from the action of the Legislature, and it was believed that before the campaign is ended it will be found that the side of annual elections is by all odds the popular side, as well as the side of popular rights.

Senator Hoar has written a letter to the author of "Biennial Elections," a book just published by D. C. Heath & Co. of Boston, which was read at the meeting, in which he says:

I heartily sympathize with you in a measure which, in my opinion, would go far to destroy what has been one of the greatest distinctions of Massachusetts as a self-governing state. The framers of the constitution were doubtless not infallible, but they were the greatest constitution builders who ever lived on the face of the earth. They understood exactly how to secure constant government by the people within the proper domain of popular government, and to establish and clearly define the limits within which popular power and the will of the majorities could not enter. They protected those individual rights with which no government ought to meddle. They secured absolute independence and permanence of the judiciary whose judgment in declaring the inflexible law of righteousness, as applied to human controversies, must not be swayed by any power. They left what remained to govern under the perpetual, constant and instant control of the people. The habit of exercising this power has been a constant education to the people of Massachusetts, especially to those who have come to her citizenship from other lands. It has made her and kept her the model commonweaith of the earth. Her political and business interests are of vast importance and variety, second only to those of the nation itself. How are these to be discussed properly and profitably if we have elections but one in two years, and they are to come in the same year when national topics will require all the time which can be devoted to this purpose? So far as our debates upon the hustings are limited or diminished, discussion in the newspapers must take their place. Highly as I respect in general the newspapers of Massachusetts, to some of whom I am under such personal obligation, I cannot believe that that substitution will be a healthier one. We need both. I have not at this moment time to enter upon the subject further. But I think the business man who desire to save the inconvenience and interruption to their business of having their workman take a day for a state election every year, or have their time occupied by the campaign which precedes it, will find that they will lose more in other ways by a diminution in the intelligence with which the great working class, who are likewise the great voting class, will deal with the question on which all business interests so much depend.

LANDON.

The Mount Lebanon Shakers have invented a great many valuable things. They were the first to make brooms by machinery; the first to put up seeds in little packages; the first to manufacture cut nails.

Now they are out with a method of curing dyspepsia by resting the stomach. Their remedy is known as the Shaker Digestive Cordial. It supplies food in an artificially digested form and at the same time aids the digestion of other foods in the stomach. In other words, by the use of the Shaker Digestive Cordial, a dyspeptic virtually gets along without the use of his stomach until it is restored to its natural strength and vigor. A single ten cent bottle will oftimes give marked relief. Get a bottle from your druggist and try it.

LAXOL is the best medicine for children. Doctors recommend it in place of Castor Oil.

Vick's Floral Guide for 1896 is a marvel for beauty, completeness and neatness. The illustrations are not distorted, but engraved from the plant, or flower, in its season. The varieties catalogued are quite complete and the descriptions remarkably accurate. The old, popular and reliable house offers a large variety of flowering plants, trees and shrubs, garden vegetables, small and orchard fruits, ornamental trees or seeds, farm seeds, and all material usually found in an up-to-date, hustling seedman's headquarters. Send 10 cents for catalogue to James Vick's Sons, of Rochester, N. Y., which amount may be deducted from the first order, making it really free.

Try a can of Hopkins' Steamed Hominy (Hulled corn.) It is delicious. Full qt., 10c.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER.

ABSOLUTELY PURE.

A cream of tartar Baking Powder. Highest of all in leavening power.—Latest United States Government Food Report.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall Street, New York.

A Woman's Weakness

NATURAL CAUSES TEND TO PRODUCE WEAKNESS.

How Best to Assist Nature That You May Recover and Enjoy Perfect Health.

"I am sick," is the despairing cry of many a woman.

She hardly knows what the trouble is. She feels inexpressibly weak and worn out, her stomach refuses to do its duty, she has no appetite, and other troubles, apparently more and more serious, continually threaten her.

Woman is sometimes named the weaker sex, and yet the tax on nerve and tissue demanded by natural physical development alone, prove a severe and exhausting strain. As the maid grows in years and develops into the woman, the mysterious unfoldings of life call for much outlay of nervous force. This demand on the strength is increased by the duties of school and society so that the maid is often in sore need of a tonic and vitalizer of the blood to regulate and support the system.

As wife and mother the demands on strength and vitality are often increased far beyond the ability to perform. The constant struggle to answer the claims of children, family and society produce an exhausted and worn state that needs a suitable help to increase the happiness and usefulness of living.

The matron finds life's sun passing the meridian and the more exacting and engressing duties of the day left behind. This period should not be less useful and helpful than either of the preceding, though it is reached only through special physical trials peculiar to itself.

No one needs to be told that thousands of women are now complaining of tired limbs, aching heads, loss of appetite, weakness and exhaustion. They are nervous, sleepless and full of apprehensions for the future.

The cause is impure blood which is failing to carry to the nerves and tissue the nourishment which they require. Such people need an alterative and nerve tonic to purify the blood and give them an appetite, to make them feel strong and vigorous and full of hope and ambition as in the days of childhood and youth.

There is no better friend for woman, nothing that so invariably proves beneficial in building up and strengthening the system as Claflin's Nerve and Tissue Builder.

This great remedy is not strictly a patent medicine, but has been used largely with great success by some of the most eminent and successful of New England physicians. It is the result of years of study, and has been prescribed and used with the most gratifying success in hundreds of cases.

As druggists with twenty-five years' experience we have had ample opportunity to note the effects of this great remedy and have often marvelled at the striking and extraordinary benefits induced by its use.

Claflin's Nerve and Tissue Builder is an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, and the tired feeling resulting from nervous prostration, all diseases resulting from vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, ecc. Claflin's Nerve and Tissue Builder is also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. It builds up the blood and restores the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks.

Probably no other remedy is as effective as Claflin's Nerve and Tissue Builder in restoring health, color, vitality and happiness to those people who are thin, pale and enemic. After a week's treatment with this remedy the improvement is most marked. The following letter, one of many received, gives in plain, simple terms the exact benefit experienced from a short use of this remedy.

MONSON, Mass., March 1, 1896.

CLAFLIN DRUG CO.:

GENTLEMEN:—I received your letter; also the medicine as ordered. I must say that since I have been taking the Nerve and Tissue Builder I feel much stronger, my appetite is better, and the color has returned to my cheeks.

My friend who recommended the medicine to me has gained wonderfully while taking it.

Respectfully,
MISS M. MORIARTY.

The price of Claflin's Nerve and Tissue Builder is one dollar, and is not sold at any other price.

One hundred doses for $1, or 3 cents a day.

Are you willing to pay this small sum to regain and enjoy perfect health?

Send direct to us $1 and we will deliver to you, all charges perpaid, one month's treatment, and if after taking the remedy two weeks you are not satisfied with the improvement made, return the medicine you have not used and we will refund the price paid. We cannot too strongly urge you to give it a trial. Yours for health,

CLAFLIN DRUG CO.,
HARVARD SQ., Cambridge, Mass.

WANTED.—Energetic men, with or without experience to sell choice fruit and ornamental stock. Good pay, no best time, first class territory. Complete outfit free. Write for terms. Nelson Bogue, Batavia Nurseries, Batavia, N. Y.

"Give me a liver regulator and I can regulate the world," said a genius. The druggist handed him a bottle of DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. LeGro & Lynde.

A. H. HITCHCOCK,
OPTICIAN,
331 Main Street, Springfield, Mass.
Spectacles and Eye Glasses of all kinds.
Artificial eyes furnished.
Oculists' prescriptions promptly and accurately filled.
Mail orders solicited. 13-tf

E. S. Bryant, D. M. D.,
Dentist,
Lynde's Block, Palmer.
Office hours: 8 30 to 12.30. 1.30 to 5 p. m.

PEACOCK MATCHES, tooth picks, Portland Star matches, barber's vestibule match. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Quick in effect, heals and leaves no scar. Burning, scaly skin eruptions quickly cured by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Applied to burns, scalds, old sores, it is magical in effect. Always cures piles. LeGro & Lynde.

CHILDREN'S AND MISSES HOSE plain and ribbed, 10c a pair. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

For the bath.
Soaps, sponges, brushes, toilet waters and powders, sea salt, etc.
Proper bathing is a luxury. The things cost but little if bought of us.
LeGRO & LYNDE,
Next to Post Office, PALMER.

PRUNES, 5c a pound. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

C. H. HOBBY, PIANO TUNER.
Orders for tuning may be left at O. P. Allen's drug store, Palmer; or may be sent to me by mail to Mansfield, Ct.

HEINZ'S SALAD DRESSING, Keystone brand, 20c a bottle. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

GILT BELTS, silk belts, Windsor ties, shirt waists. Trade in these started at a brisk pace. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Forbes & Wallace's,
Springfield.

A SALE OF BED QUILTS.

Every quilt in our wholesale stock is marked at the lowest wholesale price; lower than some merchants can buy them for. And now is the time to buy; it may suit our purpose to stop this sale at the end of the week. We started with these lots—

Crochet quilts—
200 at 42c apiece.
150 at 50c apiece.
250 at 67c apiece.
200 at 75c apiece.
250 at 85c apiece.
150 at 89c apiece.
200 at 99c apiece.
200 at $1.15 apiece.
50 at $1.29 apiece.

Some sorts are hemmed; some are not.

Fringed crochet quilts—for brass bed steads:
50 at $1.10 apiece.
50 at $1.35 apiece.

Marseilles quilts:
200 at $1.45 apiece.
100 at $1.62 apiece.
200 at $1.87 apiece.
50 at $2.10 apiece.
25 at $2.20 apiece.
70 at $2.37 apiece.
25 at $3 apiece.
24 at $3.62 apiece.
20 at $4.15 apiece.

Fine satin quilts at $1.90, $2.15 and $2 50.

Colored quilts 75c, $1, $1.75, $2.57 and $3.

Main floor of Vernon street building.

LINENS.

These prices are going to jam the counters before the week is out.

12½c red bordered linen crash, 9c a yard.

12½c tray cloths, 10c apiece; blue and red borders, and all white.

35c 56-inch cream damask at 29c a yard.

45c cream damask, 39c yard; 64 inches wide.

BLEACHED DAMASKS:

65c quality, 50c a yard; 64 inches wide.

75c quality, 65c a yard; 66 inches wide.

87½c quality, 75c a yard; 68 inches wide.

$1 quality, 89c a yard; 72 inches wide.

$2 bleached napkins at $1.50 a dozen; first-rate $2 napkins.

Main floor of Vernon street building.

Forbes & Wallace,
Main, Vernon and Pynchon streets,
Springfield, Mass.

J. W. Pierce, Republic, Ia., says; "I have used One Minute Cough Cure in my family and for myself, with results so entirely satisfactory that I can hardly find words to express myself as to its merit. I will never fail to recommend it to others, on every occasion that presents itself." LeGro & Lynde.

Spring days at KINSMAN'S,
Springfield.

At every turn about the store there are light and breezy things that days like these set women to thinking. The superior advantages of this store are fully shown in the choiceness of the assortments and the abundance of good, reliable values.

NEW DRESS GOODS.

What to buy and where to buy it are both answered in the beautiful assortments of SPRING NOVELTY DRESS GOODS shown here. The unusual style of these goods will command equal attention with the prices.

At 50c a yard--
A beautiful assortment of 40-inch all-wool goods in new spring designs.

At 65c a yard--
A special line of English suitings for tailor made costumes. Tans, greens, cadet blue and illuminated effects.

At $1 a yard--
Scotch cheviots in new checks and mixtures. Sicilian mohairs, naval, brown and gray.

A "special" at 50c a yard--
An excellent line of new black figured mohairs for skirts to wear with shirt waists.

NEW RIBBONS CONTINUALLY.
The latest arrivals includes plaids, stripes, checks, brocades, Dresden figures and chameleon effect, 33c, 45c, 50c, 62c, 68c, 75c, $1 a yd.

SILK GLOVES.
Kayser pure silk gloves with double finger tips. None better. Black, white, modes, tans, browns and gray, 50c, 75c and $1 a pair.

SILKS FOR WAISTS.
One special lot of new silk warp silks, handsomest 1896 designs, at $1 a yard. You cannot afford to miss this sale.

SUMMER DRESS GOODS.
Newest of everything. Best of everything. French figured dimities and organdies, linen batistes, lawns and mulls.

W. D. KINSMAN,
Corner Main and Bridge Streets,
SPRINGFIELD.

Soothing, healing, cleansing, DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is the enemy to sores, wounds and piles, which it never fails to cure. Stops itching and burning. Cures chapped lips and cold-sores in two or three hours. LeGro & Lynde.

L. H. HENDEE, M. D.,
OFFICE AND RESIDENCE, PLEASANT ST.
Office hours 7 to 10 a. m., and 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m.

IT'S WELL TO THINK

before buying spring and summer goods of the unequalled facilities we have of selling high grade garments at extremely low prices.

This season we are selling at $10.50 a sack suit which we have never before retailed at less than $14 and which we know cannot be matched in the city at less than $16 or $18.

Best black clay worsted suits in the world for dress. $10, $12, $15, $18. A world beater at $13.75, worth $16.

Best working pant made, $2.50. Dozens of styles for business and dress, $3, $4, and $5.

Perfect fitting overcoats, $6, $8, $10, $12, $15, $18.

Bicycle suits, negligee goods, hats and caps at what others call "cut" prices. We call them "popular."

HAYNES & CO.,
Clothiers, Tailors, Hatters, Furnishers.
SIGN OF THE GOLDEN GLOBE.
SPRINGFIELD, = = = MASS.

FREE MEDICAL SERVICES
For all Diseases Until Cured!

Boston's Most Successful Blood and Nerve Specialist,
DOCTOR J. FRASER BARBRICK,
Will make his first visit to
PALMER, WEDNESDAY, MAY 6.
Offices at the Nassowanno House.
∴ FREE FOR ONE DAY ONLY! ∵

All who visit this eminent physician on the above date will receive consultation, examination, services and treatment FREE OF ALL CHARGE.

The Doctor wishes it thoroughly understood that this is not a "CHARITY OFFER," but a purely business proposition made for the purpose of bringing him, his methods and his Boston Institute quickly before the public. Therefore all may call,—the high, the low, the rich, the poor,—without fear or favor.

The Doctor feels assured that the grateful endorsements of the many he will RELIEVE and CURE, will quickly attract public attention to him and to his Institute, and will give him during his future visits an extended practice which will amply repay for this great outlay of time and money. Although he treats all diseases of a chronic long standing, obscure or difficult nature, and cures many so-called incurable diseases, he wishes it thoroughly understood that, if after a thorough examination, your case is found to be incurable, he will frankly tell you so, and reserves the right to reject such cases.

All Diseases and Deformities Treated.

CATARRH CURED.—Consumption in the incipient stage, bronchitis, asthma, rheumatism, diseases of the nose, throat, lungs, stomach, liver, kidneys, scrofula, sores, ulcers and all chronic blood troubles, eczema, psoriasis, pimples, blotches and all skin troubles treated and cured.

NERVOUS DISEASES.—Nervous Debility from any cause, hysteria, neurasthenia, chorea, St. Vitas dance, epilepsy, etc.; disease of the spine, paralysis, locomotor ataxia, palsy and all such diseases positively cured by his "Tissue Cell Building" Treatment.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Ladies examined without exposure, and all diseases peculiar to their sex cured without the use of Rings, Pessaries, Supporters, etc., by new and pleasant home methods.

CANCERS, malignant tumors and growths, all enlargements and glandular swellings removed and cured without the use of a knife. No pain. No matter what disease you are suffering from or how long standing; no matter how many physicians have failed to cure you, call on us. It will cost you nothing and you may profit by it.

Are You Sick? Are You Suffering? If So, Call on Him.

Not only will you be surprised at his wonderful knowledge of disease, his plain, concise explanation of every cause and effect, but at the marvelous rapidity of his new, common sense, RATIONAL treatment which goes to the very seat of the trouble, giving almost instant relief, and in all cases that have not progress

Fairly jumped into success—Pearline. Right from the very start. Notwithstanding all these hundreds of years of precedence behind that old-fashioned, back-breaking way of washing with soap, too.

Now, why was it? Why is it that hundreds of millions of packages of Pearline have been used in the few years since this washing-compound was invented? Just do your washing and cleaning with Pearline for a month, and you'll see. It takes away the rubbing, but without any risk of harm. That puts it at the head of every known aid for washing.

Millions NOW USE 461 Pearline

Gravel Cured.

(Philadelphia, Penn., Item)

A healthier, heartier, happier man than John J. Neill, of 2437 North Eighth street, Philadelphia, could not be found in a day's search. The fact that he is still alive is a constant wonder to his friends.

In the fall of 1889 he began to suffer indescribable miseries from stone in the bladder. Consulting an eminent physician in Philadelphia, he was told that a surgical operation was necessary. So much did he dread the result, for if unsuccessful it meant death, that he put off the evil day as long as possible. While in this frame of mind, he heard of

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

Although disheartened, on July 1, 1893, he bought a bottle of it, and within a month had experienced beneficial results, and before he had finished the third bottle, the gravel was completely dissolved and his sufferings at an end.

Mr. Neil feels that he owes a lasting debt of gratitude to Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy and for disorders of the bladder and urinary organs, says "it will effect a cure if one be possible."

Favorite Remedy is prescribed with unfailing success for rheumatism, dyspepsia and nerve troubles, in which it has cured many that were considered beyond the aid of medicine. All druggists, $1.

Become an Agent

and make money. Exclusive rights and all sales in your territory credited to you. These are the discounts on our $100

"Phœnix" Bicycle

—no better wheel has ever been made.

2 to 5 wheels,	-	15 per cent.
5 to 10 "	-	17½ "
10 to 15 "	-	20 "
15 to 20 "	-	22½ "
20 to 25 "	-	25 "
25 up "	-	27 "

You will furthermore receive (in cash) the discount on the entire number of wheels you take and pay for up to August 30th, no matter how few ordered at the beginning.

Catalogues free for the asking.

Correspond with us at once or your territory may be taken by a neighbor.

STOVER BICYCLE MNFG. CO.,
575-577 Madison Ave., New York.

UNDERWOOD'S CANNED HAM, cooked and specially prepared for slicing.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

LARRABEE'S RHEUMATIC LINIMENT

A standard and sovereign household remedy for over half a century. It is a wonderful curative agent in all painful diseases, such as

Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuralgia, Backache, Catarrh, Toothache,

and other painful ailments. To be had of all druggists, or by mail on receipt of 25 cents. Trade supplied by Geo. C. Goodwin & Co., or any wholesale druggist.

WINKLEMANN & BROWN DRUG CO.
BALTIMORE, MD., U. S. A.

FRESH EGGS, 16c a dozen. Dairy butter, 20c, 23c, 25c a pound. Belchertown creamery butter, 25c.
Telephone connection. W. E. STONE.

A Man With X Ray Eyes.

A Phenomenon of Nature in Springfield.

"There are many more things in Heaven and earth Horatio, than are dreamt of in your philosophy."

There is in Springfield to-day a man of modest demeanor who makes no pretensions to greatness, but who possesses the most wonderful gift of second sight and the power to penetrate beyond the veil that hitherto has proved impenetrable to science and baffled the hypothetical powers of divination. Prof. A. J. Salisbury has been a resident of Springfield for some time past, during which he has demonstrated in thousands of cases his infallible skill in correctly diagnosing cases that have baffled the skill and thwarted the effort of the best medical practioners of the old school. All to him through the intricacies and complications of diseases are clearly revealed to him through his wonderful occult powers of vision, no matter where in one's anatomy the seeds of disease may lurk, they are clearly revealed and accurately located by Prof. Salisbury without asking the patient a single question. On this fact hinges the success of the Springfield Magnetic Institute. Prof. Salisbury tells the people every pain and ache, and tells you how you feel better than you can yourself, and it stands to reason that the cure is half performed when you are sure you know what your ailments are. After Prof. Salisbury reads your disease, then F. W. Mappherson, M. D., a man of years of experience gives you the medicines for the disease you suffer from, and if possible a cure is speedily effected. And the Springfield Magnetic Institute has justly earned the title—the place where sick people are made well.

Office hours 1 to 6 and 7 to 9 p. m. except Tuesday and Thursday evenings. No office hours on Sunday.

Remember the place, 394 Main Street.

Room 12, (over Forbes & Wallace's,)

SPRINGFIELD, - - - - MASS.

GREEN'S MINERAL PASTE. Manufactured by W. W. Converse, Palmer. Warranted to clean and polish gold, silver, silver plated ware, mirrors and windows. Will not scratch the finest gold or tarnish silver. 25c a box
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

I Am Tired To-Night.

I am tired to-night, and something—
The wind, maybe, or the rain,
Or the cry of the birds in the copse outside—
Has brought back the past and the pain.
And I feel as I sit here thinking,
That the hand of the dead old June
Has reached out hold of my heart's loose strings,
And is drawing them into tune.

I am tired to-night, and I miss you
And long for you, love, through tears;
And it seems but to-day that I saw you go—
You who have been gone for years;
And I seem to be newly lonely,
I, who am so much a lone;
And the strings of my heart are well in tune,
But they have not the old tone.

I am tired, and that old sorrow
Sweeps down the bed of my soul,
As a turbulent river might suddenly break
Away from the dam's control.
It beareth a wreck on its bosom,
A wreck with a snow white sail,
And the hand on my heartstrings thums away.
But they only respond with a wail.

—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

AMONG THE PARAGRAPHERS.

The bride and groom were very shy,
Like brides and grooms before—
The one a title, the other
A million dollars or more.

—Detroit Tribune.

O'Brien—"Yis, Dennis is a foin man. I've known him 45 years." McSweeny—"So hov I." O'Brien—"Oh! come off; he's no 90 years old."

Sibyl—"When Steve proposed to me he acted like a fish out of water." Maude—"Why shouldn't he? He knew he was caught."—Answers.

"Say, Floss, what makes that snake tie himself up in a knot?" "Guess he wants to remember something, and he hasn't got any handkerchief."—Life.

Some folks are so fond of trouble that they can't enjoy honey for thinking of what might have happened if the bee had stung 'em.—Atlanta Constitution.

"The wailing of the wind almost moves me to tears," said the sentimental boarder. "Yes," said the Cheerful Idiot, "it is indeed a sad blow."—Indianapolis Journal.

The people on the steamship St. Paul should not have been lonesome. When it comes to having been stranded at Long Branch, there are others.—Yonkers Statesman.

Mrs. Nix—"I hope you are not afraid of work." Weary Willie (uneasily)—"I ain't exactly afraid, mum; but I always feel fidgetty w'en dere's anyt'ing like dat around."—Truth.

Miss Kate—"I like a man with a past. He is always interesting." "Miss Duplicate—"I like a man with a present, and the more expensive the present the more interest I take in it."—Cincinnati Commertial Gazette.

A Pert Miss. Grandfather (awaking after a nap)—"I do believe that my right arm is still asleep." Little Esther—"Yes, grandpa, but your nose has not slept a wink; it was making an awful noise all the time."—Daysnyheter.

"What is all that row in the dining-room?" asked the dime museum manager, with some irritation. "It do be the glass eater, sor," said the Zulu chieftain. "He says th' cook give him a cracked toombler, an he cut his toong on it."—New York Press.

Old Quiverful—"And so you want to take our daughter from us; you want to take her from us suddenly, without a word of warning?" Young Goslow—"Not at all, sir. If there is anything about her you want to warn me against I'm willing to listen."—Brooklyn Life.

First small boy (in front of the Bontonby residence, while Mrs B. is receiving a vocal lesson)—"Hully gee! hear dat, in dere?" Second small boy (sagely)—"Yep, dese big blokes on th' Avnoo is jus' as bad as de old men down in Cherry street at beatin' dere wives."—Puck.

Exploding an Old Myth—"Are you superstitious?" "No; I got out of that at a very early age." "How did it happen?" "I was born on Friday, April 13, and the Friday that I became thirteen years old a rich uncle died, leaving me $3000 by will."—Chicago Record.

"So you've been to Dakota?" "Yes." "And how did you like the West?" "Much disappointed in it." "But how?" "Why, I expected to get my divorce in fifteen minutes, but I had to stay almost a month. Good people but slow—awfully slow."—Detroit Free Press.

A Matter of Language. "John," she said, rather sternly, "the coal bin is empty." "Yes," was the disconsolate repiy, "it's that way the most of the time. It's never of use in an immediate emergency. I'm going to change its name and call it a coal-has-been."—Washington Star.

"I'm goin' to tell pa on you," said Johnny Smithers, as the blacksmith pared some of the bone away from the horse's hoof. "Why? What have I done?" asked the blacksmith. "You ain't got shoes to fit Dobbin, an' you're whittlin' off his feet to suit those you have got."—Harper's Round Table.

E.—"You say you saw everything in Rome in three days? That's impossible." F.—"But you must remember that there were three of us. My wife took all the churches, I visited all the picture galleries, and my son went for the restaurants and cafes. Then we met in the evening and swapped experiences."—Tid-Bits.

The Critical Editor—"Miss Wright, I think it would be better to change that sentence wherin you say that 'woman cannot be expected to remain silent under a smarting sense of injustice.'" The Lovely Essayist—"Why, what is wrong with it?" "I think it would be more in accordance with fact if you were to change 'remain' to 'become.' 'Remain', you know, implies the continuance of a previous condition."—Cincinnati Inquirer

"Well," said Col. Yerger of Dallas, looking up from his paper, "a seat in the New York stock exchange has just been sold for $30,000." "Great Scott," commented Mrs. Yerger, "who is going to play?" "Play!" howled Yerger, "what would they play for at the stock exchange? Have you got an idea that it is a kind of a concert?" "Well, I thought Paderewski or some other great musician was going to play a piano, or seats wouldn't be so high."—Texas Siftings.

DID SHE WEAR BLOOMERS?—A lady teacher in one of the public schools, in trying to explain the meaning of the word "slowly," illustrated it by walking across the floor. When she asked the class to tell her how she walked, she nearly fainted when a boy at the foot of the class shouted: "Bow-legged, ma'am!"—Chicago Daily News.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, } ss.
LUCAS COUNTY.

FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of CATARRH that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

{ SEAL } A. W. GLEASON
Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Scrofula

Infests the blood of humanity. It appears in varied forms, but is forced to yield to Hood's Sarsaparilla, which purifies and vitalizes the blood and cures all such diseases. Read this:

"In September, 1894, I made a misstep and injured my ankle. Very soon afterwards,

A Sore

two inches across formed and in walking to favor it I sprained my ankle. The sore became worse; I could not put my boot on and I thought I should have to give up at every step. I could not get any relief and had to stop work. I read of a cure of a similar case by Hood's Sarsaparilla and concluded to try it. Before I had taken all of two bottles the sore had healed and the swelling had gone down. My is now well and I have been greatly benefited otherwise. I have increased in weight and am in better health. I cannot say enough in praise of Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. H. BLAKE, So. Berwick, Me.

Foot

This and other similar cures prove that

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills the best family cathartic and liver stimulant. 25c.

WOULDN'T HAVE ANOTHER COUNTRY.—Gen. Longstreet, in telling of some of his experiences in the war the other evening, said that during the campaign of the Peninsula he never had any opportunity of sleeping except as his corps was passing him. One night, as he had dismounted, leaving his horse in the charge of his orderly, and going down into the angles of one of those Virginia fences, he overheard two soldiers talking and he listened to them One soldier said to the other: "I suppose it's all right that we should march all night and fight by day. Of course it is right that we should do that, for the love of country, if nothing else. I suppose that we should be poorly clothed, as we are, for the love of country. We should endure it. I suppose to be poorly fed, as we are, we should suffer for the love of country. Of course we should do that. And I suppose, when you come to that, that we should die, if necessary, for the love of country. I am willing to. But there is just one thing that I want to say, that if ever I live to get out of this I'll be d—— if I will ever have another country."—Boston Budget.

A slice of mince pie made of the right mince meat is a lunch in itself—an epicure's lunch.

NONE SUCH MINCE MEAT

is the right mince meat. Wholesome, fresh and delicious. For pies, fruit cake and fruit pudding. Sold everywhere. Take no substitute.

Send name and address for booklet. "Mrs. Popkins' Thanksgiving," a humorous story.

MERRELL-SOULE CO. SYRACUSE, N Y

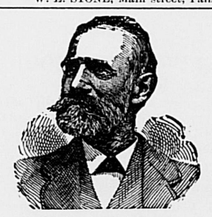
shortness of breath—a sensation of dryness and heat in the throat. Neglect is dangerous.

HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR

Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar acts like a charm on the throat and bronchial tubes. Use it before it's too late. Sold by druggists.

Pike's Toothache Drops cure in one minute.

INFANTS SHOES, 35c and 50c.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.



F. M. EAGER.

Boots and Shoes Manufactured to Measure.

REPAIRING NEATLY DONE AT SHORT NOTICE.

Dealer in Sewing Machines and Supplies.

Machines to rent or sold on monthly payments.

F. M. EAGER, PALMER.

GET OUTSIDE SOME GLASSES OF THAT ICE COLD SODA.

You will realize that there is some good left in life after all, and something to look forward to when you have had one glass, you will want another, and still another—sometime at least. So much for the pleasure of life. The necessities you will find amongst our things, and medicines to dispose of that disagreeable feeling which may be worse to-morrow if neglected. For all of which call at

ALLEN'S DRUG STORE,
Holden's Block, Palmer.

EYES EXAMINED FREE.

Dr. Vineberg, Refraction Specialist,

wishes to inform sufferers of headache or nervous complaints arising from defective vision, can be cured by having glasses properly fitted to the eyes.

247 Main Street, - Springfield, Mass.

HE CAUGHT AT A STRAW.

And Found a Bulwark of Strength and Safety.

C. B. Downs, of the freight department of the Boston & Maine Railroad at Portsmouth, knows what it is to suffer from hunger with food within reach, which he could eat, but not digest. He lives at 39 Daniel Street, and tells his experience in the following words:—

When I was 14 years old I began to be troubled with indigestion, which as I grew up became worse instead of better, until I found it hard to keep any food on my stomach. Everything I ate caused me pain and distress, but I did not look like a dyspeptic and so did not get much sympathy.

I tried as many as a dozen different things, but they all failed to cure me, and like a drowning man I was ready to catch at any straw offering the least hope of rescue. Then I tried Puritana and was not only relieved by it from the pain, but in a short time completely cured of my indigestion. I could eat sausages without their hurting me, and I found that Puritana had given me a new stomach that would digest any food. I believe that I was the first person in

TO MISERY

Portsmouth to use Puritana, but not the last, as I know that since then many people have taken it, with wonderful results.

James H. Crowley, of Concord, N. H., is not only an athlete but one of the fastest amateur runners in the State. What he says below shows how a man's strength will go if the stomach is not right.

I had dyspepsia for years. Sometimes I could hardly stand up, and I could not eat anything without pain and agony. Of course I tried to get relief, but met with failure after failure until there seemed to be no hope left. At last I was persuaded to give Puritana a trial. The result was marvelous. It not only relieved me, but it made me perfectly well. Instead of being doubled up with pain, Puritana has given me a stomach like an ostrich, that will digest almost anything. There is nothing too strong for me to say in favor of Puritana.

TO HEALTH

Puritana

Trade Mark.

Registered.

It cures from head to foot.

92% of all sickness and all disorders of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, Lungs, Nerves, Heart, Brain, and Skin is caused by

A Wrong Stomach

Puritana makes the

Heart Right,
Lungs Right,
Liver Right,
Blood Right,
Kidneys Right,
Nerves Right,
Health Right.

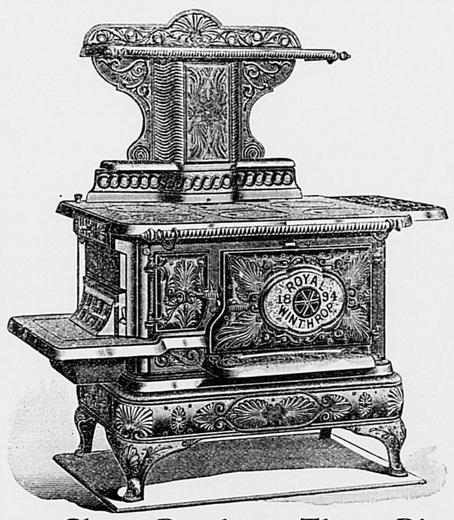
Because it makes

A Right Stomach

It brings to any man, woman, or child, strength, comfort, happiness, and new life.

Get of your druggist this great disease-conquering discovery (the price is $1 for the complete treatment, one bottle of Puritana, one bottle of Puritana Pills, and one bottle of Puritan Tablets, all in one package), and you will bless the day when you heard of Puritana. The Puritana Compound Co., Concord, N. H.

We sell the ROYAL WINTHROP GRAND.
Also the HERALD B RANGE, the two BEST STOVES made.



Shaw Brothers, Three Rivers.

TEETH

must be filled when decayed, and when beyond repair, extracted or crowned. For the past four years, at my office, by the aid of the only successful method discovered up to date, the "Hale," we have

Filled teeth without pain

in every case. Others try to copy, but do they succeed? You know they don't. I know they can't.

By an application to the gum of a harmless preparation, we are able to

EXTRACT ◆ WITHOUT ◆ PAIN,

fully 95 per cent of all cases of bad teeth. . . . . .

Come to the largest, most complete and best dental office in Massachusetts.

Dr. Wm. L. Roberts,
DENTIST.
Court Sq. Theatre Building, Springfield.

CARRIAGES.

I have in stock a large and complete line of fine and medium grade carriages.

Top carriages, - - $50 to $350
Open carriages, - - $40 to $200
150 second-hand carriages, $5 to $150

DELIVERY WAGONS OF ALL KINDS.

I have the right styles and low prices.

W. H. SMITH,
2 Park Street, Springfield.

A VISIT to the SICK ROOM

RICHARDSON & ROBBINS BONED CHICKEN.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

FOR COMFORT,
BUY A . . .
HOT WATER BAG,
AT...LeGro & Lynde's, Druggists,
Next to Post Office, PALMER.

TABLE OIL CLOTH, white, marble and wood, stair oilcloth, shelf oil cloth.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

SIDE COMBS, dressing combs, fine combs, pocket combs, hair brushes, tooth brushes, perfumery, toilet soaps.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

There is fun in the foam, and health in the cup of HIRES Rootbeer—the great temperance drink.

Made only by The Charles E. Hires Co., Philadelphia. A 5c. package makes 5 gallons. Sold everywhere.

CONFECTIONER'S SUGAR.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

For Your Protection we positively state that this remedy does not contain mercury or any other injurious drug.

NASAL CATARRH is a local disease and is the result of colds and sudden climatic changes.

ELY'S CREAM BALM

opens and cleanses the nasal passages, allays pain and inflammation, heals the sores, protects the membrane from colds, restores the senses of ta te and smell. The balm is quickly absorbed and gives relief at once. Price 50c at druggists or by mail.
ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren St., New York.

German-American Investment Co.
FOUNDED 1892.
52 Wall Street, New York.
(Under supervision of Banking Department of the State of New York.)

Authorized capital, - - - - $1000,000
Paid up capital, - - - - $200,000

Letters of credit, checks and drafts on foreign countries at cheaper rates.

SPECIALTY—Cable transfers and all other money transactions with Germany and Austria-Hungary.

Foreign money, bank notes, bonds, bought and sold.

Bankers wanted as agents in various town.

DWIGHT'S SODA—"Cow brand." 1 pound packages and bulk. Cream Tartar, Slades pure—¼ pound packages and bulk.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Buy your WALL PAPER By mail AT WHOLESALE PRICES.

100 samples free. { New designs 3c and up / Elegant gilts 15c " " / Borders same low rates. / Send 8c for postage; deduct when ordering. F. H. Cady, 805 Westmr. St. Prov. R.I. } Warranted to suit or money refunded.

Liberal discounts to clubs and agents.

LADIES' KID GLOVES, $1.00.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

HINDERCORNS The only sure Cure for Corns. Stops all pain. Makes walking easy. 15c. at Druggists.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists

If you are CONSUMPTIVE or have Indigestion, Painful ills or debility of any kind use PARKER'S GINGER TONIC. Many who were hopeless and discouraged have regained health by its use.

SALESMEN

Wanted to Take Orders for nursery stock. Salary or commission to reliable men. Cash advanced for expenses. First-class reference required.

The R. G. CHASE CO., Malden, Mass.

MINUTE TAPIOCA, 10c a package; pudding, 10c a package; Nonesuch mince meat, 10c a package. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Down to Sleep.

November woods are bare and still,
November days are clear and bright.
Each noon burns up the morning's chill,
The morning's snow is gone by night.
Each day my steps grow slow, grow light,
As through the woods I reverent creep,
Watching all things "lie down to sleep."

I never knew before what beds,
Fragrant to smell and soft to touch,
The forest sifts and shapes and spreads.
I never knew before how much
Of human sound there is in such
Low tones as through the forest sweep
When all wild things "lie down to sleep."

November woods are bare and still,
November days are bright and good,
Life's noon burns up life's morning chill,
Life's night rests feet that long have stood.
Some warm, soft bed in field or wood
The mother will not fail to keep
Where we can "lay us down to sleep."

—Helen Hunt Jackson.

PALMER HISTORY GLEANINGS.

BY O. P. ALLEN.

XIII.

Maple Sugar Making.

There are many pretty myths concerning the discovery of making maple sugar by the Indians, but just how they came in possession of the secret we do not know. It probably came through one of those happy accidents by which means so many of nature's secrets have been revealed. At any rate, the first white settlers in New England learned the art from the Indians, and were not slow in profiting by the knowledge.

Our early settlers of Palmer had little spare money to devote to luxuries, so they gladly utilized the maple for producing a stock of the coveted sweet. As their primitive process of making sugar was very crude, it may interest the readers of the present generation to learn how the method was pursued in the last century. In the first place, the farmer who had a considerable number of sugar maples scattered about in the forest portion of his farm, provided himself with a stock of wooden troughs in the fall. The troughs were usually made from the ash, because the wood of this tree is of free grain and easily wrought. Usually a a tree was selected nearly a foot in diameter, which was felled and cut into lengths of about two and one-half feet each; these were cloven in the center and formed into troughs by the use of the ax and gauge, and when finished would hold nearly a pailful of fluid.

The first warm day in February or March was eagerly awaited, when a road was trodden into the woods, often half a mile away, and the troughs conveyed there for use. The maples were sought out and tapped with an iron gauge, some two inches wide, and suitable spouts of wood inserted in the incision; two of these spouts were driven into each tree about two feet above the snow; then to increase the flow of sap, a large gash was cut with an ax, above the spout, on an angle and leading into it, by which means the maples presented an unsightly appearance. After the tapping process had been duly performed to all the trees near at hand, the snow was cleared from some sheltered spot in the woods, and two stout poles with crotches were cut and set in the ground, to support a pole from which the kettle, holding about five pailfuls, was to be suspended, for boiling the sap. If the day was favorable, the troughs would need to be empted soon after noon, and in the last century it was no easy work to gather the sap from even fifty trees, for then in Palmer the snow was often several feet deep as late as the first of March. The sap was gathered into pails attached to a yoke fitted to the broad shoulders of the sturdy farmer, who brought the sap and deposited it in a large trough, or in the kettle, around which a glowing fire had been made from the dried material furnished by fallen trees. If necessary, the boiling process went on long after nightfall, to be continued the next day, and onward till the season was over. After evaporating some forty or fifty pailfuls, the result would be a heavy syrup; this was strained and conveyed to the house to be boiled still more for sugar. The primary boiling was done in the open air without any protection, with logs each side of the kettle, and smaller material to keep a hot fire going all the time. Whoever had the matter in hand had to keep bravely at work, or the troughs would get awry and allow the sap to go to waste. The sugar camp was no place for an idler; it meant hard work from start to finish. The "sugaring off" was usually done at the house. It was "the occasion" of the season, in which the whole household participated and to which the younger members had looked forward with eager pleasure. The large kettle was suspended from the crane in the great fire place in the old kitchen, and duly furnished with the golden fluid which had been produced from the camp in the woods with so much labor. It was carefully watched as the boiling proceeded, least in a sudden frenzy of ebullition it should boil over, to prevent which a piece of salt pork was kept at hand to be thrust into the mass, which kept it within bounds. It was surprising to see how often the younger members of the family found an excuse to test the syrup, to see if it was not ready to swing off the fire. When it was found that the syrup would cool in the form of wax on a dish of snow, the mass was pronounced done, and taken off to cool. Then there was a regal feast of sweet, in which all heartily engaged. Sometimes on such occasions the young people of the neighborhood were invited in, and a most enjoyable time was had, when the sweet feasted on the sweets, and life-long friendships were formed.

The crude method of making sugar as described above continued till nearly sixty years ago, when the auger took the place of the gauge; a small hole was bored into the tree and a spout made from sumac, deprived of its pith, was used, which method defaced the tree but little; then, too, the old-time troughs were abandoned for nice pine buckets, and the old kettle gave place to the evaporating pan set in a comfortable building. But of late years little attention has been paid to sugar making in our town, so that it can almost be reckoned among the lost arts, for which reason it may be well to preserve some record of an old-time industry gone into disuse through the force of changed conditions.

Two Lives Saved.

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had consumption and that there was no help for her, but two bottles Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida St., San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried without result everything else, then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in coughs and colds. Free trial bottles of LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

Old People.

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find the true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whisky nor other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alterative. It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding Nature in the performances of the functions. Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old people find it just exactly what they need. Price fifty cents per bottle of LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

THE BEST SALVE in the world for cuts bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

TRIALS OF A TEACHER.

The school teacher is very poorly paid for his wearisome work of imparting wisdom to his pupils, if many of his pupils are like the one described in the following dialogue. The boy found it difficult to understand simple arithmetic:

Teacher—"Suppose, Fritz, you have a stocking on one foot, and you put another stocking on the other foot, how many would you have on both feet?"

Boy—"I never wear no stockings!"

"Suppose your father has one pig in a pen, and he buys another pig and put it in the pen, how many pigs will there be in the pen?"

"Dad don't keep pigs."

The teacher blew a heavy sigh from his tired lips, wiped the perspiration from his scholastic brow, and went at it again with renewed courage.

"Suppose you have one jacket, and at Christmas your father makes you a present of another jacket, how many jackets will you have then?"

"He ain't that kind of a father. He never gives nothin' on Christmas."

"Suppose your mother gives you one apple and you have one already, what will you have then?"

"Stomach-ache. Our apples are cookin' apples."

The teacher was not the man to be discouraged by trifles. He began to suspect that the boy was not well up in arithmetic, but he resolved to make one more effort, so he said:

"If a poor little beggar boy has a cake and you give him one more, how many will he have?"

"I dunno. I eat my own cakes."

Then the teacher told the children to go out and play.—Texas Siftings.

"Hillo. Is this the feed sthore? Will, send up at once a bale of hay, two quarts of bran and a bushel of oats. Who is it fhore? Ah, don't git gay. It's fhore the horse."—Life.

Dangerous Drugs.

Avoid the use of white or pink headache powders, they contain dangerous drugs. Taylor's Anti-Headache Powders are brown; they look like ground coffee and they have a delightful aromatic taste. Try them once and you will never be without them. Get them of LeGro & Lynde.

IS THE TIME

to prepare for the tremendous strain of summer upon your strength and vitality. Don't wait until you're sick—be ready for the struggle. Cleanse the BLOOD first! It's the source of life. Impure blood causes weak, tired-out men and women, and puny children. Malaria, Headaches, Constipation, Pimples, Scrofula, Liver and Kidney Troubles all come from bad blood! There's a cure—prompt and sure,

DR. CLARK JOHNSON'S

INDIAN BLOOD SYRUP

Not a new medicine—it's been used right in this district for 30 years. Twenty million bottles sold. Try it to-day!

50c. per bottle; all druggists.

F. F. MARCY, PALMER, MASS.
Wholesale and Retail Dealer in

ALL KINDS OF LUMBER AND SHINGLES

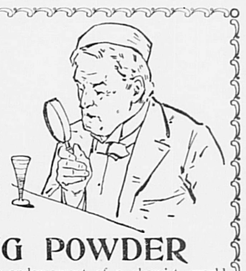
Windows, doors, blinds, mouldings. Carpenters' and joiners' work done to order.

Also FIRE BRICK and CLAY for sale.

Yard and shop at junction of B. & A. and N. L. N. Y. Railroads—west of Depot.

"The kind Boss makes his Biscuits with."

Science Can Tell



in these days of advancement and delicate mathematical instruments to the most infinitesimal particle, the exact composition of any compound. That's why the following report concerning the purity and strength of

BOSS BAKING POWDER

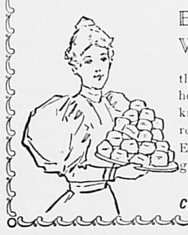
is of value, especially as it bears the endorsement of a chemist, world renowned Dean Smith, of Yale University, who writes:

YALE MEDICAL SCHOOL, New Haven, Conn.
December 20, 1895.

C. D. BOSS & SON, New London, Conn.

GENTLEMEN:—I have examined the package of Boss Baking Powder which you sent to me for that purpose. I find that it is composed of the ingredients which in my opinion are most suitable for such a preparation. The ingredients are combined in the proper proportion for the best result, and the mixture shows no adulteration or injurious constituents.

Yours truly,
Herbert E. Smith
Connecticut State Chemist.

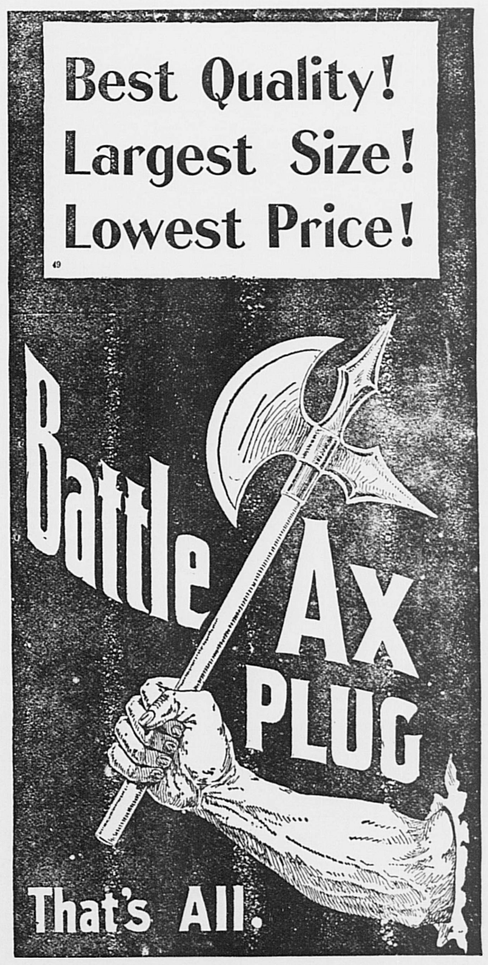


Experience Will Demonstrate

the truth of scientific reasoning; that's why every housewife who has ever used our baking powder knows its efficacy in producing the most perfect results. Healthful on account of its purity. Economical on account of its strength. Ask your grocer for it now, and you'll wish you had before.

MANUFACTURED BY
C. D. BOSS & SON, - - - New London, Conn.

Best Quality! Largest Size! Lowest Price!



"BETTER WORK WISELY THAN WORK HARD."
GREAT EFFORTS ARE UNNECESSARY IN HOUSE CLEANING IF YOU USE

SAPOLIO

4 5

STOCKS. BONDS. GRAIN.

F. W. Davison,
BROKER,
Palmer, Mass.,

The Boston Stock and Grain Exchange is incorporated under the laws of the State of Massachusetts. Capital $100,000, fully paid. Execute orders to buy and sell all stocks, bonds, grain and provisions for cash or on moderate margin. Private wires to Boston, New York and Chicago. Quotations on view daily between the hours of ten and three.

Correspondent of the BOSTON STOCK AND GRAIN EXCHANGE.

O & O TEA—A blend of choice Formosa, Japan and India teas. Put up in ¼ pound cans, 20c, ½ pound cans, 38c, and 1 pound cans, 75c. Telephone connection.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

A high liver with a torpid liver will not be a long liver. Correct the liver with DeWitt's Little Early Risers, little pills that cure dyspepsia and constipation. LeGro & Lynde.

The Palmer Journal.

VOLUME XLVII. PALMER, MASS., FRIDAY EVENING, MAY 8, 1896. NUMBER 6.

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY EVENING
—BY—
C. B. FISKE & CO.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.—Two dollars a year. A discount of 25 cents to those who pay in advance. Six months, $1.00; three months, 50 cents; single copies, Agents.

ADVERTISING RATES.—One inch (or twelve lines of this type solid) 75 cents for the first insertion, 25 cents for the second, 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. Short advertisements, "Wanted," "To Let," etc., one cent a word for the first insertion, one-half cent a word each subsequent insertion, cash; no charge less than 25 cents. Notices in local column, 15 cents per line. Liberal rates to yearly advertisers.

JOB PRINTING of all kinds executed in the best styles, promptly and at reasonable rates.

C. B. FISKE. L. E. CHANDLER.

[Entered at Post Office as second class matter.]

LOCAL BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

PALMER.

ALLEN, O. P., Wholesale and Retail Druggist and Bookseller.

BARTON, F. D., Dealer in Watches, Clocks and Jewelry, Main street.

BILLS, G. A., Fresh and Salt Beef, Pork, Ham, Lard, Tripe, etc.

BROOKS, EDWIN E., Graduate Optician. With E. S. Brooks, Jeweler, Main street.

BROOKS, E. S., Dealer in Watches, Clocks, Jewelry, Solid Silver and Plated Ware, Main street.

BROWN, C. A. & CO., Hardware, Furnaces, Stoves, Ranges, Paints, Oils and Glass.

BROWN, S. H., Trucking, Light Jobbing, Piano Moving. Order box cor. Main and Walnut streets. Orders can also be left at J. F. Foley's store.

CARPENTER, Mrs. L. E., Millinery and Fancy Goods. Also dealer in Human Hair Goods.

CHANDLER BROS., Bicycles.

CLARK & HASTINGS, Wholesale Dealers in Armour & Co's. Dressed Beef, Provisions, Main St.

EAGER, F. M., Boot and Shoe Manufacturer to Order, and dealer in Leather and Findings.

FISKE, C. B. & CO., Publishers PALMER JOURNAL and WARE STANDARD. Fine Book and Job Printers and Bookbinders.

FITCH, A. E., Law and Insurance, Savings Bank Block.

FRANCIS, R. B., Iron Foundry and Machine Shop.

GAMWELL, C. K., Ready made Clothing, Hats, Caps, Gent's Furnishings, etc.

GARDNER, CHAS. L., Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Church street.

GOODES, E., Palmer Boot and Shoe Store, corner Main and Thorndike streets.

HAMILTON, J. A., Dealer in all kinds of Coal, Wood, Grain, Flour, Baled Hay and Straw. Fertilizers and Stock Food. Main street.

HOLBROOK, C. D., Flour, Grain, Feed and Masons' Supplies, Main street.

HOLBROOK, J. F., Dealer in all kinds of Coal. Agent for National and White Star line of steamers. Drafts on Foreign Banks at lowest rates.

LEACH, W. W., Attorney at Law.

LEGRO & LYNDE, Druggists and Newsdealers, Paper Hangings, Shades, Lamps and Fixtures.

MARCY, F. F., Dealer in Lumber, Shingles, etc., wholesale and retail. West of B. & A. R.R. depot.

MARCY, OSCAR C., Livery and Feed Stable, rear of Converse House.

PALMER WATER CO., Office, Lawrence Block. Office hours to October 1, from 8.30 to 10 a. m., from 2 to 3 p. m.

SHAW, J. B., Dealer in Dry Goods, Groceries, etc. Opposite the depot.

WHITE, C. W., Marble and Granite Works. No. 1 Thorndike street.

WOOLRICH & CO., Manufacturers of Ridge's Food, Thorndike street.

THORNDIKE.

ADAMS, A. P., Druggist, Toilet Articles, Confectionery and Cigars.

BONDSVILLE.

HOLDEN, C. L., Dry Goods, Groceries, Clothing Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps, etc.

MORIARTY, M., Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots Shoes, Coal. Agt White Star and Anchor S S Co's

WARE.

ALBERTINE, J. A. Choice Fruits, Tobaccos, Cigars and Confectionery. Low Prices

DAVIS INSURANCE AGENCY represents the best companies and gives lowest rates.

DWIGHT, R. N., Harness, Horse Saddlery, Hardware. Repairing a Specialty. Next to Bank.

EDDY, C. W. Job and Fine Art Printer.

EDDY, MISS MATIE K. Teacher of Oil Painting and Crayon. Sketching or Art Work completed to order.

ELDREDGE, A. HENRY. Sign Painter. Carriages painted in the best manner. West Street.

HARLOW, A. B. Photographer. Instantaneous process only. Opposite the Bank.

HOSMER, F. N. Clothier. Hats, Caps, Gents' Furnishing Good, etc. Sanford's Block.

MARSH, F. E., Gold, Silver and Nickel Plater. Replating tableware a specialty. 7 Bank street.

PRIEST, J. E. Ware Steam Laundry. Carpet cleaning. Office at H. M. Clark's.

RICHARDSON, A. F. Dealer in Boots, Shoes and Rubbers of all kinds. Sagendorph's Block.

ROBINSON, JOHN F. Furniture, Sewing Machines, Pictures, Hardware, Paints and Farming Tools.

SIBLEY, J. B. Hardware, Tools, Agricultural Implements, Paints, Oils and Artists' materials.

SMITH, G. H. W. Jeweler. Watches, Clocks and Spectacles. Repairing in the best manner.

SULLIVAN & STRONG, Ware Cooperative Laundry. Fine Work and Carpet Cleaning. Office, 50 Main Street.

TURNER, H. H. Bookseller and Stationer, and dealer in Paper Hangings, Musical Instruments and Sheet Music.

MONSON.

GROUT, GEO. E. Dealer in Watches Clocks, Jewelry, etc. Towne's Block.

NEWTON, GEO. H., Law Office, Notary Public, Insurance, etc., near Gage's store.

SQUIER & CO., Dealers in Grain, Feed, Hay, Straw, Lumber, Shingles and Building Material.

WARREN.

KELLEY, W. H., Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Quaboag Block, Warren, Mass.

SOCIETY DIRECTORY.

MONSON.

MT. ELLA LODGE, No. 184, A. O. U. W. Meets first and third Tuesdays of each month in A. O. U. W. Hall, Monson.
FISK G. ROGERS, M. W., F. J. ENTWISTLE, Rec.

SEE
THE NICE

BICYCLE

$50

will buy, with all the latest improvements, including

LARGE TUBING,
BARREL HUB,
PATENT OILERS,
NARROW TREAD,
COMBINATION PEDAL,
ETC., ETC., ETC.

E. A. Buck & Co.,
Cross Block,
PALMER.

CARPET CLEANING.

Having put in machinery for cleaning carpets by the method of beating, brushing and airing, I am now ready to receive orders. Special attention paid to taking up and relaying carpets; orders by mail promptly attended to. Carpets called for and delivered free of charge.

26-52 GEO. B. KENERSON, Park St., Palmer.

BELTS ARE THE FAD.

Gilt belts and spangled belts, leather belts and other belts. Belts are decidedly in it. Old, yet new. They are like nothing you used to wear. Your old fashioned belt is queered; it won't show up beside the new. If you want to see the latest in belts and buy it for what it is worth, (no more), it is here.

GOLD BELTS.

Stylish gold plated. wire thread, very finely woven, fancy edge, with gold buckle and slide.
One inch wide, 25c
One and three-fourths inches wide, 50c
Chamois, in white only, the very latest, at 29c
Spangled belts, (iride-cents), two inches wide, very handsome, 58c

LADIES' TIES AND BOWS.

Ladies' long satin teck scarf, all colors, 25c
" satin bows, in the new stock shapes, black, pink, navy, red, blue, cream and white, 25c
Ladies' long washable ties in fancy P K, also bows same goods, 25c

SEE OUR LINE OF BELT PINS AND STUD SETS. . . . . .

SHIRT WAISTS.

Nice quality cambric, made with laundered cuffs and collars, banded yoke, full sleeves, assorted in pink, blue, tans, black and white. AT 50c

Fancy striped percale, assorted in pinks, blue, tans. Made with turn-over collar, and 3½ inch straight cuffs, large sleeves, full front, pointed yoke. Laundered. AT 69c

Fine percale goods, assorted in broad and narrow stripes, colors, pink, gold, gray. Full front and pointed yoke, highly laundered collars and cuffs. AT 79c

French percaille goods in beautiful stripes and check designs. Colors, pink and white, blue and white, gold and white, black and white. Laundered collars and cuffs, turned over collars. Thoroughly made and will fit well. AT 89c

WRAPPERS.

Our ready made wrappers are of the best, best in make and fit, best in material, best in appearance, best in fact. See them. AT 89c

Our wrappers have been very carefully selected this season, and at the price, they are trade winners. Made of good quality calico, with undervest same material, folded collars and plain cuffs. AT $1.23

Good quality percale. Sizes 32 to 44. Full yoke and trimmed with braid to match, button vest with over loop. Hook and eye. In light and dark colors. AT $1.48

French sateen with black ground, colored flowers—trimmed waist, narrow silk ribbon, fit guaranteed, pretty enough to be used as an afternoon tea gown. The wrappers for the price of making. AT $2.25

For want of space we only advertise the above, but call and see what we are showing at $1, $1.25 and $1.50, before purchasing elsewhere.

Money cheerfully refunded on all goods found not satisfactory. Wrappers or waists on approbation if desired.

BOYS' PANTS AND SUITS.

Boys' tweed and corduroy pants, age 4 to 13 years, our price, 50c
Boys' summer blouse and pants to match, 58c

T. H. TODD, MONSON.

ASK FOR KABO No. 356

A perfect fitting corset for general wear, as well as for all athletic sports. Price $1.00
For sale by D. L. BODFISH, Palmer.

There is one DRESS STAY that
Won't melt apart,
Can't cut through the dress,
Don't stay bent.
It is
BALL'S PEERLESS.
All lengths; all colors.

Horse Blankets.

A full line, for both stable .....and street use.....

375 BLANKETS IN STOCK.

PRICES RIGHT.

D. W. Foskit,
Foskit's Mills.

DRS. HUDSON & BARDEN,
DENTISTS.
Having severed connection with Dr. W. L. Roberts, we have opened an office in the PHOENIX, 307 MAIN ST., SPRINGFIELD.
By our exclusive method we guarantee to
FILL TEETH WITHOUT PAIN,
and by a simple application to the gums we are enabled to extract FULLY 95 PER CENT OF ALL TEETH WITHOUT PAIN.
Positively no injury to teeth or gums, and no physiological ill-effect to the patient.
Artificial teeth on rubber, aluminum and gold bases.
All work guaranteed. Take elevator.
DRS. HUDSON & BARDEN,
307 Main Street, Springfield, Mass.

D. N. BUTTERWORTH, dealer in
CARRIAGES of EVERY DESCRIPTION.
Canopy top, extension top, surrey top and open buggies. Spindle wagons, banner wagons, grocery wagons, business wagons, mason's wagons and carpenter's wagons. Order wagons, road carts.
10 Concord buggies at less than cost to make, a good bargain. Also second-hand wagons.
Large stock of harness, robes, blankets.
I can sell the above goods as low as can be bought of any dealer. My expenses are lower than anyone in the business. I was never undersold and won't be. Come and satisfy yourselves at
60 DWIGHT ST., SPRINGFIELD, MASS.
D. N. BUTTERWORTH.

Central St., Dining Room and Restaurant.
T. A. HARWOOD, PROPRIETOR.
BEST 25 CENT DINNER IN TOWN. Meals and lunches served at all hours.
Board and room, $4.50 per week. Table board, $3.50 per week. Central St., Palmer.

CARRIAGES.

I have in stock a large and complete line of fine and medium grade carriages.
Top carriages, - - $50 to $350
Open carriages, - - $40 to $200
150 second-hand carriages, $5 to $150
DELIVERY WAGONS OF ALL KINDS.
I have the right styles and low prices.
W. H. SMITH,
2 Park Street, Springfield.

FOR COMFORT,
BUY A . . .
HOT WATER BAG,
At...LeGro & Lynde's, Druggists,
Next to Post Office, PALMER.

A . . . . . Butterfly Existence.

- - - The life of a poor piano is like
- - - that of a butterfly's—for a day.
- - - After it has been used a short
- - - time the smooth sweetness dies
- - - out of its tones, and is replaced
- - - by "tinny" nerve raising
- - - noises.

The . . . Sohmer Piano.

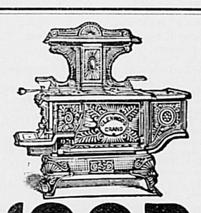
Gives perfect satisfaction. It - - - is perfectly built and will re- - - - tain its good qualities as long - - - as you will care to have it. - - -

AGENCY AT
TAYLOR'S
Music House,
412 MAIN STREET, SPRINGFIELD.

CHERRY BALSAM
Cures coughs, colds, throat and lung troubles. Others use it, we ask you to try it.
LeGro & Lynde, Druggists,
next to Post Office, PALMER.

Piano and Banjo Lessons
given by
Misses Annie and Carrie Fish,
22-tf Palmer.

Could every housewife know how much time, trouble and labor is saved and how easy cooking is made with a



GLENWOOD RANGE she would USE NO OTHER.
For sale in all prominent cities and towns throughout New England. | Made by THE WEIR STOVE CO., Taunton, Mass.

BOYS' BLACK SUITS SALE!

THOUSANDS OF BLACK.

Judging from the magnitude of our sales in this department, all boys want black suits just at present.

CLAYS, SERGES, WORSTEDS, CHEVIOTS.

Clays lead in popularity while the others are fighting for second place.

Boys' 2-piece suits, age 6 to 15 years, black all-wool cheviot, $1.98
Boys' 2-piece suits, age 6 to 15 years, black all-wool cheviot, $2.50
Boys' 2-piece suits, age 6 to 15 years, black all-wool serge, and cheviot, ... $3.50
Boys' 2-piece suits, age 6 to 15 years, black all-wool clays, and worsteds, ... $4, $4.50, $5.00, $6.50
Boys' 3-piece suits, age 10 to 16, cheviots, clays and worsteds.
Boys' black knee pants, ... 98c, $1.50
Boys' black long pant suits, ... $5 to $10
Boys' white shirts, white waists, white blouses, white collars, white cuffs, white ties.

BOYS' CONFIRMATION OUTFITS.

MEIGS & CO.
383-385 Main St., SPRINGFIELD.

SMITH & MURRAY.
SPRINGFIELD.

More women's tailored dresses and spring wraps, bought in New York at bargain prices, now on sale—at least a part of them.

Blazer suits, made of navy and black serge, full width skirt, lined jacket, fashionable sleeves, plaited coat back, $5.00.

Figure materials, don't count cost of making, and then you'll wonder how it can be done.

Blazer suits, made of fine quality storm serge, satin lined jacket, five-yard wide skirt, percaline lined, $10.

Satin finished covert cloth suits—blazer lined with changeable taffeta, extreme skirt, and very stylish suit, $12.50.

Combination suit—plaid skirt, plain cheviot blazer to match in navy, green, brown and black; blazer lined with changeable taffeta. Price $12.50.

Some New York stores ask $18 for the same suit.

Second floor, take elevator.

A sale of crochet quilts.

The prices are below the usual fully fifteen per cent

Crochet quilts 50c, former price 62½c.
Crochet quilts 69c, former price 85c.
Crochet quilts 89c, former price $1.10.
Crochet quilts, $1.09, former price $1.50.

Marseilles quilts.

$1 75. Former price, $2 25
2 00. " " 2.50
3 00 " " 3 75
Main entrance, right.

SMITH & MURRAY.
SPRINGFIELD.

Good stock and the best of care
PRODUCES
A 1 milk and cream.
MAPLE LAWN MILK FARM,
O. D. Wells, Proprietor.

Wall Papers.

New styles, spring patterns. Borders to match.
How nice your rooms will look with new paper on them, and more healthy, too.
For the . . .
largest and best assortment,
. . . go to
LeGRO & LYNDE'S,
next to post office, PALMER.

A. H. HITCHCOCK,
OPTICIAN,
331 Main Street, Springfield, Mass.
Spectacles and Eye Glasses of all kinds.
Artificial eyes furnished.
Oculists' prescriptions promptly and accurately filled.
Mail orders solicited. 13-tf

Long, Long Ago.

Tell me the tales that to me were so dear,
Long, long ago, long, long ago;
Sing me the song I delighted to hear,
Long, long ago, long ago.
Now you are come all my grief is removed,
Let me forget that so long you have roved;
Let me believe that you love as you loved,
Long, long ago, long ago.

Do you remember the path where we met,
Long, long ago, long, long ago?
Ah, yes, you told me you ne'er would forget,
Long, long ago, long ago.
Then to all others my smile was preferred,
Love, when you spoke, gave a charm to each word;
Still my heart treasures the praises I heard,
Long, long ago, long ago.

Though by your kindness my fond hopes were raised,
Long, long ago, long, long ago;
You by more eloquent lips have been prais'd,
Long, long ago, long, long ago.
But by long absence your truth has been tried,
Still to your accents I listen with pride,
Blest as I was when I sat by your side,
Long, long ago, long ago.

MARRIED AT A GALLOP.

"Well?" in a decidedly testy tone, was the greeting old Joel Gringer gave the tall young schoolmaster who stood fumbling the latch of the front gate and clearing his throat more for the sake of attracting attention than to remove any obstruction from his windpipe. "Well?"

But it wasn't well. That wasn't the right way to encourage the young man, and shrewd old Joel Gringer knew it. He wanted to make him go through the torture of telling him plainly that he had come to see his daughter, so that he could put an end to the thing then and there.

"Well?"

"H'm; I—I just wanted to know if Miss—h'm, h'm—is at home;" and the young fellow relieved his nervousness by digging up the gravel walk with his left toe at a rate that threatened to damage it worse than ten years' wear and tear.

"I thought your business was to teach the children to speak the English language, and here you can't do anything but hum and hawk. I'm at home and so is Growler there. Anything else?" and the steely eyes looked through the young man like a ferret's.

"No, sir," with a loud h'm; "I was just going up the road to Mr. Mason's and wanted to know if the family were all well—that's all." And the bashful young fellow seemed to have found his wits somewhere, for he turned coolly away, raising his cane as he did so, and striking the maple foliage over his head three sharp clips that made the leaves crack like a pistol.

And the old farmer's eyes were not so sharp as he prided himself that they were, or he might have seen the flutter of something white, three distinct things from the narrowest opening in the blinds above, and have guessed why the young man was so easily satisfied.

Maybe love is blind to its own objects; but for dullness of vision give me, all the time, the eyes that are ever so sharp after a bargain, but have not the quickening of the divine passion to make them vigilant guards against the dangers that threaten to thwart the love's plans. That's a long way of spelling Joel Gringer, but a true one.

He watched the straight, lithe young form until it seemed only a shadow against neighbor Mason's barn, and then began banging the shutters with a vehemence that said to all: "Joel Gringer can take care of his own every time—leave him alone for that."

"Gone on to Mason's," was his gruff answer to his wife's questioning look. "Only wanted to inquire after the health of the family. S'pose he thinks the deestrick is assessed to pay him for goin' round an' doin' that—ha, ha! What would the funerals of two-thirds of this family count with him? Good at fractions, they say. We'll see how his fractions will work in this house. Much good it will do him to talk it over with John Mason, the old—"

"Sh—?" hissed cautiously into his ear, and a warning finger told him to leave uncomplimentary reference to the neighbor—with whom he had been embroiled in a bitter lawsuit, and between whose farms a "devil's lane" prevented any joining of line of fence, unsaid. "There's Mason's hired man again."

"Well?" (About twenty per cent more peppery than a moment ago.)

"The old man sent me over to say them there hogs o' yourn's been in the back cornfield again, an' he won't turn 'em out till doomsday, nor let me. They're there yit, an' makin' the interest on five thousand dollars fly like sixty—that's what the old man 'lows the field'll fetch him. Better not take that there pup along, had ye? Hi? Wait till I can get out!"

The last exclamation was caused by preparations for unchaining the huge bulldog Growler; and Ben Stone made one leap over the fence, and was out of hearing before Joel Gringer could finish something about "going for witnesses."

"Said my say out. He'n the dog's witnesses enough, I reckon, to the scrimmage there'll be. I'm engaged in another case. Hogs ain't to my likin', Joel Gringer, though I do know how to drive 'em purty slick. Wouldn't a-taken that dog if I hadn't called it a pup and riccommended not. Laws! but there'll be smash to pay for to-night, sure's my name's Ben Stone."

Mrs. Gringer set her candle in the back kitchen window and her supper in the oven, and watched and waited for Joel's lantern to gleam down the lane leading to the back cornfield.

But it was gleaming in more fantastic forms farther down. It was playing hide and seek up and down the dusty rows of corn, just in the milk and toothsome to the unruly swine. He and Growler were defending the rear, with Mrs. Gringer doing sentinel duty for them; but what of the front.

In a little hollow in the road, not twenty rods from Joel Gringer's house, the thick green turf of the wayside served as a cushion for the feet of two restive steeds that stamp at the troublesome flies. Every nail was fast in their shoes and every strap buckled tight, while the nervy fellows—two of the most tireless travelers John Mason's stable could boast, champed their bits restlessly and tossed their heads, throwing now and then a flake of foam that flashed with silvery brightness in the chance rays of moonlight, and—but what is that?

Adown the green, thorny breastwork that defended Joel Gringer's possession from the wayside flittered a slight figure, crouching and halting, and then darting swiftly forward toward the little dell which seemed to be the rendezvous sought.

"Is that you Nannie?" a hoarse, excited whisper met her a few rods distant from the horses.

"Sh—! Yes; I never saw a man who could help spoiling things by blunders. There don't take it to heart, Richard; I won't scold you again, after all this until we are—"

"Married."

"Yes; but let us hurry! I'm afraid every minute that those hogs haven't done justice to the obstinacy of their nature and father—"

"Well, give me your foot and off we go. We'll show Joel Gringer whether I am competent to teach addition to a girl."

"And are you sure the preacher understands?"

"Sure, darling; he's to be at Brother Stilwell's to-night, on his way to the Kildeer appointment. Now, old fellows, do your best. Mr. Mason told me not to spare horseflesh."

As the clatter of hoofs rang down the road two unusual night incidents might have been witnessed; the gleam of a light across the fields, swaying and flickering as though carried by an excited, unsteady hand; and a man leaning against the door of John Mason's stables, whittling a stick and musing over something which evidently pleased him much. "He, he! I never helped take them out of here. Can't prove it by me who's taken' to stealin'; h'aint I been behind the haystack tryin' to hammer the bung in that barrel? An' it won't stay, but it made an awful racket. There's one consolation; if them there hosses have to go fur, they've been well fed an' every shoe is as sound as a trigger—ha, ha!" And Ben Stone shut the knife and went in to inform his master that as likely as not somebody had stolen something or other about the place, but it couldn't be proved by him.

"Shut up and go to bed with you, and don't answer questions until you're asked," was the curt reply, with this addition in an undertone: "I wouldn't begrudge the best span I've got to get even with old Gringer once more."

"Patter, patter! click, click! neck to neck and nostril to nostril, along ridge and through wooded hollow skimmed the two fleet coursers like some well mated birds of flight. But few words were exchanged, but two pairs of human ears strained, minute by minute, to catch the first sound of expected pursuit.

Out of another valley and up to the top of another ridge they go steadily, panting and steaming. They paused a second to breathe, and look and listen.

Away back on the last ridge, a mile or more away, the moonlight glistens on something bright—a silver-plated buckle or saddle decoration—and then there comes a clear, ringing sound, as when steel strikes flint.

"He's coming! Oh, hurry, Dick! We cannot reach Mr. Stilwell's in time; it's—"

"Three miles yet, and—"

"You know Fleetwood's gait; Mr. Mason never had a horse that could outrun him. What shall we do! Oh, if only we were—"

"Married and I could call you my own then I would not need to run a step, but could defend my right to you in the eyes of the law. Listen! What's that ahead?"

"The Corners are just down there, you know, and some one may be coming on the cross-road."

"An idea! That is the direction from which the preacher comes. What if it should be—But, no; he's going straight ahead of us. Yes, there he turns! Whip up, and lets overtake him whoever the rider be!"

And the two blown and jaded horses were urged afresh.

A quarter of a mile; half a mile; three-quarters. The sound of hoofs in both directions is growing distant. Oh, so near behind!

"Call him, Richard! He may stop. Oh, if it only is!"

"But your father will hear, too, and hasten! Hello, there! Wait?"

"Who is it?"

"I can't be mistaken in that voice, Dick. He has stopped. Now—"

In a moment the overtaken party was seen, sure enough, to be the very preacher they were riding hard and fast to find. But while the situation was being explained the footsteps of the pursuing horse were heard close by, and in a minute another "Hello!" rang on their ears, hoarse and infuriated: "Stop! stop, I command you, Nannie, your father tells you to stop! Young man, I'll horsewhip you on the spot if you don't give me my daughter!"

The two looked at each other in despair. There would scarcely be time to begin the ceremony. Must they be torn asunder when so near the goal? The thought made the girl turn pale, and she almost sank helpless in her lover's arms.

But the preacher, backwoodsman that he was, was a man of wit and resources, and of heart as well. "Keep on," said he, quietly, "and ride as fast as you can. I will follow. Join your hands and sit firm in the saddle when I tell you. I have it on the tip of my tongue. The Lord please, you'll be man and wife before that horse brushes his nose against yours."

Clatter, clatter—clink, clink! rang the sharp hoof-beats! Nearer and nearer they came together; but the words rolled off the preacher's lips, as he rose and sank in his stirrups, faster than the speed of the racers.

It was a race of tongue against hoof.

The wild, and mad pelting of the iron shod feet were pitted against heart-throbs and brain-pulses and trembling lips!

The strain upon John Mason's horseflesh and its fleeter competitor, whose master spared him neither pain nor life, was telling; but the tension on two hearts that were tortured by suspense was still more terrific.

Nearer and nearer sped Fleetwood, until his horse's panting almost drowned the preacher's words! But a few rods separated them!

"Join your hands," came the sharp command.

"Halt, I command you, in the name of—"

"Put spurs! Forasmuch as Richard W. Anderson and Annie Gringer have consented to—"

"Hold up there! I'm an officer of the law!" demanded another voice, drowning the preacher's "forasmuch." But the wild wedding party dashed forward, now almost covered by the dust the others raised; and the preacher's lips worked fast.

"In the name of the Father—"

"Halt, or you'll suffer the penal—"

"And of the Son—"

"Give me my daughter, you villain!"

"And of the Holy Ghost, I pronounce that they are husband and wife. Amen."

And love had won the race.

There was a halt, and explanations that disarmed the man of the law and sent old Joel Gringer back to his belated supper with vain cursings of luck.

The supper at Stilwell's was flavored with pleasanter reflections; and Ben Stone had many an opportunity to wonder aloud, in his sly way, "How in tarnation them hogs ever did git into old man Mason's cornfield jest when Dick Anderson wanted to steal Joel Gringer's daughter."—J. M. Cowan, in Frank Leslie's Monthly.

"Why is it," the Cumminsville sage inquired, with the air of one pleased with the sound of his own voice, "why is it that the man of 40 or thereabouts can realize so well how old he is when he is talking to a youth of 18, but seems to forget all about it when he meets a girl of that age?"—Cincinnati Enquirer.

AMONG THE FAIRIES.

HOW CHARLES THE GARDENER BECAME KING CHARLES.

IN THREE CHAPTERS.

[Copyright, 1896, by Walter B. Gould, Boston.]

CHAPTER I.

Although Carl Schmidt was only seventeen years old when he was made royal gardener to King William of Verneland, yet he was a boy of earnestness and honesty.

As Carl was very fond of flowers and fruits, the work of a gardener was very pleasant.

He talked with other gardeners and farmers and with every one who would be able to tell him anything about his work.

North of Verneland was a small nation called Bombast. Its inhabitants often came to Winstar to trade with King William's people, and their knights were the most conceited and least respected of all who ever visited the royal court.

On the east of Verneland was a much larger country which was now called Bontay, whose people were very industrious and whose soil was very fruitful.

Provided the king would consent and would give him chariots for the journey, Carl resolved to visit each of these countries, to take to the other kings some of the best products from King William's garden, and to find if possible some new and better kinds of fruit and flowers.

This plan was no sooner told to the king than he ordered Carl to take whatever chariots were needed and not only to carry a message of friendship and greeting to each of the kings, but also a royal present.

To do this, however, Carl had to be appointed special ambassador, which was an honor never before given to any royal gardener in the kingdom.

Carl had not thought to seek honors of this kind, but was only trying to do his duty and to find in other lands whatever knowledge would make him more useful to the king.

On the way to Bombast Carl overtook a lame old man, who was journeying in the same direction and who looked so tired that Carl instantly stopped the chariot and asked the old man to ride beside him.

He asked the old man to ride beside him.

Carl asked in what way he could help and offered to send one of the attendants to take the old man where he wished to go.

To this kind offer the old man replied that he had come to warn Carl that, while the people of Bombast had spent so much time in boasting about the great things their fathers had done, they themselves had done very little. He also told Carl that he must be careful not to offend the people, but he must believe only such things as he chose. "This is the land of the boasters," he said, "and boasters are not to be trusted."

Carl was much surprised when the old man suddenly disappeared and a voice beside him said: "I am your old friend the fairy, this time an old man instead of a woman. You have gained much by your kindness." This was the last Carl saw of the fairy during his journey to Bombast.

As soon as he arrived at the capital the king made him welcome. Carl's stay was very short, for, although he paid strict attention to all that was said to him, yet he found very little knowledge which would do him any good. In fact, although he took to King William royal presents from the land of the boasters this journey seemed a failure.

The emperor of Bontay gave Carl a royal reception and sent a special messenger to guide him through the kingdom and to show him the best of everything which was produced. He also ordered his wisest counselor to answer all Carl's questions.

Carl's journey was very pleasant. He found the messenger polite and truthful. Wherever he visited, everything was not only as good as he had expected, but usually better.

He took from King Bountiful to King William a royal present, which from its richness was a surprise not only to King William and the Princess Violet, but to all the court and inhabitants of Winstar. Beautiful plants, fruits and new kinds of berries and plums, andshrubs, such as had never been known in Verneland, were among the treasures which he brought.

Carl was now in great favor at the court, and his wisdom, added to his skill as a gardener, made him especially agreeable to the king.

His admiration for the Princess Violet steadily increased. Knowing, however, that Princess Violet must wed a nobleman, Carl resolved that, regardless of his high honors and pleasant life, he would leave the kingdom and try if, possible, to forget her. Accordingly he went to see the king and told him that, although he wished to be true and to serve his king in every way possible, yet he desired to leave the country and to resign the office of gardener and of special embassador.

Now, the king suspected his reasons, and as he was a man of more than ordinary good sense he knew that, although not yet a knight, Carl was truly a noble man, so he asked Carl's reasons.

Carl did not want to tell the king why he wished to leave the realm, but as the king had commanded it and as Carl was obedient and truthful he told him all.

Instead of frowning, as Carl had expected, the king was pleased and said: "The princess will wed the man who can pass three tests. If she cares for you and you are willing to undertake the tests, you may prepare to meet them."

This was a great and happy surprise for Carl, and he declared that he was willing to pass any tests that any knight could be expected to pass.

The princess was called to the king, and, after being told what Carl had said, was asked if she wished him to attempt the tests. She very blushingly replied that if he wished to undertake such dangers she would be very happy if he succeeded in returning to the palace.

"The first test," said the king, "is to find the wells on the road to Southland beyond the desert. As you have always been kind to animals, I have no fear that you will cause your horses or camels needless hardships, but I must warn you that if from any carelessness an animal or a man dies of thirst in the desert your first test will be a failure. You may have three weeks to prepare for your journey, to study the desert maps which we have in the royal library, and to read about the people of Southland, who many years ago were our best friends."

Carl thanked the king, and went immediately to the royal library. He studied hard, and found that there had once been three wells in the desert, and as long as their whereabouts had been know, caravans crossed the desert. Once, after the wells had been lost, it had come about that a large number of men and horses had died of thirst.

The next caravan which had crossed the deserts had found the goods which the first had carried, but the people and camels had died.

Two of these latest people had reached Southland and had told the inhabitants of the great trouble which had come to them through the loss of the wells.

After that only messengers were able to cross, as the camels could not carry a sufficient supply of food, water and merchandise, so all trade ceased.

After looking over the maps carefully and finding that the messengers had followed the old path, Carl felt sure that these wells had been filled with sand which, in one of the severe sandstorms which often occurred, had blown into them from the desert.

"The princess will wed the man who can pass three tests."

Having so decided, he determined if possible to reopen the wells. Taking the old maps and the best desert guide that could be found Carl started out with nothing except tents, tools for digging, water and food.

These he carried to the spot where he believed the first well must have been, and built tents for his men.

As soon as the tents were finished the water and food which they had brought were carefully stored, and the horses and camels were sent back to bring a fresh supply. In this way, while Carl was digging to see if water would be found in the desert, enough water and food to last for several weeks were gathered together.

After Carl had dug nearly four weeks the ground was found to be damp, and at the end of the fourth week a little water was found. A few days more passed by, and then they found a spring of the purest water of such size that it was sufficient to supply all caravans that could ever stop at that station.

[CONTINUED NEXT WEEK.]

TOLD IN THE TWILIGHT.

When sleepy time comes Jimmy climbs into the big chair with me and begs for the story that you may like to repeat to your own little folks to-night. We have a common love for animals and never was little man more gentle with them.

"Tell of your dog who had never seen the snow," he orders, cherishing the memory of the little four-footed traveler who sailed so many thousands of miles to comfort the lonely heart of her mistress.

Then we get the big geography and run our fingers way, way down to where the lines running across the ball get very short and I tell him of the cold dark days down there and why we lived by lamplight so much of the time, and how wind and seas fought and howled over our plunging ship day and night. And then we come to the region where it first began to snow; and he likes to hear about this mystified "Waratah," who, in all her little life, never had seen sugar like this any more than had any other collie of that sunny ranch land where she was born.

When she had left her deck play-ground some hours before, its planks were as bare and cold as ever, and so she expected to find them as she went capering up the stairway. But what a surprise when the door was opened. There was the same heaving sea, but inky black as it swallowed white flakes which everywhere were falling so thick and blurred that all the world save close about the ship was curtained away. And the ship was such a beautiful thing, as she rolled on with every rope and timber outlined in a fleecy batting, and deep white carpet over the decks.

Great wonder came into the soft, brown eyes turning so inquiringly from snow to mistress and back to snow again. She sniffed it and tasted it and gave a peculiar little frightened yelp at it, and then, intent as a statue, watched.

But it did not stop. And there she saw her laughing friend, the mate, wading through it unhurt, although his big sou' wester coat and moustache all were sparkling white. She wanted to get to him, so very daintily one paw was stretched into the snow, slowly, and how every one roared to see how quickly it came out.

Cold was another unexpected part of this funny visitor, and, oh, dear, she did not like it and would not be urged to become acquainted with it, until a group of sailors, like clumsy, blue mummies, armed with brooms and shovels, came slipping and sliding to clear the slanting decks. Then the velvet ears went up in points and the plumy brush of a tail began to wave expectantly and when a sudden lurch threw three or four of her favorite playmates sprawling in the snow, her fun-loving little spirit overcame her timidity and with a bound she, too, was plunging her way to the frolic, dancing around the men's heels and grabbing for them and rolling and shaking herself from the drifts they tossed about her until her big neck ruff stood out around her blinking eyes as fluffy and sturdy as the national queen flower, for which she was named.

AN OBSERVING NEGRO.—A fine-looking negro went into the Union lines on the Potomac and reported himself for work. "Where are you from?" asked the officer on duty. "Culpepper Court House, sah." "What's the news down there?" "Nothing, massa, 'cept dar's a man down dar lost a mighty good and valuable nigger dis morning, and I reckon he done lose more afore night."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Journal.

FRIDAY EVENING, MAY 8, 1896.

LOCAL NOTICES.

Sterling silver shirt waist sets, only 50 cents. Leather belts in great variety at Jeweler Barton's.

Anyone reading this and wishing to sell warranted nursery stock on salary will do well to write to W. D. Chase Co., Nurserymen, Boston.

See the Bostonian bicycle, the best $60 bicycle in the market; also the Waverly, a strictly high grade wheel, only $85. Catalogue free. F. D. Barton, agent, Palmer.

PALMER NEWS.

DEATH OF L. H. BRIGHAM.

Found Dead in Bed Wednesday Morning. Heart Failure the Cause.

Palmer people were greatly shocked Wednesday morning when it was announced that Mr. L. H. Brigham had been found dead in bed at his residence on Park street, and those who had seen him the day before in usual good health found it hard to believe that he had passed away. Mr. Brigham was feeling unusually well and cheerful on Tuesday evening at retiring; the next morning when his daughter, Miss L. H. Brigham, went to his room to call him as usual, she noticed that he did not look up with his customary smile and "good morning," but lay with his hands folded across his breast apparently asleep; a closer look however, showed that he would not awaken. The end had come peacefully and evidently without Mr. Brigham's knowledge, and not long before.

Lemuel Hawley Brigham was of good old Puritan stock, and was justly proud of his ancestry, being a descendant of Thomas Brigham, one of the first of the Puritans to come to this country, who settled in Marlboro about 1626. Mr. Brigham was born in St. Albans, Vt., August 17, 1816, the son of Dr. Luther Brigham, whose wife was Eunice Hawley of Arlington, Vt. He obtained his early education in the public schools and by studying alone, after which he earned money enough to attend Mount Pleasant Academy in Amherst one year. He married in 1836 Lucinda Denison Bamford of Lowell, by whom he had five children; Lemuel Warren Brigham, the only son, died in 1875, and Mrs. Howard, a daughter, died last year; the surviving children are Mrs. E. P. Ball and Miss Linda H. Brigham, with whom he lived in Palmer, and Mrs. Aitcheson of Mechanicsville, N. Y. He also leaves eight grandchildren, Mrs. Grace Aitcheson Harvey of Mechanicsville, N. Y., Thomas B. Aitchason of Schuylerville, N. Y., Mina, Gertrude, Brigham and Sarah Ball of Palmer, Lemuel F. and Lucinda C. Howard of Ludlow; also three great-grandchildren, John Aitcheson of Schuylerville, Lillian and Hawley Brigham Harvey of Mechanicsville. He also leaves a sister, Mrs. George Holt, of Chicago. Mrs. Brigham died in 1856, and in 1870 Mr. Brigham married Mrs. Maria Root Ray of North Adams, a daughter of Hezekiah Root, her mother being one of the family of Rhode Island Jenks's which founded "Jenksville," now Ludlow. Mrs. Brigham died in 1889, there being no surviving children of this marriage.

Mr. Brigham went to Chicopee in 1836, the year of his marriage, where he was connected with the Dwight Manufacturing company as superintendent for 32 years, Sylvanus Adams being agent for the mills. While in Chicopee Mr. Brigham was actively interested in public affairs, particularly in the building up of the Universalist church. He was a member of the lyceum committee, and made the acquaintance of such men as Horace Mann, Horace Greeley, Emerson and Beecher. He was an ardent abolitionist. In 1868 he went to Ludlow as agent for the Ludlow Manufacturing company, in which position he served continuously till 1887, when he retired. By virtue of his position and also because of his strong and benevolent qualities Mr. Brigham was one of the most prominent men Ludlow ever had, and the history of the place during his nineteen years of residence there is largely a history of Mr. Brigham; his influence was felt in every direction. He was a man of liberal spirit, carrying on large private charities in a quiet, modest way. In 1888 he moved to Springfield and bought a home on Dartmouth street, where he lived until 1890, when he came to Palmer to live with his daughter, Mrs. E. P. Ball. Mr. Brigham was a deep student, and had traveled much in this country, besides making one trip abroad. He never cared for public office, and although often urged by the Republicans to be a candidate, never consented to do so.

Mr. Brigham was a 32d degree Mason, a member of the Chicopee blue lodge and Unity chapter. Brigham lodge of Ludlow is named for him, and much of its success is due to his efforts. He was also a member of Springfield commandery, Knights Templar, and was for many years a director of the Masonic Mutual Insurance company, resigning his position much against the wishes of his associates. Mr. Brigham avoided notoriety, but during his residence in Palmer made a wide circle of acquaintances, and many warm friends, by all of whom he was respected and liked, and by whom he will be greatly missed and mourned.

The funeral services were held at the house this afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. J. F. Farnsworth of Natick, an old-time friend of Mr. Brigham's, officiating, assisted by Rev. H. F. Moulton of Palmer. The singing was by the Springfield Male Quartet. There was a profusion of beautiful flowers, among them a Maltese cross of roses and lilies from the Springfield Knights Templar, an emblem from Brigham lodge of Masons of Ludlow, 80 roses, with lilies and palms from the Tuesday club of Palmer, of which Miss Brigham and Mrs. Ball are members, wreath of roses and maiden-hair ferns from the daughters, Mrs. Aitcheson, Mrs. Ball and Miss Brigham, large bunch of pinks from Mrs. Harvey, carnation pinks from the grandchildren, Misses Mina, Gertrude and Sarah, and Brigham Ball, sweet peas from Mrs. J. M. Gallup of Hartford, palms and roses from Mrs. Joseph U. McClench and ex-Mayor W. W. McClench of Chicopee, besides other pieces from Palmer and Ludlow friends. Burial will be in Maple Grove cemetery at Chicopee tomorrow afternoon at 2.30. The bearers will be members of Brigham lodge of Masons of Ludlow,—Selectmen E. E. Fuller, J. W. Hubbard and F. A. Towne, Town Treasurer A. H. Bartlett, G. S. Atchinson and B. F. Burr,—all of whom Mr. Brigham was associated with while in Ludlow. The Knights Templar will have charge of the service at the grave.

G. W. Powers had an exciting experience with a mad dog Tuesday. He had gone with his wagon, wife and child to the wood-lot, and while there the dog became mad and attempted to bite the child, but Mrs. Powers beat him off with the little one's toy cart until she could get to the wagon and get upon it with the child. The dog followed to the house and was then shot.

ARRESTED FOR EMBEZZLEMENT.

Former Employe of the Palmer National Bank Charged with Misappropriating Funds.

Chester W. Cross, recently teller of the Palmer National bank, was arrested yesterday noon by Deputy Sheriff Studley at the request of Deputy United States Marshal James H. Waters of Boston, charged with making false entries in the books of the bank during the year 1895, with the intent to deceive the bank officers and defraud the bank. Mr. Waters came from Boston last evening and took Cross to Springfield, where he was arraigned at 11.30 this forenoon before United States Commissioner Rice. He pleaded not guilty and waived examination, being bound over in $3000 bonds to the next term of the United States circuit court, which will convene at Boston next Friday. He failed to secure bail and was taken to Boston.

It is not believed that the amount of the shortage will be large, and so far less than $600 has been discovered. The bank, like all other banks, has some accounts which are quite inactive, some of them being very seldom drawn upon. Cross's method was to draw money from the bank and charge it against these accounts, apparently trusting to luck or his continued service in the bank to avoid discovery. He was discharged from the bank, however, in February, and recently one of the accounts which he had drawn was called for. The books showed that it had been paid, but no voucher for it could be found. An examination revealed a like state of affairs in a few other accounts, and it is not known at present whether all have been discovered or not. Cross's bond of $5000 will be amply sufficient to cover any shortage.

The arrest was a great surprise to Palmer people, among whom Cross had lived since a lad. He had been employed in the bank for several years, first as a clerk, and since July, 1884, as teller. There was no suspicion of any crookedness in his accounts, his work was very satisfactory, he was quiet and gentlemanly in his manner, accommodating to the patrons of the bank and well liked. About a year ago his habits began to be the cause of considerable comment. His associations were not of the best, and places which he visited were not always above reproach. He was remonstrated with by friends, who urged him to change his course, but without effect, and his habits and associations finally became such as to render his retention in the bank impossible. While a student at Wilbraham Academy a few years ago he was married, but his youth and the confession of machination on the part of the woman secured a divorce for him last year.

Young Cross's father died about a year ago, and he has spent most of the time since away from home, where his stepmother and two sisters live. His brother, Louis, is attending a medical college in Boston. The family has the sympathy of a large circle of friends in this sad affair.

Special Fire District Meeting.

The attendance at the special fire district meeting last Saturday afternoon was not large, owing doubtless to the general impression among the voters that it was called simply to eliminate from the vote of the previous meeting the clause instructing the prudential committee to require the water company to include in its contract water for street sprinkling at no additional charge, which the company refuses to do. L. E. Chandler was chosen moderator. J. H. Gamwell, manager of the Palmer Water company, made a statement of the position of the company regarding a new contract for water for fire purposes. He stated that previous to 1891 there were 47 hydrants, the price paid by the district being $20 each, or $940 per year. At the request of the district the mains of the company were extended to Blanchardville, Tenneyville and the wire mill, and 13 additional hydrants put in; the prudential committee requested the company to accept $1000 for water rental that year, promising to endeavor to have the regular price—$20 per hydrant, or $1200—paid the next year. This sum was accepted, and it has never been raised. The company feels that it is furnishing the water too cheaply, and asks that $20 per hydrant be paid. Mr. Gamwell was asked if last year's contract—$1000—could be renewed, and replied that it could not. If $20 per hydrant was considered an exhorbitant price he was willing to leave the question out to a commission of three persons. The prices paid in various other towns were quoted, showing that the rate per hydrant varies from $20 to $75. Mr. Gamwell also gave figures regarding the returns from the additional mains laid as stated above, including service pipes and what the fire district pays for the hydrants, showing that the income was ridiculously small for the cost of putting in the pipe.

H. C. Strong opposed the paying of more than $1000 to the water company, arguing that it was a prosperous corporation, paying good dividends and possessed of a very good piece of property; that the times were hard and the town taxes heavy, and that this was a poor year in which to raise the price. This raise in price, he said, was in no way intimated in the warrant; had it been, doubtless nearly every voter in the district would have been present. District Attorney Gardner held that it was nobody's business whether the water company was paying dividends of one or one hundred per cent; the only question was whether it had been receiving a fair and reasonable price for the service furnished the fire district. If it had been, then a renewal of the old contract should be insisted upon; if it had not, then the district ought to pay what was right, no matter what the amount. A vote was finally passed instructing the prudential committee to renew last year's contract if possible; if not to determine upon what terms a new contract could be made, to investigate the matter of prices in other places, and report, with recommendation, at an adjourned meeting to be held at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of Saturday, May 16th.

Probate Court.

At the monthly session of the probate court in Springfield Wednesday the following was among the business transacted: The will was approved of Edward Wall, late of Hampden, Patrick E. Wall executor. Guardian's account filed—William C. and Mary B. and Lelia L. Howland, minors, of Monson. Administrator's account filed in the estates of Mary L. Howland, late of Monson; William S. Howland, late of Monson. Executor's account filed in the estate of Mary H. Wheeler, late of Brimfield. David B. Howland was given leave to resign as guardian of Lelia L. Howland, minor, of Monson. Eva E. Miller was appointed guardian of Mary W., Arthur L., Edith R. and Lizzie T. Miller, minors, of Ludlow. Executor's inventory was filed in the estate of Hannah A. Lull, late of Hampden.

Mr. and Mrs. Enos Calkins have gone to New Haven to visit friends.

H. W. McGregory's little daughter Gladys has scarlet fever in a mild form.

C. B. Fiske is enlarging the piazza on the front of his Main street residence.

William Young, the playwright, and family, have gone to Sunapee for the summer.

A steam feather renovating establishment has located in Munger's block on South Main street.

Miss K. Feeney has traded her building lots at North Adams for the M. A. Brule house at Holyoke.

The assessors have commenced their rounds; Mr. Warriner is looking after the property in this section.

The regular monthly meeting of the Palmer Business and Social club will be held next Tuesday evening.

The ladies of the Congregational church cleared something over $200 at their May breakfast and sale of fancy work.

There will be a religious service at Mrs. Burpee's in Palmer Center on Sunday at 3 p. m., with Bible sudy at 4 p. m.

Several Palmer people went to Springfield Monday evening to attend the presentation of "The Rivals," with the all-star cast.

Henry McGilp will vacate his store on June 1st. Some repairing will be done, and the store will be ready to rent June 10th.

The evening theme at the Universalist church next Sunday will be "Our schools;" a paper will be read by Rev. H. F. Moulton.

The singing at the Congregational church last Sunday morning was led by a chorus choir, which will assist in the services hereafter.

Rev. G. W. Quick of the Highland Baptist church of Springfield will preach in the Baptist church next Sunday morning and evening.

The regular monthly meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held in the parlors of the Congregational church next Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The first of the series of the fairy stories for children will be found on the first page; all the little ones will want to read it or have it read to them.

The selectmen are advertising for a two-span iron bridge across the river at Bondsville, one-half of which is to be paid for by the town of Belchertown.

Miss Clara Sexton, who has been the soprano in the Universalist church choir for the past two years, has resigned to accept an advanced position in Greenfield.

S. W. Stanchfield is to move from Thorndike street to the Lawrence house on Park street, and Mrs. Ella Sedgwick will occupy the house vacated by Mr. Stanchfield.

The bill providing a clerk for the district court of Eastern Hampden has passed the Legislature, and a petition is in circulation for the appointment of Arthur E. Fitch.

Thomas lodge of Masons will hold a special communication next Tuesday and confer the third degree on three candidates. Day Spring lodge of Monson has been invited to attend.

Rev. E. S. Wheeler of Boston will deliver a lecture in the Baptist church next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock on "The demands of American patriotism," and all are invited to attend.

Rev. F. E. Jenkins will preach in the Congregational church Sunday morning on "Money and Character." In the evening he will preach on "Valuable birthrights for sale cheap."

The firemen held a meeting Monday evening and elected these officers: Foreman, Charles McManamy; first assistant, P. Lynch; second assistant, T. Dwyer; clerk, T. J. Conroy.

Miss Idella Holbrook will sail from Boston on Saturday of next week with a small party of friends for a tour of two or three months abroad, and will travel through England, Scotland and the continent.

Mrs. E. L. Davis, who for some time has been employed in H. N. Sager's store, goes with him to his new store in Gardner, Me. Mr. and Mrs. Davis are at present visiting their daughter in Springfield.

Judge Robinson was seen on his return to town last Saturday regarding the story that search warrants had been applied for to be used on Friday, the first day of May, and emphatically denied that anyone had made application for such warrants.

It was reported on the street yesterday that the prosecuting committee was to resign because the selectmen would not appoint F. W. Lavine of Three Rivers a special officer, but those who know the committee did not need the denial which they have made.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of the Congregational church will give a social in the church vestry next Wednesday evening, with a musical and literary entertainment, and a display of living advertisements. Ice cream and cake will also be served.

The normal class in connection with the Congregational church has completed one-half the course of study necessary for securing a state diploma in normal Sunday school work. Its work next Tuesday evening will be a review and drill on "Bible institutions."

E. A. Buck & Co's. store had a narrow escape from a serious fire last Saturday afternoon. A small quantity of cement used in repairing tires had been spilled on the floor in the bicycle department, and a bystander lighted his pipe and then threw the match on the floor. There was a flash and the cement was afire. The flames communicated to the outside of a benzine can which leaked slightly, and for a moment things looked dubious. The benzine can was promptly thrown into the street, and the blazing cement was smothered with bags. No damage resulted.

Work on "Pictorial Palmer" is well under way, and the book promises to be a pronounced success. A feature that is appreciated by business men is the effort which will be made to boom Palmer as a pleasant and healthy place for homes, and as a convenient point for new industries. In addition to the portraits of prominent citizens of the past and present and pictures of residences, there will be a good showing of the pretty scenery of the town, pictures of the public buildings, with bird's-eye views and street scenes of the different villages.

The selectmen held their regular meeting Monday afternoon, and besides the regular routine business granted several pool licenses. The prosecuting committee asked for the appointment of E. E. Ryther of Bondsville and F. W. Lavine of Three Rivers as special officers; the former was appointed, but the selectmen declined to appoint the latter. He was one of the caucus nominees for constable, and in the annual town election received the smallest number of votes for any candidate for that office. The selectmen understood this to mean that the voters did not want Mr. Lavine as constable, and in view of this did not feel like compelling them to have him.

Contrary to the usual custom no highway surveyors have been appointed this year. In the past it has been the habit to appoint a man in each district to look after the roads; he did what work he saw fit, did it when it was convenient for or when it pleased him, and the town paid the bills. This year it has been thought that the work can be done to better advantage and more cheaply under the supervision of one man. Mr. C. T. Brainerd has the care of the roads, going to a district and hiring his men and overseeing the work himself. A considerable saving of money to the town is expected from having one superintendent instead of a dozen or more.

The Palmer bicycle club will give a minstrel show in the opera house next Tuesday evening, to be followed by a social dance. The programme for the minstrel show will be:

PART FIRST.

"'Tis Years Since I Parted, Dear Mother, from Thee." J. T. Colvin.
"We'll Raise the Roof To-night." B. M. Griswold.
"The Little Lost Child." J. F. Dawson.
"Come to Baltimore." Thomas Chapman.
"There's No One Like Mother to You." J. B. Longwill.
"The Church Across the Way." M. E. Murphy.
"Do You Want to Hear the Rest, or Shall I Stop." Ed. Sheridan.
"Bring Back My Fisher Boy." J. P. O'Connor.
"Johnnie Frazier." Charles Reynolds.
Selections, J. W. Molloy

PART SECOND.

Club Swinging, William Higgins
Statuary Acts, Master Allen Atkins
Character Song, "Old Uncle Dan," B. M. Griswold
Clog and Jig Dancing, Master Willie Sullivan
Light and Heavy Weight Lifting, Sault Brothers
Dutch Songs and Sayings, R. Ritter

District Court.

One civil case was entered in the district court last Saturday, Ellen M. Baldwin of Whitman against Edward B. Sparrow of Palmer and trustee, an action of contract.

In the criminal court on Saturday William L. Andrews of Monson paid $5 for an assault.

On Wednesday John A. Hagin of Monson paid $5 for drunkenness.

THREE RIVERS.

Watson Coleman has accepted a position in Boston.

Master Harry Crossman of Springfield is the guest of Mr. Kendrick.

Miss Helen Sweet spent Sunday with Miss Cora B. Clark at Thorndike.

Master Frank Rochford has purchased a new Victor bicycle in Springfield.

Horace Paine has purchased a new Ideal bicycle, made by the Rambler company.

The cottage prayer meeting was held at the home of Mr. Proctor Monday evening.

The Ladies' Home Circle met at the home of Mrs. William Reed Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Fred Burlingame and son of Springfield are visting friends and relatives in this place.

There will be a special responsive singing service for two choirs at the Baptist church Sunday evening.

Mrs. Thomas Holt has returned from Danielson, Ct., where she has been visiting friends and relatives.

The schools observed the 100th anniversary of the birth of Horace Mann by readings relating to his history.

Mrs. W. O. Twogood and mother, who have been visiting friends and relatives in New London, returned home Thursday.

O. B. Sikes, who sold his farm to Mr. Felton of Greenfield, has moved into the house formerly occupied by Fred Hillman.

A young woman has been at the store of Shaw Bros. this week giving cooking exhibitions of the new cereal food, and serving free samples.

Rev. E. S. Wheeler of Boston will deliver an address in the Baptist church next Sunday evening at 7.30. His subject will be "The demands of American patriotism.' All are invited to be present.

Dr. Desmarais of New York, formerly of this place, removed a large sarcoma from the neck of Mr. Dugas Wednesday afternoon, assisted by Dr. W. H. Bliss and Dr. LaFontaine. At last reports Mr. Dugas was doing finely.

Last Saturday the Three Rivers base ball nine played the Thorndikes, the score being 19 to 12 favor of Three Rivers. The nine consisted of Boissy, catcher; Senecal, pitcher; Marien, first base; Camerline, short stop; Pauline, second base; Connor, third base; Pauline, right field; Marien, center field; Barber, left field.

THORNDIKE.

Mrs. C. F. Moores is visiting friends in Orange.

Timothy Keefe, Jr., is ill at his home on Pleasant street.

Eddie Vigneaux has taken a position in Molloy's barber shop.

Dr. M. Roche of Pawtucket, R. I., is visiting his father, M. Roche.

Fred Edwards of Stafford Springs spent Sunday with his aunt here.

Miss Ethel Hayes spent part of last week with friends in Northampton.

John Sullivan of Amherst has been visiting his sisters in town this week.

D. F. Sullivan, employed in the Thorndike Co's. office, is taking a month's vacation.

The pupils and teachers in the schools are busy preparing their Memorial Day programme.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sharratt, accompanied by Mrs. Sharratt's sister, spent Sunday in Enfield.

The Christian Endeavor society is contemplating giving an entertainment in about two weeks.

Rev. E. B. Blanchard and wife of Brookfield spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. N. Talmage.

The King's Daughters will meet with Miss Lucy Talmage this evening at her home on Main street.

Charles Connor sprained his ankle at the ball game Saturday, but it was not a serious injury.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hayden of Springfield were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Bishop on Sunday.

Michael Fleming, an old resident of town and a veteran of the late war, is quite ill at his home on Main street.

Mrs. William Hilton of Millbury, who has been the guest of her daughter, Mrs. George Taylor, has returned home.

James Harkness and family of Utah have arrived in town. Mr. Harkness will take charge of the Richards farm.

The women of the Congregational church cleared a neat sum by their May dinner and entertainment given at the church last Friday.

The Thorndike nine was defeated in its game with the Wares on Saturday last by a score of 16 to 9. The nine will play with the Ludlows to-morrow.

The Thorndike Co. is to build a large cistern, with a capacity of 85,000 gallons, which will supply the automatic sprinklers in the No. 1 mill. The cistern will be built on the hill near Pine avenue.

The new Star ball club, which was recently organized, is composed of the following players: Crean, c; Kennedy, p; P. Chabbot, 1b; S. Chabbot, 2b; Murphy, ss; Longtine, 3b; Clark, lf; Mainey, cf; Dailey, rf.

Miss Mary Kelliher, a former resident of this place and a well-known young woman, died at a Worcester hospital on Monday. Her remains were brought here for burial Tuesday; the interment took place in the Catholic cemetery, and was largely attended by friends from Worcester, North Brookfield and this place.

BONDSVILLE.

F. H. Johnson spent Sunday in Boston.

G. W. Lee spent Sunday in Feeding Hills.

The Bondsville nine will play in Ware to-morrow.

George Farr, Jr., has gone to Indian Orchard to work.

The W. C. T. U. will meet next Thursday with Mrs. Samuel Sharratt.

Eliott Bolton of Holyoke spent Sunday with his father, Henry Bolton.

Miss Grace Morse of Belchertown visited her cousin, Miss Ora Parent, Saturday.

Harry Sedgwick has returned to his home in Athol, after a visit with friends here.

Miss Katie Moriarty, who has suffered with malaria for a long time, is dangerously ill.

Miss Lou Shumway and Dr. H. A. Smith visited Rev. and Mrs. F. J. Hale in Holyoke last week.

Mrs. Warren Fisherdick went to Orange last week and purchased a pacer, which she drove home.

A reception was given to Rev. and Mrs. Robert E. Smith in the M. E. church vestry Wednesday evening.

Miss Ora W. Parent of Smith College and Olin Parent of Wesleyan University were home over Sunday.

At the auction sale of the Collis property Michael Sullivan purchased the two houses, which he will rent; Charles Collins bought the piece of ground adjoining his home, and Timothy Potter of Springfield bought the barn, four acres of land and several building lots.

The Juniors of this place defeated the Thorndikes in a game here last Saturday, the score being 22 to 21. The Juniors challenge any nine under 15 years of age to play with them. The members of the nine are: J. Sullivan, p; P. Sullivan, c: Lyons, 1st b; Pilon, 2d b; Donahue, 3d b; Holt, ss; D. Sullivan, lf; M. Sullivan, rf; Bruce, cf. They will play the Thorndikes again to-morrow on the home grounds.

The Vernon Brothers will give an entertainment in the M. E. church to-morrow night. They have already been in Palmer, Monson, Ware and other surrounding towns, and come highly recommended. The programme consists of vocal and instrumental music, recitations and whistling. They come from New Jersey, having been in this section of the state only about six weeks, but during that time have won much popularity.

The ball game between the Indian Orchard nine and the Bondsvilles last Saturday proved to be a glorious victory for the home team, the score being 16 to 8. The Indian Orchard team was a strong one, but the Bondsvilles won by better all around playing and batting. The feature of the game was the magnificent pitching of Shea of the Bondsvilles, who held his opponents down to three hits and struck out 12 men. Another feature was the playing of the Bondsville's pony third baseman, C. Connor.

Two licenses have been granted in South Belchertown, regardless of the petitions sent in by citizens of Bondsville and the other villages. There is a prospect of lively times ahead, as Bondsville gets the full benefit. Sunday evening about seven o'clock Michael Kennedy, who was under the influence of liquor, picked a quarrel with Poles who live in the house between the two saloons. He made his way into the house against the wishes of the tenants, and was rather roughly handled. Several stitches had to be taken in a large gash in his head.

ROLL OF HONOR.

List of Public School Scholars Perfec in Attendance During March.

The following is a list of the scholars in the public schools who have been neither absent nor tardy during the month of April:

Palmer.

High School—A. W. Thayer, Principal.

Alice M. Armstrong, Marion N. Andrews, Fannie L. Barnes, Ella Bray, Kate L. Buck, Ethel E. Caryl, Helen Converse, Bertha M. Cross, May Fiske, Ruth Gager, Nellie Finnerty, Della A. Hastings, Phebe D. Hastings, Elizabeth Henighan, Blanche E. Hellyar. Rosie M. Holden, Maude Kinnevan, Blanche T. Lyman, Ethel M. Miller, Ola M. Northrop, Mamie A. Roche, Sadie A. Whiting, Lizzie Dunham, Eva A. Collis, Nellie McMahon, W. Clayton Barnes, Harold W. Brainerd, Walter H. Brown, James Crowley, Frank Dillon, John J. Donahue, Harry Giffin, Clifford A. Henry, Clifton H. Hobson, Ernest E. Hobson, Frank S. Keith, John E. Learned, Henry W. McGilp, William J. Morin, Arthur O. Paulin, Elmer H. Powell, Fred W. Powell, John F. Roche, Albert D. Shaw, Charles K. Stone, Robert C. Studley, Jeremiah Sugrue, Walter E. Tuthill.

Grades Nine and Eight—Miss Clara D. Eddy.

Allan Atkins, William Barrett, Louis Brainerd, Francis A. Burdick, Sarah Ball, Etta Boright, Jennie E. Bray, Clara Chalk, Maggie E. Callahan, William Desmond, Martha Fitzgerald, William M. Goodes, Marion Hellyar, Louise F. Hitchcock, Helen C. Jenkins, Marion G. Loomis, William McBride, Maud McBride, Theresa M. Newman, Lewis G. Pope, Jennie C. Roche, Walter B. Small, Forest N. Whiton, Newton Wing, George Warner.

Grades Seven and Six—Miss Abbie J. Wallace.

Clara French, Lillian Peck, Fred White, Blanche Cross, Rodney Caryl, Michael Dillon, Lizzie Holden, Mary Holden, Edward Learned, Kate Monagham, Vera Smith, Grace Strong.

Grade Five—Miss Helen L. Robinson.

Mary L. Baldwin, Francis B. Barton, Mildred J. Brown, Clifford L. Ellithorpe, Everlena H. Ferry, Pearl E. Fish, Ruth E. Graves, Michael W. Mack, A. Elizabeth Marsh, Frank McDonnell, Elizabeth McGuire, John Newman, Joseph E. Slattery, John Duffy.

Grades Four and Three—Miss Mabel J. Sedgwick.

Elizabeth Chalk, May Dillon, Helen Ely, Alice Gager, Belle Jones, May LaSalle, Blanche LeGro, James Miller, Frances McGilp, Edward Prindle, Adolphus Rivers, Iva Smith, Florence Stevenson, Ella Webster, Robert Wilcox, Joseph Wilder.

Grades Three and Two—Mrs. E. S. Leach.

Harold Atkins, Rufus Bacon, Robert Barton, John Blanchard, Harry Colvin, Thomas Conroy, David Davis, Thomas Duffy, George Forgea, Carl Linnehan, Walter McGilp, George Roach, Walter Todd, Ella Brown, Marion Buskey, Hazel Caryl, Ethel Chapman, Addie Coles, Lena Collis, Hazel Dillon, Laura Green, Florence Goodes, Maud Helliwell, Florence Henighan, Sadie LaSalle, Mary Miller, Sadie Thompson, Bessie Swann.

Grade One—Miss M. Eloise Stone.

Richard Brown, Annie Connor, Christine Chapman, Beatrice Dillon, John Foley, Daniel Harrington, John Harrington, Charles Hellyar. Harry McDonnell, Ethel McGregory, Mary McGrath, Anna O'Connor, John O'Connor, Sophia Rice, Daisy Richards, Hazel Shearer, Elsie Stevenson, Joseph Woodard, Sarah Harvey, Sabra Heudee, Josephine Lynch, Lula McGrath, Daniel Monaghan.

Three Rivers.

Grade One—Miss Mabelle S. Merrill.

Eddie Barton, Aleid Barber, Gedeon Gibonleau, Dora Gauthier, Albert Jenks, Lizzie Jones, George Jarvis, Celina Lafrance, Wilfred Mattes, Nelson Mattes, Leo O'Connor, Maggie Reid, Rachel Shaw, Reuben Saunders, Elton Trickett, Arven Saunders.

Thorndike.

Grades Seven, Six and Five—Miss Annie E. O'Connor.

Eva M. Nevue, Lizzie A. Leary, John W. Lawton, Ernest C. Gay, Patrick F. Daley, James F. Daley, Arthur A. Chabot, Flora L. Morey, Edward F. Mahoney, Francis J. Longtine, Stephen F. Healy, Virginia Chenevert, Dolory M. St. John, Eva M. Smith, Albert Smith, Fred H. Rouillard, William F. Otis, Cora Girard.

Grades Three and Two—Miss Minnie V. Jillson.

Fred Bessette, Lena R. Bennett, Annie D. Brosnan, Joseph Chabot, Rosanna D. Cadorette, Malvena Chandonnais, Patrick Fleming, Mary T. Grigware, James Holden, Florence L. May, Florence A. Murdock, Sarah F. Trumble. Ovela Woisard, Arthur Bouthillier, Napoleon Boutot, Eva L. Brothers, Peter Cahill, Perley M. Emery, Odila Gendreau, Daniel F. Haley, Laura O. Manny, Edward Morse, Emma M. St. Jacques, Sidney R. Trumble, George Young.

Grades Three, Two and One—Miss S. Beulah Thayer.

Eva M. Boutote, Henry J. Chenevert, Davis B. Furkey, William Goodreau, Delvina R. Lord, Dora M. Mongeau, Frederic J. O. Riel, Bessie Roche, Joseph D. St. Amen, Henry Brothers. William J. Boutote, Jennie M. Favro, Ora M. Girard, Edward Kruzyna, Mortimer C. LaFarre, Peter J. Nevue, Thomas F. Roche, Lucy M. St. Amen, Walter G. St. John, Joseph J. Furkey. Joseph Goodreau.

Bondsville.

Grades Nine and Eight—Miss Dora T. Cleveland.

Elsie M. Alden, Margaret Griffin, Annie Lusty, Celia M. Tetrault, Richard R. Bruce, Annie A. Fitzgerald, Marian V. Knowlton, Gertrude O. Marsan, Christina T. Russell, Thomas Waterhouse, Charles H. Sharratt.

Grades Seven, Six and Five—Miss Josie E. Shea.

Margaret Ashe, Margaret L. Sullivan, Louis H. Pilon, Frank H. Taylor, Lydia B. Marsan, Edna B. Taylor, Rose A. Arcotte, Ernest H. Chaffee, Lillia M. Sullivan, John T. Collins Elizabeth D. Russell, Ruby E. Taylor. Lillie M. Ives.

Grades Four and Three—Miss Emma F. Barney.

Emma C. Bruce, Mabel M. Keith, Mary Sullivan, Cora M. Ives, Edward Fitzgerald, Damase J. Pilon, Josie Fenton, Kate Moriarty, Ida Tetreault. Michael Ferris, Edwin C. Lamb, Frank R. Thomas William D. Rose.

Grade One—Miss Harriet B. Thayer.

Anson Brin, Michael Collins, Willie Fitzpatrick Raymond Martin, Jessie C. Bruce, Mamie Ferris, Irene Lyons, Annie M. Morse, Nettie B. Stevens, Nellie Sullivan, Fred Charron, Jean Fenton, Tommy Glaster, Alphonse Morrissette, Lora E. Coté, Bridget Griffin, Alma Masse, Emma Myatt, Katie A. Sullivan, Alice Tetreault.

Mason District—Miss Anne A. Bishop.

Henning Forsman, Eugene Forsman, Harry Day, Maude Cooley, Myrtle Cooley, George Rawson, Elsie Kendall.

BORN.

At Palmer, 7th, a son to Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cowan.

At Palmer, 5th, a son to E. H. and Anzonetta M. Rollins.

At Monson, 2d, a son to Harry A. and Alice Merchant, and grandson to Dr. G. E. Fuller.

DIED.

At Palmer, 6th, Lemuel Hawley Brigham, 80.
At Wilbraham, 2d, Mrs. Edwin L. Tupper, 83.
At Monson, 3d, George H. Newton, 65.
At Brimfield, Amos Munroe, 82.

FOR SALE.—A 2-story octagon bay window, as good as new. G. W. LYMAN, Palmer.

TO RENT.—Two tenements on Fox avenue. tf-44 Apply to G. S. HOLDEN.

BUY a Wood's Automatic Spring Washing Machine. We will take this machine to your house and do your washing free of charge. W. A. GURNEY, Agent, 1-6ks Palmer, Mass.

FOR SALE OR TO RENT.—The house corner of Thorndike street and Foster avenue. tf6 C. W. JOHNSON, Palmer.

TO RENT.—Good up and down stairs tenement, six rooms, on Spring street. tf-4 GEORGE A. KEITH, Palmer.

FOR SALE.—Cherry chamber set, black walnut extension dining table, and kitchen range, all in good order. Enquire at house of C. B. FISKE.

LOST.—On main road from Palmer to Brimfield, a fur boa with head and claws. By leaving at JOURNAL office a suitable reward will be given. 1-6

FOUND.—On road from Thorndike to Bondsville, Friday, April 24th, a watch. Owner can have same by paying charges and proving property. 3-5 J. P. O'CONNOR, Thorndike.

FOR SALE.—Buff Cochin and Plymouth Rock eggs for hatching. Won prizes at Palmer, Northampton, Stafford and Providence. tf-38 C. RALPH LEGRO, Palmer, Mass.

SETTING EGGS FOR SALE.—Buff cochins, Plymouth Rocks, Polands, Houdans, silver hamburgs, light brahmas, minorcas. $1 for 15 eggs. 4-3 JOHN RILEY, Thorndike.

FOR SALE.—Estate of the late Mrs. Evans; frame house of 10 rooms; large barn; wash room and woodshed combined; 13 acres land, mowing, pasturing; fruit trees, etc. Address, "ESTATE," JOURNAL Office.

EGGS from Chapin's barred and white Plymouth Rocks. Best pens of barred $2 per 13. Good pens $1 per 13. White $1.50 per 13. 30 eggs double the price of 13. Large early laying stock. Winners at Palmer, Springfield, Stafford and other fairs. GEORGE A. CHAPIN, Hampden, Mass. tf-1

Good looking people

usually have good teeth. LeGRO'S TOOTH POWDER will keep the teeth white, gums healthy and breath pure.

LeGro & Lynde, Druggists,

Next to Post Office, Palmer.

One minute is the standard time, and One Minute Cough Cure is the standard preparation for every form of cough or cold. It is the only harmless remedy that produces immediate results. LeGro & Lynde.

BICYCLES.

If you are looking for a wheel, call on

SMITH,

. . . the grocer. . .

He will give you a

low price for cash,

or will exchange for your old wheel.

PALMER, MASS.

In the Spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of—DeWitt's Little Early Risers, for they always cleanse the liver, purify the blood, and invigorate the system. LeGro & Lynde.

MORTGAGEES SALE.

To Frederick J. Wassum and all other parties interested in the property hereinafter described:

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of power of sale contained in a certain Mortgage Deed given by Frederick J. Wassum to Helena M. Davis dated April 1st, 1884, and recorded in Hampden County Registry of Deeds in Book 404, Page 198, and for breach of the conditions, will be sold at public auction upon the premises on Tuesday, the second day of June, 1896, at twelve o'clock noon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage as follows, to wit:

The following described real estate situate on the easterly side of Pleasant street, in said Palmer, and bounded as follows:

Beginning on said street at the northeasterly corner of lands of J. H. Tuthill and thence running northerly on said street ten rods to land of Frank Sedgwick, thence easterly on line of land of said Sedgwick nine rods to land of S. S. Taft, thence southerly on land of said Taft and land of Charles Keith ten rods to land of said Tuthill, thence westerly on said Tuthill's land nine rods to the place of beginning.

Said premises will be sold subject to all unpaid taxes, also subject to a mortgage given to the Palmer Savings Bank to secure the sum of twenty-four hundred dollars and interest.

Two hundred dollars will be required to be paid in cash by the purchaser at the time and place of sale.

HELENA M. DAVIS, Mortgagee.
By ALLEN WEBSTER, her Attorney.
Springfield, Mass., May 5th, 1896. 3-6

Meekins, Packard & Wheat.

Ingrain carpets

AT 33c A YARD.

There's great enthusiasm in this sale of

The Journal.

FRIDAY EVENING, MAY 8, 1896.

NEIGHBORHOOD NOTES.

MONSON.

LOCAL NOTICES.

I have made arrangements with F. F. Marcy of Palmer to act as local agent for Monson and vicinity, and would be glad to quote prices on all kinds of lumber in large or small lots, delivered free of charge. Respectfully, J. N. Graves. Connected by telephone.

25 Dollars Reward.

The above reward will be paid to any person for evidence that shall lead to the prosecution and conviction of any one engaged in the illegal sale of spirituous liquors or intoxicating drinks in the town of Monson.

J. H. THOMPSON, C. C. KEEP, H. SQUIER, } Prosecuting Committee.

JUDGE NEWTON DEAD.

A Life-long Resident, Honored and Respected by All.

Judge George H. Newton, special justice of the district court of Eastern Hampden, died about midnight Sunday of heart disease, from which he had been a sufferer for some time. The end came suddenly. He had felt as well as usual through the day, and had written a letter to his son in West Upton, telling him of his improvement in health. He retired at the accustomed time, but awoke about 11 o'clock and complained of feeling ill. He arose and went into another room, where he reclined upon the lounge. A physician was at once summoned, but before he arrived Judge Newton had passed away. With his going Monson lost one of her most prominent citizens, a man who had ever worked for the advancement of all matters pertaining to the well-being of the town. He favored permanent sidewalks and roads, street lighting by electricity, and water-works, etc , when his more conservative neighbors held back. He was public spirited also in the sense of taking much pride in pointing out to strangers the town's fine buildings, the business plants and the beautiful scenery. He was a kind neighbor, and many a sick room has been cheered by his frequent presence. He was a friend to the soldier and the soldier's family; he loved the flag, and the stars and stripes floated from his dwelling on many historic anniversaries. In politics he was a Democrat, but in town affairs was an independent voter. He had held various town offices. He was town clerk four years, assessor four years and selectmen four years, besides having his share in the minor offices.

Judge Newton belonged to one of Monson's oldest and most honored families, and his ancestry can be traced plainly back to Richard Newton of Lancashire, Eng., who came to this country and settled at what is now Southboro. From him, George H. was the sixth in line, being the son of Lucius F., and grandson of Stephen, who settled in Monson previous to 1790 and built the house now owned by another grandson, Edward P., cousin of G. H. Stephen, known as Major Newton, was a Revolutionary soldier, and one of the town's selectmen for three terms. Lucius F. was born in 1795, and married in 1825 Miss Maria Dunham of Berlin Ct. He was a builder and contractor, and prominent in town affairs; was selectmen two or more years, and was a representative to the General Court.

George H. was born June 13, 1831. He was educated in the public schools and academy, after which he went to Fon Du Lac, Wis., and opened an auction store. From there he went to Milwaukee, where he engaged in the same business, and later was in Springfield for three years. Returning to Monson in 1863 he entered the employ of Merrick, Fay & Co. as printer, which position he held for some time. January 1, 1865, he issued the first paper ever published in town, the Monson Times, a four-page paper six by eight inches. He was always interested in newspaper work, and was from time to time a contributor to and regular correspondent of the Springfield Republican, the Springfield Union, and the PALMER JOURNAL, serving the latter regularly and acceptably for many years; and however busy he might be, it was seldom that he did not help a reporter to an item on a day when news was scarce, and it was his delight to do it. For a number of years he was engaged in the insurance and real estate business, and was a notary public. About 1880 he conceived the idea of exhibiting a whale in the West, and accordingly secured one in September of that year. The venture was a successful one financially. A year later he disposed of the whale and returned home. Later he resided in California for a time, but again returned to his native town and resumed business. About two years ago he was appointed associate justice of the district court of Eastern Hampden, and this office has claimed considerable of his time. He was a charter member of the Monson Historical society, and last fall successfully carried out the plan of the late W. N. Flynt in gathering Monson's old men together in Memorial Hall for a social time.

Judge Newton married, August 14, 1852, Harriet T. Topliff, who with a son, Warren F. of West Upton, and a daughter, Lura S., wife of Arthur E. Fitch of Palmer, survives him. He also leaves two sisters, Sarah M., widow of James Gardner, residing at Hyde Park, and Abbie, wife of J. C. Wing of Palmer.

The funeral was held Wednesday at his late home, and the house was filled with sorrowing friends, many being present from neighboring towns. Rev. F. S. Hatch read Scripture, then Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Norcross sang "Come unto Me," after which Mr. Hatch offered a prayer. Mr. and Mrs. Norcross then sang "One Sweetly Solemn Thought." The services were simple and impressive. The casket was borne by men with whom Judge Newton had been associated in town affairs, and neighbors; they were C. M. Gage, G. H. Fosket, G. W. Seymour, J. H. Thompson, Horace Squier, John Orcutt. The burial was in the Center cemetery. The floral pieces, which were many, included a star, a pillow, an ivy wreath, a basket, and several bunches of lilies, pinks and roses.

Judge Newton will be greatly missed. He was not ostentatious in his charity, but many a poor person will cherish the memory of the man whose life went out so suddenly last Sunday night.

L. C. Flynt is painting his house.

Jesse Moulton spent Sunday in Worcester.

C. G. King is out, after several weeks' illness.

G. L. Keeney is serving on the grand jury.

R. M. Reynolds is confined to the house by illness.

Mrs. Juday, mother of Mrs. Harry Blackford, is ill.

Mrs. Walter E. Morse left Wednesday for her home in Maine.

The Misses Williams are having a sale of cheap trimmed hats.

Herbert W. Shaw is home from the Philadelphia Dental college.

W. H. Gifford and family are taking their meals in the Century Hotel.

G. L. Fuller and A. A. Babbitt have new awnings on their store fronts.

Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Marble have been spending the week in Gardner.

Mrs. G. W. Farrington is visiting Mrs. Hitchcock in Bennington, Vt.

Dr. Starks of Gouverneur, N. Y., is visiting his daughter, Mrs. C. H. Thompson.

Misses Helen and Mabel Tucker spent last Saturday and Sunday with friends in Warren.

E. R. Bates began his labors May 1 as sexton of the Center cemetery, in place of W. H. Pease, who resigned several weeks ago.

A meeting of the Epworth League will be held Monday evening in the Methodist church.

Miss Tucker will entertain the young lady pupils of the Academy at her home to-morrow afternoon.

Mrs. R. F. Bradway was out Sunday for the first time for a week, having had an attack of tonsilitis.

Mrs. George Gates of Leverett has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Burdick, this week.

John Shine attended the opera in Willimantic Wednesday evening, in which Camille D'Arville appeared.

The house which Julius N. Graves is building for Mrs. Allen on King avenue will be ready to plaster next week.

F. G. Thayer has moved his family from E. R. Bates's house on Main street to C. A. Sweet's house on Gates street.

Mrs. Burt, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Wilson Tucker, has returned to her home in Springfield.

Miss Grace Blackford returned yesterday to El Dorado, Ohio, after a few weeks' visit to her brother, Rev. Harry Blackford.

The funeral of John Howe, who died late Thursday night of last week, was held Sunday, and the burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery.

Seven Monson people went to New London to help that city celebrate her 250th anniversary; among them were Miss Flora Fiske and E. C. Bradway.

T. J. Hynes is to build a six-room cottage on Pearl street for James Pendergast. Mr. Hynes is now building James Tupper's house on Water street.

Mrs. Mary Burt of New York, well-known in Monson, has come to town to live. She will occupy a part of G. H. Norcross's new house on North Main street.

Mrs. A. D. Norcross will sing "At Eventide" at the Congregational church Sunday morning. The words of this song were written by Mrs. Clarrissa Starks Thompson.

Mrs. J. B. Sprewenburg of Meriden, Ct., who was the guest of her sisters, Mrs. Alfred Wallace and Mrs. George W. Seymour, about a week, returned to her home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Flynt, Misses Esther R. Holmes, Mabelle Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Morris and Mrs. L. C. Flynt attended the presentation of "The Rivals" in Springfield Monday evening.

The Handy family of South Monson gave an entertainment of the variety order in Memorial Hall last night. The family plans to travel this summer, giving their entertainment at seaside resorts.

Postmaster J. P. Herlihy has been making extensive improvements upon his Pearl street grounds. He has sold a building lot on Pearl street north of G. A. Harvey's property to James Pendergast.

B. F. Dotney of Chicopee has the contract for putting in concrete sidewalks for the town, the appropriation for which was $500. Many applications for walks have been received by the selectmen. Work will begin in July.

In addition to those members of the graduating class of the Academy who have been given positions at commencement by rank and by election by the class, the teachers have elected Grace S. Cushman, Mabel E. Watson and Grace E. Webber.

A parrot at the Century Hotel rather interfered with the "forty morning winks" o' some of the boarders last Sunday morning, and such remarks as "Shut up! you beggar!" and "Shine, bring your goon while I fire it at the thing!" were heard. The parrot has found a new home.

A true Daughter of the Revolution, Miss C. A Jacobs, whose brother was in the war of 1812 and all his earlier relatives in the earlier struggle, and who aided all she could in the late war, will speak in the Congregational church next Sunday evening at 6 o'clock on "Martyrs for country."

Last Sunday evening a dump-cart drawn by two horses and occupied by four men ran off the bank near E. M. Walker's house, but so far as is known no one was injured. It is said that the occupants of the cart are not talking about the affair to any great extent, as they fear that the prosecuting committee may insist upon making them a little gift, if it reaches their ears.

The Universalist Sunday school has elected these officers for one year: Superintendent, W. L. Ricketts, assistant superintendent, C. G. King; secretary, Miss Musa Babbitt; treasurer, G. H. Seymour; librarians, Miss Mary Hobbs, Miss Annie P. Seymour; chorister, Mrs. C. H. Bruce; pianist, Miss Lena Babbitt. The school has over $40 in the treasury.

At the regular meeting of the school committee last Friday evening Horace Squier was appointed to take charge of the school census. The principal discussion of the evening was on the best method of enforcing the state law which provides that no person shall sell any cigarette, snuff or tobacco in any form to any person under 16 years of age, and that no person other than a minor's parents shall give the same to such minor, under penalty of a fine not exceeding $50. The prices to be charged for old text-books was also discussed. It will be remembered that the plan was adopted last fall of distributing new text-books to beginners in a study, to be retained by them until the completion of that study, and then allowing the pupils to purchase the books for future reference. The committee feels well satisfied with the results of this plan.

BRIMFIELD.

A. R. Brown has accepted a position in Lawrence.

Edward Morgan and wife are in Holyoke for a week.

Miss Lizzie Goodale has sold her place to Austin Jennison.

Communion services were observed at the First and Second churches last Sunday.

Mrs. Sarah Goodale of Springfield has been visiting friends here the past two weeks.

J. L. Bacon, Jr., is home from the Philadelphia medical college for his summer vacation.

Walter Lowe of Cleveland, Ohio, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Converse last Saturday.

Mrs. Frank Boardman and young son of Meriden, Ct., are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Hitchcock.

Charles Walker of Warren has sold the Dr. Vaill place to Rev. Mr. Bissell of Holland. Extensive repairs have been made on the house recently.

Mr. Bissell, formerly of Holland, has purchased of Charles Walker of Warren the Sibley homestead, and when repairs are completed expects to reside here.

Gilman Noyes, accompanied by O. F. Brown, left Wednesday morning for the Massachusetts General Hospital, where Mr. Noyes is to undergo an operation for the removal of a tumor.

The 75th annual meeting of the Brookfield conference of Congregational churches was held with the Second Congregational church of Ware Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. Dea. N. S. Hubbard and wife were elected delegates from the First Congregational church of this town, and Mr. Hubbard gave a short address on "The duty of Missions in hard times."

Death of Amos Munroe, a Long-time Resident and Hotel Keeper.

Amos Munroe, 82, widely known as landlord of the Brimfield hotel for a quarter of a century, died at his home Wednesday after a long illness. His health had been breaking down for several years. After an attack of the grippe over a year ago he failed gradually all summer, and during the winter was confined to the house, unable to walk without assistance on account of extreme weakness. For the last six or eight weeks he was confined to his room, but was able to sit up a part of every day. His mind remained clear and active in spite of his feeble condition, and he kept up his wonted interest in people and events. He welcomed callers with all his old-time hospitality, and thoroughly enjoyed visiting with them. During all his illness, although his condition of helplessness must have been a peculiarly severe trial to one who had possessed unusual physical strength and vigor, he uttered no complaint, and the week before he died he talked with a visitor of how much he had to enjoy. His bright, hopeful spirit was a lesson in cheerfulness which leaves its impression upon those who went to see him.

The news of the death of Mr. Munroe will be heard with sorrow not only by the people of Brimfield and surrounding towns, but by many beyond the section where his long life was passed. There will be recalled the cordial greeting, the warm hand-clasp, the generous hospitality of the man whose large and hearty nature corresponded with his big frame; while the memory of Amos Munroe includes more than the genial host, —he was a warm-hearted, steadfast, valued friend. There are not a few whose feeling for "Uncle Amos" was like that felt for a venerable, beloved kinsman.

Although it is six years since Mr. Munroe retired from the Brimfield hotel, his memory will always be especially associated with that well-known and favorite hostelry. The hotel was soon afterwards destroyed by fire, and it is seldom that the loss of a building is so widely and deeply mourned. Besides being the ornament and pride of the village, it was like a central home in a town always known for its hospitable spirit. It is due in large measure to Mr. and Mrs. Munroe, who so long dispensed its hospitality, that so many people hold the associations connected with the Brimfield hotel among their cherished memories. The interests of the Hitchcock Free High school and the Brimfield hotel, situated in close proximity, were intimately connected, and the school found in the hotel a strong ally. Mr. and Mrs. Munroe had the welfare of the school at heart, and both took a great interest in young people. Year after year, teachers and pupils found the blessings and comforts of home under the wise supervision and motherly care of Mrs. Munroe; while pupils driving from a distance received innumerable favors freely and gladly bestowed. Recollections of the hotel and the friends who presided over it have a large place in the bright school-day memories of the alumni of the neighboring institution. Mr. Munroe followed with interest the young people as they went out into the world, always glad to hear of their success. During the last year of his life he would recall those whom he had thus known in the past, at the mention of their names, although so many had claimed his interest.

Amos Munroe came of Scottish ancestry, being of the fifth generation in the line of descent from William Munroe, who came from Fowlis, in the Highlands of Scotland, to Lexington in 1652. Fowlis, situated on the banks of the Cromerty Firth, Rosshire, is the name given to the estate and castle of the clan Munroe, and has been the seat of the family bearing that name since the eleventh century. The clan motto has been found to be "Fear God," or "Dread God." In Scottish and English history the family has had an honorable record in war and statesmanship, and in the arts and sciences. William Munroe and his brothers fought for Charles II, and were taken prisoners by Cromwell in the battle of Worcester. They were sent to Boston as prisoners of war, William going thence to Lexington. Transplanting to America seems to have reversed the political views of succeeding generations of the family, for Robert Munroe leads the list of the first eight killed at Lexington, and Amos Munroe, grandfather of the subject of this sketch, was a soldier of honor in the Revolutionary war. Amos Munroe, the grandson, was born in New Braintree March 13, 1814. He was the son of Joseph Munroe and one of seven children. His father died in "Rice Corner," Brookfield, leaving his mother with a family of small children dependent upon her. At the age of 13 Amos went to live with Col. Phillips of Sturbridge, where he made his home most of the time until he became of age. He learned the blacksmith's trade at the old Tucker stand in Monson, and afterwards worked at his trade in Fiskdale. He then went into the livery business with his brother, Solomon Munroe, in Fiskdale. Later he became proprietor of the Fiskdale hotel, which he kept for 15 years. While living in Fiskdale he held the town offices of selectman and assessor, and was postmaster for a number of years. Exchanging the hotel property for a farm in Holland, he lived in that town for a time. He moved to Brimfield in 1862, becoming landlord for a year of the Brimfield hotel, which had been remodelled and enlarged by Silas C. Herring. A few years later he bought this property, was proprietor and landlord of the Brimfield hotel for 23 years. He was a popular and successful landlord, while he was proud of being able to say that in all his hotel life of nearly 40 years he had never sold a drop of liquor directly or otherwise.

Mr. Munroe was married November 28, 1838, to Miss Betsey Gifford of Sturbridge. Their married life was a long and happy one. The celebration of their golden wedding a few months before the death of Mrs. Munroe was an event which is pleasantly recalled by people in Brimfield and elsewhere. Mrs. Munroe was a woman of refinement and unusual ability. As a gracious and attentive hostess, and as a devoted friend she won the esteem and affection of those who became inmates of her home. With his characteristic loyalty to woman Mr. Munroe often expressed his recognition of what his wife had contributed to their united success. Four children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Munroe, only one of whom is now living, Lizzie, the wife of C. S. Tarbell of Brimfield, with whom he made his home. George, a young man of much promise, died from the effects of service in the war. In politics Mr. Munroe was a life-long Democrat, and he always took a great interest in politics. While he lived in Brimfield he was unwilling to accept town office, although requested to do so. When nominated by his party for representative from Brimfield, although he failed of election in a Republican district, he was proud of having carried the vote of his town, which had always been a Republican town.

Mr. Munroe possessed a strong personality, and many of his well-defined characteristics can doubtless be traced to inheritance from his Scottish ancestry. His stature was much above the usual height, and he had a well-built frame of perfect proportion. Nature had given him many of the qualities of a leader. In spite of the fact that his early educational advantages were very meager, and that as a mere boy he was thrown upon his own resources, he developed into a man of more than ordinary ability and influence. He was one who relied upon his own resources and pushed his way by simple force of character. His preceptions were quick and he possessed excellent judgment. While he had a good stock of pride, he was utterly without pretense, and thoroughly democratic. He respected men for what they were worth, and never courted favor. He possessed decided opinions and convictions, while such qualities as tend to become overassertive when pushed to an extreme, were outweighed by an unusually social nature and friendly disposition.

Mr. Munroe will be long remembered for his interest in others, his cordial hospitality, his entertaining companionship and quick sympathy. He possessed a simplicity and straightforwardness of nature which had an influence upon those with whom he was associated. "I am the better for having known the simplicity and integrity of his character," remarked a man of education and culture who found a home at the hotel for a time. Mr. Munroe always responded generously to an appeal for help, and was ready to further any good cause. He always gave liberally for the support of the church, and during the last years of his life was a constant attendant upon church service. In the death of Amos Munroe Brimfield has lost an esteemed citizen who has long been identified with the welfare of the town.

NORTH WILBRAHAM.

Mrs. Edwin L. Tupper died at her home on the Mountain last Saturday after an illness of some weeks. Mrs. Tupper was 83 years of age, and had been married 60 years, most of her married life being spent in the home where she died. She was respected by her neighbors, and bore the great pain of her illness with fortitude. She leaves a husband, a son, Mr. Charles E. Tupper of Wilbraham, a daughter, Mrs. Jennie E. T. Dowe, the well-known magazine writer, four grandchildren and one great-grandchild. The funeral services were held Monday from her late home, with burial at the Dell.

WARREN.

Miss Perkins is visiting her brother, Dr. Perkins.

Mrs. J. M. Chadsey and Miss Chadsey are spending the week in Boston.

Rev. E. B. Blanchard of Brookfield will preach in the Congregational church next Sabbath.

Mrs. Aaron King of Nashua, N. H., has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. George Shumway, this week.

Mrs. Albert J. Whitney is attending the musical festival at Springfield this week and is the guest of Miss Emory.

Superintendent Brodeur and family are at Lyman Powers's. They will remove to Chicopee the first of next week.

The selectmen have appointed as special police Seymour J. Dufresne at West Warren, John S. Shaw at No. 4, and Henry G. Austin at the town farm.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union met with Mrs. A. J. Carter Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. A. M. Harrington of Leicester gave an interesting address.

The steamer company held its annual meeting Monday night and reorganized as follows: Foreman, Mr. Atwood; firemen, Messrs. Horton, Ball and Bridges; clerk, Arthur Bennett.

Mrs. Herbert Carpenter, Miss Gertrude Sperry, William Rorrison and Robert Rorrison were received into the Congregational church by letter and Miss Luella Horton by profession, last Sabbath.

The electric road is progressing rapidly being laid nearly to West Brookfield. As the present lay out stands the road will be laid on the north side of east Main street, but will cross to the left at the dry bridge; at the lower end of the park it crosses back again to the right, and recrosses to the left at the town hall.

The funeral of Mrs. Freeman Clark was held at her late home on Center avenue Tuesday afternoon. It was attended by Rev. Harris G. Hale. The floral emblems were appropriate and beautiful. Mrs. Clark's illness and death was a great shock to her many friends, and her husband and little daughter have the sympathy of all in their bereavement.

The Warren Woman's Suffrage League has elected these officers for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Leila C. Deluce; vice-presidents, Mrs. Alice W. Hosley, Mrs. Maude N. Aborn and Mrs. Mary J. Burt; executive committee, D. G. Hitchcock, H. P. Bliss, Mrs. Mary J. Campbell, Mrs. Annie G. Nye and Mrs. Mary M. Richardson; secretary, and treasurer, Mrs. Julia M. Hitchcock; delegates to state association, Mrs. Mary E. Jennings and Mrs. Mary M. Richardson. Several new members were voted at a recent meeting.

BELCHERTOWN.

Belchertown Creamery Co. paid 3½ cents per space for March cream.

Alden Bros. are moving the barn which E. White bought of Charles Morse.

If asked the question "Have you got a stomach?" it would be safe on general principles, to answer "Yes." But, if you are sure of it; that is, if you ever feel any distress after eating or any pains of whatever description in the region of the stomach, you have got someting more than an ordinary stomach; in other words, you have got a diseased stomach. The stomach is a powerful muscle, and the proper remedy for a tired muscle is rest. Try the Shaker Digestive Cordial, for this product not only contains digested food, which will nourish the system without any work on the part of the diseased organs, but it aids the digestion of other foods as well. You can test its value in your case for the trifling sum of 10 cents. Sample bottles at this price are carried by all druggist.

LAXOL is the best medicine for children. Doctors recommend it in place of Castor Oil.

A reception was given Rev. George Lock, pastor of the M. E. church, Friday evening.

The marriage engagement of Grace E. Moore and Ariel Lane of Holyoke is announced.

G. H. B. Green has resigned his position as bookkeeper for the Long boot and shoe company.

State Secretary W. M. Olin has been engaged by E. J. Griggs post to deliver the Memorial Day address.

Some improvements are being made in the summer residence of D. P. Clapp. The family are expected about the 20th.

E. J. Griggs post, G. A. R., will hold another dance in Grand Army hall June 17th. About 60 couples attended the dance Friday night.

Tuesday evening was young people's meeting at the Grange. The committee deserves much credit for the selections of dialogues and tableau.

Mrs. Hawkes of Bloomington, Ill., who is better known as the widow of Rev. William Fay, a Baptist clergyman who died here 25 years ago, is visiting old friends in town.

A change in the hours of service at the Congregational church went into effect last Sunday, and is as follows: Preaching services will be held at 11 45 a. m. and 7.15 p. m.; junior endeavor meeting at 5 p. m., and senior endeavor meeting at 6 p. m.

The members of E. J. Griggs post have arranged the programme for Memorial Day. The memorial service for Sunday, May 24, will be held in the Congregational church. The schools, it is expected, will hold memorial exercises on Friday, May 29. There will be a special meeting of the post and Relief Corps May 25, and the committee on Memorial Day will meet Monday evening.

The council to consider the resignation of Rev. V. C. Harrington of the Congregational church convened Tuesday, and the churches represented were: Amherst, First church, Rev. Mr. Huckel and Mr. Fearing; Second church, Rev. Mr. Woodworth and Lorin Shaw; South church, Deacon Reed; Granby, Rev. R. C. Bell and Deacon Simeon Kellogg; Enfield, Deacon Norman Chaffee. The council opened with Rev. Mr. Woodworth moderator, and Rev. Mr. Huckel clerk. After the reading of the letter of resignation, the report of the doings of church and society were listened to, and the council reported acceptance of the resignation. The board of trade has adopted resolutions of regret at Mr. Harrington's departure and has elected H. A. Hopkins to fill Mr. Harrington's unexpired term as secretary.

WEST WARREN.

Peter Belare and family started for Canada Wednesday.

The F. M. T. S. hold a social dance in Brigham's Hall to-night.

Mr. Holbrook, who has been ill for the past month, is slowly recovering.

A. C. Cutler has been appointed fire engineer in place of J. W. Brown, who declined to serve.

Miss Etta Sylvester and Miss Emma Blodgett are home from Springfield for a week's vacation.

Mrs. Patrick Lynch and children have joined her husband in East Cambridge, where he has been at work.

Rev. Harris G. Hale attended the conference meeting of the Brookfield association at Ware Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mrs. Prosper Pariso died at the home of her son in Millbury on Monday. Interment was at West Warren on Wednesday.

The F. M. T. S. ball nine will play the first game of the season with the Spencer team to-morrow afternoon on the Southbridge street grounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lawrence entertained a party of friends at the Blodgett farm, Friday evening. They have leased the farm for the ensuing year.

Four promising young men living on Kerry road, who "had a little in" Thursday night of last week, set upon Jack Connor and gave him a severe mauling. An officer was called, but two of them had fled; two were captured and fined.

Mr. Robinson, the new school superintendent, has arrived and is stopping with Mrs. Lyman Powers. He comes very highly recommended, and it is expected will prove an efficient official.

The May party given by the ladies of the Universalist church May night was a success socially and financially. The sale of May baskets proved an attractive feature. The proceeds are to be used toward the purchase of a piano.

The young ladies' mission circle will hold a "Festival of Days" in the Congregational chapel this evening. There will be tables to represent each week day, with useful and fancy articles; the Saturday table of cake will appeal to busy housekeepers.

The Epworth League of the M. E. church elected its officers for the next six months as follows: President, C. O. Walker; vice presidents, Andrew Martin, Mrs. D. G. Weston, Oney St. Germaine; secretary, J. T. Campbell; treasurer, Mabel Crouch.

M. J. Shea, the saloon keeper, assaulted ex-Policeman John C. O'Connor Monday. Mr. O'Connor was conversing with a friend on the street when Shea approached him, remarking that now O'Connor had his badge off he would get even with him, and struck him twice. Mr. O'Connor promptly swore out a warrant, but Shea had disappeared.

A May Wedding.

A very charming morning wedding took place at Spring Valley Farm Tuesday morning at nine o'clock, when Miss Jennie Keyes, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Keyes, was married to Mr. Henry Bowen of Chicago, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Harris G. Hale. The bride was becomingly attired in a traveling gown of dark blue mohair, with light silk waist. Only near relatives and friends and the ladies of the Tuesday club were present. Among the gifts were a silver service from Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Shepard, a Delft lamp from Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Butterworth, a case of teaspoons from the Tuesday club, a silver tea ball from Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Kimball, a china service from Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Nichols. The bridal couple left immediately for the west.

Try a can of Hopkins' Steamed Hominy (Hulled corn.) It is delicious. Full qt., 10c.

Low Shoes.

Our stock of ladies' low shoes is just immense.

It does not make any difference what grade you want, we have them at all prices—from 80c to $2.50.

The new shades of russets this season make them much more desirable than ever, and easier to keep clean.

Geo. L. Fuller,

the distributor of fine fitting shoes.

Monson, - - Mass.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER.

ABSOLUTELY PURE.

A cream of tartar Baking Powder. Highest of all in leavening power.—Latest United States Government Food Report.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall Street, New York.

For the bath.

Soaps, sponges, brushes, toilet waters and powders, sea salt, etc.

Proper bathing is a luxury. The things cost but little if bought of us.

LeGRO & LYNDE,

Next to Post Office, PALMER.

Forbes & Wallace's,

Springfield.

THE LENOX BICYCLES, $55.

We have as good bicycles at $55 as men or women need care to ride. They are as good bicycles as can be found on the market at $75. They are graceful in outline and finish, easy running, right in material and construction. We guarantee them as strongly as any bicycle on the market is guaranteed.

Bicycle parts and sundries, such as saddles, tires, lamps, cyclometers, chains, locks, lubricants, oils, wrenches, etc., we sell at prices that nobody else thinks of.

JACKETS AND CAPES.

$5 to $25 capes at $2.98 to $12.50; $6 to $45 jackets, $3.98 to $23.50. And they are the pick of the season's best styles at that; all perfect in every way. No wonder crowds come. We should wonder if they didn't. People who put off the buying for a day now, may be disappointed, for already the assortment of some of the sizes is getting low.

Main floor of Pynchon street building.

BUTTERFIELD'S WRAPPERS ARE GOING FAST.

What would you do if we advertised "gold dollars for 50 cents apiece"—come here willy nilly? No more reasons than now to come quickly. Butterfield's stock of women's wrappers is going out with a rush, and you'll have to pay twice as much for wrappers when they're all gone—five pieces, 58c apiece, 68, 78, 88, and 98.

Main floor of Pynchon street building.

WASH STUFFS.

More new patterns of swivel silks at 25c a yard — pretty patterns; the prettiest so far.

Corded welt pique, a delightful summer stuff for outing and tourist dresses and the price 7½c a yard instead of 25 as it was meant to be — what a tumble? You shall say that it is a better fabric than many you have seen at three times the price, at least.

Right aisle.

Forbes & Wallace,

Main, Vernon and Pynchon streets, Springfield, Mass.

W. D. KINSMAN.

DRESS GOODS BARGAINS!

At 50c a yard we are showing an exceptionally fine assortment of all wool Novelties in Checks and Scotch Mixtures—just the choice, stylish patterns that you'd pick out if they were 75c, instead of 50c a yard.

This is one of many rare opportunities offered in our Black and Colored Dress Goods departments. More excellent values are found among the all-wool English Suitings at 65c a yard and the high grade wool, and silk and wool Novelties at $1.

DRESS LININGS.

Not a poor quality in the department; after quality nothing speaks louder than prices.

Genuine hair-cloth, 18 indhes wide, 25c a yard.

Rustley cambric, good quality, slate, brown and white, 6c a yard.

Rustley percalines, 36 inches, 15c a yard; five colors.

All-linen canvas, slate, brown, tans and black, 15c a yard.

Changeable Silks, 22 inches wide, for cape and jacket linings, 50c a yard.

LIGHT UNDERWEAR.

Our full Spring assortments are all in and include bigger, better values than ever before. A few of them:

Women's Jersey-ribbed vests and pants, Spring weight, 25c a garment.

Three more grades at 38c, 45c and 50c.

Swiss Jersey-ribbed Lisle vests of fine quality, 50c, 87c, and $1.

Women's fast black cotton hose, special lot at 18c a pair, regular 25c quality, but we say 19c!

SHIRT WAISTS.

Over 75 feet of counter room filled with them! A multitude of new designs and coloring in lawns, percales, dimities, chambrays, ginghams, and batistes at these prices: $1, $1.25, $1.38, $1.50, $1.75, $1.87, $2, $2.25, $2.50, $2.75, $3 and $3.75.

SILK GLOVES.

Kayser pure silk gloves with double finger tips—the tips outwear the gloves—black, white, modes, tans, browns and grays, 50c, 75c and $1 a pair.

W. D. KINSMAN,

Corner Main and Bridge Streets, SPRINGFIELD.

WANTED.—Energetic men, with or without experience to sell choice fruit and ornamental stock. Good pay, no lost time, first class territory. Complete outfit free. Write for terms. Nelson Bogue, Batavia Nurseries, Batavia, N. Y.

One swallow does not make Spring, but one swallow of One Minute Cough Cure brings relief. LeGro & Lynde.

HAVE YOU an eye for business?

The man with an eye for business doesn't need a porous plaster to draw his attention to a good thing, but will keep one eye upon the place where he can trade to the best advantage.

We advertise no fake "bargains," but represent goods just as they are, and with triple the stock and facilities of any other house, sell at prices that will save you money every time!

The equal of any $16 or $18 sack suit in the country, $10.50.

If you pay any one else $17 for a sack suit, you throw away just $6.50.

Fine black clay worsted cutaway suits, $10. A leader at $13.75, worth $16.

Grand spring overcoats, $6, $8, $10, $12, $15, 18.

Furnishings and negligee goods at "cut" prices.

HAYNES & CO.,

Clothiers, Tailors, Hatters, Furnishers.

SIGN OF THE GOLDEN GLOBE.

SPRINGFIELD, = = = MASS.

W. E. STONE,

Lawrence Block, PALMER,.....MASS.

Ladies' Calico Wrappers, 75c, $1.00, $1.25.

Shirt Waists, laundered collars and cuffs, 50c and $1.00.

Shirt Waist Studs, only 25c.

Ties, 25c. Belts, 25c.

W. E. STONE,

Lawrence Block, PALMER,.....MASS.

BOOTS AND SHOES FOR THE PEOPLE.

SPRING STYLES ARRIVING DAILY.

Quick sellers and great values. All the latest styles for ladies in BOOTS and OXFORDS, BLACK, RUSSET OR TAN. SAME FOR MISSES AND CHILDREN.

A few of the ladies' Dull Dongola, button, in Opera Toe and Common Sense last, which I am closing out at $2.00. The very best boots for wear on earth.

Men's, Boys' and Youth's Footwear.

I have the best assortment, for dress or heavy wear. From a heavy brogan to the finest Patent Leather. CALL.

S. C. HALL, 295 Main Street. Next to P. O. SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

See our prices for

COAL

R. M. & Theo. REYNOLDS,

Monson, Mass.

To be delivered now, subject to advance at any time. We furnish good men to house and bin same. All coal is screened and delivered in bags.

The Lehigh is as good as any we have ever sold. The Lackawanna is the best prepared coal that comes to market for domestic use.

Send your order by postal card or leave it at our office.

Price for Lackawanna:

Stove size, - $5.85 per ton.

Prices for Lehigh:

Stove size, - $6.00 per ton.
Chestnut, - 6.00 " "
Furnace, - 5.90 " "

Less than (1) one ton 25 cents added for the load.

Delivered in Bags,

which will save expense of housing in many cases.

MARCH 2d, 1896.

Insurance

of every kind placed at short notice, and all favors duly appreciated.

Yours truly,

S. H. HELLYAR.

Office at Ridge's Food Factory.

E. S. Bryant, D. M. D., Dentist,

Lynde's Block, Palmer.

Office hours: 8.30 to 12.30. 1.30 to 5 p. m.

PEARLINE

All over the house you need Pearline. And more than ever in house-cleaning. Just look over the list of things that you might use—soaps and powders and fluids and what not. Some of them don't pretend to help you as much as Pearline; some will injure paint, or surfaces, or fabrics; some are only meant to wash or clean certain things.

With Pearline, you'll save time and labor in cleaning anything that water won't hurt. It can do no harm—saves useless and harmful rubbing. 462

Millions NOW USE Pearline

Gravel Cured.

(Philadelphia, Penn., Item.)

A healthier, heartier, happier man than John J. Neill, of 2437 North Eighth street, Philadelphia, could not be found in a day's search. The fact that he is still alive is a constant wonder to his friends.

In the fall of 1889 he began to suffer indescribable miseries from stone in the bladder. Consulting an eminent physician in Philadelphia, he was told that a surgical operation was necessary. So much did he dread the result, for if unsuccessful it meant death, that he put off the evil day as long as possible. While in this frame of mind, he heard of

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

Although disheartened, on July 1, 1893, he bought a bottle of it, and within a month had experienced beneficial results, and before he had finished the third bottle, the gravel was completely dissolved and his sufferings at an end.

Mr. Neil feels that he owes a lasting debt of gratitude to Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy and for disorders of the bladder and urinary organs, says "it will effect a cure if one be possible."

Favorite Remedy is prescribed with unfailing success for rheumatism, dyspepsia and nerve troubles, in which it has cured many that were considered beyond the aid of medicine. All druggists, $1.

Become an Agent

and make money. Exclusive rights and all sales in your territory credited to you. These are the discounts on our $100

"Phœnix" Bicycle

—no better wheel has ever been made.

2 to 5 wheels,	-	15 per cent.
5 to 10 "	-	17½ "
10 to 15 "	-	20 "
15 to 20 "	-	22½ "
20 to 25 "	-	25 "
25 up "	-	27 "

You will furthermore receive (in cash) the discount on the entire number of wheels you take and pay for up to August 30th, no matter how few ordered at the beginning.

Catalogues free for the asking.

Correspond with us at once or your territory may be taken by a neighbor.

STOVER BICYCLE MNFG. CO.,
575-577 Madison Ave., New York.

LARRABEE'S RHEUMATIC LINIMENT

A standard and sovereign household remedy for over half a century. It is a wonderful curative agent in all painful diseases, such as

Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuralgia, Backache, Catarrh, Toothache,

and other painful ailments. To be had of all druggists, or by mail on receipt of 25 cents. Trade supplied by Geo. C. Goodwin & Co., or any wholesale druggist.

WINKLEMANN & BROWN DRUG CO.
BALTIMORE, MD., U. S. A.

A Man With X Ray Eyes.

A Phenomenon of Nature in Springfield.

"There are many more things in Heaven and earth Horatio, than are dreamt of in your philosophy."

There is in Springfield to-day a man of modest demeanor who makes no pretensions to greatness, but who possesses the most wonderful gift of second sight and the power to penetrate beyond the veil that hitherto has proved impenetrable to science and baffled the hypothetical powers of divination. Prof. A. J. Salisbury has been a resident of Springfield for some time past, during which he has demonstrated in thousands of cases his infallible skill in correctly diagnosing cases that have baffled the skill and thwarted the effort of the best medical practioners of the old school. All to him through the intricacies and complications of diseases are clearly revealed to him through his wonderful occult powers of vision, no matter where in one's anatomy the seeds of disease may lurk, they are clearly revealed and accurately located by Prof. Salisbury without asking the patient a single question. On this fact hinges the success of the Springfield Magnetic Institute. Prof. Salisbury tells the people every pain and ache, and tells you how you feel better than you can yourself, and it stands to reason that the cure is half performed when you are sure you know what your ailments are. After Prof. Salisbury reads your disease, then F. W. Mappherson, M. D., a man of years of experience gives you the medicines for the disease you suffer from, and if possible a cure is speedily effected. And the Springfield Magnetic Institute has justly earned the title—the place where sick people are made well.

Office hours 1 to 6 and 7 to 9 p. m. except Tuesday and Thursday evenings. No office hours on Sunday.

Remember the place, 394 Main Street.

Room 12, (over Forbes & Wallace's,)

SPRINGFIELD, - - - - MASS.

TEETH. . .

Artificial teeth without plates. Teeth extracted without pain with local anaesthetic.
GAS ADMINISTERED.
Office hours from 8 to 12 a. m., 1 to 5.30 p. m.
OPEN EVENINGS.

Dr. O. P. ROLLER, D. D. S.,
Lawrence Block, Palmer, Mass.

L. H. HENDEE, M. D.,
OFFICE AND RESIDENCE, PLEASANT ST.
Office hours 7 to 10 a. m., and 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m.

From "As You Like It."

BY W. SHAKESPEARE.

All the world's a wheel,
And all the men and women merely coasters.
They have their headers and their punctured tires,
And one man in his time rides many bikes,
His acts being seven ages. At first the infant,
Wheeling and squealing in its nurse's arms,
Then the scorching schoolboy, with new sprockets
And peaked, 'cycle face, whizzing like time
A-hookying from school: then the lover,
Wheezing like broken bellows on a wheel "for two,"
His love perched up before. And then the soldier,
High placed upon his safety, plunges on
And havoc plays upon the startled foe
Like onto that which not e'en cable cars can wreak.
Next comes the father, portly and obese,
Who rides a forty-pounder to hold down
His fast-increasing girth. The sixth age shifts
Into the lean and slippered bloomerloon.

* * * * * * * * * * * * * *
* * (These lines must be left * *
* * to the imagination.) * *
* * * * * * * * * * * * * *
* * * * And finally, last scene of all,
That ends this strange eventful history
In second childishness and mere oblivion,
Sans teeth, sans eyes, sans everything but "wheels."

—Harper's Bazar.

As the stage was rather crowded,
And the girl most wondrous sweet,
I rose with my politest bow
And offered her my seat,
Her smile of thanks was charming,
But I felt my soul demur
When she placed her little doggie
On the seat I offered her.

—Vogue.

Seems as if the hen would be likely to suffer from ova work.—Boston Commercial Bulletin.

Grandma—"Bobby, what are you doing in the pantry?" Bobby—"Oh, I'm just putting a few things away, gran'ma."—Tit-Bits.

"How old is your daughter, Mr. Dinklespiel?" "Forty, Mr. Harkins; but to you I'll quote her at 30, net."—Harper's Bazar.

"Order in the court," shouted the judge. "This is the worst disgrace this court has suffered since I was elected to the judgeship!"—Indianapolis Journal.

"Buffles is always talking about his library. How large is it?" "Oh, his library is in his head." "Bound in calf, then, evidently."—New York Sun.

Little boy—"The preacher says there is no marryin' in heaven." Little girl—"Of course not. There wouldn't be enough men to go 'round.—North La Crosse Argus.

The Sheriff—"You say that fellow who broke jail left a message behind?" The Keeper—"Yes, sir; here it is on this paper: 'Excuse the liberty I take!'"—Truth.

Tourist (in the mountains)—"Shall I be safer here on foot or on your mule?" "On my mule of course, for I shall be careful that nothing happens to it."—Fliegende Blaetter.

"Mamma, teacher whipped a boy to-day for whispering in school." "Well, that was all right." "But, mamma, he hollered 10 times as loud as he whispered!"—Chicago Record.

A Kansas critic ventures the opinion that "Shakespeares's style is antiquated." But it should be remembered that Shakespeare has written nothing for several years.—New York Press.

"Won't it be lovely when we girls vote?" said Mrs. Cobleigh. "Yes," replied Mrs. Giddithing. "Only I do hope they'll leave room enough on the ballots for a postscript."—Washington Star.

Augustus—"Why do you so persistently wear the hair of another woman on your head?" Beatrice—"For the same reason that you wear the skin of another calf on your feet."—The Great Divide.

"I am ashamed of you, my dear, laughing at those risque stories of Mrs. DeFrench. You would better have blushed." "But, mamma, if I had blushed it would have shown that I understood them."—Life.

Hortense—"Did you say Mr. Spooner swore all sorts of things on his bended knees last night?" Henrietta—"Yes. There was an upturned tack on the carpet just where he kneeled."—Yonkers Statesman.

Kate—"I went to a stereopticon entertainment the other night with young De Spooney." Laura—"Did you enjoy the views?" Kate—"Very much, indeed. It was just like going through a tunnel."—Detroit Free Press.

Satan—"What's that shade doing with those great beads of cold sweat upon his brow?" Floor Walker—"Oh, he has just called to mind that he promised his wife he would never smoke any more."—Detroit Free Press.

"And shall I ever understand you?" moaned the Eternal Ages. "Well, you can bet I won't do a thing to make myself any plainer," snapped the Eternal Feminine. And Time proceeded to lapse as usual.—Detroit Tribune.

Weary Wiggins—"Uneasy Walker is de luckiest feller on de road." Tired Traddles—"How's dat?" Weary Wiggins—"He's a somnambulist, an' does all his walkin' in his sleep. Dat gives him all day to loaf in."—Yonkers Journal.

"Consider the humble porous plaster," said the Cumminsville sage, after his heart had been warmed with a good five-cent cigar. "Everybody turns his back on it, yet look what success it achieves by close application."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

American girl (at Windsor castle)—"Porter is there any chance to get a glimpse of the queen?" Gentlemen at the gate—"I am not the porter. I am the prince of Wales." American girl—"How lucky I am! Is your mother in?"—New York Weekly.

Mr. Chugwater—"Women voting and holding office? Shucks! Think of women in Congress making laws for the country!" Mrs. Chugwater—"Well, if ever we do elect a Congress, we'll never send such a lot of old women to the Senate as you've got there now!"—Chicago Tribune.

Hicks—"Everybody's buying bicycles. I suppose you would be buying one, too, if you could raise the wind." Wicks—"I think I could raise the wind all right, but it is the tires that go around the wind, together with the other parts of the machine, that trouble me.—Boston Transcript.

A gentlemam once saw a boy peeling the bark from one of his choice trees with a hatchet. The gentleman tried to catch the boy, but the latter was too quick for him, so the former changed his tactics. "Come here my little son," he said in soft, flute-like voice, with counterfeited friendliness; "come here to me a moment. I want to tell you something." "Not yet," replied the recipient, "little boys like me don't need to know everything."—Texas Siftings.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, } ss.
LUCAS COUNTY.

FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of CATARRH that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

{SEAL} A. W. GLEASON
Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

☞Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Sour

Stomach, sometimes called waterbrash, and burning pain, distress, nausea, dyspepsia, are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This it accomplishes because with its wonderful power as a blood purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla gently tones and strengthens the stomach and digestive organs, invigorates the liver, creates an appetite, gives refreshing sleep, and raises the health tone. In cases of dyspepsia and indigestion it seems to have "a magic touch."

"For over 12 years I suffered from sour

Stomach

with severe pains across my shoulders, and great distress. I had violent nausea which would leave me very weak and faint, difficult to get my breath. These spells came oftener and more severe. I did not receive any lasting benefit from physicians, but found such happy effects from a trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I took several bottles and mean to always keep it in the house. I am now able to do all my own work, which for six years I have been unable to do. My husband and son have also been greatly benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla—for pains in the back, and after the grip. I gladly recommend this grand blood medicine." MRS. PETER BURBY, Leominster, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.

Hood's Pills cure all Liver Ills and Sick Headache. 25 cents.

"BE BECOMING AND PROPER WI' IT."—Rev. John Brown of Haddington, the author of the "Self Interpreting Bible," was a man of singular bashfulness. His courtship lasted seven years. Six and a half years had passed away, and the reverend gentleman had got no further than he had been in the first six days. A step in advance must be made, and Mr. Brown summoned all his courage for the deed. "Janet," said he one day, as they sat in solemn silence, "we've been acquainted now six years and mair, and I've ne'er gotten a kiss yet. D'ye think I might take one, my bonnie lass?" "Just as you like, John; only be becoming and proper wi' it." "Surely, Janet; we'll ask a blessing." The blessing was asked, the kiss was taken, and the worthy divine, overpowered with the blissful sensation, most rapturously exclaimed: "Heigh, lass, but it is gude! We'll return thanks!" Six months later the pious couple were made one flesh.

This Girl is an acquaintance in thousands of American homes where she is known as "The None Such Mince Meat Girl." Her smile is reflected in every home she enters for she brings delicious mince pie to all, and at the same time saves the housewife from the drudgery that old time mince pie making required. Sold everywhere. Take no substitute. Send your address, naming this paper, and we will send you free a book, "Mrs. Peyton Thanksgiving," by one of the most popular humorous writers of the day.

MERRELL-SOULE Co.
Syracuse, N. Y., Mfrs. of
NONE SUCH MINCE MEAT.

a speedy cure for the most obstinate cough. It cannot fail

HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR

Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar acts like magic for a cough or any throat or bronchial trouble. Ask your druggist.

Pike's Toothache Drops cure in one minute.

F. M. EAGER.

Boots and Shoes Manufactured to Measure.

REPAIRING NEATLY DONE AT SHORT NOTICE.

Dealer in Sewing Machines and Supplies.

Machines to rent or sold on monthly payments.

F. M. EAGER, PALMER.

GET OUTSIDE SOME GLASSES OF THAT ICE COLD SODA.

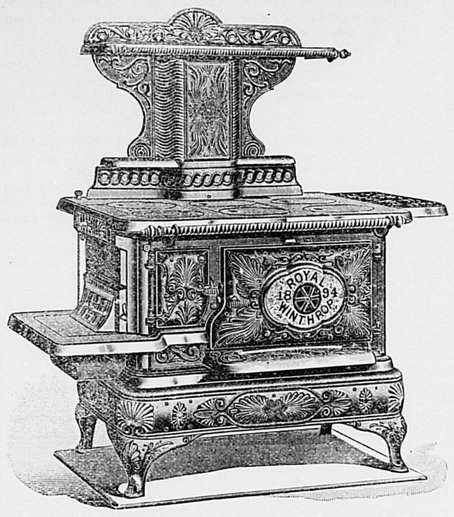
You will realize that there is some good left in life after all, and something to look forward to when you have had one glass, you will want another, and still another—sometime at least. So much for the pleasure of life. The necessities you will find amongst our things, and medicines to dispose of that disagreeable feeling which may be worse to-morrow if neglected. For all of which call at

ALLEN'S DRUG STORE,
Holden's Block, Palmer.

C. H. HOBBY, PIANO TUNER.

Orders for tuning may be left at O. P. Allen's drug store, Palmer; or may be sent to me by mail to Mansfield, Ct.

We sell the ROYAL WINTHROP GRAND.
Also the HERALD B RANGE, the two BEST STOVES made.



Shaw Brothers, Three Rivers.

Your credit is good---

Don't wonder if this means you. 'Cause it does. It means everybody who wants furniture, carpets, mattings, stoves or ranges, crockeryware, bedwear, baby carriages, or anything else in our line.

And the only requirement we make is that whatever terms of payment you agree to—you will live up to.

Have you ever noticed

how bright the handle of our front door is? Sapolio? Oh, no; just the ordinary usage of our trade.

TEETH

must be filled when decayed, and when beyond repair, extracted or crowned. For the past four years, at my office, by the aid of the only successful method discovered up to date, the "Hale," we have

FILLED TEETH WITHOUT PAIN IN EVERY CASE.

Others try to copy, but do they succeed? You know they don't. I know they can't.

By an application to the gum of a harmless preparation, we are able to extract without pain, fully 95 per cent of all cases of bad teeth.

Come to the largest, most complete and best dental office in Massachusetts.

Dr. William L. Roberts, Dentist,
COURT SQUARE THEATRE BUILDING, SPRINGFIELD.

FINEST ROAD-BED ON THE CONTINENT.

BOSTON & ALBANY RAILROAD.

Only Double-Track Route to the West.

ON AND AFTER DEC. 2, 1895.

Through Trains will leave Boston as follows:

No. 7.—Day Express.
8.30 a. m.—Daily, except Sunday. Has Wagner buffet drawing-room car Boston to Albany, there connecting with through cars to all points West. Stops at Palmer 10.53 a. m.

No. 15.—Chicago Special.
10.30 a. m.—Daily. The finest train running in New England. A solid vestibuled Wagner train, comprising buffet, library and smoking car, sleeping cars and dining car Boston to Chicago, via the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern R. R., and also via Michigan Central R. R.

No. 19.—North Shore Limited.
2.00 p. m.—Daily. Has through vestibuled buffet sleeping cars Boston to Detroit and Chicago, via Michigan Central R. R. Dining car attached at Albany.

No. 23.—Cincinnati Express.
3.00 p. m.—Daily. Has through vestibuled buffet sleeping car Boston to Chicago via Lake Shore and Michigan Southern R. R., and to St. Louis and Cincinnati via Big Four Route. Stops at Palmer 5.20 p. m.

No. 9.—Pacific Express.
7.15 p. m.—Daily. Has through sleeping cars Boston to Chicago, via Michigan Central. Sleeping car Boston to Buffalo, parlor car Buffalo to Cleveland, sleeping car Cleveland to Chicago via Lake Shore & Michigan Southern.

No. 63.—Albany Express.
11.00 p. m.—Daily, except Saturday. Has sleeping car Boston to Albany. Stops at Palmer 1.46 a. m.

TRAINS LEAVE PALMER FOR BOSTON.

6.22 a. m.	Accommodation.
7.32	"
8.25	"	Daily Express.
10.00	"	Express, except Sunday.
11.42	"	Accommodation.
1.40 p. m.	Express.
3.12	"
4.42	"	Accommodation.
6.40	"	Daily Express.
7.55	"	Sundays only. Express.
9.03	"	Express.

Time tables showing local and through service between all Stations, may be obtained at all ticket offices of this Company.
City Office, 366 Washington Street.
Station, Kneeland Street, Boston, Mass.
52-32 A. S. HANSON, Gen. Passenger Agent.

CENTRAL VERMONT RAILROAD.
NEW LONDON DIVISION.
TAKING EFFECT DECEMBER 22, 1895.
TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

Leave Brattleboro, 5.40 and 10.30 a. m. and 4.25 p. m. for New London, connecting at Millers Falls with Fitchburg R. R., at Belchertown with Central Massachusetts R. R. and at Palmer with B. & A. R. R. for Worcester, Boston, Springfield, at New London with the N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R.
Leave Amherst, 7.05 a. m., 12.13 and 5.57 p. m.
Leave Palmer, 8.25 a. m., 1.50 and 7.00 p. m.
Leave Willimantic for New London, 8.25, 9.45 a. m. 3.25, 6.40 and 8.20 p. m.

GOING NORTH.

Leave New London, 5.20 and 7.40 a m, and 2.30 p. m.
The 5.20 and 7.40 a. m. and 2.30 p. m. run through to Brattleboro and make connections for the north.
Leave New London for Willimantic and intermediate stations, 10.00 a. m. and 5.25 p. m.
Leave Palmer for Brattleboro, 8.20, 11.00 a. m. and 7.10 p. m. connecting with express for Montreal. Also with Grand Trunk R. R. for the West.
Leave Palmer for Amherst, 8.20 and 11.00 a. m. and 7.10 p. m.

SUBJECT TO CHANGE WITHOUT NOTICE.

D. MACKENZIE, Supt. J. A. SOUTHARD, D. P. A.
New London, Ct.
S. W. CUMMINGS, G. P. A., St. Albans.

BOSTON & MAINE R. R.
SOUTHERN DIVISION
(CENTRAL MASSACHUSETTS)
CORRECTED TO OCTOBER 6, 1895.
TRAINS LEAVE WARE:
GOING EAST

FOR Boston—6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14, p. m Sundays 6.55 a. m.
RETURNING—leave Boston 8.45 a. m.; 1.30, 4.00 p. m. Sundays, 1.30 p. m.
FOR Worcester—6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14 p. m. Sundays, 6.55 a. m.
RETURNING—leave Worcester 9.15 a. m.; 2.25, 4.58 p. m.
FOR Oakdale, Hudson and Waltham—6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14 p. m. Sundays, 6.55 a. m.
FOR Gilbertville, Barre and Coldbrook - 6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14 p. m. Sundays, 6.55 a. m.

GOING WEST

FOR Bondsville, Belchertown, Pansy Park, Amherst, Hadley and Northampton, 7.15, 11.24 a. m., 4.28, 6.47 p. m. Sundays, 4.35 p. m.
RETURNING—leave Northampton 5.55, 8.00 a. m., 2.15, 6.10 p. m. Sundays, 5.55 a. m.

D. J. FLANDERS, Gen'l. Pass'r. Agt.
W. F. BERRY Gen'l Mgr.

EYES EXAMINED FREE.

Dr. Vineberg, Refraction Specialist,

wishes to inform sufferers of headache or nervous complaints arising from defective vision, can be cured by having glasses properly fitted to the eyes.

247 Main Street, - Springfield, Mass.

Young mothers dread the summer months on account of the great mortality among children caused by bowel troubles. Perfect safety may be assured those who keep on hand DeWitt's Colic and Cholera cure, and administer it promptly. For cramps, bilious colic, dysentery and diarrhoea, it affords instant relief. LeGro & Lynde.

It cures from head to foot.

Puritana

Trade Mark

PRIZE FORMULA OF Prof. Dixi Crosby, M.D., LL.D. DARTMOUTH COLLEGE

Registered.

Nature's Cure

Improper digestion causes over 92% of all suffering and diseases of the Blood, Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Nerves, Brain or Skin. Puritana renews and strengthens the of the human system, the Stomach. It makes the health right, because it makes the Stomach right.

Power Producer

It brings New Blood, New Nerve Force, New Strength, New Life.

If you are a sufferer, get of your druggist this great disease-conquering discovery (the price is $1 for the complete treatment, consisting of one bottle of Puritana, one bottle of Puritana Pills, and one bottle of Puritana Tablets, all inclosed in one package), or write to the undersigned, and you will bless the day when you heard of Puritana. The Puritana Compound Co., Concord, N. H.

There is fun in the foam, and health in the cup of HIRES Rootbeer—the great temperance drink.

Made only by The Charles E. Hires Co., Philadelphia.
A 15c. package makes 5 gallons. Sold everywhere.

For Your Protection

we positively state that this remedy does not contain mercury or any other injurious drug.

NASAL CATARRH

is a local disease and is the result of colds and sudden climatic changes.

ELY'S CREAM BALM

opens and cleanses the nasal passages, allays pain and inflammation, heals the sores, protects the membrane from colds, restores the senses of ta te and smell. The balm is quickly absorbed and gives relief at once. Price 50c at druggists or by mail.

ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren St., New York.

German-American Investment Co.
FOUNDED 1892.
52 Wall Street, New York.
(Under supervision of Banking Department of the State of New York.)

Authorized capital, - - - $1000,000
Paid up capital, - - - $200,000

Letters of credit, checks and drafts on foreign countries at cheaper rates.
SPECIALTY—Cable transfers and all other money transactions with Germany and Austria-Hungary.
Foreign money, bank notes, bonds, bought and sold.
Bankers wanted as agents in various town.

A. L. Wooster, a prominent citizen of Osseo Mich., after suffering excruciatingly from piles for twenty years, was cured in a short time by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, an absolute cure for all skin diseases. More of this preparation is used than all others combined. LeGro & Lynde.

Buy your WALL PAPER By mail
AT WHOLESALE PRICES.

100 samples free. { New designs 3c and up / Elegant gilts 5c " " / Borders same low rates. / Send 8c for postage; deduct when ordering. } Warranted to suit or money refunded.

Liberal discounts to clubs and agents.
F. H. Cady, 865 Westm'r St. Prov. R. I.

HINDERCORNS The only sure Cure for Corns. Stops all pain. Makes walking easy. 15c. at Druggists.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp disease & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists

If you are CONSUMPTIVE or have Indigestion, Painful ills or Debility of any kind use PARKER'S GINGER TONIC. Many who were hopeless and discouraged have regained health by its use.

SALESMEN

Wanted to Take Orders for nursery stock. Salary or commission to reliable men. Cash advanced for expenses. First-class reference required.

The R. G. CHASE CO., Malden, Mass.

Some of My Country Kin.

(Here are some of my country kin
Come to visit me!) Walk right in!
I know you have journeyed many a mile,
Take off your bonnets and rest awhile!

(What funny old-fashioned bonnets there are!
But I wouldn't tell them so for a star.)
How lovely you look, and how sweet you smell!
What have you come to ask, or to tell?

Indeed? That's news! (I must make a note
Of all they say for some poet to quote.)
"The young Lord April and Lady May
Met in the woods and kissed to-day.

"A mocking-bird heard the kiss and made
A song just like it, so it is said;
And listening to that tell tale bird
The sap in the oldest tree was stirred.

"The naked boughs into green leaves slipped—
The longing buds unto flowers tripped—
The little hills smiled as if they were glad,
The little rills ran as if they were mad.

"There was green on the earth and blue in the sky—
The chrysalis changed to a butterfly,
And our lovers, the honey-bees, all a-hum,
To hunt for our hearts began to come.

"All the woods are a-thrill with life and love,
From the proud old oak to the cooing dove—
And all because of that tell-tale bird
Who set to music the kiss he heard."

—Outing.

THE DUKE'S VENDETTA.

I.

Over the scene hangs a deep, star-studded sky.

It is midnight in Venice.

On the balcony of a magnificent ducal palace on the waters of the Adriatic sits the Countess Ginccioli. By her side is Pete Skidmore, the talented young American painter. The brilliant but soft light of an Italian moon floods the marble steps of the palace and the crystal sea where shadowy gondolas wind in and out like the mazy figures in some half-remembered dream.

"Do you love me?" asks the countess, in low, overripe tones.

"Easy," says Pete, kissing her jeweled hand.

As he speaks a black gondola glides past, and something is thrown and falls at the feet of the countess.

"Corpo di Baccho!" she exclaims. "It is a vendetta!"

The gondola glides past again, and some one in it hisses some words in Italian through his clenched teeth.

"That must be a steamboat," says Pete, "and the escape valve is out of order."

"It is the Duke Rivoli," says the countess. "He loves me to distraction. You must fly."

"Why?"

"He has declared a vendetta."

"What's that? Anything like a dividend?"

"Do not jest. Fly, oh fly, ere it is too late. One kiss, and then farewell."

As Pete Skidmore kisses the countess another prolonged hissing sound comes from the gondola. Pete looks up at the summit of Mt. Vesuvius in the distance.

"Sounds like we were going to have another eruption," he mutters to himself.

Pete then puts on his shoes and goes back to the palace where he boards.

II.

It was 20 minutes to 6 o'clock in Texas.

Pete Skidmore has finished his art studies in Venice and has returned to Houston. He has risen early, and, to oblige an old friend, is painting a barn a dark red color for $4, one-half in advance.

He often sighs when he thinks of Venice and the dark, languishing eyes of the Countess Ginccioli, and through his head runs the refrain of a song she used to sing:—

"Barcipa setta muppa ganon me."

Suddenly the ladder is jerked from under him, and he falls into a bucket of paint.

He colors quickly and rises to his feet.

The Duke di Rivoli stands before him.

"Zis ees ze vendetta to ze death!" hisses the duke between his clenched teeth. "I have come to keel you."

"What for?" asks Pete.

"R-r-r-r-r-evenge!!" says the duke.

"For what?" asks Pete.

"I married ze countess!"

III.

Moonlight on the Adriatic.

The Duchess Rivoli, nee Ginccioli, waits upon the balcony. A gondola glides to the steps and the Duke di Rivoli springs out.

The duchess hastens to meet him.

"Did you kill him?" she whispers.

"I did not."

"What! Did you fail in your mission? Is it possible that a Rivoli could declare a vendetta and then let it go to protest?"

"Peace, Fiamette," says the duke. "I do not deserve your reproaches."

"What did you do to him?"

"I left him running a weekly newspaper in Texas."

The duchess sinks down, covers her face with her hands and shudders violently.

"Oh, Luigi!" she sobs. "Revenge is all right, but was there any need to be so inhuman? You should have killed him."

NOT A BARBER.—When the professor came into the club yesterday afternoon his erudite countenance was ornamented at several points with sticking plaster, and there was a general inquiry among his friends as to what was the matter. "Razor," said the professor, briefly. "Great Ceasar! where did you get shaved?" asked young Rounder, sympathetically.

"It's a strange thing," said the professor. "I was shaved this morning by a man who really is, I suppose, a little above being a barber. I know of my own knowledge that he is an alumnus of one of the leading American colleges; that he studied in Heidelberge afterwards, and spent several years in other foreign educational centers. I know, also of my own knowledge, that he has contributed scientific articles to our best magazines, and has numbered among his intimate friends men of the highest social and scientific standing in Europe and America. And yet," soliloquized the professor, "he can't shave a man decently."

"By Jove!" exclaimed young Rounder, in astonishment. "What is he a barber for with all those accomplishments?"

"Oh, he isn't a barber," said the professor, yawning. "You see I shaved myself this morning."—New York Journal.

She—"Will we go housekeeping when we are married?" He—"Yes, in a flat." She—"Oh, won't that be romantic? You can protect me from the janitor."—Pittsburg Telegraph.

Two Lives Saved.

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had consumption and that there was no help for her, but two bottles Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida St., San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried without result everything else, then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in coughs and colds. Free trial bottles of LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

Old People.

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find the true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whisky nor other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alterative. It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding Nature in the performances of the functions. Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old people find it just exactly what they need. Price fifty cents per bottle of LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

THE BEST SALVE in the world for cuts bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

A MISSIONARY RIDES A BICYCLE.

The following extract is from a letter recently received by Rev. H. A. Schauffler from his daughter, who is a missionary in Persia: "Mr. Allen, the superintendent of the industrial department, has gone to America to learn something more of the iron trade, as an iron department is to be added to the shop. He started off on his bicycle, and expected to ride to Batoum, on the Black sea, stop at Samsoon and run up to Marsovan on his wheel to see the training school there and take the steamer to Marseilles and run across France, making the journey as cheap as possible.

"In August he took a tour to the southern part of our field on his wheel. He would leave the horsemen who accompanied him away behind him, and rode most of the way alone. Everywhere he was an object of the greatest wonder and excitement. Some said that it was the cholera come again. He would get to a village and the whole place would gather to see him. He would have to give an exhibition, and finally end up in some open place, where the native helper who accompanied him would be ready to hold a service. The congregation was there, with no ringing of bells, except the bicycle bell.

"Mr. Allen says that in this way villages were opened up where never before had the gospel message been allowed to enter. But sometimes he got into trouble, and at one place such a mob surrounded him that he had to get out of that village at the very earliest opportunity. One day he was riding along alone when he saw a horseman ahead of him, who stopped and stared with all his might at this strange apparition. Then the man drew out a cartridge and slipped it into his gun, at which Mr. Allen jumped off his wheel with the greatest alacrity, and called out: 'Don't shoot—I'm a man!'"

Dangerous Drugs.

Avoid the use of white or pink headache powders, they contain dangerous drugs. Taylor's Anti-Headache Powders are brown; they look like ground coffee and they have a delightful aromatic taste. Try them once and you will never be without them. Get them of LeGro & Lynde.

"The kind Dame makes his Biscuits with."
PURE, STRONG, RELIABLE.
Is the verdict arrived at by Chemical Analysis of

BOSS BAKING POWDER

Economy, Health and Satisfactory Results attend its use.

MANUFACTURED BY
C. D. BOSS & SON, New London, Conn.

Palmer Savings Bank,
Palmer, Mass.
Hours from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m.

President,
H. G. LOOMIS.
Vice Presidents,
C. H. HOBBS. H. P. HOLDEN. C. F. GROSVENOR.
Secretary,
WM. W. LEACH.
Treasurer,
H. W. MCGREGORY.
Trustees,

James B. Shaw,	E. G. Hastings,	C. H. Hobbs,
George Moores,	R. C. Newell,	Geo. E. Buck,
H. G. Loomis,	F. F. Marcy,	A. L. Hills,
T. D. Potter,	H. Wald,	Wm. Holbrook,
H. P. Holden,	Wm. W. Leach,	C. F. Grosvenor,
Jas. S. Loomis,	C. L. Gardner,	H. W. McGregory

Board of Investment,
Geo. Moores, H. G. Loomis, E. G. Hastings, C. H. Hobbs, James B. Shaw.
Auditors,
Wm. W. Leach, C. F. Grosvenor.

Did you ever think how readily the blood is poisoned by constipation? Bad blood means bad health and premature old age. DeWitt's Little early Risers, the famous little pills, overcomes obstinate constipation. LeGro & Lynde

The Palmer Journal.

VOLUME XLVII. PALMER, MASS., FRIDAY EVENING, MAY 15, 1896. NUMBER 7.

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY EVENING
—BY—
C. B. FISKE & CO.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.—Two dollars a year. A discount of 25 cents to those who pay in advance. Six months, $1.00; three months, 50 cents; single copies, 4cents.

ADVERTISING RATES.—One inch (or twelve lines of this type solid) 75 cents for the first insertion, 25 cents for the second, 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. Short advertisements, "Wanted," "To Let," etc., one cent a word for the first insertion, one-half cent a word each subsequent insertion, cash; no charge less than 25 cents. Notices in local column, 15 cents per line. Liberal rates to yearly advertisers.

JOB PRINTING of all kinds executed in the best styles, promptly and at reasonable rates.

C. B. FISKE. L. E. CHANDLER.

[Entered at Post Office as second class matter.]

LOCAL BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

PALMER.

ALLEN, O. P., Wholesale and Retail Druggist and Bookseller.

BARTON, F. D., Dealer in Watches, Clocks and Jewelry, Main street.

BILLS, G. A., Fresh and Salt Beef, Pork, Ham, Lard, Tripe, etc.

BROOKS, EDWIN E., Graduate Optician. With E. S. Brooks, Jeweler, Main street.

BROOKS, E. S., Dealer in Watches, Clocks, Jewelry, Solid Silver and Plated Ware, Main street.

BROWN, C. A. & CO., Hardware, Furnaces, Stoves, Ranges, Paints, Oils and Glass.

BROWN, S. H., Trucking, Light Jobbing, Piano Moving. Order box cor. Main and Walnut streets. Orders can also be left at J. F. Foley's store.

CARPENTER, Mrs. L. E., Millinery and Fancy Goods. Also dealer in Human Hair Goods.

CHANDLER BROS., Bicycles.

CLARK & HASTINGS, Wholesale Dealers in Armour & Co's. Dressed Beef, Provisions, Main St.

EAGER, F. M., Boot and Shoe Manufacturer to Order, and dealer in Leather and Findings.

FISKE, C. B. & CO., Publishers PALMER JOURNAL and WARE STANDARD. Fine Book and Job Printers and Bookbinders.

FITCH, A. E., Law and Insurance, Savings Bank Block.

FRANCIS, R. B., Iron Foundry and Machine Shop.

GAMWELL, C. K., Ready made Clothing, Hats, Caps, Gent's Furnishings, etc.

GARDNER, CHAS. L., Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Church street.

GOODES, E., Palmer Boot and Shoe Store, corner Main and Thorndike streets.

HAMILTON, J. A., Dealer in all kinds of Coal, Wood, Grain, Flour, Baled Hay and Straw. Fertilizers and Stock Food. Main street.

HOLBROOK, C. D., Flour, Grain, Feed and Masons' Supplies, Main street.

HOLBROOK, J. F., Dealer in all kinds of Coal. Agent for National and White Star line of steamers. Drafts on Foreign Banks at lowest rates.

LEACH, W. W., Attorney at Law.

LEGRO & LYNDE, Druggists and Newsdealers, Paper Hangings, Shades, Lamps and Fixtures.

MARCY, F. F., Dealer in Lumber, Shingles, etc., wholesale and retail. West of B. & A. R.R. depot.

MARCY, OSCAR C., Livery and Feed Stable, rear of Converse House.

PALMER WATER CO., Office, Lawrence Block. Office hours to October 1, from 8.30 to 10 a. m., from 2 to 3 p. m.

SHAW, J. B., Dealer in Dry Goods, Groceries, etc. Opposite the depot.

WHITE, C. W., Marble and Granite Works. No. 1 Thorndike street.

WOOLRICH & CO., Manufacturers of Ridge's Food, Thorndike street.

THORNDIKE.

ADAMS, A. P., Druggist, Toilet Articles, Confectionery and Cigars.

BONDSVILLE.

HOLDEN, C. L., Dry Goods, Groceries, Clothing Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps, etc.

MORIARTY, M., Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots Shoes, Coal. Agt White Star and Anchor S S Co's

WARE.

ALBERTINE, J. A. Choice Fruits, Tobaccos, Cigars and Confectionery. Low Prices

DAVIS INSURANCE AGENCY represents the best companies and gives lowest rates.

DWIGHT, R. N., Harness, Horse Saddlery, Hardware. Repairing a Specialty. Next to Bank.

EDDY, C. W. Job and Fine Art Printer.

EDDY, MISS MATIE K. Teacher of Oil Painting and Crayon. Sketching or Art Work completed to order.

ELDREDGE, A. HENRY. Sign Painter. Carriages painted in the best manner. West Street.

HARLOW, A. B. Photographer. Instantaneous process only. Opposite the Bank.

HOSMER, F. N. Clothier. Hats, Caps, Gents' Furnishing Good, etc. Sanford's Block.

MARSH, F. E. Gold, Silver and Nickel Plater. Replating tableware a specialty. 7 Bank street.

PRIEST, J. E. Ware Steam Laundry. Carpet cleaning. Office at H. M. Clark's.

RICHARDSON, A. F. Dealer in Boots, Shoes and Rubbers of all kinds. Sagendorph's Block.

ROBINSON, JOHN F. Furniture, Sewing Machines, Pictures, Hardware, Paints and Farming Tools.

SIBLEY, J. B. Hardware, Tools, Agricultural Implements, Paints, Oils and Artists' materials.

SMITH, G. H. W. Jeweler. Watches, Clocks and Spectacles. Repairing in the best manner.

SULLIVAN & STRONG, Ware Coöperative Laundry. Fine Work and Carpet Cleaning. Office, 50 Main Street.

TURNER, H. H. Bookseller and Stationer, and dealer in Paper Hangings, Musical Instruments and Sheet Music.

MONSON.

GROUT, GEO. E. Dealer in Watches Clocks, Jewelry, etc. Towne's Block.

NEWTON, GEO. H., Law Office, Notary Public, Insurance, etc., near Gage's store.

SQUIER & CO., Dealers in Grain, Feed, Hay, Straw, Lumber, Shingles and Building Material.

WARREN.

KELLEY, W. H., Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Quaboag Block, Warren, Mass.

SOCIETY DIRECTORY.

MONSON.

MT. ELLA LODGE, No. 184, A. O. U. W.
Meets first and third Tuesdays of each month in A. O. U. W. Hall, Monson.
FISK G. ROGERS, M. W., F. J. ENTWISTLE, Rec.

SEE
THE NICE

BICYCLE

$50

will buy, with all the latest improvements, including

LARGE TUBING,
BARREL HUB,
PATENT OILERS,
NARROW TREAD,
COMBINATION PEDAL,
ETC., ETC., ETC.

◆◆◆◆◆

E. A. Buck & Co.,

Cross Block,
PALMER.

CARPET CLEANING.

Having put in machinery for cleaning carpets by the method of beating, brushing and airing, I am now ready to receive orders. Special attention paid to taking up and relaying carpets; orders by mail promptly attended to. Carpets called for and delivered free of charge.

26-52 GEO. B. KENERSON, Park St., Palmer.

FINEST ROAD-BED ON THE CONTINENT.

BOSTON & ALBANY RAILROAD.

Only Double-Track Route to the West.

ON AND AFTER DEC. 2, 1895.
Through Trains will Leave Boston as follows:

No. 7.—Day Express.

8:30 a. m.—Daily, except Sunday. Has Wagner buffet drawing-room car Boston to Albany, there connecting with through cars to all points West. Stops at Palmer 10.53 a. m.

No. 15.—Chicago Special.

10:30 a. m.—Daily. The finest train running in New England. A solid vestibuled Wagner train, comprising buffet, library and smoking car, sleeping cars and dining car Boston to Chicago, via the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern R. R., and also via Michigan Central R. R.

No. 19.—North Shore Limited.

2:00 p. m.—Daily. Has through vestibuled buffet sleeping cars Boston to Detroit and Chicago, via Michigan Central R. R. Dining car attached at Albany.

No. 23.—Cincinnati Express.

3:00 p. m.—Daily. Has through vestibuled buffet sleeping car Boston to Chicago via Lake Shore and Michigan Southern R. R., and to St. Louis and Cincinnati via Big Four Route. Stops at Palmer 5:20 p. m.

No. 9.—Pacific Express.

7:15 p. m.—Daily. Has through sleeping cars Boston to Chicago, via Michigan Central. Sleeping car Boston to Buffalo, parlor car Buffalo to Cleveland, sleeping car Cleveland to Chicago via Lake Shore & Michigan Southern.

No. 63.—Albany Express.

11:00 p. m.—Daily, except Saturday. Has sleeping car Boston to Albany. Stops at Palmer 1.46 a. m.

TRAINS LEAVE PALMER FOR BOSTON.

6 22 a. m. Accommodation.
7.32 " "
8.25 " Daily Express.
10.00 " Express, except Sunday.
11.42 " Accommodation.
1.40 p. m. Express.
3.12 " "
4 42 " Accommodation.
6.49 " Daily Express.
7.55 " Sundays only. Express.
9.03 " Express.

Time tables showing local and through service between all Stations, may be obtained at all ticket offices of this Company.
City Office, 366 Washington Street.
Station, Kneeland Street, Boston, Mass.
52-32 A. S. HANSON, Gen. Passenger Agent.

CENTRAL VERMONT RAILROAD.

NEW LONDON DIVISION.

TAKING EFFECT DECEMBER 22, 1895.

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

Leave Brattleboro, 5.40 and 10.30 a. m. and 4.25 p. m. for New London, connecting at Millers Falls with Fitchburg R. R., at Belchertown with Central Massachusetts R. R., and at Palmer with N. & A. R. R. for Worcester, Boston, Springfield, at New London with the N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R.
Leave Amherst, 7.05 a. m., 12.13 and 5.57 p. m.
Leave Palmer, 8.25 a. m., 1.50 and 7.00 p. m.
Leave Willimantic for New London, 8.25, 9.45 a. m. 3.25, 6.40 and 8.20 p. m.

GOING NORTH.

Leave New London, 5.20 and 7.40 a m, and 2.30 p. m.
The 5.20 and 7.40 a. m. and 2.30 p. m. run through to Brattleboro and make connections for the north.
Leave New London for Willimantic and intermediate stations, 10.00 a. m. and 5.25 p. m.
Leave Palmer for Brattleboro, 8.20, 11.00 a. m. and 7.10 p. m, connecting with express for Montreal. Also with Grand Trunk R. R. for the West.
Leave Palmer for Amherst, 8.20 and 11.00 a. m. and 7.10 p. m.

SUBJECT TO CHANGE WITHOUT NOTICE.

D. MACKENZIE, Supt. J. A. SOUTHARD, D. P. A. New London, Ct.
S. W. CUMMINGS, G. P. A., St. Albans.

BOSTON & MAINE R. R.

SOUTHERN DIVISION
(CENTRAL MASSACHUSETTS)
CORRECTED TO OCTOBER 6, 1895.

TRAINS LEAVE WARE:

GOING EAST

FOR Boston—6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14, p. m Sundays 6.55 a. m.
RETURNING—leave Boston 8.45 a. m.; 1.30, 4.00 p. m. Sundays, 1.30 p. m.
FOR Worcester—6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14 p. m. Sundays, 6.55 a. m.
RETURNING—leave Worcester 9.15 a. m.; 2.25, 4.58 p. m.
FOR Oakdale, Hudson and Waltham—6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14 p. m. Sundays, 6.55 a. m.
FOR Gilbertville, Barre and Coldbrook—6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14 p. m. Sundays, 6.55 a. m.

GOING WEST

FOR Bondsville, Belchertown, Pansy Park, Amherst, Hadley and Northampton, 7.15, 11.24 a. m., 4.28, 6.47 p. m. Sundays, 4.35 p. m.
RETURNING—leave Northampton 5.55, 8.00 a. m., 2.15, 6.10 p. m. Sundays, 5.55 a. m.

D. J. FLANDERS, Gen'l. Pass'r. Agt.
W. F. BERRY Gen'l Mgr.

Young mothers dread the summer months on account of the great mortality among children caused by bowel troubles. Perfect safety may be assured those who keep on hand DeWitt's Colic and Cholera cure, and administer it promptly. For cramps, bilious colic, dysentery and diarrhoea, it affords instant relief. LeGro & Lynde.

A Man With X Ray Eyes.

A Phenomenon of Nature in Springfield.

"There are many more things in Heaven and earth Horatio, than are dreamt of in your philosophy."

There is in Springfield to-day a man of modest demeanor who makes no pretensions to greatness, but who possesses the most wonderful gift of second sight and the power to penetrate beyond the veil that hitherto has proved impenetrable to science and baffled the hypothetical powers of divination. Prof. A. J. Salisbury has been a resident of Springfield for some time past, during which he has demonstrated in thousands of cases his infallible skill in correctly diagnosing cases that have baffled the skill and thwarted the effort of the best medical practioners of the old school. All to him through the intricacies and complications of diseases are clearly revealed to him through his wonderful occult powers of vision, no matter where in one's anatomy the seeds of disease may lurk, they are clearly revealed and accurately located by Prof. Salisbury without asking the patient a single question. On this fact hinges the success of the Springfield Magnetic Institute. Prof. Salisbury tells the people every pain and ache, and tells you how you feel better than you can yourself, and it stands to reason that the cure is half performed when you are sure you know what your ailments are. After Prof. Salisbury reads your disease, then F. W. Mappherson, M. D., a man of years of experience gives you the medicines for the disease you suffer from, and if possible a cure is speedily effected. And the Springfield Magnetic Institute has justly earned the title—the place where sick people are made well.

Office hours 1 to 6 and 7 to 9 p. m. except Tuesday and Thursday evenings. No office hours on Sunday.

Remember the place, 394 Main Street.

Room 12, (over Forbes & Wallace's,)
SPRINGFIELD, - - - - MASS.

For the bath.

Soaps, sponges, brushes, toilet waters and powders, sea salt, etc.

Proper bathing is a luxury. The things cost but little if bought of us.

LeGRO & LYNDE,

Next to Post Office,
PALMER.

FINE STATIONERY.

Many ladies are troubled to find just the size, shade or weight of correspondence paper which they would like. With some thing like

200 VARIETIES

To select from we ought to be able to please you. Any style of paper in any size or shape, and you may have 100 sheets or 1000, as you prefer. We'd be pleased to show you samples at the JOURNAL Office. Your monogram or initials embossed in color if desired.

We are Leaders

in the matter of dry goods. We take nobody's dust. If you want fine stuff we are in line with you. If you want the right price, come here. We drive rough shod over all so-called standard of values, and see you and sell you goods as we buy them ourselves—at the least possible penny that the market will permit. ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴

LADIES' COTTON UNDERWEAR.

Ladies' white skirts, from 35c to $1.50
" night robes, " 39c to $1.50
" corset covers " 12 1-2c to 49c
" ribbed vests, " 12 1-2c to 39c

LADIES' SHIRT WAISTS

in endless variety, 50c to $1.59
Ladies' belts, all styles, 25c to 50c
" belt pins, 10 to 15c
" shirt waist sets, 15c to 50c

LADIES' BLACK HOSE.

Fast black, drop stitch and plain, 12 1-2c to 50c
" " white feet, 40 gauge, 25c

SUMMER CORSETS.

We have without doubt the best in the market at 50c.

LADIES' WRAPPERS.

Full size, good stock, 89c to $2.25
Ladies' bow and teck ties, 15c to 25c
" leather bags, 25c

USEFUL THINGS AT SPRING CLEANING.

At 5 Cents.

250 tacks.
1 tack hammer.
3 picture knobs.
36 moth balls.
3 picture hooks.
1 box nails.
1 towel rack.
1 flue stopper.
1 large drinking cup.
1 tack puller.
1 trowel.
1 garden fork.
1 soap dish.
pot lids, all sizes.
pie plates, all sizes.
stamped pans, all sizes.
door bolt.
1 lemonade glass.
1 cream pitcher.
salt and pepper shakes.

At 10 cents.

1 bottle ammonia.
1 bottle witch hazel.
1 towel rack.
1 whitewash brush.
1 large screw driver.
1 large hammer.
1 two-quart tea pot.
1 two-quart coffee pot.
1 Dover egg beater.
1 wire dish drainer.
1 knife box.
1 cork screw.
1 dust pan.
1 flour sifter.
1 ten-quart milk pan.
1 wash dish.
1 iron drip pan.
1 fry pan.

WINDOW SHADES.

Good quality Holland, fittings complete, 25c, 29c.
Deep fringe, 37c

WINDOW SCREENS.

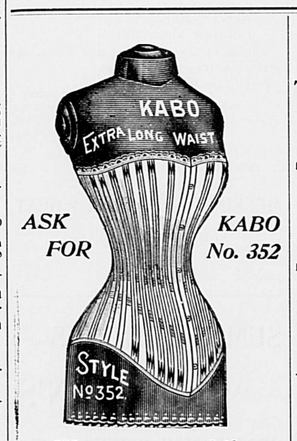
18x27 extends to 34, 25c
24x27 extends to 34, 33c

SUNDRIES.

Garden seeds, 3c a paper.
Carpet beaters, 10c each.
Machine oil, 5c bottle.
Steel hatchets, 33c each.
Feather dusters, 10c each.

T. H. TODD.

Main Street, - - Monson.



ASK FOR KABO No. 352

We recommend them, as they fit like a glove.
Price $1.00
For sale by D. L. BODFISH, Palmer.

There is one DRESS STAY that
Won't melt apart,
Can't cut through the dress,
Don't stay bent.
It is
BALL'S PEERLESS.
All lengths; all colors.

J. H. Rogers Carriage Co.,

MANUFACTURERS OF
Carriages,
AND DEALERS IN
Carriages of every description.

33 to 39 Sanford St., SPRINGFIELD.

We manufacture and carry in stock the finest line of carriages in New England. Come and look over our stock.

A FINE LINE OF SECOND HAND VEHICLES CONSTANTLY ON HAND . . . .

at very low prices.

A. L. Wooster, a prominent citizen of Osseo Mich., after suffering excruciatingly from piles for twenty years, was cured in a short time by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, an absolute cure for all skin diseases. More of this preparation is used than all others combined. LeGro & Lynde.

Palmer Savings Bank,

Palmer, Mass.

Hours from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m.

President,
H. G. LOOMIS.
Vice Presidents,
C. H. HOBBS. H. P. HOLDEN. C. F. GROSVENOR.
Secretary,
WM. W. LEACH.
Treasurer,
H. W. MCGREGORY.
Trustees,
James B. Shaw, E. G. Hastings, C. H. Hobbs, George Moores, R. C. Newell, Geo. E. Buck, H. G. Loomis, F. F. Marcy, A. L. Hills, T. D. Potter, H. Waid, Wm. Holbrook, H. P. Holden, Wm. W. Leach, C. F. Grosvenor, Jas. S. Loomis, C. L. Gardner, H. W. McGregory
Board of Investment,
Geo. Moores, H. G. Loomis, E. G. Hastings, C. H. Hobbs, James B. Shaw.
Auditors,
Wm. W. Leach, C. F. Grosvenor.

CARRIAGES.

I have in stock a large and complete line of fine and medium grade carriages.

Top carriages, - - $50 to $350
Open carriages, - - $40 to $200
150 second-hand carriages, $5 to $150
DELIVERY WAGONS OF ALL KINDS.
I have the right styles and low prices.

W. H. SMITH,

2 Park Street, Springfield.

TEETH. . .

Artificial teeth without plates. Teeth extracted without pain with local anaesthetic.
GAS ADMINISTERED.
Office hours from 8 to 12 a. m., 1 to 5.30 p. m.
OPEN EVENINGS.
Dr. O. P. ROLLER, D. D. S.,
Lawrence Block, Palmer, Mass.

Did you ever think how readily the blood is poisoned by constipation? Bad blood means bad health and premature old age. DeWitt's Little early Risers, the famous little pills, overcomes obstinate constipation. LeGro & Lynde.

POSTAL

Telegraph and Cable Co.

Office in Holden's Block,

PALMER, : : : : MASS.

Direct wires to New York and Boston. Office in all the principal cities in the

UNITED STATES.

PROMPT SERVICE.

REASONABLE RATES,

ALL BUSINESS

STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL

FOR COMFORT,
BUY A . . .
HOT WATER BAG,
At...LeGro & Lynde's, Druggists,
Next to Post Office, PALMER.

One minute is the standard time, and One Minute Cough Cure is the standard preparation for every form of cough or cold. It is the only harmless remedy that produces immediate results. LeGro & Lynde.

Nothing Like It. . . .

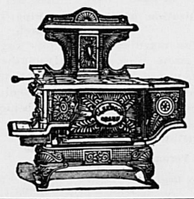
There is no stimulus in the world to equal a morning spin on the Rambler bicycle. It rides over and knocks down those twin brothers—Father time and age, strengthens the whole body, fills the lungs chock full of pure fresh air, throws every worry off the mind, leaving it better able to cope with the world. Its strength, ease and grace make it a perfect wheel. . . .

Moore, Holden's Block, Palmer.

ANY ONE CAN COOK WITH A

GLENWOOD RANGE

As it is fitted with a THERMOMETER attached to the oven door, that indicates the exact heat in the oven at all times.



For sale in all prominent cities and towns throughout New England.

MADE BY WEIR STOVE COMPANY, TAUNTON, MASS.

What you can buy FOR TEN DOLLARS.

ON SATURDAY CALL AT OUR STORE AND YOU WILL SEE THE BUSIEST ONE IN SPRINGFIELD. - - - - -

BUSY? Well, I should say so! Ten dollar suits that ARE BARGAINS, that is what we invite you to call and see. We'll gladly compare prices. We'll serve you willingly. We'll show you a constant flow of bargains, a perfect floodtide of buyers and satisfaction to your heart's content.

We'll give you a selection of suits at $10.00 never before shown in Western Massachusetts. - - - - - - - - - -

◆◆◆◆◆◆◆◆◆◆◆◆◆

Choice, Nobby, Stylish New Suits

in such well known fabrics as Sawyer, cassimeres, genuine Scotches, Irish tweeds, homespuns, English cheviots and clays, celebrated black worsted. The colors are blue, black, nut brown, gray, silk mixture, hair line stripes and neat light and dark effects.

WE'LL GIVE YOU JUST WHAT WE PROMISE.

'Tis a most comprehensive assortment of fine suits chosen for peculiar fitness, beauty and durability, which we sell at the very low margin of profit, looking to the minimus aggregation of sales resulting from our policy of large sales and small profits for one gain. 'Tis a preparation for your comfort and a saving for pocketbook. Come in and make yourself perfectly at home; we check your parcels and send your bundles home or to the depot.

. . . BUY SATURDAY OF . . .

MEIGS & CO.

CLOTHIERS, HATTERS, FURNISHERS.

383-385 Main Street, corner Harrison Avenue, SPRINGFIELD.

SMITH & MURRAY.

SPRINGFIELD.

Cotton Dress Goods.

Present conditions are as surprising to us as to you. That prices on pretty cottons should drop so far below the normal level right at the start of the season is a disappointment to all concerned—except to the retail buyer. And there's no reason why our public should not make freest use of the favorable turn.

This is how they go:

Linen batiste in stripe, polka dot and plaid effects, regular prices 37½c, 50c and 65c a yard.

All for 25c yard.

New figured dimities, were 10c,
now 6 1-4c a yard.

The 12½c lace stripe dimities, all the new, est effects,
now 8c a yard.

Ceylon and swivel silks, newest designs, were 50c,
now 25c a yard.

The 12½c figured pique suitings,
now 7c a yard.

Finest figured satines that sell for 25c,
now 12 1-2c a yard.

Rear of main store, right.

Easy-priced Dress Stuffs.

48-inch mozambique novelty, a most desirable fabric for spring and summer wear, in 7 new shades, $1.50, former price $2.

Silk and wool fancy novelty, 47 inches wide, in 4 choice designs, at $1.25.

54-inch Scotch mixture, new style and effect, at $1. Best former price $1.39.

Six handsome patterns in a wool and mohair novelty, very stylish, 44 inches wide, at $1.

40-inch mohair and worsted novelty, all new patterns, at 75c.

A large and choice line of silk and wool novelty suitings at 75c.

Court Square entrance.

SMITH & MURRAY.

SPRINGFIELD.

Good stock and the best of care

PRODUCES

A 1 milk and cream.

MAPLE LAWN MILK FARM,

O. D. Wells, Proprietor.

Life's Weaving.

We are weaving the thread of our life-webs,
Day by day;
And its colors are sometimes sombre,
Sometimes gay;
For we dye it with every passing thought,
And with words and deeds is the pattern wrought.

The pattern will grow into likeness
Of our creed;
If the thought be loving and tender,
Fair the deed,
It glows with a beauty rich and rare,
And its fadeless colors are passing fair.

But, alas! it is interwoven
Oft with sin;
And the sombre thread of an evil thought
Is woven in;
The pattern is marred as the shuttles fly,
And the colors fade as the days go by.

We are weaving our webs for eternity,
Day by day;
If we make the pattern beautiful—
As we may—
The Master-weaver will, one by one,
Test the glowing colors, and say, "Well done!"

Our weaving days will be over
By and by,
And the busy shuttles motionless
And silent lie;
God grant that each weaver may do his best,
That his finished fabric may stand the test!
—Edith Virginia Bradt, in Pittsburg Christian Advocate.

A NEATLY-PLANNED BURGLARY.

I had just reached my office after luncheon one miserable wet day last November, when a visitor was announced. "Mr. Engstrom," was inscribed on the card—a name quite unknown to me.

"Mr. De Warre?" said my visitor, a shrewd looking, well-groomed man, who apparently had not yet touched 40.

"That is my name," I answered. "Please take a seat, and tell me what I can do for you."

"I am in great trouble," said Mr. Engstrom. "We had burglars at our house in Lyndehurst, in the New Forest, the night before last. They broke in while we were at dinner, and several thousand pounds' worth of jewels are gone from my wife's bedroom. But what distresses us most is a valuable heir-loom, a pearl necklace of great value that has been in our family for 200 years, is among the plunder. The other jewelry we could bear to lose, but not this. To tell you the truth," he added with a smile, "I must own to being a little superstitious, and there is a legend in our family that this necklace was a gift to an ancestress of mine by Charles II, and whoever shall lose it, his days shall be very short and full of evil. It is said it was lost about the beginning of the century, and the legend came true. My wife is more superstitious than myself, and I am afraid, if it is not recovered, it may seriously affect her health. Of course the police have been at work, but I have not very much confidence in them, and up to the present they have discovered nothing. If you can aid me, I shall be very glad."

"I am willing to try, Mr. Engstrom, but perhaps you will give me some particulars of the affair?"

"I had better begin by giving you particulars of myself and family, I suppose."

"Yes, if you please; it is hard to say what may and what may not throw light on the matter."

"I am," said Mr. Engstrom, the decendant of an old landed family, who have lived in Hampshire for generations. We are not as wealthy as once we were, and I find employment for my time by being on the board of directors of several companies. I have been married only a short time, not quite a year, and we have been living very quietly. On Tuesday night, when the burglary occurred, there were only five of us at dinner. Besides my wife and myself, were the rector and his wife and Captain Olyer (the son of an old friend), whom I met lately in the city and invited down. He has been with us over a week, and leaves to join his regiment on Sunday.

"We had just reached dessert, and Captain Olyer was inquiring of the butler if Wisden (his man servant) had returned from London, when my wife's maid came in gasping, 'Oh, ma'am, your jewels is gone—robbers!' and sank fainting on the floor.

"'Good heavens!' I exclaimed, and we sprang up.

"'Let us search out of doors at once,' said the captain. 'Bring us a light, John,' he said to the butler, and rushed out. We followed him.

"It was quite dark, and we had not gone a dozen steps before he fell down.

"'Look out,' he cried, 'the brutes have laid wires. They have caught one foot at any rate,' he remarked as he got up.

"I went back for the light, and sure enough there were wires round that side of the house. The captain was holding his nose. He was but little hurt, he said, for, luckily, he had fallen on the grass. At the captain's suggestion I summoned two menservants.

"'One of you ride to the station,' he said, 'and have any suspicious stranger stopped, and ask them to telegraph to the stations each way. And you,' to the other, 'go for the police, quick. Meanwhile, if you have a lantern, Mr. Engstrom, we will search the neighborhood.'

"I found a lantern, and we searched the grounds and the surrounding roads.

"We found nothing, save a ladder under one of the windows, and a small broach the thieves had dropped. No suspicious looking person had been seen in the village or at the station, and the two policemen who came could do nothing beyond looking wise. I called at the police station this morning, but they have no clew, nor is it likely they will have one. All I have learned from them is that they believe two were engaged in the affair, from the footmarks."

"It will be too dark by the time we could reach Lyndehurst to investigate," I said, but I will come on by the first train in the morning."

"The train from Waterloo reaches Lyndehurst at 15 minutes past 10. If you come by that I will meet you at the station," said Mr. Engstrom. "It is about two miles to my house—the 'Beeches.'"

"I wish you to promise me one thing, not to mention the object of my visit. Call me a fellow director or anything you like."

I found Mr. Engstrom at the station the next morning with a dog-cart. I forebore to talk on the object of my visit save to ask one question,—

"Why did you keep such a valuable necklace at home, Mr. Engstrom?"

"I kept it in the Safe Deposit in Chancery Lane," he answered, "and only brought it home last Saturday because my wife wanted it at the Country ball to-morrow night."

I had some luncheon and a pleasant chat with my host and hostess, after which I asked permission to interview the servants. Unless I was greatly at fault in the present instance, the servants had nothing to do with the robbery. They gave me all the information they could, and spoke with genuine sorrow of the loss their employers had sustained, whom they evidently respected highly.

"Are your visitors in?" I asked Mr. Engstrom.

[CONTINUED ON FOURTH PAGE.]

AMONG THE FAIRIES.

HOW CARL THE GARDENER BECAME KING CHARLES.

IN THREE CHAPTERS.

[Copyright, 1896, by Walter B. Gould, Boston.]

CHAPTER II.

Having thus opened the first well, Carl went carefully forward to where he thought the next ought to be. Here he found what seemed to be a small valley in the sand, and this showed to him beyond a doubt that the second well could be more easily found and the sand more easily removed than from the first. It here took only a few days of digging to find plenty of water.

In the same way he dug the sand from the third well, and then with several of his best horses he went forward to the southern kingdom.

The people were very glad to see Carl, and took him without delay to see their king.

When he told the king that he had been sent by King William to find the old desert wells, the king was so much pleased that he then and there knighted Carl as the greatest hero of his time, and one who had done the greatest service for Southland.

The king not only gave to Carl every honor that was at his command, but by his own chief secretary sent to King William a special message which spoke in the highest terms of the young man who had, by his wisdom, care and patience reopened the wells.

A very rich caravan of most costly goods was also made up to go with Carl on his return. This was placed under the command of the chief secretary of the king of Southland, and Carl supposed that it was sent to Verneland as a beginning of trade.

Entering the southern kingdom.

When Carl arrived at King William's palace, the Princess Violet and the king were very anxious to see him, and also to know how he found the wells.

When King William saw the magnificent caravan, he said that this was the finest and richest one that had ever come from Southland.

Carl then introduced the chief secretary of the king of Southland, and what do you think? Why, the secretary began to talk just as a boy would speak a piece at school. He said that the people of Southland were so pleased at the reopening of the old caravan road that these goods had been sent to King William with the request that they might be presented to Carl Schmidt, the great explorer.

This was a great surprise to Carl, for he had already received all the honors which the Southland could give to any person living in any other country. Yet to these had now been added the richest caravan which had ever crossed the desert, and it had made him very wealthy.

After a royal banquet in honor of Carl's success he was told that another test awaited him, for which he was given four weeks to prepare.

Before the test he was told to read some records of the royal family and to keep his own counsel as to the news which he found.

Carl had often wondered why every one was forbidden to speak of the queen, and why she was never seen in the palace.

He now discovered that the queen had been enchanted into an ugly witch, and at the same time Violet's younger sister had been changed, so that, instead of being sweet tempered and loving, she was even more fierce and ugly than her mother.

The Prince of Southland, who was the most gallant and talented prince within a thousand leagues of Verneland, had been changed to a handsome, strong and vicious black horse, which could only be handled by the witch's daughter.

After Carl had found out all possible information as to the witch and her castle, he discovered that the cause of the enchantment of all three was the desire for too many things which they could not have. This made them ugly and jealous, so the wizard king of the desert found this his best chance to injure and as far as possible destroy the royal family. The wizard king made all haste to use his black arts and cast such a spell upon them that in two years the result had been as we have seen.

The witch and her daughter having enslaved many of the king's subjects must, as a matter of safety to the kingdom, be freed from the enchantment and returned to the king, and the Prince of Southland must be returned to his own country.

This was a great undertaking for Carl. Many had tried and failed, but as they had been made slaves of the witch, it was not known in the kingdom that they had been on this errand and had been unsuccessful.

At the appointed time, Carl riding the best horse in the kingdom, started out, and after journeying seven days came to a branch in the road where it was difficult to decide which way he should take.

At this point the fairy again met him and after giving him very careful direction and advice, sent him on his journey. First, however, she gave him a ring, which he could remove from his finger at any time he wished to see her, and, as the witch had poisoned all the wells near the castle and as the water which looked clearest and brighest was most dangerous, the fairy also gave him a cup from which to drink.

In drinking from this cup he would be perfectly safe and all the poison in the water would be destroyed.

Whenever Carl wished to become invisible, all he had to do was to rub the handle of the cup or rub it against his horse, when he and the horse would disappear from sight.

When he wished to be seen, he merely rubbed the other side of the cup or rubbed that against his horse, and there he was.

Carl rode for a few hours and was about to camp for the night when he saw a beautiful, dark haired, black eyed young lady who sat beside the road crying as if her heart would break.

[CONTINUED ON FOURTH PAGE.]

Of Interest to Women.

EDITED BY MISS F. V. DOANE.

Bacteriology.

Diseases. All contagious diseases and many that are not called contagious have been found to be caused by bacteria. The doctors call these diseases "germ diseases," and the bacteria they call "disease germs." Diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles, chickenpox, smallpox, tuberculosis or "old-fashioned consumption," and I suppose most skin diseases, like salt rheum, belong to this class.

Patients ill of a "germ disease" give off bacteria or "disease germs" from their systems; these "germs" are received into the system of a person in health, they attack that part of his system which furnishes them nourishment,—in diphtheria the breath passages, in lung consumption the tissues of the lungs, in malaria the red corpuscles of the blood,— symptoms attending the disease, whichever it is, appear, in some cases as you know to a fatal end, in others to a happy termination.

Suppose the disease is scarlet fever, when the bacteria or "disease germs" have used for their nourishment all that the body of the patient contains of the special kind that nourishes them, they can live no longer, so they die, and the patient, we hope, recovers.

The "germs" of such diseases require a certain length of time to multiply, absorb all the nourishment found in a human system, and then to die out; hence the duration of the disease can be calculated upon with a good degree of accuracy. Quinine kills malaria germs, and other drugs act fatally upon others.

When all the nourishment necessary to certain germs has been used, the patient will thereafter be exempt from that disease, even though he should receive these germs again into his system.

Persons do not always "take" a contagious disease, even when "exposed." We may give several reasons for this. A person apparently exposed to a disease may not receive the germs into his system. He may not have the nourishment necessary for their growth, either because it has been previously exhausted or because his physical condition is such that he resists and destroys the germs.

I have said that the germs of contagious diseases are thrown off from the body of the patient. Sometimes they pass off in one way, sometimes in another, sometimes in many ways; probably they pass off in all the excretions, but in one disease there are more in one form of excretions, in another disease more in another form, as in diphtheria the greater number pass off in the breath, in scarlet fever from the surface of the skin in scales, in tuberculosis in the discharge from the lungs called sputa.

Even from this brief and very incomplete review of this subject we can understand how important it is that the greatest care should be taken to kill if possible the germs that are thrown off from a patient, and to prevent them from being disseminated. The housekeeper must remember that they float in the air and in water, and that milk contains their best nourishment. They attach themselves—hundreds of them—to anything and everything, and they thrive especially in warmth and moisture.

Remember that bacteria are plants. When animal life is deprived of nourishment it dies, but it is not so with plant life. Seeds if kept dry retain their vitality some even, to thousands of years. So it is with disease germs. Bacteria will dry up and become apparently mere dust, but let that vital dust come under the influence of warmth and moisture, with nourishment sufficient for it, and it expands, develops and reproduces innumerable new germs. One doctor reports that dried sputa which had been kept three years, when put under favorable conditions proved itself very much alive. No doubt it will keep alive much longer than three years.

These facts account for the diseases that "come" to people, as it is said. They also show of what immense importance it is that housekeepers should acquaint themselves with all of these subjects, and should above all things keep their houses clean.

Some Spring Styles.

"Latest styles in Ladies' belts, canes, stock ties, linen collars and cuffs, chimesettes, link and stud sets for shirt waists." This quotation is from a placard in the show window of a leading Boston store. The articles named lay about in the window.

Belts.—Leather with leather covered belt buckles, black, green, brown and ivory. Elastic tape belts covered with sequins of gold color, steel color and black. Belts of gold and of brown webbing, and braided belts. The last are made by braiding strands of spiral gold wire.

Canes.—Very light, jointed rattan, tops crooked, a silk cord and full tassel attached.

Stock ties.—Shaped like the old-fashioned stocks formerly worn by men. Covered with silk in fine checks, stripes and black. The stock fastens behind and is from one and a half to two inches deep. The necktie which is attached at the back of the stock is about an inch wide and ties in

The Journal.

FRIDAY EVENING, MAY 15, 1896.

PALMER NEWS.

FROM AN A. P. A. STANDPOINT.

What the Patriotic Order Thinks is Needed in This Country.

The local sympathizers of the A. P. A. aimed to give the people of Palmer some information as to the country's needs last Sunday afternoon by a lecture in the Baptist church, but only a small audience was present.

Mr. F. B. Pope of this village presided, and a male quartette from Three Rivers led the audience in the opening hymn, "America," after which Rev. Mr. Graham offered prayer, praying for enlightened consciences to discern the dangers surrounding people at the present time. He returned thanks for the thousands coming to these shores where each could worship according to the dictates of his own conscience, and prayed that men might not only engage in the salvation of individuals, but in the salvation of the nation as well. He prayed for the common schools, so endangered at the present time, asking that the scales might fall from the eyes of the people and enable them to see the need of the hour—the preservation of the country. This was followed by a patriotic selection by the quartette, after which Rev. Mr. Graham introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Rev. E. S. Wheeler of Boston, whose subject was announced as "The demands of American patriotism."

Mr. Graham began with a reference to Satolli; he started to speak of him as "Dr." but changed his mind and dropped the title. Then, to show Satolli's position in this country he quoted the following as having been given out by a distinguished official of the Catholic church: "His jurisdiction is appelate and final. There is no appeal from him to the Propaganda because he represents the Propaganda, and is clothed with all their power." He then quoted the following as from Mgr. Satolli's address on coming to this country: "To the Catholic church belongs the duty and divine right of teaching all nations to believe the truth of the Gospel, and to observe whatsoever Christ commanded. * * * Not only do we exhort Catholic parents, but we command them by all the authority we possess to send their children to parochial or other truly Catholic schools. United with this duty are the rights of parents, which no civil law or authority can violate or weaken." He proceeded to ridicule the idea of a man who could not speak the English language coming to this country to teach constitutional rights and to attempt to regulate the schools, and cited a priest of Plattsburg, N. Y., who had told his people that they need not obey the laws of this country, and another place where the authorities of the Catholic church had advocated the establishment of parochial schools, instructing their subordinates in case this could not be done to do as has been done in Palmer, so manipulate matters as to put a Catholic priest at the head of school affairs. The speaker was only getting fairly warmed up to the matter when he closed with the remark that when he got started on that subject he hardly knew where to stop, and introduced Mr. Wheeler.

This speaker, after charging Satolli with a statement that the higher ecclesiastics in the Catholic church are exempt from all law, and that in America neither civil nor criminal courts have any jurisdiction over them, referred to the public schools and stated that there was hardly a school book in the country that dared come out and tell the truth about early history for fear it would do some damage to the Catholic church. He stated that there was a combination to prevent the telling of the truth, this combination being controlled by Catholics. He compared the condition of affairs in enlightened America with those in Mexico, South America, Cuba, Spain and Austria. Speaking of South America he asserted that it was controlled by the Romish church, which opposed any advance toward civilization in the countries there. Chili had made some advance because a few years ago Protestants had overthrown the parochial schools and established a school system based on that of the United States; neighboring countries, which were still controlled by Catholics, had made no advance. "Nothing but keeping the priest out of power in political affairs will keep any people anywhere out of degradation." Men who say that Catholics are coming more and more into sympathy with American institutions are mistaken; the moment a priest does this he loses caste with the Roman hierarchy. After alluding to the power which the church wields in Spain and Austria he stated that that was the thing which in this country was taking the public school system by the throat, so perverting everything connected with it that it shall have no influence in strengthening our country. The council of Baltimore, he said, had declared in favor of a parochial school system which should include all boys and girls coming from the old world, and giving parents no choice as to where they should send their children to school, under a penalty of withholding the rights of the church. The Church of Rome is determined to make slaves of its people, teaching them to do exactly as it says without question, while Protestantism allows freedom of conscience and the exercise of its dictations by individuals. He regretted the aspirations cast on members of the patriotic orders by intelligent men, and said that every Legislature in the country is coming to adopt the principles of the American Protective Association, and not the theories of certain gentleman who are seeking to undermine American institutions to please their masters, the powers of the Church of Rome; and Congress at Washington is fast falling into line. He was glad that the American flag was floating over schoolhouses of the country, and hoped soon to see the day when the power which had demoralized so many countries—which comes with a fair face and claims to be a religious institution but is really a political power—would be completely broken.

The lecture was of a vastly different order from what was expected, the church having been engaged for a lecture on "Good Citizenship," with the understanding that it was not to be a partisan address.

Probate Court.

A session of the probate court was held in Palmer Wednesday, and the following business transacted:

Administration granted in the estates of—Timothy McDermott, late of New York city, A. M. Copeland administrator; George F. Chamberlain of Brimfield, Harriet A. Chamberlain administratrix; John Foley of West Springfield, Nellie S. Collins administratrix; Mary A. Power of Springfield, David Power administrator. Josephine M. Bannon was appated guardian of Charles G. Sheldon of Springfield. The trustees' inventory of the estate of Maria F. Warner of Palmer was filed, as was the executor's account of the same estate. The final account by the administrator of the estate of Loman Brown, late of Palmer, was also filed.

Miss Mamie A. Roche spent Sunday in Ware.

C. B. Fiske is painting his West Main street residence.

Asa Mitchell of Worcester is the guest of his sister, Mrs. L. B. Fish.

W. E. Stone has been spending the greater part of the week in Boston.

Mrs. J. D. Blanchard has rented her house on Park street to G. W. Lyman.

Mrs. Purlin Shearer's house at Shearer's Corner is being newly shingled.

A new platform has been laid at the west end of the passenger station this week.

Miss Anna Tucker has returned from New York, and is keeping house for A. L. Holt.

W. F. Waite and wife of Springfield have been spending the week with Mrs. L. M. Goddard.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Buck started Tuesday for a carriage drive to Westford, Ct., to be gone several days.

There is a movement among the business men of the place to have the stores close all day Memorial Day.

Harry Sisk is home from medical school at Boston for a vacation of a few days. He returns next Monday.

The ball nine of the high school played the Three Rivers nine on the driving park grounds this afternoon.

Edwin Gould, drug clerk for LeGro & Lynde, is taking a vacation at his home in Ware on account of sickness.

G. W. Calkins of Elizabeth, N. J., is visiting C. B. Fiske, and will be employed for a time in the Palmer National bank.

The selectmen are advertising for proposals for building the new sewer on West Main and Thorndike streets in this village.

The position of freight clerk at the New London Northern freight house has been filled by C. A. Atwood of Montpelier.

Miss Georgia Packard has been engaged as soprano in the choir of St. Paul's Universalist church, in place of Miss Sexton, resigned.

Miss M. Eloise Stone is to assist in a piano recital given in Springfield this evening by the advanced pupils of Mrs. Minna Sites-Severn.

George LaFord is out with a new pair of horses, purchased of McIntire & Fuller of Springfield, having sold his other pair to H. P. Marcy.

Mrs. W. A. Weld and Miss Jennie Brainerd attended the annual session of the grand chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star in Worcester yesterday.

G. A. Rice, agent for the Boston and Albany railroad, has been confined to the house since Tuesday on account of sickness, but is now recovering.

The Flynt Building and Construction company has the contract to build a storehouse 120 by 80 feet for the National Dock and Warehouse company at East Boston.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of the Congregational church made about $13 at their social Wednesday evening, which will be used for the purchase of new chairs for the vestry.

C. K. Gamwell has been canvassing this week for subscriptions to wipe out the indebtedness incurred by the agricultural society last year, and has met with fairly good success.

The proprietors of the JOURNAL wish to secure two copies of the issue of October 5th, 1888, in order to complete their files of the paper, and will pay a liberal price to anyone for a copy of that date.

Miss Belle Fiske has been obliged to resign her position as cashier in the freight house of the New London Northern road on account of sickness, and is succeeded by Alfred Hunt of Three Rivers.

Yesterday was Ascension Day at St. Thomas's Catholic church, masses being celebrated at 5.30 and 7 30 a. m. Next Sunday will be the Sunday within the octave of ascension, with services at the usual hours.

The Connecticut railroad commissioners, accompanied by President Coit and Superintendent McKenzie of the New London Northern road, came up over the road Tuesday on a tour of inspection. They went from here to Springfield, to inspect the New Haven system.

The street sprinkling cart was started Wednesday noon, much to the gratification of the merchants and all who have occasion to visit the business portion of the town. Mr. Converse sold his cart on Tuesday to S. S. Nichols and W. H. Williams, and they will run it this season.

There is a possibility that the Rod and Gun club may be compelled to give up its shooting ground on the hill northeast of the village, as it is understood that some of the residents nearest the grounds object to the noise of the guns, which is plainly heard when the wind is in the right direction

The adjourned meeting of the fire district, to hear the report of the prudential committee regarding the contract for water for the coming year, will be held in the district court room to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The committee has no report to make yet, but will be ready at the meeting to-morrow; a final conference with Manager Gamwell of the water company was held this afternoon.

The cases of Fulton and Mahoney, the men who attempted to terrorize the inmates of Caryl's saloon a few weeks ago, came before the grand jury at Springfield last Saturday. Fulton was discharged, but was immediately arrested by Deputy Sheriff Studley for breaking and entering the station of the Boston and Maine road at Wheelwright, and taken to Worcester. On Monday Mahoney was sentenced to a year in the house of correction.

Two new applicants for the position of clerk of the district court made their appearance this week, but one has concluded to drop out, and the contest so far as known at present will be between A. E. Fitch and W. F. Waite. Mr. Waite has a petition in circulation, and is making a push for the position. He will be remembered as a not long ago resident here, at one time employed as a postal clerk on the Boston and Albany road. His candidacy is receiving no little backing.

A petition has been in circulation during the past week for the appointment of H. A. McFarland of Wales as associate justice of the Eastern Hampden district court, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Newton of Monson. Mr. McFarland has a considerable knowledge of legal matters, and would fill the position acceptably. It is understood that there will be at least one other candidate for the place, but the person has not yet decided to have his name made public.

The board of trustees and the superintendent of the new hospital for epileptics viewed the grounds to-day. The superintendent, Dr. Copp, with an architect and surveyors from Springfield, have staked out the ground for the new buildings, which will be three in number. The largest building will occupy very nearly the site of the old building, a second will be placed on the site of the boy's playground, while the third and smallest will be placed between the two. It is expected that work on the foundations will be begun soon.

Next Sunday will be a Y. M. C. A. Deputation Day at all the Protestant churches in this village, when members of the Y. M. C. A. from various parts of the state will be present and address the audiences at the morning services. In the afternoon at 3.30 there will be a meeting for men only in the opera house, and a meeting for women in the Baptist church, the latter to be addressed by Miss Mary A. Atwater. At 6 in the evening there will be a union young peoples' meeting in the Universalist church, and at 7 a mass meeting in the Congregational church.

Herbert Thresher, a photographer who has made a special study of out-door work, has been in town this week taking views for "Pictorial Palmer." Mr. Thresher is delighted with the natural beauties of the town, and will take pleasure in reproducing some of the pretty scenery for use in the book. Owing to the liberal patronage that the work is receiving it cannot fail to be a credit to the town from an artistic point of view. Several of our best local writers have promised sketches for the work, and it will undoubtedly be a desirable book for its literary merits, as well as for the illustrations.

Richard Golden is booked to appear at the opera house next Thursday evening in his famous character of "Old Jed Prouty," assisted by a company comprising nearly all the fine original cast. The success of Mr. Golden in this play is significant of the popular desire for stage productions that appeal to the finer sentiments, and although the play has been given here twice before, it is sure to draw a large audience this time, as an acquaintance with the jovial, whimsical hotel keeper of Bucksport is one which is sure to put the bluest of mortals in a good humor and provoke merriment in the staidest of mankind.

The weather prophets which had been predicting a cold spell had all their calculations upset last Sunday, when the mercury climbed up among the 90's, giving us the hottest day of the season thus far. The thermometers indicated 80° in the shade on the north side of the houses at 9 o'clock in the morning, and the attendance at churches was in inverse ratio to the upward tendency of the mercury. There was very little air stirring, and the atmosphere was decidedly uncomfortable. There was a prospect of a thunder shower in the evening, but it went around and favored some other locality. Rain fell in various nearby localities the first of the week, but Palmer didn't get any of it. A few drops fell Tuesday evening, but in Springfield it rained hard for 30 or 40 minutes, while the Brookfields also got copios showers.

The selectmen have abated one nuisance by leveling the unsightly and unsavory heaps of rubbish which have been dumped on the south side of Park street near the junction of the carpet mill road, and have put up a warning against further use of the place for a dumping ground. This prohibition might well have come some time ago, as the place has been growing more and more offensive as time has gone on and the annual spring cleaning up has progressed, the depositing of matter taken from house vaults not tending to make that locality particularly pleasant for passers with sensitive olfactory nerves. Another matter which the selectmen, the board of health, or someone should look after, is the disposition of dead horses. Several have been buried in the sand near the head of Pond street, and while none of them have actually walked into the presence of the residents of that locality, there has been abundant evidence of their nearness when the wind was in the right direction, an evident desire on the part of the former owners to get rid of the carcasses as easily as possible being the probable reason for the slight covering of earth which some of them have had.

District Court.

Thomas Kugna and Simon Jorczak were arranged last Saturday for an assault on John F. Sambrosi, all of Bondsville; the case was continued until to-morrow.

On Tuesday Kazmith Kethasa of Bondsville paid $6 for drunkenness.

This morning John Shaw, a Scotchman who claimed to have been discharged from the British army last June, was sent to the state farm at Bridgewater for one year after refusing to work in payment for his lodging in the tramp room and breakfast.

These civil cases are set for trial to-morrow: Palmer Water Company against Dora E. Parks; O. W. Studley and H. A. Northrop against A. F. Ballard of Hampden.

BONDSVILLE.

Charles Russell has put in a new soda fountain.

Mrs. S. Weld is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Fred Alden.

Mrs. August Martin is very ill with rheumatism of the heart.

Miss Maggie Leary spent part of the week with friends in Ware.

Patrick Fenton of Springfield visited his folks here last Sunday.

Miss May Marsh of Springfield is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. David Lamb.

Mrs. Henry Stone of Gilbertville visited her sister, Mrs. Thayer, Tuesday.

The King's Daughters will meet Monday evening with Miss Mabel Ryther.

Misses Daisy and Lutie Canterbury visited their sister in Gilbertville last week.

Miss Agnes Carmody has returned to Amherst, after a short visit with her parents here.

The Epworth League held a business meeting Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Thomas Bruce.

Mrs. Francis Talmage attended the funeral of her nephew, Dwight Clark, in Easthampton Wednesday.

Mrs. E. A. Newell and Mrs. Herbert Holland of Springfield spent yesterday with Mrs. E. E. Ryther.

Miss Ruth Canterbury spent last Saturday and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Armstrong in Springfield.

The little Vernon Brothers, who gave their concert here last Saturday evening, also assisted at the Sunday evening prayer meeting.

A private foot bridge has been built across the canal by the Boston Duck Company in line with the new foot bridge which spans the river.

The ball game between the Juniors and Thorndikes Saturday afternoon was a very interesting one. The score was 7 to 6, in favor of the Juniors.

The members of the choir of St. Bartholomew's church attended the dedication of the organ at the French Catholic church in Three Rivers last Friday evening.

Miss Twiss has moved her news room to the adjoining rooms, and those which she has been using are to be used for a bakery. An addition and a large oven are being built.

A concert will be given in the M. E. church next Wednesday evening by young ladies from Boston, under the auspices of the Epworth League. This was to have been given April 15th, but was postponed, owing to sickness of one of the participants.

The base ball nine will play the Thorndike team on the Union grounds to-morrow afternoon. The home team was defeated at Ware last Saturday, the score being 11 to 9 at the close of the eleventh inning. The game in some respects did not prove very satisfactory, and another game will be played soon.

Mrs. Helen Rasmussen, one of Bishop Taylor's missionaries, who has just returned from Africa, has been the guest of Rev. and Mrs. Robert Smith. Mrs. Rasmussen gave a short talk at the Thursday evening prayer meeting, and addressed the Epworth League convention at Warren this afternoon. Several delegates from this place also attended the convention.

THORNDIKE.

Michael Fleming, who was quite ill last week, is convalescent.

Waldo Gearney of Millbury is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor.

H. J. Forsyth succeeds Mr. Davis as overseer in the No. 1 mill weaving department.

The Columbian band expects to have their band-stand wired this week for electricity.

The selectmen have granted pool table licenses to John Wagner and John W. Loftus.

M. G. Roche, who is studying pharmacy at Boston, is expected home this week for a vacation.

Joseph Robinson is unable to attend to his work in the mill on account of a badly swollen hand.

Thomas Chapman is employed in the office of the Thorndike Co. during the absence of D. F. Sullivan.

Mrs. Joseph Garland and children, who have been in town for a couple of weeks, have returned to their home in Merrick.

Miss Josie Flynn and Miss Connor, both formerly of this place, now of Northampton, were visiting friends here on Wednesday.

A. Ramsden has sold to Edward Halley of Palmer Center the property on Commercial street known as the William Hastings estate.

Thorndike people were well represented at the dedication of the new organ in St. Anne's church at Three Rivers last Friday evening.

Maurice McCormick has been confined to his home on Commercial street for a week or so, the result of injuries received by a kick from a horse.

Representatives of the Young Men's Christian association will be at the Congregational church on Sunday to explain the working of the association.

The Crescents defeated a Bondsville club at Bondsville on Saturday by a score of 8 to 7. The same day the Stars defeated the Palmer Clippers on the church grounds by a score of 19 to 7.

The Thorndikes defeated the Ludlows at Ludlow on Saturday by a score of 17 to 8. They expect to play the Bondsville club at Bondsville to-morrow, and an exciting game is looked for, as the two are evenly matched.

Miss Lizzie Hartnet left on Tuesday for the Massachusetts General hospital at Boston, where she will undergo an operation. Her many friends hope that it may prove successful, and that she may return much improved in health.

A stranger who came to town in a team Monday accompanied by a woman, prepared to get dinner for both here, but after skirmishing for something to clear the cobwebs out of his throat and being unable to find anything, drove to Belchertown with the remark that he'd be d——d if he'd patronize a place where he couldn't get anything to drink.

There are evidently some persons who have little or no regard for the property of others, for the fence near the Congregational church, next the canal bridge, owned by the Thorndike Co., is losing pickets at a rate which will leave nothing but the stringers in a short time. Scarcely a night passes in which several pickets are not torn off. A careful watch will be kept, and the guilty parties will be summarily dealt with if caught.

A movement is on foot toward the formation of a social organization for the men of the Congregational church of the place. A meeting was held for that purpose on Sunday, and was largely attended. Rev. G. M. Gerrish, pastor of the church, was temporary chairman, and L. Shuttleworth secretary. A committee consisting of Rev. G. M. Gerrish, R. W. Murch and C. A. Tabor, was chosen to prepare a constitution and by-laws and to report at a meeting to be held in the future.

Judge Sumner J. Harkness of Scofield, Utah, formerly of this town, will soon return and make a permanent home among us. Judge Harkness was one of the pioneer settlers of that place and has seen it grow from a small hamlet to a busy thriving mining center, situated on the Warsatch mountains near Pleasant Valley Junction. Judge Harkness was very prominent in all the social and political affairs of the place. Mrs. Harkness, with a son and two daughters, came about a week ago, and while in Chicago she met with a painful accident. While alighting from a street car, which started before she was wholly off, she was thrown to the ground and a wheel passed over one foot, crushing the toes. She was taken to the hospital where the foot was dressed, and in spite of the warning of the physician she resumed her journey and arrived here safely Monday. It was thought that two of the toes would have to be amputated, but Dr. Boulay of Three Rivers, under whose care she now is, thinks he can save them all. Judge Harkness will arrive in a week or two. He will reside on the farm of the late J. D. Sawyer, now owned by James Richards.

Entered by Burglars.

Walker & Kelly's grocery store and meat market was entered sometime Tuesday night or Wednesday morning by unknown parties, whose object was robbery. They gained entrance through a window in the rear of the building which opens into the market. Once inside they found their way clear to the safe, which is always left open, and on the handle a tag bearing the word "open." The inside of the safe was broken into pieces, and valuable papers, deeds and insurance papers taken, and the books thrown about the floor. The thieves overlooked a small sum of money which was in another drawer of the cash register, close by. The only clew left behind was a two-bladed white-handled knife, the point of both blades being broken. The same store, when occupied by H. T. Bishop, was broken into about a year ago and the safe blown to pieces. There is no clue to the perpetrators of the crime. The small iron vault which was stolen from the store and which contained papers, was found near the railroad track in the locality of the base ball grounds, being discovered by players who were at practice on Wednesday evening.

THREE RIVERS.

John F. Twiss has purchased a new trap for his livery.

R. C. Newell is having new concrete walks laid in front of his residenoe.

The Ladies' Home Circle met at the home of Mrs. Freak Wednesday afternoon.

The cottage prayer meeting was held at the home of Edward Carroll Monday evening.

Mr. Wheeler of Boston gave a patriotic address in the Baptist church Sunday evening.

Mr. Dugas, who had a sarcoma removed from his neck last week, is now able to be out.

Mrs. Jacobs gave a very interesting lecture in the Baptist church Tuesday evening, her subject being "Memories of the war."

Next Sunday morning services in the Baptist and Union churches will be conducted by representatives of the Young Men's Christian association of Springfield.

The funeral of Cyril Roberts, Jr., 19, a young man of correct habits and well known in town, took place from St. Anne's church on Saturday morning, where a mass of requiem was celebrated. The funeral was largely attended.

Mrs. Provo, while attending church last Friday evening, had her bicycle stolen out of the shed. A neighbor saw a man enter the shed and take the wheel, but thought it was Mrs. Provo's husband. She has advertised for the wheel but it has not been found yet.

Mrs. W. F. Fillmore, while driving to Palmer with her children Tuesday afternoon, met with an accident which might have resulted seriously. While near the Burleigh bridge the rear axle broke, but the horse stood still and no one was hurt. The gypsies camping near there let her take one of their wagons.

Dedication of the New Pipe Organ in St. Anne's Church.

The magnificent new pipe organ which Casavant Bros. of St. Hyacinthe, Quebec, have placed in St. Anne's Catholic church, was dedicated last Friday evening with a sacred concert, the following being the programme:

Ouverture, Orgue. Mourlan
Prof. J. E. Ringuette.
Ave Verum. Gounod
Choeur.
Salve Regina. Mercadante
Delle Emma Gingras.
Pro Peccatis, Solo de Basse. Rossini
Rev. J. Chicoine.
Cor Dulce. Valenti
Dame Dr. J. C. Boulay.
Andantino, Orgue. Salome
Prof. J. E. Ringuette.
Ave Maria. Millard
Delle C. Laporte.
Le Crucifix. Faure
Mr. A. Lanoue.
Santa Maria. Schubert
Dame Dr. J. C. Boulay.
Jerusalem. Gounod
Delle E. Lambert.
Meditation, Orgue. Zingarelli
Prof. J. E. Ringuette.
Oratorio, (Coeli Enarrant,) (Psaume xviii.) Camille Saint-Saens.
Introduction et Choeur.
Solo, (Soprano,) et Choeur.
Delle E. Lambert.
Recitatie, (Tenor,)
Mr. S. Casavant.
Choeur.
Quartet:
Rev. W. Alexander, Mr. S. Casavant, Rev. J. Chicoine, Mr. A. Lanoue.
Quintet et Choeur:
Delle E. Lambert, Mr. A. Lanoue, Dame Dr. J. C. Boulay, Rev. W. Alexander, Delle E. Gingras.
Sextet:
Delle E. Lambert, Mr. A. Lanoue, Dame Dr. J. C. Boulay, Rev. J. Chicoine, Delle E. Gingras, Rev. W. Alexander.
Mezzo Soprano, Air.
Delle E. Guy.
Choeur Final.
Marche, Orgue. Mourl
Prof. J. E. Ringuette.

The concert was under the skilled direction of Rev. C. E. Brunault of Holyoke, with Prof. J. E. Ringuette of Worcester as organist, with the aid of several out-of-town artists in addition to the local talent. The master-piece of the evening was the performance of the oratario. Prof. Ringuette was given only a short time to practice it, and its presentation was a proof of his musical abilities. Among the soloists particular mention should be made of Miss Lambert, Mrs. Boulay, Mr. Lanoue, Miss Laporte, Rev. Mr. Chicoine, Rev. Mr. Alexander and Mr. Casavant. There was a large attendance, particularly of Americans.

BORN.

At Palmer, 12th, a son (George Winford) to Arthur E. and Lura N. Fitch.

DIED.

At Monson, 11th, Joseph Douglas Dewar, 44.
At Monson, 10th, Mrs. Katherine Herlihy, 40.
At Monson, 9th, Hugh Welch, 82.
At Wilbraham, 8th, Harvey Kent, 82.

FOR SALE.—A 2-story octagon bay window, as good as new. G. W. LYMAN, Palmer.

TO RENT.—Two tenements on Fox avenue. tf–44 Apply to G. S. HOLDEN.

FOR SALE OR TO RENT.—The house corner of Thorndike street and Foster avenue. tf6 C. W. JOHNSON, Palmer.

TO RENT.—Good up and down stairs tenement, six rooms, on Spring street. tf–4 GEORGE A. KEITH, Palmer.

FOR SALE.—Cherry chamber set, black walnut extension dining table, and kitchen range, all in good order. Enquire at house of C. B. FISKE.

FOUND.—On road from Thorndike to Bondsville, Friday, April 24th, a watch. Owner can have same by paying charges and proving property. 3-5 J. P. O'CONNOR, Thorndike.

FOR SALE.—Buff Cochin and Plymouth Rock eggs for hatching. Won prizes at Palmer, Northampton, Stafford and Providence. tf 38 C. RALPH LEGRO, Palmer, Mass.

POULTRY NETTING.

Factory Remnants.

You can buy them of me at a bargain, any width from 1 to 6 feet high, and from 25 to 150 feet long.

J. C NORMAND,
at Wire Mill, Palmer.

TOWN OF PALMER.

PROPOSALS FOR BUILDING SEWER.

The selectmen of the Town of Palmer will receive proposals until 7 o'clock p. m. of Saturday, May 23d, for building a new sewer on Main and Thorndike streets, in the Depot Village, plans and specifications for which may be seen at the office of Woolrich & Co., in said village.

Bids should be addressed to "Selectmen of Palmer," Palmer, and marked "Proposals for Building Sewer."

The selectmen reserve the right to reject any or all bids.

J. F. TWISS, G. M. ATKINS, C. T. BRAINERD, } Selectmen of Palmer.

2-7

ODD FELLOWS' OPERA HOUSE,

Thursday Eve., May 21.

The favorite comedian, RICHARD GOLDEN.

Old Jed Prouty,

of Bucksport, Maine.

SAME familiar original cast! four old Yankees! Bucksport fire tub!

Reserved seats at Allen's, Palmer, and Keeney's, Monson, Saturday morning.

SPECIAL TRAIN leaves Monson 7.20 p. m.

Who's Got 'Em?

Copies of the PALMER JOURNAL of October 5th, 1888.

Two copies of this number in good condition are wanted to complete the files of the paper, and a liberal price will be paid for them at the JOURNAL office.

REPORT OF THE CONDITION OF THE PALMER NATIONAL BANK, at Palmer, in the State of Mass., at the close of business, May 7, 1896.

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts		$224,000.32
Overdrafts, secured and unsecured		1,786.66
U. S. Bonds to secure circulation		25,000.00
Premiums on U. S. bonds		2,400.00
Stocks, securities, etc		16,622.87
Banking house, furniture and fixtures		4,500.00
Due from approved reserve agents		21,826.54
Checks and other cash items		223.50
Notes of other National banks		800.00
Fractional paper currency, nickels and cents		247.03
LAWFUL MONEY RESERVE IN BANK, VIZ:
Specie	$11,875.40
Legal-tender notes	2,250.00	14,125.40
Redemption fund with U. S. Treas'r (5 per cent of circulation)		1,125.00
TOTAL		$312,456.72

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock paid in	$100,000.00
Surplus fund	20,000.00
Undivided profits, less expenses and taxes paid	22,264.26
National Bank notes outstanding	22,500.00
Dividends unpaid	120.00
Individual deposits subject to check	130,999.12
Demand certificates of deposit	16,072.34
Cashier's checks, outstanding	1.00
Liabilities other than those above stated	500.00
TOTAL	$312,456.72

State of Massachusetts, County of Hampden, ss: I, Chas. R. Fiske, Cashier of the above-named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

CHAS. R. FISKE, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 12th day of May, 1896.

WILLIAM W. LEACH, Justice of the Peace.

{SEAL}

Correct—Attest:

GEO. H. WILKINS, GEO. M. ATKINS, J. B. SHAW, } Directors.

FLOUR:

W. C. & Co. Superlative.
Pillsbury's Best.
Nicholief's Best.

We warrant this flour to be the best that can be bought for any price.

Smith's Best St. Louis.

Milled at Honeoye Falls, N. Y.

FOR LOW PRICES CALL AT

SMITH

Grocery Company,

59 Main Street, PALMER.

Mrs. R. DeYoung, Middleburg, Ia., writes: I have used One Minute Cough Cure for six years, both for myself and children, and I consider it the quickest acting and most satisfactory Cough Cure I ever used. LeGro & Lynde.

The Piano

is the most important purchase of the home.

It is to do service for a number of years.

Many difficulties attend its selection.

Our thorough knowledge of what a good piano ought to be, and the undisputed advantage we have in buying, enable us to sell you a

FIRST-CLASS INSTRUMENT

at a price usually demanded for inferior ones.

Please call and examine our stock.

TAYLOR'S

Music House,

412 MAIN STREET, SPRINGFIELD.

Meekins, Packard & Wheat.

ATTEND THE

Great Carpet Sale

NOW GOING ON.

Three hundred rolls of the best makes of carpets known to the trade.

There will be some of the greatest carpet selling here that Springfield has ever seen.

Choose from any of the lines offered—you'll find qualities and styles eclipsing any before shown at more money.

60 rolls of Lowell and Hartford Ingrains, at 50c a yard.

50 rolls of Lowell, Hartford Brussels, at 75c a yard.

A limited assortment of regular $1 velvets, choice styles, at 75c a yard.

125 rolls of best body brussels, in this season's patterns, at 90c a yard.

50 rolls of Wilton Velvets, regular $1.35 goods, (There'll be quick work of these!) At 90c a yard.

You know the value of early selections. Carpet department.

"LAPLAND" REFRIGERATORS

lead all others—their strong points are:

Solid oak cabinet.
Patent self closing drip cup.
Galvanized steel ice rack and shelves.
Perfect insulation.
Positive dry air circulation.

We can suit you on size and price, and perfection in every particular.

Inspect the "Lapland." Basement.

MEEKINS, PACKARD & WHEAT,

SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

SUMMER THINGS AT... KINSMAN'S.

GRADUATION GOWNS.

Be the want for something sweetly simple or for something with more than a hint of elegance, the goods are here and ready. Muslins, linen, dimities, French organdies, lawns, mulls and Swisses in complete and choice assortments. The prices will make the graduation gown really inexpensive—as it should be.

SHIRT WAISTS.

The prettiest styles of the season are now here. At no time later will the assortment be better. Lawns, percales, dimities, chambrays, ginghams and linen batistes; attached and detatched collars, $1, 1.25, 1.38, 1.50, 1.75, 1.87, 2, 2.50, 2.75, 3 and 3.75.

Basement, rear stairs.

SPRING DRESS GOODS.

We are offering a large variety of all-wool colored dress goods patterns at 38c and 50c a yard. Checks and mixtures; regular 50c and 75c goods. Too many of them. No other reason whatever.

LIGHT UNDERWEAR.

The list given below is worth your careful reading; it tells of exceptionally good underwear, the only kind we keep.

One lot of jersey ribbed vests and pants, white and ecru, 38c a garment; reduced from 50c.

More of those good quality jersey ribbed vests, pink, blue, and white, at 19c.

Jersey ribbed combination suits, white and ecru, 75c, $1, $1.25, $1.38 and $1.75.

Jersey ribbed vests and pants, good quality, well finished, 25c. More good grades at 38c, 45c and 50c.

Women's cotton hose, Hermsdorf black, spliced heel and toe, double soles, 19c.

Women's ribbed top cotton hose, fast black, 25c; used to be 38c.

Women's cotton hose, black and tans, special lot at 25c.

RIBBON RICHNESS.

A host of new ribbons came to the counters this week. For newness and prettiness, the designs are unapproached in this vicinity. Plaids, checks, stripes, brocades, Dresden figures and chamelon effects, 33c, 45c, 50c, 62c, 68c, 75c and $1 a yard.

"CYCLISTS" CORSETS.

One pair sells another. Every inch of them is made for coolness and comfort; short hips; shapely. $1.

W. D. KINSMAN,

Corner Main and Bridge Streets, SPRINGFIELD.

MORTGAGEES SALE.

To Frederick J. Wassum and all other parties interested in the property hereinafter described:

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of power of sale contained in a certain Mortgage Deed given by Frederick J. Wassum to Helena M. Davis dated April 1st, 1884, and recorded in Hampden County Registry of Deeds in Book 404, Page 198, and for breach of the conditions, will be sold at public auction upon the premises on Tuesday, the second day of June, 1896, at twelve o'clock noon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage as follows, to wit:

The following described real estate situate on the easterly side of Pleasant street, in said Palmer, and bounded as follows:

Beginning on said street at the northeasterly corner of lands of J. H. Tuthill and thence running northerly on said street ten rods to land of Frank Sedgwick, thence easterly on line of land of said Sedgwick nine rods to land of S. S. Taft, thence southerly on land of said Taft and land of Charles Keith ten rods to land of said Tuthill, thence westerly on said Tuthill's land nine rods to the place of beginning.

Said premises will be sold subject to all unpaid taxes, also subject to a mortgage given to the Palmer Savings Bank to secure the sum of twenty-four hundred dollars and interest.

Two hundred dollars will be required to be paid in cash by the purchaser at the time and place of sale.

HELENA M. DAVIS, Mortgagee.
By ALLEN WEBSTER, her Attorney.
Springfield, Mass., May 5th, 1896. 3-6

A. H. HITCHCOCK,

OPTICIAN,

331 Main Street, Springfield, Mass.
Spectacles and Eye Glasses of all kinds.
Artificial eyes furnished.
Oculists' prescriptions promptly and accurately filled.
Mail orders solicited. 12-tf

Are you interested in . . . SHIRT WAISTS?

We are showing some very pretty styles in percales and novelties, that for design and fit cannot be excelled.

Why spend your time and strength in making . . . . . CHILDREN'S DRESSES

when you can buy such a dainty article as we are selling? All ages, all prices.

New styles and patterns in SEPARATE SKIRTS

received every week. . . .

Have you bought your . . . SPRING WRAP?

If not we have a few plums left. They are selling fast.

SPECIAL VALUES IN HOSIERY AND UNDERWEAR.

D. L. BODFISH,

Cross Block, PALMER.

New Goods Just Opened.

Spring, 1896.

A FINE LINE OF Wash Goods, Table Linen, Napkins and Towels. Goblin and Pongee Draperies.

A VERY FULL ASSORTMENT OF Dress Linings, Buttons and Braids.

IN OUR Grocery Department we have a great variety of FANCY GOODS.

IN CANNED GOODS the quality ranges from the cheapest to the best goods canned, and the prices guaranteed to be as low as any dealer in town. Call and see for yourselves.

J. B. SHAW,

FEENEY'S BLOCK, PALMER.

The Latest Goods

for men is what we want to talk about. Only give us an opportunity and we'll convince you that we have everything you need at this season. Call and see what we have, that's all we ask. The neckwear we have chosen for your inspection isn't to be duplicated in any near-by place. The new creations are simply wonderful—can't begin to describe them, you'll have to see them.

The Spring Hats,

Have you noticed 'em? Missed it if you haven't; all the popular makes in derbys, and those soft flanges for such as prefer them.

Fancy Shirts

are more varied in design than ever. You can't fail to be pleased with what we've selected for you. Of course those who come first will have the pick of the stock. We may be able to duplicate the figures and we may not. Better not put off your seeing them.

C. K. Gamwell, Palmer, Mass.

Teeth Filled Without Pain

BY THE "HALE METHOD."

The only known, tested and successful "method" yet discovered. Is endorsed by physicians, clergymen and all who have had teeth filled at my office during the past four years.

TEETH EXTRACTED WITHOUT PAIN

in fully 95 per cent of cases by the use of a harmless preparation.

"The Hale Method" is owned and controlled exclusively by me in Springfield and at no other office is it used.

LADY ATTENDANT. ELEVAVOR.

Dr. William L. Roberts, Dentist,

COURT SQUARE THEATRE BUILDING, SPRINGFIELD.

CARRIAGES.

150 or more carriages of all kinds in stock. One of the largest varieties in this city. Am crowded to the roof and have 75 more carriages coming and no place for them. If you will take out your pocketbook and talk money we will for the next 10 days give you a BIG REDUCTION from the usual prices.

HARNESSES.

We have a big stock AT LOWEST PRICES. We always save you money.

If you want any kind of vehicle or horse wear you won't touch bottom prices until you get my prices.

D. N. BUTTERWORTH.

60 Dwight St.,

The Journal.

FRIDAY EVENING, MAY 15, 1896.

NEIGHBORHOOD NOTES.

MONSON.

LOCAL NOTICES.

25 Dollars Reward.

The above reward will be paid to any person for evidence that shall lead to the prosecution and conviction of any one engaged in the illegal sale of spirituous liquors or intoxicating drinks in the town of Monson.

J. H. THOMPSON,
C. C. KEEP,
H. SQUIER,
} Prosecuting Committee.

Dropped Dead From Heart Disease.

Joseph Douglas Dewar, foreman of the quarrying department for the W. N. Flynt Granite company, died suddenly of heart failure Monday morning at 9 o'clock in the quarry office. Mr. Dewar was laboring under considerable excitement caused by an affair which happened Sunday afternoon, and it is thought that this, together with the heat, may have had much to do with the attack. William Andrews, the colored man who has figured in court many times and served several sentences in jail, notably one for indecent behavior, was caught at one of his old tricks at the house of Mr. Dewar, who decided to have the man arrested, and Officer Osborne was put on his track. He had not been located Monday morning, and Mr. Dewar was telephoning from the quarry office to various places. He had finished but a few moments before when he cried "Oh, George!" to George Wills, the bookkeeper, and fell back, dying instantly. Medical Examiner Holbrook of Palmer was called, but as he could not come at once, the body was not removed until 4 o'clock that afternoon. The shock of her husband's death was very great to Mrs. Dewar, who is in delicate health. She has six little children.

Mr. Dewar was born in Glasglow, Scotland, and was about 44 years old. His father was a city missionary, of the Methodist faith. At an early age he went to sea, visiting Africa and the East Indies, after which he came to America and was employed on a railroad. He then went to Quincy to work in a quarry, and later became a foreman. He came from there to Monson to work for the Flynts some eight years ago. He was considered by them a most valuable man, and they mourn his death both as friends and employers. He was an upright, conscientious man; the quarry help liked and respected him, and their indignation against Andrews was intense, and it is said that the Italians, about 35 strong, would have needed watching had he been found that day. Mr. Dewar was a member of the United Workmen and the Foresters,and carried other life insurance to the amount of several thousand dollars.

The funeral was held at St. Patrick's church Wednesday morning, with probably the largest attendance of any held there in recent years. To the tolling of the bell the procession moved up Green street and entered the church. The casket was borne by three United Workmen, Nicholas Hughes, Charles Lyons and James Fitzgerald, and by three representatives of the Flynt company, John Leahy, head clerk at the store, David Maney and Edward Manning. Then came the United Workmen, and the quarry employes, about 150 in number. Solemn requiem mass was celebrated: Celebrant, Rev. Thomas O'Keefe; deacon, Rev. J. J. O'Keefe of West Springfield; sub-deacon, Rev. G. J. Lawler of Stafford Springs; master of ceremonies, Rev. J. S. Nelligan. The choir was reinforced by Mr. McLaughlin of West Springfield. The statuary of Our Lady of the Sign of the Cross, and St. Joseph, were tastefully grouped with potted plants and flowers, and the altar was draped with black. Upon the casket lay a large floral piece given by Mt. Ella lodge of the United Workman. It was of roses and pinks, and was an anchor and shield combined; there were also other flowers on the casket; at the foot was placed a broken column of pinks with a base of roses, lilies and smilax, from the office of the Flynt company; at the head was the piece from the quarrymen, the gates ajar, of roses, pinks, smilax, lilies of the valley and Easter lilies. At the close of the mass the body was taken to St. Patrick's cemetery for burial, again escorted by the United Workmen and quarrymen. Rev. Mr. Lawler performed the last absolution. Among those present from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Gulliver of Boston, James Kelly of Quincy, and W. E. McDonald of the Flynt Building and Construction company of Palmer.

Andrews has been seen in New London, and Willimantic, Ct.

Death of a Crimean War Veteran.

Hugh Welch, 82, died Saturday night at his home on Reynolds avenue, of old age, after a long illness. He was born in County Mayo, Ireland. At the age of 17 he went to London to work at his trade of stone masoning for some years. He finally enlisted in the English navy, where he served 12 years, being engaged in the Crimean war. Returning to his native land he married Miss Cecilia Joyce, and the couple soon came to America. They first settled in Brimfield, but did not remain there long, going to Wales, where they lived until 11 years ago, when they came to South Monson. Mr. Welch worked at his trade until a few years ago, being a man of remarkable strength and vitality, albeit he had a cough for 35 years. This cough was contracted through exposure while in Crimea. It was an intensely cold day, and the men were below and very warm, when they were ordered above to bombard a town. Mr. Welsh was not the only one who suffered greatly from the effects. Mr. Welch was fond of relating his experiences, which were well worth listening to. He was shipwrecked three times, once in the man-of-war Sphinx, off the Isle of Wight. It was in a heavy gale, and the ship, dragging anchor, was blown toward the shore. The captain of another ship called for volunteers to save those on the Sphinx. Six brave men started in a boat, but it was overturned and three were lost. Another party volunteered, and succeeded in rescuing the men on the Sphinx. Mr. Welch had no love for England after his navy experiences, for he believed her to be cruel to the extreme. On one occasion during the Crimea, orders were given to level every building in a city with the exception of the churches and hospitals; when it was discovered that the people were taking refuge in these buildings, orders were given to level these with the rest.

Mr. Welch had probaby travelled as much as any man in Monson, having covered much of Asia and Africa as well as Europe, and was conversant with all foreign questions of the day, reading eagerly until within a week of his death everything possible pertaining to them. The Cuban and Dardanelles troubles were of special interest to him, and to see "Old Ireland" free was his daily prayer. Mr. Welch was a much-respected and much-liked man. He is survived by his wife, three daughters, Misses Annie, Sarah and Kate, and a son, Thomas. The funeral was held Monday morning at St. Patrick's church, Rev. Thomas O'Keefe celebrating requiem mass. The burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery. A beautiful floral pillow, with the word "Father" in immortelles, marks the spot.

OXFORDS.

Never was the weather better adapted for Oxfords than now. We never sold as many ladies' low shoes as we are selling this season.

OUR PRICES TALK.

Our large assortment gives our customers a great variety to select from.

. . We sell Oxfords for . .

85c, $1, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75, $2, $2.50

If you desire the best for your money, try ∴ ∵ ∴ ∵

Geo. L. Fuller,

the distributor of fine fitting shoes.

Monson, - - Mass.

Death of Mrs. Katherine Herlihy.

Katherine, the much beloved wife of John P. Herlihy, Jr., Monson's postmaster, passed away suddenly Sunday morning at about 4 o'clock in child-birth, complicated by asthma. The funeral was held at St. Patrick's church Tuesday morning, Rev. Thomas O'Keefe celebrating requiem mass; there was a large attendance. The bearers were Mr. Mulvany of Chicopee Falls, a brother-in-law of Mrs. Herlihy, Peter Shea and John Bagley, also from out of town, and John Maguire, John Collins and John Nelligan. Among the floral pieces were noticed a pillow of pinks and roses, with "Kate" in purple immortelles, two bunches of white roses and two of pinks, and a wreath of pinks, roses, and lilies.

Katherine Connor was born in Ireland 40 years ago. She came to this country when quite young, and for a number of years previous to her marriage nine years ago resided in Monson. She left no children, but a niece, Annie Connor, has lived with her a long time. Mrs. Herlihy left a sister, Mrs. Annie Mulvany of Chicopee Falls, and her mother is living in Ireland. Her death is a severe blow to Mr. Herlihy, and he feels that his interest in life is small indeed. He has the sympathy of a large circle of friends.

The License Question Settled.

The selectmen met Monday afternoon and granted licenses of the first and fourth classes to James Mitchell of the Monson House, and he has fitted up a bar in the basement with a street entrance. The application of Foley & Connell was refused, to the sorrow of some. Mr. Foley feels that prejudice against himself may have been the reason of much of the talk about the opening of a hotel in Bogan's block with a liquor attachment, though it is not generally thought to be true; the close proximity of neighbors, the danger from fire and the total lack of any necessity for another hotel in town have seemed to be among the circumstances which have combined to cause a wail from various quarters, and the judgment of the selectmen is heartily approved by a large number of people.

Misses Kate and Annie Foley left this week for Denver, Col.

A petition is in circulation for making Stewart avenue a town road.

E. I. Jackson of Barre is the guest of his son, Dr. Jackson, at the Century.

Rev. Harry Blackford will preach Sunday at the Universalist church on "Humility."

Julius H. Heimann, of New York, and family, have spent the week at the Century.

Mrs. G. C. Flynt and son have returned from Brooklyn, where they have been visiting.

Mr. and Mrs. George Marble of Florence have been visiting at G. E. Grout's this week.

Herbert Clifford of Waukegan, Mich., is visiting his brother, Ralph Clifford, at the Century.

Miss Anna Beardow of Willimantic has been spending several days with Mrs. C. R. Buffington.

A booth has been placed in the office of the Monson House by the New England Telephone company.

Charles Webber has sent his horse. "Robert E.," to Springfield to be trained by George Phillips.

The Methodist parsonage and the houses of G. L. Keeney and John Orcutt are undergoing interior repairs.

John Wrin is the victim of a sprained ankle. He stepped on a rolling stone while alighting from a wagon Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Howe Grant were called to Cape Ann Saturday by the death of Mrs. Grant's uncle. Mr. Grant has returned.

Dr. Starks of Ocean Grove, N. J., has returned to his home after a few days' visit to his daughter, Mrs. C. G. Thompson.

Pensioners who were in the habit of going to the late Judge G. H. Newton to have their papers made out, can be accommodated by Town Clerk C. M. Gage.

Miss Anna Fuller of Boston has visited her father, Robert H. Fuller, this week. Miss Fuller is the writer of "Pratt's Portraits," "A Literary Courtship," and many others.

About 15 members of Day Spring lodge of Masons visited Thomas lodge at Palmer on Tuesday evening. Day Spring lodge will have a special meeting Tuesday evening and work the second degree.

Hon. John E. Foley, Selectman Fitzgerald and Contractor Lyon of Rockville, Ct., were in town the first part of the week inspecting the state highway, as macadam roads are to be constructed in that city.

The Monson Academy Athletic association will give an entertainment in the Academy chapel next Friday evening. Eugene Hill of Springfield will read, and there will be music by local talent.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Bormester of Brooklyn, N. Y., have engaged rooms at the Century Hotel June 1st for the season. Mrs. Bormester was formerly Miss Field, cousin of Eugene Field, and attended the Academy.

Superintendent Ricketts of the Universalist Sunday school has appointed the following ladies chairman of school concerts: Music, Mrs. C. H. Bruce; recitations, Mrs. C. R. Buffington; decorating, Miss Annie P. Seymour.

The phonograph will be exhibited at the chapel of the Congregational church Tuesday evening. The instrument is a fine one, from New York, managed by a careful exhibitor. It is for the benefit of the Christian Endeavor society.

Chemical company No. 2 of the fire department has organized as follows: foreman, F. E. Severy; first assistant, Joseph Nobert; second assistant, Henry McNulty; clerk, A. S. Anderson; W. A. Needham, George Phillips, G. C. Flynt, W. G. Meacham.

Several bridges have been replanked within a few days, one of them being on Pease avenue, and two at South Monson. The bridge from the street to the cloth and dye house at R. M. and T. Reynolds's new mill, which has rotted away, is to be replaced.

Contractor Herman Osborne is about to erect a barn on his North Main street lot. He is making exterior repairs upon the house occupied by Mrs. Mary Doyle on St. Patrick's church property. Edward P. Newton is building a new piazza around the L of his Main street house.

The Monson Granite company is unusually busy for this season of the year, having a number of hands employed on a Hartford job, and on granite to be used in the construction of a high school building at New Britain. The company is also doing considerable cemetery work, having set up 10 monuments this spring, one being of Scotch, Peterhead, granite.

A. A. Gage camp, Sons of Veterans, invite all veterans' sons to unite with them Memorial Day, and all who desire to are requested to be present at the special meeting Tuesday evening to drill. The camp has ordered uniforms, which are due for Memorial Sunday, and is canvassing for money with which to purchase a flag. Three new members were admitted to the camp this week.

A horse owned by John Letter of Moulton hill and driven by his son Fred, who was accompanied by his sister, Miss Alice, caused considerable commotion at South Monson Wednesday morning by having a fit. The horse began to run and Miss Letter and her brother were thrown from the buggy. The horse made a sudden bolt for the pond near R. M. Reynolds' straw shop, leaving the buggy behind. No special damage was done.

Next Sunday is universally observed as anniversary Sunday of the organization of the Epworth League, for seven years ago the league was organized. The pastor of the Methodist church will regard it by preaching in the morning on the security of the church, and in the evening on "What the Epworth League can do for the 50th Centnry," and the league will sit in a body. The theme of the meeting will be "What I want to see our chapter become and do."

There was a large attendance at the Congregational church last Sunday. Mrs. A. D Norcross sang very sweetly "At Eventide," the words of which were written by Mrs. Thompson. The sermon was listened to with more than common interest. It concerned the manuscripts of the New Testament, and was illustrated by elaborate charts. The sermon next Sunday will relate to the printed Bible, especially the edition in the English language. In connection with the discourse Theodore Reynolds has kindly consented to the exhibition of some of the rare editions of Bibles in his extensive collection.

William Young, who has commenced the historical book on Monson, has gone to his summer home at Lake Sunapee. He will work on the historical data of the town during his spare time at the lake this summer, and will come to Monson early in the fall to complete the book. Mr. Young is a member of the author's club of New York. His work includes "Wishmaker's Town," poems, 1885; and the following plays: "Jonquil," (produced 1871); "The Rogue's March," (1872); "The House of Mauprat," with John G. Wilson, (1882); "The Rajah," (1883); "Ganelon," poetry, (1889); "Joan of Arc," an adaption in verse (1890); "If I were you," (1892); "Young America," (1894).

Academy Notes.

Rev. William North Rice, professor of geology in Wesleyan University, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon before the graduating class on the evening of Sunday, June 14th.

The contestants in the prize speaking contest of the Hitchcock Free High School in Brimfield, which is to be held this evening, have elected Principal A. M. Burke one of the judges.

The senior class has chosen the daisy as the class flower. The class day exercises are to be somewhat more extensive than in former years. To the usual programme will be added class statistics, and a presentation to each of the three lower classes with response by their respective presidents. Horace C. Broughton has been elected class statistician.

Mid-term examinations were held yesterday and to-day. The last rhetoricals of the year occur next Friday.

BELCHERTOWN.

Chas. Davis is painting the library building.

Daniel Hazen, Jr., has just returned from New York with a large assortment of dry goods and groceries.

When Frank Combs was returning home from the village Saturday his horse dropped dead because of the excessive heat.

HAMPDEN.

John Keiser was fined $100 Monday for the illegal selling of liquor.

Walter Pease lost a horse last Saturday, which died of lung fever. Mr. Pease recently purchased the animal in the west.

Sumner Smith has returned from a hospital in New York, where he had a cancerous tumor removed. He is much improved in health.

WEST WARREN.

Mrs. Etta Crossman is out after a severe attack of pneumonia.

Mrs. George Anslow will leave for St. Johns, N. B., Sunday morning.

A large number from the Epworth League attended the Epworth convention at Warren to-day.

Miss Maggie McCame of Newark, N. J., is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Jane Shirley.

There will be an Epworth League anniversary in the M. E. church Sunday evening, with a concert, at 6 o'clock.

William Taylor, the grammar school teacher is sick with pneumonia; his place is being filled by Mrs. Herbert Taylor.

WALES.

T. C. Allder has purchased a fine horse and carriage of W. Royce.

Dennis Maynard is to move to-morrow to Northampton, where he has a position in a grocery store.

Elijah Allen of Brimfield is taking the agricultural census of Wales. His headquarters are at H. A. McFarland's.

Mrs. A. Baldwin of New Hampshire has arrived to care for her mother, Mrs. W. M. Needham, who was taken suddenly very ill this week.

The second annual May Festival will be given by the Baptist Sunday school Wednesday and Thursday evenings, May 27 and 28. A musical and literary entertainment will be given each evening, refreshments will be served, and fancy articles will be on sale.

A. A. Cobbett has returned from a four-months' trip in California, most of his time being spent in Los Angeles and vicinity. He reports a very delightful time, and has improved in health exceedingly. He will spend a short time here, then will start out for another pleasure trip.

WARREN.

The rails for the electric road have arrived.

The number of bicyclists in town is rapidly increasing.

Both of the cemeteries are being put in order for Memorial Day.

Mrs. Tripp of Springfield is stopping with her daughter, Mrs. Holbrook.

Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Joyce are occupying their old home on Maple street.

Miss Mary Bacon was the guest of Mrs. Edward Fairbanks last Sabbath.

A. L. Converse has sold some tillage land on the West Brookfield road to Will Jones.

Mrs. Strickland and Mrs. Whitney are in Springfield, the guests of Frank Strickland.

Mr. Larson of Southbridge has the sympathy of many Warren people in his bereavement.

Miss Fannie Strickland is spending the week in Cambridge, with her sister, Mrs. Jameson.

Edward Fairbanks and George Shumway have gone to the Adirondacks for a fishing and hunting trip.

F. H. Moore is planning to close his store in the old hotel block, and will devote his time to his restaurant.

Evans & Co. of Worcester have been placing some monuments and markers in the cemetery this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bowen are spending a few days in town. They will leave for Chicago the first of the week.

President Merrill Gates of Amherst College will deliver the address at the high school commencement June 9th.

Mr. Taylor, principal of the West Warren grammar school, is quite seriously ill at his home on Pine street with pneumonia.

The works of the Slater Engine company now run until ten minutes past twelve at noon, in order to close at five on Saturdays.

The public school teachers have presented Supt. Brodeur with a very handsome roll top desk, a token of their appreciation of his services to them.

The members of the American Benefit Association and their friends enjoyed a very pleasant social evening in Grand Army Hall Tuesday night.

The score of last Saturday's ball game between the Spencer wire village nine and the F. M. T. S. nine of Warren was 8 to 2 in favor of the Spencer team.

Rev. Mr. Dickerson of Tuft's college preached in the Universalist church last Sabbath. Mrs. Charles Converse sang in the quartette in place of Miss Alice Buck.

Messrs. Keith and Curtis are cleaning up the picnic ground on Wickaboag lake, and will doubtless find it a very attractive location for picnic and camping parties. They have leased it for five years.

The will of the late Cutler Moore has been probated. His son, F. H. Moore, is appointed executor and residuary legatee. After a number of bequests to relatives the rest of the property is left to his wife and son.

Miss Helen Demond was home from Smith college last week. Miss Clark of Kingston, R. I., came with her and rendered some very pleasing whistling solos at the entertainment given by the Young Ladies' Mission circle Friday night.

Electric Road Matters.

The electric road is still the general topic of conversation. It is progressing rapidly through the Brookfields, but there are some obstacles to be removed ere it is laid through Warren, the chief of which is the crossing of the present Boston and Albany railroad bridge on Main street. The present bridge is neither wide enough nor sufficiently strong to secure safe passage. The roadway between here and West Brookfield also calls for considerable widening, as with the prospect of a through state road at some future time the width and grade must meet the approval of the state survey. With that in view, Warren people do not enthuse much over electric connections with Ware, or in fact with any other license town.

Funeral of Amos Munroe.

There was a large attendance at the funeral of Amos Munroe, which took place at his late residence last Friday afternoon. Notable among the townspeople present were the oldest men of the town, long-time associates of Mr. Munroe. Those present from out of town were George H. Westgate of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Munroe and Mrs. Norval Bacon of Fiskdale, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Gifford of Sturbridge, Mrs. John B. Peck of Sanderstown, R. I., George Wheeler of Providence, R. I., Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gifford of Springfield, Mrs. Lena Smith of Fiskdale, Alfred L. Converse and Charles Converse of Warren, Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Jennison of Ware, Miss Clara A. Wood of Monson, Frank L. Mellen of Worcester, Walter Mellen of Brookfield, Smith Paige of Stafford. The bearers were Moses H. Baker, Byron W. Charles, George W. Earle, Frank L. Mellen, George W. Sherman, Clifton S. Gould. The services were conducted by Rev. W. K. Peirce; Mrs. Peirce and George M. Hitchcock sang two selections. There were choice and appropriate floral tributes. In his remarks Mr. Peirce said, in part:

"Mr. Munroe was the first one I met when I came to Brimfield; during all the years that I have been here I have had many reasons for looking upon him as a true friend, and I unite with others to-day in affectionate remembrances of him and sincere regret for his departure. I recall how constant was his attendance upon the Sunday service, and how I missed him when increasing age and infirmity kept him away. All who knew him will readily remember his interest in all concerns of the village, and how his heart and purse were ever open to the appeals of charity and sympathy, and to all projects for the public good. His practical knowledge and good judgment frequently invited people to him for advice, and induced them to repose confidence in his opinion. In that part of his long life among us when his doors were open to the entertainment of guests, there were many who found a home there with him and the companion whom he parted with years ago, and whom, it is beautiful to think, he may even now have met again. The hotel was also a familiar social resort, where his townsmen met one another and him, and where his strong, decided personality made its impression. There he sturdily maintained his views and defended his positive convictions, for he was a man of brain and conviction, and one whom it was not easy to overcome in the arena of mental controversy. His tenacious memory and warm social disposition enabled him to contribute largely to the entertainment of others, and to the social life of the community. How quickly the pathetic or tragic, or any appeal to the heart, touched him. How the eye was suffused with kindly moisture, and the voice trembled, or utterance was choked entirely for a moment, so that he could not speak. Those who knew him best will recall how he refrained from joining in any vituperation, and condemnation of people's faults and mistakes,—how rarely, if ever, was heard the bitter word from him. He often found himself induced the rather to defend those who were subjected to harsh censure. This is a trait which it is pleasant to remember in the lives of our friends when death has closed and sealed them. Among many incidents of his life and phases of his character we recall his long mourning for his boy just ripening into manhood, whom he gave up to his country's call. Ever after, as often as the day commemorative of the awful sacrifice came around, when the soldiers' graves were strewn with flowers, he remembered and kept the day as hallowed time. It was not to him as to so many, a time for amusement and recreation; it was a day of sacrament,—a holy day. I shall long remember the interest with which I listened, as I came to see him after he was confined to the house, to his stories of his early life and his mother's care. He was aged and broken, but traces still lingered of the old-time faculty for entertainment. I have often been touched and softened when watching him and the two grandchildren, one of whom lived his brief little life here, and then obeyed the gracious call, "Suffer little children to come unto me." What words can express the delight of his heart in the child that was given, like an angel sent from heaven, to cheer and brighten his declining years. It was beautiful to see the extremes of life meet, to see the large, rugged, strongly marked face changing its expression, the shades of coming death dispelled from it a moment, transfigured as it would be, by tenderness and pride and affection. It is pleasant to think of his last days, brightened by courage and hopefulness and affection. Though he was weakened by disease and bodily decline, his home was never dearer nor his family ever nearer to him. He spoke with deep feeling of the care that he received, and of how happy he was. That the heart should hold its own, even though memory and mind fade away and all else be shattered, is a beautiful symbol and evidence of immortality."

BRIMFIELD.

A prize speaking contest will be given in the town hall this evening by pupils of the Hitchcock Free High School. Four $5 gold pieces will be awarded to the four best speakers. The following is the programme:

Piano duet
Misses Eva M. Hathaway and Annie L. Taylor.
"Malibran and the Young Musician." Anon
Alice Elizabeth Whittemore.
The Chariot Race, from "Ben Hur." Lew Wallace
Paul Rutherford Atherton.
"The College Oil-Cans." Anon
Mamie Elizabeth Stone.
Song. Selected
Miss Blanche Sparhawk.
"What Ailed Ugly Sam." Anon
John Mason Wells.
Selection from "Captain January."
Laura E. Richards.
Agnes Winifred Monahan.
"Born with an 'Ego'." Charles D. Warner
Charles Henry George.
Song Selected
Miss Blanche Sparhawk,
Selection from "Guenn." Blanche Willis Howard
Annie Louis Taylor.
"The Sentry on the Tower." F. E. Trollope
Clarence Blashfield Brown.
Selection from "Lady of the Lake." Scott
Eva May Hathaway.
Song, Selected
Miss Blanche Sparhawk.

LEGISLATIVE MATTERS.

BOSTON, May 13, 1896.

The salvation of the Bulfinch state house seems to be fully assured, for the report of the House committee on ways and means of seven to four that the bill of Mr. Tuttle of Boston ought not to pass, doubtless represents the sober judgment of a majority of the members. That is, it is their judgment under a public protest which has been aroused from Maine to Pennsylvania, and which has brought thousands of remonstrances to the state house. If the reports are true, only one member of the committee was opposed to the bill at first, but this expression of popular reverence for the old state house has not only saved for this year, but also for this generation and probably forever. Now the front must be remodeled so as to be usable once more, not forgetting to restore the house to a hall which is suitable for the public business, right between the Senate and the governor.

The venerable editor of the province laws, Mr. Abner C. Goodell, has once more proved the truth of the predication that there is no force in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts which can oust him from the position as editor. Though the enterprise has cost about $200,000, instead of $10,000 which was first believed to be sufficient, and though it will take 56 years for him to finish the work at his present rate of progress, yet he retains his hold and neither extravagance of service nor delay in its execution can avail to disturb him. The Senate judiciary were unanimously against him this year, while the House judiciary was unanimously for him. Hence the House defeated the bill which was passed by the Senate, and Mr. Goodell remains undisturbed.

No greater personal interest has attached to any question this season than to the proposed erection of a statue of Gen. Butler. Under it have been the fires of intense personal antagonism or admiration. The proposal to do this honor to him is so near to the fierce disputes and encounters in which he bore an active part that it is impossible to secure a calm judgment upon the merits of the case. In that respect the advice to postpone action until the present generation has passed away is sound. It is evident already that, however just be the claim of the general upon the gratitude of the state, at least half of the people believe him to have been unworthy of honor at their hands. Under such circumstances, it is surely the wiser council to await the verdict of posterity. It must be agreed by all who propose to erect statues at all that the most worthy should receive the honor. Massachusetts does not want to set aside the higher in valor and statesmanship in order to bestow single honor upon the lower. Hence the aggressiveness of the friends of one candidate ought not to prevent a careful consideration of the merits of other heroes and wise men in order that the state's preference may stand the test of time.

Now it was made evident at the hearing, and it was reiterated on the floor of the House during the debate, that there are plenty of other men in the history of Massachusetts who have strong claims upon the gratitude of the people. Let the worth and the service of these men be compared in order that the state make no mistake. The estimate of Butler's friends must be exaggerated when it is soberly said that he did more than any other man to put down the rebellion, and when his name is linked with that of Lincoln in services to the country it only weakens the case to have such assertions made, and leads people to distrust the opinion and the enthusiasm which is so ardent in the behalf of a statue.

The debate upon the first stage of the question, upon the report of the committee on ways and means that the appropriation of $50,000 ought to be referred to the next Legislature, came near to the dangerous personalities which lurked under the surface. Mr. Gallivan of Boston alluded to Frank B. Sanborn, who appeared as the only remonstrant at the hearing, as "a jackass kicking a dead lion." He did not put it exactly in these words, but he used the expression so near to the direct form of statement that it had all the effect of a positive assertion. James H. Mellen of Worcester, too, challenged the opponents of a statue to bring on their charges and attack Butler's memory if they wished. He thought it was cowardly to refuse to meet all attacks, and believed that the issue should be forced now, when Butler had friends who were ready to stand up and defend his memory. The opposition, however, kept their temper and said not a word which could be construed into an attack upon Butler, though there was plenty of ammunition waiting for a timely moment for discharge, and it is likely that, on the subsequent stages, if the case needs it, there will be some reasons given why Butler is not worthy of a statue at the hands of the state. If the personalities once begin, it is impossible to say where they will end.

The contest between the Senate and the House over the amount of capital which should be required of safe deposit, loan and trust companies has been settled by loans of a conference committee, by whose report the Senate recedes from its position that $200,000 ought to be required, and accepts the view of the House that $100,000 is sufficient. The savings bank commissioners were strongly in favor of the larger sum, and that is what gave it its strength before the Legislature. They wanted to have strong institutions, but the answer was that to require so much capital would prevent the establishment of such companies in all except the large cities, whereas the smaller places ought to have the advantage, and $100,000 would be plenty enough in them. So the small places won the fight and there is a plume in the cap of Mr. Tolman of Pittsfield.

One of the sensations at the state house has been the breaking into the desk of Senator Wellman sometime between Friday and Monday. It is supposed that the object was to secure possession of the bill for a south union station, but he had it in his possession all the time and the burglary was fruitless. The door of the committee room was not injured, and entrance must have been either by a key or through an adjoining room. The delay of the sub-committee in reporting the station bill to the full committee is the subject of adverse comment by those who are impatient to hurry up proceedings. The committee has had its time for reporting extended to May 10. This is several times that this has been done, and now this action puts it apparently out of the question that the Legislature can adjourn in May. The members have not had at any time a well founded ground for the belief, through some of them have been so foolish as to believe that they might be prorogued next week. Some of the most important issues of the session are yet to be passed upon. Most of the men are anxious to get home, but the public has the right to hold them to faithful service.

The cattle commissioners continue to be the object of criticism on the part of the farming interest. There will doubtless be an effort made to restrict their powers in regard to the application of the tuberculin test, compelling them to attend first of all to the cases of animals which have been quarantined and are kept at an expense to the state of $250 a day. It is also proposed that as soon as the appropriation is exhausted for the application of tuberculin the state audior shall notify the commissioners in order that they may not exceed the amount of money which they are authorized to spend. The farmers still have hostility to the commission, especially in Worcester county, though those who have followed the work of the commission most intelligently and from the point of view of the public good, are disposed to give the commission credit for a large amount of service to the state in the face of bitter opposition.

The dinner of the Republican members of the Legislature will occur at the United States Hotel Monday, May 25. Lieut. Gov. Wolcott and George H. Lyman, chairman of the Republican state committee, will be guests. LANDON.

CARD OF THANKS.—Thanks are tendered to all friends and acquaintances for all kindnesses done and sympathy expressed in our late bereavement.

HARRIET S. NEWTON,
WARREN F. NEWTON,
LURA S. FITCH.

Monson, Mass.

For every quarter in a man's pocket there are a dozen uses; and to use each one in such a way as to derive the greatest benefit is a question every one must solve for himself. We believe, however, that no better use could be made of one of these quarters than to exchange it for a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, a medicine that every family should be provided with. For sale by O. P. Allen, Palmer; Paige & Mason, Three Rivers; G. L. Keeney, Monson; A. P. Adams, Thorndike; William Kennedy, Ware.

Always in season, Hopkins' Steamed Hominy (Hulled Corn). Elegant lunch in milk. Qt. can, 10c.

Forbes & Wallace's,
Springfield.

SPRINGFIELD, MAY, 1896.

A Sale of Dress Goods and Wash Stuffs.

We have been doing some great bargain buying, and we have been cutting prices. Yardsticks are going to jump in the dress goods and wash stuff sections this month if low prices will make them.

Colored Dress Goods.

1500 yards of colored all-wool serge, 21c a yard; and nearly every color that anybody is likely to want. Did you ever hear of such a thing before?

Here's something more remarkable—1200 yards of silk and wool dress goods in nearly a score of pretty summer combinations, 25c a yard.

Silk and wool dress goods at 25c a yard! We had such at 50c last season and thought it a great bargain.

Another: The best selling 50c cotton and wool stuff that we've had on the counter—put down to 37½c a yard. It has all the appearance of a silk and wool fabric; and there are twelve of the best combinations to choose from.

And nearly 2000 yards of 50-inch India twill serge to sell at 50c a yard. We have it in a great many shades of—navy, green,

brown, red,
tan, gray.

And any merchant in the land would think it cheap at 75c a yard.

Wash Goods.

500 pieces of dress and apron ginghams slightly soiled by water at a fire in the factory—3c a yard. We could sell ten thousand yards of such easily at 3c a yard—but we have only about two thousand yards in all. Women who come too late are going to be sorry.

Muslin at 5c a yard, and enough for a quarter of the town, at 5c.

12½c dimity at 6¼c a yard—just half price—and not enough of 'em to go around half-the-week's shoppers.

Shantung pongee 6¼c a yard—half price again! Light and dark patterns; more light than dark.

15c dimities at 8c a yard---almost half price! And a big abundance of 'em; enough for the week out at least.

And Ceylon silks at 25c a yard---we musn't forget Ceylon silks at 25c a yard. It is the biggest wash goods bargain of the year. The patterns were never lovelier when we sold them at 50c a yard; and we have more of them.

Half a cartload of remnants of wash goods to go at what they'll fetch.

Yardsticks will jump and scissors will flash this week for sure. Be on time to get some of the bargains.

FORBES & WALLACE.

Main, Vernon and Pynchon Streets, Springfield.

The man who eats because he is hungry is, thus far, on a level with the brutes. The man who stops eating the moment his hunger is appeased is the wise man. Nature needs no more food than she calls for. Continued excess brings about indisgestion or dyspepsia, with loss of flesh, strength, sleep, ambition and mental power; and an accumulation of aches, pains and many dangerous local maladies.

The stomach now can do nothing alone. We must appeal to some artificially digested food which can also digest other foods. That is to say, we must use the Shaker Digestive Cordial. The chronic pain and distress ceases. Appetite presently revives. Flesh and vigor gradually come back, and the sufferer recovers. But he must be careful in future. A trial bottle for 10 cents.

LAXOL is the best medicine for children, doctors recommend it in place of Castor Oil.

Mr. D. P. Davis, a prominent liverymen and merchant of Goshen, Va., has this to say on the subject of rheumatism: "I take pleasure in recommending Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism, as I know from personal experience that it will do all that is claimed for it. A year ago this spring my brother was laid up in bed with inflammatory rheumatism and suffered intensely. The first application of Chamberlain's Pain Balm eased the pain, and the use of one bottle completely cured him. For sale by O. P. Allen, Palmer; Paige & Mason, Three Rivers; G. L. Keeney, Monson; A. P. Adams, Thorndike; William Kennedy, Ware.

How to Treat a Wife.

(From Pacific Health Journal.)

First, get a wife; second be patient. You may have great trials and perplexities in your business, but do not therefore, carry to your home a cloudy or contracted brow. Your wife may have trials, which, though of less magnitude, may be hard for her to bear. A kind word, a tender look, will do wonders in chasing from her brow all clouds of gloom. To this we would add, always keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. It is the best and is sure to be needed sooner or later. Your wife will then know that you really care for her and wish to protect her health. For sale by O. P. Allen, Palmer; Paige & Mason, Three Rivers; G. L. Keeney, Monson; A. P. Adams, Thorndike; William Kennedy, Ware.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER.

ABSOLUTELY PURE.

A cream of tartar Baking Powder. Highest of all in leavening power.—Latest United States Government Food Report.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO.,
106 Wall Street, New York.

New Store.

NOW OPEN.

E. H. Brown & Son,

Noble's New Block, Monson.

E. H. Brown & Son would respectfully announce that they have opened

A Cash Grocery

in Noble's new block, whereby they invite all to come and see them. If acquainted, come. If not, come and get acquainted, and examine their stock

OF FRESH, NEW GOODS.

Get prices, compare quality, and give them a trial.

While they do not expect a monopoly of your patronage, they earnestly hope by giving their best attention to selecting and keeping in stock goods of the first quality and by square dealing to gain your confidence and thus merit a share of your patronage.

Piano and Banjo Lessons

given by

Misses Annie and Carrie Fish,

Palmer.

22-tf

WANTED.—Energetic men, with or without experience to sell choice fruit and ornamental stock. Good pay, no lost time, first class territory. Complete outfit free. Write for terms. Nelson Bogue, Batavia Nurseries, Batavia, N. Y.

One Good Sale ◆ Deserves Another.

Our sale of 1400 sack suits was such a success that we have purchased

250 Gray Worsted

SACK SUITS made to retail at $22 and $25, and have marked them at $14.50. $14.50.

We shall turn these into the money drawer in short order and out of town patrons are urged to come early. Such a bargain in fancy worsteds has never before been made.

Black Clay Worsted Cutaways, $12.00, $13.75, $16.00.

Light weight shirts and underwear at popular prices.

HAYNES & CO.,

Clothiers, Tailors, Hatters, Furnishers.

SIGN OF THE GOLDEN GLOBE.

SPRINGFIELD, = = = MASS.

W. E. STONE,
Lawrence Block,
PALMER,.....MASS.

Ladies' Calico Wrappers, 75c, $1.00, $1.25.

Shirt Waists, laundered collars and cuffs, 50c and $1.00.

Shirt Waist Studs, only 25c.

Ties, 25c. Belts, 25c.

W. E. STONE,
Lawrence Block,
PALMER,.....MASS.

See our prices for

COAL

R. M. & Theo. REYNOLDS,
Monson, Mass.

To be delivered now, subject to advance at any time. We furnish good men to house and bin same. All coal is screened and delivered in bags.

The Lehigh is as good as any we have ever sold. The Lackawanna is the best prepared coal that comes to market for domestic use.

Send your order by postal card or leave it at our office.

Price for Lackawanna:

Stove size, - $5.85 per ton

Prices for Lehigh:

Stove size, - $6.00 per ton.
Chestnut, - 6.00 " "
Furnace, - 5.90 " "

Less than (1) one ton 25 cents added for the load.

Delivered in Bags,

which will save expense of housing in many cases.

MARCH 2d, 1896.

CHERRY BALSAM

Cures coughs, colds, throat and lung troubles. Others use it, we ask you to try it.

LeGro & Lynde, Druggists,
next to Post Office,
PALMER.

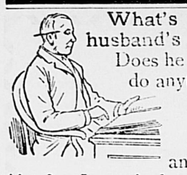
Good looking people usually have good teeth. LeGRO'S TOOTH POWDER will keep the teeth white, gums healthy and breath pure.

L



What's your husband's work? Does he have to do anything as hard as your washing and scrubbing? It can't be. What can a man do that's as hard, for most men, as this constant house-drudgery is, for most women? If he has any sympathy for you, tell him to get you some Pearline. Sympathy is all very well, but it's Pearline, not sympathy, that you want for washing and cleaning. Nothing else that's safe to use will save you so much downright hard work at the wash-tub or about the house. It saves money, too—saves the ruinous wear on clothes and paint from needless rubbing. 464

Millions NOW USE Pearline

Salt Rheum

and Eczema cured. These two complaints are so tenacious that the readers of the JOURNAL should know of the success obtained by using Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. Where all other treatments have failed, it has made a complete cure.

No more horrible case of salt rheum was ever reported than that of Wilbur L. Hale, quartermaster, Pratt Post, G. A. R., Rondout, N. Y. Several physicians utterly failed to render him any relief; finally was tried and steady improvement followed its use, and a permanent cure resulted.

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S
FAVORITE REMEDY

It is used with similiar success in cases of scrofula, nervousness, kidney and liver complaints, and in all diseases brought about by bad blood and shattered nerves.

Become an Agent

and make money. Exclusive rights and all sales in your territory credited to you. These are the discounts on our $100

"Phœnix" Bicycle

—no better wheel has ever been made.

2 to 5 wheels,	15	per cent.
5 to 10 "	17½	"
10 to 15 "	20	"
15 to 20 "	22½	"
20 to 25 "	25	"
25 up "	27	"

You will furthermore receive (in cash) the discount on the entire number of wheels you take and pay for up to August 30th, no matter how few ordered at the beginning.

Catalogues free for the asking.

Correspond with us at once or your territory may be taken by a neighbor.

STOVER BICYCLE MNFG. CO.,
575-577 Madison Ave., New York.

LARRABEES
RHEUMATIC
LINIMENT

A standard and sovereign household remedy for over half a century. It is a wonderful curative agent in all painful diseases, such as

Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuralgia, Backache, Catarrh, Toothache,

and other painful ailments. To be had of all druggists, or by mail on receipt of 25 cents. Trade supplied by Geo. C. Goodwin & Co., or any wholesale druggist.

WINKLEMANN & BROWN DRUG CO.
BALTIMORE, MD., U. S. A.

WASN'T ONE TO MARRY RECKLESS.—"I hope, Jennie, you have given the matter serious consideration," said the lady to a servant girl who had "given notice" because she was to be married "that day two weeks." "Oh! I have, ma'am," was the earnest reply. "I've been to two fortune tellers and a clairvoyant, and looked in a sign book, and dreamed on a lock of his hair, and been to one of those astrologers, and to a meedjum, and they all tell me to go ahead, ma'am. I ain't one to marry reckless like, ma'am."—Estern Argus.

Not even a grain of salt is wanting to emphasize and make perfect the flavor of

NONE SUCH MINCE MEAT.

Pure, wholesome,—an economical luxury. Sold everywhere. Take no substitute.

Send name and address for booklet, "Mrs. Pepkins Thanksgiving."

MERRELL-SOULE CO., SYRACUSE, N. Y.

it's neglect of throat and bronchial troubles that leads to death-dealing disease.

HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR

No wonder Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar is praised by its users. Its curative effects are like magic. Sold by druggists.

Pike's Toothache Drops cure in one minute.

Dr. O. W. Holmes says that music is an ever sovereign balm. And so it is, thank Mercy, for sore spirits. But for the aches, pains and weaknesses of the body Johnson's Belladonna Plaster is better. It soothes, warms, comforts and heals. It seeks out the cause of the trouble and sets it right. It contains virtues old as history, yet never before so combined as to be of the highest practical efficacy. Note the Red Cross on all the genuine.

JOHNSON & JOHNSON,
Manufacturing Chemists, New York.

A NEATLY-PLANNED BURGLARY.

[CONTINUED FROM FIRST PAGE.]

"Captain Oyler is rabbit-shooting with the rector, but he will be home to dinner."

"Oh, I merely wanted to have his account of what happened. Now, would you be so kind as to have the wires arranged around the house in the exact place the burglars left them!"

The gardener who had taken them up brought them again. It was fine but strong wire, fastened to the ground by small iron pegs.

"Are the wires in the exact place?"

"I put the pegs in the very holes, sir," replied the gardener. "You can see the holes yourself, sir."

"And now I shall be glad to be left alone a little while," I said. "I want to make some minute investigations."

My wish was complied with and I went down on my hands and knees to examine. I was well satisfied. In five minutes I had made an important discovery. I next examined the window where the burglars had entered from the outside, and then entering the house I went upstairs, and, with the help of the maid, examined the bedroom. The window had been left half open, the maid said, as "master was so particular about fresh air." Next I inspected the footsteps, a matter of some difficulty, considering the number of people who had been there since. But, finally, I traced them across a flower-bed into the shubbery, where they were quite distinct. Only one person had passed there, and I came to the conclusion the sapient police had evolved two robbers from their inner consciousness.

But what interested me more was, that the palings which separted the shrubbery from a public by-way had lately been tarred and were not yet dry. The robber had climbed over the palings, and, whoever he was, he must have carried away a little of the tar on his person. In fact, the marks of his fingers were quite distinct.

I felt tolerably satisfied, and having walked to the post office and sent a telegram, I strolled around the village till the reply came. It was then four o'clock, and as dinner was not until six, I took a longer walk through the forest.

On getting back I had a pleasant half-hour in the billiard room with Mr. Engstrom.

Captain Olyer returned just in time for dinner, and I was only introduced to him as we entered the dining room. He was faultlessly got up, of well made figure, and handsome features bearing traces of dissipation. As for his speech, he had invincible objection to the letter "r," and carefully avoided its use. We had finished soup, when I begged a thousand pardons for leaving the table for a few minutes. My host looked a little surprised at my want of manners, and the captain surveyed me through his eye glasses as though I were a new kind of an animal. I was only gone a few minutes, but it was time well spent.

When we reached the dessert and Mrs. Engstrom had left the table, I led the conversation round to the burglarly, and induced the captain to give his version. I waited till he had finished, and then, looking at him steadily, said,—

"Now isn't it rather a curious thing, Captain Olyer, that you should fall over the wires when they were quite three feet away?"

Engstrom stared at me, and the captain did not answer until he had drunk a glass of wine.

"What do you mean, sir?" he asked, at last.

"I mean," I replied, still watching him keenly, "wasn't it a curious thing that you should be tripped up by blades of grass? And is it not curious also," I went on mercilessly, "that your servant, or rather your accomplice, should be standing under the bedroom window here at the same time he was in London?"

The captain sat dazed and pale and motionless, though his hands trembled and Mr. Engstrom gasped out,—

"Mr. De Warre, whatever are you suggesting?"

"I suggest," I answered, as steadily as before, "that the burglar is sitting here before you."

"Sir," thundered Mr. Engstrom, pale with emotion, "you are forgetting yourself. To accuse my old friend's son of being a thief! Preposterous!"

"This is not your old friend's son, Mr. Engstrom. Captain Olyer of the 38th Hussars is at present with his regiment at Woolrich, and replied to me to-day. Here is the telegram:—

"'Captain Olyer to De Warre:—Am here. What is the meaning of this inquiry?'"

The pseudo captain had risen, and looked round as if seeking some means of escape.

"Sit down," cried Engstrom," and if you want to save yourself from jail, make a full confession. DeWarre, I beg your pardon."

"Don't trouble about that," I said; "of course, it was hard to credit it."

The poor wretch sat down again and stammered out his story. His name turned out to be Odgers, an ex-sergeant in the Hussars, expelled from the army in disgrace. His accomplice, who acted as his servant, had hidden the jewels in the wood, near the house, till they could safely be removed.

At breakfast time the next morning I had to relate how I had unearthed the conspiracy.

"First of all," I said, "the fact that the burglary occurred shortly after you had brought the jewelry from London convinced me that the thief was someone in the house. And when I had the wires relaid and found that the captain had fallen three feet away from them—a fact which I discovered from the impression made by his knees and the toes of his boots, I thought things were very suspicious against him. Upstairs I found that it was very little trouble for him to slip into your wife's room and throw the casket down as soon as she left the room. I learned that he had been the last to appear at the dinner-table, and the case was strengthened. At the railway station I discovered that a man, answering to the description of his "servant," had arrived from London on the 5.30 train and not by the 9.15, as it was made to appear. What effect the telegram had you already know. In tracing the footsteps through the shrubbery I found that whoever had passed over the palings must have carried away some of the tar on his clothing. At dinner last night I seized my only opportunity and examined this man's overcoat and a pair of trousers. The tar was there, and he had evidently tried to remove it. That is all, I think."

"Do you know where our bill poster is to be found?" asked the theatrical manager. "No," replied one of the boys, "but I know where he puts up." "Where is it?" "On the fence," gayly rejoined the youth, as he neatly dodged a package of matinee tickets. —World.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, } ss.
LUCAS COUNTY.

FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of CATARRH that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

{SEAL} A. W. GLEASON
Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Spring

Is the season for purifying, cleansing, and renewing. The accumulations of waste everywhere are being removed. Winter's icy grasp is broken and on all sides are indications of nature's returning life, renewed force, and awakening power.

Spring

Is the time for purifying the blood, cleansing the system and renewing the physical powers. Owing to close confinement, diminished perspiration and other causes, in the winter, impurities have not passed out of the system as they should but have accumulated in the blood.

Spring

Is therefore the best time to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, because the system is now most in need of medicine. That Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood purifier and Spring medicine is proved by its wonderful cures. A course of Hood's Sarsaparilla now may prevent great suffering later on.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills cure Liver Ills; easy to take, easy to operate. 25c.

We sell the ROYAL WINTHROP GRAND.
Also the HERALD B RANGE, the two BEST STOVES made.

Shaw Brothers, Three Rivers.

Your credit is good---

Don't wonder if this means you. 'Cause it does. It means everybody who wants furniture, carpets, mattings, stoves or ranges, crockeryware, bedwear, baby carriages, or anything else in our line.

And the only requirement we make is that whatever terms of payment you agree to—you will live up to.

Have you ever noticed

how bright the handle of our front door is? Sapolio? Oh, no; just the ordinary usage of our trade.

STOCKS. BONDS. GRAIN.

F. W. Davison,
BROKER,
Palmer, Mass.,
Correspondent of the BOSTON STOCK AND GRAIN EXCHANGE.

The Boston Stock and Grain Exchange is incorporated under the laws of the State of Massachusetts. Capital $100,000, fully paid. Execute orders to buy and sell all stocks, bonds, grain and provisions for cash or on moderate margin. Private wires to Boston, New York and Chicago. Quotations on view daily between the hours of ten and three.

It cures from head to foot.

Puritana

PRIZE FORMULA OF Prof. Dixi Crosby, M.D., LL.D. DARTMOUTH COLLEGE

Puritana corrects, strengthens, and naturalizes the stomach by an original, common-sense process. It causes the food to be promptly and properly digested in accordance with nature's laws, and creates new blood, new tissues, new nerve force, new vigor, and new life. These fresh forces expel impurities, humors, and degenerated elements from the body, whether they exist in the Stomach, Blood, Liver, Kidneys, Lungs, Nerves, Brain, or Skin.

Nature's Cure

It makes weak and weary men and women strong and healthy.

OFFICIAL.

Seal of New Hampshire.

The cures effected in this State by Dr. Dixi Crosby's prize formula Puritana are so astonishing and the results with which we personally have used this remarkable medical discovery are so entirely satisfactory that we deem it our duty to accord it our public indorsement and private recommendation.

Governor of New Hampshire.
Ex-Governor of New Hampshire.
Secretary of State.
R. R. Commissioner.
State Senator.
Bank Commissioner.
Sec'y Board of Agriculture.
County Solicitor.
Insurance Commissioner.
Cashier Merrimac Co. Bank.
Practising Physician.
Treas. Loan and Trust Savings Bank.
Mayor of Concord.

92% Puritana cures case after case that has been given up as hopeless. Ninety-two per cent. of all sickness is caused by a "Wrong Stomach."

Puritana makes the Heart Right, Lungs Right, Blood Right, Kidneys Right, Nerves Right, Liver Right, Health Right,

Because it makes the Stomach Right.

If you are a sufferer get of your druggist this great disease-conquering discovery (the price is $1 for the complete treatment, consisting of one bottle of Puritana, one bottle of Puritana Pills, and one bottle of Puritana Tablets, all inclosed in one package), or write to the undersigned, and you will bless the day when you heard of Puritana. The Puritana Compound Co., Concord, N. H.

Just as day follows night, so Perfect Digestion follows the use of Puritana.

There is fun in the foam, and health in the cup of HIRES Rootbeer—the great temperance drink.

Made only by The Charles E. Hires Co., Philadelphia. A 25c. package makes 5 gallons. Sold everywhere.

PARKER'S GINGER TONIC

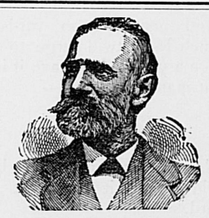
abates Lung Troubles, Debility, distressing stomach and female ills, and is noted for making cures when all other treatment fails. Every mother and invalid should have it.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists

HINDERCORNS The only sure Cure for Corns. Stops all pain. Makes walking easy. 15c. at Druggists.

E. S. Bryant, D. M. D.,
Dentist,
Lynde's Block, Palmer.
Office hours: 8.30 to 12.30. 1.30 to 5 p. m.



F. M. EAGER.

Boots and Shoes Manufactured to Measure.

REPAIRING NEATLY DONE AT SHORT NOTICE.

Dealer in Sewing Machines and Supplies.

Machines to rent or sold on monthly payments.

F. M. EAGER, PALMER.

One swallow does not make Spring, but one swallow of One Minute Cough Cure brings relief. LeGro & Lynde.

Wall Papers.

New styles, spring patterns. Borders to match.

How nice your rooms will look with new paper on them, and more healthy, too.

For the . . .

largest and best assortment,

. . . go to

LeGRO & LYNDE'S,
next to post office, PALMER.

German-American Investment Co.
FOUNDED 1892.
52 Wall Street, New York.
(Under supervision of Banking Department of the State of New York.)

Authorized capital, - - - $1000,000
Paid up capital, - - - - $200,000

Letters of credit, checks and drafts on foreign countries at cheaper rates.

SPECIALTY—Cable transfers and all other money transactions with Germany and Austria-Hungary.

Foreign money, bank notes, bonds, bought and sold.

Bankers wanted as agents in various town.

AMONG THE FAIRIES.

[CONTINUED FROM FIRST PAGE.]

Carl's pity was immediately aroused and he asked her what was the trouble, to which she answered that her ankle was sprained and she could go no farther. Her horse, she said, was still a quarter league over the hill. Thinking to do her a kindness and to find shelter for himself, Carl invited her to ride on his horse, while he himself should walk.

After much effort she was finally seated on the horse's back, ready to start forward. "Oh," said she, "there is my shawl. Will you please step back and get it for me?" Sure enough, there was a fine shawl upon the grass some distance from the horse, and as Carl stepped back very politely after it the witch's daughter, for it was she, spurred the horse onward. She thought to leave Carl at such a distance from any house and with all his food and provisions in the saddle-bags, that he would starve to death before reaching any place where he could get food.

Carl did not expect any such tricks as this, but on account of his extreme kindness to horses and his great fondness for animals he was able, whenever he whistled, to call this horse, whose name was Hero. So he put his fingers to his lips and gave a long, loud whistle. Hero, regardless of the efforts of the witch's daughter to stop him, immediately turned back and came prancing up to meet him.

The witch's daughter laughed pleasantly as she came back and tried to make it appear as a joke.

Carl, however, recognized her, and made her get down from the horse. He then proceeded on his journey.

Carl knew, now, that he must be near the witch's castle, and, accordingly, he took the ring from his finger. Immediately a rabbit came hopping up to him and said in a voice which Carl knew to be that of his old friend the fairy, "The witch's daughter is watching, and unless you are very careful will try to steal your ring and cup to-night."

As Carl, however, needed sleep, the fairy rabbit agreed to stand guard, and as soon as there was any danger to rub its paw against his face to awaken him. With so faithful a sentinel Carl was soon sleeping soundly, and had slept for some time when he was awakened by the rabbit brushing against his face.

He was awakened by the rabbit brushing against his face.

He kept the ring in his pocket and had tied the cup to his finger. By the bright moonlight Carl could readily see the witch's daughter silently creeping toward him. She was just about to take the saddle-bags which contained his food when Carl sat up and very politely asked her how it was that he was honored by a call from her at such a time of night.

[CONTINUED NEXT WEEK.]

THE ANCHOR WATCH.

Two Irish sailors, who were shipmates, on the arrival in port of their ship were detailed to keep "anchor watch." This duty, consisting principally of keeping awake, was perfectly congenial to the two Pats, who, after a smoke and chat together, cast about in their minds how to have some fun.

Said one: "Bedad, Mike, we'll tooch aff the big goon."

"Musha," says Mike, "but it,ll wake the ould man (the captain)."

"Howld yer whist," says Pat, "Oi'll catch the ball for yees, so it won't do any harrum."

To think was to act with the two mischievous Eriners; so away went Pat to the gallery, from whence he emerged, flourishing a copper kettle. "Tooch her aff aisy now, Moike, d'ye mind?" said Pat, as he straddled the "goon," which, loaded and shotted, was pointed shoreward. Grasping the bail of the kettle firmly, he gave the word.

Bang! replied the gun, and the horrified Mike saw his friend take a "header" over the side, with ball, bail and kettle.

"Musha! but O'im tinkin' the ball has got yees this toime," says Mike.

The noise brought out the captain, wild with alarm, at the unearthly racket.

"What are you doing here?" he thundered.

"Kapin' anchor watch' sor."

"Where's Pat?"

"Gone ashore, Oi tink, sor."

"What for? at this time of night?"

"Oi tink its for praties, sor; he took de kittle wid him."

"Thunder and lightning! when's he coming back?"

"Faith, if he'd coom as quick as he wint, he'd be here now."

A SERMON THAT WENT HOME.—"The man who said, 'tis the unexpected that always happens' was a preacher, I'll guarantee," said a clerical member of the Lunch club. "At my time of life I ought not to be stunned by anything, but after service a good woman of my flock did manage to take my breath away. I was preaching about the Father's tender wisdom in caring for us all," he said. "I illustrated by saying that the Father knows which of us grow best in sunlight and which of us must have shade. 'You know you plant roses in the sunshine,' I said, 'and heliotrope and geraniums, but if you want your fuchsias to grow you must keep them in a shady nook.' After the sermon, which I hoped would be a comforting one, a woman came up to me, her face glowing with a pleasure that was evidently deep and true. 'O, Dr. ——, I am so grateful for that sermon,' she said, clasping my hand and shaking it warmly. My heart glowed for a moment, while I wondered what tender place in her heart and life I had touched. Only for a moment, though. 'Yes,' she went on, fervently, 'I never knew before what was the matter with my fuchsias.'" —Chicago Interior.

Old People.

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find the true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whisky nor other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alterative. It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, addiing strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding Nature in the performances of the functions. Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old people find it just exactly what they need. Price fifty cents per bottle of LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

Two Lives Saved

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had consumption and that there was no help for her, but two bottles Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida St., San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried without result everything else, then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in coughs and colds. Free trials bottle of LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

THE BEST SALVE in the world for cuts bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

THE BLUE HERON'S DEADLY BILL.

"Some of these days," said the 'longshore hunter, "I expect to open my daily paper and see a headline something like this: 'Killed by a blue heron,' and I'll tell you why. The blue heron is a big, powerful bird, which has already badly disfigured the faces of several men. The men have wounded a bird and then, thinking to capture it alive, they went up to it. Why, I'd as soon try to kiss a wounded grizzly. The birds grow as tall as six feet and have necks like a fish rod and just the kind of muscles to move it the quickest with the most strength. They could drive their bill points straight through a quarter-inch panel.

"The hunter goes up to the bird and sees it lying there looking as innocent as a robin, with only a wing broken. 'What a fine pet it would make,' the fool hunter thinks. Then he picks the bird up and starts for home in a wagon or a boat, with the bird between his knees. The bird's neck is drawn back like a letter 'S.' All of a sudden the bill shoots up and gives the man a gash alongside the eye three inches long. That is what always has happened. The wounded bird has missed its aim, but sometime, and you want to remember it, this feathered spearman will drive its bill fair into an enemy's eye, and like a steel umbrella stick the point of the bill will penetrate the man's brain. I guess the bird's aim has always been spoiled by the pain of its wounds, and so many a human life has been saved. I don't monkey with wounded bitterns or cranes—well, scarcely."—New York Sun.

Mother-in-Law—"The doctor said I was all run down and needed strychnine as a tonic. Now I don't want to take too much. How big a dose do you recommend?"

Son-in-Law (hopefully)—"I wouldn't take more than a gallon to begin with."—New York World.

Dangerous Drugs.

Avoid the use of white or pink headache powders, they contain dangerous drugs. Taylor's Anti-Headache Powders are brown; they look like ground coffee and they have a delightful aromatic taste. Try them once and you will never be without them. Get them of LeGro & Lynde.

DANGEROUS

but not more so than the quickly advancing diseases caused by bad blood! More people die from failure to take simple healthful precautions than from lawless people. The first sign may be a weak, tired feeling, lack of energy, dizziness or headache. DON'T neglect that sign! It's easier to prevent than cure. Get at once

DR. CLARK JOHNSON'S
INDIAN BLOOD SYRUP

It's the best blood remedy. It's a cure, not for a day or a week, but a permanent cure, prompt and sure. Over 20,000,000 bottles sold.

50c. per bottle; all druggists.

WALL PAPERS,
MOULDINGS, ETC.,
AT MASON'S, PALMER.

A combination of leavening agents that are pure, strong and pre-eminently satisfactory in their action, has resulted in

BOSS BAKING POWDER

which is "The kind Boss makes his biscuits with" and has for 32 years. Over 3,000,000 pounds sold in the past year testify to their popularity.

MANUFACTURERS C. D. BOSS & SON, NEW LONDON, CONN.

"No wonder poor Dinnie's so tired, carrying all day that great big piece of

BattleAx PLUG

A GREAT BIG PIECE FOR 10 CENTS

No matter how much you are charged for a small piece of other brands, the chew is no better than "Battle Ax." For 10 cents you get almost twice as much as of other high grade goods. The 5 cent piece is nearly as large as other 10 cent pieces of equal quality.

"BETTER WORK WISELY THAN WORK HARD."
GREAT EFFORTS ARE UNNECESSARY
IN HOUSE CLEANING
IF YOU USE

SAPOLIO

GET OUTSIDE SOME GLASSES OF THAT ICE COLD SODA.

You will realize that there is some good left in life after all, and something to look forward to when you have had one glass, you will want another, and still another—sometime at least. So much for the pleasure of life. The necessities you will find amongst our things, and medicines to dispose of that disagreeable feeling which may be worse to-morrow if neglected. For all of which call at

ALLEN'S DRUG STORE,
Holden's Block, Palmer.

Insurance

of every kind placed at short notice, and all favors duly appreciated.

Yours truly,

S. H. HELLYAR.

Office at Ridge's Food Factory.

Horse Blankets.

A full line, for both stable .....and street use.....

375 BLANKETS IN STOCK.

PRICES RIGHT.

D. W. Foskit,
Foskit's Mills.

EYES EXAMINED FREE.

Dr. Vineberg, Refraction Specialist,

wishes to inform sufferers of headache or nervous complaints arising from defective vision, can be cured by having glasses properly fitted to the eyes.

247 Main Street, - Springfield, Mass.

The Palmer Journal.

VOLUME XLVII. PALMER, MASS., FRIDAY EVENING, MAY 22, 1896. NUMBER 8.

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY EVENING
—BY—
C. B. FISKE & CO.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.—Two dollars a year. A discount of 25 cents to those who pay in advance. Six months, $1.00; three months, 50 cents; single copies, Agents.

ADVERTISING RATES.—One inch (or twelve lines of this type solid) 75 cents for the first insertion, 25 cents for the second, 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. Short advertisements, "Wanted," "To Let," etc., one cent a word for the first insertion, one-half cent a word each subsequent insertion, cash; no charge less than 25 cents. Notices in local column, 15 cents per line. Liberal rates to yearly advertisers.

JOB PRINTING of all kinds executed in the best styles, promptly and at reasonable rates.

C. B. FISKE. L. E. CHANDLER.

[Entered at Post Office as second class matter.]

LOCAL BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

PALMER.

ALLEN, O. P., Wholesale and Retail Druggist and Bookseller.

BARTON, F. D., Dealer in Watches, Clocks and Jewelry, Main street.

BILLS, G. A., Fresh and Salt Beef, Pork, Ham, Lard, Tripe, etc.

BROOKS, EDWIN E., Graduate Optician. With E. S. Brooks, Jeweler, Main street.

BROOKS, E. S., Dealer in Watches, Clocks, Jewelry, Solid Silver and Plated Ware, Main street.

BROWN, C. A. & CO., Hardware, Furnaces, Stoves, Ranges, Paints, Oils and Glass.

BROWN, S. H., Trucking, Light Jobbing, Piano Moving. Order box cor. Main and Walnut streets. Orders can also be left at J. F. Foley's store.

CARPENTER, Mrs. L. E., Millinery and Fancy Goods. Also dealer in Human Hair Goods.

CHANDLER BROS., Bicycles.

CLARK & HASTINGS, Wholesale Dealers in Armour & Co's. Dressed Beef, Provisions, Main St.

EAGER, F. M., Boot and Shoe Manufacturer to Order, and dealer in Leather and Findings.

FISKE, C. B. & CO., Publishers PALMER JOURNAL and WARE STANDARD. Fine Book and Job Printers and Bookbinders.

FITCH, A. E., Law and Insurance, Savings Bank Block.

FRANCIS, R. B., Iron Foundry and Machine Shop.

GAMWELL, C. K., Ready made Clothing, Hats, Caps, Gent's Furnishings, etc.

GARDNER, CHAS. L., Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Church street.

GOODES, E., Palmer Boot and Shoe Store, corner Main and Thorndike streets.

HAMILTON, J. A., Dealer in all kinds of Coal, Wood, Grain, Flour, Baled Hay and Straw. Fertilizers and Stock Food. Main street.

HOLBROOK, C. D., Flour, Grain, Feed and Masons' Supplies, Main street.

HOLBROOK, J. F., Dealer in all kinds of Coal. Agent for National and White Star line of steamers. Drafts on Foreign Banks at lowest rates.

LEACH, W. W., Attorney at Law.

LEGRO & LYNDE, Druggists and Newsdealers, Paper Hangings, Shades, Lamps and Fixtures.

MARCY, F. F., Dealer in Lumber, Shingles, etc., wholesale and retail. West of B. & A. R.R. depot.

MARCY, OSCAR C., Livery and Feed Stable, rear of Converse House.

PALMER WATER CO., Office, Lawrence Block. Office hours to October 1, from 8.30 to 10 a. m., from 2 to 3 p. m.

SHAW, J. B., Dealer in Dry Goods, Groceries, etc. Opposite the depot.

WHITE, C. W., Marble and Granite Works. No. 1 Thorndike street.

WOOLRICH & CO., Manufacturers of Ridge's Food, Thorndike street.

THORNDIKE.

ADAMS, A. P., Druggist, Toilet Articles, Confectionery and Cigars.

BONDSVILLE.

HOLDEN, C. L., Dry Goods, Groceries, Clothing Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps, etc.

MORIARTY, M., Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots Shoes, Coal. Agt White Star and Anchor SS Co's

WARE.

ALBERTINE, J. A. Choice Fruits, Tobaccos, Cigars and Confectionery. Low Prices

DAVIS INSURANCE AGENCY represents the best companies and gives lowest rates.

DWIGHT, R. N., Harness, Horse Saddlery, Hardware. Repairing a Specialty. Next to Bank.

EDDY, C. W., Job and Fine Art Printer.

EDDY, MISS MATIE K. Teacher of Oil Painting and Crayon. Sketching or Art Work completed to order.

ELDREDGE, A. HENRY. Sign Painter. Carriages painted in the best manner. West Street.

HARLOW, A. B. Photographer. Instantaneous process only. Opposite the Bank.

HOSMER, F. N. Clothier. Hats, Caps, Gents' Furnishing Good, etc. Sanford's Block.

MARSH, F. E. Gold, Silver and Nickel Plater. Replating tableware a specialty. 7 Bank street.

PRIEST, J. E. Ware Steam Laundry. Carpet cleaning. Office at H. M. Clark's.

RICHARDSON, A. F. Dealer in Boots, Shoes and Rubbers of all kinds. Sagendorph's Block.

ROBINSON, JOHN F. Furniture, Sewing Machines, Pictures, Hardware, Paints and Farming Tools.

SIBLEY, J. B. Hardware, Tools, Agricultural Implements, Paints, Oils and Artists' materials.

SMITH, G. H. W. Jeweler. Watches, Clocks and Spectacles. Repairing in the best manner.

SULLIVAN & STRONG, Ware Cooperative Laundry. Fine Work and Carpet Cleaning. Office, 50 Main Street.

TURNER, H. H. Bookseller and Stationer, and dealer in Paper Hangings, Musical Instruments and Sheet Music.

MONSON.

GROUT, GEO. E. Dealer in Watches Clocks, Jewelry, etc. Towne's Block.

NEWTON, GEO. H., Law Office, Notary Public, Insurance, etc., near Gage's store.

SQUIER & CO., Dealers in Grain, Feed, Hay, Straw, Lumber, Shingles and Building Material.

WARREN.

KELLEY, W. H., Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Quaboag Block, Warren, Mass.

SOCIETY DIRECTORY.

MONSON.

MT. ELLA LODGE, No. 184, A. O. U. W. Meets first and third Tuesdays of each month in A. O. U. W. Hall, Monson.
ALEX. MURPHY, M. W., F. J. ENTWISTLE, Rec.

SEE
THE NICE

BICYCLE

$50

will buy, with all the latest improvements, including

LARGE TUBING,
BARREL HUB,
PATENT OILERS,
NARROW TREAD,
COMBINATION PEDAL,
ETC., ETC., ETC.

E. A. Buck & Co.,

Cross Block,
PALMER.

Insurance

of every kind placed at short notice, and all favors duly appreciated.

Yours truly,
S. H. HELLYAR.

Office at Ridge's Food Factory.

We are Leaders

in the matter of dry goods. We take nobody's dust. If you want fine stuff we are in line with you. If you want the right price, come here. We drive rough shod over all so-called standard of values, and see you and sell you goods as we buy them ourselves—at the least possible penny that the market will permit.

LADIES' COTTON UNDERWEAR.

Ladies' white skirts, from	35c to $1.50
" night robes, "	39c to $1.50
" corset covers "	12 1-2c to 49c
" ribbed vests, "	12 1-2c to 39c

LADIES' SHIRT WAISTS

in endless variety,	50c to $1.59
Ladies' belts, all styles,	25c to 50c
" belt pins,	10 to 15c
" shirt waist sets,	15c to 50c

LADIES' BLACK HOSE.

Fast black, drop stitch and plain, 12 1-2c to 50c
" " white feet, 40 gauge,	25c

SUMMER CORSETS.

We have without doubt the best in the market at 50c.

LADIES' WRAPPERS.

Full size, good stock,	89c to $2.25
Ladies' bow and teck ties,	15c to 25c
" leather bags,	25c

USEFUL THINGS AT SPRING CLEANING.

At 5 Cents.

250 tacks.
1 tack hammer.
3 picture knobs.
36 moth balls.
3 picture hooks.
1 box nails.
1 towel rack.
1 flue stopper.
1 large drinking cup.
1 tack puller.
1 trowel.
1 garden fork.
1 soap dish.
pot lids, all sizes.
pie plates, all sizes.
stamped pans, all sizes.
door bolt.
1 lemonade glass.
1 cream pitcher.
salt and pepper shakes.

At 10 cents.

1 bottle ammonia.
1 bottle witch hazel.
1 towel rack.
1 whitewash brush.
1 large screw driver.
1 large hammer.
1 two-quart tea pot.
1 two-quart coffee pot.
1 Dover egg beater.
1 wire dish drainer.
1 knife box.
1 cork screw.
1 dust pan.
1 flour sifter.
1 ten-quart milk pan.
1 wash dish.
1 iron drip pan.
1 fry pan.

WINDOW SHADES.

Good quality Holland, fittings complete, 25c, 29c. 37c
Deep fringe,

WINDOW SCREENS.

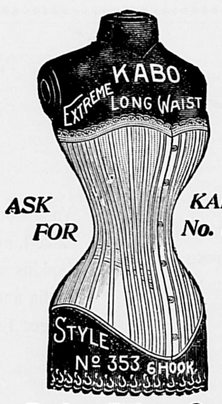
18x27 extends to 34, 25c
21x27 extends to 34, 33c

SUNDRIES.

Garden seeds,	3c a paper.
Carpet beaters,	10c each.
Machine oil,	5c bottle.
Steel hatchets,	33c each.
Feather dusters,	10c each.

T. H. TODD.

Main Street, - - Monson.



Perfect fitting. Sure to give satisfaction.
Price only $1.00
For sale by D. L. BODFISH, Palmer.

There is one DRESS STAY that
Won't melt apart,
Can't cut through the dress,
Don't stay bent.
It is
BALL'S PEERLESS.
All lengths; all colors.

A Man With X Ray Eyes.

A Phenomenon of Nature in Springfield.

"There are many more things in Heaven and earth Horatio, than are dreamt of in your philosophy."

There is in Springfield to-day a man of modest demeanor who makes no pretensions to greatness, but who possesses the most wonderful gift of second sight and the power to penetrate beyond the veil that hitherto has proved impenetrable to science and baffled the hypothetical powers of divination. Prof. A. J. Salisbury has been a resident of Springfield for some time past, during which he has demonstrated in thousands of cases his infallible skill in correctly diagnosing cases that have baffled the skill and thwarted the effort of the best medical practioners of the old school. All to him through the intricacies and complications of diseases are clearly revealed to him through his wonderful occult powers of vision, no matter where in one's anatomy the seeds of disease may lurk, they are clearly revealed and accurately located by Prof. Salisbury without asking the patient a single question. On this fact hinges the success of the Springfield Magnetic Institute. Prof. Salisbury tells the people every pain and ache, and tells you how you feel better than you can yourself, and it stands to reason that the cure is half performed when you are sure you know what your ailments are. After Prof. Salisbury reads your disease, then F. W. Mappherson, M. D., a man of years of experience gives you the medicines for the disease you suffer from, and if possible a cure is speedily effected. And the Springfield Magnetic Institute has justly earned the title—the place where sick people are made well.

Office hours 1 to 6 and 7 to 9 p. m. except Tuesday and Thursday evenings. No office hours on Sunday.

Remember the place, 394 Main Street.

Room 12, (over Forbes & Wallace's,)
SPRINGFIELD, - - - - MASS.

FINE STATIONERY.

Many ladies are troubled to find just the size, shade or weight of correspondence paper which they would like. With some thing like

200 VARIETIES

To select from we ought to be able to please you. Any style of paper in any size or shape, and you may have 100 sheets or 1000, as you prefer. We'd be pleased to show you samples at the JOURNAL Office. Your monogram or initials embossed in color if desired.

FOR COMFORT,
BUY A . . .
HOT WATER BAG,
At...LeGro & Lynde's, Druggists,
Next to Post Office, PALMER.

TEETH.

Artificial teeth without plates. Teeth extracted without pain with local anaesthetic.
GAS ADMINISTERED.
Office hours from 8 to 12 a. m., 1 to 5.30 p. m.
OPEN EVENINGS.
Dr. O. P. ROLLER, D. D. S.,
Lawrence Block, Palmer, Mass.

Did you ever think how readily the blood is poisoned by constipation? Bad blood means bad health and premature old age. DeWitt's Little early Risers, the famous little pills, overcomes obstinate constipation. LeGro & Lynde.

Sohmer Pianos

ARE MARVELOUS in Tone, Touch and Design.

Are recognized by musicians and musical critics as one of the few pianos of the world. These renowned instruments are constructed with care and supervision which no ordinary piano receives. We are sole agents for the

SOHMER PIANOS,

and carry a complete line of all the latest casings and woods. We ask an examination of these marvelous instruments by all intending purchasers.

TAYLOR'S
Music House,
412 MAIN STREET, SPRINGFIELD.

SMITH & MURRAY.
SPRINGFIELD.

BIG MUSLIN UNDERWEAR SALE

We purchased in conjunction with the Dry Goods union, the entire stock of the well-known manufacturers of high-class underwear, Ottenheimer & Rosenthal, New York, who are making changes in their business.

They sold the goods easily a third less than original prices.

We cannot enumerate all, but just an inkling follows, all fine goods, nothing trashy or showy.

Night gowns, well made, trimmed with torchon lace, 48c each, value, 75c.
Better grades at 79c, 69c, 98c and $1.
Umbrella skirts at 75c, were sold at $1.25
" " " 98c, " " " 1.50
" " " $1.50, " " " 2.50
" " " 1.90, " " " 3.00
Drawers, extra size, 49c, worth 75c
Umbrella drawers, 50c, " 75c
" " 89c, " $1.25
Corset covers, a dozen styles, 25c each, worth 33c

A special lot of corset covers, 19c each, best former price 25c each.
North store.

DRESS GOODS.

The most desirable stuffs for less money, yes, a third less than their value.

42-inch silk and wool novelties, beautiful designs, medium weights, desirable for summer wear, at $1.25, reduced from $1.50.

9 choice patterns in a mohair and wool novelty, the very latest styles, exceptionally good quality, 44 inches wide, at $1, best former price $1.25.

40-42-inch mohair and wool novelties, elegant line of new patterns, at $1, reduced from $1.25.

49-inch mohair novelty, special quality, at $1, regular price $1.50.

45-inch mohair novelty, 4 especially pretty designs, at 75c, regular $1 quality.

44-inch figured mohair, the latest patterns, at 50c, former prices at 75c and 87½c.

Rear of main store.

SMITH & MURRAY.
SPRINGFIELD.

Good stock and the best of care
PRODUCES
A 1 milk and cream.
MAPLE LAWN MILK FARM,
O. D. Wells, Proprietor.

A NICE NEW LINE OF SAMPLES OF FOLDERS.
FOR DANCE PROGRAMS, INVITATIONS, MENUS, ETC.

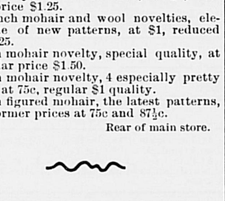
The Secret of Eternal Youth lies in the Rambler bicycle. Swift, easy, graceful and strong. Used properly, it will arrest age, renew youth, and make the health perfect. It strengthens the whole body, especially the lungs, in a speedy and healthy way. It gives perfect satisfaction for ordinary use, and for long distance riding, there isn't a better wheel made. It is built carefully, and runs so easily that it almost seems a part of the rider.

Moore, Holden's Block, Palmer.

GLENWOOD RANGES



MAKE
COOKING EASY.
THREE GOLD MEDALS.
WEIR STOVE COMPANY, TAUNTON, MASS.
Agents in All Prominent Cities and Towns in New England.

MEIGS & COMPANY.

• • • Now for • • •
• • • the boys • • •

We've talked men's clothing so much lately that maybe you think we've forgotten the boys. BUT WE HAVEN'T! We have more new things to show mothers in washable suits this week. It is an unusual good selection of novelties.

Middy Long Pants Suits,
Junior Short Pants Suits,
Reefer Short Pants Suits,
Sailors Blouse Short Pants Suits,
2-Piece Short Pants Suits, sizes 3 to 15 years.
Imported and Washable Fabric, Linen and Linen Crash, 48c, 98c, $2.50, 2, 2.50, 3, 3.50 and 5.

While you are fitting out the boy in here, remember we have the largest stock in town of Straw Hats, Negligee Shirts, Summer Neckwear, Hosiery.

MEN'S BLUE SERGES, BLUE FLANNEL, BLACK, CLAY AND LIGHT TWEED TAILOR MADE SUITS, $10.00---EQUAL IN VALUE TO MOST $15 SUITS.

MEIGS & CO.
383-385 Main St., SPRINGFIELD.

A Lullaby.

"I hear Thy voice, dear Lord;
I hear it by the stormy sea.
When winter nights are black and wild,
And when, affright, I call to Thee;
It calms my fears and whispers me,
"Sleep well, my child."

I hear thy voice, dear Lord;
In singing winds, in falling snow,
The curfew chimes, the midnight bell,
"Sleep well, my child," it murmurs low,
The guardian angels come and go—
Oh, child, sleep well!"

I hear Thy voice, dear Lord;
Ay, though the singing of winds be stilled,
Though hushed the tumult of the deep,
My fainting heart with anguish chilled,
By the assuring tone is thrilled—
"Fear not, and sleep!"

Speak on—speak on, dear Lord!
And when the last dread night is near,
With doubts and fears, and terror wild,
Oh let my soul expiring hear,
Only these words of heavenly cheer,
"Sleep well, my child!"

—Eugene Field.

HARDING'S REVENGE.

"Cush, Nellie! So, boss, so!"

Obedient to the soothing words of the soft-voiced girl, the gentle animal stood quietly while the maiden took her place with the milking stool, and soon there came the rhythmical sound of the warm, sweet-smelling milk as in intermittent streams it struck the shining sides of the tin milk pail.

It was a beautiful evening in late June, and the air was filled with the peculiar fragrance exhaled by rapidly growing vegetation. An ancient and untrimmed sweet briar half hid with its tangled mass the fence which separated the roadway from the milk yard, and sent forth from its countless pink blossoms a pleasing aroma.

It was a pretty picture—the mild-eyed cow contentedly chewing her cud and patiently submitting to the firm, deft hands of the girl, whose white arms were bared to the elbow and whose wealth of rich brown hair was partly revealed by the sun bonnet which she had thrown back in order to enjoy to the fullest the deliciously cool summer evening air.

At least Anson Harding considered it a pretty picture, as he stood leaning on the bars waiting for an opportunity to talk with the girl. He was an admirer of rural beauty and could fully appreciate the romantic, especially if they came in line with his financial interests and personal advancement. To a man who had gone the limit and was very much in need of a "stake," Farmer Madden's rich acres and comfortable bank account looked very attractive. With them, or with the generous portion of them which would come to the men so fortunate as to win the only daughter's hand, he would be "again on earth" and with his old friends at the faro table, flirting with his darling goddess of chance.

True, Mr. Harding would have preferred the money without the girl. But there was no way of satisfying such a preference. To get the one he must win the other. Emma Madden was attractive enough—deliciously so, he thought—and he liked her very much. It was delightful to watch her graceful movements, to play the gallant to the unsophisticated maiden, to test his influence over her, and to watch the color come and go in her face as he talked to her. But—well, what would he do with a wife, and especially such a wife? He could not give up the life he had led so long, and as for her, she certainly would never come to his way of thinking. But the money? He must have that. And if the girl was foolish enough to be miserable and disappointed in him after marriage, that was her affair.

The hired man had already visited the milk stand twice to empty his pail into the large can, which would be carted to the cheese factory at daylight next morning, and vaguely wondered if Emma was going to spend the entire evening milking one cow. Even Nellie turned her head inquiringly as if to discover why the process of relieving her of her lacteal store was so unusually prolonged.

Emma had seen the trim, well-dressed figure at the bars, and with the spirit natural to all women, from the fashionable ball room favorite to the unsophisticated rural maiden, delighted in inflicting a little torture. With Bob Russell, her neighbor and life-long lover, her little efforts in this direction had been immensely successful, and poor, earnest, loving Bob had suffered many, many times from her playful cruelty, much more then she knew. But with Harding—well, he just smiled and waited.

When Emma could delay no longer without making her efforts to tease too palpable, she arose and came toward the milk stand beside the bars as demurely as though she didn't know Harding was waiting for her, and as though her foolish little heart were not beating just a shade more rapidly than usual.

She was scarcely a beautiful girl, but she was something more than pretty. Her tall figure was carried with a charming grace, natural rather than acquired. Her shoulders, somewhat too square for a woman, were surmounted by a neck as white and delicately chiseled as a marble column, while her throat, partly revealed by the loosely-fitting gown, was a glimmering gem of snow-white, purity. Her face, with its large blue eyes, was fair, with a healthy glow in the cheeks, and a few light brown freckles enhanced rather than marred its rural attractiveness.

As she approached Harding that gentleman welcomed her with a profound bow and his most alluring smile.

"Good evening, Miss Emma; truly a most charming rural picture, you know; pretty milkmaid, lowing kine, and all that sort of thing, you know."

"Yes, and not even a calf is lacking to complete the picture."

It was a man's voice, and both turned to behold the figure of Bob Russell, clad in his farmer's blouse, long boots and wide straw hat. He had a whiffletree over his shoulder and his plow team were slowly following him in the distance. The girl's eyes sparkled, and Harding's face grew white at the insult conveyed in Russell's remark. He said nothing however, for he knew from experience that he stood no chance with Russell in a contest of country raillery, but in his heart he swore to repay the giant granger with interest. He hated him intensely, as Russell despised him. Russell was jealous. From childhood he had looked upon Emma Madden as his own. He had fought for her at school, and afterwards when he had attained manhood's years and she blossomed into the fairest maiden of the whole country-side, none of the rural swains thought of disputing his claim. Until now the girl had accepted Bob's air of proprietorship without a protest, for she was proud of him and really loved the huge, good-natured fellow. He was a prosperous farmer, handsome of face and as famous for his good temper as for his physical powers. The coming of Harding into the neighborhood, with his city airs and elegant clothes, however, had interfered with the course of true love. The girl was pleased with his elegant attentions, and Bob's very evident jealousy had led her in a spirit of pique to encourage them rather than otherwise.

Without further recognition of Harding's presence Russell threw down the whiffletree, stepped to the bars, leaned over and said to the girl:

"Well, Em, you're early with the milking, aren't you? Have the Texas flies begun to interfere with the flow yet?"

"Not seriously, so far, Bob."

"They have with my cows, but your pasture lies higher than mine and I sometimes think that makes a difference. I'm not getting over a two-thirds yield for this time of year, but I'm going to try a new wash that they're using with success in the West. I'll let you know how it works. Queer, ain't it Em, how the Almighty has planned things; Texas flies to harass the cattle, and," with a glance at Harding, and stooping to pick up the whiffletree, "other insignificant but pesky things to bother honest farmers. Well, good night, Em. By the way, I suppose you'll go with me to the sociable Thursday night, won't you?"

Receiving a "Yes, I guess so, Bob," Russell strode away, leaving Harding full of rage and vindictiveness, and the girl with a growing sense of the latter gentleman's insignificance.

* * * * * *

A month had passed, and Anson Harding was leaving the Madden orchard chagrined, defeated and filled with a desire for vengeance. He had proposed to Emma and had been rejected. Flattered as she had been at first by the city man's attentions, she had gradually come to see him as he was, to compare him with Bob, and in the end actually to dislike him. Moreover, Bob had pressed his suit earnestly the evening before, demanding a definite knowledge of the girl's intentions, and she had promised to marry him in the fall.

Harding had taken his rejection bitterly. His conceit had suffered a severe blow, and his hope of securing a handsome financial settlement from the girl's father had miserably failed—and all, as he thought, through Russell, whom he characterized as that "granger Colossus." As the angry and disappointed man left the orchard he sought to avoid the house by walking through the short lane, around by the barn and thence to the highway. As he walked slowly by the barn he caught sight of Russell crossing the wide pasture. He stopped, leaned against the building and looked toward the farmer with all the malignant hate of his heart gleaming from his eyes. Oh, if he could throttle him! If he could only devise some means of wreaking his vengeance on the man to whom he attributed the failure of his plans!

Just then a sound within the barn attracted his attention and a look of fiendish exultation came into his face. Here was his opportunity for vengeance, as unique as it would be effective. And so perfectly safe! Should the worst result no one could suspect him.

Quickly the heavy oak bar fastening the door was drawn out and the door swung open, concealing Harding behind it. There was an interval of a few seconds, and then, with a low, ugly bellow, "Bad Ben," Farmer Madden's Ayrshire bull, stepped into the open air. For an instant the animal sniffed the free air and shook his ugly head. Then he caught sight of Russell. The brute advanced a few steps, pawing the ground and sending the dirt upward to fall in showers over his massive shoulders. Then he started toward Russell, his head low down and his wicked eyes full of rage. Before the distance was half covered Russell saw the maddened animal coming. He fully appreciated his danger, for "Bad Ben" had built up a reputation for ugliness which would have resulted in his execution long before, had there not coursed through his bovine veins an aristocracy of blood which made Farmer Madden loth to part with him. The young man was about to run for the nearest fence, which he might have reached in time, but just at that moment Emma Madden appeared directly in the path of the enraged bull. A clump of willows growing about the spring in the pasture had until that moment concealed her approach from both Harding and Russell. The girl was fully thirty yards nearer the bull than was Russell. She saw her peril at the same moment that he did, and for an instant was paralyzed with fright.

"Run this way, Em! For God's sake run!"

She hesitated but a moment, and then with the speed of a deer, the girl darted toward and past Bob, who stood still, encouraging her in her flight by his voice.

There was no time for Russell to escape. The only hope for either himself or the girl lay in his ability to overcome the infuriated animal. Had he been armed, even with a pitchfork, this would not have been so difficult, but he had nothing on which to depend save his own strength and ability.

On came the ugly brute directly toward Russell, his head lowered and giving vent to his rage in low, hoarse bellows. To Harding, who had stepped from behind the barn door and had fled to the road, from which safe place he turned to witness the result of his vengeful scheme, it seemed as though the man must be impaled on the sharp horns of the beast or borne down and trampled to death.

Just as the bull was upon him, however, the farmer stepped lightly aside, caught the rushing animal by one horn and threw his weight upon it. The result was just what he had calculated upon when in that brief moment of time he had determined upon the one effort left to him. The brute's head was borne downward and to one side, the horn struck and penetrated the ground, and the bull, with almost a complete somersault, fell with a broken neck, carrying Russell with him, but fortunately inflicting no more serious injury upon the young Hercules than a few bruises.

Harding waited no longer. He slunk down the roadway and next day was back in the city.

To this day it is a mystery to Farmer Madden how "Bad Ben" escaped from his stall. Bob Russell, however, thinks he could guess, and not more than half try.—Utica Globe.

A FEW EYE DON'TS.

Don't allow a cold wind to strike the eyes.

Don't try to do eyework with the light shining in the face.

Don't have colored shades on the lamps; use white or ground glass.

Don't go directly from a warm room into a cold, raw atmosphere.

Don't open the eyes under water in bathing, especially in salt water.

Don't let any strong light, like that from electricity, shine directly into the eyes.

Don't strain the eyes by reading, sewing or any like occupation with an imperfect light.

Don't bathe inflamed eyes with cold water; that which is as warm as it can be borne is better.

Don't sleep opposite a window in such manner that a strong light will strike the eyes on awakening.

Don't, above all, have the children sleep so that the morning sun shall shine in their faces to arouse them.

AMONG THE FAIRIES.

HOW CARL THE GARDENER BECAME KING CHARLES.

IN THREE CHAPTERS.

[Copyright, 1896, by Walter B. Gould, Boston.]

CHAPTER III.

The witch's daughter, not wishing to be known in case she should be seen, had appeared this time with very light hair and a light complexion. In fact, she looked altogether different from her appearance when Carl had met her before.

Because she thought that no one could guess who she was she pretended that she had never before seen Carl, but that she was travelling on that road and was intending to go to the castle the next day at twelve o'clock.

She told Carl that the witch had many slaves, and that they could all be liberated by any truthful young man who should remove the enchanted chair from the castle.

Carl knew this to be true, and the witch's daughter, who thought to deceive him by telling him much of the truth, gave other information which was of great value. Carl knew it all to be truthful, for the fairy rabbit had whispered to him that whenever the witch's daughter tried to deceive him she would make a special sign which he would easily understand.

The witch's daughter.

Thinking that Carl was completely deceived, and not only that he did not know her, but that he was filled with admiration of her beauty, the witch's daughter told him that she or any one entering the witch's castle between twelve and one o'clock at noon the next day would be invisible.

Because this was true, the fairy rabbit made no sign, but she had warned Carl that whether he be seen or not seen, whoever entered the witch's castle at noon would immediately be enchanted and become a slave of the witch. She had also warned him on no account to enter the castle at any hour which the witch's daughter might name.

Carl thanked the beautiful young lady and said that he would be pleased to see her the next day about one o'clock, and having taken careful directions as to the whereabouts of the castle, he bade her a very pleasant good night.

Promptly at twelve o'clock next day Carl was at the appointed place, but he had rubbed the cup so that he and the horse were both invisible!

Just before one o'clock, too late for him to enter the witch's castle in time for the enchantment to take effect, Carl rubbed the other side of his cup and appeared to the witch's daughter, who was very impatiently awaiting his coming.

She, of course, scolded him for being so late, but said she would meet him to-morrow between twelve and one o'clock, and told him to be sure and be on time.

Carl now called his friend, the fairy, and the fairy, still appearing as a rabbit, told him that she would upset the hourglass in the witch's castle and would move the noon mark so that the witch and her daughter would not know the exact time. She then showed Carl a small tree and said: "When that tree makes a shadow so that the point shall touch yonder rock, then you will know that it is one o'clock and that the hour of enchantment is passed. You must, then, having made yourself invisible, follow the witch's daughter."

Carl waited patiently for the witch's daughter to appear. The hourglass had been upset, and accordingly she came later than she had intended. She urged Carl to come immediately to the castle with her, and felt very sure that this time, just as she had succeeded in doing with others who had come to remove the enchantment, she would be able to make him a slave.

Carl carefully watched the shadow, which was very near the point that would show the hour of safety, and talked with her very pleasantly. In this way she patiently waited, and thinking that it would do him no good told him all he wanted to know.

When Carl was sure that it was safe for him to follow the witch's daughter, he told her to lead the way.

She started immediately, but before they had gone far Carl rubbed the magic cup and became invisible. Then the white rabbit brought him a pair of enchanted slippers, which made no noise, and as the witch's daughter had told him to be very quiet this did not cause her to suspect that Carl was not there.

Suddenly she turned to speak to Carl and she did not find him. She then whistled loudly, and the handsome black horse, who used to be the Prince of Southland, appeared at her call.

But after she had ridden a few moments she knew it would be too late. Accordingly she rode the black horse to the castle and left him hitched to a tree some distance from the gate.

The fairy now appeared to Carl and told him to rub his magic cup against the black horse's side, to pat his neck and stroke his ears, and then to get on his back.

There was something so soothing in the touch of the magic cup that the black horse immediately became gentle, and after Carl had petted him awhile the fairy told him that he could manage the black horse as easily as his own.

The witch's daughter meantime walked very slowly toward the gate, thinking what plans she could make to defeat this the most dangerous young man who had ever dared to approach the castle.

Carl followed her noiselessly and unseen to the reception parlor, where her mother was awaiting her return. Here Carl could see and here all that was said.

The witch's daughter said to her mother that she had told Carl the truth about the enchanted chair and had given him so much information that, should he ever enter the castle except at the appointed hour, there was danger that he might destroy their power. To this the witch replied, "Then you must sit in the chair, so that he cannot carry it away."

[CONTINUED ON FOURTH PAGE.]

Of Interest to Women.

EDITED BY MISS F. V. DOANE.

A Story

To Illustrate the Tragedies of Bacteriology.—On the outskirts of a thriving village stood a dingy tenement house. The house was strong and well built, but being somewhat out of repair was occupied by three families, each crowded into a few untidy rooms.

Two of the mothers worked away from home during most of the week days, but the third had a bit of a baby, and so "kep, an an eye" on the children of the others in their absence. Her eye, however, was neither omnipresent nor critical, and the children usually took care of themselves as best they could.

During the winter of which I write, owing to the heavy snow, the outhouses were so much neglected as to be apologized for even by these neglectful people, and all the kitchen refuse, vegetable parings, bits of bread and meat were thrown into the back yard, and what the dogs did not carry off was frozen into the snow drifts.

A warm week, the first of March, took off the snow and precipitated its increment upon the spongy, water-soaked ground.

All rejoiced in the warmth of the sunny days after the winter storms, and Tommy, Jack, Susie, Janie and "the rest of them" at the tenement house played all day long in the back yard. They were good children in their way, and "minded" the words of their mothers: "Now, see here, ye younguns; ye can stay out doors, but not a step outer this back yard. Do ye hear? I'll not have ye runnin' over the town."

Who could see the few microscopic plants that awoke under the influence of the heat and moisture, that multiplied to thousands in the abundant nourishment, that grew so numerous that the air was full of them and that the children breathed them with the cool, raw spring air? The children's jackets fell off in their play, their inadequate shoes soaked up the water.

Next day the sun again shone sweetly, and again the obedient children played in the back yard. Before night Janie was "tired," and went in "to mind Mrs. Nary's baby." Fatal amusement! Janie was so ill overnight that her mother was frightened, came home early from her work, even sent for a doctor; the baby was sick, too, poor thing. "Diphtheria!" Then the board of health took hold of the matter, quarantined the well children and sent the sick ones who were able to be moved to the hospital; but Janie and the baby—the weakest ones—not even the doctors could help them, no one else dared try, and what did their mothers know about disease or the sick room? They could only weep, and wail these mothers, and repeat prayers to the saints, and when praying was of no avail, lament, with noisy wonder, this new experience of sorrow.

After the burials, both on the same day with scarce funeral rites, all three families made haste to gather up their few belongings and betake themselves to other quarters: "'Tain't a healthy place, any longer, they say."

But the owner of the house must not lose the rental, so he cleared up the premises, disinfected and repaired. "Well, I don't know," said his painter. "I've a family of little ones. Is it safe?"

"No danger; thoroughly fumigated and disinfected; oh, no danger!" "No danger," said the wise chairman of the board of health. "No danger," said the busy doctor. So the painter did his work, glad of another job in hard times. But he was a careful man and loved his children, so he had his bath and changed his clothing each day before presenting himself to his family. Notwithstanding all this, soon his baby daughter was ailing, then sick. "Diphtheria!" announced the doctor who was called the first day of the illness. The older children went to their grandparents. Every precaution for their safety and every effort for the restoration of the little one was made that a skilful physician could suggest or the trained mother-nurse could carry out.

There was no spot of garbage or pile of filth where the mites could establish themselves here. Only the baby was attacked, and she grew steadily worse. "Now is the time for the new remedy. It is the only hope; shall we try it?"

"Yes," and hope revived; the days of anxious watching were soon over, and all was well. But I fancy that father will never take risks again even for the sake of a "job."

I pity most those poor mothers who did not know, and who know no better now, for all their sad experiences, that exposure to the spring air without warm wraps, and that wet feet are dangerous conditions for their children, even if the air is comparatively pure; who do not even now know that disease is bred in filth and grows in filth to amighty, invisable, irresistable host.

Fashions for Boys.

A group of small boy-figures in a Boston window, dressed in new spring suits, as follows:—

Black Velveteen.—Knee pants, tight at the bottom; jacket, a cutaway front. Suit bound with silk braid; three rows of buttons on the three seams at back of jacket, three buttons in each row; three buttons on each sleeve and on the pant-legs.

Brown and Grey Checked Suit.—An indistinct blending of fine checks; bound with brown silk braid; brown braid put on down the front in ornamental points; the front of the jacket square at the bottom.

These suits each had white shirt waist with double ruffles of hamburg down the front, turn-over cuffs edged with hamburg, and very deep sailor collars.

A Green Broadcloth Sailor Suit for a boy ten years old had a second adjustable sailor collar made of heavy linen duck, outside the cloth collar. A Brown Sailor Suit and a Light Blue Sailor Suit each had embroidered anchors on the breast and on the left sleeves. The sleeves of these heavy sailor suits are quite full for boys' suits. They are plaited down at the wrist, and the plaits are stitched into place upward three or four inches. The sleeves are finished with plain bands from one and a half to two inches deep, according to the size of the suit. The necks of the vest fronts have inch-wide neck-bands. There is a sailor knot and ends of silk at the point of sailor collars. These suits have ecru linen duck over-collars.

Neckties.—Silk scarfs nine inches braod, with large plaid patterns.

Overcoats, Over-jackets.—All of brown, gray tweed, or some other fine diagonal stuff such as men wear.

Sailor Collars are very deep behind, reaching half way to the waist.

A Navy Blue Sailor Suit had four rows of fine white worsted braid stitched around the collar, neck-band, sleeve bands and pant-bottoms.

Fragrant Rose Jars.

Rose jars are made by putting a layer of any fragrant variety of rose in the bottom of a jar. On this scatter some coarse salt; close the jar tightly and place in the sun. Next day, or as soon as you have enough material to make another layer, put in more petals and another sprinkling of salt. Continue this as long as you have flowers. Then add cloves, cinnamon, orris-root and other fragrant articles, and mix the whole mass well. Keep the jar well closed.—April Ladies' Home Journal.

The Journal.

FRIDAY EVENING, MAY 22, 1896.

PALMER NEWS.

LOCAL NOTICES.

Try Bard's Home-made bread. It is excellent. Fresh every day.

The largest line of Shirt Waists ever shown in this vicinity opened to-day at Bodfish's.

Lost, fob watch chain with bicycle handle-bar ornament. Please return to H. W. Smith.

String beans, peas, cucumbers, native spinach, new cabbage, radishes, asparagus and lettuce at Thompson's market.

The ice cream rooms at the Palmer Bakery have been opened, where will be furnished cream by the plate, pint, quart or gallon.

Fire District Meeting Next Monday.

The adjourned fire district meeting last Saturday afternoon was still further adjourned until next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, no attempt being made to do business. Only a small number were present last Saturday, but it is hoped that the voters will turn out more generously next Monday.

The question for discussion is whether the district will pay the Palmer Water company $20 each for the 60 hydrants,—$1200, an advance of $200 over the contract price for the past few years. The water company announces that this is the lowest figure at which a contract can possibly be made with it. The prudential committee of the district feels that the district is not being treated fairly by the water company. At the annual meeting the committee was instructed to renew last year's contract ($1000) provided water for sprinkling the streets would be given free. This the company refused to grant, but offered to renew last year's contract at $1000. The prudential committee had no authority to do this, however, having been instructed to make the contract only if water for street sprinkling was furnished, and so called a special meeting for instructions. No one supposed that anything other than the removal of the street sprinkling clause was to come up, but at the meeting the water company announced that it must have a raise of $200 before it would make a contract. This the committee feels is unfair. It does not pretend to say that $1200 is unfair, but thinks that the water company should not raise its price after offering to renew the old contract. If the company feels that it must have $1200, the committee thinks a much better way would be to renew last year's contract at $1000, and give notice that next year the price would be $1200.

Mrs. H. W. Smith has gone to Hyannis to visit friends.

The school board will hold a meeting next Monday evening.

Miss Ida M. Barrett spent Sunday with friends in Springfield.

Mrs. W. A. Barnes is visiting Mrs. F. N. Aiken in New Haven.

The King's Daughters met this afternoon with Mrs. Henry McGilp.

Charles Decoursey has had his house at Shearer's Corner newly painted.

Mrs. T. Blanchard goes to-morrow to Huntington for a stay of a few days.

Mrs. Albert Stockwell of Woonsocket is the guest of Mrs. Cambridge Moulton.

J. S. Wait will give an exhibition of billiards in LaSalle's pool rooms this evening.

The pastor of the Congregational church will preach Sunday morning on "Reconciled to God."

Mrs. J. W. Shanks of St. Albans, Vt., formerly of Palmer, is the guest of Mrs. J. A. Breckenridge.

A large audience greeted "Old Jed Prouty" at the opera house last evening, almost every seat being filled.

C. A. Lane of North Brookfield has taken a position as salesman in H. G. Loomis's furniture establishment.

Amos Olds of Three Rivers has bought T. F. Fuller's place on School street through the D. F. Holden agency.

Special Justice Shaw is officiating in the district court during the absence in the South of Judge Robinson.

The evening service at St. Paul's church next Sunday will be held at 6 o'clock. Topic, "The stranger among us."

Thomas lodge of Masons will hold a regular communication next Monday evening and work the third degree.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey of Worcester have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Bodfish a part of the week.

E. A. Kirk of Springfield, formerly a resident of Palmer, now a policeman in that city, called on friends in town Tuesday.

The will of Alexander H. Maxwell of Monson has been proved in the probate court, and W. W. Leach appointed executor.

Another article in the Palmer history series by O. P. Allen, on the wild animals of former days, will be found on the fourth page.

The houses of Mrs. John Foster on Thorndike street and Mrs. J. F. Holbrook on Main street are receiving new coats of paint externally.

The Elm City Bazar has added an ice cream department, and carries McKee's ice cream. Iced temperance drinks are also sold.

L. G. Dickinson, formerly B. and A. station agent at Hinsdale, has taken the position of cashier in the New London Northern freight house.

Shearer's Corner is to have a store; Charles Decoursey will open one to-morrow at his residence for the sale of tobacco, confectionery, etc.

Mrs. J. L. Marsh, formerly forewoman in the braid room of the hat shop, has gone to Monson, where she has a position with Heimann & Lichten.

The case of Chester W. Cross came before the grand jury at Boston to-day. T. J. Dwyer and M. D. Sullivan were summoned to appear as witnesses.

Next Sunday will be Pentecost Sunday at St. Thomas's Catholic church, with masses at 8 30 and 10 30 a. m., Sunday school at 3 p. m. and vespers at 7 30.

The lodges of the 17th Masonic district will meet at Ware next Wednesday for the exemplification of the work, and Thomas lodge of Palmer will work the second degree.

Veterinary Surgeon S. H. Ellery is on his way to Palmer from California with a few choice horses, and has engaged his former quarters on Central street for their occupancy.

L. A. Royce & Co. stopped running their bakery team last Saturday on account of the ill health of one of the proprietors and the demands of the Forest Lake business on their time.

Several from St. Paul's church will attend the banquet of the Universalists of Central and Western Massachusetts, to be held at Cooley's Hotel, Springfield, Tuesday evening, June 2d.

Judge Robinson left Monday evening for Savannah, Ga., to attend the meeting of the supreme council of the Royal Arcanum, going as a representative of the order from this state. He expects to be gone about two weeks.

The subject of the sermon at the Baptist church next Sunday will be "Elijah's fall." The evening prayer service will be at 6, in order to give those who wish an opportunity to attend the union service at the Congregational church.

A fire started in the rubbish dumped at the side of Pond street last Friday night, and burned fiercely for some time. There was a high wind and some of the residents of that locality feared for the safety of their property, but no damage resulted.

The ladies of St. Paul's church will hold their annual strawberry festival next Tuesday evening; supper from 6.30 to 8. An entertainment will follow, consisting of music, and Rev. Charles Conklin of Springfield will give his famous lecture on "Some humorous phases of a European trip."

Silas Keith made the highest score in the weekly shoot of the Rod and Gun club Tuesday afternoon, breaking 14 clay pigeons; Fred Caryl was second with 11, and W. J. Keith third with 9. Several of the Ware club were down for a friendly shoot, but the Palmer gunners carried off the laurels.

A baby carriage which a careless mother left standing on the sidewalk on Main street Tuesday afternoon without an anchorage, was set in motion by the wind and deposited its occupant in a heap in the gutter. No great harm was done, but the air was full of the sound of infant weeping for a few moments.

F. D. Barton, secretary of the Eastern Hampden agricultural society, has received from Senator Hoar 75 packages of seeds from the agricultural department of the government at Washington, which he will be glad to distribute free to such as care for them if they will call at his store. He also has a few more copies of the annual report of the state board of agriculture for free distribution.

The G. A. R. post, Woman's relief corps and Sons of Veterans will attend services in the Congregational church next Sunday evening at 7, by invitation of the Men's Sunday Evening club of the church. Rev. F. E. Jenkins will preach on "Soldiers in the greatest war," and the choir of the Universalist church will furnish music. The other churches of the village will unite in making it a union service.

The first shower in weeks fell Tuesday afternoon, when it rained hard for about a quarter of an hour. While the precipitation was only a small portion of what is needed to make crops at their best, the vegetation showed a marked improvement the next day, seemingly having taken on a new lease of life. There was a little drizzle yesterday at intervals, but what is needed is a steady rain of three or four days.

The advertisement of the selectmen last Friday for proposals for building a new sewer on West Main and Thorndike streets brought applications from several contractors for specifications before 8 o'clock Saturday morning, and they are now figuring on the work. The time for submitting proposals expires at 7 o'clock to-morrow evening. The number of bidders for the work will very likely insure a low figure to the town.

A man considerably under the influence of the ardent fell out of his buggy on West Main street Monday evening while his horse was trotting along at good speed. The fellow went "all in a heap," and it was a wonder he was not seriously hurt. He was picked up by observers and put in the vehicle unhurt, only to fall out again within a hundred yards. This time some one who knew him accompanied him to his home.

In accordance with the law, appropriate exercises will be held in all the schools next Friday afternoon, May 29th. The public is cordially invited to attend. In addition to the exercises there will be a display of the work of the year, written exercises, drawing, writing books, school equipment, etc. All schools will close at 3 o'clock, and the new building at Thorndike will be open for inspection until 5 o'clock. Teachers, pupils and all interested citizens are invited to look the building over at this time.

During the first 16 days of May only two cases of drunk appeared before the district court. One was a Monson man who obtained his liquor in Monson and was arrested in that town; the other man was a Bondsville man who obtained his "booze" across the river in Belchertown. And still there are those who say there is just as much drunkenness in no-license as in license times. Three cases of drunk have appeared in court this week, all from Monson, their "stuff" having been obtained in that town.

The following from the Farmers' Cabinet of Milford, N. H., will be interesting to the Palmer friends of young Warren, who is well known here:

Arthur F. Warren, student at the New York Homeopathic Medical college, arrived home this week. He enjoys the distinction of receiving from L. L. Danforth, secretary of the faculty of the institution, the Nott prize, a "Helmath Pocket Case," comprising surgical instruments, for the highest mark in the junior year. This is his second junior year, and he is taking a four years' course in three years, which necessarily entails added efforts to accomplish the desired results.

Smoke was discovered coming from under the step at the entrance of McGilp's market last Saturday afternoon, and on pulling up the boards it was discovered that there was fire underneath. It was soon put out, however, with no damage other than the breaking of a large pane of glass in the window while tearing up the flooring. The fire was evidently started from a cigar or cigarette stump carelessly thrown on the steps; a small hole in the corner allowed it to go down among the dry timbers, which it soon ignited.

The members of the Woman's Relief corps are anxious to secure as many flowers as possible for use on Memorial Day, and request all who have blossoms and are willing to donate them to send them to Memorial Hall next Thursday and Friday; and all members of the corps are requested to meet on the afternoons of those days to arrange baskets for decorating the soldiers' graves. Members of the corps are also requested to meet in the hall at 6.30 Sunday evening, to attend services with the post at the Congregational church.

The selectmen have awarded the contract for the new iron bridge across the river at Bondsville to the Hawkins Iron Works of Springfield, the price being $2225. There were ten bids, ranging up to $2515. The bridge is to be of the steel-plate girder pattern, two spans of 40 feet each, with a 16-foot roadway and a foot road at one side five feet wide. The structure is to be completed July 7th, under a forfeit of $5 for each day thereafter until the work is done. The town of Belchertown will pay half the cost of the bridge.

The programme for the observance of Memorial Day will be much the same as in past years. The G. A. R. post will meet at Memorial Hall at 8 a. m., and accompanied by the Thorndike band and escorted by the Sons of Veterans will march to the Point of Rocks, where carriages will be taken to the various cemeteries of the town. After the decorating of the graves in the cemetery in this village the post will march to Memorial Hall, where the Relief corps will serve a dinner to the veterans and invited guests at noon. At 2 in the afternoon will come the address of the day by Col. Joseph A. Titus of Athol, to which the public is cordially invited.

The proprietors of the Forest Lake property are hard at work on the grounds, preparing for the opening of the season, and will endeavor to make the place even more attractive this summer than before. They are putting in a great deal of work and money, and are making general repairs and changes. The steamer and rowboats have been freshly painted, as have also the cottages and all the other buildings. One company has already engaged the ground, the Mittineague Congregational Sunday school, for July 1st. The season at the lake will open Memorial Day with boating, bowling, etc., and dancing day and evening; the Fiskdale orchestra will furnish music, and J. L. Bacon will prompt. Dinner will be served at 50 cents per plate.

Palmer people had a slight taste of cyclonic conditions Monday, and are perfectly willing to forego a more intimate acquaintance. The wind blew strongly from the west, and clouds of dust filled the air. A look at the hills in the distance could only be had through a yellow haze of dust, and careful matrons who had just finished housecleaning were driven almost to despair in attempts to keep the dirt out of the house. About all the loose soil on Main street was blown over into Monson, but in return we had a goodly share of Wilbraham material, so the matter averaged well. The street sprinkler tried hard to keep the dust down on Main street, and succeeded pretty well, though it would have taken half a dozen carts to have keep it under control.

District Court.

Two civil cases were entered last Saturday: L. W. Caryl of Palmer against Mary N. Leedham, administratrix of the estate of Henry Tesch, to recover on a note; J. M. Allen of Palmer against James Stone and trustee, also of Palmer.

The civil cases of Deputy Sheriffs Northrop and Studley against A. F. Ballard of Hampden were tried. The officers were engaged by Mr. Ballard to make liquor raids in Hampden, and allege that he promised to pay them for their services, which he has not done. Decision was reserved until the first Saturday in June.

In the criminal court Saturday Thomas Kugna and Simon Jorczak were fined $15 and $5 for assault, and appealed.

On Monday Benjamin Barr and James F. Gough of Monson were each fined $10 for drunkenness.

William Toner of Monson was assessed $5 on Tuesday for drunkenness.

PALMER CENTER.

Horace Smith, an old and respected resident, is very sick at his home.

P. S. Trumble has moved his family into the Alfred Trumble house.

Mrs. Burpee has let a part of her house to Mr. Bacon, from near the "Babcock" tavern.

A fire in the woods back of P. S. Trumble's made things lively Saturday for a time. Some of the houses near were in great danger, but the fire was kept back by hard work and finally put out, no great damage being done.

BONDSVILLE.

George Farr spent Sunday with his parents here.

Miss Josie Sullivan visited her cousin in Ware, Saturday.

William Donovan of Indian Orchard was home over Sunday.

Miss Harriet Thayer spent Saturday with friends in Lancaster.

John Fenton of Springfield spent Sunday with his folks here.

Mrs. William Taylor has been home from Worcester for a few days.

Miss Johanna Griffin of Wilbraham spent Sunday with her parents here.

The King's Daughters met with Miss Mabel Ryther Monday evening.

George A. Jacobs spent the first part of the week at his home in Lowell.

Miss Ora Parent and Louis Parent spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Parent.

Milton Ferris has resigned his position in the weave room and gone to Chicopee Falls.

Miss Lou Moulton entertained her friends, Misses Maud and Grace Towne of Ware, over Sunday.

Miss D. P. Cleveland spent Saturday and Sunday with Miss Emma Barney in South Hadley Falls.

The Methodist pulpit was filled Sunday by Frederick White, who spoke in the interests of the Y. M. C. A.

Miss Lou Shumway and Miss Margery Bruce are substituting this week in the Three Rivers school.

The Tuesday evening class meeting was held at A. L. Bixby's at Thorndike, instead of in the vestry, as usual.

A Polish wedding took place in this village Saturday night, the contracting parties being Michael Frederland Olive Penzor.

Mrs. Richard Russell was called to Gilbertville this week by the sudden death of hersister's husband, Henry Stone, of pneumonia.

Mrs. Joseph Castledine and son left Saturday for a visit to their home in England, taking the steamer Catalonia for Liverpool.

The contract for the new iron bridge over the river has been awarded to R. F. Hawkins of Springfield, and the stone work to the Flynt Building and Construction Co. of Palmer. The whole work is to be completed on or before July 7th.

Both nines were defeated in their games Saturday, the Juniors by the Palmer nine on the Palmer driving park, the Bondsvilles at home by the Thorndikes the score being 7 to 6 in favor of the Palmer nine, and 10 to 4 in favor of the Thorndikes.

THORNDIKE.

Miss Mamie Stokes is clerking at W. J. McCormick's store.

H. T. Bishop has been appointed janitor of the new school building.

Patrick Fleming of Chicopee Falls spent last Sunday with his parents here.

A large number will go to Ware to-morrow to see the Walter L. Main circus.

The Columbian Band has had its band stand wired for electricity this week.

Mrs. Julia Wagner returned this week from a visit with friends in Springfield.

T. J. Clifford is enjoying a week's vacation at the home of his parents in Millbury.

William Dutton of Cleveland, who has been spending a few days in town, has returned home.

The Thorndikes will go to Warren on Memorial Day and play two games with the team there, in the morning and afternoon.

Judge Harkness has arrived from Utah this week, and will make his home here. Mrs. Harkness, who met with a painful accident at Chicago while coming East, is getting along nicely.

The Thorndikes played a good game at Bondsville on Saturday and defeated the home team by a score of 10 to 4. Riley and Longtine did good work for the Thorndikes. The Thorndikes will go to Westfield Saturday to play the regular team.

A movement is on foot toward a celebration here on the 4th of July, and a subscription paper will be circulated in a week or so to see if funds can be secured to defray the expenses. There is talk of having a procession of antiques and horribles, and an invitation will be extended to those in the other villages of the town to join in the celebration.

Robbed of $50.

Thieves entered the room occupied by William Gerard, who lives with Mr. Davis in the "Five Row," one evening recently while the members of the household were in the yard and stole $50 from a box which was in a closet in the room. The thieves gained an entrance to the room by picking the lock on the door, and then picked the one on the box. Gerard thought he heard a noise in his room, but as all the members were out of doors he did not investigate. Had he done so he would in all probability have captured the thief, as shortly afterward, when the members of the family had retired, they heard some one leaving the house. There is no clue to the guilty ones. The money taken was all in $5 bills.

Parish Club Formed.

The second meeting of the men of the Congregational church parish to complete the organization of a social club was held on Wednesday. H. E. W. Clark was chairman, and Lawrence Shuttleworth secretary. The report of the committee on constitution and by-laws, which were appointed a week ago, was heard, and was accepted and adopted. The following officers were chosen: President, Rev. G. M. Gerrish, vice president, M. M. Thomas; secretary, Lawrence Shuttleworth; treasurer, Charles A. Tabor. A committee consisting of C. H. Hobbs, H. E. W. Clark, B. F. Clark, H. T. Bishop and G. D. Mooers was appointed to secure a suitable place of meeting for the club, and to report at the next meeting. The committee on by-laws, which is to report at the next meeting, is Rev. G. M. Gerrish, M. M. Thomas, Lawrence Shuttleworth and C. A. Tabor. The name adopted was "The Thorndike Parish Social Club." The society starts off with eleven members, and bids fair to become a large and prosperous one, productive of much good. It was voted to keep the charter list open until the close of the next meeting, which will be held next Wednesday, June 3d.

THREE RIVERS.

John F. Twiss has sold his 'bus.

The cottage prayer meeting was held at the home of Mr. Frame Monday evening.

The mill commenced Monday to run about one half of the machinery on full time.

The Ladies' Home Circle met in the vestry of the Union church Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Annie Murdock has opened her ice cream and confectionery rooms on Main street.

On account of the dry weather the woods surrounding this place have caught fire several times recently.

The lodge room of the A. O. U. W. is undergoing repairs. It will be enlarged, newly painted and carpeted.

The services next Sunday in the Union church will be in the vestry, as the audience room is being frescoed and painted.

The Three Rivers baseball team played the Palmers last Saturday afternoon, the score being 10 to 14 in favor of the home team.

The first out-of-door meeting held this season was conducted by D. A. McPhie under the elm tree near the Union church last Sunday afternoon.

Fire was discovered in one of the drying rooms in the dyehouse about 7.30 Tuesday evening, but it was quickly put out by the mill fire department before much damage was done.

Preaching in the Baptist church next Sunday morning at 10.45 by E. A. Thomas. In the evening at 6 there will be a union service, with sermon by Mr. Thomas. Subject, "The flag and the cross." Singing by the Union church quartette.

Death of Miss Nellie Twiss.

Miss Nellie Twiss, 24, died Monday morning of heart failure at her home on Springfield street. She had been ill for some time, but her condition was such that no alarm was felt by her folks until last Sunday, when she was taken worse. Miss Twiss was a sister of John F. Twiss, chairman of the selectmen, and Richard F. Twiss, postmaster at this place, and was clerk in the post office. She was a graduate of the Palmer High school and also attended Childs' Business College in Springfield for some time. She had a wide acquaintanece and was much liked by all. The funeral was held Wednesday at 10 a. m. at St. Mary's church in Thorndike, where requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. F. J. Lynch. Miss Foley, organist at the Catholic church in West Warren and also a relative of the deceased, sang the "De Profundis." The bearers were Merton Twiss, New London, Ct., Frank and George Twiss, Taunton, J. F. Foley, Palmer, J. F. Foley, Spencer, J. J. Foley, Springfield. That Miss Twiss was held in the highest esteem is shown by the many beautiful floral gifts. Among them were a pillow marked "Nellie" from Mr. and Mrs. Twiss, New London; a large crescent, Mr. and Mrs. O'Regan, Indian Orchard; white roses, Miss Mary Twiss, Bondsville; a harp with a broken cord, Misses Shea, Bondsville; large cross, Charles Bernard; a cross, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Foley and Mr. and Mrs. F. Foley; white roses, Misses Sweet, Crane, Clark and Merrill, teachers at Three Rivers; pink roses, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Paine; pinks, Mrs. J. C. Boulay; pinks, Miss Kittie Hartnett; lilies of the valley, Miss Kittie Rock; bouquets, Miss Josephine Vient, Mrs. Higgins, Mrs. J. Burlingame; pinks and lilies of the valley from her aunt, Mrs. Kate Rock; pink roses, her aunt, Mrs. M. Foley; a broken circle, Misses Katherine, Elizabeth, Jennie and Lucy Twiss; an anchor, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Twiss; pinks, Misses Maizie, Belle and Nellie Twiss; roses, Frank Twiss; also a closed book marked "Sister." The burial was in Thorndike.

LEGISLATIVE MATTERS.

BOSTON, May 20, 1896.

The old contest for the better education of the children in the poor towns continues in the Legislature, and the towns have won the fight on the first stage of the bill requiring the assessment of a half mill tax upon all taxable property, the proceeds to be divided among the cities and towns in proportion to the average attendance of children upon the public schools. It was shown in the debate that many towns pay from $4 to $5 per $1000 as a school tax, whereas the average for the state is but $2.85, and Boston pays only $1.90. In Boston every child of school age has behind him about $15,000 of taxable property, whereas in the towns it runs down as low as $1600 in the lowest instance. The fact that the best life of the towns goes into the cities, and the true public policy of preventing the formation of ignorant corners among the population demand that the wealthy places help the poorer ones, especially the little ones among the hills. But there is a radical fault in the basis of distribution, for the common sense of the state will not accept the proposition that the cities of Worcester and Woburn should be helped at the expense of other places. It is very doubtful whether the bill can become law. It has failed hitherto, though it has been proposed no fewer than three different years. If the friends of the poor towns could devise some way of avoiding this help for cities and towns which are well able to take care of themselves, there would be more hope of securing their object.

The House amended the bill to prevent the employment of any mechanics and laborers upon public works who are not citizens of the United States by providing that preference should be given to our citizens, and in that form it was passed to be engrossed.

The redistricting committee finally made its long-expected report in the House on Wednesday morning. There are five dissenters, Senators Galloupe of Essex and Quinn of Suffolk, and Representatives Adams of Framingham, Flynn of Lawrence and Quirk of Boston. Each of these is a Democrat, with the exception of Senator Galloupe, and each dissents because of some objection to the layout of the districts in his particular locality. The committee has not been as successful in its work as was the committee of 1886, for they were absolutely unanimous and stood together so closely that they carried their bill through the House without change, though it will be remembered that the Worcester county Republicans made a tremendous protest against the shoestring district on the east side of the county, while there was also strong opposition from Suffolk and Essex counties. But the committee worked together so effectively that the opposition could not break their ranks anywhere.

But here the case is different. Five of the 32 dissent at the outset, and each of those five will be pretty sure to have local support in the House or Senate, especially when the opposition to the bill is based upon political grounds. When the public come to see the districts upon the map, it will be strange if there is not some adverse comment, for in Essex county there are some very singular lines. One district is very long and narrow and reaches from East Boston to Marlboro, and almost falls in two in the middle, for the connecting part is very narrow. This is the third councillor district. In the main the layout of districts in the five western counties is better than the present arrangement. The outlines seem to be very fair, as a rule. The councillor districts are also well done for the western and southern parts of the state, on the whole. Some of the senatorial districts cover enormous territory, especially the so-called granger district in Worcester county, the Berkshire-Hampshire district, and the Franklin district. These illustrate the declining power of the country and show how rapidly the population of the state is gathering into the large cities and towns. One of the discrepancies in the arrangement which seems to be unavoidable is that the old Cape district is kept just the same as it was,—Barnstable, Dukes and Nantucket counties,—though they do not together have nearly enough for one senator. The town and county of Nantucket, too, keeps one representative, for county lines cannot be divided in apportioning the members of the lower branch of the Legislature. But the island does not have nearly enough voters for one representative.

The bill is in the calendar of the House, but it is impossible to say how soon it will be disposed of. Other important questions demand attention, and it is quite possible that the session will be prolonged further than seemed probable two or three weeks ago. The members are talking now as if it might be the middle of June before prorogation is reached, instead of June 5, as it was last year.

The Whitney gas bill has carried the Senate by a large vote. On one of the amendments there was an adverse vote of seven, but on ordering the bill to a third reading there was no division and no opposition worth counting. Thus it is seen that the Senate, as it has in years past, sustains its reputation of seeming to be more easily affected by the money power of the state, while the House is the more democratic and more likely to see questions in a different light. In the House the amendment for 50 cent gas had a majority in the first place, while the very passage of the bill was impossible until it had been shorn of some of its extreme powers. But the popular side of the question does not seem to find as many adherents in the Senate. Here, once more, is a demonstration of the constant danger there is that the Legislature will drift away from the people and into the hands of the money interest. A large representative body, close to the people and accountable to them every year, is more to be trusted with the popular rights than a small body, more easily influenced. If to the present weakness of the system and of human nature there be added a two-years' tenure of office, with the certainty that there would be no re-election at the end, it is at once seen that the proposed amendment for biennial elections involves danger to the liberties of the people which were not realized when the measure was before the Legislature for discussion.

The Bulfinch front is safe, as seems now, for the Tuttle bill for its demolition was formally abandoned by its friends without a word of debate, and there has been reported a bill to carry out the suggestions of the commissioners of last year that the building be repaired at an expense not to exceed $350,000. Meantime the construction commissioners ask for $250,000 more for finishing the new memorial hall in the part just in the rear of the Bulfinch front. This has been reported into the Senate, but no debate has occurred on the question yet. It may be set down as certain, in all human probability, that the effort to destroy the Bulfinch front will not be renewed in this generation, for the present action is due to the strong effort to save the building. Public sentiment has been expressed to a conspicuous degree, and the members of the Legislature are pretty sure to follow the direction of the public when it is made as clear as in the present case. Meantime the Legislature is becoming more than ever of the opinion that the new hall of the House is of extremely bad acoustic properties. Judge Thomas L. Nelson of the United States district court was in the new hall this week and, after looking around upon its brilliancy, he said that the old hall was better. In that he was undoubtedly right, and it is to be hoped that sometime the Legislature and the executive department will be restored to their former unexcelled position in the front of the old part.

There is a very strong drive against the cattle commissioners to compel them to pay for the cattle which are quarantined before they test any more, and this effort may be successful. LANDON.

BORN.

At Wales, 17th, a son to John M. and Lizzie Heck.

MARRIED.

At Bondsville, 16th, by Rev. B. McKeany, William Frederick and Nellie Tenshaw.

At Pompey, N. Y., 19th, by Rev. L. R. Swinney, Calvin J. Smith of Jamesville and Miss Gertrude S. Case.

DIED.

At Three Rivers, 18th, Miss Nellie Twiss, 24.

At Monson, 18th, Michael McDonald, 52.

At North Wilbraham, 17th, Joseph L. Duprey, 17 y., 7 m.

At Belchertown, 17th, Elizabeth Montague, 89.

Resolutions.

At a meeting of St. Francis Court, M. C. O. F., held May 12, 1896, the following resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, It has pleased the Almighty God to take from our midst our late brother member, Joseph Dewar, be it

Resolved, That the members of St. Francis Court, No. 25, M. C. O. F., mourn the loss of a good and faithful member of our Court.

Resolved, That in the death of Joseph Dewar the Court loses a brother who has at all times been prompt to serve the interests of the Court, a sincere and pious Catholic, whose virtues endeared him not only to the members of St. Francis Court, but to all who knew him.

Resolved, That St. Francis Court tender its heartfelt sympathy to his family in this their sad affliction.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be inscribed on the records of the Court and published in a newspaper, and a copy sent to the family of the deceased.

MICHAEL DALEY,
J. FRANK GOODHUE,
A. S. VOGEL,
} Committee on Resolutions.

FOR SALE.—A 2-story octagon bay window, as good as new. G. W. LYMAN, Palmer.

TO RENT.—Two tenements on Fox avenue. tf-44 Apply to G. S. HOLDEN.

FOR SALE OR TO RENT.—The house corner of Thorndike street and Foster avenue. tf6 C. W. JOHNSON, Palmer.

TO RENT.—Good up and down stairs tenement, six rooms, on Spring street. tf-4 GEORGE A. KEITH, Palmer.

FOR SALE.—Handsome oak refrigerator, good as new, cherry chamber set, two-thirds white iron bedstead, and kitchen range, all in good order. Enquire at house of C. B. FISKE.

FOR SALE.—Buff Cochin and Plymouth Rock eggs for hatching. Won prizes at Palmer, Northampton, Stafford and Providence. tf 38 C. RALPH LEGRO, Palmer, Mass.

HEADQUARTERS CYRUS W. CROSS CAMP, NO. 136, SONS OF VETERANS, U. S. A.

GENERAL ORDERS NO. 1.

All members of Camp 136 are hereby ordered to meet at Memorial Hall at 8 o'clock a. m., on Saturday, May 30, 1896, to do escort duty for L. L. Merrick Post, 107, G. A. R., and assist in the proper observance of Memorial Day.

All sons of Union Soldiers are hereby cordially invited to join the line of march, although they may not belong to the organization.

By order LESLIE H. HENDEE, Captain.
A. B. C. DEMING, 1st Sergt.

HEADQUARTERS L. L. MERRICK POST, NO. 107, G. A. R.

GENERAL ORDERS NO. 1.

Once more the solemn day is near when we place grateful garlands upon the graves of the honored dead, and as the years roll by and fresh garlands replace the withered bloom of last year, the nation raises higher and still higher the honor roll of its gallant defenders.

Members of the post, soldiers and sailors, are requested to meet at Memorial Hall, May 30, at 8 o'clock a. m., to form a line of march to the different cemeteries. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend the services in Memorial Hall at 2 o'clock p. m.

E. E. RYTHER, Com.
H. H. PAINE, Adjt.

TOWN OF PALMER.
PROPOSALS FOR BUILDING SEWER.

The selectmen of the Town of Palmer will receive proposals until 7 o'clock p. m. of Saturday, May 23d, for building a new sewer on Main and Thorndike streets, in the Depot Village, plans and specifications for which may be seen at the office of Woolrich & Co., in said village.

Bids should be addressed to "Selectmen of Palmer," Palmer, and marked "Proposals for Building Sewer."

The selectmen reserve the right to reject any or all bids.

J. F. TWISS,
G. M. ATKINS,
C. T. BRAINERD,
} Selectmen of Palmer.
2-7

Central St., Dining Room and Restaurant.

T. A. HARWOOD, PROPRIETOR.

BEST 25 CENT DINNER IN TOWN. Meals and lunches served at all hours.

Board and room, $4.50 per week. Table board, $3.50 per week. Central St., Palmer.

Good looking people usually have good teeth. LeGRO'S TOOTH POWDER will keep the teeth white, gums healthy and breath pure.

LeGro & Lynde, Druggists,
Next to Post Office, Palmer.

One swallow does not make Spring, but one swallow of One Minute Cough Cure brings relief. LeGro & Lynde.

MORTGAGEES SALE.

To Frederick J. Wassum and all other parties interested in the property hereinafter described:

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of power of sale contained in a certain Mortgage Deed given by Frederick J. Wassum to Helena M. Davis dated April 1st, 1884, and recorded in Hampden County Registry of Deeds in Book 404, Page 198, and for breach of the conditions, will be sold at public auction upon the premises on Tuesday, the second day of June, 1896, at twelve o'clock noon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage as follows, to wit:

The following described real estate situate on the easterly side of Pleasant street, in said Palmer, and bounded as follows:

Beginning on said street at the northeasterly corner of lands of J. H. Tuthill and thence running northerly on said street ten rods to land of Frank S. Sedgwick, thence easterly on line of land of said Sedgwick nine rods to land of S. S. Taft, thence southerly on land of said Taft and land of Charles Keith ten rods to land of said Tuthill, thence westerly on said Tuthill's land nine rods to the place of beginning.

Said premises will be sold subject to all unpaid taxes, also subject to a mortgage given to the Palmer Savings Bank to secure the sum of twenty-four hundred dollars and interest.

Two hundred dollars will be required to be paid in cash by the purchaser at the time and place of sale.

HELENA M. DAVIS, Mortgagee.
By ALLEN WEBSTER, her Attorney.
Springfield, Mass., May 5th, 1896. 3-6

Meekins, Packard & Wheat.

THE CARPET SALE

going on here has far exceeded our richest expectations.

Five hundred pieces received the past week.

Bargains in Every Line.

Carpet department, first floor.

Extra Inducements in CHAMBER SETS.

Never such values as these:

Thoroughly reliable in make, splendid styles.

$17.90 for two styles of antique sets, equal to any before shown at $25.

$22.50 and $26.50 for solid oak and birch sets, handsomely finished.

$32.50 for antique oak sets that have but recently been selling at $40.

These are the leaders. There are prices between these that will secure bargains.

Fourth floor.

Some attractive numbers from our line of

DINING FURNITURE.

Better than you'd expect to find at such prices.

SIDEBOARDS at $15, $16.50, and $24, in solid oak.

DINING TABLES in solid oak at $4.50.

$7.00 for solid oak table, with carved stretchers and fluted legs.

Heavy colonial tables, extra large top and beaded edge—these at $15 would be cheap at $18.

DINING CHAIRS in antique finish, spindle back, brass arm, at $10.

Solid oak box seat chairs at $2

Second floor.

Parlor Tables.

$3.50 for finely polished mahogany finished tables with under shelf.

More elaborate styles at $5, in solid oak and mahogany finish. Two leaders from our stock of a hundred or more, styles of tables, in all the desirable woods.

Second floor.

Drapery Dept.

SPECIAL DRIVES that will interest you. Chenille portieres at $2–50c less than you can buy inferior qualities and styles elsewhere. $2.75 and $2.95 for regular $3.50 and $4 draperies, in heavy quality chenille, rich colorings.

Drapery dept.

MEEKINS, PACKARD & WHEAT,
SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

FLOUR:

W. C. & Co. Superlative.
Pillsbury's Best.
Nicholief's Best.

We warrant this flour to be the best that can be bought for any price.

Smith's Best St. Louis.
Milled at Honeoye Falls, N. Y.

FOR LOW PRICES CALL AT

SMITH

Grocery Company,

59 Main Street,
PALMER.

Mrs. R. DeYoung, Middleburg, Ia., writes: I have used One Minute Cough Cure for six years, both for myself and children, and I consider it the quickest acting and most satisfactory Cough Cure I ever used. LeGro & Lynde.

C. H. HOBBY, PIANO TUNER.

Orders for tuning may be left at O. P. Allen's drug store, Palmer; or may be sent to me by mail to Mansfield, Ct.

CHERRY BALSAM

Cures coughs, colds, throat and lung troubles. Others use it, we ask you to try it.

LeGro & Lynde, Druggists,
next to Post Office,
PALMER.

One minute is the standard time, and One Minute Cough Cure is the standard preparation for every form of cough or cold. It is the only harmless remedy that produces immediate results. LeGro & Lynde.

For the bath.

Soaps, sponges, brushes, toilet waters and powders, sea salt, etc.

Proper bathing is a luxury. The things cost but little if bought of us.

LeGRO & LYNDE,
Next to Post Office,
PALMER.

Eczema is a frightful affliction, but like all other skin diseases it can be permanently cured by applications of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It never fails to cure piles. LeGro & Lynde.

Wall Papers.

New styles, spring patterns. Borders to match.

How nice your rooms will look with new paper on them, and more healthy, too.

For the . . .
largest and best assortment,
. . . go to

LeGRO & LYNDE'S,
next to post office, PALMER.

DRS. HUDSON & BARDEN,
DENTISTS.

Having severed connection with Dr. W. L. Roberts, we have opened an office in the PHOENIX, 307 MAIN ST., SPRINGFIELD.

By our exclusive method we guarantee to

FILL TEETH WITHOUT PAIN,

and by a simple application to the gums we are enabled to extract FULLY 95 PER CENT OF ALL TEETH WITHOUT PAIN.

Positively no injury to teeth or gums, and no physiological ill-effect to the patient.

Artificial teeth on rubber, aluminum and gold bases.

All work guaranteed. Take elevator.
DRS. HUDSON & BARDEN,
307 Main Street, Springfield, Mass.

Are you interested in . . .

SHIRT WAISTS?

We are showing some very pretty styles in percales and novelties, that for design and fit cannot be excelled.

Why spend your time and strength in making . . . . .

CHILDREN'S DRESSES

when you can buy such a dainty article as we are selling? All ages, all prices.

New styles and patterns in

SEPARATE SKIRTS

received every week. . . . .

Have you bought your . . .

SPRING WRAP?

If not we have a few plums left. They are selling fast.

SPECIAL VALUES IN HOSIERY AND UNDERWEAR.

D. L. BODFISH,

Cross Block,
PALMER.

New Goods Just Opened.

Spring, 1896.

A FINE LINE OF

Wash Goods,
Table Linen,
Napkins and Towels.
Goblin and
Pongee Draperies.

A VERY FULL ASSORTMENT OF

Dress Linings,
Buttons
and Braids.

IN OUR Grocery Department

we have a great variety of FANCY GOODS.

IN CANNED GOODS the quality ranges from the cheapest to the best goods canned, and the prices guaranteed to be as low as any dealer in town. Call and see for yourselves.

J. B. SHAW,

FEENEY'S BLOCK, PALMER.

The Latest Goods

for men is what we want to talk about.

The Journal.

FRIDAY EVENING, MAY 22, 1896.

NEIGHBORHOOD NOTES.

MONSON.

LOCAL NOTICES.

25 Dollars Reward.

The above reward will be paid to any person for evidence that shall lead to the prosecution and conviction of any one engaged in the illegal sale of spirituous liquors or intoxicating drinks in the town of Monson.

J. H. THOMPSON, C. C. KEEP, H. SQUIER, } Prosecuting Committee.

Electric Trap-Rock Crusher Started.

The W. N. Flynt Granite company started its electric stone crusher this week. The trap-rock quarry where the crusher is situated was formerly known as the Rock-house, and was a famous resort for visitors to Monson and for picnicking parties. About two years ago the company discovered that a vein of trap-rock—500 feet north and south and three-fourths of a mile east and west—ran from the Rock-house to the granite quarry, and when the state highway commission paid the place a visit with a view to using it in the construction of the state road, they pronounced it exceptionally fine. Orders for the trap-rock have been so large and so numerous that the stone crusher put in last year was not sufficient, and the plan of constructing an electric crusher plant has been carried out. A fifty-horse power motor supplies the force, and was furnished by the General Electric company of Schenectady, N. Y. The wheel makes 700 revolutions a minute, and will run more than 25 minutes after disconnection. The stone is taken from the ledge and run by chutes to a platform 30 by 50 feet in size and into the mouth of the crusher, which is 13 by 30 inches. The crusher weighs about eight tons. From the crusher it is taken in buckets by an endless belt to the screen over the bins, four in number, each taking a different sized piece. Each bin has an opening at the bottom and at the side, the openings being about 15 inches square. A track runs from the granite quarry to the trap-rock quarry, as well as to the New London Northern road, and a second track 400 feet long has been laid at the trap-rock quarry and runs under the bins, so that four cars may be loaded at once. A pond has also been made to supply water for the crusher, in order to keep it from getting heated. When the plant is in full operation about 300 tons of stone will be crushed in a day, and about 30 men will be employed.

Death of Michael McDonald.

Michael McDonald, 52, boss blacksmith at the Flynt granite quarry, died Monday noon of apoplexy after a short illness. Mr. McDonald was born in County Kerry, Ireland, and with his parents came to this country when but five months old. The elder Mr. McDonald was employed at the quarry for a number of years, but the latter part of his life was spent in farming. Michael received his education in the public schools, and when a young man went to work in the blacksmithing shop at the quarry. He became a fine workman, doing much of the work on the various implements used by the company, and finally becoming foreman, having eight or ten men under his charge. He was of great value to his employers, and they will miss him greatly. He was married November 13, 1868, to Miss Hannah Moriarty of this place, who survives him, and they have had seven children; two daughters, Misses Mary C. and Anna V. of Palmer, and three sons, Michael B., Charles T. and Walter J. McDonald of Monson are living. Mr. McDonald also leaves three brothers, Dr. Thomas L., an eminent physician of Washington, D. C., Dr. Patrick, a dentist at New Britain, Ct., and William E., of the Flynt Building and Construction company of Palmer, also two sisters, Mrs. J. T. O'Keefe and Miss Kate McDonald of Hudson. The funeral was held at St. Patrick's church Wednesday and was well attended; Rev. Thomas O'Keefe celebrated requiem mass. The burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery, the bearers being James Gough, Edward Cantwell, John Lynch, Morris Haley, Thomas O'Brien and John Dower.

Memorial Day Exercises.

On next Sunday, Marcus Keep G. A. R. post, the Woman's Relief corps, and A. A. Gage camp, Sons of Veterans, will attend divine services in the Methodist church at 10.30 a. m., Rev. W. H. Marble's subject being "Christian heroism."

On Memorial Day the exercises at Moulton Hill cemetery will be at 10 a. m. At 12 m. delegations will decorate the graves in all except the Center cemetery. Exercises at Memorial Hall will commence at 1.30 p. m., and the address will be delivered by Past Dept. Commander John D. Billings of Cambridgeport. The Academy quartet and a chorus of the children from the public schools, under the direction of Miss Cantwell, will sing patriotic selections. The flag salute will be given, and Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Norcross will sing the "Star Spangled Banner." After the exercises at the hall the members of the post and camp, escorted by the Monson Cornet band, will march to the soldiers' monument, where the usual exercises will be given; from thence to the Center cemetery, where the graves of 53 soldiers will be decorated; after which the line will reform and march back to G. A. R. Hall, where the women of the Relief Corps will furnish a collation. Contributions of flowers are earnestly solicited, and may be left at Memorial Hall next Friday afternoon. A cordial invitation is extended to all veteran soldiers and sailors to attend the services next Sunday, and to participate in the exercises of Memorial Day.

Some Early Effects of License.

For some time reports have been made of Sunday drinking, carousing and card-playing in the woods outside the village. Last Sunday complaint was made to Officer Osborne and he started out. In Wilson M. Tucker's woods he found a large party, but every one who was in running trim took refuge behind a wall. Mr. Osborne shouldered a keg half full of beer, and made his way across the hill to the property of Rev. James Tufts, where he found two empty kegs and evidences of a hasty flight on the part of the peace breakers. Monday Benjamin Barr and James Gough were arrested and taken before the Palmer court, and fined $10 each. Each paid $5 and the cases were continued until June 6. It is hoped that this may be a warning, as it is understood that Officer Osborne has his eyes on others. A goodly number of "Yes" votes have advertised themselves this week. Some have moved dejectedly along the street, others have been posted on the buildings, and two or three have lain face upwards on the ground. William Toner made things so unpleasant at his home on North Main street Monday that his family sent for Officer Osborne to remove him, and he spent the night in the lockup. Mrs. Toner went to Palmer and paid his fine Tuesday, then invited him to take himself and his belongings from the house.

Charles Stone was knocked down by a bicycle Saturday.

The school committee will hold a meeting next Friday evening.

Mrs. Veitch of Ansonia, Ct., is visiting her daughter, Mrs. T. H. Todd.

The King's Daughters will meet this evening with Mrs. W. H. Pease.

F. E. Handy has sold his South Monson property to Horace Moulton.

Frank Homer has moved into Truman Watrous's house on North Main street.

Miss Mabel E. Watson has been chosen poet of the class of '96 of the Academy.

Post office hours Memorial Day will be: 7 a. m. to 10 a. m.; 2 to 2.30, and 7 to 7.45 p. m.

Miss Mary E. Crowe of Westboro is visiting her sister, Miss Norine Crowe, at the Century.

Mrs. George Homer and children of Somers, Ct., have spent the week with Miss Lillie K. Homer.

The state railroad commissioners were in town Tuesday, inspecting the stations, tracks, etc.

Miss Locke of Nova Scotia, who has been spending the winter in town, leaves to-morrow for her home.

Charles Lyons, for some time loom fixer for R. M. & T. Reynolds, has engaged in business in Westfield.

Rev. Harry Blackford will take for his subject Sunday, "Moral perfection, the goal of the Christian's endeavor."

Dr. P. M. Soule attended the meeting of the Valley District Dental association in Springfield Monday evening.

Mrs. Charles Gallup and daughter Louise, of Mystic, Ct., are visiting Mrs. Gallup's mother, Mrs. Cornelia Edson.

Julius Heimann and family of New York, who have been stopping at the Century Hotel, returned home Wednesday.

Julius N. Graves has the contract to build a barn for Mrs. C. H. Allen on the lot with the house which he is now building for her.

Friends of Miss Mabel L. Tucker will be glad to know that she is recovering from her illness, and will be able to resume her school Monday.

Friends of Mrs. Harry Blackford will be pleased to know that she is better. She had an exceedingly poor turn Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Katherine Fay, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Fay, gave a party last Saturday afternoon in honor of the daughters of Mr. Heimann.

John L. Bacon, Jr., of the Hahnemann Medical college, Philadelphia, has been spending several days with his sister, Mrs. H. C. Norcross.

Residences recently connected with the town water system are those of E. R. Bates, Mark Noble, C. L. Peck and L. C. Flynt. The office of Dr. P. W. Soule has also been connected.

At a meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary societies held at Mrs. Lucinda White's Monday evening, ten members were present. The subject of the meeting was "Social life among African women."

Cushman's brick mill has been shut down a part of the week on account of an accident to the steam press. A large needle about four inches long stuck in a piece of cloth which was being run through the rollers. When the needle struck the copper jacket of the roller it tore it so badly as to necessitate the sending of the roller to Worcester for repairs.

An entertainment will be given under the auspices of the Dorcas society in the chapel of the Congregational church next Tuesday evening entitled "Happenynges of ye olden tyme." It will consist of three acts, as follows: "The sewing circle," "The choir rehearsal," and "The donation party." The last act was written by Dr. F. W. Ellis. A. D. Norcross has drilled the singers.

The Epworth League, being desirous of raising the sum of $2000 for church repairs, has adopted the method of sending "chain letters" with 10-cent contributions. The auditorium and vestibules need refrescoing, the auditorium needs a new carpet, the parsonage, besides being repaired inside is to be painted outside, and the money for the latter is to be raised by $1 subscriptions.

The leaks in the water pipes at the Center cemetery have been repaired this week, so there will be found a supply of water in the various basins. The work of improvement is going on. The foot-stones in the old part have been removed; the walks are being cut out, and the beds will soon be filled with plants. The Thompson extension is being graded.

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Benevolent society of the Methodist church was held Monday evening with Mrs. Lucinda White, and these officers were elected: President, Mrs. W. H. Marble; vice-presidents, Mrs. G. Rogers, Mrs. H. E. Bugbee; secretary and treasurer, Miss Mary Ward; executive committee, Mrs. F. M. King, Mrs. Hattie Flynt, Mrs. J. H. Thompson, Mrs. A. W. Ferry, Mrs. W. S. Nason, Mrs. Miner Noble, Mrs. B. A. Day, Mrs. Horace Squier.

The Mount Holyoke College glee club will give a concert in Memorial Hall Tuesday evening, June 2. Entertainments have abounded this year, but no glee club has come to town. This is the first time Monson has ever had an opportunity to hear a chorus from a ladies' college, and such are less easily secured than those from gentlemen's colleges. The Mount Holyoke club is large, and renders really good music of a pleasing nature, as some from this community, who have heard them, testify. Mandolin and banjo clubs aid the singers. Misses Annie Converse and Alice Walker, who will be remembered as Academy graduates in the class of '93, are members of the club.

A pistol shot heard on Green street last week Thursday evening caused considerable commotion at the time. Two ladies living near the place where the shot was fired were much frightened, as they feared that some person had been hurt. Others attributed the cause of the firing to two or more cats who were known to have been very near that spot but a few minutes before. As a certain pet cat has not since been seen by his owner, although the hill has been searched and other efforts have been made to trace him, there is a strong suspicion that the shot and the cat's non-appearance have some connection, and developments are awaited with interest. It is related that the "riot act" was once read to some Monson men by the late Judge Newton for firing a pistol on Reynolds's pond, with such force as to make them plead for mercy.

WILBRAHAM.

The Juniors of the Academy will have a class ride next Monday.

There will be a strawberry festival at the Congregational church this evening.

A special meeting of the Grange was held last evening at the chapel of the South church.

Mrs. Lydia Richards of Springfield, with her son and family, spent Sunday at C. C. Beebe's.

The residence and lawn of Anson Soule were the scene of a pleasant surprise gathering Wednesday evening, the occasion being his birthday.

W. B. Robbins has moved into the Rice cottage on Springfield street. Mr. Robbins has purchased a building lot on Paradise Row, Northampton, upon which he is erecting a dwelling house which he will occupy when completed.

WARREN.

60th WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Gleason Celebrated by Townspeople Monday Evening.

That was a rare anniversary which it was the good pleasure of Warren people to celebrate on Monday, the 60th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Gleason. The family had planned for a quiet observance of the day, but when the townspeople learned of the occasion they were unwilling to let it pass without presenting their congratulations. Knowing from past experience that they would find the latchstring always out at the Gleason homestead, a large number of people called during the afternoon and evening to present their congratulations, and were received by the host and hostess with the cordial welcome which has always given their home such a reputation for hospitality. Noticeable among the guests were many of the older people, whose presence is always an added charm to any social gathering: Mr. and Mrs. Danforth Keyes, the glint of whose golden anniversary has already passed, Mr. and Mrs. William Combs, Mrs. Shepard Blair, Mrs. Hanson Allen, Mrs. Charles Burbank, Mrs. W. G. Butterworth, Miss Sephronia Keyes, and many others. Very appetizing refreshments were daintily served by Mrs. Edgar Butterworth, Mrs. George Butler and Miss Edith Gleason. It was a delightfully informal affair, which will be long remembered with much pleasure by all who attended.

But the bride and groom are the most important part of a wedding. It seemed impossible to realize that four score years of storm and sunshine had passed over the kindly, genial faces of the host and hostess. Truly, the sixty years must have been a pleasant journey to have left so little trace of the flight of time. A kindly Providence must have led them "through green pastures and by still waters." One felt with Oliver Wendell Holmes, "'Twere better to be seventy years young, than forty years old."

Mr. Gleason was a native of West Brookfield, and came to Warren at the age of six, after the death of his father, to reside with his uncle, Asahel Fairbank, grandfather of representative W. H. Fairbank, where he remained until, at the age of twenty-three he married a Warren girl, Emily Lincoln, daughter of Mr. Eli Lincoln. The wedding took place at the bride's home, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Mr. Fuller of Brimfield. The bride was becomingly attired in a yellow brocaded silk gown. Mrs. Asahel Fairbank of Warren is the only surviving guest among the town's people. Three other living guests are Mrs. Ann L. Chaffee of Spencer, Mrs. Orrel Haskins of North Brookfield, sisters of Mrs. Gleason, and a brother-in-law, Mr. David Combs. After the wedding the bride and groom, accompanied by many of the guests, departed for the new home, a red house on the farm now owned by Mr. John Lawrence. After residing in this house ten years, Mr. Gleason built the house now occupied by Mr. Lawrence. They remained here for thirty-six years, which they count as halacon days.

It was an ideal farming community, and it is refreshing in these days of rush and ceremony to turn the leaves back to the charming neighborly intercourse of those days. The families of Asa Patrick and Dea. Asa Patrick, Joseph and Joseph Ramsdell, Jr., Homer and W. B. Ramsdell, the Ellises, Oliver and Charles Bliss, Eli and Keyes Lincoln, and Elisha Bliss were their immediate neighbors, while just over the Brimfield line were the home steads of Linus and Wilson Homer, Oliver and James Blair. In a neighborhood famous for its prosperity, sociability and hospitality, Mr. and Mrs. Gleason filled a large place, with an account of their hospitality and for that kindly spirit of neighborliness which showed itself so lavishly when called out to share the joys or sorrows of another. Mrs. Gleason, having a natural aptitude for nursing, was a welcome guest in time of sickness or trouble, and never spared herself when she could ease the sufferings of another.

We would be loth to shift the scene from this idyllic picture of a happy rural community, but the picture changes. Many of the old neighbors have gone the long journey, and their families are scattered. The old homesteads have all passed into other hands. In 1872, Mr. and Mrs. Gleason purchased of Joseph Lombard the farm they now own, known as the Alvin Bliss farm. The comfortable, commodious house which they built, the well-tilled and fertile acres bespeak the thrift and industry which have made their lives so happy and successful. Mr. Gleason is a Republican in politics. He and Mrs. Gleason are both staunch members of the Congregational church, of which their son is a deacon. Indeed they started in life in a church-going community, for it was not unusual to see a procession of a dozen or more teams move its way to church from the old neighborhood on a Sabbath morning. A daughter, Mrs. George Norcross of Monson, a son, F. E. Gleason, and two grandchildren, Miss Edith and Master Charles Gleason, comprise the immediate family circle, which has never been broken. A peaceful, prosperous journey we wish for our friends during the rest of their earthly pilgrimage, and at the close a happy reunion with the old friends and neighbors who have gone on before to their "Ain Countrie."

WARREN MEN VISIT NEWELL,

The Vermont Healer, at Ware, With Differing Results.

It may not be generally known that two men of this town have been treated during the past week by Bradley Newell, the Vermont blacksmith who is said to possess a power to cure diseases which he cannot explain, but with which he certainly is making some wonderful cures, but such is the case. Both were seen Wednesday by a JOURNAL representative, and their stories learned.

Newell was at Ware on Friday and Saturday of last week, and on Friday was visited by Daniel Killigrew of Warren. Killigrew is about 29 years of age, and has gone with a cane for the past two years because of an injury to his knee some years previous, but which never bothered him until recently. Killigrew asked Newell if he could cure him, and was told that it was uncertain, he stating that he did not know whence his power came and never could tell whether he could cure or not. Killigrew decided to take a treatment, however, and stood on the floor facing Newell, who also stood up. Newell then clenched his fingers into Kelligrew's, and stood holding his hands for several minutes. Soon Kelligrew began to feel a sensation much like that of an electric current passing up his arms; it continued through his shoulders and down his spine, into his hips and knees, and finally down through his feet and off. His knee, which was swollen and lame, became easier, and he could walk without his cane. The effect was not lasting, unfortunately, and in about five hours he was as lame as ever. Mr. Killigrew, however, does not brand Newell as a fraud because the benefit was not permanent, but says that the man certainly has some mysterious power, though what it is or where it comes from he does not know.

The other visitor to Newell was John E. Walsh of West Warren, and he has been materially helped. Mr. Walsh, while walking on March 9th, began to have trouble with one of his feet, which soon became so lame that he was obliged to use crutches. He heard of Newell's intended visit to Ware, and having read much about him proposed to try the effect of a treatment. He went Saturday afternoon and found Newell in a drug store drinking a glass of soda while on his way to a train. Walsh was treated in much the same way as Killigrew, though at first he could perceive no benefit. Newell had only a moment to spare, but predicted that his patient would be helped. Sure enough, in about five minutes he began to feel the effects of the treatment, his sensations being very similar to those of Killigrew. The good effect increased, and in a few moments he discarded his crutches and has had no use for them since, his lameness disappearing each day, until now he limps but little. He thinks, however, that if the healer is in this vicinity again he will take one more treatment, to make his cure permanent and lasting. A peculiar thing about his lameness is that he had visited several physicians regarding it, but none of them could decide exactly as to what the trouble was.

Slight Fire—Prompt Work by Firemen.

The fire department was called out at two o'clock this morning to the Manley house on Crescent street, where fire had caught between the partitions, probably from the chimney. Prompt action on the part of the pump shop hose company saved the structure, though the house is badly damaged by fire and water. The house was occupied by two tenants, who have removed to neighboring tenements of James Hill. At the time of the fire there was a fine display of northern lights, so brilliant that when the first alarm was given many supposed the fire to be in that direction.

Mrs. Emma Lincoln of Bacon street is quite ill.

"The Owls" will have a dance in Brigham's Hall to-night.

Miss Kelly is substituting at East street for Miss Porter.

Mr. Tucker of Maple street, who has been seriously ill, is slowly improving.

Miss Gertrude Jameson of Cambridge is the guest of Mrs. E. F. Strickland of Bacon street.

Charles Moore of Newton Center was in town last Sunday, the guest of Mrs. J. W. Chadsey.

The Misses Chadsey of Wickford, R. I., are the guests of Mrs. J. W. Chadsey this week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Norcross of Monson were the guests of Charles Gleason last Sabbath.

The Ladies' Home Missionary society met in the Congregational parlors Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Porter, who teaches in the East street building, has been ill with malaria this week.

Dr. R. W. Hastings and wife of Brookline are the guests of Mrs. J. W. Hastings on Maple street.

Rev. Harris G. Hale and wife attended the meeting of the state association at Fall River this week.

The Slater Engine company has reduced its force of workmen, and will run only through the day for the present.

The Woman's Christian Temperance union met with Mrs. H. P. Johnson on Quaboag street Tuesday afternoon.

Memorial Day will be observed with the usual morning programme, but the Sunday evening services will take the place of the usual afternoon exercises.

The Ladies' Sewing society of the Universalist church met with Mrs. George Barrows Thursday afternoon, and the Y. P. C. U. met with Mrs. Bushnell on Carl street this week.

Clara Barton post, G. A. R., will hold a memorial service in the town hall Sunday evening. There will be a roll call by the post, ten-minute speeches by the clergy, and an orchestra will furnish music.

The funeral of Mrs. Thomas Nevins was held last Sunday; the burial was at West Brookfield. A husband, son and two daughters will deeply feel the loss of wife and mother. One son was buried in North Brookfield two years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. George Shumway leave Monday for New York, to await the arrival of Mrs. and Miss Kingman, who have been spending a year in Europe. They will come to Warren for a short time and then leave for their home in Minneapolis.

The local company which played "Shaun-Aroon" so successfully on St. Patrick's night, repeated the play at West Brookfield Tuesday night for the Catholic fair, which has been running there this week. Some vacancies in the cast were filled by Spencer parties.

The funeral services of Mrs. Larson were held at her late home on Southbridge street Monday afternoon. Much sympathy is felt for Mr. Larson, who sails from New York to-morrow for Christiana, Norway, with his infant daughter, that his wife's body may be interred at her old home.

A runaway horse caused some commotion on Southbridge street Thursday evening of last week. It was driven by John Avery, who was peddling strawberries and pickles for West Warren parties. The strawberries were scattered over the street, and the half barrel of pickles was deposited by Brigham's block.

Last Saturday's baseball record was as follows: The P. I. R. club of Warren played the Clippers of North Brookfield on the Warren field, score 11 to 7 in favor of the Warren club. The F. M. T. S. of Warren played against the Ware team on the Ware grounds, with a score of 28 to 7 in favor of the F. M. T. S.

NORTH WILBRAHAM.

The engagement is announced of Howard King, cashier for the Cutler company, and Miss Edith Fuller of Ludlow.

BELCHERTOWN.

Jonathan Hastings, 78, died last week of cancer at the home of Martin Hastings on Turkey Hill.

Henry D. Hoag gave a party to a number of his young friends last Friday evening, the occasion being his 16th birthday.

The death of Oliver Knowlton, youngest son of Henry M. Knowlton of this place, occurred last Friday at Derby, Ct., as the result of a fall from the second story of a building, where he was drawing up goods into his store. The funeral was held Monday at Derby.

Elizabeth Montague, 89, died Sunday at the residence of her niece, Mrs. A. L. Kendall, with whom she lived. She had suffered for a year as the result of a fractured hip, and her age prevented any attempt to reduce the fracture. Miss Montague was born Feb. 26, 1807, and was one of a family of twelve children, all of whom are dead. The only surviving relatives are a nephew, Prof. Montague of Amherst, and two nieces, Mrs. Laura Cushman of North Adams and Mrs. Kendall of this place. The deceased had been a member of the Congregational church since 1843. The funeral was held Monday.

WALES.

The assessors are taking the valuations.

The highways are being repaired; J. C. Burley is road commissioner.

Indigestion is often taken for consumption. The word consumption means wasting away, and dyspetics often waste away as badly as consumptives.

The reason people waste away is because either they don't get enough to eat, or they don't digest what they eat.

If the latter is your trouble, take Shaker Digestive Cordial. This will help you to digest your food and stop your loss of flesh.

Shaker Digestive Cordial is made from herbs, barks and the juices of fruit, by the well-known Shakers at Mount Lebanon. It possesses great tonic and digestive powers.

Shaker Digestive Cordial has cured many supposed consumptives (who were really dyspeptics), by simply helping their stomachs to digest their food, thus giving them nourishment and new strength.

Sold by all druggists. Trial battles 10 cents.

Twelve persons were immersed in Lake Florence last Sunday afternoon.

Dwight Watrous of Hanover, Ct., is moving his family into the Luther house near the Center schoolhouse.

Miss Beatrice Hall is in the duck business; she has two broods of young ducklings, and several dozen eggs in process of hatching.

Two soap peddlers entertained a crowd of people Wednesday evening in front of Shaw's block, singing songs and selling soap.

A French wood chopper was brought to Dr. Ross's office Wednesday with his left hand nearly cut off. D. Ross dressed the wound, but fears amputation will be necessary.

What might have proved a serious accident last Sunday at the baptism only resulted in the two forward wheels of a wagon turning out; every spoke in both wheels came out of the hub. The horse was stopped at once, or some one must have been hurt, as there were 50 teams in the road at the time, besides some two hundred people.

The Baptist Sunday school will hold its second annual May festival in the vestry next Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Refreshments will be served both evenings, and fancy articles will be on sale. The Alpha Mandolin-Guitar club of Springfield will furnish music the first night, and a male quartette from Springfield will entertain Thursday night. All are invited to attend.

BRIMFIELD.

Fred Brown is working in Monson.

Miss Lola Andrews is visiting relatives in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Miss Georgianna Whitehouse is visiting friends in Newtonville.

Misses Ida and Flora Agard were home from Monson over Sunday.

John L. Bacon, Jr., is visiting his sister, Mrs. Herbert Norcross, in Monson.

Carter, painter of Warren, has taken the residence of Mrs. George Chamberlain to paint.

Miss Georgie Whitehouse went to Hull Monday, where she will remain with friends for several weeks.

Miss Kate Keathing of Springfield is visiting at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Parker for a week.

Miss Blanche Sparhawk of Boston was in town a few days last week, the guest of her brother W. T. Sparhawk.

Miss Laura Hitchcock, formerly of this place, who has been spending the winter in Washington, D. C., is visiting at the home of her brother, George M. Hitchcock.

Miss Fannie Warren and Miss Muzzy returned from Worcester last week and have opened the Warren home for the summer. Misses Ellen and Mary Warren are expected this week.

S. E. Charles of Boston was in town Friday, the guest of his sister, Mrs. Edward Bliss. Mr. Charles came for the purpose of attending the prize speaking contest, he being one of the judges.

The many friends of Miss Cora M. Morse, a successful teacher here, will be pleased to know of her marriage last Wednesday to Mr. Clarence Percy of Saco, Me., which took place at her home in Belchertown.

WEST WARREN.

Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Germain are rejoicing over the birth of a little daughter.

Mrs. Austin Doane of Springfield has been visiting her sister, Miss Josephine Merritt.

Mrs. John J. Lester of Springfield has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Grant.

Miss Minnie Collins is very low with consumption, and it is not expected that she will live long.

Mrs. Mary Cantwell and five children of Pennsylvania are visiting Mrs. Cantwell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carey.

There were 57 members of the Epworth League attended the convention at Warren last Friday. Having the largest per cent in attendance of any of the societies represented, they claimed the banner for the second time.

The fifth piano recital by the pupils of M. J. Sullivan of Chicopee will be given at the residence of William Clark next Friday evening, with this programme:

Post Horn Polka. James Forte.	Beuham
Bee Hive Waltz. Miss Anna Cronin.	Latour
Dance Ecossaise. Miss Theda Walker.	Baker
First Thought Redowa. Miss Cora Forte.	Smith
Piano Duet. Return of the Brave. Willie Cronin and James Forte.	Sudds
Princess May. Miss Bridgie Sheehan.	Egee
Last Hope.	Gottschalk
Miss Bridgie Collins.
Balmoral Grand Scottish Fantasia. Miss Marion Grant.	Sirrai
Massachusetts Military March. Willie Cronin.	Cruger
Barber of Saville. Miss Nellie Clark.	Rossini
Piano Duet. Witch's Flight. Misses Marion Grant and Theda Walker.	Russell

Station Agent Anslow's Sudden Departure from Town.

George P. Anslow, station agent for the Boston and Albany railroad since Feb. 17, 1892, left town on Wednesday evening of last week, and has not been heard from since. Nor is he likely that he will voluntarily return, as it is estimated that his shortage is some $700 or $800. His railroad accounts were all right the first of the month, but it is known that he collected various freight bills not long before his departure, and no money was found in the safe when his successor arrived, besides which he is known to have borrowed all the money he could a few days before he left. He owes numerous bills about town, but all his household furniture is mortgaged, and although four attachments were placed on the stock in his restaurant Tuesday night of this week the present possessor shows a bill of sale for the place, and will hold it.

Something evidently frightened Anslow, for his house shows evidences of a hasty departure. Mrs. Anslow has been talking for some time of visiting her friends in St. Johns, N. B. last week Wednesday Anslow sent his baby carriage to Boston earlier in the day, and Mrs. Anslow took the five o'clock afternoon train east, but got off at Warren. Anslow checked his trunks to Palmer and took the 8.23 evening train to that place. He checked his own baggage, so it is not known how much he had. He got off at Palmer and took the 9.03 train back, arriving at Warren at 9.26, where he was joined by his wife, since which they have not been heard from. His relatives evidently do not know where he is, for letters have been received from his brother in Boston asking about him.

Anslow lived in the two upper floors of a building near the station, on the ground floor of which was the restaurant owned by him. In the house a peculiar scene presented itself Wednesday afternoon when a JOURNAL reporter visited it with A. W. Lincoln, who holds a mortgage on the personal property. In the dining room the supper table stood just as it had been left at the finish of the supper the Wednesday night before. The bread, butter, preserves, etc., were still on the table, and the chairs stood where they had been left when pushed back. In the rooms everything was in confusion. The clothing of the family and their small personal belongings had all been removed from the bureaus and dressing case, and the lace curtains and portieres taken from the windows and doors. Books and other articles lay scattered about, but the family pictures had been packed up and taken. In a rear room was a large quantity of garden seeds, and in the cellar quantities of preserves, etc. Everything went to show that the decision to clear out was made only a short time before leaving, and people about town are wondering what it was that frightened him.

Anslow told his baggage master that he would be back Thursday afternoon at 1.21. His non-appearance at that time was not much thought of by the other officials about the station, but when it came Monday and he did not appear the officials at Springfield were notified. They sent W. F. Shaw of Palmer Tuesday morning to take charge of affairs, and Wednesday the auditor appeared and went over the books. Nothing definite is given out, but it is known that Anslow has not turned over to the railroad all the money he collected for it.

CARD.—We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to the many friends who so kindly remembered us in our recent bereavement.

TWISS FAMILY.

Three Rivers, Mass., May 22, 1896.

For every quarter in a man's pocket there are a dozen uses; and to use each one in such a way as to derive the greatest benefit is a question every one must solve for himself. We believe, however, that no better use could be made of one of these quarters than to exchange it for a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, a medicine that every family should be provided with. For sale by O. P. Allen, Palmer; Paige & Mason, Three Rivers; G. L. Keeney, Monson; A. P. Adams, Thorndike; William Kennedy, Ware.

Always in season, Hopkins' Steamed Hominy (Hulled Corn). Elegant lunch in milk. Qt. can, 10c.

Mr. D. P. Davis, a prominent liverymen and merchant of Goshen, Va., has this to say on the subject of rheumatism: "I take pleasure in recommending Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism, as I know from personal experience that it will do all that is claimed for it. A year ago this spring my brother was laid up in bed with inflammatory rheumatism and suffered intensely. The first application of Chamberlain's Pain Balm eased the pain, and the use of one bottle completely cured him. For sale by O. P. Allen, Palmer; Paige & Mason, Three Rivers; G. L. Keeney, Monson; A. P. Adams, Thorndike; William Kennedy, Ware.

How to Treat a Wife.

(From Pacific Health Journal.)

First, get a wife; second be patient. You may have great trials and perplexities in your business, but do not therefore, carry to your home a cloudy or contracted brow. Your wife may have trials, which, though of less magnitude, may be hard for her to bear. A kind word, a tender look, will do wonders in chasing from her brow all clouds of gloom. To this we would add, always keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. It is the best and is sure to be needed sooner or later. Your wife will then know that you really care for her and wish to protect her health. For sale by O. P. Allen, Palmer; Paige & Mason, Three Rivers; G. L. Keeney, Monson; A. P. Adams, Thorndike; William Kennedy, Ware.

OXFORDS.

Never was the weather better adapted for Oxfords than now. We never sold as many ladies' low shoes as we are selling this season.

OUR PRICES TALK.

Our large assortment gives our customers a great variety to select from.

. . We sell Oxfords for . .

85c, $1, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75, $2, $2.50

If you desire the best for your money, try .·. .·. .·. .·.

Geo. L. Fuller,

the distributor of fine fitting shoes.

Monson, - - Mass.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER.

ABSOLUTELY PURE.

A cream of tartar Baking Powder. Highest of all in leavening power.—Latest United States Government Food Report.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall Street, New York.

Forbes & Wallace's, Springfield.

Such an Uproar in Dress Goods!

Every yard of the best fancy dry goods in the store is marked down to 75c A YARD!

There are almost five thousand yards—over a hundred dred and fifty different patterns — dollar, dollar-and-a-quarter, dollar-and-a-half, and two-dollar dress goods.

Such news is enough to turn trade upside-down — the like never occurred before—never will again, probably.

The loss is several thousand dollars. We are the losers, of course. Can't help it. We shall have to pay for the mistake of buying too much.

But you are to be the gainers —and the earliest comers are to be the greatest gainers.

MILLINERY---Reductions on Top of Reductions.

We know what is going to happen: This news is going to jam the millinery room every day while the stocks hold out.

You shall have any trimmed hat in the store

—for $2.50—that has been $3.50 to $5.
—for $3.50—that has been $5.50 to $7.
—for $3—that has been $7.50 to $9.
—for $7.50—that has been $9.50 to $12.

And the selling is going to begin just as quick as the doors are opened this morning. Don't be a minute late, or you'll lose the chance at some of the best things.

Flowers are going at one half and one-third, even, of their actual values. We shall set them on five tables.

—anything on first table, 15c.
—anything on second table, 25c.
—anything on third table 39c.
—anything on fourth table, 59c.
—anything on fifth table, 98c.

Untrimmed straw hats—we have made three lots—

—any hat in first lot, 25c.
—any hat in second lot, 69c.
—any hat in third lot, 98c.

Every hat is perfect and worth double the price.

The fun begins at 8 o'clock sharp this morning, remember. Better be on hand at the going of the first bargain.

Forbes & Wallace,

Main, Vernon and Pynchon streets, Springfield, Mass.

E. H. Brown & Son would respectfully announce that they have opened

New Store.

A Cash Grocery

in Noble's new block, whereby they invite all to come and see them. If acquainted, come. If not, come and get acquainted, and examine their stock

OF FRESH, NEW GOODS.

Get prices, compare quality, and give them a trial.

While they do not expect a monopoly of your patronage, they earnestly hope by giving their best attention to selecting and keeping in stock goods of the first quality and by square dealing to gain your confidence and thus merit a share of your patronage.

NOW OPEN.

E. H. Brown & Son,

Noble's New Block, Monson.

WANTED.—Energetic men, with or without experience to sell choice fruit and ornamental stock. Good pay, no lost time, first class territory. Complete outfit free. Write for terms. Nelson Bogue, Batavia Nurseries, Batavia, N. Y.

Let Every Mother Read This.

We have just purchased and put on sale

1000 BOYS' SUITS,
sizes 6 to 15 years,
500 worth $4 and up;
500 worth $5 and up.
WARRANTED ALL WOOL.
AT THESE SPECIAL PRICES,
$2.39 and $3.98.

Serges, Cheviots, Cassimeres and Scotches; light, dark and mixed patterns. Strongly made, and pants with double seat and knees.

The greatest boys' suit offer ever made hereabouts. Mothers will take advantage of this offer at once.

Also boys' overalls, sizes 4 to 14 years.

Cut Prices in Men's Negligee Goods and Underwear.

HAYNES & CO.,

Clothiers, Tailors, Hatters, Furnishers.

SPRINGFIELD, = = = MASS.

∴ ∴ Are'nt they dainty? ∴ ∴

THE SUMMER DRESS GOODS

selected by Mr. Stone, in Boston - - - - last week, and - - - - the prices are so low.

W. E. STONE; . . . DRY GOODS.

LAWRENCE BLOCK, PALMER.

See our prices for

COAL

R. M. & Theo. REYNOLDS,

Monson, Mass.

To be delivered now, subject to advance at any time. We furnish good men to house and bin same. All coal is screened and delivered in bags.

The Lehigh is as good as any we have ever sold. The Lackawanna is the best prepared coal that comes to market for domestic use.

Send your order by postal card or leave it at our office.

Price for Lackawanna:
Stove size, - $5.85 per ton

Prices for Lehigh:
Stove size, - $6.00 per ton.
Chestnut, - 6.00 " "
Furnace, - 5.90 " "

Less than (1) one ton 25 cents added for the load.

Delivered in Bags, which will save expense of housing in many cases.

MARCH 2d, 1896.

BOOTS AND SHOES FOR THE PEOPLE.

SPRING STYLES ARRIVING DAILY.

Quick sellers and great values. All the latest styles for ladies in BOOTS and OXFORDS, BLACK, RUSSET OR TAN. SAME FOR MISSES AND CHILDREN.

A few of the ladies' Dull Dongola, button, in Opera Toe and Common Sense last, which I am closing out at $2.00. The very best boots for wear on earth.

Men's, Boys' and Youths' Footwear.

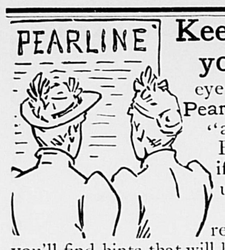
I have the best assortment, for dress or heavy wear. From a heavy brogan to the finest Patent Leather. CALL.

S. C. HALL, 295 Main Street. Next to P. O. SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

Piano and Banjo Lessons given by Misses Annie and Carrie Fish, Palmer.

22-tf

WALL PAPERS, MOULDINGS, ETC., AT MASON'S, PALMER.



Keep your eye on Pearline "ads." Even if you use it already, you'll find hints that will help. There isn't a man, woman, or child but can be helped by Pearline. These advertisements are meant for the good of Pearline, of course—to show the best, easiest, cheapest way of washing and cleaning. If they do, they will help you more than Pearline. You have more at stake. All the money you could bring to Pearline, by using it, wouldn't be a drop in the bucket to the money you'd save by it. 470 and Eczema cured. These two complaints are so tenacious that the readers of the JOURNAL should know of the success obtained by using Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. Where all other treatments have failed, it has made a complete cure.

Salt Rheum

No more horrible case of salt rheum was ever reported than that of Wilbur L. Hale, quartermaster, Pratt Post, G. A. R., Rondout, N. Y. Several physicians utterly failed to render him any relief; finally was tried and steady improvement followed its use, and a permanent cure resulted.

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S
FAVORITE REMEDY

It is used with similiar success in cases of scrofula, nervousness, kidney and liver complaints, and in all diseases brought about by bad blood and shattered nerves.

Become an Agent

and make money. Exclusive rights and all sales in your territory credited to you. These are the discounts on our $100

"Phœnix" Bicycle

—no better wheel has ever been made.

2 to 5 wheels,	-	15 per cent.
5 to 10 "	-	17½ "
10 to 15 "	-	20 "
15 to 20 "	-	22½ "
20 to 25 "	-	25 "
25 up "	-	27 "

You will furthermore receive (in cash) the discount on the entire number of wheels you take and pay for up to August 30th, no matter how few ordered at the beginning.

Catalogues free for the asking.

Correspond with us at once or your territory may be taken by a neighbor.

STOVER BICYCLE MNFG. CO.,
575-577 Madison Ave., New York.

LARRABEE'S RHEUMATIC LINIMENT

A standard and sovereign household remedy for over half a century. It is a wonderful curative agent in all painful diseases, such as

Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuralgia, Backache, Catarrh, Toothache,

and other painful ailments. To be had of all druggists, or by mail on receipt of 25 cents. Trade supplied by Geo. C. Goodwin & Co., or any wholesale druggist.

WINKLEMANN & BROWN DRUG CO.
BALTIMORE, MD., U. S. A.

POULTRY NETTING.

Factory Remnants.

HARD STEEL WIRE

You can buy them of me at a bargain, any width from 1 to 6 feet high, and from 25 to 150 feet long.

J. C NORMAND,
at Wire Mill, Palmer.

Horse Blankets.

A full line, for both stable .....and street use.....

375 BLANKETS IN STOCK.

PRICES RIGHT.

D. W. Foskit,

Foskit's Mills.

EYES EXAMINED FREE.

Dr. Vineberg, Refraction Specialist,

wishes to inform sufferers of headache or nervous complaints arising from defective vision, can be cured by having glasses properly fitted to the eyes.

247 Main Street, - Springfield, Mass.

F. MARCY, Wholesale and Retail Dealer in PALMER, MASS.

ALL KINDS OF LUMBER AND SHINGLES

Windows, doors, blinds, mouldings. Carpenters' and joiners' work done to order.

Also FIRE BRICK and CLAY for sale.

Yard and shop at junction of B. & A. and N. L. N. Y. Railroads—west of Depot.

PALMER HISTORY GLEANINGS.

BY O. P. ALLEN.

XIV.

Wild Animals in Early Palmer Days.

The history of our town would lack completeness without some mention being made of the wild animals which once roamed through our primeval forests, even long after the white settlers came. Wolves, bears and panthers had their lairs here, and often startled the early pioneers with their midnight cries, or came prowling around the dwellings, carrying off occasionally a denizen of the stys or a lamb from the fold. The gentle deer also had their home here, and were protected in our commons; for as late as 1770 our records show that Patrick Watson and Samuel Buell were elected Deer Reeves, for the purpose of enforcing the game laws concerning the protection of deer, according to the customs of the towns in Massachusetts at that time. Our streams abounded with beaver, otter and mink, and the hills with foxes, all valuable for the furs which they furnished. Wild turkeys afforded fine sport for the hunter, and richly repaid him when they were cooked and served on his table.

The timid deer and the fiercer animals have gone with the dusky sons of the forest, with whom they lived. They had no lot or place in civilization. Master Reynard, however, survives to pit his cunning against our modern ways, and now and then the wiser hunter traps a mink; the red and gray squirrel chatter at the passer-by, whom they look upon as presumptuous to trespass upon their domain, the chestnut grove. The hunter's avocation is tame today, compared with the early times, when even the women were obliged to have the loaded gun at hand to defend themselves against the fierce prowlers of the woods.

The people of our town sometimes chanced upon game when they little cared to. For instance, it is related that Dea. Thomas King, some one hundred and forty years ago, who had lived where Mrs. Child now resides, while going to church one Sunday morning armed with his gun, as was the custom, espied a bear in the branches of the pine tree which still stands in the yard of the Ridge's Food factory, which he could not resist to shoot. For this act of profaning the Sabbath he was severely reprimanded in a church meeting, but was excused when he offered as a plea that if he had allowed the bear to live it might have caused the death of some of their cattle or even of their children. The good deacon meant no harm, and doubtless thought he was doing his duty; but he built better than he knew, for his act served to render the tree historic and preserve its life to many coming generations. But the bears battled hard against their fate, and clung to the forest of Pottaquattock till 1847, when the last of the bear family in Palmer was seen, and then faded out of view forever.

The Last Wolf Hunt.

Wolves had been a persistent pest till the close of the last century, after which they were seen only occasionally. The last one of this race came across the river from Monson on a Sunday in 1834, and seemed determined to avenge the manes of his ancestors. Col. Knox, who had a fine flock of sheep, was warned of the presence of the prowler, but he laughed at the idea, and told his informant he had seen but a dog, which his imagination had magnified into a wolf. But sure enough, when the Colonel went out to his barn Monday morning, which stood where Mr. Converse's red barn is located, he found the wolf had been there and killed quite a number of the best sheep in the yard. The ire of the Colonel was aroused, and he soon rallied nearly a hundred men and started in pursuit. A slight snow had fallen the previous night, so that they tracked the wolf easily for some distance over the Sherman farm, since known as the John Gamwell place, where it was seen by one of the hunters; but it eluded its pursuers and was lost sight of just at night on Mount Dumplin. But in a day or two the beast was discovered in Union and killed, thus ending the excitement connected with the last wolf in Palmer.

The Rattlesnake in Palmer.

It may be a surprise to many to hear that the rattlesnake was ever a habitat in Palmer, but such was once the case in early times, Pottaquattock and Dumplin being the chief citadels from which they sallied forth in quest of adventures. No longer than sixty years ago Dumplin was called Rattlesnake Mountain, because it had a famous den of the reptiles for many years. They used to be frequently seen on the slopes of Pottaquattock, which was a favorite place for their resort. In 1820 a large specimen was killed on the Sedgwick place, and on another occasion one of the workmen there unwittingly bound a small specimen in a bundle of rye, and was greatly startled when it glided out as it was thrown down. Col. Knox dispatched one of these snakes in the meadow near the present hat factory, and two years later a large member of the family was killed at the Point of Rocks. Although once numerous, none have been reported of late years, and it is thought none exist here now. The writer has closely inspected all parts of the town, and has never encountered any of the tribe, although he has seen some large specimens of black snakes on the sides of Dumplin.

It may be stated in this connection, on the authority of one who has tried the experiment, that a rattlesnake cannot be induced to go near a spot guarded by a fresh branch of the white ash; if such is the case it would be a wise thing to provide oneself with a branch of that tree as a protection. But one ought to be devoutly thankful that we are forever rid of these dangerous reptiles.

NOT A PRECEDENT.—A well known naval dignitary has a beautiful daughter. A young ensign, with no resources but his salary, fell in love with her, and asked the old gentleman for her hand. The father at once taxed him with the fact that he had only his salary—hardly enough to keep him in white gloves and to burnish his brass buttons. "Well, admiral, what you say is true. But when you married you were only a midshipman, with even a smaller salary than mine. How did you get along?" asked the ensign, who believed he had made the most diplomatic of defenses. But not so. The crafty old seadog thundered forth:—"I lived on my father-in-law for the first 10 years, but I'll be d——d if you are going to do it."

HOP PILLOW.—A pretty pillow for an invalid is filled with hops and inclosed in a case of white linen worked with sprays of the hop vine in natural colors. Leave one end of the pillow open, work with eyelets on each side, and lace with green ribbon or cotton cord in green and white. This is a good way to finish the ends of any pillows that are likely to be soiled, as they can be easily laundered.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, } ss.
LUCAS COUNTY.

FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of CATARRH that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

{SEAL} A. W. GLEASON
Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Spring Medicine

Your blood in Spring is almost certain to be full of impurities—the accumulation of the winter months. Bad ventilation of sleeping rooms, impure air in dwellings, factories and shops, overeating, heavy, improper foods, failure of the kidneys and liver properly to do extra work thus thrust upon them, are the prime causes of this condition. It is of the utmost importance that you

Purify Your Blood

Now, as when warmer weather comes and the tonic effect of cold bracing air is gone, your weak, thin, impure blood will not furnish necessary strength. That tired feeling, loss of appetite, will open the way for serious disease, ruined health, or breaking out of humors and impurities. To make pure, rich, red blood Hood's Sarsaparilla stands unequalled. Thousands testify to its merits. Millions take it as their Spring Medicine. Get Hood's, because

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

THE DEVIL'S RESIDENCE.—An Englishman who, under the guidance of a native Irishman, has recently been admiring the scenery on the other side of George's channel, tells a correspondent of a Manchester paper a good story of Hibernian repartee. The visitor and his guide were in a hilly district in the south of Ireland, and the guide, pointing to a high hill, said that it was known locally by the name of "The Devil's Table." Another and less lofty hill close by was known, he said, as "The Devil's Chair." "Indeed," remarked the Englishman, "the devil seems to have a good deal of property in these parts." "Yes, sir," rejoined the Irishman, "but he is an absentee landlord and lives in England." —Troy Times.

How Is It Possible?

You can't see how mince meat, as good as any made at home, can be sold for 10 cents a package (enough for 2 large pies)?

The Reason's Plain.

Many carloads of the materials for None Such Mince Meat are bought at one time, at first hands. All the paring, chopping, seeding, stemming and cleaning are done by perfected machinery. Such immense quantities are sold that a mite of profit on each package of is enough. All grocers sell it. Be sure and get the genuine.

NONE SUCH MINCE MEAT

Send your name and address and mention this paper, and we will mail you free a book, "Mrs. Popkins' Thanksgiving," by one of the most popular humorous authors of the day.

BURRELL-SOULE CO., SYRACUSE, N. Y.

the danger is in the neglect— that's why so many colds lead to a fatal disease.

HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR

Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar is made for throat and lung troubles. It acts like magic. Sold by druggists.

Hale's Toothache Drops cure in one minute.

The Crown

does not make the king, but it shows that he is the king. So the Red Cross on JOHNSON'S BELLADONNA PLASTER does not confer excellence, but it guarantees it. It means that this plaster is the very best of its kind. The Red Cross Society use it in their humane work. It is for every ailment in which a plaster is employed. Examine when you buy.

JOHNSON & JOHNSON,
Manufacturing Chemists, New York.

GET OUTSIDE SOME GLASSES OF THAT ICE COLD SODA.

You will realize that there is some good left in life after all, and something to look forward to when you have had one glass, you will want another, and still another—sometime at least. So much for the pleasure of life. The necessities you will find amongst our things, and medicines to dispose of that disagreeable feeling which may be worse to-morrow if neglected. For all of which call at

ALLEN'S DRUG STORE,
Holden's Block, Palmer.

CARRIAGES.

150 or more carriages of all kinds in stock. One of the largest varieties in this city. Am crowded to the roof and have 75 more carriages coming and no place for them. If you will take out your pocketbook and talk money we will for the next 10 days give you a BIG REDUCTION from the usual prices.

HARNESSES.

We have a big stock AT LOWEST PRICES. We always save you money.

If you want any kind of vehicle or horse wear you won't touch bottom prices until you get my prices.

D. N. BUTTERWORTH.
60 Dwight St., Springfield.

FINEST ROAD-BED ON THE CONTINENT.

BOSTON & ALBANY RAILROAD.

Only Double-Track Route to the West.

ON AND AFTER DEC. 2, 1895.

Through Trains will Leave Boston as follows:

No. 7.—Day Express.

8:30 a. m.—Daily, except Sunday. Has Wagner buffet drawing-room car Boston to Albany, there connecting with through cars to all points West. Stops at Palmer 10.53 a. m.

No. 15.—Chicago Special.

10:30 a. m.—Daily. The finest train running in New England. A solid vestibuled Wagner train, comprising buffet, library and smoking car, sleeping cars and dining car Boston to Chicago, via the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern R. R., and also via Michigan Central R. R.

No. 19.—North Shore Limited.

2:00 p. m.—Daily. Has through vestibuled buffet sleeping cars Boston to Detroit and Chicago, via Michigan Central R. R. Dining car attached at Albany.

No. 23.—Cincinnati Express.

3:00 p. m.—Daily. Has through vestibuled buffet sleeping car Boston to Chicago via Lake Shore and Michigan Southern R. R., and to St. Louis and Cincinnati via Big Four Route. Stops at Palmer 5.20 p. m.

No. 9.—Pacific Express.

7:15 p. m.—Daily. Has through sleeping cars Boston to Chicago, via Michigan Central. Sleeping car Boston to Buffalo, parlor car Buffalo to Cleveland, sleeping car Cleveland to Chicago via Lake Shore & Michigan Southern.

No. 63.—Albany Express.

11:00 p. m.—Daily, except Saturday. Has sleeping car Boston to Albany. Stops at Palmer 1.46 a. m.

TRAINS LEAVE PALMER FOR BOSTON.

6 22 a. m.	Accommodation.
7.32 "	"	"
8.25 "	Daily Express.
10.00 "	Express, except Sunday.
11.42 "	Accommodation.
1.40 p. m.	Express.
3.12 "	"
4.42 "	Accommodation.
6.49 "	Daily Express.
7.55 "	Sundays only. Express.
9.03 "	Express.

Time tables showing local and through service between all Stations, may be obtained at all ticket offices of this Company.

City Office, 366 Washington Street.
Station, Kneeland Street, Boston, Mass.
52-32 A. S. HANSON, Gen. Passenger Agent.

CENTRAL VERMONT RAILROAD.

NEW LONDON DIVISION.

TAKING EFFECT DECEMBER 22, 1895.

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

Leave Brattleboro, 5.40 and 10.30 a. m. and 4.25 p. m. for New London, connecting at Millers Falls with Fitchburg R. R., at Belchertown with Central Massachusetts R. R., and at Palmer with B. & A. R. R. for Worcester, Boston, Springfield, at New London with the N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R.

Leave Amherst, 7.05 a. m., 12.13 and 5.57 p. m.

Leave Palmer, 8.25 a. m., 1.50 and 7.00 p. m.

Leave Willimantic for New London, 8.25, 9.45 a. m. 3.25, 6.40 and 8.22 p. m.

GOING NORTH.

Leave New London, 5.20 and 7.40 a. m, and 2.30 p. m.

The 5.20 and 7.40 a. m. and 2.30 p. m. run through to Brattleboro and make connections for the north.

Leave New London for Willimantic and intermediate stations, 10.00 a. m. and 5.25 p. m.

Leave Palmer for Brattleboro, 8.20, 11.00 a. m, and 7.10 p. m, connecting with express for Montreal. Also with Grand Trunk R. R. for the West.

Leave Palmer for Amherst, 8.20 and 11.00 a. m, and 7.10 p. m.

SUBJECT TO CHANGE WITHOUT NOTICE.

D. MACKENZIE, Supt. J. A. SOUTHARD, D. P. A. New London, Ct.
S. W. CUMMINGS, G. P. A., St. Albans.

BOSTON & MAINE R. R.

SOUTHERN DIVISION
(CENTRAL MASSACHUSETTS)
CORRECTED TO OCTOBER 6, 1895.

TRAINS LEAVE WARE:

GOING EAST

FOR Boston—6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14, p. m Sundays 6.55 a. m.
RETURNING—leave Boston 8.45 a. m.; 1.30, 4.00 p. m. Sundays, 1.30 p. m.
FOR Worcester—6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14 p. m. Sundays, 6.55 a. m.
RETURNING—leave Worcester 9.15 a. m.; 2.25, 4.58 p. m.
FOR Oakdale, Hudson and Waltham—6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14 p. m. Sundays, 6.55 a. m.
FOR Gilbertville, Barre and Coldbrook—6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14 p. m. Sundays, 6.55 a. m.

GOING WEST

FOR Bondsville, Belchertown, Pansy Park, Amherst, Hadley and Northampton, 7.15, 11.24 a. m., 4.28, 6.47 p. m. Sundays, 4.35 p. m.
RETURNING—leave Northampton 5.55, 8.00 a. m., 2.15, 6.10 p. m. Sundays, 5.55 a. m.

D. J. FLANDERS, Gen'l. Pass'r. Agt.
W. F. BERRY Gen'l Mgr.

Young mothers dread the summer months on account of the great mortality among children caused by bowel troubles. Perfect safety may be assured those who keep on hand DeWitt's Colic and Cholera cure, and administer it promptly. For cramps, bilious colic, dysentery and diarrhoea, it affords instant relief. LeGro & Lynde.

F. M. EAGER.

Boots and Shoes Manufactured to Measure.

REPAIRING NEATLY DONE AT SHORT NOTICE.

Dealer in Sewing Machines and Supplies.

Machines to rent or sold on monthly payments.

F. M. EAGER, PALMER.

Palmer Savings Bank,

Palmer, Mass.

Hours from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m.

President,
H. G. LOOMIS.

Vice Presidents,
C. H. HOBBS. H. P. HOLDEN. C. F. GROSVENOR.

Secretary,
WM. W. LEACH.

Treasurer,
H. W. MCGREGORY.

Trustees,

James B. Shaw,	E. G. Hastings,	C. H. Hobbs,
George Mooers,	R. C. Newell,	Geo. E. Buck,
H. G. Loomis,	F. F. Marcy,	A. L. Hills,
T. D. Potter,	H. Waid,	Wm. Holbrook,
H. P. Holden,	Wm. W. Leach,	C. F. Grosvenor,
Jas. S. Loomis,	C. L. Gardner,	H. W. McGregory

Board of Investment,

Geo. Mooers, H. G. Loomis, E. G. Hastings, C. H. Hobbs, James B. Shaw.

Auditors,
Wm. W. Leach, C. F. Grosvenor.

German-American Investment Co.
FOUNDED 1892.
52 Wall Street, New York.

(Under supervision of Banking Department of the State of New York.)

Authorized capital, - - - $1000,000
Paid up capital, - - - - $200,000

Letters of credit, checks and drafts on foreign countries at cheaper rates.

SPECIALTY—Cable transfers and all other money transactions with Germany and Austria-Hungary.

Foreign money, bank notes, bonds, bought and sold.

Bankers wanted as agents in various town.

There is fun in the foam, and health in the cup of HIRES Rootbeer—the great temperance drink.

Made only by The Charles E. Hires Co., Philadelphia. A 5c. package makes 5 gallons. Sold everywhere.

PARKER'S GINGER TONIC

abates Lung Troubles, Debility, distressing stomach and female ills, and is noted for making cures when all other treatment fails. Every mother and invalid should have it.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair failing. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists

HINDERCORNS The only sure Cure for Corns. Stops all pain. Makes walking easy. 15c. at Druggists.

Puritana

Trade Mark

PRIZE FORMULA OF Prof. Dixi Crosby, M.D., LL.D. DARTMOUTH COLLEGE

Registered.

Nature's Cure

Puritana will positively give any man, woman, or child Perfect Digestion;—the kind of digestion that brings New Life.

92% of all sickness and all disorders of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, Lungs, Nerves, Brain, and Skin is caused by improper working of the

Stomach

Puritana makes the

Heart Right,
Lungs Right,
Blood Right,
Kidneys Right,
Nerves Right,
Health Right.

Because it makes the Stomach right.

Get of your druggist this great disease-conquering discovery (the price is $1 for the complete treatment, one bottle of Puritana, one bottle of Puritana Pills, and one bottle of Puritana Tablets, all in one package), and you will bless the day when you heard of Puritana. The Puritana Compound Co., Concord, N. H.

SUMMER THINGS AT... KINSMAN'S.

GRADUATION GOWNS.

Be the want for something sweetly simple or for something with more than a hint of elegance, the goods are here and ready. Muslins, linen, dimities, French organdies, lawns, mulls and Swisses in complete and choice assortments. The prices will make the graduation gown really inexpensive—as it should be.

SHIRT WAISTS.

The prettiest styles of the season are now here. At no time later will the assortment be better. Lawns, percales, dimities, chambrays, ginghams and linen batistes; attached and detatched collars, $1, 1.25, 1.38, 1.50, 1.75, 1.87, 2, 2.50, 2.75, 3 and 3.75.

Basement, rear stairs.

SPRING DRESS GOODS.

We are offering a large variety of all-wool colored dress goods patterns at 38c and 50c a yard. Checks and mixtures; regular 50c and 75c goods. Too many of them. No other reason whatever.

LIGHT UNDERWEAR.

The list given below is worth your careful reading; it tells of exceptionally good underwear, the only kind we keep.

One lot of jersey ribbed vests and pants, white and ecru, 38c a garment; reduced from 50c.

More of those good quality jersey ribbed vests, pink, blue, and white, at 19c.

Jersey ribbed combination suits, white and ecru, 75c, $1, $1.25, $1.38 and $1.75.

Jersey ribbed vests and pants, good quality, well finished, 25c. More good grades at 38c, 45c and 50c.

Women's cotton hose, Hermsdorf black, spliced heel and toe, double soles, 19c.

Women's ribbed top cotton hose, fast black, 25c; used to be 38c.

Women's cotton hose, black and tans, special lot at 25c.

RIBBON RICHNESS.

A host of new ribbons came to the counters this week. For newness and prettiness, the designs are unapproached in this vicinity. Plaids, checks, stripes, brocades, Dresden figures and chamelon effects, 33c, 45c, 50c, 62c, 68c, 75c and $1 a yard.

"CYCLISTS" CORSETS.

One pair sells another. Every inch of them is made for coolness and comfort; short hips; shapely. $1.

W. D. KINSMAN,
Corner Main and Bridge Streets,
SPRINGFIELD.

A. L. Wooster, a prominent citizen of Osseo Mich., after suffering excruciatingly from piles for twenty years, was cured in a short time by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, an absolute cure for all skin diseases. More of this preparation is used than all others combined. LeGro & Lynde.

J. H. Rogers Carriage Co.,

MANUFACTURERS OF

Carriages,

AND DEALERS IN

Carriages of every description.

33 to 39 Sanford St., SPRINGFIELD.

We manufacture and carry in stock the finest line of carriages in New England. Come and look over our stock.

A FINE LINE OF SECOND HAND VEHICLES CONSTANTLY ON HAND . . . .

at very low prices.

L. H. HENDEE, M. D.,

OFFICE AND RESIDENCE, PLEASANT ST.

Office hours 7 to 10 a. m., and 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m

"BETTER WORK WISELY THAN WORK HARD."
GREAT EFFORTS ARE UNNECESSARY
IN HOUSE CLEANING
IF YOU USE

SAPOLIO

4-5

AMONG THE FARIES.

[CONTINUED FROM FIRST PAGE.]

The daughter answered: "I shall not sit in the chair." The witch insisted that her daughter should do as she had told her, and the daughter insisted that the mother herself should guard the chair from being taken.

Carl watched his chances while they were quarreling, picked up the chair, walked to a side gate and was soon beside the black horse.

Just then the white rabbit hopped across his path and said that because the enchantment was now entirely destroyed, he must take the witch and her daughter back to the king at Winstar.

Carl kept the enchanted chair in his hand and gladly went back. He again rubbed the cup and became visible to the witch and her daughter, who were now very sorry for their wickedness and anxious to return to Winstar. Carl told them that they could ride the black horse, who would have to pass through Winstar before the enchantment would be broken.

As soon as they had given all the slaves their liberty, the witch and her daughter, who were now no longer under the power of the wizard king of the desert, but appeared as they really were, rode with Carl as fast as possible to King William's.

The rabbit told him she would upset the hourglass.

When, after riding three days, they arrived at their home, great was the joy of King William to find restored to him his queen and his younger daughter.

The white rabbit appeared on the scene, leaped upon the black horse and began to run upon his neck and to pull both his ears. Then, jumping to the ground, the rabbit disappeared, and there stood the Prince of Southland.

The king told Carl that this had been a double test, not only a test of his bravery, but a test of his faithfulness, for all other young knights who had been to the witch's castle had before they entered the gates been bewitched by the witch's daughter.

Having thus completed the test, a royal proclamation was sent to invite the king of Southland and the kings of the surrounding countries to attend a royal wedding at the palace in Winstar.

While the messengers were on their way it was arranged that instead of one wedding there should be two. Princess Violet's sister and the Prince of Southland were the other happy couple.

Good King William wished to travel and to visit his daughter in Southland, so, after much deliberation, he issued a proclamation, which read something as follows:

"As We William" (kings of Verneland always called themselves we and begin it with a capital letter) "are now in advanced years, We hereby appoint the prince, Sir Carl Schmidt, as king of Verneland, and do hereby abdicate in his favor."

Carl made a wise king and brave ruler, and subdued the wizard king of the desert, so that Verneland was more prosperous under his reign than ever before.

THE END.

A SMALL BOY'S LUCKY ACCIDENT.

This is tragedy or comedy, according to the light in which you view it.

One of the proprietors of a drug store in Atlanta was not long ago a drug clerk in a small city. There were two drug clerks in the store at the time. They divided the time, one answering the calls at night and getting shorter hours in the day, and the other doing long hours.

"One night," said the Atlanta man, "I was in my room over the drug store. I couldn't sleep, somehow, and I tossed about on my bed until I decided to pass the time reading. After a bit I heard some one come in the drug store below, and heard my partner get up and wait on the costumer. In a few minutes I heard the customer go out, and everything was quiet again. But quiet only for a short time.

"Presently I heard my colleague below walking about uneasily, and I could tell by the nervous way in which he walked about that something was the matter. I went down and found the young man walking up and down the floor, great beads of perspiration standing out on his brow and agony written all over his free.

"'I don't know what on earth to do,' he broke out in absolute despair. 'I made a mistake with that prescription. I was so sleepy I did not think—but somehow I kept thinking after the boy left that I had made a mistake, and I went to the arsenic and found that, sure enough, I'd put enough arsenic in that prescription to kill three men. For God's sake, if you think of anything that can be done, tell me quick.' His face was drawn and white and his mind was at a terrible tension. 'Speak, speak, for God's sake, for the boy was in a hurry, and the man's already taken it, I'm afraid.'

"'Where does he live?' I asked.

"His face fell and an expression of terror came over it. He dropped into a chair.

"'I don't know,' he gasped.

"I sat down facing him, and for what seemed an hour we sat there, looking at each other, not speaking a word. What passed through our minds no human words can tell. We saw the dreadful effect of the mistake—death, disgrace to us, ruin to the establishment, criminal charge and forever afterward the frightful knowledge of having been criminally careless. Black pictures flitted through our minds. It was an awful moment.

"We started at every little sound. We listened for the cry of the family of the sick one. We could see the patient writhing in the throes of death—death brought on by a terrible, a criminal, an inexcusable mistake. The cold sweat stood out all over us.

"There came a sound outside. We listened intently. There was a knock on the door. We both sprang to our feet. I rushed to the door.

"A small boy stood crying. He held the remnants of some broken pieces of glass in his hands. He threw his arm over his eyes and cried as if his heart would break.

"'Oh, mister, please, sir—please, sir,' he blubbered. 'I couldn't help it. I stubbed my toe, and—boo, hoo—fell down, and—boo-hoo—broke the bottle.'

"We both seized him in our arms. My companion gave him the sort of an embrace that one gives to his sweetheart after a year's separation, and we wept on his neck. The way we sat that boy up before letting him go ought to have set a premium on breaking bottles among the small boys of that town." —Atlanta Constitution.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

THE BEST SALVE in the world for cuts bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

Old People.

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find the true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whisky nor other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alterative. It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding Nature in the performances of the functions. Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old people find it just exactly what they need. Price fifty cents per bottle of LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

Two Lives Saved

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had consumption and that there was no help for her, but two bottles Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida St., San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried without result everything else, then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in coughs and colds. Free trials bottle of LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

THE GIRLS OF JERUSALEM.

Of social life the girls of Jerusalem know nothing—absolutely nothing, writes Edwin S. Wallace, United States Consul at Jerusalem, in November Ladies' Home Journal. They occasionally meet, a few together, and appear to enjoy each other's company a little. They talk about their household work—which is really everything they know—and indulge in some light gossip chat about friends, though their gossip is never of a harmful kind. In conversation they show some little animation and spirit, but, being ignorant and illiterate, they have no idea of grammatical form of expression. Occasionally cards, dominoes and checkers are played, but the native girls have little inclination for any pastime involving mental effort. Such things as dances, fetes and fairs are unknown to the girls of Jerusalem; occasionally they are taken on a family picnic to some olive orchard near their homes where they pass part of the day. From these and all similar gatherings men are barred. There is absolutely no commingling of the sexes. For a girl to appear at any assemblage where there are men would be regarded as audacious and shocking. No Jerusalem girl would do such a thing; she would not dream of committing so fatal a breach in the unwritten, though well-defined, law governing the conduct of her sex. So strict is the law, or custom, of exclusion that under no circumstances would a girl attend the wedding of her brother to which were bidden guests outside the immediate families.

"It was St. Paul who advised Timothy to take a little wine for his stomach's sake, wasn't it?" asked the Prohibitionist boarder.

"I think it was," answered Mrs. Hashcroft.

"H'm. No wonder it took the steamship of that name so long to get away from the bar."—Indianapolis Journal.

Dangerous Drugs.

Avoid the use of white or pink headache powders, they contain dangerous drugs. Taylor's Anti-Headache Powders are brown; they look like ground coffee and they have a delightful aromatic taste. Try them once and you will never be without them. Get them of LeGro & Lynde.

"The kind Boss makes his Biscuits with."

PURE, STRONG, RELIABLE.

Is the verdict arrived at by Chemical Analysis of

BOSS BAKING POWDER

Economy, Health and Satisfactory Results attend its use.

MANUFACTURED BY
C. D. BOSS & SON, New London, Conn.

A. H. HITCHCOCK,
OPTICIAN,
331 Main Street, Springfield, Mass.

Spectacles and Eye Glasses of all kinds.
Artificial eyes furnished.
Oculists' prescriptions promptly and accurately filled.
Mail orders solicited. 13-tf

In the Spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of—DeWitt's Little Early Risers, for they always cleanse the liver, purify the blood, and invigorate the system. LeGro & Lynde.

Engraved Address Cards. Plate engraved and 100 cards printed, only $1.50. Styles change often—your old cards may be out of style, probably are—better have some new ones, with correct size of card and style of lettering. At the JOURNAL Office.

IS THE TIME

to prepare for the tremendous strain of summer upon your strength and vitality. Don't wait until you're sick—be ready for the struggle. Cleanse the BLOOD first! It's the source of life. Impure blood causes weak, tired-out men and women, and puny children. Malaria, Headaches, Constipation, Pimples, Scrofula, Liver and Kidney Troubles all come from bad blood! There's a cure—prompt and sure,

DR. CLARK JOHNSON'S

INDIAN BLOOD SYRUP

Not a new medicine—it's been used right in this district for 30 years. Twenty million bottles sold. Try it to-day!

50c. per bottle; all druggists.

POSTAL

Telegraph and Cable Co.

Office in Holden's Block,

PALMER, : : : : : MASS.

Direct wires to New York and Boston. Office in all the principal cities in the UNITED STATES.

PROMPT SERVICE,
REASONABLE RATES,
ALL BUSINESS
STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL

CARRIAGES.

I have in stock a large and complete line of fine and medium grade carriages.

Top carriages, - - $50 to $350
Open carriages, - - $40 to $200
150 second-hand carriages, $5 to $150

DELIVERY WAGONS OF ALL KINDS.

I have the right styles and low prices.

W. H. SMITH,
2 Park Street, Springfield.

There is no dividing line.

BattleAx PLUG

A GREAT BIG PIECE FOR 10 CENTS

DON'T FORGET for 5 cents you get almost as much "Battle Ax" as you do of other brands for 10 cents.

DON'T FORGET that "Battle Ax" is made of the best leaf grown, and the quality cannot be improved.

DON'T FORGET, no matter how much you are charged for a small piece of other brands, the chew is no better than "Battle Ax."

DON'T FORGET, "Economy is wealth," and you want all you can get for your money. Why pay 10 cents for other brands when you can get "Battle Ax" for 5 cents?

We sell the ROYAL WINTHROP GRAND.
Also the HERALD B RANGE, the two BEST STOVES made.

Your credit is good---

Don't wonder if this means you. 'Cause it does. It means everybody who wants furniture, carpets, mattings, stoves or ranges, crockeryware, bedwear, baby carriages, or anything else in our line.

And the only requirement we make is that whatever terms of payment you agree to—you will live up to.

Have you ever noticed

how bright the handle of our front door is? Sapolio? Oh, no; just the ordinary usage of our trade.

Shaw Brothers, Three Rivers.

The Palmer Journal.

VOLUME XLVII. PALMER, MASS., FRIDAY EVENING, MAY 29, 1896. NUMBER 9.

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY EVENING
—BY—
C. B. FISKE & CO.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.—Two dollars a year. A discount of 25 cents to those who pay in advance. Six months, $1.00; three months, 50 cents; single copies, Agents.

ADVERTISING RATES.—One inch (or twelve lines of this type solid) 75 cents for the first insertion, 25 cents for the second, 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. Short advertisements, "Wanted," "To Let," etc., one cent a word for the first insertion, one-half cent a word each subsequent insertion, cash; no charge less than 25 cents. Notices in local column, 15 cents per line. Liberal rates to yearly advertisers.

JOB PRINTING of all kinds executed in the best styles, promptly and at reasonable rates.

C. B. FISKE. L. E. CHANDLER.

[Entered at Post Office as second class matter.]

LOCAL BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

PALMER.

ALLEN, O. P., Wholesale and Retail Druggist and Bookseller.

BARTON, F. D., Dealer in Watches, Clocks and Jewelry, Main street.

BILLS, G. A., Fresh and Salt Beef, Pork, Ham, Lard, Tripe, etc.

BROOKS, EDWIN E., Graduate Optician. With E. S. Brooks, Jeweler, Main street.

BROOKS, E. S., Dealer in Watches, Clocks, Jewelry, Solid Silver and Plated Ware, Main street.

BROWN, C. A. & CO., Hardware, Furnaces, Stoves, Ranges, Paints, Oils and Glass.

BROWN, S. H., Trucking, Light Jobbing, Piano Moving. Order box cor. Main and Walnut streets. Orders can also be left at J. F. Foley's store.

CARPENTER, Mrs. L. E., Millinery and Fancy Goods. Also dealer in Human Hair Goods.

CHANDLER BROS., Bicycles.

CLARK & HASTINGS, Wholesale Dealers in Armour & Co's. Dressed Beef, Provisions, Main St.

EAGER, F. M., Boot and Shoe Manufacturer to Order, and dealer in Leather and Findings.

FISKE, C. B. & CO., Publishers PALMER JOURNAL and WARE STANDARD. Fine Book and Job Printers and Bookbinders.

FITCH, A. E., Law and Insurance, Savings Bank Block.

FRANCIS, R. B., Iron Foundry and Machine Shop.

GAMWELL, C. K., Ready made Clothing, Hats, Caps, Gent's Furnishings, etc.

GARDNER, CHAS. L., Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Church street.

GOODES, E., Palmer Boot and Shoe Store, corner Main and Thorndike streets.

HAMILTON, J. A., Dealer in all kinds of Coal, Wood, Grain, Flour, Baled Hay and Straw. Fertilizers and Stock Food. Main street.

HOLBROOK, C. D., Flour, Grain, Feed and Masons' Supplies, Main street.

HOLBROOK, J. F., Dealer in all kinds of Coal. Agent for National and White Star line of steamers. Drafts on Foreign Banks at lowest rates.

LEACH, W. W., Attorney at Law.

LEGRO & LYNDE, Druggists and Newsdealers, Paper Hangings, Shades, Lamps and Fixtures.

MARCY, F. F., Dealer in Lumber, Shingles, etc., wholesale and retail. West of B. & A. R.R. depot.

MARCY, OSCAR C., Livery and Feed Stable, rear of Converse House.

PALMER WATER CO., Office, Lawrence Block. Office hours to October 1, from 8.30 to 10 a. m., from 2 to 3 p. m.

SHAW, J. B., Dealer in Dry Goods, Groceries, etc. Opposite the depot.

WHITE, C. W., Marble and Granite Works. No. 1 Thorndike street.

WOOLRICH & CO., Manufacturers of Ridge's Food, Thorndike street.

THORNDIKE.

ADAMS, A. P., Druggist, Toilet Articles, Confectionery and Cigars.

BONDSVILLE.

HOLDEN, C. L., Dry Goods, Groceries, Clothing Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps, etc.

MORIARTY, M., Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots Shoes, Coal. Agt White Star and Anchor SS Co's

WARE.

ALBERTINE, J. A. Choice Fruits, Tobaccos, Cigars and Confectionery. Low Prices

DAVIS INSURANCE AGENCY represents the best companies and gives lowest rates.

DWIGHT, R. N., Harness, Horse Saddlery, Hardware. Repairing a Specialty. Next to Bank.

EDDY, C. W. Job and Fine Art Printer.

EDDY, MISS MATIE K. Teacher of Oil Painting and Crayon. Sketching or Art Work completed to order.

ELDREDGE, A. HENRY. Sign Painter. Carriages painted in the best manner. West Street.

HARLOW, A. B. Photographer. Instantaneous process only. Opposite the Bank.

HOSMER, F. N. Clothier. Hats, Caps, Gents' Furnishing Good, etc. Sanford's Block.

MARSH, F. E. Gold, Silver and Nickel Plater. Replating tableware a specialty. 7 Bank street.

PRIEST, J. E. Ware Steam Laundry. Carpet cleaning. Office at H. M. Clark's.

RICHARDSON, A. F. Dealer in Boots, Shoes and Rubbers of all kinds. Sagendorph's Block.

ROBINSON, JOHN F. Furniture, Sewing Machines, Pictures, Hardware, Paints and Farming Tools.

SIBLEY, J. B. Hardware, Tools, Agricultural Implements, Paints, Oils and Artists' materials.

SMITH, G. H. W. Jeweler. Watches, Clocks and Spectacles. Repairing in the best manner.

SULLIVAN & STRONG, Ware Coöperative Laundry. Fine Work and Carpet Cleaning. Office, 59 Main Street.

TURNER, H. H. Bookseller and Stationer, and dealer in Paper Hangings, Musical Instruments and Sheet Music.

MONSON.

GROUT, GEO. E. Dealer in Watches Clocks, Jewelry, etc. Towne's Block.

NEWTON, GEO. H., Law Office, Notary Public, Insurance, etc., near Gage's store.

SQUIER & CO., Dealers in Grain, Feed, Hay, Straw, Lumber, Shingles and Building Material.

WARREN.

KELLEY, W. H., Attorney and Counselor at Law. Quaboag Block, Warren, Mass.

SOCIETY DIRECTORY.

MONSON.

MT. ELLA LODGE, No. 184, A. O. U. W. Meets first and third Tuesdays of each month in A. O. U. W. Hall, Monson.
ALEX. MURPHY, M. W., F. J. ENTWISTLE, Rec.

SEE
THE NICE

BICYCLE

$50

will buy, with all the latest improvements, including

LARGE TUBING,
BARREL HUB,
PATENT OILERS,
NARROW TREAD,
COMBINATION PEDAL,
ETC., ETC., ETC.

E. A. Buck & Co.,
Cross Block,
PALMER.

Insurance

of every kind placed at short notice, and all favors duly appreciated.

Yours truly,
S. H. HELLYAR.

Office at Ridge's Food Factory.

Like a Bull in a China Shop.

So some men say they feel in a dry goods store. This store every day is becoming more popular. Men doing their own shopping, and wives, mothers and sisters are aiding them.

Our Balbriggan Shirts and Drawers for hot weather, at 25c and 39c, would excite any community.

Rough and ready, free and easy Negligee Shirts—Not fully as dressy, yet quite as good looking, and more appropriate than white for summer wear. They are here for 50c. All styles.

On the matter of Shirt Waists.—All the little excellences that go to make our waists better than anothers'. Ours have them in a little better fit, a little neater style, a little better all round, and a trifle cheaper. See our 50c, 65c, 75c, 89c, $1, $1.25, $1.33 and $1.50. They are perfection.

Ladies Ties—in bows, tecks, stocks, satin and P. K. 25c each.

Gent's Furnishings at dry goods prices.
Gent's Shaw knit half hose, 12 1-2 pair.
" silk elastic suspenders, 25c pair.
" " ties, all styles, 25c each.
" fast black, seamless half hose, 12 1-2c and 25c pair.
Gent's unlaundered shirts, with short bosom, 50c each.

A Trio of Facts.—It would take 10 yards of calico to make a wrapper like one we sell at 79c. We charge nothing for making.

Buy the cloth and buttons and make it yourself and you can't reproduce our $1.23 wrapper at the price.

It don't matter who makes it, how expert she is, nor how much you pay, you can't make our $1.48 wrappers for half more.

BARGAIN DAY.

FOR MONDAY ONLY.

39c ladies' night dresses,	35c each.
12½c ladies' corset covers,	10c each.
50c ladies' summer corset,	39c each.
15c ladies' stud sets,	10c set.
10c gent's half hose,	3 pairs for 25c

FOR MONDAY ONLY.

50c ladies shirt waists,	39c
6½c unbleached cotton,	5c
40 gauge fast black hose,	25c
50c boys' tweed and corduroy pants,	39c
20c cake cucumber soap,	15c

Five dozen pictures just arrived. Customers holding cards had better look through this assortment.

T. H. TODD, = = MONSON.

ASK FOR KABO No. 356

A perfect fitting corset for general wear, as well as for all athletic sports.
Price $1.00
For sale by D. L. BODFISH, Palmer.

There is one DRESS STAY that
Won't melt apart,
Can't cut through the dress,
Don't stay bent.
It is
BALL'S PEERLESS.
All lengths; all colors.

A Man With X Ray Eyes.

A Phenomenon of Nature in Springfield.

"There are many more things in Heaven and earth Horatio, than are dreamt of in your philosophy."

There is in Springfield to-day a man of modest demeanor who makes no pretensions to greatness, but who possesses the most wonderful gift of second sight and the power to penetrate beyond the veil that hitherto has proved impenetrable to science and baffled the hypothetical powers of divination. Prof. A. J. Salisbury has been a resident of Springfield for some time past, during which he has demonstrated in thousands of cases his infallible skill in correctly diagnosing cases that have baffled the skill and thwarted the effort of the best medical practioners of the old school. All to him through the intricacies and complications of diseases are clearly revealed to him through his wonderful occult powers of vision, no matter where in one's anatomy the seeds of disease may lurk, they are clearly revealed and accurately located by Prof. Salisbury without asking the patient a single question. On this fact hinges the success of the Springfield Magnetic Institute. Prof. Salisbury tells the people every pain and ache, and tells you how you feel better than you can yourself, and it stands to reason that the cure is half performed when you are sure you know what your ailments are. After Prof. Salisbury reads your disease, then F. W. Mappherson, M. D., a man of years of experience gives you the medicines for the disease you suffer from, and if possible a cure is speedily effected. And the Springfield Magnetic Institute has justly earned the title—the place where sick people are made well.

Office hours 1 to 6 and 7 to 9 p. m. except Tuesday and Thursday evenings. No office hours on Sunday.

Remember the place, 394 Main Street.

Room 12, (over Forbes & Wallace's,)
SPRINGFIELD, - - - - MASS.

BUTTER. BUTTER. BUTTER.
We are selling choicest dairy butter, 20 to 25c. Belchertown creamery, 25c.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

FINE STATIONERY.

Many ladies are troubled to find just the size, shade or weight of correspondence paper which they would like. With some thing like

200 VARIETIES

To select from we ought to be able to please you. Any style of paper in any size or shape, and you may have 100 sheets or 1000, as you prefer. We'd be pleased to show you samples at the JOURNAL Office. Your monogram or initials embossed in color if desired.

FOR COMFORT,
BUY A . . .
HOT WATER BAG,
At...LeGro & Lynde's, Druggists,
Next to Post Office, PALMER.

CHEESE. CHEESE. CHEESE.
Full cream cheese, 15c lb. Edam cheeses—in foil, 90c each. The little Green Mountain cheese, 10c each.
W. E. STONE, Fancy and Staple Groceries, Main street, Palmer.

Did you ever think how readily the blood is poisoned by constipation? Bad blood means bad health and premature old age. DeWitt's Little early Risers, the famous little pills, overcomes obstinate constipation. LeGro & Lynde.

KENNEDY'S GOODS—no better made. Received new stock Wednesday, May 27, as follows: Fancy ginger snaps, molasses bee hive, sugar cakes, salt whist, vanilla creams. In fancy packages: Lily of the valley, outing, fairy wafer, Salt Long Branch, 5 o'clock tea, Bent's snaps. These are especially fine for picnics and parties.
W. E. STONE, Fancy Groceries,
Telephone connection. Main street, Palmer.

For the bath.
Soaps, sponges, brushes, toilet waters and powders, sea salt, etc.
Proper bathing is a luxury. The things cost but little if bought of us.
LeGRO & LYNDE,
Next to Post Office, PALMER.

WOULD like to sell you a few window screens. A screen door. A Croquet set. A piece of mosquito netting. An oil stove. Of course you must have these things. You can buy as cheaply here as anywhere, and have the articles promptly delivered. Come in, leave your order and have it off your mind.
W. E. STONE, General Store,
Telephone connection. Main street, Palmer.

THAT...."RAMBLER"
- - - - is a mighty fine wheel.
AT...G. A. MOORE'S,
Holden's Block,
Palmer, Mass.

NO HOUSEKEEPER USING A
GLENWOOD RANGE

Will be bothered to know whether the oven is hot enough or too hot. The THERMOMETER on the oven door tells the exact heat, and when the oven is just right to cook Meat, Bread, Cake and Pies perfectly.
Sold in all prominent cities and towns throughout New England.
MADE BY WEIR STOVE COMPANY, TAUNTON, MASS.

Another Busy Saturday

And the most wonderful bargains ever offered in boys' and children's finest clothing. It matters not the bargains we may have offered heretofore, for none can approach these now presented.

Two Suits for the Price of One.

439 Boys' 2-Piece Suits, $1.98 Each.

1200 Boys' Finest 2-Piece Suits, at $2.50 Each.

Our regular $2.50 and $3.00 suits, made of strictly all-wool cheviot, fine quality and good weight; they are made in the very latest style, and are beautifully trimmed and made. The sizes are 4 to 15. 439 suits to select from.

Our regular $3.50 and $4 suits. Every suit in this line is all wool and come in a variety of styles—2-piece reefer, junior, sailor—in fancy cheviots, blue, black, plain cheviots, plain and fancy cassimere, tweeds and worsteds. Sizes 4 to 15. 1200 suits to select from.

BOYS' SHIRT WAISTS
at less than cost, $1, $1.25, $1.50. Mother's Friend and Star Waists for to-morrow, 69c. BOYS' WASH SUITS, 48c, 69c, 98c.

MEIGS & CO.
CLOTHIERS, HATTERS, FURNISHERS.
383-385 Main Strett; Springfield.

SMITH & MURRAY.
SPRINGFIELD.

Cheney Bros. printed India silks as cheap as cottons.

Has the world gone wrong?

Not flimsy either, for we stand by these goods.

Dollar-a-yard goods for

37 1-2c A YARD.

You are gainers who come promptly.
Court Square entrance.

The ribbon sale of the season. Examine and compare prices.

Lot 1. No. 7, all silk, satin and G. G., all colors, 5c; cheap at 8c.

Lot 2. No. 16, all silk, satin and G. G., all colors, 19c; cheap at 15c.

Lot 3. No. 22, all silk, satin and G. G., black, 15; cheap at 25c.

Lot 4. No. 30, all silk, satin and G. G., black, 17c, cheap at 33c.

Lot 5. No. 40, all silk, satin and G. G, black, 19c; cheap at 37½c.

Lot 6. No. 60, all silk, satin and G. G., 23c, cheap at 45c.

Hamburg Embroideries.

Fine goods bought last week at about half the cost of importation—because the importer wanted the money.

Just a mention, 5c, 8c and 12½c a yard. Undoubted values at twice these prices.

An important purchase of children's hats and caps. B. Stern & Co., New York, sold us their entire line at fifty cents on the dollar. Latest shapes and effects in children's hats and caps are here to-day for half usual prices.

Main store, center.

SMITH & MURRAY.
SPRINGFIELD.

Good stock and the best of care

PRODUCES

A 1 milk and cream.

MAPLE LAWN MILK FARM,
O. D. Wells, Proprietor.

Memorial Day.

Strew flowers, fresh flowers of the spring-time,
O'er the graves where our heroes rest;
Gather the fairest and sweetest,
And those that we love the best;
Twine the evergreen wreath and the myrtle
With flowers of immortal bloom,
And let them be for an emblem
Of their life beyond the tomb.

No more will they charge and rally
In our country's deadly strife,
No more again mingle with loved ones
In the weary battle of life;
With them the contest is ended,
Life's warfare forever o'er,
And they rest in peace from their labor,
On the banks of the ever green shore.

Oh, many a sad heart will grow sadder,
The gayest forget to be gay,
And many a tear-drop will glisten
At memories awakened to-day
Of the loved and lost who perished
Their country's honor to save;
Of husband, or father or brother,
Who sleeps in a soldier's grave.

I mind me of one, who scorned not
A private's mission to learn;
I remember the watching and waiting
For a soldier's safe return;
I remember the tears and the anguish
Round a dying soldier's bed,
Of opening a tiny package,
And these were the words I read:

"Do they miss me at home, do they miss me?
'T would be an assurance most dear,
To know at this moment some loved one
Were saying, 'I wish he were here.'"
As the sun would be missed at mid-day,
Or the stars from heaven's blue dome,
As the flowers miss the sunshine,
We miss thee, dear brother, at home.

Then gather fresh flowers of the spring-time,
The fairest, the sweetest, the best,
And weave them in wreaths to garland
The graves where our heroes rest.
Twine the evergreen wreath and myrtle,
With flowers of immortal bloom,
And let them be for an emblem
Or their life beyond the tomb.

—R. R. Chandler.

WHEN BETTS WAS A MAN.

Oskopolis was waking up. Now that the sultry afternoon was near its end, the principal street of the city was taking on the activity which made it the pride of 33,000 or 45,000 good people, according as census figures or local estimates were trusted. Swarming newsboys were shouting their wares, gongs of electric cars—Oskopolis was progressive—were clanging with new energy, and on every hand were signs and tokens that the city had finished its nap.

Three young men had grouped themselves in the doorway of one of the most pretentious of the shops, above which stretched a gilded sign bearing in fantastically designed letters, "The Metropolitan." Behind the plate glass of the shop windows were arrayed rows of shirts, festoons of neckties, little heaps of gray-colored footwear, many hued caps, and other articles which filled the heart of the impecunious youth of Oskopolis with longings. It was a display that satisfied even that connoisseur, Mr. Dick Banning.

"That's what I call a tasty window, my boy," he remarked. "Great thing to have an artistic eye, ain't it?"

Inasmuch as Mr. Banning had composed the symphony in shirtings his companions manifested no surprise. In fact Mr. Smith, the young gentleman to whom the observation had been directed, contented himself with a nod, which seemed to be all that was expected of him, for Mr. Banning smiled with more complacency than before. It had not occurred to him that the third member of the group would join in the conversation except upon special invitation, for the two older clerks of "The Metropolitan" regarded their junior as a hopeless inferior.

"Indeed, Mr. Banning, I heard a compliment for you last night," the down-trodden one ventured. "And it was from a lady."

"Well?" said Banning. It is as if he had told the minion: "You are permitted to proceed."

"I was calling upon a lady friend, sir, and I spoke of our windows—you know they are very much commented on in society, sir,—and I told her you had arranged them. And she said that you had a great taste for a man."

"Is that all?" Banning asked, with a shade of disappointment in his tone.

"No, I don't think so. I remember now she said you had so much taste, sir, you must have been meant for a woman."

Banning stared at the speaker for a moment, but no fitting response occurring to him, he looked at the clock, announced that it was time to close the shop, and started out. The second man accompanied him.

"Betsy's getting worse and worse," Banning confided to his chum, as the two strolled toward their boarding place. "He's an idiot."

"Net," was the laconic response.

"Besty," otherwise Mr. Alexander Napoleon Betts, methodically inspected the gas burners, shut the cat in the cellar, fastened the rear windows and locked the front door. Then, slipping the big key into his pocket he crossed the street, and taking off his hat paused before a large mirror, designed to draw trade to the shop of an enterprising milliner. It was included in his routine to inspect himself thus. He saw reflected in the glass a mild face, with a dab of thin whisker in front of each ear, a delicately shaped upper lip and a narrow forehead, from which the hair was brushed back with a deep-laid design of increasing his appearance of mental depth and physical height.

With a final pat of his necktie, the young man pulled a corner of a colored handkerchief from his coat pocket, gripped a kid glove in a fashion which, as he thought, concealed the absence of its mate, restored his hat to his head, and resumed his promenade. He walked slowly, for he was to take tea with the young woman whom he honored with his affections, and he had no desire to appear flushed and heated. By virtue of his precautions he found himself in rather less than half an hour close to the abode of his beloved, and still unruffled in his plumage. The path led him to a porch, on which stood a young woman, evidently waiting for him. A hall lamp supplemented the fading daylight in showing that she was tall, angular, and possessed of one of those faces which advertise their possessors as persons of strongly developed opinions.

"Oh, it's you at last, is it?" she said, with some impatience. "We've been waiting tea for you. We'll go right in, Ally.

Once or twice Mr. Betts had wondered why nobody thought it worth while to call him Alexander. He had been "Al" in his childhood, and he was "Ally" in the speech of his affianced. "Betsy" was the result of considerable cogitation on the part of Mr. Banning.

Mr. Betts had contemplated the joy of a chaste salute in the hall, but he was robbed of such bliss, for the young woman led him without delay to the dining room, where her parents had already seated themselves at the table. Miss Amanda Roberts had inherited a hearty appetite. Her sire greeted the young man with a gruff "G'd'vening," and pointed to the chair, while her mother advised him to sit down at once. Very little was said until Roberts had satisfied his hunger, and had picked his teeth in satisfied comfort. Then settling back in his chair, he glared at the young man, whose selection by Amanda had been accomplished only after a battle royal between father and daughter.

"Betts," the old man said finally, "how're you gettin' on?"

"We're doing a very nice business, thank you, sir," replied the guest.

"Oh, I don't mean your boss's trade. How're you doin' yourself? When are you goin' to be able to support a family?"

"Paw! Paw!" exclaimed his daughter.

"Keep your hand out, 'Manda," said her father, testily. "I don't want you women folks breakin' in. All I want to know is whether Betts here'll ever be able to keep a wife. That's my duty as a parent."

The suitor stammered something which nobody understood.

"Oh, come, Betts, speak up," Roberts persisted. "You're man enough for that, ain't you?"

"Yes, indeed, sir. But you know our line, while very light and genteel, is very slow to get ahead in, sir. But I have hopes—"

"Hopes! That's an old story. And light and genteel business! That's another. Look here, Betts, I don't like your collars and cuffs. Get out and hustle. If I give my daughter to any man I want him to be a real live one, able and willing to make her comfortable. How old 're you?"

"Twenty-five, sir," responded the suitor.

"Why, 'Mandy's 20—"

"Four, paw, 24," cried the young lady.

"Well," the old man said, "call it that. But Betts's age's what I want. Now, I was 24 when I married maw over there, and I done it on just $400. Betts has had a year more'n I did to save up. I'll charge him six per cent interest. Let's see. Six times four, that's 24, and $400—that's $424 altogether. If he can show me any time this year that he's got $424 of his own, and got it honest, I'll say 'Go ahead and get married as quick as you please. An' if he can't get it, I guess 'Mandy, you'd better give him up. He can think up ways and means while you're away."

Without waiting for a reply Mr. Roberts stalked out of the room, and out of the house. Amanda left the task of clearing the table to her mother and led the young man to the porch. Betts seemed dazed by the ultimatum served upon him.

"What'd he mean?" he asked feebly.

"'Twas plain enough," answered Amanda. "Somehow I felt he was going to have one of his tantrums. Oh, Ally, if he wasn't my father and I wasn't his daughter, I'd have made him sick, I would."

"But he said you were going away?"

"So I am—for two or three weeks. I'm going to see my aunt I've told you about so often."

"Then what am I going to do?"

"Come, come, Ally," said the girl briskly. "If you really care for me you won't give up so easily. While I'm away you'll think and think and think up ways to get that money. You have some in the bank, and I'll try and borrow some of my aunt. We'll make it up somehow—I'm sure we will."

"But I've got less than $200," Ally objected. "Oh, 'Mandy, I wish your father was dead."

"I don't," said Amanda, decisively. "He's a pretty good father, and you'll like him when you get to know him better. But he is so set when he once says a thing! Ally, some way or other we must raise that money. Let's try to find out how to do it. We'll beat father yet."

Mr. Betts was 15 minutes late in opening "The Metropolitan" the next day, and his worn and haggard look attracted the attention of his fellow-clerks. The day passed very badly for the young man. He made blunder after blunder, until Banning, with a feeling half kindly and half contemptuous, sent him into the storeroom in the basement on an errand which gave him an excuse for keeping out of the way. That night he slept little, and the next day found him even more burdened with woeful helplessness. Banning, after joking to deaf ears, attempted to cheer him in vain, until he happened to hit upon a subject in which Betts took a great, though carefully concealed, interest.

"The company drills to-night," the senior said, "and I guess I can tell you to-morrow what's been done in your case."

Banning, who was an honored member of one of the town's militia companies, had discovered some time before that Betts was anxious to join its ranks, and had agreed to do his best to help him in securing a right to wear a uniform.

"Thank you, sir," Betts responded, with a little more animation than he had manifested since Amanda's departure. "I hope it will be all right."

Banning gave him cheerful assurance that no difficulty need be apprehended by the candidate, and took the trouble to dwell upon the advantages of serving the state. The following morning these remarks recurred to him with uncomfortable distinctness, when Betts met him at the store door.

"It's all right about the company, isn't it, Mr. Banning?" the youth asked.

"No, it isn't, Betsy," the militiaman answered. "It's a heathenish shame."

"Then they wouldn't have me?"

"That's it."

"What was the reason for rejecting me, sir?"

Banning hesitated. "It's a tough dose, but maybe it will do him good," he reflected, and then he replied: "They said that you were too much of a sissy; they wanted only real men."

Betts turned back into the shop without another word. This second blow to his aspirations fairly staggered him. In the end, however, it proved fortunate for him that his woes were doubled, for to some extent his latest sorrows offset the earlier ones. Instead of brooding continually over the seeming certainty of failure to meet the requirements of Amanda's father, the unhappy youth was able to devote a share of his affections to the slight put upon him by the citizen soldiery. The treatment by counter-irritant proved beneficial. Under it the patient gradually developed a desire to be revenged. But Betts never dreamed of the joys of thrashing his enemies. Such solace as he found come from reflections that they were not so particularly valiant, after all, and that the world had fairly swarmed, at various times, with much greater heroes.

Like many men fated to humdrum existences, the young clerk had long found keen delight in tales of adventure, and now that his lot had become so unbearable he turned again to his old refuge from his thoughts. After the shop had closed he was free to pick his company from among all the champions of fiction and history.

The public library of the city insured an abundant supply of them, and Betts nightly muddled his brains with their doings. Amanda, who was a conscientious opponent of unnecessary correspondence, wrote seldom, although her suitor continued, in spite of his mental state, to send her a dutiful little note every day. She had been absent two weeks when Betts received a letter informing him that her aunt had declined to advance the money which meant so much to the young people. It was the destruction of his last hope.

Alexander now fell into the habit of prowling aimlessly about the streets o' nights. He was indulging in a ramble one evening, when he encountered the company which had rejected him out for a parade, and he watched the ranks swing past with bitterness filling his soul. Oh, the glory of the blue cloth and brass buttons! Betts longed for it with redoubled intensity. The young man paid little attention to the direction he took after that hateful sight. When he chanced to notice his whereabouts he discovered that he had reached a district he had never visited before, one of small shops and flaring signs. In a brilliantly lighted show window he saw something which made him pause. It was a dummy clad in the uniform of a captain of infantry. As Betts gazed upon it a sort of fascination took possession of him and forced him into the shop.

"Could I rent that suit, sir?" he asked of the proprietor. That person would sell, but would not let the uniform out by the day. Still under the spell, Betts tried on the coat and knew that he was lost.

"I'll let you have it dirt cheap," the wily dealer declared. "It's out of my regular line and I got it at a bargain. Tell you what I'll do. You can have the uniform—and there's a sword and belt I'll throw in—all for $50. Just look at yourself in the glass over there."

Betts obeyed. Fifty dollars was a great sum, but the mirror did its work. The bargain was struck, and it was arranged that the following evening the outfit should be sent to his lodgings, where the money would be paid to the messenger.

Messrs. Banning and Smith agreed the next morning that something must have happened to Betsy. His melancholy mood had given place to one of ecstasy. He strutted around the store, expanded his chest, strove to twist the ends of his moustache, and laughed hysterically at every jest attempted by his mates.

"Just listen to that cackle," growled Banning to his ally. "Never heard him goin' on that way before. It's worse than that dead dog look he's had for the last two weeks. I'll bet you, old man, Betsy's gone looney."

"Cracked, sure," responded Smith. "Better tell the old man."

The "old man," otherwise the proprietor of "The Metropolitan," having returned from a long vacation a few days before, had had an opportunity to behold his third clerk in the depths of despair, and now he marked the sudden change in Betts's demeanor with little less wonder than that felt by Banning and Smith. He was a kindly man, and he had felt a good deal of pity for the young fellow. Therefore the tale told him by his two older employes, in the little den he called his private office, fell upon ears prepared to hear it.

"Where is Betts now?" he asked.

"Down in the store room," said Banning.

"That gave us the chance to talk with you without his thinking anything was up. Mighty suspicious those cranks are, you know."

"Step into the back yard and look through the grating," Smith suggested. "See what he's doing down there."

The three followed the plan, the clerks permitting their employer to get the best view of the basement. All of them saw well enough, however. Betts, his back to them and without a suspicion that he was observed, was indulging in a war dance. In his right hand he grasped a piece of barrel hoop, with which substitute for a sword he was cutting energetically at a heap of empty boxes.

"Boys, this is indeed serious," said the "old man," when he was again in his office. "Poor Betts is clearly unbalanced. Have you, either of you, any idea what caused this?"

"Well, sir," Banning answered reluctantly, "our company rejected him when he wanted to join, and I'm afraid he took it to heart. He talks about other troubles, but that's the only one I know anything about."

"It explains his condition," said the proprietor. "Now, Banning, you must find pretexts to keep Betts down stairs and out of the sight of customers. I'll see my physician this afternoon, and arrange to have him visit the poor boy to-night. He has no relations, so far as I know, and we shall have to act on our own responsibility."

[CONCLUDED NEXT WEEK.]

BRINGING A DEAD MAN TO LIFE.

A young officer of the English line, while passing through a native village, was annoyed by the importunity of a Hindoo beggar, whom no rebuff seemed to disconcert.

At length when the filthy vagrant seconded his petition by laying his grimy hand upon the Englishman's arm, the latter, foolishly giving way to anger, paid the freedom with a straightforward blow from the shoulder, delivered with such hearty good-will that the poor Hindoo fell like a log, to all appearance dead.

Before the assailant could recover from his bewilderment at this unlooked for catastrophe, a howling swarm of natives came rushing to the spot, and with frantic cries for vengeance upon the murderer of their countryman, dragged him off to the local magistrate, carrying with them as evidence the body of the slain man.

Matters might well look gloomy for the prisoner, for the body showed not the slightest sign of life, while the culprit himself, overwhelmed with horror at the fatal consequences of his momentary passion, faltered and trembled in a way that would have made any ordinary judge convict him on the spot.

But, happily for him, the magistrate was a veteran, whom no contretemps, however unexpected, could find unprepared.

He heard the story to an end without a word of comment, and then quietly remarked that before passing sentence he wished to be quite certain that the man was really dead. The Hindoos broke in with a terrible outcry at the idea of the sacred remains being touched by an unbeliever.

"Oh, I don't need to touch him," quoted the judge, coolly; "I have a surer way than that."

Without appearing to notice the look of uneasiness that began to cloud the surrounding faces, he drew forth a stick of sealing-wax, lighted it, and let fall the burning drops upon the bare breast of the corpse.

Instantly the murdered man started up with an ear-piercing yell, and tossing his arms frantically, rushed out and plunged headlong into the river, while his inconsolable mourners vanished almost as quickly in the opposite direction.—Exchange.

EARNING HIS DAILY BREAD.—When the cook opened the door to the timid knock of the peripatetic without, she found him meekly waiting. "Good morning," he said, "have you an old Sunday school book about the house I could take?" The cook was knocked plum speechless. "A Sunday school book?" she gasped. "Yes, Miss," he replied. "What in the name of goodness do you want with that?" He stepped a little nearer the door. "You see, miss, it's this way," he said in explanation; "when I was a little boy and read that story of Jonah swallowing the whale I used to have some doubts about it. Here lately, though, I've got so holler myself that I kinder thought I'd like to read it over again and see if it wasn't a good deal easier to believe." "What a dandy you are," exclaimed the cook, looking him over carefully. "Come in here by the fire and I'll fill you up to the neck."—Detroit Free Press.

"There is an heiress who is looking for a match." "She must have money to burn."—Detroit Tribune.

Of Interest to Women.

EDITED BY MISS F. V. DOANE.

House Flies.

I am writing upon a disagreeable,—even almost an indelicate,—subject, and I have to confess I did not know to what depths it would take me when I began the study. I can almost say, "Where ignorance is bliss 'twere folly to be wise," where it not that I know it is true wisdom to know concerning life in any form.

Flies belong to the insect family called Diptera,—two-winged,—and there is said to be over 25,000 distinct species, including the mosquitoes, gnats, and all two-winged insects. Of these Comstock names about ten as commonly found in dwellings. You may notice now five or six species about the house.

Flies have four periods of existence,—the egg, the larva or maggot, the pupa—corresponding to the cocoon of the butterfly, the latter a period of rest, spent in most species in the ground or in some collection of dirt,—and the adult period. In general, it is about a month from the time an egg is deposited before the fly makes its appearance, although some species develop more rapidly; the fly appears about two-thirds grown.

One species, the "window-fly," lays the eggs under the carpets and in the furniture, the tiny mites in fruit; another, the "blow-fly" or "meat-fly," upon meat, and still another on ham, bacon and cheese. The common "house fly" prefers horse manure or cow manure, although its eggs are found, says one authority, "wherever there is any filth, even in spittoons, if they are not constantly cleaned."

Although we regard flies for these and other reasons with disgust, Comstock says "we cannot but admire that arrangement by which a mass of filth, instead of being left to poison the atmosphere, is transformed into myriads of living beings whose swift flight and delicate forms lend life and beauty to the landscape." It is the business of flies to collect filth and fly away with it, and did they attend strictly to their own business we should indeed admire and be grateful; but, alas, they concern themselves too intimately with our business also.

They are sufficiently disgusting when we behold them in all manner of filth and then see them settle upon our persons, our tables, our food; but this is not all; even their filth might be tolerated were it not often living and multiplying filth. They cover their bodies with all kinds of bacteria, "disease germs" it may chance, invisible to our eyes but alive often with danger. It would seem that this is bad enough,—as several species make long flights;—but there is degradation lower than this, for flies also eat the filth and disease germs. Experiments have shown the alimentary tract of flies that were fed for the purpose on cholera, tuberculosis, and typhoid germs, to be filled with these germs, and their excrement or "specks" to contain the living germs.

There is then good reason for our disgust, and good reason why we should not allow them to run rampant through our dwellings. "An ounce of prevention" should lead every housekeeper, especially in warm weather, to keep all meats in closed closets, all fruits in cool places, food stuffs covered; especially should milk be well taken care of, since there is probably no ordinary article of food more attractive to both bacteria and flies.

As soon as fruits begin to decay dispose of them, or the eggs deposited in the bud will develop and a swarm of tiny flies will appear.

If a room is kept darkened when not in use the flies are less likely to enter it, and if one shutter is turned open they will fly out, for bad as are their deeds they do not prefer darkness to light. One should always be careful that no "meat fly" is shut into the ice chest; a female will do great damage in a short time. We should not fail to have screens on early, and much as certain editors joke about it, the "spring cleaning" is a necessity, for spite of all our efforts, flies hibernate in closets and chests.

Sulphur fumes, while not always effective, will usually kill the eggs, and I have found it very satisfactory to burn a quantity of sulphur or a sulphur candle in rooms where bedding was packed for the summer. Care should be taken to put the sulphur into deep tin or iron dishes before lighting it, as it will sputter and snap, and it is difficult to kill the flames.

One naturalist says, "A plateful of strong green tea well sweetened, in an outer apartment accessible to the flies," is a good fly poison.

Lavender is now much used. The custom of our grandmothers to fill their chests with cedar and lavender blossoms, it is said, was one of the secrets of their greater freedom from insect pests.

One teaspoonful of lavender oil to a pint of water is the rule. Shake well and wet or spray with an atomizer the window sills, door posts, and other parts of the house. It is said the odor of the lavender is disliked by the flies, and it is certain that flies are less abundant where lavender is used, although, personally, I have never tried it without at the same time taking other precautions against them.

More than anything else should the sick room be kept free from flies for the comfort of the invalid and the safety of the other members of the family. If the perfume of lavender is not disagreeable to the invalid, it may prove an effective agent in the sick room.

For Warm Weather.

How to Wash Strawberries.—Have a basin containing four or five quarts of cold water. Put into the water a third of a box of strawberries, then hull them one at a time. This method of washing before the hulls are taken off keeps more of the juice in the berries than when they are washed after hulling.

Fruit Lemonade.—Take three pints of cold water. Squeeze into it three lemons, (more if you like the "ade" stronger). Sweeten to please taste and then add more sugar. Wash and hull one-fourth box of strawberries; add these and also a few slices of banana and of pineapple. Add ice and let stand till very cold.

Iced Russian Tea.—Squeeze into a quart of cold strained tea the juice of a lemon. Sweeten slightly, ice, serve in glasses.

Iced Coffee may be prepared with or without cream and sugar.

###

The Journal.

FRIDAY EVENING, MAY 29, 1896.

PALMER NEWS.

Principalship of the High School and the School Superintendency Combined.

An important action by the school board at its meeting Monday evening was the vote to combine the superintendency of schools and the principalship of the high school, and the engagement of W. H. Small, the present superintendent of schools, to fill the position. By this means the board will be enabled to obtain results which have been desired for some time, but which have been impossible because of a lack of funds. The only thing which caused any hesitancy on the part of the board was the fact that this arrangement would deprive them of the services of Mr. Thayer, the present principal of the high school, who for three years has been a conscientious, hard-working and pains-taking teacher.

The matter of combining these positions under one person was discussed four years ago, when a superintendent was first engaged, but it was not deemed feasible at that time; the schools had not then been graded, and were in a hap-hazard sort of condition. The work of grading has now been completed and a course of study arranged; the schools have been under Mr. Small's supervision for three years and he is thoroughly conversant with all matters pertaining to them. Under these conditions it is thought that he can keep them up to their present standard by devoting half of each day—the afternoon—to them; his forenoons will be devoted to the classes in the high school.

The board is now paying $3100 for the services of the superintendent and high school principal. Under the new order of things the salary of Mr. Small will be $1500 as principal and $500 as superintendent, leaving $1100, which will enable the board to engage another assistant for the high school, making four teachers there and rendering possible the enlargement and broadening of the course of study along the lines laid down in the annual report; a teacher of music, which has long been wanted, will also be engaged, and enough money be still left for the equipment of a chemical laboratory in the high school building, there being nothing of the sort now.

Mr. Thayer has made many warm friends during his stay in town, who will greatly regret his departure but wish him unbounded success in any place to which he may go.

Slight Fire Which Might Have Proved Serious—Trouble with Water Pipes.

An alarm from box 68 at 7.45 Wednesday evening called the fire department to the house just west of the JOURNAL office on Main street, owned by S. W. Smith. The light of the fire could be plainly seen in the cellar through a window, but all openings were kept closed until the arrival of the hose, and then the fire, which was under the stairs in the cellar and was considerably smothered by the dense smoke, was easily put out. The house was unoccupied, and was being papered and painted inside, repairs being nearly completed. The loss will be about $250. The origin of the fire is considerable of a mystery, as there was nothing but barrels of vinegar in the part of the cellar where it started. The flames worked their way along the cellar ceiling and through a partition, and in a few moments more the house would have been beyond saving. One of the firemen, William Nolan, fell through a stairway which had been partly burned away, and struck on his stomach on the edge of a stair, receiving a painful but not serious bruise.

The high school boys deserve the credit of getting the "jumper" to the fire in short time. They were at the merry-go-round near the engine house, and when the alarm sounded seized the hose cart and got it to the blaze with the assistance of only one of the regular firemen.

While the firemen were throwing water into the cellar on the east side of the house the stream suddenly almost ceased, and investigation showed that the inch nozzle was nearly completely plugged up with a piece of cement from the water pipe, an opening only about an eighth of an inch remaining at one side, and a smaller space at the other side. Fortunately the need of water was almost over when this occurred, or the department might have been seriously handicapped in its work. The cement is so firmly wedged into the nozzle that it is impossible to dig it out with a knife, and the chief engineer, Mr. Bills, has the thing on exhibition at his market. This is not the first time the firemen have been troubled this way, the Loomis fire and the fire in the Converse House being the other important instances.

Five Years at Hard Labor.

The case of Chester W. Cross, late teller of the Palmer National Bank, charged with embezzlement and with making false entries in the books of the bank, came up in the United States court at Boston Tuesday before Judge Aldrich. Cross pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to five years in the Pittsfield jail at hard labor. As the sentence was pronounced Cross became pale, and as the clerk finished delivering the order of the court he sank back in his seat and covered his face with his hands. The sentence is the lightest permissible under the law for his offense, and his time will be served in the jail at Pittsfield instead of in the state prison, to which he could have been sent.

Before his trial Cross confessed to his wrong-doing, and stated that the amount taken from the bank was between $1700 and $2000, he could not tell exactly how much.

This sad case is one more forcible illustration of the stern fact that the way of the transgressor is hard. Here was a young man of excellent family, with a pleasant home, a good position, and every incentive to live an honorable and upright life. But home was neglected for the street and the hotel, friendly warnings were ignored, and cards, billiards, wine and women led speedily on to dishonesty and the criminal's cell. One can but pity the terrible folly of a young man thus led astray by the pleasures of sin; and there will be profound sympathy in the community for the family upon whom has come this sorrow.

Adjourned Fire District Meeting.

The adjourned meeting of the fire district which was held on Monday afternoon resulted in the prudential committee being instructed to make a contract with the Palmer Water Company for water for fire protection for one year at a price not exceeding $1000. As the water company says that it will not make the contract for less than $1200, the outcome of the matter still remains a question of doubt.

At the meeting in which the water company raised its price to $1200, its manager stated that the price had been $20 each for 47 hydrants previous to 1891, at which time 13 more hydrants were put in, but that at the earnest solicitation of the prudential committee of the district $1000 was accepted for that year, with the understanding that the price thereafter would be $20 per hydrant, but it had never been able to get that price. In refutation of this statement the contract of 1891 was produced at the meeting, and was found to have been made for three years and four months, at the rate of $1000 per year. It was also stated in the meeting that the company had at first offered to renew the contract of last year ($1000), but that when the committee called a meeting to get authority to do so the price was advanced to $1200. These facts made the voters feel that they had not been fairly dealt with by the water company, and they refused to pay the increase in the water rental.

Close of the Theatrical Season.

With the production of "Old Jed Prouty" last week, season number one of the Odd Fellows' opera house came to a close. The hard times have been a serious matter in the show business all over the country, and large theaters and attractions of all classes have suffered severely.

The house was dedicated with the beautiful production of the operatic spectacle of "Zephra," in which so many of our young people took part, followed by Hi Henry's Minstrels, "Garry Owen," "Uncle Tom's Cabin," Ullie Akerstrom, "Hands Across the Sea," Noss Jollity Co., "Plays and Players," "The Burglar," "Side Tracked," "Hoss & Hoss," "A Summer Shower," "A Cracker Jack," Robert G. Ingersoll, "Coon Hollow," "Killarney and the Rhine," "Dr. Bill," and Richard Golden. The month of February was strictly local, the high school, bicycle club, Baptists, Catholics, Grand Army, and a dancing reception monopolizing the house. Only one attraction proved unprofitable to the house. There have been 7036 paid admissions, and the earnings have been $1116.

With the contemplated improvements in the stage completed before next season, attractions of a higher order, carrying their own scenery, can be put on, and already Morrison's "Faust," "The Old Homestead," "Limited Mail," Hoyt's "Trip to Chinatown," "Span of Life," and other fine attractions are booked.

Good Work Being Done in the Schools.

Patriotic exercises, consisting of declamations and songs, were held in all the schools of the town this afternoon from 1.30 to 3, attended by the public. In addition, work done the past year in drawing, composition, writing, nature study, etc., was displayed on walls and in portfolios. The largest display was in Thorndke, where the new school hall gave better opportunity than in the other buildings. Drawing, a new subject since September, shows evidence that a good foundation has been laid in this practical study. Much good composition work was shown, indicating good training in thought and expression. The work in the writing and bookkeeping books was found to be neatly and carefully done. In the lower grades the vertical writing used since February showed that young children can early obtain a pleasing, legible penmanship.

All the schools closed at three, to allow the teachers, the older pupils and the citizens to visit the new building at Thorndike; here an informal reception was held. School work in all forms, school equipment and devices were shown on walls, racks and tables in the spacious hall.

The display in all the schools showed a general advancement in quality and quantity of school work, and reflected much credit on both teachers and pupils.

Thorndike Street Sewer Contract.

The selectmen met Saturday evening and awarded the contract for the new sewer on Thorndike and West Main streets to M. J. Dillon. There were four bids, as follows:

	Manholes.	Sewer, per ft.	Catch Basins
M. J. Dillon,	$23.75	27½cts.	$17.90
Bramble & King,	28.00	39	19.00
J. W. Brainerd,	30.00	33	25.00
T. J. Chalk,	40.00	40	25.00

The specifications say that the work shall be completed within 40 days from the signing of the contract, and a gang of men were put on the job yesterday. The sewer will extend from a point on Main street in front of the residence of C. B. Fiske to Thorndike street, then up Thorndike street about 1300 feet; the Main street piece is to be 15 inches in diameter, the first 1100 feet up Thorndike street 10 inches, and the rest 8 inches, the catch-basins also having eight-inch connections. Five manholes and at least seven catch-basins are to be put in, and it is intended to have Ys put in opposite the residences along the line when the sewer is laid, as the board of health will compel all such to be connected with the sewer as soon as completed. Palmer workmen must be employed, at not less than 15 cents per hour.

School Committee Meeting.

At the meeting of the school board Monday evening it was decided to have the high school graduating exercises in the opera house on the evening of June 26th. President E. H. Capen of Tufts College will deliver the address, and the programme will be similar to that of last year. On June 19th the ninth grade grammar pupils who have successfully completed the course will hold simple exercises in their rooms in the afternoon, and will be given certificates which will admit them to the high school; about 40 of the 55 pupils have done the work satisfactorily.

Three petitions were received by the committee, one from the graduating class asking that a baccalaureate sermon be preached to them on the Sunday before graduation day; one signed by a majority of the class, and also one signed by all the Protestant clergymen of the town but one, asking that the Lord's prayer be used in connection with the graduating exercises. All three were laid on the table by vote of the committee.

The old school buildings at Thorndike were given into the hands of the selectmen, as the new building is now in use.

Mr. Hamilton will preach in the Advent chapel next Sunday.

Mrs. J. E. Marsh of Maynard is the guest of Mrs. J. W. Brainerd.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Northrop spent Sunday with their son in Boston.

Mrs. G. H. Bray and daughter Ella have been spending a part of the week in Florence.

Hubbard Lawrence has been at Pittsburg this week, attending the convention of Prohibitionists.

Miss Myrtle McQuaid of Chatham, N. Y., has been spending the week with Miss Mignon Fuller.

The exterior of J. F. Holbrook's West Main street residence is receiving a fresh coat of paint.

Mrs. H. J. Brown of the JOURNAL composing room is at Woodstock, Vt., for a month's vacation.

Joseph Provost has sold his barber shop to C. R. Hoppe of Rockville, Ct., and gone to Derby, Ct., to live.

'Busses will run to Palmer and Bondsville to-morrow evening from Forest Lake after the close of that resort.

Daniel Haley captured a large 10-pound turtle in his lot on the shore of Blanchardville pond this morning.

The Young Men's Library Association will hold a quarterly meeting in its rooms next Monday evening at 7.15.

O. L. Teague of South Framingham, formerly of Palmer and recently of Chicago, visited friends in town Wednesday.

The service at St. Paul's church next Sunday evening will have as its topic, "Our heroes: Who are they? What have they done?"

The sewing machines at the hat shop will be shut down to-morrow night, but it will take the greater part of next week to finish up the stock.

John Roche of Boston, formerly of Palmer, has many friends who will be saddened by the news of the death of his wife and child at Boston to-day.

G. B. Hayes, formerly of Newburyport has succeeded F. W. Davison as manager of the Boston Stock and Grain Exchange located in the Holden block.

The two schoolhouses at Thorndike which have been abandoned with the completion of the new one, will be sold at auction at 2 p. m. one week from to-morrow.

The guests of the Converse House were treated to a trout supper Saturday night through the kindness of Nelson Whiton, who presented Landlord Pierce with a fine string of fish.

Round-trip tickets to Forest Lake have been reduced in price this season to 30 cents from Palmer and Ware, and 75 from Springfield, instead of 35 and 90. They will go on sale to-morrow.

J. J. Conway fell from a car at the trap-rock quarry in Monson Wednesday and struck his leg on a stone, cutting a gash about five inches long, which required four stitches to close.

A merry-go-round has located on the private street leading north from Park street opposite the fire engine house, and is well patronized by the younger children, as well as some of a larger growth.

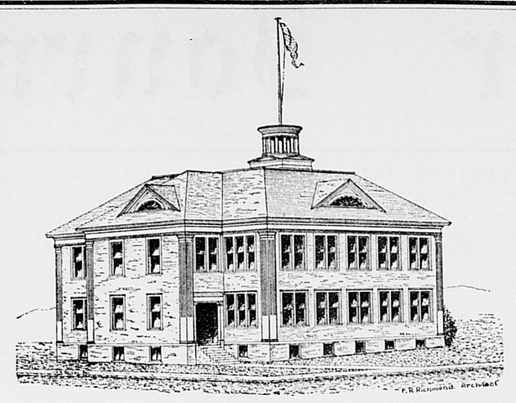
Joseph Hayden Stimson has been awarded honorable mention by the faculty of the New York College of Veterinary Surgeons for the excellence of his examinations at the close of his freshman year in the college.

To-morrow morning at 8 there will be celebrated in St. Thomas's Catholic church a requiem high mass in honor of the dead soldiers. Next Sunday will be Trinity Sunday, with services at the usual hours.

The selectmen held a special meeting last Saturday evening and appointed Revs. F. E. Jenkins and G. S. Butler of the prosecuting committee, special police. An application for the appointment of D. F. Holden was laid on the table.

Readers of the fairy stories which the JOURNAL has been printing will miss the installment this week, but are assured that it will appear again next week as usual. The trouble is with the author, who for some reason failed to send the copy until too late for use this week.

Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Graves and Mr. and Mrs. William Merriam have been chosen delegates, and Mrs. A. M. Smith alternate, to the meeting of the Union Association of Universalists in Springfield next Wednesday. Rev. H. F. Moulton is to read a paper before the association.



The New School Building at Thorndike.

Palmer has always been noted for the deep interest which its citizens take in educational matters. More money is expended annually in Palmer for educational purposes than in any other town of its size in the state, and much attention is paid to the courses of study and the various needs essential to good school work.

One of the requisites to good school work, and one which exerts a marked influence upon the pupil, is the school building. The school committee, aware of this fact and knowing that the need of a new schoolhouse ha dlong been felt in Thorndike, asked the town to appropriate a sum of money for the erection of such a building. The town appropriated $16,000 for the purpose, and a committee consisting of C. H. Hobbs, Patrick Crowley, H. E. W. Clark, G. M. Atkins and L. E. Moore was chosen to have charge of its construction, and it may be said right here that this committee deserves much credit for the able manner in which it has superintended the work; Mr. Hobbs especially has given much of his time to overseeing the construction, and has carefully looked after the details. The plans were drawn by F. R. Richmond of Springfield, and the contract was awarded to C. S. Ruggles of Three Rivers. The past winter and spring work has been progressing rapidly, and the building is now finished, the school session being held there for the first time on Monday.

The new building is a model one in every respect. Situated on a slight elevation, it shows off to good advantage, and presents an attractive appearance. There are two entrances to the building, one on each end of the side fronting Main street. On the ground floor a large and spacious hall runs parallel to the street, and on each side of this hall are two schoolrooms. Upstairs another large hall runs in the same direction as the other, and on one side of this hall there are two schoolrooms, while on the other side, toward the street, there is a large assembly hall. The schoolrooms are of good size, being 27 by 31 feet, and are equipped with all the latest improvements. The windows are wide and long, extending nearly to the ceiling, thus making the rooms very light. The blackboards are of slate; the desks and seats are of the latest pattern, and can be adjusted to suit the size of the scholars.

The assembly hall is very large, 63 by 30 feet, and is built so that if necessary, in future years, it can be easily made into two more schoolrooms. The whole interior is nicely finished, being sheathed to a height of three and a half feet from the floor, and the rest of the wall plastered.

The building is heated by hot air, and in the basement are four furnaces for this purpose. It is also well ventilated, being equipped with the Smith & Anthony system of ventilation.

It is the finest building for school purposes in the town, and one of which the citizens of Palmer, especially those in the village of Thorndike, should be proud. The pupils also should appreciate all that has been done for them, and should take pride in keeping it neat and clean. The change into a new, commodious and well-arranged building should put new life and vigor into the scholars, and act as an inspiration and stimulus to study and good conduct.

The building has been open for the inspection of the public to-day, and has been visited by a large number of people.

Workmen have been engaged clearing up the cemetery on Thorndike street for Memorial Day, and the grounds now present a more attractive appearance than ever before. Numbers of unsightly trees and shrubs have been removed, paths filled and lots graded, and the grass cut.

The annual strawberry festival at St. Paul's church Tuesday evening was well attended, and about $50 was realized. Rev. Mr. Conklin's lecture on "Some humorous phases of an European trip," was not largely attended, but was well enjoyed, and he will undoubtedly be engaged for another on a similar topic.

Subscriptions for Pictorial Palmer are being taken, and the book will be ready for delivery in about two months. As the work is to be sold by subscription only, and the edition will be limited, those wishing to secure copies will do well to send in their names at once. If desired, subscriptions may be sent to the JOURNAL office.

J. S. Wait, who was to have given an exhibition of billiard playing in LaSalle's billiard room last Friday evening, did not have a very large audience. In some way it became suspected that he was a spotter in search of violaters of the liquor law, and the word to boycott him was passed around, with the result that he had less than a dozen at his exhibition.

A new time table went into effect on the Boston and Albany road last Sunday, with these changes at Palmer: The afternoon accommodation train from Springfield formerly arriving at 4.40 now arrives at 4.49, leaving Springfield at 4.15 instead of 4 10; the evening accommodation from the east now arrives at 8.51 instead of 8.49; on the Ware river road the forenoon train from Winchendon now arrives at 9.52 instead of 10.

It has always been a hard matter to get the merchants of this village to pull together on the question of closing their stores for any occasion, and Memorial Day this year has proved no exception. Some of them would like to close all day, some would close at noon, and some will not at all; some of those who would close will not unless all will do so, and so the result to-morrow will be as each individual chooses.

Rev. H. F. Moulton will begin next Sunday morning in the Universalist church one of three sermons on "Nearing the end of a five years' pastorate; the Christian pulpit, pew and ministry—their relations to each other for the glory of God, the service of Christ and the good of humanity." Among the questions which will be discussed are these: Is the Christian pulpit declining in power and influence? Is the Christian pew growing careless, indifferent and lazy? Is the Christian ministry becoming secularized, materialized and sensationalized?

A. J. Adams returned yesterday from Norwich Town, Ct., where he was called to attend the death of his uncle, Reuben N. Robbins, a veteran of the late war. Mr. Robbins was born at Thomaston, Ct., but at the beginning of the war was living in Belchertown, and enlisted in Co. C, 10th Mass. Vols., June 21, 1861. Later he reënlisted in Co. F, 37th Mass. Vols., Dec. 21, 1863. He participated in the battle of Fair Oaks, the seven days' battle in the Wilderness, and at Petersburg, where he was wounded Jan. 20, 1864, being honorably discharged June 7, 1865, for disability. Mr. Robbins's grandfather was a soldier in the revolution, and his father a soldier in the war of 1812.

PALMER CENTER.

Joseph Stimson has spent part of the week at home. Cyrus Stimson and wife are also at the old home.

Mr. Adams and Miss Moore of Worcester were the guests of Miss Brown Sunday, returning home Monday, making the trip on their wheels.

W. S. Robertson of Philadelphia, John Robertson of Springfield and H. McGilp of Palmer were the guests of their uncle, W. S. Thornhill, Monday.

Horace Smith, one of our oldest citizens, died at his home Sunday night, at 12, just one week from the day he was taken sick. His health had not been good for some time, but he kept around, going to Palmer the day before he was taken sick. Mr. Smith was an eccentric man, usually speaking his mind very plainly, but was withal a good friend and neighbor, and respected by all. He leaves a widow and one son, George, who lives at home, and three daughters, Mrs. Frank Kendell of this place, Mrs. Wilbur Parker of Brimfield, and Mrs. Ella Miller, who lost her husband and child, and now her father, inside of two months. Mr. Smith was nearly 82 years old. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon, with burial at Palmer. Rev. F. E. Jenkins officiated.

BONDSVILLE.

Miss Maggie Bruce is assisting in the schools.

Mrs. W. E. Hall has returned from a visit in Lowell.

John J. Conway spent Sunday and Monday in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Russell spent Sunday in Gilbertville.

The King's Daughters will meet with Mrs. Francis Jones Monday.

A colored minstrel troupe appeared in Liberty Hall last night.

The W. C. T U. met with Mrs. Robert Smith at the parsonage Thursday.

Miss Helen Rasmussen will speak in the Methodist church Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Parent spent Saturday with their son Olin at Wesleyan university.

Charles Merrifield, who has been in Michigan for about four years, is visiting his mother here.

Mrs. Henry Morgan and grandson, Master Morgan Ryther, visited Mrs. Arthur Ward in Enfield last week.

The ball game between the married men and single men of the village resulted in favor of the single men.

THORNDIKE.

Maurice Lawler is out with a handsome new milk cart.

Mrs. Barna Smith is visiting friends in Providence, R. I.

Master Johnny Scott of Springfield is the guest of George Whiting, Jr.

All the stores and business places will close on Memorial Day from 9 a. m. till 4 p. m.

Miss Ada Murdock gave a reading at the entertainment given in Three Rivers Tuesday evening.

Mrs. James F. Loftus and family spent part of the week at the home of her parents in South Hadley.

Edward Flynn, an old and well-known former resident of this place, was visiting in town on Monday.

John W. Fay of Wilkinsonville, formerly an overseer here in the mills, was visiting friends here on Tuesday.

Owing to a change in the time table of the Ware River railroad, the mail now closes at 9.30 a. m. instead of 9.50.

J. O. Hamilton has moved into his handsome new house on the Ware road, which has just been completed.

Work has already commenced on the new front which is to be put into the store occupied by E. J. Kelley.

The Columbian band gave another of their popular concerts to a large and appreciative audience on Monday evening.

The ladies of the Congregational church are making preparations for their strawberry festival, which will be given soon.

Mr. O'Brien, a member of the Boston police force for the past 23 years, spent a few days this week with T. J. Clifford of the Clinton House.

The Knickerbocker minstrels at Union hall on Tuesday evening played to a very small audience, but those present seemed to enjoy the performance.

The assessors are doing their desk work in the old school building, in order to accommodate H. T. Bishop, who is janitor of the new school building and also one of the assessors.

The Thorndikes were given a lesson in baseball at Westfield on Saturday, being defeated by a score of 14 to 2. The Gilbertvilles will play here to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock.

The Columbian band took a march to Three Rivers on Saturday, playing several pieces in that village. The boys were invited into Rev. Fr. Marchand's house, where they were given refreshments.

Mrs. T. J. Clifford and sister, Miss Lizzie Molloy of Palmer, will sail from New York on the 17th of June on the steamer Tntonic of the White Star line for Europe, where they will remain for several months.

THREE RIVERS.

O. B. Sikes has moved into Mr. Cheney's cottage by the parsonage.

Herbert Barker of Amherst College spent Sunday here with his parents.

Miss Alice Wheeler of Springfield spent Sunday with Miss Annis Avery.

Members of the W. C. T. U. will meet in the Baptist church this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Metcalf are rejoicing over the birth of a ten-pound boy.

Mrs. James Wood of Stafford Springs was a guest of Mrs. L. Whiting last week.

A. P. Trudeau, who has been in the meat business here for fourteen years, is to leave town.

About 250 new volumes have been added to the Sunday school library of the Union church.

Theodore Graval of Springfield and Fred Graval of Worcester spent Sunday with their parents here.

Mr. Cheney gave a boat ride to fourteen boys and girls Saturday afternoon; all reported a good time.

The Three Rivers base ball nine played the clerks of this place, the score being 10 to 9 in favor of the Three Rivers.

Mrs. David Milliken of Lowell and Mrs. J. I. Milliken of Lawrence, are expected to spend Memorial Day and Sunday with friends here.

Mrs. Emeline Orcutt of Baptist Hill, who was taken suddenly ill Saturday night, has many friends who will be pleased to know that she is better.

The overseers and their families and the office help of the Palmer mill are to have a clam bake in J. W. Cheney's grove Memorial Day if the weather permits.

At the Baptist church next Sunday there will be the usual service at 10.45 a. m. At 7 p. m. there will be a union service, with sermon by Rev. G. S. Butler; subject, "The late war and the present warfare."

The young men of this place have organized the Olympian Athletic club; they also have a base ball nine, and would like to play any team whose players are under sixteen years of age. Address R. H. Newell.

M. R. Foskit was pleasantly surprised at his home in South Belchertown last week Thursday evening, it being his birthday. About a dozen went from here; refreshments were served, and there was music and a good time generally.

A union memorial service was held in the Baptist church last Sunday evening, a large audience being present. Those who took part were Mr. E. A. Thomas, Rev. G. S. Butler, Miss Edith Gray, and the male quartette. Mr. Thomas gave a sermon on "The flag and the cross."

The Y. P. S. C. E. held its business meeting Tuesday evening, with a social and refreshments. The officers elected are as follows: President, A. S. Geer; vice-president, P. A. Story; recording secretary, Alice Lupin; corresponding secretary, A. S. Geer; treasurer, Grace Holt; committees—lookout, Mrs. J. H. Trickett, Mrs. T. J. Holt, Thomas Brown; prayer meeting, Mrs. S. B. Barnes, W. H. Ritchie, Miss Edith Grey; social, Miss Mattie Goshen, H. N. Fisk, F. E. Hillman; music, Miss Annis Avery, Mrs. A. S. Geer, Peter Senical; flower, Mrs. F. Higgins, Mary Wilson, Mrs. A. B. Copeland; calling, Miss Fannie Barnes, Mrs. H. D. Geer, G. Eckert; missionary, Henry Newell, Mrs. F. W. Lavene, P. A. Story; Sunday school, J. H. Trickett, George Trickett, James Cole, Jr.; temperance, F. A. Upham, H. N. Fish, H. A. Barker.

Boy Killed.

A distressing accident occurred Monday afternoon, by which Charles E., the six-years-old son of Delphis Dupont, was killed. Workmen were engaged in putting a new stringer under the bridge over the river near the Athol station, and after placing supports under the bridge were engaged in taking out the old timber. Suddenly the staging gave way and carried two workmen down with it, also the boy, who was standing on the bridge watching the work. The men were not much hurt, but the boy's skull was crushed and when taken out he was beyond help. The bridge was closed to travel, and the workmen did not know that the boy was on the structure.

BORN.

At Providence, R. I., 25th, a daughter to William W. and Lena M. Hall.

At Ware, 28th, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Howard.

MARRIED.

At Warren, 27th, by Rev. A. R. Nichols, Charles T. Waters and Alice M. Hellyar.

DIED.

At Palmer Center, 17th, Horace C. Smith, 82.

FOR SALE.—A 2-story octagon bay window, as good as new. G. W. LYMAN, Palmer.

TO RENT.—Two tenements on Fox avenue. tf-44 Apply to G. S. HOLDEN.

FOR SALE OR TO RENT.—The house corner of Thorndike street and Foster avenue. tf6 C. W. JOHNSON, Palmer.

FOR SALE.—Three bitch setter pups; three months old. For reference call on 2-9 G. A. MOORE, Palmer.

TO RENT.—Good up and down stairs tenement, six rooms, on Spring street. tf-4 GEORGE A. KEITH, Palmer.

FOR SALE.—Handsome oak refrigerator, good as new, cherry chamber set, two-thirds white iron bedstead, and kitchen range, all in good order. Enquire at house of C. B. FISKE.

FOR SALE.—Buff Cochin and Plymouth Rock eggs for hatching. Won prizes at Palmer, Northampton, Stafford and Providence. tf 38 C. RALPH LEGRO, Palmer, Mass.

PIANOS TUNED. Having had three years' experience with Chickering & Son, Boston, in their tuning and repair rooms, I am prepared to tune, cap, voice and repair pianos. All work guaranteed and orders promptly executed. J. FRANK NORMAND. 3-9 P. O. Box 412, Palmer, Mass.

HEADQUARTERS CYRUS W. CROSS CAMP, NO. 136, SONS OF VETERANS, U. S. A.
GENERAL ORDERS NO. 1.

All members of Camp 136 are hereby ordered to meet at Memorial Hall at 8 o'clock a. m., on Saturday, May 30, 1896, to do escort duty for L. L. Merrick Post, 107, G. A. R., and assist in the proper observance of Memorial Day.

All sons of Union Soldiers are hereby cordially invited to join the line of march, although they may not belong to the organization.

By order LESLIE H. HENDEE, Captain.
A. B. C. DEMING, 1st Sergt.

Administrator's Sale.

Will be sold at public auction, on the A. H. Maxwell place in the north part of Monson, Mass., on Friday, June 5, 1896, at 10 a. m., 2 cows, 1 horse, 1 carriage, 1 Concord buggy, 1 express wagon, 1 farm wagon, 1 two-horse wagon, 1 sleigh, 2 one-horse bob sleds, 1 horse cart, 1 horse mowing machine, harness, 6 tons of hay, 20 hens, farming tools and machines, and many other articles.

Sale positive. Terms made known at sale.
W. W. LEACH, Administrator.
Palmer, Mass., May 28, 1896. 1-9

TOWN OF PALMER.
SELECTMEN'S NOTICE.
SALE OF SCHOOLHOUSES.

The two schoolhouses in the village of Thorndike which have been abandoned for school purposes will be sold at public auction on Saturday, the sixth day of June, at two o'clock in the afternoon, on the premises. The buildings must be removed on or before the first day of July, 1896. Other terms and conditions made known at time of sale.

J. F. TWISS, G. M. ATKINS, C. T. BRAINERD, } Selectmen of Palmer.
1-9

HEADQUARTERS L. L. MERRICK POST, NO. 107, G. A. R.
GENERAL ORDERS NO. 1.

Once more the solemn day is near when we place grateful garlands upon the graves of the honored dead, and as the years roll by and fresh garlands replace the withered bloom of last year, the nation raises higher and still higher the honor roll of its gallant defenders.

Members of the post, soldiers and sailors, are requested to meet at Memorial Hall, May 30, at 8 o'clock a. m., to form a line of march to the different cemeteries. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend the services in Memorial Hall at 2 o'clock p. m.

E. E. RYTHER, Com.
H. H. PAINE, Adjt.

BERMUDA ONIONS. Bananas—large fruit. W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Take a look at our stock.
And see what cash will do.
You will be surprised.
Look early and often.
Our motto is Quick sales and small profits.
Remember the place.
See for yourself.

PIANOS
sold, rented, tuned and repaired.

TAYLOR'S
Music House,
412 MAIN STREET, SPRINGFIELD.

TEETH. . .
Artificial teeth without plates. Teeth extracted without pain with local anaesthetic.
GAS ADMINISTERED.
Office hours from 8 to 12 a. m., 1 to 5.30 p. m.
OPEN EVENINGS.
Dr. O. P. ROLLER, D. D. S.,
Lawrence Block, Palmer, Mass.

Meekins, Packard & Wheat.

THIS MONTH'S SELLING OF
CARPETS

Has been enormous, far exceeding that of any previous season.

So much for having the best and most reliable goods for less money than inferior sorts often bring.

So much for being awake to the wants of our patrons and ready to take up and make the most of offers that come our way.

No stocks are met with hereabouts that can compare with them for variety or style—its famous for its exclusiveness—making selections here a pleasure.

Consider these values; there's a choice here for everyone with a CARPET PURCHASE to make.

INGRAINS at 33c a Yard.
Think of it! Good reliable floor coverings for so little money.

Hartford & Lowell Ingrains
At 50c a Yard.
They need no recommendations for durability or style.

The best quality of
Tapestries at 65c a Yard.
Excellent patterns. Two other lines that readily sell for 75 cents. Our price 62 1-2 and 50 cents a yard.

Still another grade at 45 cents a yard.

When have you seen tapestries sold so low?

Hartford and Lowell Brussels at 75 cents a Yard.

Regular $1 Velvets at 75 cents a yard.

Best Body Brussels in this season's patterns—Our price 90 cents a yard.

$1.35 Wilton Velvets at 90 cents a yard.

Here's where you can save money on your floor covering. We've never seen such grades for so little money before, and we've handled innumerable Carpet bargains.

Take warning from the big business going on in these lines. Early selections are always the best.

(Carpet Dept.) First Floor.

MEEKINS, PACKARD & WHEAT,
SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

New Summer Dress Goods. . . .

Jaconette Plisse,	- -	10c
Kaike Cloth,	- - -	15c
Melba Lawn,	- - -	06c
Embroidered Muslin,	- -	20c
Ginghams,	- -	8c to 20c

W. E. STONE,
Dry and Fancy Goods.
Main Street, Palmer. . . .

Eczema is a frightful affliction, but like all other skin diseases it can be permanently cured by applications of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It never fails to cure piles. LeGro & Lynde.

. . . A . . .
Magnificent Offer:
A Handsome Water or Lemonade Set, consisting of
One half gallon cut glass pattern pitcher,
Two cut glass pattern tumblers,
One cut glass pattern finger bowl,
One silverine hammered tray,
With EVERY CAN OF PURE FOOD BAKING POWDER.
Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction.
SMITH
Grocery Company,
59 Main Street, Palmer.

Mrs. R. DeYoung, Middleburg, Ia., writes: I have used One Minute Cough Cure for six years, both for myself and children, and I consider it the quickest acting and most satisfactory Cough Cure I ever used. LeGro & Lynde.

CHERRY BALSAM
Cures coughs, colds, throat and lung troubles. Others use it, we ask you to try it.
LeGro & Lynde, Druggists,
next to Post Office, PALMER.

One minute is the standard time, and One Minute Cough Cure is the standard preparation for every form of cough or cold. It is the only harmless remedy that produces immediate results. LeGro & Lynde.

Good looking people usually have good teeth. LeGRO'S TOOTH POWDER will keep the teeth white, gums healthy and breath pure.
LeGro & Lynde, Druggists,
Next to Post Office, Palmer.

One swallow does not make Spring, but one swallow of One Minute Cough Cure brings relief. LeGro & Lynde.

L. H. HENDEE, M. D.,
OFFICE AND RESIDENCE, PLEASANT ST.
Office hours 7 to 10 a. m., and 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m.

Palmer has never seen so many shirt waists at one time as we are showing on our counters.

DAINTY DIMITIES, BEAUTIFUL LINENS, AND PERCAILES IN EVERY CONCEIVABLE PATTERN.

Elegant Silk Waists at
$3.00, $3.50, $4.00 and $5.00.

Leather Belts, Gilt Belts and Silk Belts
. . . at all prices. . . .

Straw Hats for Men and Boys.
Outing Shirts in French Flannel and Laundered Goods. . . . . .

AN ELEGANT LINE OF NECKWEAR ALWAYS ON HAND. . . . . .

Don't fail to see stock before purchasing.

D. L. BODFISH,
Cross Block,
PALMER.

A large assortment of . . .
New Parasols and Fans,
Summer Gloves and Mitts,
Summer Wash Goods,
in dainty designs and beautiful colorings, only need to be seen to be appreciated. . . . . .

GROCERIES
That tempt poor appetites and please all for quality and price. . . . . .
A LINE OF
Kennedy's Sweet Goods,
- - - just the thing for pic-nics.

J. B. SHAW, Dry Goods and Groceries.
Feeney's Block,
PALMER.

The Latest Goods
for men is what we want to talk about. Only give us an opportunity and we'll convince you that we have everything you need at this season. Call and see what we have, that's all we ask. The neckwear we have chosen for your inspection isn't to be duplicated in any near-by place. The new creations are simply wonderful—can't begin to describe them, you'll have to see them.

The Spring Hats,
Have you noticed 'em? Missed it if you haven't; all the popular makes in derbys, and those soft flanges for such as prefer them.

Fancy Shirts
are more varied in design than ever. You can't fail to be pleased with what we've selected for you. Of course those who come first will have the pick of the stock. We may be able to duplicate the figures and we may not. Better not put off your seeing them.

C. K. Gamwell, Palmer, Mass.

1896 Hartford Bicycles. . . . . .
. . . . . Reduced in Price.
Patterns Nos. 1 and 2 (for gentlemen and ladies) from $80 to $65.
Patterns Nos. 3 and 4 (for gentlemen and ladies) from $60 to $50.
Patterns Nos. 5 and 6 (for boys and girls) from $50 to $45.
The best value for the money ever offered in medium grade wheels.
. . . . . Call and let us show you how good they are.
Chandler Bros., Palmer.
AT JOURNAL OFFICE.

E. S. Bryant, D. M. D.,
Dentist,
Lynde's Block, Palmer.
Office hours: 8.30 to 12.30. 1.30 to 5 p. m.

CARPET CLEANING.
Having put in machinery for cleaning carpets by the method of beating, brushing and airing, I am now ready to receive orders. Special attention paid to taking up and relaying carpets; orders by mail promptly attended to. Carpets called for and delivered free of charge.
26-52 GEO. B. KENERSON, Park St., Palmer.

The Journal.

FRIDAY EVENING, MAY 29, 1896.

NEIGHBORHOOD NOTES.

MONSON.

LOCAL NOTICES.

25 Dollars Reward.

The above reward will be paid to any person for evidence that shall lead to the prosecution and conviction of any one engaged in the illegal sale of spirituous liquors or intoxicating drinks in the town of Monson.

J. H. THOMPSON, C. C. KEEP, H. SQUIER, } Prosecuting Committee.

Disappearance of a Young Lad.

Patrick Connors, the 15-years-old son of John Connors, whose home is at the "turnout," left home on a Crawford bicycle Friday morning, and has not yet returned. He stated at home that he was going to Springfield to the circus, but when he did not return his father became alarmed about him. On Monday night Mr. Connors was informed that Patrick had told some of his chums that he should try to get a job with the circus, and he immediately caused a description of the boy to be inserted in a Springfield paper, but so far nothing has been heard from him. He has dark hair, large gray eyes, and wore a new black suit. The wheel is one which belonged to his brother, John Connors, who died at Barre, Vt., last winter under distressing circumstances. Mr. Connors will be most grateful for any information concerning the boy or the wheel.

George L. Keeney spent Sunday at Vernon, Ct.

There will be a meeting of the Grange Tuesday evening.

There will be a meeting of the school committee this evening.

Miss Carrie L. Chapin has been visiting in Springfield this week.

A party from Brimfield are to picnic at Flynt's Park to-morrow.

Mrs. K. Beardow of Taftville, Ct., is visiting Mrs. C. R. Buffington.

W. N. Flynt & Sons are painting their storehouse near the depot.

Dr. C. W. Jackson's residence is to be connected with the telephone exchange.

Prof. and Mrs. Hartzell of Orangeburg, S. C., are stopping at the Century Hotel.

Miss Candace Gates is spending a week in South Framingham and Boston.

The New London Northern station is to be repaired, and town water put in.

Miss Gertrude Wood of Worcester has been the guest of Mrs. G. C. Flynt this week.

Mrs. G. M. King and Mrs. F. H. King of Springfield are visiting friends in town.

C. L. Clough and D. M. Noble have been drawn as jurors for the June term of court.

Dr. G. E. Fuller has been appointed aide-de-camp to Commander Walker of the Grand Army, and has the rank of Colonel.

Dr. G. E. Fuller is the first Monson man to own an electric cooking apparatus. It is a chafing dish, and arrived Monday.

Mrs. Julia Miller has greatly improved her North Main street residence by removing the fence north of her house and lawn.

Mrs. Mary Squier spent the first part of the week in Amherst, and her son, Rev. A. L. Squier, accompanied her home on Tuesday.

The Young Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the M. E. church is planning for a lawn party, to be held the last week in June.

The Misses Williams are having a clearing-out sale of millinery and fancy goods, preparatory to moving their place of business.

Miss Mabelle L. Tucker of No. 3, who has been ill, attempted to resume school Monday, but was obliged to give up for the remainder of the term.

An original poster, drawn by J. W. Hall of the Monson Granite Company, has attracted much notice in the show window of F. A. Bills's jewelry store.

There was an accident at the Flynt quarry yesterday, when a piece of a hammer flew off and struck one of the Italians on the hand, cutting a blood vessel.

Dr. G. E. Fuller was called to Wales Saturday night to attend Albert Williams, who had been thrown from his carriage and sustained a broken hip, a broken wrist and a severe bruise above his eye.

The stores, with the exception of Pendergast's, will close to-morrow afternoon. Rogers' market will be open in the evening, and others may. Mr. Pendergast will run no teams after noon.

Lawyer Samuel S. Parks of Chicago, class of '82, Monson Academy, is to be toastmaster at the alumni dinner which follows the graduating exercises at the academy. No other arrangements are complete.

Miss Converse's school at No. 16 will have "A morning with birds" June 12. The exercises will include an essay on birds, several recitations on the theme, and singing. There will also be a paper on Longfellow.

The Ladies' Benevolent society and the Epworth League hold a strawberry and ice cream festival in the Methodist vestry this evening. A literary and musical entertainment will follow the supper, which is from 6 to 8.

Last Friday David B. Needham, chief engineer of the fire department, made his annual inspection of the Century Hotel, the Monson House, and the boarding house of Mrs. Inez Farrell, and found everything satisfactory.

C. A. Bradway, agent for Columbia and Hartford wheels, has received notice of a cut in prices of 1896 Hartfords: Patterns Nos. 1 and 2, from $80 to $65; patterns Nos. 3 and 4, from $60 to $50; patterns Nos. 5 and 6, from $50 to $45. Columbia prices are unchanged.

"Happenynges of ye olden time" proved most entertaining Tuesday evening in the chapel of the Congregational church. The parts were all well taken and the music was very enjoyable; the solos and the duet by Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Norcross called forth much applause.

James Wallace's horse is the last one to take leave of Squier's grain mill in a hurry. It happened yesterday afternoon. The horse ran across Main street from Lincoln street and took a canter across the platform of Merchants' Row. The carriage was a total wreck.

Are You ◆ ◆ ◆

wearing high shoes this hot weather and suffering with hot feet?

Low shoes are much cooler for a street or house shoe.

LADIES' LOW SHOES

were never so generally worn as this season.

With our large assortment it is almost impossible for anyone to ask for a style that we cannot show them.

◆◆◆◆◆◆◆◆

Geo. L. Fuller,

the distributor of fine fitting shoes.

Monson, - - Mass.

Considerable complaint is made of the cruelty to birds on the part of boys. Their eggs are stolen, the nests either stolen or torn down, and the birds are shot. There is sure to be trouble for the boys if this is continued. "Bands of Mercy" have been formed in the schools, and it is hoped that none of the members have been guilty of breaking their pledges.

The Monson Academy Athlethic association gave a good entertainment Friday evening in the chapel. It consisted of readings by Eugene Hill of Springfield, singing by a quartette, violin solo, mandolin and guitar selections, banjo duet, vocal solo, and piano duet. The entertainment was followed by a pleasing social at which ice cream and cake were served.

James Pendergast has on exhibition a tarantula which he found in a bunch of bananas yesterday morning. It is 3½ inches long and an ugly looking specimen. Mr. Pendergast has found spiders of various descriptions in his bananas heretofore, but although he has been in the fruit business for 10 years and has sold on an average 50 bunches a week during each season, this is the first tarantula he has found.

The walking between North Wilbraham and Monson is said to be fair, but the young man who indulged in the little stroll last Saturday evening expressed that tired feeling of which the poet sings,

"After the tire is punctured, after the wind's all gone,
When you're out in the country ten or twelve miles from home;
Then you'll feel discouraged, all by yourself alone,
After the tire is punctured, and the air pump is at home," and he would doubtless have preferred the society of his best girl to that of the silent steed.

Two bicyclists collided on Main street Monday with disastrous results to Elmer E. Thompson's wheel. The two men met and both dodged, but sad to say, dodged the same way. For a few moments there was a conglomeration of men, wheels and dust, then the man who is said to have been entirely to blame, because of being on the wrong side of the street, came up all right, and mounted his wheel and rode off. Mr. Thompson's wheel had a tire torn completely off, and sustained other damages.

I desire to say a word in the JOURNAL in behalf of the glee club from Mt. Holyoke college, which is to sing for us next Tuesday evening, and to bespeak a good attendance for them, not only on their own account as good singers, as they are reported to be, but also as representatives of the college which has grown up so near us, the pioneer institution in the higher education of women, for which our good Deacon Porter and wife did so much service, and which has furnished Monson academy so many excellent teachers, from Mrs. Hobart, who taught here forty-five years ago, to Miss Pease, who is with us now. Let the young Holyoke singers have an appreciative audience here in Monson.

JAMES TUFTS.

The ladies met yesterday in Memorial Hall and made wreaths for Memorial Day. The programme for the day as given in last week's JOURNAL will be carried out. A delegation will go to Moulton Hill at 10 in the morning; at noon the graves of soldiers in all cemeteries except No. 1, will be visited. The exercises in Memorial Hall will begin at 1.30 p. m.; at the close the veterans and veterans' sons will march to the soldiers' monument and No. 1 cemetery; returning they will be served a collation by the Woman's Relief corps.

Interesting closing exercises at the Green street grammar school will be held June 11th by the graduating class, which numbers 37. Nine will take part; three were chosen by rank: Ruth M. Keeney, valedictorian; Ralph Needham, salutatorian; Helen Moulton, class poet; three by the teacher—Arthur Vaille, Martha Anderson, Mable Crocker; three by the school—Blanche Cushman, Sadie Hobbs, Louise Shaw; class prophets, Blanche Cushman, Martha Anderson. Dr. Rand has offered prizes for the best and second best bird essays. The prize essays will be read at these exercises, and "Bird-craft," purchased by the class, will be presented to the school by Jay Gould. A sextette will sing a bird song.

The following will be the programme of the concert by the Mt. Holyoke college girls next Tuesday evening:

a. By the Sea, b. Ah! Boat.	Metropolitan Airs
	Glee and Banjo Clubs. By Rees
Colored Four Hundred,	Wheeler
	Banjo Club.
Serenade,	Schubert
	Glee Club.
There, Little Girl, Don't Cry,	E. Champion
	Miss Roeth and Club.
Essence of Tennessee,	Grover
	Banjo Club.
Three Fishers,	Goldbeck
	Glee Club.
La Trojani Waltz,	V. W. Smith
	Banjo Club.
a. Fedelin, b. Sugar Dolly,	Brahms
	Jessie L. Gaynon
	Glee Club.
Brazilian March,	Armstrong
	Banjo Club.
Creole Love Song,	Smith
	Glee Club.
Holyoke,	Averill '93
	Glee Club.

It is not often that a man will deny that he has lost a sum of money when he has, but such a thing happened Wednesday evening. After the arrival of the 7 09 train some loose papers were seen lying on the depot platform by Jesse Moulton. His first thought was to kick them aside, but he finally picked them up and threw them on Station Agent Thompson's desk. Mr. Thompson looked them over and found a pocket map, which he thought might be useful, and an envelope which contained $68 in money and checks, and bore the name G. F. Newton. He soon located the man at the Century Hotel, and asked him if he had lost anything. The man said that he had not, and when shown the envelope declared it to be of no value. Presently, however, he was shown a memorandum, and light began to dawn upon him, and after some time he was forced to believe that he was laboring under a mistake. The fact is, he was certain that he had left the money and checks in the desk of the cashier of the firm at Worcester for which he is salesman.

Rev. W. H. Marble delivered a fine memorial sermon last Sunday morning at the Methodist church. Not only was every seat filled, but the aisles were packed also. The church was tastefully decorated with flags, bunting and flowers, and many have remarked that the church never looked better than that day. The choir sang two anthems, "Praise the Lord," and "Zion awake." Mr. Marble took for his subject "Christian heroism," and for his text "Endure hardness as a good soldier of Jesus Christ": 2 Timothy, 2:3. He alluded to what we are indebted to the soldier for, and carried out the points of analogy between the soldier's life and the Christian's life. After defining heroism and what it means to be a true hero, he gave as examples the life of Christ and Paul, and such men in the army as Grant and Sheriden and Sherman, with special reference to the heroism of the private soldier, exhorting people to illustrate in reformatory movement and church work the courage and spirit which animated the soldiers of the civil war.

BELCHERTOWN.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Warner are to move into the house occupied by Miss Nellie Rice.

Col. William Olin of Boston and his mother will be the guests of Capt. and Mrs. Anderson over Memorial Day.

The history of the 57th Massachusetts Regiment, written by Capt. John Anderson of this place, is now in the hands of the publishers, and is pronounced by the state historian "to be the best manuscript history that passed through his hands, and better than any printed regimental history, unless it be that of the 54th Massachusetts."

GLENDALE.

W. A. Royce is building a new wagon shed.

There will be a picnic and entertainment at the church July fourth.

George Edson has moved into the house vacated by George Calkins.

Herbert Calkins has accepted a position with the Overman Wheel Co. as draughtsman.

Miss Mary Hancock of Chicopee has been visiting at Mrs. Blanchard's.

Mrs. E. M. Edson, who has been suffering from nervous prostration, is improving.

The boys are organizing a baseball nine. They expect to cross bats with the North Wilbraham team on the home ground July fourth.

WEST WARREN.

Mrs. Oney St. Germain is seriously ill.

John Welch, living on the Brimfield road, is seriously ill.

Mrs. Fuller of Bondsville is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Charles Crouch.

Presiding Elder Thorndike will preach in the M. E. church next Wednesday evening.

The road from No. 4 to West Warren, through the "Narrows," is to be lighted by electricity.

S. Morton of Webster is the new agent at the Boston and Albany station, in place of G. B. Anslow.

Mrs. G. A. Barton, Jr., and daughter of Millbury are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gilbert.

Rev. W. H. Dockham of Florence made a visit among his friends in town Monday, returning on Tuesday. He made the journey on his wheel.

HAMPDEN.

Mrs. Francis Corey is at the Springfield hospital, where she has been operated on for a tumor, and is doing well.

Mrs. John Kenworthy was last Saturday taken to Dr. Dean's private hospital in Springfield. Her case is quite serious.

The Alpha club of Springfield gave a concert in the Congregational church Monday evening. It was a rare treat, and worthy of a much larger house.

Sidney Chapin has bought of Mrs. Ariel Spaulding her farm on the Somers road and has moved there, having sold his farm on the Wilbraham road to S. P. Boland of Springfield.

The Baptist society has put in a curbing and returfed the lawn around their church, which is quite an improvement. This society has received quite a windfall in the shape of the homestead of Mrs. Emily Scripter for a parsonage. The house is pleasantly situated, and there is some mowing and pasture and woodland connected therewith. The house was built by the late Eleazer Scripter, and has been occupied by Mrs. Scripter since his death, until advancing years has made it necessary for her to reside with her daughter, Mrs. George Wilkins of Hudson, and so she gives her home to the Baptist society, whose interests are so dear to her heart.

BRIMFIELD.

Mrs. N. S. Hubbard is visiting in Boston.

Oscar F. Brown has sold the Walker place to Dexter Daniels.

Mrs. James Marsh of Maynard is visiting a few of her old acquaintances in town.

Louis Moffard of New York is to spend the summer with his aunt, Mrs. Porter A. Parker.

F. L. Thayer of Boston has been visiting his sister and nephew, Mrs. L. H. Parker and Fred F. Parker.

Mrs. Chamberlain is having her house and barn painted. Herbert Benson and Mr. Miller are doing the work.

Misses Ellen and Mary Warren of Worcester arrived at their summer residence Tuesday for an indefinite stay.

Mrs. Charles Sawin of Worcester, accompanied by her brother, Mr. Marsh from Iowa, are guests of her son, Dr. Sawin.

Frank Hitchcock is having a new house built on the site of the one that was burned two years ago. John Farrell is the contractor.

Real estate trades seem to be booming just at present. Clifton L. Gould has purchased the place known as the Barrows homestead, of Mrs. E. T. Sherman of New York.

Hitchcock High School Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the trustees of the Hitchcock free high school was held in the library room of the school building Tuesday. The trustees present from out of town were Marshall W. French of Newtonville, Henry H. Bowman of Springfield, William W. McClench of Chicopee and Salem D. Charles of Boston. George M. Hitchcock, Salem D. Charles and Charles S. Tarbell were re-elected members of the board for the ensuing term of five years. The officers of the corporation were re-elected, as follows: President, Francis D. Lincoln; vice president, Newton S. Hubbard; treasurer, W. H. Bowman; clerk, George M. Hitchcock. The members of the prudential committee are Rev. W. K. Peirce, N. S. Hubbard, T. J. Morgan, O. F. Brown and G. M. Hitchcock. George W. Earle accepted his re-appointment as principal of the school for the ensuing year. Willis T. Sparhawk and Mrs. Earle resigned their positions as assistants.

WILBRAHAM.

Field Day at the Academy.

Wesleyan Academy held its annual field day last Friday on Bolles track. The track was in very poor condition, and a heavy wind, directly in the faces of the competitors, made the time slow in most of the track events. The school records for one mile and one-half mile bicycle races were broken, however, also the record for putting shot. The events were as follows:

100-dards dash—Won by H. T. Nooney; R. E. Clark, 2d; time, 11⅓s.

Pole vault—Won by Thomas Coots; C. W. Clark, 2d; hight, 8ft.

120-yards hurdle—Won by C. W. Brown; James Davis, 2d; time, 20⅓s.

Standing broad jump—Won by R. E. Clark; Brown, 2d; distance, 9ft. 11in.

220-yards dash—Won by H. T. Nooney; Bauchelle, 2d; time, 25⅗s.

Running high jump—Won by R. E. Clark; Brown, 2d; distance, 5ft. 2½in.

Half-mile run—Won by F. Bidwell; A. S. Buckley, 2d; time, 2m 26⅗s.

Half-mile bicycle race—Won by P. C. Webber; W. K. Carpenter, 2d; time, 1m 7⅘s.

Putting 16-pound shot—Won by James Davis; C. W. Brown, 2d; distance, 31ft 4½in.

Quarter-mile run—Won by Nooney; Clark, 2d; time, 58s.

Throwing 12-pound hammer—Won by Brown; Staeper, 2d; distance, 92ft.

Running broad jump—Won by R. E Clark; Brown, 2d; distance, 19ft 1in.

220-yards hurdle—Won by J. F. Bauchelle; Corscaden, 2d; time, 30s.

Mile bicycle race—Won by P. C. Webber; W. R. Carpenter, 2d; time, 2m 35⅘s.

Mile run—Won by Bidwell; Buckley, 2d; time, 5m 26s.

70th Anniversary of Wesleyan Academy Old Club Society.

"Old Club," the oldest of the four debating societies of Wesleyan academy, will celebrate the 70th anniversary of its existence by a reunion on the afternoon and evening of June 17. Rev. Russell H. Conwell has been engaged as the speaker of the occasion, and Rev. Dr. William Rice of Springfield will preside. The addresses will be in the afternoon, and in the evening an informal reception will be held. Among those expected to be present are Gen. A. P. Martin of Boston, Chester C. Corbin, M. Wells Bridge of Springfield, and many others. The call is signed by T. Livingston, C. W. Brown, F. P. Webber and J. M. Milne of '97, and H. A. Day of '98.

WARREN.

E. L. Fosket has his new double house on Elm street up and the roof on.

The Tuesday club met with Mrs. Demond on Bacon street Tuesday afternoon.

C. H. Buck and family of Boston are visiting Mr. Buck's sister, Mrs. D. E. Penfield.

The body of Mrs. Charles Baker was brought to Warren for burial Tuesday afternoon.

The dance given by "The Owls" will be in Brigham's Hall to-night, instead of last Friday.

The funeral of Mrs. Etta Pierce Shea was attended from her father's home Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Fairbanks are opening their Main street residence, which has been closed during the winter.

The Union association of Universalists will meet in Springfield June 2d and 3d. A very attractive programme is arranged.

Mrs. Aaron King of Nashua, N. H., was the guest of Mrs. George Shumway last Sabbath, and has been spending the week in New York with Mr. and Mrs. Shumway.

The King's Daughters were very delightfully entertained at the home of Miss Edith Blodgett, on Coy's Hill, Friday afternoon.

The memorial service in the town hall Sunday evening called out a large audience. The speeches were excellent, and the vocal and instrumental music was very pleasing.

Flag poles have been erected on the high school grounds and the Maple street grounds, and hereafter the flags will be displayed from these and not from the poles on the buildings.

The selectmen have had a consultation with the electric road officials in regard to the bridge over the railroad on East Main street, and the bridge over the river near T. E. Gould's grist mill.

There will be a garden party and sale next Monday from 3 to 10 p. m. at the residence of Mrs. E. F. Strickland, for the benefit of the M. E. parsonage. Cake, lemonade and fancy articles will be for sale.

The F. M. T. S. ball nine will play the Bondsvilles to-morrow on the Southbridge street grounds at 10.15 a. m. Sullivan and Shea will be the battery for the Bondvilles, and Cunningham and Bergen for the Warrens.

The Methodists and Congregationalists will hold a union vesper service Sunday evening in the Congregational church. The singing will be led by the united choirs of both churches, and there will be violin solos by a Worcester musician.

William E. Nichols and Miss Mattie V., oldest daughter of H. M. Converse, were married last evening quietly at the home of the bride's parents on School street by Rev. H. G. Hale. Mr. Nichols has been employed for several years at Graves's jewelry store.

The Central Mass. Electric Co. has begun work on putting in the additional street lights voted at the last town meeting. It is understood that about eight arc lights and several incandescents will be put in at this village, mostly on the outskirts, where there are no lights.

Charles F. Waters and Alice Mary, oldest daughter of Isaac Hellyar, were married at the home of the bride's parents on West Main street Wednsday evening by Rev. A. R. Nichols. Mr. Waters was formerly employed as pattern maker at the Knowles pump works, but is now working in Waterbury, Ct.

The Boston and Albany railroad has been strengthening the bridge across East Main street, but there are many of the citizens who still consider it unsafe in its present condition for the electrics to use. Possibly on this account the town may refuse to allow the track to be laid over it. A large portion of rock from the gold mine fell onto the road early this week, so there is to be more blasting there. The road is well under way between South and West Brookfield.

Memorial Day Programme.

The following will be the order for the observance of Memorial Day to-morrow. The comrades will assemble at the post hall at 8 a. m., and at 9 the column will form as follows:

Warren Cornet Band.
Boys' Brigade.
Post 65, G. A. R.
School Children.
Woman's Relief Corps in Carriages.

At the cemetery there will be singing by school children, prayer by Rev. H. G. Hale, music by the band, reading of orders, Grand Army exercises, decoration of the graves, singing by the school children, and benediction by Rev. N. L. Porter. The line will then re-form and march to the Catholic cemetery, where the graves will be decorated. The march will then be to the soldiers' monument, where there will be prayer by Rev. A. R. Nichols, exercises by the G. A. R., the relief corps will decorate the monument and the children will sing "America."

The following is a list of the dead comrades, with their company and regiment so far as known, and the date of their death:

Carrie E. Cutter, nurse in the 21st Mass. Infantry. 1862.
William P. Butterworth, 34th N. Y. Vols. 1862.
C. E. Barnes, Co. H, 15th Mass. Infantry.
Albert N. Bliss, Co. K, 42d Mass. Infantry. 1863.
George E. Olds. 1865.
John H Taylor, 1865.
Harvey D. Stone, Co. I, 34th Mass. Infantry. 1865.
Roswell L. Stone, Co. G, 2d Mass. Infantry. 1865.
Calvin Cutter, surgeon 21st Mass. Infantry. 1872.
Joseph A. Anoney, Co. D, 25th Mass. Infantry. 1874.
Wilson C. Burbank, Co. F, 60th Mass. Infantry. 1874.
William G. Marshall, Co. D., 34th Mass. Infantry. 1874.
Harvey S. Carpenter, Conn. 1875.
Marshall Bliss, navy. 1875.
Luther B. Healey, Co. E, 1st Mass. Heavy Artillery, 1878.
Eli Strickland, Co. A, 46th Mass. Infantry.
C. A. Woodworth, Co. D, 20th Mass. Infantry.
Luther Gilbert, 6th Mass. Battery.
Charles H. Crossman, Co. F, 60th Mass. Infantry. 1882.
Samuel G. Armour.
George Dodge. 1883.
Theophilis Royce, Conn. Vols.
S. D. Pierce, Co. K, 27th Mass. Infantry. 1875.
H. J. Nichols, Co. A, 1st N. H. Infantry. 1882
Charles K. New. 1884
Ralph Preston, Co. F, 15th Mass. Infantry.
George H. Crouch, Co. G, 2d Mass. Infantry. 1887.
James Riley. 1888.
Henry H. Hitchcock, Co. G, 46th Mass. Infantry.
Almon K. Caswell, Co. I, 34th Mass. Infantry. 1890.
Enoch C. Morgan, Co. E, 21st Mass. Infantry.
George E. Pepper, Co. E, 36th Mass. Infantry.
James Crawford, 1892.
J. Henry Moore, navy. 1892.
Marcus Hennebry. 1892.
Austin H. Doane. 1893.
John W. Shepard, Co. K, 42d Mass. Infantry. 1894.
Charles Upham, Co. G, 46th Mass. Infantry. 1894.
William C. Hitchcock, Co. H, 42d Mass. Infantry. 1894.
C. W. Marsh, Co. F, 15th Mass. Infantry. 1894.
Giles Blodgett, Co. K. 42d Mass. Infantry. 1895.
Joseph W. Hastings, surgeon 33d Mass. Infantry. 1895.

WARE.

As has been the custom for several years, the Sons of Veterans are to trim the soldiers' monument at Aspen Grove cemetery.

Frank E. Woodbury, who has been the janitor at the Beaver Lake club house this season, has skipped, leaving many bills which he had contracted unpaid.

Rev. James Boyle delivered an eloquent address to the G. A. R., W. R. C. and S. of V., at All Saints' church last Sunday morning. The services were well attended.

It is understood that the landlord has apologized and told Mrs. Harty that she might remain, so the restaurant is now open for business as before the attempted eviction.

The naptha laundry has been moved from West street to the store in McMahon's block recently occupied by Miss Canavan's millinery store. A stock of ready-made clothing is also to be carried.

Pliny H. Babbitt of Barre paid an official visit to the local G. A. R. post Tuesday evening. He was accompanied by several members of the Barre post Refreshments were served, and a very pleasant evening was spent.

William J. Volk's new hotel, the Storr's House, was opened to the public on Wednesday evening, and the premises were inspected by a large number of citizens. Supper was served in the dining room to about fifty invited guests.

Lawyer John H. Schoonmaker will give an interesting talk to the Sons of Veterans on loyalty at the entertainment in the Blue Ribbon League rooms on Wednesday evening. There were banjo duets by Misses Moody and Dean.

Memorial exercises are to be held in the town hall this evening, which will be attended by the pupils of the public schools. Short addresses will be delivered by Henry C. Davis, H. M. Coney, Rev. James Boyle, Rev. A. C. White and Rev. J. T. Sheehan.

Miss Mattie R. Howell, soprano, is to sing at the Sunday evening service in the East Congregational church. The selections are to be, "With verdure clad," from the creation, by Hayden; "Jesus, lover of my soul," Macdougall; "Take my life and let it be," Schnecker.

No. 4 hose company has been practicing to enter the hose contest at Brookfield tomorrow. It has some good runners and will stand a fair chance of winning a prize. When it comes to our fire department and firemen, surrounding towns have to hustle to beat them.

The school committee has chosen Charles Falconer, at present principal of the high school at Georgetown, principal of the Ware high school, the salary to be $1500. Mr. Falconer is 35 years old and married, and a graduate of Edinburg university in Scotland. F. D. Farnsworth, the present principal, who recently resigned, has accepted a position as as teacher in Sanborne Seminary.

The several Masonic lodges of the 17th district, Monson excepted, met here on Wednesday at 9.45 a. m. for the exemplification of the work and lectures of the three degrees. D. D. G. M., W. S. Clarke of Granby and the grand instructor, Chauncey E. Peck of Wilbraham, were present, and about 60 brethren. The first degree was worked by Quaboag of Warren and lectured by Bethel of Enfield; the second by Thomas of Palmer and Mt. Zion of Barre; the third by Vernon of Belchertown and Eden of Ware.

The reservoir has this week received a thorough cleansing, and the street mains opened to clear them. Animalcule had been found in nearly all parts of the town, and in some places they were very abundant, especially near the reservoir, showing that they were bred in the reservoir where the water is not in circulation. The water when it comes from the well is of the finest quality, equalled in a very few places in the state. Specimens have been sent to the state board of health for analysis. The opening of the cross pipe between Church and North streets will make the circulation in that vicinity much better, and make the chances less for any animal life to be created.

At the special town meeting last evening in the town hall Hon. Lewis N. Gilbert was moderator. The attendance was fair, but lacked many of the sensible villagers and the farmers. The appropriations were $600 to complete the street leading to the new shoe shop, $120 for electric lights on Morse avenue and opposite the entrance to Aspen Grove cemetery, and $300 for flushing sewers, etc. The article to rescind the vote of the town in relation to free sewer entrance called out much spirited debate. Representatives of the Otis company were of course greatly in favor of free entrance, and did strong work for it. It is surely unjust to make the poor man, who has already paid for the privilege of entering, pay high taxes to pay for the construction of the sewers when the corporations and other rich ones are given their entrance free. The vote was nearly three to one, but it surely cannot be that it represented the sentiment of the farmers and taxpayers of the town.

LEGISLATIVE MATTERS.

BOSTON, May 27, 1896.

The redistricting bill made its first stage in the House in quick time, but after a spurt of fiery opposition from Mr. Krebs of Boston, who said that the senatorial arrangement in Boston was "the most infamous gerrymander in the history of the state." He is put into a strong Democratic district, and that is the retort which is made to his charge, but his amendment to correct the lines had the support of such leading Republicans as Myers of Cambridge, Lowell of Boston, Clarke of Wellesley, Brown of Everett, and though they had only 30 votes to 79, yet they might have carried the House, probably, if they had all pulled together. Amendments were proposed for Lowell and Lawrence, but the committee made a good defense and they were rejected. The complaint in Boston is that districts are made of about 2000 difference in legal voters, and that one district is composed of wards which have no connection with each other, save under the water of the South Cove.

The House stood by the redistricting bill on its second stage with the same unanimity it had shown on the first, although renewed efforts were made to defeat it. All of the changes which were proposed on the first stage were moved again on the second, and one more, to put Reading into the Middlesex-Essex district. But only a few votes were given for any amendment. The determination to stick to the bill was too strong to be overcome, and doubtless foreshadows the action taken by the Senate. Though there are places in the scheme which are open to criticism, yet there is no such objection as was raised to the bill of 1886, and the people will doubtless accept this in peace.

The last appearance of the half-mill school tax bill was in the House on Wednesday afternoon. The committee on ways and means had reported against it unanimously, and the dissenters on the education committee who prepared the bill were voted down, after a gallant struggle, by 46 yeas to 37 nays for rejecting the bill.

Great events crowd into the closing weeks of the Legislature this year, just as they have always done, no matter how the managers of the business contrive the work of the House and Senate. Tuesday saw an unusual amount of important action. The rare event occurred of the adoption of an order to bring a man before the bar of the house for contempt. This man is Henry N. Bates, who is wanted as a witness in the Norfolk county court house investigation, and who refused to tell the committee what they wanted to know. Then, too, the House performed the strange feat of substituting the Whitney pipe line bill for the bill for the benefit of Mr. Bailey of Billerica, who wants to go into the gas business for the whole people, and the same as Mr. Whitney, only putting the Bailey incorporators in the place of the Whitney incorporators, and then passed the bill to be engrossed. In the Senate, the original Whitney bill was passed to be engrossed in the exact form in which it came from the House, thus obviating the necessity of returning for amendments and making the enactment of the bill all the more easy. Now it remains for the lieutenant governor to see whether or not he should sign this bill which confers such immense powers upon any one corporation. It would seem as if the entire local field of Boston was enough for any man of reasonable ambition for the purpose of experimenting. If he has got such an immense boon for mankind, it will be time to distribute after it has been proved to be such. Meantime, it would be well to make trial of these wonderful processes which are to revolutionize the price of gas. Perhaps by the time Whitney gets the state piped we shall all be using Tesla tubes, which give an intense white light by passing electricity through a vacuum, as described this week in the papers.

The forecasting of offices for the House for next year has begun already. It is more certain than is usual in such cases that Mr. Bates of Boston will be the next speaker. At the Republican legislative dinner Monday evening, Speaker Meyer said that he should not serve another term, and the current opinion sets toward Bates strongly. He will make a good speaker. The error made in the election of a clerk in the House has been evident throughout the session, and some of the leading Republican members of the House think it doubtful whether Mr. Sleeper can secure another election. The assistant, James W. Kimball of Lynn, has warm support and will be a candidate. He is the better qualified man for the place, but the one man in the state who should be elected is the late clerk, McLaughlin.

The bringing of Henry N. Bates before the bar of the House on Wednesday forenoon was of dramatic interest. The sergeant-at-arms, Capt. Adams, tall and with twice his usual dignity, led the prisoner down to the area in front of the speaker's desk. The pair remained standing during the first part of the proceedings, a stenographer being seated close to them to catch what the accused had to say. Later, while they were discussing what to do with him, he sat. The case was not as complicated as might have been expected. There were two questions why he refused to answer two particular questions of the Norfolk county investigating committee, and then one more upon each of these, whether he were willing to answer them. To the former he replied that he refused by advice of his counsel. To the latter, he said that he could not tell his business affairs, but he would give the information to the committee privately. The House seemed to know no distinction of that sort, and Speaker Meyer pressed him to answer yes or no, when the protests against violating the private rights of a man were heeded and a substitute question was submitted whether he was willing that the committee should make public anything which he might tell them which they thought to be of public interest. Acting under the advice of counsel, he said yes, and was discharged from custody.

The Whitney pipe line bill was passed to be enacted in the House early Wednesday afternoon, and was enacted in the Senate soon after without opposition. Thus it goes to the governor, pushed forward with a solicitude which does not often attach to public bills. The Senate also passed to be engrossed the bill for a new south union station in Boston. It was amended in two material particulars, but in a way acceptable to the railroad companies, and there is no doubt that the House will put it through in about the same form. This Legislature seems to be well disposed to large schemes of capital, and the fact that the railroads and the business men of Boston want the bill, makes the opposition of the South Boston people of comparatively little consequence. The bill is going through, and those who object to it must get it modified, if they can, but they cannot defeat it.

The rumors of corrupt influence have finally crystallized in a statement of Senator Sanger of Suffolk, that, in the case of the bill to regulate the affairs of the assessment life insurance companies, which is aimed at the Massachusetts Benefit Association and the Bay State Beneficiary Association, a senator had been offered a retainer upon a matter which was to come before the Senate. So serious a matter as this will surely be exposed, if possible, for there is no concern about which the members, and the people also, are more sensitive than their legislative honor.

LANDON.

Broadhurst Bros. shoe store has a large trade from this section, which it richly deserves. They have studied to meet all the wants of different sorts of shoes and pay particular attention to the class who suffer from any tenderness of the toe joints, corns and bunions. Their place of business is 376 Main street, Springfield.

For every quarter in a man's pocket there are a dozen uses; and to use each one in such a way as to derive the greatest benefit is a question every one must solve for himself. We believe, however, that no better use could be made of one of these quarters than to exchange it for a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, a medicine that every family should be provided with. For sale by O. P. Allen, Palmer; Paige & Mason, Three Rivers; G. L. Keeney, Monson; A. P. Adams, Thorndike; William Kennedy, Ware.

Always in season, Hopkins' Steamed Hominy (Hulled Corn). Elegant lunch in milk. Qt. can, 10c.

Mr. D. P. Davis, a prominent liverymen and merchant of Goshen, Va., has this to say on the subject of rheumatism: "I take pleasure in recommending Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism, as I know from personal experience that it will do all that is claimed for it. A year ago this spring my brother was laid up in bed with inflammatory rheumatism and suffered intensely. The first application of Chamberlain's Pain Balm eased the pain, and the use of one bottle completely cured him. For sale by O. P. Allen, Palmer; Paige & Mason, Three Rivers; G. L. Keeney, Monson; A. P. Adams, Thorndike; William Kennedy, Ware.

How to Treat a Wife.
(From Pacific Health Journal.)

First, get a wife; second be patient. You may have great trials and perplexities in your business, but do not therefore, carry to your home a cloudy or contracted brow. Your wife may have trials, which, though of less magnitude, may be hard for her to bear. A kind word, a tender look, will do wonders in chasing from her brow all clouds of gloom. To this we would add, always keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. It is the best and is sure to be needed sooner or later. Your wife will then know that you really care for her and wish to protect her health. For sale by O. P. Allen, Palmer; Paige & Mason, Three Rivers; G. L. Keeney, Monson; A. P. Adams, Thorndike; William Kennedy, Ware.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER.

ABSOLUTELY PURE.

A cream of tartar Baking Powder. Highest of all in leavening power.—Latest United States Government Food Report.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall Street, New York.

Forbes & Wallace's,
Springfield.

10,000 Yards of Cheney Bros. 75c and $1 Asiatic Printed India Silks At 37 1-2c a Yard.

Incredible! you say.

No! But the most astounding truth you've heard for some time. The general depression in trade has induced Cheney Bros. to seek a market, and we have captured ten thousand yards of their best quality Asiatic Printed India Silks that have been 75c and $1 a yard, with some $1.25 patterns to sell at 37 1-2 Cents a Yard.

The quality is superb. The patterns—how shall we tell of the patterns? Light and dark—for ball, evening, entertainment, reception and street wear. There is navy, and brown, and myrtle, and cream, and old rose, and pearl, and nile, and mais, and ciel, and turquoise, and salmon, and pink, and fawn, and tan grounds, with patterns of delicate floral traceries, lovely sprigs of spring blossoms, and Dresden, Persian, Arabesque, Turkish, Italian and Spanish effects.

Get here as quick as you can. You know you will have to be quick for such a bargain.

Forbes & Wallace,
Main, Vernon and Pynchon streets,
Springfield, Mass.

Don't think because you are sick and nothing seems to give you relief that you can't be cured.

There must be a cure for you somewhere.

If your doctor can't cure you, perhaps he has mistaken the case. Any body is liable to make a mistake sometimes.

One in three of us suffer from indigestion, and one out of three dyspeptics doesn't know it. That is, he may know he is sick, but he blames it to something else.

Indigestion is the cause of half of our dangerous diseases.

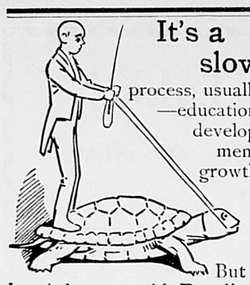
Shaker Digestive Cordial, made from tonic medicinal roots and herbs, is the most natural cure for indigestion. It relieves the symptoms and cures the disease gently, naturally, efficiently, giving fresh life, strength and health to sick dyspeptics.

At druggists. A trial bottle for 10.

TROUSER TALK!

Special ◆ Prices ◆ Now.

◆◆◆◆◆◆◆



It's a slow process, usually —education, development, growth.

But it hasn't been so with Pearline. Pearline's success has been a wonder, from the start. The more so when you consider the many imitations which claim to make washing easy. These things tend to confuse people. They're forced on the public by peddlers, prizes, substitution, etc. No doubt they're often thought to be the same as Pearline. We protest. Don't judge Pearline by the company it has to keep. 471

KIDNEY DISEASE,

Liver Complaint and Stomach Troubles Cured, Says W. A. Johnson, of

MILLER'S FALLS, MASS.

"At different times during the past thirteen years," says Mr. W. A. Johnson of Millers Falls, Mass., "my wife has been sick from kidney and liver complaint and ulceration of the stomach. Each time she has taken Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and it cured her. It is a family medicine with us and many of our neighbors."

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

has effected cures after physicians had given up hope. It restores the liver to a healthy condition, and cures the worst case of constipation. It is a certain cure for all diseases peculiar to females, and affords great protection from attacks that originate in change of life. It cures scrofula, salt rheum, rheumatism, dyspepsia, all kidney, bladder and urinary diseases, gravel, diabetes and Bright's disease. In this last disease it has cured where all else failed. All druggists.

POSTAL

Telegraph and Cable Co.

Office in Holden's Block,

PALMER, : : : : MASS.

Direct wires to New York and Boston. Office in all the principal cities in the

UNITED STATES.

PROMPT SERVICE,

REASONABLE RATES,

ALL BUSINESS

STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL

CARRIAGES.

I have in stock a large and complete line of fine and medium grade carriages.

Top carriages, - - $50 to $350
Open carriages, - - $40 to $200
150 second-hand carriages, $5 to $150

DELIVERY WAGONS OF ALL KINDS.

I have the right styles and low prices.

W. H. SMITH,

2 Park Street, Springfield.

LARRABEE'S RHEUMATIC LINIMENT

A standard and sovereign household remedy for over half a century. It is a wonderful curative agent in all painful diseases, such as

Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuralgia, Backache, Catarrh, Toothache,

and other painful ailments. To be had of all druggists, or by mail on receipt of 25 cents. Trade supplied by Geo. C. Goodwin & Co., or any wholesale druggist.

WINKLEMANN & BROWN DRUG CO.
BALTIMORE, MD., U. S. A.

Horse Blankets.

A full line, for both stable

.....and street use.....

375 BLANKETS IN STOCK.

PRICES RIGHT.

D. W. Foskit,

Foskit's Mills.

EYES EXAMINED FREE.

Dr. Vineberg, Refraction Specialist,

wishes to inform sufferers of headache or nervous complaints arising from defective vision, can be cured by having glasses properly fitted to the eyes.

247 Main Street, - Springfield, Mass.

F. F. MARCY, PALMER, MASS.
Wholesale and Retail Dealer in

ALL KINDS OF LUMBER AND SHINGLES

Windows, doors, blinds, mouldings. Carpenters' and joiners' work done to order.

Also FIRE BRICK and CLAY for sale.

Yard and shop at junction of B. & A. and N. L. N. Y. Railroads—west of Depot.

C. H. HOBBY, PIANO TUNER.

Orders for tuning may be left at O. P. Allen's drug store, Palmer; or may be sent to me by mail to Mansfield, Ct.

THAT JOB OF PRINTING. There's no better place at which to get it done than the JOURNAL Office. Experienced workmen, skilled in every branch of the art.

Like Grannie Always Made.

You may trail this country over
From the Rockies to the sea;
You may look in every corner
With a manner bold and free;
You may search each pantry cupboard,
Sup wherever cloth is laid;
But you won't find cakes of buckwheat
Like your grannie always made.

At Delmonico's some evening
You may banquet with a friend;
Or at Casey's famous table
You may feed at Red Horse Bend;
You may eat the lucious possum,
Cherry pie or Johnnie cake;
But they don't match cakes of buckwheat
Like your grannie used to make.

There's a picture that comes stealing
Up from out the by-gone days,
Through the misty years a-creeping,
Like a sunbeam through the haze,—
I can see my grannie smiling,
While I smack my lips and take Another hunk of buckwheat,
Like she always used to make.

I have known old friends to falter
When my luck was going wrong,
And I've tasted of the bitter,
When the dregs were pretty strong;
But wherever I have journeyed,
In whatever luck I've played,
I have never tasted fodder
Like my grannie always made.

—Walter M. Hazeltine, in the Somerville Journal.

AMONG THE PARAGRAPHERS.

Here lies the body of Mary Ann,
Who rests in the bosom of Abraham,
It's all very nice for Mary Ann,
But it's mighty tough on Abraham.

—Anon.

A bell rung mades more noise than the ladder rung.—Boston Transcript.

Teacher—"Why did Joshua cause the sun to stand still?" Tommy—"I guess it didn't agree with his watch."—Indianapolis Journal.

He—"I never object to my wife having the last word." She—"You don't." He—"No; I cry with delight when she gets to it."—Exchange.

Poet (to editor)—"I send you a poem, 'Why do I live?' Please answer." Editor—"Because you send your poem by mail."—Texas Siftings.

"What do you suppose it is that gives Miss Warp's bloomers such a peculiar outward curve?" "I think it is Miss Warp."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

She sat on the steps at eventide, enjoying the balmy air. He came, and asked: "May I sit by your side?" and she gave him a vacant stair.—Unidentified.

The man who takes a dog out hunting with him cannot help feeling glad sometimes when he comes home, that the beast is dumb.—Somerville Journal.

First actor—"There ought to be a souvenir performance to-morrow night." Second actor—"Why?" First actor—"It will be the fiftieth performance since we got our salaries."—Puck.

Brown, to Jones, who had just returned from a week's fishing excursion—"Did you have good luck, Jones?" Jones (with disgust)—"Good luck? I had an ace full beat twice."—Harlem Life.

Tommy, you didn't come to school yesterday afternoon." "No'm, there wuz a circus in town, an' paw an' maw, an' Aunt Caddie, an' Uncle Tom, an' Cousin Bob all wanted to take me."—Chicago Record.

"But I am so unworthy, darling," he murmured, as he held the dear girl's hand in his. "Oh, George, she sighed. If you and papa agreed on every other point as you do on that, how happy we could be."—Truth.

Mr. Emancipus—"There is one good thing. New women can never become anglomaniacs." Mrs. Emancipus—"Why not?" Mr. Emancipus—"You can't turn your bloomers up at the bottoms."—Brooklyn Life.

"If people go to the opera to show their clothes—" he began. "Yes?" she said, inquiringly. "If people go to the opera to show their clothes," he repeated, "I should think some of them would wear more of them than they do."—Chicago Post.

An Oversight.—Mr. Crusty—"Where's my change?" Waiter—"Dar ain't no change, boss; dat's mah tip." Mr. Crusty—"But I didn't tell you you could have it." Waiter—"Oh! dat's all right, boss; I'se forgetful, mahself, sometimes."—Puck.

"I can overlook his past," sighed the grieved young woman, after a careful inspection of the ring she had just received from her lover, "but I own I am bitterly disappointed with his present." The diamond was paste.—Chicago Tribune.

"Matrimony," said the Cumminsville sage, "is merely a matter of one letter. Before he gets her he yearns for her, and after, he earns for her. That is all. The class may now go home and split the wood for its suppers."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

His First Impression.—"That umbrella you lent me yesterday," said the man who had just come into the office. "Yes." "Here it is. I came to return it." "Dear me!" was the absent-minded reply. "I had no idea it was in such bad condition as all that."—Mexico City Herald.

"What has become of Tom Appleton? Wasn't he studying with the class last year?" "Ah, yes; Appleton—poor fellow! A fine student, but absent-minded in the use of chemicals—very. That discoloration on the ceiling—notice it?" "Yes." "That's Appleton."—Pearson's Weekly.

"Now, look here," said the professor to the infuriated bull, "you are my superior in strength. I am your superior in mind. Let us abitrate this matter, and see which should by right have the better of our controversy." "Oh, no," replied the bull; "let's toss up for it." The professor lost.—Tit-Bits.

"Oh, look at that man with a ring in his nose!" said Mrs. Snaggs to her husband. "He must be a foreigner, don't you think?" "Either a foreigner or a yachtsman," replied Mr. Snaggs. "What makes you think he may be a yachtsman?" "He has his scenter-bored!"—Pittsburg Chronicle Telegram.

Silas Wayback (fishing for spring suckers, impatiently)—"Suckers air gittin' skercer every spring. Wouldn't wonder if they run aout 'fore long." Uncle Bunker(knowingly)—"Doan't yew b'leeve it. When I secured this $2 ile silk fish-line for $1.98 at York I heerd th' clerk tell a chap that thar wuz a sucker born every minnit."—Judge.

A little maiden of seven years attended the wedding of an elderly brother. The Episcopal service, heard for the first time, made a deep impression on her mind. A few days after she called to see the bride and found her sitting on her husband's lap. Looking at them wistfully for a few moments, she exclaimed: "Oh, yes; I see—To have and to hold."—New York Journal.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, } ss.
LUCAS COUNTY.

FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of CATARRH that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

{SEAL} A. W. GLEASON
Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

☞Sold by Druggists, 75c.

That

Extreme tired feeling afflicts nearly everybody at this season. The hustlers cease to push, the tireless grow weary, the energetic become enervated. You know just what we mean. Some men and women endeavor temporarily to overcome that

Tired

Feeling by great force of will. But this is unsafe, as it pulls powerfully upon the nervous system, which will not long stand such strain. Too many people "work on their nerves," and the result is seen in unfortunate wrecks marked "nervous prostration," in every direction. That tired

Feel-

ing is a positive proof of thin, weak, impure blood; for, if the blood is rich, red, vitalized and vigorous, it imparts life and energy to every nerve, organ and tissue of the body. The necessity of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for that tired feeling is, therefore, apparent to every one, and the good it will do you is equally beyond question. Remember that

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills are easy to take, easy to operate. 25 cents.

ASSUMING THE HUSBAND'S NAME.—The practice of the wife assuming the husband's name at marriage, according to Dr. Brewer, originated from a Roman custom and became the common custom after the Roman occupation. Thus Julia and Octavia, married to Pompey and Cicero, were called by the Romans Julia of Pompey, Octavia of Cicero, and in latter times married women in most European countries signed their names in the same manner, but omitted the "of." Against this view it may be mentioned that during the 16th, and even at the beginning of the 17th century, the usage seems doubtful, since we find Catherine Parr so signing herself after she had been twice married, and we always hear of Lady Jane Grey (not Dudley), Arabella Stuart (not Seymour), etc. Some persons think that the custom originated from the scriptural teaching that husband and wife are one. This was the rule or law so far back as Bracton (died 1268), and it was decided in the case of Bon versus Smith, in the reign of Elizabeth, that a woman by marriage loses her former name and legally receives the name of her husband. Altogether, the custom is involved in much obscurity.

NONE SUCH MINCE MEAT

makes mince pies, fruit cake and pudding possible all the year 'round. Always fresh, always in season. Always good, that's the reason. Accept no substitute. Sold everywhere.

Send name and address for booklet, "Mrs. Pop-kins' Thanksgiving," by a noted humorous writer.

MERRELL-SOULE CO.,
Syracuse, N. Y.

consumption reaps his richest harvest where diseases of the throat and lungs are neglected.

HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR

If you have ever tried Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar you know what a safeguard it is against throat and lung troubles. Sold by druggists.

Pike's Toothache Drops cure in one minute.

One of the Few certainties in treating disease is counter irritation—the effect, usually, of plasters. But Johnson's Belladonna Plaster is more than a mere excitant of the skin; it relieves and cures also by the absorption of its medicinal properties. Hence the sureness and thoroughness of the relief it gives. There are other good plasters, but this is the best. And the best is what we want. The genuine bears the Red Cross. Look for it.

JOHNSON & JOHNSON,
Manufacturing Chemists, New York.

GET OUTSIDE SOME GLASSES OF THAT ICE COLD SODA.

You will realize that there is some good left in life after all, and something to look forward to when you have had one glass, you will want another, and still another—sometime at least. So much for the pleasure of life. The necessities you will find amongst our things, and medicines to dispose of that disagreeable feeling which may be worse to-morrow if neglected. For all of which call at

ALLEN'S DRUG STORE,
Holden's Block, Palmer.

Drs. Hudson & Barden

fill teeth without pain.

Where it is necessary to remove teeth we

EXTRACT ◆ WITHOUT ◆ PAIN

in 95 per cent of cases.

Gold and Porcelain Crowns and Bridge Work. . . . .

Lady in attendance. Take elevator.
DRS. HUDSON & BARDEN,
307 Main Street, Springfield, Mass.

A NICE NEW LINE OF SAMPLES OF FOLDERS.

FOR DANCE PROGRAMS, INVITATIONS, MENUS, ETC.

PINEST ROAD-BED ON THE CONTINENT.

BOSTON & ALBANY RAILROAD.

Only Double-Track Route to the West.

ON AND AFTER DEC. 2, 1895.

Through Trains will Leave Boston as follows:

No. 7.—Day Express.

8:30 a. m.—Daily, except Sunday. Has Wagner buffet drawing-room car Boston to Albany, there connecting with through cars to all points West. Stops at Palmer 10.53 a. m.

No. 15.—Chicago Special.

10:30 a. m.—Daily. The finest train running in New England. A solid vestibuled Wagner train, comprising buffet, library and smoking car, sleeping cars and dining car Boston to Chicago, via the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern R. R., and also via Michigan Central R. R.

No. 19.—North Shore Limited.

2:00 p. m.—Daily. Has through vestibuled buffet sleeping cars Boston to Detroit and Chicago, via Michigan Central R. R. Dining car attached at Albany.

No. 23.—Cincinnati Express.

3:00 p. m.—Daily. Has through vestibuled buffet sleeping car Boston to Chicago via Lake Shore and Michigan Southern R. R., and to St. Louis and Cincinnati via Big Four Route. Stops at Palmer 5.20 p. m.

No. 9.—Pacific Express.

7:15 p. m.—Daily. Has through sleeping cars Boston to Chicago, via Michigan Central. Sleeping car Boston to Buffalo, parlor car Buffalo to Cleveland, sleeping car Cleveland to Chicago via Lake Shore & Michigan Southern.

No. 63.—Albany Express.

11:00 p. m.—Daily, except Saturday. Has sleeping car Boston to Albany. Stops at Palmer 1.46 a. m.

TRAINS LEAVE PALMER FOR BOSTON.

6 22 a. m. Accommodation.
7.32 " "
8.25 " Daily Express.
10.00 " Express, except Sunday.
11.42 " Accommodation.
1.40 p. m. Express.
3.12 " "
4.42 " Accommodation.
6.49 " Daily Express.
7.55 " Sundays only. Express.
9.03 " Express.

Time tables showing local and through service between all Stations, may be obtained at all ticket offices of this Company.
City Office, 366 Washington Street.
Station, Kneeland Street, Boston, Mass.
52-32 A. S. HANSON, Gen. Passenger Agent.

CENTRAL VERMONT RAILROAD.

NEW LONDON DIVISION.

TAKING EFFECT DECEMBER 22, 1895.

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

Leave Brattleboro, 5.40 and 10.30 a. m. and 4.25 p. m. for New London, connecting at Millers Falls with Fitchburg R. R., at Belchertown with Central Massachusetts R. R., and at Palmer with B. & A. R. R. for Worcester, Boston, Springfield, at New London with the N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R.
Leave Amherst, 7.05 a. m., 12.13 and 5.57 p. m.
Leave Palmer, 8.25 a. m., 1.50 and 7.00 p. m.
Leave Willimantic for New London, 8.25, 9.45 a. m. 3.25, 6.40 and 8.29 p. m.

GOING NORTH.

Leave New London, 5.20 and 7.40 a m, and 2.30 p. m.
The 5.20 and 7.40 a. m. and 2.30 p. m. run through to Brattleboro and make connections for the north.
Leave New London for Willimantic and intermediate stations, 10.00 a. m. and 5.25 p. m.
Leave Palmer for Brattleboro, 8.20, 11.00 a. m. and 7.10 p. m. connecting with express for Montreal. Also with Grand Trunk R. R. for the West.
Leave Palmer for Amherst, 8.20 and 11.00 a. m. and 7.10 p. m.

SUBJECT TO CHANGE WITHOUT NOTICE.

D. MACKENZIE, Supt. J. A. SOUTHARD, D. P. A.
New London, Ct.
S. W. CUMMINGS, G. P. A., St. Albans.

NEW STOCK OF TEAS. 50c, 60c, 70c, black—Call for samples.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

BOSTON & MAINE R. R.

SOUTHERN DIVISION
(CENTRAL MASSACHUSETTS)
CORRECTED TO OCTOBER 6. 1895.

TRAINS LEAVE WARE:

GOING EAST

FOR Boston—6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14, p. m Sundays 6.55 a. m.
RETURNING—leave Boston 8.45 a. m.; 1.30, 4.00 p. m. Sundays, 1.30' p. m.
FOR Worcester—6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14 p. m. Sundays, 6.55 a. m.
RETURNING—leave Worcester 9.15 a. m.; 2.25, 4.58 p. m.
FOR Oakdale, Hudson and Waltham—6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14 p. m. Sundays, 6.55 a. m.
FOR Gilbertville, Barre and Coldbrook - 6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14 p. m. Sundays, 6.55 a. m.

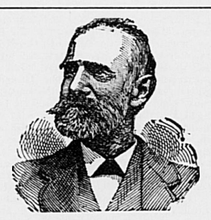
GOING WEST

FOR Bondsville, Belchertown, Pansy Park, Amherst, Hadley and Northampton, 7.15, 11.24 a. m., 4.28, 6.37 p. m. Sundays, 4. 35 p. m.
RETURNING—leave Northampton 5.55, 8.03 a. m., 2.15, 6.10 p. m. Sundays, 5.55 a. m.

D. J. FLANDERS, Gen'l. Pass'r. Agt.
W. F. BERRY Gen'l Mgr.

Young mothers dread the summer months on account of the great mortality among children caused by bowel troubles. Perfect safety may be assured those who keep on hand DeWitt's Colic and Cholera cure, and administer it promptly. For cramps, bilious colic, dysentery and diarrhoea, it affords instant relief. LeGro & Lynde.

BEVERE COFFEE—always satisfactory. Put up in red bags—only at Stone's. Chase & Sanborn Coffee.
W. E STONE, Main street, Palmer.



F. M. EAGER.

Boots and Shoes Manufactured to Measure.

REPAIRING NEATLY DONE AT SHORT NOTICE.

Dealer in Sewing Machines and Supplies.

Machines to rent or sold on monthly payments.

F. M. EAGER, PALMER.

BRADLEY'S FERTILIZERS.
E. Frank Coe's Fertilizers.
Paris Green. Flagg's Horse and Poultry Food.
W. E. STONE, Palmer and North Wilbraham.

WALL PAPERS,

MOULDINGS, ETC.,

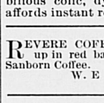
AT MASON'S, PALMER.

HIRES Rootbeer contains the best herbs, berries and roots nature makes for rootbeer making. Take no other.

Made only by The Charles E. Hires Co., Philadelphia. A 25c. package makes 5 gallons. Sold everywhere.

PARKER'S GINGER TONIC

cheats Lung Troubles, Debility, distressing stomach and female ills, and is noted for making cures when all other treatment fails. Every mother and invalid should have it.



PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists

HINDERCORNS The only sure Cure for Corns. Stops all pain. Makes walking easy. 15c. at Druggists.

WANTED---A MAN

in each county for one year to hire and superintend agents. $65 a month. State age, experience and references. Enclose stamp. THE HUBBARD CO., 1023 Filbert Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

WEDDING INVITATIONS. Engraved or printed. The latest styles and prices right. Samples on application at the JOURNAL Office. WEDDING CARDS.

"WHERE DIRT GATHERS, WASTE RULES."

GREAT SAVING RESULTS FROM THE USE OF

SAPOLIO

4-9

It cures from head to foot.

Puritana

Nature's Cure

Improper digestion causes over 92% of all suffering and diseases of the Blood, Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Nerves, Brain or Skin. Puritana renews and strengthens the of the human system, the Stomach. It makes the health right, because it makes the Stomach right.

Power Producer

It brings New Blood, New Nerve Force, New Strength, New Life.

If you are a sufferer, get of your druggist this great disease-conquering discovery (the price is $1 for the complete treatment, consisting of one bottle of Puritana, one bottle of Puritana Pills, and one bottle of Puritana Tablets, all inclosed in one package), or write to the undersigned, and you will bless the day when you heard of Puritana. The Puritana Compound Co., Concord, N. H.

W. D. KINSMAN,

Cor. Main and Bridge Sts.,

Springfield, - - Mass.

The cheerful activity, the suberb displays, the well-lighted salesrooms, and the low prices prevailing in all departments are attractive to every customer of this store. Summer dress goods and shirt waists are just now the centres of activity.

A few words about them below, with mention of other seasonable things.

Shirt Waists.

No better time than the present to lay in your season's shirt waist supply; now, before the lines become broken. We have a multitude of neat patterns—lawns, percales, dimities, chambrays, cambric and linen batistes. Stylish "West-end" make up; perfect filling, $1 to $3.75—the prices between.

Summer Dress Goods.

We have maintained all along a splendid collection of fine French organdies and mulls, sheer French nainsooks, Persian and Victoria lawns, French dimities, plain and dotted Swiss, and fine India linens. Every trimming need can be satisfied in the assortments of Italian and Normandie valenciennes laces; Point Lierre and Point de Paris laces; exquisite designs; all widths, and insertions to match.

Goods for Graduates.

Besides the above-named materials for graduation gowns, we would mention these prices, for graduation gloves: White Suede gloves, best quality, 8-button length, $1; 12-button, $1.45; 16-button, $1.85; 20-button, $2.25.

Umbrella Skirts.

More of them here, probably, than any other store in the city will show you. The styles are new this spring. The needlework about them is admirable. Excellent materials, extreme fullness and new, dainty trimmings also contribute to their superiority. Prices are $1, $1.25, $1.38, $1.50, $1.62, $1.75, $1.87, $2. $2.25, $2.50, $2.85, $3, up to $7. A few pretty styles of short skirts of umbrella shape are shown at 87c, $1 and $1.50. Corset covers, well made, well-fitting ikinds made of good material, 25c, 33c, 38c, 50c, 75c, 95c, $1 and $1.25.

Parasols,

We have just opened a lot of linen batiste parasols. Some of them have lace and Dresden insertion; plain and fancy silk linings; natural wood handles. A number of pretty ones are shown in the window.

W. D. KINSMAN,

Corner Main and Bridge Streets,

SPRINGFIELD.

A. L. Wooster, a prominent citizen of Osseo Mich., after suffering excruciatingly from piles for twenty years, was cured in a short time by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, an absolute cure for all skin diseases. More of this preparation is used than all others combined. LeGro & Lynde.

J. H. Rogers Carriage Co.,

MANUFACTURERS OF

Carriages,

AND DEALERS IN

Carriages of every description.

33 to 39 Sanford St., SPRINGFIELD.

We manufacture and carry in stock the finest line of carriages in New England. Come and look over our stock.

A FINE LINE OF SECOND HAND VEHICLES CONSTANTLY ON HAND . . . .

at very low prices.

ROOT BEER EXTRACTS—Hartshorn's, Hires', Williams', Bryant's.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Curfew Tide.

The thrushes sing in every tree,
The shadows long and longer grow;
Broad sunbeams lie across the lea.
The oxen low;
Round roof and tower the swallows slide,
And slowly, slowly sinks the sun
At curfew tide,
When day is done.

Sweet sleep, the nighttime's fairest child,
O'er all the world her pinions spreads;
Each flower beneath her influence mild
Fresh fragrance sheds;
The owls, on silent wings and wide,
Steal from the woodlands, one by one
At curfew tide,
When day is done.

No more clanging the rookery rings
With voice of many a noisy bird;
The startled wood dove's clattering wings
No more are heard;
With sound like whispers faintly sighed,
Soft breezes through the treetops run
At curfew tide,
When day is done.

So may it be when life is spent,
When ne'er another sun can rise,
Nor light one other joy present
To dying eyes;
Then softly may the spirit glide
To realms of rest, disturbed by none,
At curfew tide,
When day is done.

—J. Cornish Watkins, in Chamber's Journal.

TWO DYED BURGLARS.

A good story is told of the way in which a dyer treated two burglars that he caught in his establishment, as they were in the act of making off with some valuable dyes. Mr. S., the owner of the color works, is often engaged in experiments late in the evening, and occasionally spends the night in the chemical laboratory, which opens into the room where the great dye vats are.

The thieves made their visit, as it chanced, on one of the nights when Mr. S. was sleeping at the laboratory. He is naturally a light sleeper, and a little past midnight he was aroused by the sound of voices in the vat room. He saw the flash of a light, and suspecting thieves, arose quietly from his sofa, took his revolver, and concealed in the darkness, watched the movements of the two men. He saw that each bore a package of new and valuable dyes.

Thinking that matters had progressed far enough, he stepped forward, cocked his revolver, and said, quietly, "I have a use for those dyes. You had better leave them alone."

The thieves, taken completely by surprise, dropped their plunder and started to run, leaping from the side of one vat to the next. In the darkness one of them miscalculated the distance, and fell headlong into the indigo vat; and his companion, hearing the splash, glanced back to see what had occured, lost his balance, and toppled into the same vat.

"That's all right," said Mr. S, half jocosely, as he stepped to the edge of the vat and covered the thieves with his revolver. "I won't grudge you enough of that indigo to dye your clothes and your skin. You needn't hurry about getting out. We must give the dye a chance to take effect."

For fifteen minutes or more he kept the two men in the vat, where they several times plunged beneath the surface of the liquid, and came up sputtering and choking, and finally begged for mercy.

"Well," remarked Mr. S., good-naturedly, "I think you probably are as blue outside as you feel inside so I won't detain you longer. And now," changing his tone to one of stern command, "if you don't want the police on your tracks, you'll make yourself scarce in this town. Out, now, and be off!"

Without a word the two men climbed out of the vat and hastened away.

A few days later a friend from an adjoining town called on Mr. S., and mentioned incidentally that two men came to see him, and offered him $5 to tell them what would remove indigo stains from the skin. "They were the bluest-looking fellows you ever saw," he added. "They said they got to fooling in the dye house, and fell into the vat."—Philadelphia Times.

PRAYERS IN WAR TIME.

Uncle Duff, hearing the noise, began to pray; Aunt Saluda joined him fervently. Sam listened stupidly and in suffocating terror, so runs a Lippincott war story:

Fifteen cannon thundered together, over beyond the bridge, and a flight of shells in the air made a prolonged whirring sound, followed presently by a rapid sputtering of musketry in the woods at the lower edge of the plantation. The regiment went across the field at double-quick step, knocking over the fences as they came in the way.

"Oh, good Lor', ef ye kin spa' de ole man er leetle bit longer—" began Uncle Duff, but his prayer was interrupted by an explosion on both sides of the river, batteries thundering at one another, and opposing lines of infantry exchanging long rolling volleys.

Mrs. Farrow saw the cavalry scurry away from their lurking place under the river bank and disappear in the woods, while four or five heavy field guns, drawn by panting and over-worked horses, trundled rapidly along the red clay road, the drivers whipping and swearing.

After a few rounds there came a short lull in the bombardment, during which a singular serenity pervaded the air and sky.

"Dar, now, Lor', stop de wa' right heah, and lef' de ole darkey—"

But Uncle Duff sprang to his feet as another awful cannonade began, and a shell burst on the railroad track in front of the door. He forgot his prayer.

"Hell an' fury!" he exclaimed, "dat's dangerous! Gi' me my hat, fo' de Lor's sake! I's gwine outen yer!" And he rushed through the back doorway and across the garden to the woods, followed by Sam and Aunt Saluda.

A GENEROUS ACT.—Here is a nice little story. When the two Princeton students were shot, about a year ago, it was determined that an immediate operation might save the life of the one whose case was worst, and Dr. Bull, of New York, was summoned by telegraph. The message reached him after midnight He went at once to Jersey City and asked for a special train on the Pennsylvania railroad. The agent said he must deposit $200, and promise to pay any further bill that might be sent. He did, and got his engine and car. Some time after he wrote and asked for his bill. Instead of getting it, he received back the $200 he had deposited, and a note saying the company could make no charge for a service done "in the interest of suffering humanity." Very pretty behavior for a "soulless corporation," wasn't it?—Harper's Weekly.

Two Lives Saved

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had consumption and that there was no help for her, but two bottles Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida St., San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried without result everything else, then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in coughs and colds. Free trials bottle of LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

THE BEST SALVE in the world for cuts bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

Old People.

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find the true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whisky nor other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alterative. It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding Nature in the performances of the functions. Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old people find it just exactly what they need. Price fifty cents per bottle of LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

A PATHETIC BALLAD.

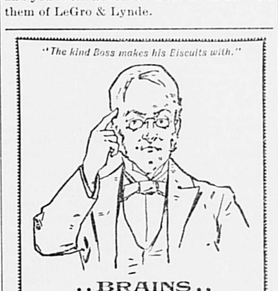
Father dear father, come home with me now, for ma has some carpets to beat; she's got all the furniture out in the yard, from the front door clean out to the street. The stove must come down and be put in the shed, and the yard must be cleared of some grass, for it's time to clean house and the devil's to pay—and the front windows need some new glass. Father, dear father, come home with me now, and bring some bologna and cheese, it's most twelve o'clock and there's nothing to eat—I'm so hungry I'm weak in the knees. All the dinner we'll have will be cold scraps and such, and we'll have to eat standing up, too, for the table and all are out in the back yard, oh, I wish that housecleaning was through. Father, dear father, come home with me now, for ma is as mad as a Turk; she says that you're only a lazy old thing, and that she shall put you to work. There's painting to do and paper to hang, and the windows and casing to scrub, for it's housecleaning time and you've got to come home and revel in suds and cold grub.—Hutchinson (Kan.) Clipper.

BARITONE AND THE DONKEY.

Clifford Halle tells the following anecdote: "It was at Port Elizabeth, South Africa, where I was announced to give a concert. The room in which I sang was situated in a part of the town where the population seemed to consist mostly of geese, ducks, pigs, and other domestic animals. It was hot, and the main entrance was kept open to admit the fresh air. "I had run through a couple of items, after which I began to sing the well-known song: 'Bruder' gehst du heir voruber?" (Brother, com'st thou this way?) to the apparent satisfaction of the audience. The songs ends with the words: 'Bruder, Bruder, sage Ja' (Brother, brother, do say yes—yah), when just at that moment one of the four-footed asses of Port Elizabeth thrust his head in at the door and bellowed out a 'Y—ah,' which drowned all other noises. The audience roared with laughter. The governor's wife was convulsed; her husband stepped up to me with tears in his eyes and said:—"'Dear Halle, if you want to be taken seriously by our people here in Africa, you had better leave—your relations at home.'"—Gartenlaube.

Dangerous Drugs.

Avoid the use of white or pink headache powders, they contain dangerous drugs. Taylor's Anti-Headache Powders are brown; they look like ground coffee and they have a delightful aromatic taste. Try them once and you will never be without them. Get them of LeGro & Lynde.



..BRAINS..

Is what an eminent painter once replied, when asked with what he mixed his colors.

We might make the same reply if asked with what we mixed our flour, to make our crackers so famous. 3,000,000 pounds of our LUNCH MILK BISCUITS alone sold last year show their popularity. But in truth

Boss Baking Powder

Is the secret. The most scientifically prepared, purest, strongest, most economical leavening compound ever put on the market. Don't that mean Brains? We have proved it by 32 years' experience. You can prove it by the bake of a batch of biscuits. Try once and see.

MANUFACTURED BY
C. D. BOSS & SON, New London, Conn.

It Stands To Reason

that 20,000,000 bottles of a medicine could not be sold unless it was good, honest, and did what was claimed for it. Here are the facts about

DR. CLARK JOHNSON'S

INDIAN BLOOD SYRUP

In 30 years 20,000,000 bottles have been sold to cure Blood Diseases, and it must be a CURE. All the sickness in this world is caused by bad blood; Weakness, Loss of appetite, Dyspepsia, Headaches, Constipation, Liver and Kidney troubles, Scrofula, Pimples, etc. Attack the foundation of disease, cleanse the blood, bring it back to the splendid work intended for it by nature. There may be other ways, but the best is by using the tried and true remedy

Dr Clark Johnson's
INDIAN BLOOD SYRUP
50c. per bottle; all druggists.

Wall Papers.

New styles, spring patterns. Borders to match.
How nice your rooms will look with new paper on them, and more healthy, too.
For the . . .
largest and best assortment,
. . . go to
LeGRO & LYNDE'S,
next to post office, PALMER.

A. H. HITCHCOCK,

OPTICIAN,

331 Main Street, Springfield, Mass.
Spectacles and Eye Glasses of all kinds.
Artificial eyes furnished.
Oculists' prescriptions promptly and accurately filled.
Mail orders solicited. 13-tf

In the Spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of—DeWitt's Little Early Risers, for they always cleanse the liver, purify the blood, and invigorate the system. LeGro & Lynde.

Engraved Address Cards. Plate engraved and 100 cards printed, only $1.50. Styles change often—your old cards may be out of style, probably are—better have some new ones, with correct size of card and style of lettering. At the JOURNAL Office.

Piano and Banjo Lessons

given by

Misses Annie and Carrie Fish,

22-tf Palmer.

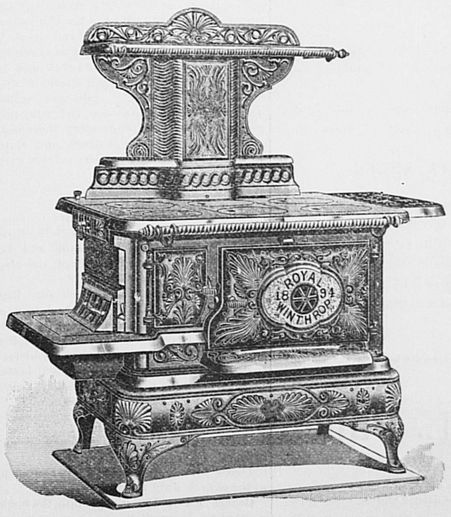
"Judgment!!"

BattleAx PLUG

A GREAT BIG PIECE FOR 10 CENTS

The umpire now decides that "BATTLE AX" is not only decidedly bigger in size than any other 5 cent piece of tobacco, but the quality is the finest he ever saw, and the flavor delicious. You will never know just how good it is until you try it.

We sell the ROYAL WINTHROP GRAND.
Also the HERALD B RANGE, the two BEST STOVES made.



Your credit is good---

Don't wonder if this means you. 'Cause it does. It means everybody who wants furniture, carpets, mattings, stoves or ranges, crockeryware, bedwear, baby carriages, or anything else in our line.

And the only requirement we make is that whatever terms of payment you agree to—you will live up to.

Have you ever noticed

how bright the handle of our front door is? Sapolio? Oh, no; just the ordinary usage of our trade.

Shaw Brothers, Three Rivers.

The Palmer Journal.

VOLUME XLVII. PALMER, MASS., FRIDAY EVENING, JUNE 5, 1896. NUMBER 10.

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY EVENING
—BY—
O. B. FISKE & CO.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.—Two dollars a year. A discount of 25 cents to those who pay in advance. Six months, $1.00; three months, 50 cents; single copies, 4cents.

ADVERTISING RATES.—One inch (or twelve lines of this type solid) 75 cents for the first insertion, 25 cents for the second, 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. Short advertisements, "Wanted," "To Let," etc., one cent a word for the first insertion, one-half cent a word each subsequent insertion, cash; no charge less than 25 cents. Notices in local column, 15 cents per line. Liberal rates to yearly advertisers.

JOB PRINTING of all kinds executed in the best styles, promptly and at reasonable rates.

O. B. FISKE. L. E. CHANDLER.

[Entered at Post Office as second class matter.]

LOCAL BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

PALMER.

ALLEN, O. P., Wholesale and Retail Druggist and Bookseller.

BARTON, F. D., Dealer in Watches, Clocks and Jewelry, Main street.

BILLS, G. A., Fresh and Salt Beef, Pork, Ham, Lard, Tripe, etc.

BROOKS, EDWIN E., Graduate Optician. With E. S. Brooks, Jeweler, Main street.

BROOKS, E. S., Dealer in Watches, Clocks, Jewelry, Solid Silver and Plated Ware, Main street.

BROWN, C. A. & CO., Hardware, Furnaces, Stoves, Ranges, Paints, Oils and Glass.

BROWN, S. H., Trucking, Light Jobbing, Piano and Furniture Moving. Order box cor. Main and Walnut streets. Orders can also be left at J. F. Foley's store.

CARPENTER, Mrs. L. E., Millinery and Fancy Goods. Also dealer in Human Hair Goods.

CHANDLER BROS., Bicycles.

CLARK & HASTINGS, Wholesale Dealers in Armour & Co's. Dressed Beef, Provisions, Main St.

EAGER, F. M., Boot and Shoe Manufacturer to Order, and dealer in Leather and Findings.

FISKE, C. B. & CO., Publishers PALMER JOURNAL and WARE STANDARD. Fine Book and Job Printers and Bookbinders.

FITCH, A. E., Law and Insurance, Savings Bank Block.

FRANCIS, R. B., Iron Foundry and Machine Shop.

GAMWELL, C. K., Ready made Clothing, Hats, Caps, Gent's Furnishings, etc.

GARDNER, CHAS. L., Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Church street.

GOODES, E., Palmer Boot and Shoe Store, corner Main and Thorndike streets.

HAMILTON, J. A., Dealer in all kinds of Coal, Wood, Grain, Flour, Baled Hay and Straw. Fertilizers and Stock Food. Main street.

HOLBROOK, C. D., Flour, Grain, Feed and Masons' Supplies, Main street.

HOLBROOK, J. F., Dealer in all kinds of Coal. Agent for National and White Star line of steamers. Drafts on Foreign Banks at lowest rates.

LEACH, W. W., Attorney at Law.

LEGRO & LYNDE, Druggists and Newsdealers, Paper Hangings, Shades, Lamps and Fixtures.

MARCY, F. F., Dealer in Lumber, Shingles, etc., wholesale and retail. West of B. & A. R. R. depot.

MARCY, OSCAR C., Livery and Feed Stable, rear of Converse House.

PALMER WATER CO., Office, Lawrence Block. Office hours to October 1, from 8.30 to 10 a. m., from 2 to 3 p. m.

SHAW, J. B., Dealer in Dry Goods, Groceries, etc. Opposite the depot.

WHITE, C. W., Marble and Granite Works. No. 1 Thorndike street.

WOOLRICH & CO., Manufacturers of Ridge's Food, Thorndike street.

THORNDIKE.

ADAMS, A. P., Druggist, Toilet Articles, Confectionery and Cigars.

BONDSVILLE.

HOLDEN, C. L., Dry Goods, Groceries, Clothing Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps, etc.

MORIARTY, M., Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots Shoes, Coal. Agt White Star and Anchor SS Co's

WARE.

ALBERTINE, J. A. Choice Fruits, Tobaccos, Cigars and Confectionery. Low Prices

DAVIS INSURANCE AGENCY represents the best companies and gives lowest rates.

DWIGHT, R. N., Harness, Horse Saddlery, Hardware. Repairing a Specialty. Next to Bank.

EDDY, C. W. Job and Fine Art Printer.

EDDY, MISS MATIE K. Teacher of Oil Painting and Crayon. Sketching or Art Work completed to order.

ELDREDGE, A. HENRY. Sign Painter. Carriages painted in the best manner. West Street.

HARLOW, A. B. Photographer. Instantaneous process only. Opposite the Bank.

HOSMER, F. N. Clothier. Hats, Caps, Gents' Furnishing Good, etc. Sanford's Block.

MARSH, F. E. Gold, Silver and Nickel Plater. Replating tableware a specialty. 7 Bank street.

PRIEST, J. E. Ware Steam Laundry. Carpet cleaning. Office at H. M. Clark's.

RICHARDSON, A. F. Dealer in Boots, Shoes and Rubbers of all kinds. Sagendorph's Block.

ROBINSON, JOHN F. Furniture, Sewing Machines, Pictures, Hardware, Paints and Farming Tools.

SIBLEY, J. B. Hardware, Tools, Agricultural Implements, Paints, Oils and Artists' materials.

SMITH, G. H. W. Jeweler. Watches, Clocks and Spectacles. Repairing in the best manner.

SULLIVAN & STRONG, Ware Cooperative Laundry. Fine Work and Carpet Cleaning. Office, 50 Main Street.

TURNER, H. H. Bookseller and Stationer, and dealer in Paper Hangings, Musical Instruments and Sheet Music.

MONSON.

GROUT, GEO. E. Dealer in Watches Clocks, Jewelry, etc. Towne's Block.

NEWTON, GEO. H., Law Office, Notary Public, Insurance, etc., near Gage's store.

SQUIER & CO., Dealers in Grain, Feed, Hay, Straw, Lumber, Shingles and Building Material.

WARREN.

KELLEY, W. H., Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Quaboag Block, Warren, Mass.

SOCIETY DIRECTORY.

MONSON.

MT. ELLA LODGE, No. 184, A. O. U. W. Meets first and third Tuesdays of each month in A. O. U. W. Hall, Monson.
ALEX. MURPHY, M. W., F. J. ENTWISTLE, Rec.

SEE
THE NICE

BICYCLE

$50

will buy, with all the latest improvements, including

LARGE TUBING,
BARREL HUB,
PATENT OILERS,
NARROW TREAD,
COMBINATION PEDAL,
ETC., ETC., ETC.

E. A. Buck & Co.,
Cross Block,
PALMER.

Insurance

of every kind placed at short notice, and all favors duly appreciated.
Yours truly,
S. H. HELLYAR.
Office at Ridge's Food Factory.

Half a Dollar in Your Pocket ◆ ◆ ◆ ◆ ◆ ◆ ◆ is Worth a Whole One in the Bank, providing you come here to-morrow. WE BEGIN A BARGAIN CAMPAIGN TO-MORROW that has but one object—that is to get rid of a load of goods. We begin with our eyes open, determined to stop at nothing till we sell those goods.

HOSIERY.

Ladies' seamless fast black hose, 12½c and 15c quality, for - - - - - 10c
Ladies' regular made, fast black hose, very fine quality, 40 gauge, good value at 3 pairs for $1, - - - - - - 25c

COTTON UNDERWEAR.

12c ladies' plain corset covers, - - - 10c
39c " night dresses, - - - - - 29c
39c " white skirts, - - - - - 29c
Children's cotton drawers, all sizes, 10c up

GENT'S UNDERWEAR.

Gent's balbriggan shirts and drawers, - 25c
" French balbriggan shirts and drawers, 39c (Worth 50c)
Gent's silk suspenders, 35c quality, - - 25c
" Shawknit half hose, 3 pairs for 25c
" " best quality, 2 " " "

NOTIONS.

Large cake buttermilk soap, - - - - 5c
8c card hooks and eyes, now - - - - - "
6 spools basting cotton, - - - - - - "
6 " black silk twist, - - - - - - "
8c 10c 15c 25c
Combs, — — — — Unbreakable.
5c 7c 10c 19c

RIBBED UNDERWEAR.

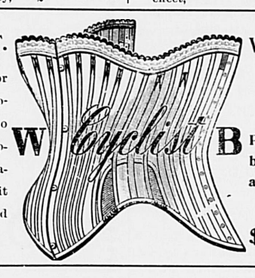
Ladies' ribbed vests, 12½c quality, - - 10c
" " " silk trimmed, - - - 15c
" " " short sleeves, - - 25c
Children's ribbed vests, all sizes, - - - 10c
" " " long sleeves, 19c
quality, - - - - - - - 15c

FANS FOR GRADUATION,

in soft lisse effects—touched throughout with spangles, white and colors, - - - 75c
Satin fans, very handsomely embroidered, small size, - - - - - - - 98c
Chiffon fans, hand painted, very delicate in effect, SPECIAL PRICE, $1.25

CYCLIST CORSET.

Especially adapted for cyclists, but equally appropriate for ladies who have large hip development and prefer a cutaway corset, by whom it is extensively worn and appreciated.



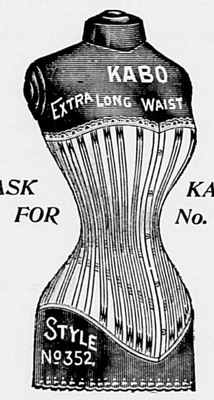
W. B. Cyclist and Athletic Corsets.

Perfect freedom, combined with the shape and gracefulness.

ASK TO SEE THEM.

$1.00 A PAIR.

T. H. TODD, = = MONSON.



ASK FOR KABO No. 352

We recommend them, as they fit like a glove.
Price $1.00
For sale by D. L. BODFISH, Palmer.

There is one DRESS STAY that
Won't melt apart,
Can't cut through the dress,
Don't stay bent.
It is
BALL'S PEERLESS.
All lengths; all colors.

CHEESE. CHEESE. CHEESE.
Full cream cheese, 15c lb. Edam cheeses—in foil, 90c each. The little Green Mountain cheese, 10c each.
W. E. STONE, Fancy and Staple Groceries, Main street, Palmer.

J. H. Rogers Carriage Co.,

MANUFACTURERS OF
Carriages,
AND DEALERS IN
Carriages of every description.
33 to 39 Sanford St., SPRINGFIELD.

We manufacture and carry in stock the finest line of carriages in New England. Come and look over our stock.

A FINE LINE OF SECOND HAND VEHICLES CONSTANTLY ON HAND . . . .
at very low prices.

One minute is the standard time, and One Minute Cough Cure is the standard preparation for every form of cough or cold. It is the only harmless remedy that produces immediate results. LeGro & Lynde.

New Summer
Dress Goods. . . .

Jaconette Plisse, - -	10c
Kaike Cloth, - - -	15c
Melba Lawn, - - -	06c
Embroidered Muslin, - -	20c
Ginghams, - -	8c to 20c

W. E. STONE,
Dry and Fancy Goods.
Main Street, Palmer. . . .

Piano and Banjo Lessons
given by
Misses Annie and Carrie Fish,
22-tf Palmer.

C. H. HOBBY, PIANO TUNER.
Orders for tuning may be left at O. P. Allen's drug store, Palmer; or may be sent to me by mail to Mansfield, Ct.

L. H. HENDEE, M. D.,
OFFICE AND RESIDENCE, PLEASANT ST.
Office hours 7 to 10 a. m., and 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m.

THAT JOB OF PRINTING. There's no better place at which to get it done than the JOURNAL Office. Experienced workmen, skilled in every branch of the art.

KENNEDY'S GOODS—no better made. Received new stock Wednesday, May 27, as follows: Fancy ginger snaps, molasses bee hive, sugar cakes, salt whist, vanilla creams. In fancy packages: Lily of the valley, outing, fairy wafer, salt Long Branch, 5 o'clock tea, Bent's snaps. These are especially fine for picnics and parties.
W. E. STONE, Fancy Groceries,
Telephone connection. Main street, Palmer.

For the bath.
Soaps, sponges, brushes, toilet waters and powders, sea salt, etc.
Proper bathing is a luxury. The things cost but little if bought of us.
LeGRO & LYNDE,
Next to Post Office,
PALMER.

WOULD like to sell you a few window screens. A screen door. A Croquet set. A piece of mosquito netting. An oil stove. Of course you must have these things. You can buy as cheaply here as anywhere, and have the articles promptly delivered. Come in, leave your order and have it off your mind.
W. E. STONE, General Store,
Telephone connection. Main street, Palmer.

SMITH & MURRAY.
SPRINGFIELD.

The way we sell TRUNKS is bringing us no end of customers who are surprised at the low prices we are quoting on the best and most reliable goods on the market—likewise at the variety we display—not only in trunks, but bags, etc.

Dress and Steamer Trunks,
Rattan Trunks,
Club Bags,
Suit Cases,
Laundry Bags,
Boston Bags,
Traveling Cases,
Collar and Cuff Boxes,
Trunk and Shawl Straps,
Steamer Rugs and Chairs,
English Holdalls.

We mention two leaders that will appeal to all travelers.

Dress Trunk--
32-inch size at $6.15
34 " " " 6.50
duck covered, linen lined, protected on all sides by heavy wood slats, three strap-hinges, excelsior lock, steel clamps, iron corners, one tray with hat box.

Steamer Trunk--
28-inch size at $3.50
30 " " " 3.83
32 " " " 4.15
34 " " " 4.50
duck covered, protected with wood slats, good lock, steel clamps, iron corners, three strap hinges. The best for the money that you'll find.
Trunk straps, 7, 8 and 9 feet long, at 40, 45 and 50c each, extra long.
Basement.

100 ARM ROCKERS,
in solid oak and mahogany finish, large roomy chairs,
OUR PRICE, $4.00 EACH,
equal to any shown in the country at $6.
Third floor.

SMITH & MURRAY.
SPRINGFIELD.

Good stock and the best of care
PRODUCES
A 1 milk and cream.
MAPLE LAWN MILK FARM,
O. D. Wells, Proprietor.

THAT...."RAMBLER"
- - - - is a mighty fine wheel.
AT... G. A. MOORE'S,
Holden's Block,
Palmer, Mass.

Could every housewife know how much time, trouble and labor is saved and how easy cooking is made with a

GLENWOOD RANGE she would USE NO OTHER.
For sale in all prominent cities and towns throughout New England. | Made by THE WEIR STOVE CO., Taunton, Mass.

Shrewd Buyers

come here for bargains in

PANTS,

$2.50

just as if there wasn't another clothing house in town. Of course we appreciate this and strive all the harder to keep them and their friends coming, by making prices on all our heavy weight PANTS this week very attractive.

We do not advertise in different qualities. The black cheviot, hair line stripes and fancy cassimeres would be cheap at $3 and $3.50, we can recommend them for good wear.

Our boys' short pants at 48c are excellent values, sizes 4 to 15 years.

MEIGS & CO.
CLOTHIERS, HATTERS, FURNISHERS.
383-385 Main Street, Springfield.

From Widdleton to Waddleton.

When we set out a-journeying, my baby girl and I,
It really is a wonder how the way goes fleeting by;
The course is from the sitting room, her charger is my knee,
And the minstrel music with us is her little laugh of glee.

"Oh, from Widdleton to Waddleton it's eighteen miles,
But from Waddleton to Widdleton it's nineteen miles."
(Which is just a freak in distance which my conscience reconciles
With the theory that baby songs are full of tricks and wiles)--
"Oh, from Widdleton to Waddleton it's eighteen miles."

Her grandma is so jealous when we set about our trip,
She claims to see a tear shade in the quiver of her lip.
She says the way is rocky and the steed is roughly shod,
But we tell her of another path that's smooth and clear and broad.

We never have arrived at where we set about to go,
For always on the journey baby's curly head drops low,
And then I draw her closer, closer, closer to my breast,
And the steed is turned to pasture and its rider is—undressed.

"Still from Widdleton to Waddleton it's eighteen miles,
And from Waddleton to Widdleton it's nineteen miles,"
And the breezes bring a murmuring from drowsy afterwhiles,
And a little prayer is uttered for a life to know no trials—
"Oh, from Widdleton to Waddleton it's eighteen miles."—

—Carl Smith, in Ladies' Home Journal.

WHEN BETTS WAS A MAN.

[CONTINUED FROM LAST WEEK.]

It happened that a little after 8 o'clock that evening Mr. Betts had visitors. The other clerks had waited to see him close the store, and afterwards had assured themselves that he made his way to his boarding place. The messenger, with the uniform and sword, was waiting for him. Betts, who had lessened his bank account by the required amount, paid him, and carried the bundle to his room. A letter from Amanda lay on the bureau. It surprised him to find it there, for her other epistles had reached him at the shop, but in the mood which then controlled him he was in no haste to read it.

As he cut the cord about the bundle, tore off the wrapper and caught sight of the uniform, his spirits began to rise. He put on the garments with reverential care, and surveyed himself in the mirror with satisfaction. It was a small mirror, to be sure, and he had to view himself in sections, but that drawback was trifling. It seemed to Mr. Betts that he had never gazed upon a more soldierly figure. If only Amanda could behold him, or, better still, if her father could lay eyes upon him! Surely that hard-hearted parent would feel the spell; were he obdurate, there was the sword. How Roberts would cringe before it! Betts laughed aloud as he pictured the old man trembling and beseeching mercy. It was no wonder that, in the rapture of enjoying such a day dream, he failed to hear a faint knock or notice that the door had swung open gently, permitting three men grouped on the landing at the head of the stairs, to observe all his doings.

"False father, yield thy daughter's hand, or this good blade shall make her fatherless!" Betts recited. He had read the sentiment somewhere, and it recurred to him opportunely.

"Clear case," whispered one of the spectators.

"Delusion perfect," another answered softly.

"Poor boy!" said the third, and then added, in a louder tone: "Mr. Betts, these gentlemen wish to see you for a few minutes."

His employer's voice brought the young man back to earth. He turned, beheld his visitors, and his new courage was gone. His sword dropped, his jaw fell, and he stood staring at them in helpless confusion.

Had Mr. Betts deliberately planned to convince his callers that his reason was more than tottering, his conduct under the examination would have been a triumph. He stammered, hesitated, contradicted himself. The medical men exchanged glances.

"Betts," his employer said with an effort, "you will do me a very great favor if you will accompany these gentlemen on a little trip to the country. They will entertain you well. You will go, won't you, at my request?"

It was not in the power of poor Betts to say no. He merely picked up Amanda's still unopened letter and thrust it into his trousers pocket.

"Let him come just as he is," urged one of the doctors, looking at his watch." No use to change his clothes. It will be a stiff drive to the station as it is to get the 9.30."

Without any clear idea of what was befalling him, the young man felt his straw hat clapped upon his head and himself led down stairs to the street and assisted to enter the carriage. The two strangers jumped in after him, his employer called out "Goodbye!" and then the vehicle dashed down the street. As if in a dream Betts saw this part of his journey completed, and he never clearly understood the manner in which he was led through the station and ensconced with his escort in a sleeping-car department. Five minutes later the train was under way.

Except in the directions of military glory and wedded bliss Betts's imagination was limited. All his life he had been accustomed to obey orders, the reason for which he could not surmise, and it was with characteristic meekness that he suffered the strangers to carry him off from his domicile. Huddled up in his corner, he sat for half an hour saying nothing. His companions conversed in low tones, and the young man at first made no effort to discover whether they spoke of him.

At length one of the men tapped him on the shoulder. "Get some sleep, if you can," he advised. "We're not going so far that it would be worth while to have the berths made up, but a nap will do you good."

"I don't feel sleepy, thank you, sir," Betts replied.

For an hour more the train rolled steadily along on its journey. Then there was a slackening of the speed and then the shock of the brakes sharply applied. The train came to a halt.

"What's the trouble? No town here," grumbled one man. "Delay would be most unfortunate." He rose and left the compartment, returning a little later with dire news.

"The strike on the road is getting serious," he said. "We're held here for orders, and the conductor declines to guess when we will get through."

It seemed to the doctors that the delay would never end. Half an hour passed, then another, then the hour grew into two, and the two doubled. At last word of some sort came to the trainmen and a start was made. Betts's wits cleared a little. His companions were conversing in tones less guarded than they had used earlier in the journey, and, though he could not catch all they said, he heard enough to interest him greatly.

[CONTINUED ON FOURTH PAGE]

AMONG THE FAIRIES.

HOW I CAME TO KNOW THE FAIRIES.

IN TWO CHAPTERS.

[Copyright, 1896, by Walter B. Guild, Boston.]

CHAPTER I.

When I was about your age, on one of the very iciest days in the whole winter, mother sent me to a sick neighbor to carry some little cakes and apples.

The road was very icy. At that time there were two reasons why no one in the country ever put coal ashes upon the sidewalks.

In the first place, they didn't burn coal to get the ashes, and in the second, they didn't have sidewalks.

With no ashes on the sidewalk, no sidewalk under the ashes, and the best walking to be found in the middle of the road, I was obliged, as you can guess, to walk very carefully.

The nearer I got to the brook the smoother and more slippery was the road, until just in the middle of the bridge, which wasn't more than 10 feet long, what should happen but slip went my feet, and I began to roll into the brook!

I floated through the air.

Now, I was always very careful of what was in the basket. Sometimes it carried eggs to the grocer and brought back groceries and such things, and once in a great while it came back with some candy or oranges. Broken eggs don't sell very well in the country, even if you do need to break them for custards. Most people are quite fussy as to the exact time and manner of breaking eggs.

That is why I was so careful of the basket that when I fell my first thought was to hold it up, just as if there was danger of breaking the cakes and apples.

In thinking of the basket and of the eggs which were not in it I forgot all about the brook and hit my head upon the ice so lightly that it never hurt a bit. But, just as I was about to get up a voice said: "Too bad we didn't catch him sooner. Perhaps he is hurt."

Sometimes people can think very fast, and as no one was in sight, I thought that the fairies or some invisible friends must have caught and let me down very gently.

While I lay there with my eyes partly shut, but nevertheless so that I could see about me, some one said, "We must take him to our palace, as you know what a friend the queen was to his great-great-grandmother, long before he was born."

Now I had heard grandmother tell how her grandmother used to talk in her sleep about the kind fairies, and while this all flashed through my mind in a twinkling I was quiet as a mouse in order to see what would happen.

I had not long to wait, for in an instant I floated through the air to the big hill just beyond the brook, and, without any trouble, went headforemost into the side of it.

Where it had always looked like a piece of common, solid ground there was now a long, bright tunnel, and as we went farther the tunnel grew to be an immense room hung with the most beautiful draperies of ferns and flowers. There were great chairs made of trees and little chairs made of bushes, all trained so you could see just as plainly as could be that they were big seats and little seats cushioned with soft moss.

They laid me down so gently on a moss sofa that it would not have awakened a sleeping baby, and in front of the sofa was a handsome fountain.

It was all so strange to me that I was just a little afraid to stay, so rising on my elbow I said, "Please, good, kind fairies, take me home, and, unless you are willing, I won't ever tell any one about your house."

Just then a large, handsome, flying cat came and lit at the back of the moss cushion. You may be sure I was scared, and jumped straight into the middle of the fountain, but the instant that the water touched my face all fear left me and I could see the fairies coming in at the other end of the room, and I knew without anyone telling me, how kind they were to everybody.

You see, this is their magic initiation fountain, and any one who gets into it as I did, is able to see all the fairies, and their big brothers, and everything in fairyland.

When the fairies saw that I knew them, they were surprised, and all commenced to scold the two big brothers who had brought me there and left a mortal boy without any one to watch him and without throwing the sleep veil over his eyes.

The two big brother fairies said: "Now, just wait until the queen and the doctor come. Then you can hear our story and know how much you ought to blame us."

After two or three minutes an army of fairies, with the other five big brothers, each as tall as a meeting house steeple, and the moonlight dancers no bigger than your thumb, and fairies some about your size and some larger, came in and stood around us in a circle. The two big fairies who had brought me there, and I, were in the center.

The queen was very beautiful, and her daughter was the sweetest tempered and most beautiful fairy who had ever lived.

When the princess saw me she said: "Poor little Mortal Boy, he did not mean any harm, and our big brothers have never before been so forgetful."

The queen looked very serious, and asked me to tell her all about how I came there.

I was so much surprised and felt so bashful in the presence of the queen and Princess Beautiful that I even forgot to take off my cap.

If my picture could have been taken then it would have shown the meekest and most bashful looking fellow you ever saw. That is just why the fairies said nothing about this bad-mannered forgetfulness.

When one makes a mistake or is a little green or awkward appearing, the fairies always try to make such a person at ease. They never tease or torment bashful people.

After hearing my story she turned to the big brothers and said: "Now, why did you forget to put the sleep veil over his eyes, and why did you fail to set a guard over him so he could not get into the initiation fountain?"

"Most kind and gentle queen," said the big brothers, "all that this Boy Mortal has said is true. He was going to do good to a neighbor. When he fell, we thought he was badly hurt, and our first thought was to find the court doctor. It was thinking how to help him that made us forget the sleep veil."

"Because you tried to help him you are pardoned," said the queen, "and you will receive another golden star on your ribbons as a sign of another good deed."

Then, looking at me, she said: "Boy Mortal, will you be wise and never, never tell about our houses and lands until we give you leave or until the spell we weave is broken?"

Of course I promised, and have kept the secret all these years until you broke the spell.

A fairy came to me this morning and sang:

They've broken the spell,
They've broken the spell,
They've broken the spell
By behaving so well.

That is how I am sure that it is all right now to tell you anything you may wish to know about fairyland.

"Well," the queen said: "You may have one wish if you will wish wisely and not be too selfish. Before you wish," she said, "remember that the most selfish wishes bring least comfort when granted. You can only have one wish to-day, so be very, very careful not to wish that which may cause you more sorrow than joy."

"May I speak to him before he wishes?" said the Princess Beautiful to her mother, the queen.

"You may give him just one warning," said the queen.

The princess then led me to a little tent of evergreens, with the most curious trim-

"Now look in this mirror and see against what I have warned you."

mings of moss inside, and rocks all covered with moss for cushions, and said: "Boy Mortal, beware and do not wish for great riches. Now look in this mirror and see against what I have warned you."

[CONCLUDED NEXT WEEK.]

INSOMNIA FROM EXHAUSTION.

Exhaustion of the brain is a not uncommon cause of sleeplessness. This exhaustion is usually the result of ill health such as follows dyspepsia, or is due to the lack of healthy nutrition resulting from overwork, debility, anxiety, depressing emotions or chronic heart disease.

The brain becomes abnormally sensitive, and the slightest impression serves to arouse it. There is also an unequal distribution of blood to the brain, which makes it unstable—one part is more active than another.

In order to reach the cause of insomnia from cerebral exhaustion a radical course of treatment is necessary, involving a complete change of habits and life. A long vacation at the shore or in the country, or better, a sea voyage may be undertaken.

Various kinds of baths may be employed. Hot water to the feet with cold applications to the head in cases where blood appears to be unequally distributed, warm sponge baths, and especially complete immersion in warm water, are of great service in equalizing the circulation and soothing the general nervous system.

Medicines are needed for two reasons: To calm and nourish the enfeebled nervous system, and to enrich the blood. For the latter purpose, a full diet and plenty of fresh air are, of course, required. To quiet the nervous system certain sedatives may be used, but only those prescribed by a competent physician. In procuring sleep it is necessary to sustain the brain and general system, and not to paralyze them with narcotics.

It is sometimes said that nothing equals alcohol in the treatment of insomnia from exhaustion, and many are deluded into setting up the habit of taking a "nightcap." It may be true that a draught of hot toddy in such cases will arouse the enfeebled heart and stimulate the circulation to a greater degree of activity; but to say that alcohol serves as a food in any sense of the word is to attribute to it powers which it never has.

The system requires such an amount of diffusible nutriment as will steady it until a change of occupation, rest and wholesome food can have an opportunity to perform that duty. This can certainly be as well done with a cup of hot milk, or hot water and milk, as with the small amount of alcohol which is prescribed.—Youth's Companion.

PAT'S CURE FOR REAR-END COLLISIONS.—L. H. Palmer, the genial agent of the Fall River line, tells this: Some time ago there was an accident on the road at Hyde Park by which a rear car of a passenger train was badly broken up. The next morning a bright-looking Hibernian made his appearance at the company's office in the old state house, and asked for "the schmal man from Hyde Park that wears a tall hat." This seemed to identify Palmer, and he was referred to that gentleman. "Are you the boss?" interrogated the Irishman. Palmer modestly stated his position in the company. "Well, Mr. Palmer, I was in that accident at Hyde Park, an' I've been thinkin' about it. It sames to me that it's thim rare cars as is always run into. Now I want to ask you, as a gintleman and a railroad man, why could'nt the company lave off thim rear cars from the thrain?"—Commercial Bulletin.

One day while Millais was engaged in painting his famous picture, "Chill October," among the reeds and rushes on the banks of the Tay, near Perth, a voice came over the hedge: "Man, did you ever try photography?" "No, never," replied Millais, painting slowly. A pause. "It's a hantle quicker," said the voice. "Ye-es, I suppose so." Another pause. The final thrust was: "An' it's mair liker the place."—Tid-Bits.

It was in a down town restaurant where there is no attempt to put on "style." A guest entered, took his seat and modestly asked for dropped eggs on toast. "Adam and Eve on a raft," yelled the waiter. The guest changed his order. "I guess I'll have those eggs scrambled," he said. "Wreck 'em," bawled the waiter. Some genius devotes himself to the invention of these calls.—Truth in Boston.

She—"You don't love me as much as you used to." He—"Yes, I do, my dear; but I have exhausted my vocabulary."—Indianapolis Journal.

Of Interest to Women.

EDITED BY MISS F. V. DOANE.

For the Baby.

A Baby Basket, not a basket at all, but a basket-trunk or commode, it might be called. These baskets are rectangular, about twenty inches wide and twenty-five inches long, made of braid interwoven. They have a lid, a tray, and a drawer under the tray. In the drawer may be put the daint̨ underclothing. The tray contains the usual paraphernalia of a baby-basket. The lid, the tray and the drawer are first lined with lawn or satin, and over that is shirred dotted web lace. The edges of the lace are covered with tiny ruffles of narrow lace. There is a lace frill around the inside of the tray, with pockets as in the former baskets. When used the lid is raised and the drawer drawn out; when not in use everything is compact and closed out of the dust.

The baby bands are knitted of silk or worsted, and have knitted shoulder straps about an inch wide and perhaps three inches long. The will keep the band from slipping down.

Bibs are made like pointed collars. The prettiest are of linen or cotton lawn and made double, the lower collar edged with an embroidered frill, the upper collar embroidered, its edge just covering the top of the frill.

Yokes of dresses and slips are trimmed in the shapes of collars, or have collars over them.

Sacques of fine cashmere are embroidered around the edge with silk in a double scallop or point; I mean with points around the edge of larger points. The fronts of the sacques are square, and have deep sailor or pointed collars embroidered like the sacque.

A Pretty Blanket to throw over a little one is made as follows: Cut a square of fine cream-white flannel twenty-five or twenty-seven inches. Embroider with a deep double point. Opposite each point put a tiny spray of forget-me-nots, the flowers embroidered with delicate shades of blue filo floss, the stems with cream-white. About one-fourth of a yard from one corner stitch on across the corner a crossway band of white silk. Into this run a narrow white ribbon. This goes around the baby's neck. Now draw up the smaller corner into a little hood and you have a pretty cape with a hood attached. You may run a cord along the edge of the hood, or plait the fullness over the forehead and put on a bunch of bows; either plan serves the purpose. The hood can be drawn up over the head when needed, or may be left hanging over the shoulders.

Ices.

Vanilla Ice Cream. Heat one quart of milk to boiling in a double kettle. Mix one tablespoonful flour with two tablespoonfuls of sugar. Stir into the boiling milk. Stir into the yolk of one egg as much sugar as it will hold. Take the milk from the stove and stir the egg mixture into it. Cool. When ready to freeze add a teacupful of rich cream (more if you wish; whipping the cream improves it). Beat the white of one egg to a froth and add that. Flavor with vanilla.

Lemon Sherbet. Put a pint of sugar into a quart of water and heat till the sugar is melted. Cool. Add the juice of three lemons and the beaten white of an egg. Freeze. This recipe is varied by using the juice of one orange and of two lemons.

When is a Woman Old?

This is the latest question which an inquiring spirit has addressed to all the leading actresses in Germany. Some of the answers are worth bearing in mind. Frau Butze is of the opinion: "A woman is only old when she tries by force to become young again." Rosa Berten says: "A woman is old when she begins to ask herself, 'When is a woman old?'" Jennie Gross keeps to the safe saying: "A woman is as old as she looks." Marie Pospischil considers that "as long as a woman believes in youth and clings to her youth, she appears young, even when she is not really so." Marie Reisenhofer declares enigmatically: "Woman is old when she begins to love reason and finds no love in return." Clara Zeigler, the celebrated tragedienne, is more genial and consoling in some respects. According to her: "When is a woman old? The conceited, never; the unhappy, too soon; and the wise at the right time."

To Clean Windows.

Choose a dull day, or at least a time when the sun is not shining on the window; when the sun shines on the window it causes it to be dry streaked, no matter how much it is rubbed. Take a painter's brush and dust them inside and out, washing all the woodwork inside before touching the glass. The latter must be washed simply in warm water diluted with ammonia. Do not use soap. Use a small cloth with a pointed stick to get the dust out of the corners; wipe dry with a soft piece of cotton cloth. Do not use linen, as it makes the glass linty when dry. Polish with tissue paper or old newspapers. This can be done in half the time taken where soap is used, and the result will be brighter windows.—Business.

CORNS AND THEIR CAUSE.

A chiropodist says: "One of the most popular corn plasters is made in Baltimore, but not long ago the manufacturer brought his wife over to me to be treated for corns. I asked him why he did not try to cure her himself. He told me that his plasters were very good things to sell to druggists, but that they did not seem to benefit his wife in the slightest. It is my experience that at least 80 per cent of the people suffer more or less from corns. Washington is one of the worst cities in the country in this line. It is on account of the asphalt streets, I think. At any rate, people who come from other cities often develop some form of foot trouble after they have been here a while."

"Who are your best customers?"

"Women always. They will persist in wearing high heels and shoes that are too short for them. Now, a short shoe is much worse than a shoe that is too narrow, for, as the average person is not blessed with high insteps, the toes are forced down against the end of the shoe, and either corns or deformities of the joints result. In my opinion Southern people have the best feet. The reason of this is that they are great horseback riders. Holding one's feet in the stirrups results in making high insteps, and high insteps prevent the feet from being forced down into the end of the shoes. It is true that Southern women like to wear high heels and tight toes, but the effect is not nearly as bad on them as it is on Northern women with their flatter insteps.

"Yes, bicycle riding is just about as good for the feet as horseback riding. The foot gets freer play than it does in walking, and if the shoes are well made and properly fitting it has a tendency to make the feet arched and graceful. I firmly believe that the fact that so many small children are now riding the wheel is certain to result in better shaped and healthier feet in the coming generation. Parents really ought to pay more attention to the condition of their children's feet. They ought to take more care about their shoes, seeing that they fit properly and do not rub or are loose. That parents do not, as a rule, exercise such care, is shown by the number of children from 2 to 5 years of age who are brought to me to be treated for corns and bunions."—Washington Star.

The Journal.

FRIDAY EVENING, JUNE 5, 1896.

LOCAL NOTICES.

Pianos tuned. Having had three years' experience with Chickering & Son, Boston, in their tuning and repair rooms, I am prepared to tune, cap, voice and repair pianos. All work guaranteed and orders promptly executed. J. Frank Normand, P. O. box 412, Palmer, Mass.

PALMER NEWS.

Sudden Death in Prayer Meeting.

David Bodfish, 74, dropped dead from heart disease while speaking in the prayer meeting in the vestry of the Congregational church last evening. He had spoken only a moment or two when he suddenly stopped in the middle of a sentence, grasped the chair in front of him for support and then fell over upon it, and from there to the floor before anyone could grasp him. His son, D. L. Bodfish, was sitting directly in front of him and was the first to reach him, but saw immediately that he could not be helped. Dr. Wilkins was at once summoned from his office only a few rods away, but could render no assistance.

Mr. Bodfish came here from Bridgewater with his son nearly two years ago, and has enjoyed particularly good health for a man of his years. He was quite active, and on the evening of his death was engaged in setting out plants in the garden until he started for the church. About a year ago he commenced to have a slight trouble with his heart, but nothing which was considered serious. A peculiar circumstance is the fact that an older brother died in precisely the same way. He had been away visiting friends and relatives, and on his return was speaking in a prayer meeting for the first time in nearly a year, when he suddenly stopped, made an exclamation and was dead. Mr. David Bodfish had only recently returned from a visit in the eastern part of the state, and his taking part in the service last evening was a somewhat unusual thing for him.

The funeral will be to-morrow morning at 9; burial at Wareham.

Arrested for Sabbath Breaking.

Thomas Moran, who lives near the Boston and Albany tracks on the road to North Wilbraham, was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Studley Monday evening on a charge of breaking the Sabbath, and appeared in court Tuesday to answer to the charge. For some time complaints have been made regarding Sunday disturbances at Moran's, where it has been alleged cider was sold. Frank E. Young, George Laford, Charles D. Colburn, Stephen Jones, Thomas Thornton, John Hayes, John Kerigan and Michael Kerigan were the witnesses in the case. All were evidently friendly to Moran and testified to about the same thing. Young was the first witness, and said he spent the afternoon of Sunday on Moran's premises in company with others, drinking cider, of which several pails were consumed. The cider was not paid for and nothing was said about pay by any of them. Young said he had been drinking the night before and his head did not feel good; when Moran found this out he gave him a pail of cider, telling him to drink it and it would make his head feel better. The case was continued until next Monday in order to allow the prosecution to bring in newly discovered evidence. Disley, the man killed by the cars Sunday afternoon, was one of the party at Moran's, and it is alleged that his death was the result of the visit.

Liquor Raid.

The committe appointed by the town to prosecute illegal liquor sellers made its first raid Saturday morning. As the parade was passing through Main street the committee, Rev. F. E. Jenkins, Rev. G. S. Butler and F. H. Gager, with D. F. Holden, Lyman Snow, Forest Burr, G. H. Hastings, G. H. Justin, F. B. Pope, F. W. Lavine, Mr. Barnes and Mr. Tricket as assistants, made a descent upon the Nassowanno House, the Converse House, and the pool room conducted by John Dawson in the Converse House block basement. A systematic and thorough search was made for several hours, but nothing was found with the exception of some bottled beer in the cellar of the Converse House. The searchers were told where this was, and it is claimed as private property by Landlord Pierce of the Converse House. A return was made of the search warrants Monday, and a hearing regarding the seizure was set for June 15.

Epileptic Hospital Contracts.

The bids for the construction of the new buildings for the epileptic hospital were opened at Boston Wednesday, and the contract was awarded to Horcas Dodge of Springfield at $61,900. G. M. Atkins & Co. of Palmer were the third lowest bidders. The full list of bidders and their prices:

Horcas Dodge, Springfield,	$ 61,900
Meade, Wason & Co.,	63,738
G. M. Atkins & Co.,	68,000
McGuire & Pearsons,	68,438
H. P. Cummings & Co.,	72,716
Thomas Barrett,	73,463
J. J. & F. H. Mack & Co.,	73,969
D. E. Carpenter & Co.,	74,012
John Jacob & Son,	74,291
Flynt Building & Construction Co.,	77,750
John McNamord,	78,194
E. D. Wilson,	79,882
Charles Ruggles & Co.,	84,258
F. H. Morton,	84,424
W. S. Westore,	97,846
W. H. Keyes,	102,552

Killed by the Cars.

Maurice Disley of Palmer, a switchman employed on the Boston and Albany road, was struck and instantly killed by a train on that road near North Wilbraham Sunday afternoon. He was sitting on the track and was not seen until it was too late to stop the train. His left hip was broken and his right arm was fractured; he also had an ugly wound on the back of his head and a deep cut over his right eye. The body was taken to Springfield, and was brought to Palmer on Monday. The funeral was held in the French Catholic church at Three Rivers Wednesday. Disley was 30 years old, and leaves a wife and three children.

Judge Robinson has returned from his Southern trip.

The Rogers-Osgood hat shop will shut down to-morrow for the season.

N. W. Chandler was home from New York for Memorial Day and Sunday.

Children's Day will be observed at the churches one week from next Sunday.

F. R. Lawton attended the funeral of his uncle, W. B. Lawton, at Ware, Sunday.

The King's Daughters met this afternoon with Mrs. C. W. Robinson on Park street.

Mrs. Luther Cobb has opened ice cream parlors in Strong's block on Walnut Street.

Mrs. H. W. Smith returned this afternoon from her visit in the eastern part of the state.

Mr. Minard's subject at the Baptist church next Sunday morning will be "The lonely Christ."

Mrs. Walter Winter was called to Boston Sunday morning by the serious illness of her son Fred.

Word has been received from Miss Idella Holbrook announcing her safe arrival in Europe.

The two abandoned schoolhouses at Thorndike will be sold at auction to-morrow at 2 p. m.

W. E. Tuthill spent Memorial Day in Providence, and witnesed the Yale-Brown ball game.

Mrs. H. H. Sanders of New London is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. C. D. Holbrook.

Dr. Donner, who formerly practiced medicine here, was in town Monday, visiting old acquaintances.

A large number attended the concert given at Monson Tuesday night by the Mt. Holyoke College glee club.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Barlow of Worcester spent Sunday with Mrs. Barlow's mother, Mrs. Susan Hunt.

The regular monthly meeting of the Palmer Business and Social Club will be held next Tuesday evening.

A. S. Wilkins, who has been visiting his son, Dr. Wilkins, returned Monday to his home in Milford, N. H.

Forest Lake gardens were opened for the season Memorial Day. A large and orderly crowd was in attendance.

Fred Gunn, who for some time has been employed in Bills's market, has taken a similar position in Worcester.

The new residence of Wallace Chilson on Knox street is nearly completed and will, be ready for occupancy soon.

The Order of the Eastern Star will celebrate the third anniversary of its organization next Friday evening.

The Block Island train on the New London Northern road will probably make the first trip of the season the 20th.

Mrs. Lou French of New Haven spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Albert Loomis, on Pleasant street.

The annual meeting of the Y. P. C. U. of St. Paul's Universalist church will be held in the chapel this evening at 7.30.

Harry Sisk and Louis Cross are home from Boston, where they attend medical schools, for the summer vacation.

Miss Hattie Blanchard of Boston spent Saturday, Sunday and Monday with her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Blanchard.

Several of the hydrants of the Palmer Water Company were opened yesterday for the purpose of flushing out the pipes.

Michael Holden and Michael Keefe of Thorndike have been drawn as jurors for the June term of the superior court.

Mrs. D. L. Bodfish and children left Thursday for North Anson, Me., where they will spend the greater part of the summer.

The Universalist Sunday school will picnic at Riverside Grove, Springfield, July 1st, in connection with the Springfield Universalists.

The pastoral committee of the Universalist church will meet next Tuesday evening to consult and plan for the fall work of the church.

The merry-go-round, which is located on Park street opposite the fire engine house, is to leave town after Saturday night, and is to locate in Monson.

The band, Sons of Veterans and Grand Army were photographed by Woodhead as they halted in front of the cemetery in this village on Memorial Day.

Superintendent Small gave two talks to the teachers attending the teachers' institute at Hardwick to-day, on "Geography" and on "Literature in lower grades."

The Sunday school of St. Paul's church, under the direction of Mrs. Day of Worcester, is preparing to present "Living Whist" at the opera house about the 30th.

Rev. H. W. Pope of New Haven, Ct., is to preach in the Congregational church next Sunday morning and evening. Rev. Mr. Pope was formerly pastor of the church.

At the meeting of the Sunday Evening Club of the Congregational church last Sunday it was voted to discontinue the Sunday evening services through July and August.

Work was begun Monday morning on the West Main and Thorndike street sewer by Contractor M. J. Dillon. The contract calls for the completion of the work within forty days.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Everett Haynes and son of Springfield, who have been at Fairview Farm for a few days visiting Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Kendall, returned to their home this week.

There was a pleasant gathering of young people at the home of Mr. John Newman on West Main street last evening, when his daughter, Miss Theresa, gave a birthday party.

Stephen Millard, 61, who came from Belchertown about two months ago to live with his brother William on Pine street, died Wednesday noon. The funeral was held to-day.

The case of Henry McGilp against the town of Belchertown, for damages received by reason of a defective highway, is to come up in the present term of the superior court at Northampton.

The services at St. Thomas's Catholic church next Sunday, the second after Pentecost, will be at the usual hours: Masses at 8.30 and 10.30 a. m., Sunday school at 3 p. m. and vespers at 7.30.

Quite a number from St. Paul's parish attended the Universalist conference and banquet at the Cooley House in Springfield, Tuesday. Rev. H. F. Moulton read a paper before the conference.

The ladies of the Congregational society will hold a strawberry festival in the church vestry next Tuesday evening, when they will serve strawberry shortcake, ice cream, sherbet, strawberries and cream, etc.

Mrs. B. P. Morse has many friends in Palmer who will sympathize with her in the death of her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth A. Wilde of Holyoke, which took place at Clifton Springs, N. Y., last Saturday.

L. E. Chandler, chairman of the Republican town committee, has resigned, not being able to spare the time which is demanded of the chairman in order to have the duties of the organization performed as they should be.

About 400 more books were taken from the public library in May of this year than in the same month last year, showing that the townspeople evidently appreciate the new books which have been purchased by the directors.

Miss Tillie Lacouline, telegraph operator in the agent's office of the New London Northern road, has resigned her position on account of ill health, and will take a vacation of several weeks. She is succeeded by Miss Blanche Ramsden.

Charles, the six-years-old son of S. H. Hellyar, received a severe sprain to his left arm while playing with some other lads at the merry-go-round last Saturday evening, and it will be some weeks before he will have the full use of his arm again.

An invitation has been extended to the senior class of the high school to attend service at the Baptist church on the Sunday evening previous to graduation, when the pastor, Rev. C. R. Minard, will preach a sermon appropriate to the occasion.

The "Eagles" of this village defeated a Thorndike nine at Thorndike last Saturday by a score of 30 to 22, and will play the same nine on the Palmer grounds to-morrow afternoon. Louis Brainerd is captain of the Palmer nine, and Frank McIntire of the Thorndike nine.

The New London Northern road expects to inaugurate a new fast freight service to New York very soon. Two fast new steel freight boats, the Mohawk and Mohegan, have just been put into service, and a fast train to connect with them is to be put on. It will leave Palmer about five in the afternoon, landing freight in New York for delivery early the next morning.

At the Young Men's Library Association Monday evening nine new members were elected, A. T. Wing, J. C. Wing, W. H. Small, A. W. Thayer, Dr. G. H. Wilkins, Rufus Flynt, Rev. G. M. Gerrish, E. G. Childs and W. E. Hall. An amendment to the by-laws, allowing a majority vote of the members of the association to elect new members, was proposed, instead of a three-fourths vote as at present. The association was offered by the proprietors of the Palmer JOURNAL a file of that paper extending back a dozen or more years, which the association accepted and ordered the librarian to have bound.

ROLL OF HONOR.

List of Public School Scholars Perfect in Attendance During May.

The following is a list of the scholars in the public schools who have been neither absent nor tardy during the month of May:

Palmer.

High School—A. W. Thayer, Principal.

W. Clayton Barnes,	Harold W. Brainerd,
James Crowley,	Frank Dillon,
Harry Giffin,	Clifford A. Henry,
Clifton H. Hobson,	Ernest E. Hobson,
Frank S. Keith,	John E. Learned,
Henry W. McGilp,	William J. Morin,
Charles Leo O'Connor,	E'mer H. Powell,
Fred W. Powell,	John F. Roche,
William F. Sargent,	Albert D. Shaw,
Charles K. Stone,	Walter E. Tuthill.
Alice M. Armstrong,	Marion N. Andrews,
Fannie L. Barnes,	Josephine Brown,
Kate L. Buck,	Ethel E. Caryl,
Alice M. Collis,	Anna M. Collis,
Bertha M. Cross,	May Fiske,
Ruth Gager,	Nellie Finnerty,
Della A. Hastings,	Elizabeth Henighan,
Blanche E. Hellyar,	Rosie M. Holden,
Blanche T. Lyman,	Johanna Mahoney,
Nellie McMahon,	Ethel M. Miller,
Mamie A. Roche,	Lizzie Dunham.

Grades Nine and Eight—Miss Clara D. Eddy.

Allan Atkins,	William Barrett,
Louis Brainerd,	Francis A. Burdick,
Jennie E. Bray,	William H. Desmond,
Martha Fitzgerald,	Louise F. Hitchcock,
Helen C. Jenkins,	Marion G. Loomis,
Jennie C. Roche,	Walter B. Small,
Lucretia G. Sisk,	George L. Warner.

Grades Seven and Six—Miss Abbie J. Wallace.

Blanche Cross,	Rodney Caryl,
Mary Callanan,	Michael Dillon,
Lizzie Holden,	Mary Holden,
Raymond Hulbert,	Bridget Hopkins,
Edward Learned,	Kate Monaghan,
Vera Smith,	Grace Strong,
	Clara French.

Grade Five—Miss Helen L. Robinson.

Mary L. Baldwin,	Francis B. Barton,
Mildred J. Brown,	Everlena H. Ferry,
Pearl E. Fish,	A. Elizabeth Marsh,
Frank McDonnell,	Elizabeth McGuire,
Walter T. McGuire,	John R. Milligan,
	Joseph E. Slattery.

Grades Four and Three—Miss Mabel J. Sedgwick.

David Brown,	Elizabeth Chalk,
Howard Collis,	May Dillon,
Helen Ely,	Alice Gager,
Helen Grady,	Belle Jones,
May LaSalle,	Mary Learned,
Blanche LeGro,	James Miller,
Edward Prindle,	Iva Smith,
William Thompson,	Ella Webster.

Grades Three and Two—Mrs. E. S. Leach.

Robert Barton,	Thomas Conroy,
David Davis,	George Forgea,
Walter McGilp,	Ernest Prescott,
George Roach,	Walter Todd,
Marion Buskey,	Hazel Caryl,
Ethel Chapman,	Hazel Dillon,
Teresa Grady,	Florence Goodes,
Maud Helliwell,	Florence Henighan,
Irene LeGro,	Anna Marsh,
Mary Miller,	Olive Pope,
Alice Shaw,	Sadie Thompson,
Bessie Swann,	Addie Coles.

Grade One—Miss M. Eloise Stone.

D. Howard Brown,	Beatrice L. Dillon,
John Foley,	Daniel Harrington,
John Harrington,	Robert C. Laird,
Harry McDonnell,	Sopha E. Rice,
	Lucy Rivers.

Three Rivers.

Grades Nine and Eight—Miss Helen L. Sweet.

Eva Gauthier,	Mary Harrington,
Ella Holt,	Matilda Magee,
Earle Paine,	Ruth Ruggles,
Nellie Ruggles,	Nettie Trickett,
Arthur Twogood,	Merton Twogood,
	George Moore.

Grades Seven, Six and Five—Miss Jennie C. Twiss.

Nelson H. Freak,	Henry J. Gauthier,
Albert C. Grise,	Rosa J. Gokey,
Sadie M. Holt,	Nellie E. Lupien,
Rolfe H. Paine,	George A. Roberts,
H. May Senton,	Lena M. Lavine,
Arthur W. Provo,	Delia M. O'Connor.

Grades Four and Three—Miss Cora B. Clark.

Edna M. Avery,	Maggie J. Chambers,
Rosalma Fredette,	Lena Freak,
Lillian Abare,	Annie Lane,
Carrie L. Rickards,	Rachael Senecal,
Bertha Tracy,	Maud Wilson,
Willie Horan,	Henry Harrison,
Tommy Jones,	George Manning,
Glenn Paine,	John O'Connor,
Irving Shaw,	Leon Twogood.

Grade Two—Miss Katherine Twiss.

Anna Cole,	Lila B. Fish,
Rachael Chambers,	Mabel E. Collins,
May O'Connor,	Eliza Reid,
Clarinda Boissy,	Gertie Gauthier,
Sarah M. Barber,	Edith A. Fillmore,
Eva M. Freak,	Robert L. Geer,
J. Tuffield Barbery,	Clinton D. Frame,
Jerry B. Gernon,	Ralph L. Willis,
	G. Wilfred Lafortune.

Grade One—Miss Annie B. Crane.

Alphonse Abare,	Daniel Brosnan,
James Henderson,	Lillian Brown,
Selina Fountain,	Lily Gibouleau,
Alice Rickards,	Mary Riddle,
Hattie Ruggles,	Nettie Rogers.

Grade One—Miss Mabelle S. Merrill.

Elton Trickett,	Raymond Alden,
Eddie Barton,	Annie Brown,
Alcid Barber,	John Chambers,
James Cole,	Gedeon Gibonleau,
Dora Gauthier,	Albert Jenks,
Lizzie Jones,	George Jarvis,
Clarence Lupien,	Wilfred Mattes,
Nelson Mattes,	Leo O'Connor,
Maggie Reid,	Rachel Shaw,
	Arven Saunders.

Thorndike.

Grade One—Mrs. M. E. Murdock.

Armas Beiare,	Breneoux Belare,
Rosa Belare,	Anna M. Bouthillier,
Frank E. Bennett,	Henry Comes,
James F. Clark,	Frank Connors,
Cornelius Connors,	Edward W. Dailey,
Alphonse Chandonnais,	Alfred Chandonnais,
Charles Dunn,	Philip E. Fuller,
Fanny Gamache,	Fanny Gates,
George H. Gerald,	John J. Healey,
Jerry Lamery,	Mary Laplante,
Gordon Miller,	Thomas Murphy,
Mary McKenzie,	Florence Morse,
Clara Robinson,	Rosanna St. Jacque,
Nelson St. John,	Etta M. Sargent,
Daniel Sullivan,	Laura E. Trumble,
Edwin M. Walker,	Phardina Young,
	Laurish Zawrlenski.

Grades Nine and Eight—Miss Carrie A. Parker.

Stephen Clark,	James Hutchinson,
John Hurley,	Arthur Johnson,
John Murphy,	Blanche Murdock,
Dennis Mahoney,	Leon Page,
Della Sargent,	Burt Wheeler.

Grades Seven, Six and Five—Miss Annie E. O'Connor.

Patrick F. Daley,	Ceril E. Guay,
Lizzie A. Leary,	Francis J. Longtin,
Edward F. Mahoney,	Flora L. Morier,
Mary E. Morse,	Mary E. Robillard,
Joseph Chenevert,	Florence E. Gates,
Cora Girard,	Gertrude M. LaForet,
Margaret Mahoney,	Bridget Murphy,
Clovis Paradis,	Eva M. Smith,

Grades Five and Four—Miss E. W. Moffatt.

Arthur Bond,	Annie Brosnan,
John Rourke,	Irving Clark,
Mabel Clark,	John Connor,
John Crean,	Willie Crimmins,
Kittie Daly,	George Dunn,
Katie Dwyer,	Margaret Fleming,
Dalvina Fortier,	Ida Gates,
Homer Gay,	Henry Hobbs,
Kittie Holden,	Mary Holden,
Charles LaFarr,	Josie Mahoney,
Katie McKenzie,	Malcolm McKenzie,
Frank McIntire,	Sadie O'Keefe,
Bert Rich,	Harold Rice,
Delia Smith,	Arthur St. Jacques,
John Sullivan,	Bessie Trumble,
Ruth Williams,	Alida Woisard,
Eva Woisard,	Felicite Woisard,
	Malena Gingraw.

Grades Three and Two—Miss Minnie V. Jillson.

Lena R. Bennett,	Fred Bessette,
Ruth S. Bishop,	Ettie E. Bond,
Arthur Bouthillier,	Napoleon Boutot,
Annie D. Brosnan,	Rosanna D. Cadorette,
Peter Cahill,	Joseph Chabot,
William E. Chabot,	Malvena Chandonnais,
James Fleming,	Patrick Fleming,
Cecilia Griffin,	James Holden,
Florence L. May,	Edward Morse,
Florence A. Murdock,	Nellie O'Keefe,
George P. Reilly,	Emma M. St. Jacques,
Sidney R. Trumble,	Oviae Woisard,
	George Young.

Bondsville.

Grades Nine and Eight—Miss Dora L. Cleveland.

Elsie M. Alden,	Nellie E. Donovan,
Annie A. Fitzgerald,	Margaret Griffin,
Lou B. Moulton,	Gertrude O. Marsan,
Richard R. Bruce,	Willard J. Butterfield,
Patrick Sullivan,	Thomas Waterhouse,
	Charles H. Sharratt.

Grades Seven, Six and Five—Miss Josie E. Shea.

Lester F. Alden,	Alice B. LaCrosse,
Margaret L. Sullivan,	Ernest H. Chaffee,
Josie M. Shea,	Margaret Donovan,
John F. Griffin,	Lillie M. Ives,
Elizabeth D. Russell,	Edna B. Taylor,
Ruby E. Taylor,	Lydia B. Marsan.

Grades Four and Three—Miss Emma F. Barney.

Emma C. Bruce,	Edith Childs,
Josie Fenton,	Mabel M. Keith,
Kate Moriarty,	Mary Moriarty,
Ethel Perry,	Ida Tetreault,
Mary Sullivan,	Cora Ives,
Mary Clough,	Fred Capen,
Edwin Lamb,	Damase J. Pilon,
	William D. Rose.

Grades Three and Two—Miss Margaret T. Shea.

Arthur Stevens,	Nora Moriarty,
Viola Marsan,	Joseph Lusty,
Lena Girouard,	Elizabeth Ferris,
Ralph Chaffee,	Ruth Armstrong,
Alice Bond,	John Cavin,
Maurice Cavin,	Grace Childs,
Minnie Collins,	Michael Donahue,
James Fitzgerald,	George Fitzpatrick,
Bridget Glaster,	James Glaster,
Johanna Griffin,	Sofia Myal,
	Alma Pilon.

Grade One—Miss Harriet B. Thayer.

Fred Charron,	Michael Collins,
Eugene Fenton,	Willie Fitzpatrick,
Tommy Glaster,	Alphonse Morrissette,
George A. Moulton,	Wicety Pitoes,
Jessie C. Bruce,	Eva Carmody,
Lora E. Coté,	Bridget Griffin,
Gertrude E. R. Ives,	Annie M. Mayne,
Mary Quirk,	Nettie B. Stevens,
Nellie Sullivan,	Nellie Sullivan 2d,
	Alice Tetreault.

Wire Mill.

Miss B. M. Dowd.

Louisa Tracy,	Annie Tracy,
George Dane,	Sarah Huggard,
Mary Fortune,	Annie Ditto,
Georgiana Smart,	Emma Disley,
	Fred Disley.

A buck which brought a newly married couple to the train in this place Wednesday from one of the near-by villages had a pair of old boots dangling from the rear by a white ribbon, while a large card bearing the announcement "We're just married," dispelled any doubts which the casual observer might have had. The card still remained while the hack conveyed the bridesmaid and best man homeward.

Patriotic exercises were held in the schools last Friday afternoon. At the high school E. E. Ryther of Bondsville, commander of L. L. Merrick post, G. A. R, gave an interesting talk on his personal reminiscences of the civil war; at the grammar school H. S Hobson gave an instructive account of the cruise of the Kearsarge and her famous fight with the Alabama, and also exhibited models of the two ships. Mr. Hobson was a member of the Kearsarge's crew.

The Freeman's Journal of Cooperstown, N. Y., in its issue of May 28th contained the following item regarding a young man who has many friends in Palmer:

Henry J. Perry, son of Rev. E. A. Perry of this village, has, as a result of a recent competitive examination, secured the position of house surgeon to the Boston City Hospital for a term of eighteen months. This institution is the second largest in the world for the treatment of acute diseases, being exceeded only by the Hamburg Hospital. It contains 835 beds. Mr. Perry, who takes his degree of M. D. at Harvard in June, will continue his service at the Boston Children's Hospital until early in July, when he is to begin duty in his new position.

Memorial Day was appropriately observed by L. L. Merrick post, the Sons of Veterans and the Woman's Relief Corps. In the morning the first two named organizations, headed by the Columbian band of Thorndike, marched from Memorial Hall to North Main street, then were conveyed in teams to the cemeteries at Three Rivers, Four Corners, Thorndike and Palmer, where the graves of the soldier dead were decorated with flowers. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon Col. J. A. Titus of Athol gave an eloquent address on "True Patriotism," in Memorial Hall. The veterans turned out well, and their appearance was said by many to have been the finest they have made for years. The Sons of Veterans did escort duty, and although it was their first time on parade, they did themselves credit.

Probate Court Matters.

At the monthly session of the probate court held in Springfield Wednesday the following business relating to this section was transacted: Wills approved of—Lemuel H Brigham, late of Palmer, Linda H. Brigham executrix; Amos Munroe, late of Brimfield, Charles S. Tarbell executor; George H. Newton, late of Monson, Harriett T. Newton executrix; Walter H. Baker, late of Brimfield, Miriam L. Baker executrix. Administration granted in the estate of—Squire J. Ballard, late of Hampden, George T. Ballard administrator; Adolphus Dupont, late of Palmer, Charles E. Dupont administrator; Horace C. Smith, late of Palmer, George A. Smith administrator; Ellen E Peck, late of Monson, Carlos L. Peck administrator; William J. Murphy, late of Monson, Albert F. Folsom administrator. An account was filed in the estate of D. M. Havens, late of Wilbraham, Ira G. Potter executor. Assignment of homestead granted to Sarah V. Lombard, widow of John F. Lombard, late of Brimfield. Affidavit of notice filed in the estate of Margaret Meagher, late of Hampden, Charles C. Spellman executor.

BONDSVILLE.

Bert Sedgwick of New Haven was in town Monday.

George A. Jacobs went to Northampton Memorial Day.

The bakery has been moved from Parent's block into Sullivan's block.

Miss Mary Donovan of Ware spent Sunday with her parents here.

Mr. Downing and family were the guests of Rufus Bond a part of the week.

The next meeting of the King's Daughters will be held with Miss Lou Moulton.

Mr. and Mrs. William Morse of Ludlow were guests of Charles Collis over Sunday.

Mrs. Hannah Bishop and children of Gilbertville spent Sunday with Mrs. E. C. Russell.

Michael Sullivan has moved into his tenement recently purchased at the Collis auction.

The Epworth League holds its semi-annual election of officers at the parsonage this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Parent spent Memorial Day and Sunday with Miss Ora Parent at Smith College.

A number from this place attended the ball game between Amherst and Williams at Williamstown Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbridge Moulton have returned to their home in Holyoke, after a few days' visit with Henry Bolton.

Mrs. Helen Rasmussen was the guest of Rev. and Mrs. Robert Smith part of the week. Sunday evening Mrs. Rasmussen gave a very interesting talk drawn from her experience in Africa.

The Bondsville base ball nine was defeated in an 11-inning game at Warren Saturday. The Juniors were also defeated by the Crescents of Palmer on the home grounds Saturday morning.

Among those who spent Memorial Day here were: Miss Maggie Landers from Hartford, Miss Lizzie Clifford from Westfield, John Fitzgerald, John Fenton and Scott Merrifield from Springfield, and William Donovan from Indian Orchard.

THREE RIVERS.

Thomas McWhorter of Springfield spent Sunday here with his friends.

Mrs. Whittier and Miss Flower of Chicopee are the guests of R. C. Newell.

Miss Mattie Gcshen has gone to spend the summer with her parents in Saco, Me.

Mrs. Arthur Barton, who has been very ill for the past two weeks, is now recovering.

Miss Webb of Springfield spent Memorial Day with her sister, Mrs. A. W. Warriner.

Paige & Mason have moved their drug store into the building formerly occupied by A. P. Trudeau.

Mr. Stewart, overseer of the spinning room, spent Memorial Day with his family in Pawtucket, R. I.

Sumner Paine of Blackstone, who has been visiting his sfather, Emory Paine, returned home on Monday.

H. D. Geer has sold 32,000 bottles of horse radish this season, which is the most he has ever disposed of in one season.

At the Baptist church next Sunday them will be preaching by E. A. Thomas at 10.45 and at 7. Evening subject "Shibboleth!"

Mrs. Sarah Green, who has been staying with her daughter, Mrs. F. W. Lavene, has gone to Hills Grove, R. I., to spend the summer.

Last Friday evening the W. C. T. U. met at the Baptist church. Miss Lena Warriner of Palmer sang two solos. A large number were present.

Miss May Sears of New York, formerly a school teacher here, and Miss Hall, matron of the Virginia Day Nursery in New York, spent Monday with friends in this place.

H. S. Hobson of Palmer, by invitation gave before the grammar school of this place this afternoon his lecture on the battle ships Kearsarge and Alabama, illustrated by the models which he possesses.

A large audience was present at the memorial exercises held in the grammar school last Friday afternoon, four of the veterans of the late war being present. The programme was very interesting.

William Harron, clerk in Shaw Bros' store, and Miss Lizzie Korff, who has worked in the Palmer Mill cloth room for several years, were married on Tuesday of last week. Their many friends wish them a long and happy life.

The scholars who go from the grammar school to the high school this year are to have graduation exercises the 19th. Some are to write essays and others are to speak pieces, besides which there will be a class will and class history.

The overseers and their families and the office help of the Palmer Mill, also a few invited guests, enjoyed their clam bake in Mr. Cheney's grove Memorial Day, there being about 50 present. Thomas Holt did credit to himself in cooking the clams, several remarking that they were the best they had ever tasted. The most noted event of the day was the ball game, Provo and Frame battery for one side, Dr. Bliss and Twogood for the other. Four innings were played, and the score was 13 to 36.

THORNDIKE.

John Farrell of Waterbury, Ct., is visiting in town.

P. Flemming of Chicopee is here for a short vacation.

George Williams of Millbury spent part of the week here with his parents.

The ball nine will play the Wares on the church grounds to-morrow afternoon.

Miss Nellie Murphy of Enfield was in town for a few days this week, visiting friends.

Michael Keefe and Michael Holden have been drawn as jurors for the June term of the superior court.

The ball game on Saturday was very close and interesting, and was won by the Gilbertvilles by a score of 10 to 7.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Keith of Gardner have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Adams for a few days the past week.

Mr. Belaire met with an accident a few days ago in the mills, his foot being caught between the floor and the elevator.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McIlwain have been the guests of Mrs. G. W. Keith the past week, also Mrs. J. B. Adams and son of Westboro.

It has been noticed this spring that many of the fish in the river are found dead from an unknown cause, and covered with black spots, having the appearance of being poisoned.

Dennis Foggarty, who has lived in town for a number of years and who served as a private in the late war, where he was wounded in the leg, will soon leave for the soldiers' home in Maine.

Jerry Lynch, a former resident, was injured at Boston a few days ago by the falling of a large iron column from a building upon which he was at work. He is confined to a hospital in that city as a result of the accident.

Much praise is heard from the people in general who attended the exercises at the school last Friday for the fine work displayed in the assembly hall, which was done by the pupils. All join in saying that the employment of a teacher in drawing has been a grand success, and when music is introduced another step in the direction of progress will be completed.

The Thorndike Co. is making great improvements in the mills in the way of protection from fire, and men have been busy for several days laying pipe. The new tank which has recently been put into the tower of the No. 2 mill is now being lined with copper. The work is being done by J. H. Whittle of Worcester. The work which the company anticipates doing will cost several hundred dollars.

Miss Eva Chicoine, 18, died at the home of her parents on Sunday morning, after an illness of several months. The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon from the Congregational church, and was attended by a large number of relatives and friends. The floral gifts were many and handsome, particularly those sent by the King's Daughters and the Y. P. S. C. E, the former being a Maltese cross and the latter being a white pillow with the letters C. E. in red. Rev. E. B. Blanchard of Brookfield, a former pastor, officiated, and a quartette consisting of Mrs. G. M. Gerrish, Miss Maude Murdock, E. B. Williams and Thomas Chapman sang. The interment took place in the cemetery at the Four Corners.

Runaway Accident.

On Sunday a large crowd was brought together about 5 o'clock by a runaway which happened near the railroad crossing, when a horse owned by Mr. Jarvis of Three Rivers shied while coming down the hill toward the crossing, throwing him and another person by the name of Boscan out into a mud puddle. The horse ran around the B. and A. station and over the railroad track, carrying the two forward wheels with him, but was finally captured near the Four Corners. The men were slightly injured and the vehicle badly smashed.

Keefe—Griffin.

No recent wedding in this village has attracted more attention than the marriage of Miss Lizzie Keefe, a popular and well-known young lady, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Keefe, to John Griffin of this place, on Wednesday. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Francis Lynch, pastor of St. Mary's church, on Wednesday forenoon at 11 o'clock at the parochial residence, where the ring service was used. The bridal party arrived in carriages, and long before the appointed hour for the ceremony the street was well filled with friends of the bride and groom who were anxious to get a glimpse of the bridal party. The bride was handsomely attired in a gown of Persian novelty, with Persian trimmings. The bridesmaid, Miss Hannah Keefe, a sister of the bride, wore a dress of taffeta silk with Irish point lace trimmings. The best man was Jeremiah J. Kelly, a member of the firm of Walker & Kelley. Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Matthew Coffee, on Pine avenue, and was attended by members of the two families and a few intimate friends only. The newly married couple were the recipients of many valuable and useful gifts, including silverware, china, furniture, etc. Mr. and Mrs. Griffin left for Palmer amid a generous shower of rice, where they boarded the 3.12 p. m. train for Boston. Mrs. Griffin's travelling gown was of steel novelty goods, with braided trimmings. After a wedding tour of a few weeks they will be at home to their friends at their newly furnished apartments on Commercial street, where a reception will be given to their many friends.

BORN.

At Monson, 26th ult., a daughter (Gladys May) to Walter H. and May Williams.

MARRIED.

At Thorndike, 3d, by Rev. F. J. Lynch, John Griffin and Lizzie Lynch.

At Three Rivers, 26th ult., William Harron and Lizzie Korff.

At Monson, 3d, by Rev. W. H. Marble, Arthur E. Chilson of Springfield and Inez V. Ferry of Monson.

At Monson, 3d, by Rev. Thomas O'Keefe, Patrick A. Lyons of Springfield and Annie L. Cooney of Monson.

At Belchertown, 3d, by Rev. G. W. Locke, Avel S. Lane and Grace E. Morse.

DIED.

At Palmer, 3d, Stephen Millard, 61.
At Palmer, 4th, David Bodfish, 74.
At Thorndike, 31st ult., Eva Chicoine, 18.
At West Warren, 30th ult., Miss Minnie Collins.
At Ware, 28th ult., William F. Lawton, 74.
At Fitchburg, 23d ult., Harrietta A. Baker, 53 y, 8 m, widow of Charles H. Baker, formerly of Palmer.
At Boston, 29th ult., Nellie A., 22, wife of John H. Roche, formerly of Palmer.

CHOICE cabbage plants for sale. 4-10 H. D. GEER, Three Rivers.

FOR SALE.—A 2-story octagon bay window, as good as new. G. W. LYMAN, Palmer.

TO RENT.—Two tenements on Fox avenue. tf-44 Apply to G. S. HOLDEN.

FOR SALE.—Three bitch setter pups; three months old. For reference call on 2-9 G

The Journal.

FRIDAY EVENING, JUNE 5, 1896.

NEIGHBORHOOD NOTES.

MONSON.

LOCAL NOTICES.

25 Dollars Reward.

The above reward will be paid to any person for evidence that shall lead to the prosecution and conviction of any one engaged in the illegal sale of spirituous liquors or intoxicating drinks in the town of Monson.

J. H. THOMPSON, C. C. KEEP, H. SQUIER, } Prosecuting Committee.

Grammar School Graduation Programme.

The following programme has been arranged for the graduating exercises of the Green street grammar school, which will take place next Thursday afternoon:

Recitation. "A Flag on Every Schoolhouse." Mamie Looney
Salute to the Flag.
Music. "America."
Salutatory. Ralph Needham
Essay. "Shoes." Sadie Hobbs
Music.
Essay (second prize.) "Birds."
Essay. "Life of Lincoln." Arthur Vaille
Music.
Essay. "My Journey." Louise Shaw
Class Prophecies. Blanche Cushman
Double Trio.
Misses Brown, Moulton, Taylor and Saunderson, Messrs. Ellis and McGuire.
Class Prophecies. Martha Anderson
Essay (first prize.) "Birds."
Music.
Essay. "Mother Nature's Babies." Mabelle Crocker
Quotations.
Essay. "Faces."
Valedictory. Ruth Keeney
Class Song. Words by Helen M. Moulton

To-day, we children gather
With gladness and with song;
We've struggled with our lessons,
With lessons hard and long;
We've tried our teachers' patience,
Our superintendent's, too,
But still we know their value,
However ill we do.

Chorus.

Arouse you, boys! rouse you, girls!
With purpose strong and true,
We'll join on yonder hillock,
And stand for white and blue.

We've fought with mathematics;
Geography as well;
With history and grammar,
And little can we spell.
Sometimes we'd get a scolding
If well we'd not succeed,
But never in one instance
Without some pressing need.

Chorus.

We've conquered in a measure,
And now to-day we come
To bid farewell to Green Street
And to the Academy run.
One happy year we've spent here,
And now in hopes we go
To cast our lot with others,
And conquer every foe.

Presentation of "Bird Craft." Jay Gould
Class Motto—"To be, rather than to seem."

Observance of Memorial Day.

Business was generally suspended during the afternoon and evening of Memorial Day, and the streets were filled with people all day. At 10 o'clock a delegation from Marcus Keep post went to Moulton hill cemetery and decorated the graves of the 14 soldiers there, Rev. F. S. Hatch offering prayer; at noon the graves of soldiers in other small cemeteries were decorated, there being two in the Butler district, one—that of a Revolutionary soldier—in the North Main street, and also a Revolutionary and two in St. Patrick's. At 4:30 the exercises in Memorial Hall began. These consisted of the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner," by Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Forcross, singing by the Academy quartette and by a chorus of school children, prayer by Rev. Harry Blackford, and a fine address by Past Department Commander John D. Billings of Cambridgeport. The hall was packed to the doors. There were never more flowers on a similar occasion; they were tastefully arranged in bouquets and baskets, and there were evergreen wreaths for all graves of soldiers. Potted plants were grouped about the stage. The Grand Army, the Women's Relief Corps and the Sons of Veterans occupied seats in the center of the hall, and at the close the first two organizations, with the Monson Band, marched to the Center cemetery, where with appropriate exercises, including a prayer by Mr. Blackford, the graves of 53 soldiers were decorated. The Relief Corps served a collation to the soldiers and their sons upon their return to the hall.

Another Boundary Line Dispute.

Another boundary line question has arisen, this time over the one between the Methodist church property and that of Mrs. Luther B. Peck. The society claims that according to the terms of its deed, given by Alfred Norcross in 1851, it owns two feet of land north of the iron railing, and proposes to put a curbing in on that line. To this Mrs. Peck objects, saying that a boundary fence stood within six inches of the railing for about 40 years.

The society plans to make a number of improvements about the church and grounds, for which money is being raised. About $30 has been received by R. E. Shaw from the chain letters which were issued about two weeks ago. A contribution of $5 was received from New York yesterday, and several $1 bills have found their way to the treasurer. Several days ago one of the Methodist ladies raised $50 in a half day, and in another half day raised $67.

Some Think Kidnapping was Attempted.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Aldrich were caused considerable anxiety Tuesday by the non-appearance of their child Ernest at noon. They instituted a search for him but no one remembered of seeing him after he left school at noon. He arrived home about two o'clock, and told his parents that when he reached the foot of the schoolhouse hill a man who was driving south invited him to ride. He mounted the back end of the wagon and was driven rapidly away. The man did not allow his horse to slacken his speed until he reached a hill after passing the house of Melville Smith, and then Ernest says that he jumped from the wagon and ran back to Mr. Smith's house. Mrs. Smith gave him a lunch and started him toward home. He was afraid to return by the lower road, and crossing the pasture came up the upper road.

A Possible New Industry.

Monson was visited Tuesday by L. M. Reynolds, a shoe manufacturer of Brockton, who looked the town over with a view to locating a manufactory here. He is desirous of leaving Brockton on account of having had his property encroached upon by the railroad, and has several towns in mind, but Monson was the first he visited. He looked at two sites, the North Monson mill property, which is liable to be sold soon, and the "Turnout" property owned by the W. N. Flynt company. It is expected that the town will be asked to offer inducements to Mr. Reynolds to locate here, either by taking shares to the amount of $25,000, or by furnishing a plant. He now employs from 200 to 300 hands, and his pay roll is $100,000 a year.

Horse Stolen.

Tuesday night a horse, wagon and halter were stolen from the barn of William Reimers in Colton Hollow. A bag containing sawdust was also taken, but was dumped by the roadside. The harness was old and broken, and was left at the barn of Justin G. Carew on Colton Hill, and a new harness, whip and halter were stolen from there.

Are You ◆ ◆ ◆

wearing high shoes this hot weather and suffering with hot feet?

Low shoes are much cooler for a street or house shoe.

LADIES' LOW SHOES

were never so generally worn as this season.

With our large assortment it is almost impossible for anyone to ask for a style that we cannot show them.

◆◆◆◆◆◆◆

Geo. L. Fuller,

the distributor of fine fitting shoes.

Monson, - - Mass.

Mrs. W. H. Gifford has returned from a visit to Swansea.

Cecil Grant has the agency for the Ram's Horn, a Chicago publication.

Herbert W. Shaw is studying dentistry in the office of Dr. P. W. Soule.

Leon Hatch has secured the agency for the celebrated Veeder cyclometer.

George Beardow of Taftville, Ct., spent Sunday with C. R. Buffington.

Children's Sunday will be observed at the Congregational church the 21st.

R. M. Reynolds launched his mimic fleet on Reynolds's pond last Friday.

Dr. P. W. Soule attend the meeting of the State Dental society in Boston this week.

Mrs. W. S. Best of Roxbury, formerly of Monson, expects to spend the summer abroad.

Rev. Harry Blackford will exchange pulpits Sunday with Rev. T. C. Druley of Stafford.

Myron King and two children of Illinois, are visiting Mr. King's brother, F. M. King of South Monson.

G. L. Keeney has been granted a druggist's license, and A. M. Guilford has been granted an auctioneer's license.

Miss Inez V. Ferry and Arthur H. Chilson of Springfield were married at the parsonage Wednesday by Rev. W. H. Marble.

There will be a special town meeting to-morrow afternoon to see if the town will accept Stewart avenue as laid out by the selectmen.

Monson lodge of Odd Fellows will observe Sunday, the 21st, as a memorial day, and will decorate the graves of members of the order in the Center cemetery.

J. N. Graves has the contract for changing the barn on the Misses Williams property into a dwelling, also for making repairs upon the house occupied by A. A. Babbitt.

The concert given Tuesday evening by the Mt. Holyoke College glee, mandolin and banjo clubs was one of the best of the season, and was listened to by a large audience.

Rev. Harry Blackford attended the meetings in connection with the Union Association, at Springfield this week. His church was well represented, 13 members being present.

The Monson water system is being put in on Belmont avenue, and the house of Truman Watrous is to be connected. Mrs. John Flynt on South Main street has been connected this week.

Rev. W. H. Marble will preach Sunday in the M. E. church on "Patience," and will address the Young People's union at Hampden in the evening on "The future of young people's societies."

John Maguire has purchased land of Hamilton White of Springfield and proposes to open a street from North Main street to the New London Northern road, and to erect two or more buildings thereon.

The Monson Academy alumni dinner will be at the Century Hotel at 12:45 p. m. Tuesday, the 16th. Barges will convey the people who attend from Memorial Hall to the hotel. The tickets will be 75 cents.

Rev. F. S. Hatch is attending the anniversary exercises of Hartford Theological Seminary and delivered an address to the alumni Wednesday afternoon on "The relation of theological seminaries to the churches."

The King's Daughters have a "Rose party" in the parlors of the Congregational church next Friday evening. Coffee, ice cream and cake will be on sale. Entertainment at 8 o'clock. There will also be a pound auction sale.

Rev. C. H. Hamlin of Easthampton will occupy the pulpit of the Congregational church Sunday in exchange with Rev. F. S. Hatch. Mr. Hatch will address a union meeting at Easthampton in the morning on "Our Sunday's and how to use them."

The ladies' benevolent society of the Methodist church and the Epworth League held a joint sociable last Friday evening, including a pleasing entertainment consisting of recitations, singing and selections on an Apollo harp by Mrs. Rufus Leach of Somerville.

Mrs. John C. Aldrich received word from her sister, Mrs. Henry Dennison of St. Louis, who is well-known here, that although her home was in the path of the cyclone she and her family suffered no loss. Mr. Dennison wrote that he witnessed no such horrors during the war.

There is trouble which may result in a law suit between Austin Patterson and Thomas Mahoney over a tenement. Mr. Mahoney gave notice to the Pattersons that he should want their tenement several days ago. The Pattersons claim that they are unable to find a tenement into which to move.

Rev. C. H. Walters of Southbridge held the first quarterly conference of the year at the Methodist church Saturday evening. Reports were read from the various committees, and other routine business was transacted. Mr. Walters preached Sunday morning, and the sermon is spoken of in the highest terms.

Last Sunday morning a class of 27 received the first communion at St Patrick's church. In the evening there was a Sodality reception, and Father O'Malley of Chicopee Falls was present. Sunday afternoon at 4:30 there will be a parish meeting at the church to decide upon repairs to be made on the church and the house.

Several Monson people have received invitations to the wedding of Miss Mary Storm of Hinsdale to Rev. G. Henry Flint, assistant pastor of the Old South church of Boston. The wedding will take place in the Hinsdale Congregational church at 8 p. m. on Wednesday, the 17th. Mr. Flint was formerly a teacher in the academy.

The wedding of Miss Annie L. Cooney and Patrick A. Lyons of Springfield took place at St. Patrick's church Wednesday morning, Rev. Thomas O'Keefe celebrating low mass. Miss Moran of Willimantic was bridesmaid, and William Cuddihy was best man. The bride wore a dress of Nile green figured silk, and Miss Moran was similarly attired.

Word was received Sunday night from James Sullivan of Westfield that Patrick Connors, who left home without bidding farewell two weeks ago to-day, was at his home. Timothy, an older brother, went to Westfield Monday, but Patrick did not care to return home. Timothy brought back the bicycle which Patrick rode when he went away.

The many friends of Mrs. Clarissa Starks Thompson will be interested to know that her selection of poems is ready for publication. The collection will include the poems published last Christmas, "Snowflakes," "Time," "Thanksgiving Day in the Grand Army," "Two Churches," "Young America," "Easter," and others, about 30 in all. Some of these poems, besides "Snowflakes," have appeared in print, but many are new.

John Lewis of State street met with quite a loss last week Thursday night. A young colt owned by him was pastured at the Bradway farm in the Gage district. When the storm came up the colt was taken into the barn and hitched to a post by means of a rope tied in a slip-knot around his neck. A calf was taken into the barn later. The calf soon began to kick, and so frightened the colt that he gave a spring and pulled up the post. He then ran out of the barn and into the woods. He was searched for all night, and was found in the morning dead, having caught the post between a couple of trees and been choked.

At a meeting of the school committee last Friday evening it was voted to open the schools August 31st; to reappoint Miss Joanna V. Cantwell teacher of music; to transfer Charles L. Jewett from the intermediate grade to the grammar grade at No. 8; to transfer Miss Bessie Sutcliffe from the grammar grade at No. 8 to the grammar grade at No. 1, and Miss Joanna Leary from No. 1 to the intermediate grade at No. 8. It was voted to raise the salaries of Mrs. Fairfield in the Butler district, Miss M. Esther Keep in Silver Street, and Miss Cameron in No. 2, 50 cents a week each. The committee held a meeting Monday at No. 8 to inspect the heating apparatus, and it is thought that some radical change in the system will be made.

The Western Massachusetts Interscholastic Athletic Association meet will be held on Pratt field, Amherst, to-morrow, and Monson will be well represented. The Academy team which has won the banner for four successive years numbers 11 men, some of them new, but all good workers. The favorites seem to be Converse for the 100-yards dash, Christy for the mile run, Richards for the half-mile run, Phillips for the 120-yards and 200-yards hurdle; Avery, a new man, in the mile and two-mile bicycle race, is expected to be well to the front, and Bennett, last year's pole vaulter, will run both hurdles, and is expected to win good positions. Reduced rates are offered on the railroad; the fare for the round trip will be 85 cents, to go by regular trains and return by special if 100 tickets are sold; if not the return will be by the regular train. Monson people are manifesting considerable interest, and it is thought that there will be over 100 to go.

WALES.

Mrs. A. E Fox spent three days of this week with her mother in Sturbridge.

Mrs. C. M. Gale has opened a dressmaking room at her home. She has hired a domestic to attend to her household affairs, and will resume her former occupation, in which she excelled in her maiden years.

Rev. Charles Walters of Southbridge preached in the M. E. church last Sunday in the afternoon and evening. He was pastor of this church three years formerly, leaving it fourteen years ago. Many of his old acquaintances turned out to hear him, and were much pleased with his excellent sermon.

The Baptist May festival closed last Friday evening, and closing night was principally given to voting in the bicycle contest, which was to give a bicycle to the young lady who received the largest number of votes. Miss Cora Came led with 2215 votes, with Miss M. Warrington second with 1835. Several had complimentary votes amounting in all to about 300. The votes were sold at 10 cents each, and the contest resulted in bringing nearly $450. Lots of grumbling is heard of unfair treatment; the excitement is said to have been immense, and money flowed like water. At the closing vote 500 votes were put in for one individual.

WEST WARREN.

The schools closed this week for a three months' vacation.

Miss Minnie Collins died on Saturday; interment in Ware.

Miss Jennie M. Barton of Millbury spent Memorial Day in town.

Miss Hattie B. Thomas of Springfield is visiting Miss J. A. Johnson.

Mrs. David Milliken of Lowell has been visiting Mrs. E. M. Johnson.

Miss Lula F. Doane of Springfield is visiting her aunt, Josephene Merritt.

Miss Louise V. Dufrense is home from the French American College in Springfield.

G. A. Barton of Millbury played with the West Warren band at Bondsville on Memorial Day.

John M. Scott of Maysville, Ky., formerly of this town, spent a few hours with Mr. J. C. Grant last week Thursday.

WILBRAHAM.

Wesleyan Academy Commencement.

The commencement exercises at the Academy will begin next Friday and will close June 18.

A special feature of the week will be the 70th anniversary of the "Old Club," which will be observed Wednesday afternoon, June 17. Rev. William Rice of Springfield will preside, Russell H. Conwell will deliver the oration. General A. P. Martin of Boston, John R. Buck of Hartford and others will speak. The programme for the week is as follows:

Friday, June 12, 7.45 p. m.—Prize declamation; second and first years.

Saturday, June 13.—Written examinations, 7.45 P. m., principal's reception to senior class.

Sunday, June 14, 10.45 a. m.—Baccalaureate sermon by Principal William Rice Newhall. 7.45 p. m., alumni sermon by Rev. John W. Maynard, '77.

Monday, June 15—Oral examinations throughout the day. 7.45 p. m., prize declamation, Junior class.

Tuesday, June 16.—Oral examinations. 2 p. m., annual meeting of the board of trustees. 2.30 p. m., class day exercises of senior class. 7.45 p. m., annual concert, Van Veachton Rogers, harp soloist.

Wednesday, June 17.—Award of prizes. 10 a. m., report of annual committee. 2.30 p. m., seventieth anniversary of "Old Club." President, Rev. William Rice; orator, Russell H. Conwell. 7.45, p. m., reunion "Old Club."

Thursday, June 18, 9.30 a. m.—Graduating exercises. 1 p. m., anniversary dinner. 7.45 p. m., annual interview.

BELCHERTOWN.

Mrs. Daniel Ballou is suffering from a stroke of paralysis. Mrs. Ballou had her hip broken some time ago.

A quiet home wedding was celebrated Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ransom Morse, when their daughter, Grace E. Mose, was married to Avel S. Lane of this place. The house was decorated for the occasion with evergreens, ferns and flowers, the couple standing during the ceremony in an alcove formed of a decorated background of evergreens, ferns and flowers and lace curtains. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. W. Locke, and only the members of the two families were present. Mr. and Mrs. Lane left at once for Holyoke, where they will live. Mrs Lane had been for several years a teacher in the public schools, and will be much missed in religious and social circles.

The high school graduating exercises will be held the 16th with the following programme: Piano solo, Mrs. Richard Long; invocation, Rev. A. H. Manee; salutatory, "America's true soldiers," Eulick F. Sullivan; "True riches," Lilian M. Snow; vocal solo, "For all eternity," Miss Mabel E. Morse; "Unfortunate noblemen," Michael Sheehan; class history, "Value of knowledge," Eva E. Morse; "What is the best for a young man?" Jasper M. Knight; piano solo, Rondeau Brilliant, C. M. Von Weber, Mrs. Long; "Musicians and their music," Grace A. Fisher; "Congress and congressman," Simon Granfield; "We can make of ourselves what we will," Mary A. Mitchell; vocal solo, selected, Miss Morse; "The cloud on the horizon," Ransom M. Morse; "The closing century," M. Blanche Fisher; "Relation of enthusiasm to success," Lillia M. Davis; song, members of school, valedictory, "Good citizenship," Louis F. Lincoln; presentation of diplomas; parting hymn, music by Mrs. Richard Long of Belchertown and Miss Mable Evelyn Morse of Amherst.

WARREN.

The schools all closed to-day for the summer vacation of twelve weeks.

Henry Powers and family of Worcester have been visiting friends in town this week.

The engagement of Miss Mattis May Tisdall and Mr. Frank P. Stearns is announced.

Mrs. J. W. Chadsey and Miss Edith are spending a few days visiting relatives in Providence, R. I.

Mrs. Frank W. Barnes and children of Springfield is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Powers, for a few days.

The invitations are out for the wedding of Miss Mary Emily Lincoln and Mr. Walter Freeman, on the afternoon of June 10th.

The cemetery commissioners are having the pine lumber cut off from one of the lots recently purchased for an addition to the cemetery.

Mr. W. A. Jenks lost his valuable pet dog, Colonel, Monday. The dog was struck by the cars and received a broken leg, and had to be killed.

The selectmen and school committee will meet in joint session to-morrow to elect a successor to Mrs. Clara E. Dockham on the school committee.

The ladies' home missionary society of the Congregational church packed a box at the chapel Wednesday afternoon for a missionary in Northern Michigan.

Miss Nancy Green, who has been living in Washington, D. C., for the last eight months, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. M. G. Hitchcock, on Maple street.

Rev. F. J. Marsh of the Sunday School and Publishing Society, and Rev. R. A. Rowley, Superintendent for the state of Oregon, will speak at the evening service in the Congregational church Sunday evening.

A garden party was held at the residense of Mrs. E. F. Strickland Monday afternoon and evening for the benefit of the Methodist parsonage. Owing to the threatening showers and chilly evening it was not as well attanded as anticipated, but nevertheless about $40 was netted.

The musical vesper service at the Congregational church last Sunday evening was very largely attended, and all spoke in high terms of the music. The regular chorus was strengthened by the quartette from the Methodist church. The success of the service was due largely to Mr. Huchcliffe, the leader of the choir.

The graduating exercises of the grammar schools of both villages will be held this evening in the town hall. The class includes the following members: Gertrude Sperry, Alice Warriner, Francis J. Foley, Jennie Sullivan, Michael J. Hennebry, Susie Dexter, Olney D. Phelps, Mary E. Fagan and Ethel W. Smith.

The high school graduation exercises will be held next Tuesday evening in the town hall. President Merrill E. Gates of Amherst College will deliver the address, and there will be music by the members of the school. The members of the graduating class are: Miss Hermcire Delnce and Miss Mabel E. French in the college preparatory course, and Kate E. Lathe and Jennie E. Whiting in the English course. The class motto is "Esse quam videri," and the class colors are white and gold.

The new electric railroad is now this side of West Brookfield, and will enter Warren territory early next week. Although it was stated recently by one in authority that it was to be built through to West Warren, it is the general belief that it will not be built now beyond the dry bridge at the head of Main street. That being the case, the selectmen may place an injunction on their laying any rails whatever on Warren territory unless the line is to be completed to West Warren at once, or as soon as the necessary repairs can possibly be made.

Public School Teachers Appointed.

The teachers of the public schools have been re-elected for the coming year as follows: In the high school—Principal, Mary E. Burbank; assistants, Marion Hodgkins and F. Grace Smith; high school building, Isabella D. Knaut, Mary G. Shea, Florence Holman; East street building, Lizzie Cunningham, Mary Porter, Kate Dundergast, Ella Holman and Eva G. Oakes; Maple street building, Mary Cunningham; district No. 3, Annie H. Scannel; No. 5, Katie L. Walsh. The teachers elected in West Warren are: Frances D. Traverse, Katherine Brosnan, Anna Holman, Marion Hawley, Isabella K. Walker and Clara M. Bestick. The teacher of music will be Miss Mary Howe. The remainder of the teachers, which include the two grammar schools, have not been elected as yet.

BRIMFIELD.

J. P. Webber will celebrate his 80th birthday next Sunday by a gathering of all his children at the homestead.

Improvements on the Park.

Important and much-needed improvements are being made on the park under the supervision of Newton S. Hubbard, chairman of the board of selectmen. Years ago, this "common" was an unsightly spot, without trees, and cut up by cart paths. In 1852 a park association was formed by public-spirited citizens, and a large amount of money and much labor were expended in grading, laying out walks and planting shade trees. John W. Foster drew the plan of the park, and was a leading spirit in the enterprise. Rev. Mr. Morse, the pastor of revered memory, did much to promote the project. Another name mentioned in connection with the park is that of Gen. Fitz Henry Warren, whose picture hangs in the town library. Public-spirited citizens who could not give money, gave their time and labor towards thus beautifying their town.

The walks which were then so carefully laid out have been followed, until recent years, by those whose way has been across this part of the town, but lately a number of foot-paths have disfigured the park. An especially unsightly one has been trodden since the post office was moved to its present location, with its terminus nearly opposite the office. To remove any excuse for further trespassing on the grass, a new walk has been laid out from north to south across the park, about midway between the other two walks, running in the same direction. The walk is carried at each end to the adjacent highway by a nicely-constructed causeway. The footpaths which had worn away the turf have been neatly filled with soda. The improved appearance which the park already presents calls forth general praise. Some of the trees need trimming, and that will be done soon. If the telegraph poles can be transplanted elsewhere, next, there will be further cause for rejoicing. The telegraph line might just as well run south of the village, and the poles should never have been placed where they are.

The park is a notable example of a priceless gift to the present inhabitants of the town from those of a past generation. For this reason, as well as for its own value, such a legacy should be carefully cherished and improved by those to whom it has been handed down. One of the most important lessons to be impressed upon the young people and school children is the lesson of what they owe to past generations and the duty resting upon them to guard what has been provided for them at the cost of labor and sacrifice. There are object lessons in history all about us. Patriotism has other meanings besides going to war and defending one's country. The hardships and dangers experienced by those who planted and defended these homes make it possible for them now to be improved and beautified.

The spirit of rural and village improvement is generally and rapidly growing; towns are being benefitted by outward improvements and constantly increasing opportunities for culture. At the same time there is beginning to prevail a newly-awakened interest in local history. In New England there is indeed a close connection between the sentiment of reverence for the past and that of devotion to the public interests of to-day. The men who were foremost in making these old towns what they are, were examples of a broad patriotism. They considered the welfare of others instead of narrowly watching their own interests only, and they did not shrink, even from doing more than their share for the public good.

Sick stomach means sick man (or woman). Why not be well?

Sick stomach comes from poor food, poor nourishment; means poor health, poor comfort. Shaker Digestive Cordial means health and a well stomach.

If we could examine our stomach we would understand why it is that so little will put it out of order.

But, unless we are doctors, we never see our stomach. We only feel it. We would feel it less if we took Shaker Digestive Cordial.

Shaker Digestive Cordial makes your stomach digest all the nourishing food you eat, relieves all the symptoms of indigestion, acts as a tonic and soon makes you well and strong again.

The more you take, the less you will feel of your stomach.

At druggists. A trial bottle for 10.

LEGISLATIVE MATTERS.

BOSTON, June 3, 1896.

The opposition to the Whitney pipe line bill was not given up till the very last. After the bill had reached Lieut. Gov. Wolcott a request was made for a hearing in behalf of the gas and electric light companies, and their counsel, ex-Attorney General Pillsbury, Everett W. Burdett and J. Otis Wardwell, were given a hearing. But, in order to be fair, there were admitted, at the same time, the counsel for Mr. Whitney, ex-Mayor Matthews, ex-President Butler and ex-Clerk McLaughlin,—three well known ex's. Before they opened, Lieut. Gov. Wolcott said that the presumption was in favor of the bill, because it had passed both branches of the Legislature after discussion. The opposition brought out no new points. They argued that the Whitney bill was a club against existing companies, but there were no charges of improper means used to promote its passage, nor was there any new argument to effect what had been said in behalf of the bill.

Both branches are agreed upon an appropriation for state roads of $600,000. This is a tremendous amount to put into the roads during one year, plus what the cities and towns will spend on their own account, and it ought to result in a large improvement for the benefit of the public, as well as for the wheelmen who are the especial promoters of good roads in the state. There will be also the help which the state will give to the towns in the shape of road-making machinery, which will also promote to the tendency to pay more attention to the construction of good roads. The term of the chairman of the state highway commission, George A. Perkins of Cambridge, will expire soon, and ex-Senator Ledyard Bill of Paxton is after his place.

Both of the investigations into alleged wrongdoing which have been going on in the state house,—the Norfolk county investgation and the inquiry into the alleged effort to corrupt Senator Sanger—are to result in an outcome far short of the extreme penalty for crime. The Norfolk county investigators have found plenty of things which were not as they should be. Books have been burned, officials have run away, high prices have been paid, and there have been many irregularities which ought not to occur in the county offices. Yet the direct proof of crime is wanting, and the committee cannot report sufficient for a basis of an indictment. Hence the apparent of the matter will be its moral effect to restrain public officials and make them careful how they discharge their public trusts. It is probable that other county commissioners than those of Norfolk have been interested in this investigation, and that the probing into county methods has had its warning for men in different parts of the state. But if the results of the inquiry is nothing more than a stiffening up of the official methods and conscience, it will be much better than having had no inquiry at all, for if these practices had been permitted to continue without check it is pretty certain that this course could not have been tolerated long by the public without degenerating into something which would positively come under the ban of the law and be liable to consign its perpetrators to the state prison.

It has been impossible for the Senate and House to agree upon a bill to legislate out of office Abner C. Goodell, the wearisome editor of the province laws, who is piling up so large a mass of notes and references at the expense of the state that the value of the original work is seriously impaired, but it has been possible for the Senate to kill the appropriation bill for the prosecution of the work, and this is just what has been done. The public need have no fear that this means any less appreciation on the part of the state officials of the antiquarian and historical value of the province laws, or that they will eventually fail of being published.

The gas companies are surely on top this year, no matter how soon they may suffer a change of position before the next Legislature, for the veto of the Whitney pipe line bill leaves them temporarily free from this competitor, while the defeat of the municipal lighting bill removes the immediate danger of competition on the part of cities and towns. But the struggle has only begun. The question in this municipal lighting bill, as concisely put by James H. Mellen of Worcester, is whether the public shall continue indefinitely to pay a profit to a private concern in order to afford its stockholders a means of living at the expense of the public, when by engaging in the lighting business themselves the public can supply themselves at cost. This is on the assumption that the public can do the lighting business cheaper than the private corporation can do it. The experience of the cities and towns show that in some cases, at least, municipal lighting is a success, and this will always be a temptation to others to attempt it.

Lieut. Gov. Wolcott's veto of the Whitney gas bill came as a genuine surprise to the friends of the bill, and doubtless to its opponents also. The failure to sign caused some anxiety during the forenoon of Tuesday, but there had been no general apprehension of a veto. But there could be no question of the force of the arguments which were advanced, though they had all been advanced previously on the floor of the House, nor could there be any question that the House would sustain the veto. But the much ridiculed Bailey gas bill came in as the sole opportunity for a further trial for the Whitney men. It was originally a far different bill, but, after the House had conferred these extraordinary privileges upon Whitney, it was asked why as free liberty should not be conferred upon Mr. Bailey; if this is a fair bill for one party, it is fair for another So, half in joke, the House gave Mr. Bailey the exact bill which it had given Mr. Whitney, only with a different set of incorporators. After the veto of the Whitney bill came the opportunity for the Whitney company. They formed terms with the Bailey men and in that way made an effort to procure such modifications as would enable the bill to meet the objections of Lieut. Gov. Wolcott. This was done in the Senate on Wednesday, and the bill was put over to Thursday.

On Wednesday, also, the Senate passed to be engrossed the House bill for redistricting the state for councillors and senators, and for re-apportioning the representatives among the counties. Not a line was changed in the bill in either branch of the Legislature, though efforts were made to do so by members who were not satisfied with the plan of the committee.

On the same day the House passed to be engrossed the bill for a southern union station in Boston, in just the form in which it came from the Senate. There is reason for supposing that the bill will be signed and thus the way paved for the next great improvement in the terminals of the southern railroads in Boston. The bill was very strongly opposed in the House, and on the last day (Wednesday) there was distributed a strong brief against the bill by ex-Attorney General Pillsbury, in which he made many points against the bill and in favor of its reference to the next Legislature. But the opposition waked up too late.

The State tax will be $1,750,000 this year, instead of $1,500,000 as it was last year. There have been many heavy appropriations which were not included in the estimates of the auditor, which carry the expenses of the state to over $9,000,000. The income from the bank and corporation tax, the insurance companies, from invested funds, from the liquor license fees and other courses leaves pretty nearly the sum to be provided which is mentioned, and there is no reason to expect that there will be opposition. In some years the tax has been $2,500,000. Just think how much easier our state raises its money by having its people putting their hands into their pockets and paying the bills straight out than our national government does with issuing bonds and keeping the country in a stew lest there will not be money enough.

LANDON.

Mothers will find Chamberlain's Cough Remedy especially valuable for croup and whooping cough. It will give prompt relief and is safe and pleasant. We have sold it for several years and it has never failed to give the most perfect satisfaction. G. W. Richards, Duquesne, Pa. Sold by O. P. Allen, Palmer; Paige & Mason, Three Rivers; G. L. Keeney, Monson; A. P. Adams, Thorndike; William Kennedy, Ware.

Always in season, Hopkins' Steamed Hominy (Hulled Corn). Elegant lunch in milk. Qt. can, 10c.

Mr. James Perdue, an old soldier residing at Monroe, Mich., was severely afflicted with rheumatism, but received prompt relief from pain by using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. He says: "At times my back would ache so badly that I could hardly raise up. If I had not gotten relief I would not be here to write these few lines. Chamberlain's Pain Balm has done me a great deal of good and I feel very thankful for it." For sale by O. P. Allen, Palmer; Paige & Mason, Three Rivers; G. L. Keeney, Monson; A. P. Adams, Thorndike; William Kennedy, Ware.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER.

ABSOLUTELY PURE.

A cream of tartar Baking Powder. Highest of all in leavening power. —Latest United States Government Food Report.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall Street, New York.

Forbes & Wallace's,
Springfield.

A SALE OF BLACK SILKS.

At the peremptory auction sales of black silks held in New York last week, by order of Cutter's Silk Manufacturing Co., and the Phoenix Silk Manufacturing Co., our New York organization was a large buyer. The result is that we have a fine quality

BLACK SILKS TO SELL AT UNEXAMPLED PRICES.

Of the Phoenix silks we are going to sell—

At 35c a yard
—the 50c quality, 19-inch black surah.
At 55c a yard
—the 75c quality, 24-inch black surah.
At 55c a yard
—the 87½c quality, 21-inch black gros grain.
At 59c a yard
—the $1 quality, 24-inch black brocaded India.
At 85c a yard
—the $1 quality, 21-inch black satin duchess.

Of Cutter's silks—all pure dye silks—we are going to sell

At 69c a yard
—the $1 quality, 21-inch black gros grain.
At 89c a yard
—the $1.25 quality, 20½inch black gros grain.
At $1 a yard
—the $1.37 quality, 21-inch black gros grain.
At $1 a yard
—the $1.50 quality, 21-inch black brocaded satin taffeta.

This is by far the greatest sale of black dress silks that has been held in Springfield for a long time. Perhaps the conditions that make it won't occur again in a generation. Wise, careful, thrifty people will come, and come quickly.

GRADUATION DRESSES.

Stuffs for graduating dresses—white and cream cashmeres, silks, organdies, mulls and muslins—everything that is likely to be thought of, in bigger abundance than can be found elsewhere.

DRESS GOODS—

Cotton and wool cashmere, 36 inches wide, 19c and 25c a yard.
Wool cashmere, 38 inches, 37½c.
Wool henrietta, 38 inches, 50c.
Brilliantine, 38 inches, 50c and 75c.
Albatross, 38 inches, 50c.
Crepon, 38 inches, 50c.
Bedford cord, 44 inches, 75c.
Silk and wool fabric, 40 inches, 75c.
Figured silk and wool, 40 inches, $1.
Lansdowne, 40 inches, $1.

SILKS—

Figured India, 25 inches, 75c a yard.
Plain India, 25 inches, 50c and 75c; 30 inches, 62½c.
Crepe de chine, 23-inch, $1.
Satin, 20-inch, 75c and $1.25.
Faille, 20-inch, $1.

COTTON STUFFS, ETC.

Swiss muslins, 27 to 42 inches, 27½c, 15c, 20c, 25c, 37½c.
India linens, 27 to 36 inches, 6¼c to 50c.
Dotted muslins, 12½c, 15c, 20c, 25c, 37c, 50c.
India mulls, 36 inches wide, 25c, 37½c, 50c.
White French organdies, 36-inch, 25c, 50c and 37½c; 72 inches wide, 50c, 65c, 75c, 87½c, $1 and $1.25.

No trouble to show all we have, and we send samples with pleasure.

Left aisle.

Forbes & Wallace,
Main, Vernon and Pynchon streets,
Springfield, Mass.

ROOT BEER EXTRACTS—Hartshorn's, Hires', Williams', Bryant's.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

If it required an annual outlay of $100.00 to insure a family against any serious consequences from an attack of bowel complaint during the year there are many who would feel it their duty to pay it; that they could not afford to risk their lives, and those of their family for such an amount.

Any one can get this insurance for 25 cents, being the price of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy. In almost every neighborhood some one has died from an attack of bowel complaint before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. One or two doses of this remedy will cure any ordinary case. It never fails. Can you afford to take the risk for so small an amount? For sale by O. P. Allen, Palmer; Paige & Mason, Three Rivers; G. L. Keeney, Monson; A. P. Adams, Thorndike; William Kennedy, Ware.

W. D. KINSMAN,

We have provided bargains for you this month that will have to be picked up now or missed for the season. Bargains MUST be the spirit of June trading. Hot weather cannot interrupt progress here.

Muslin Underwear.

Better made, better wearing sorts than are usually offered at these prices:—

Umbrella Skirts—Extremely full for flaring skirts; excellent materials; dainty trimmings, $1, $1.25, $1.38, $1.50, $1.62, $1.75, $1.87, $2, $2.25, $2.50, $2.85, $3 and upward.

Short Umbrella Skirts—Newest 1896 styles, 87c, $1 and $1.25.

Corset Covers—Good materials; prettily trimmed; made to fit; 25c, 33c, 38c, 50c, 75c, 95c, $1 and $1.25.

Night Gowns—Extensive assortment at 75c, $1, $1.25, $1.38, $1.50, $1.62, $1.75, $1.85, $2, $2.25, $2.38, $2.50, $3, $3.50, $3.75 and upwards. Ten very special bargains at $1.

Hosiery Specials.

Fancy Lisle thread hose; embroidered boots, with plain tops; plain boots, with fancy tops; started the season at 50c; on bargain list now at 38c a pair.

Women's Fast Black Cotton Hose; special lot at 19c a pair.

Women's fast black cotton hose, high spliced heel and toe, Hermsdorf dye, 25c. a pair. Better quality, 38c; or three pairs for $1.

Summer Dress Goods.

Everything needful for hot-weather dresses. Too many sorts to name prices; newest importation of French figured organdies and dimities, Persian and Victoria lawns, French nainsooks and mulls, plain and dotted Swisses and fine India linens.

Shirt Waists.

We want the name and fame of selling the best $1 shirt waists in Springfield. It is the "West End;" stylish in cut and perfect fitting. Over 75 feet of counter room are filled with shirt waists in the basement. New designs in lawns, percales, dimities, chambrays, ginghams and linen batistes, $1, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75, $1.87, $2 and upward.

"Cyclist" Corsets.

Cycling and other outdoor recreations demand a proper corset for health and comfort's sake. Here it is. The "Cyclist;" cut short at hips; ventilating and plain; black, white and gray; $1.

W. D. KINSMAN,
Corner

Distasteful to every woman—washday and house cleaning time with their grim attendants; "aching back," "low spirits," "tired to death," "worn out," "out of sorts." Why don't you get rid of these things? Use Pearline. There are directions on each package that will show you the latest, safest, quickest, and best ways of washing. The wonderful success of Pearline (used by millions) alone ought to move you to try it. A trial means continued use. 472

Millions NOW USE Pearline

KIDNEY DISEASE,

Liver Complaint and Stomach Troubles Cured, Says W. A. Johnson, of

MILLER'S FALLS, MASS.

"At different times during the past thirteen years," says Mr. W. A. Johnson of Millers Falls, Mass., "my wife has been sick from kidney and liver complaint and ulceration of the stomach. Each time she has taken Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and it cured her. It is a family medicine with us and many of our neighbors."

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S

FAVORITE REMEDY

has effected cures after physicians had given up hope. It restores the liver to a healthy condition, and cures the worst case of constipation. It is a certain cure for all diseases peculiar to females, and affords great protection from attacks that originate in change of life. It cures scrofula, salt rheum, rheumatism, dyspepsia, all kidney, bladder and urinary diseases, gravel, diabetes and Bright's disease. In this last disease it has cured where all else failed. All druggists.

FINEST ROAD-BED ON THE CONTINENT.

BOSTON & ALBANY RAILROAD.

Only Double-Track Route to the West.

ON AND AFTER MAY 25, 1896.

Through Trains Will Leave Boston as follows:

No. 7.—Day Express.

8:30 a. m.—Daily, except Sunday. Has Wagner buffet drawing-room car Boston to Albany, there connecting with through cars to all points West. Stops at Palmer 10.53 a. m.

No. 15.—Chicago Special.

10:30 a. m.—Daily. The finest train running in New England. A solid vestibuled Wagner train, comprising buffet, library and smoking car, sleeping cars and dining car Boston to Chicago, via the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern R. R., and also via Michigan Central R. R.

No. 19.—North Shore Limited.

2:00 p. m.—Daily. Has through vestibuled buffet sleeping cars Boston to Detroit and Chicago, via Michigan Central R. R. Dining car attached at Albany.

No. 23.—Cincinnati Express.

3:00 p. m.—Daily. Has through vestibuled buffet sleeping car Boston to Chicago via Lake Shore and Michigan Southern R. R., and to St. Louis and Cincinnati via Big Four Route. Stops at Palmer 5.20 p. m.

No. 9.—Pacific Express.

7:15 p. m.—Daily. Has through sleeping cars Boston to Chicago, via Michigan Central. Sleeping car Boston to Buffalo, parlor car Buffalo to Cleveland, sleeping car Cleveland to Chicago via Lake Shore & Michigan Southern.

No. 63.—Albany Express.

11:00 p. m.—Daily, except Saturday. Has sleeping car Boston to Albany. Stops at Palmer 1.46 a. m.

TRAINS LEAVE PALMER FOR BOSTON.

3.45	a. m.	Express.
6.22	"	Accommodation.
7.32	"	"
8.25	"	Daily Express.
10.00	"	Express, except Sunday.
11.42	"	Accommodation.
1.40	p. m.	Express.
3.12	"	"
4.49	"	Accommodation.
6.49	"	Daily Express.
7.55	"	Sundays only. Express.
9.03	"	Express.

Time tables showing local and through service between all Stations, may be obtained at all ticket offices of this Company.

City Office, 366 Washington Street.
Station, Kneeland Street, Boston, Mass.
52-32 A. S. HANSON, Gen. Passenger Agent.

CENTRAL VERMONT RAILROAD.

NEW LONDON DIVISION.

TAKING EFFECT DECEMBER 22, 1895.

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

Leave Brattleboro, 5.40 and 10.30 a. m. and 4.25 p. m. for New London, connecting at Millers Falls with Fitchburg R. R., at Belchertown with Central Massachusetts R. R., and at Palmer with N. & A. R. R. for Worcester, Boston, Springfield, at New London with the N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R.
Leave Amherst, 7.05 a. m., 12.13 and 5.57 p. m.
Leave Palmer, 8.25 a. m., 1.50 and 7.00 p. m.
Leave Willimantic for New London, 8.25, 9.45 a. m. 3.25, 6.40 and 8.29 p. m.

GOING NORTH.

Leave New London, 5.20 and 7.40 a m, and 2.30 p. m.
The 5.20 and 7.40 a. m. and 2.30 p. m. run through to Brattleboro and make connections for the north.
Leave New London for Willimantic and intermediate stations, 10.00 a. m. and 5.25 p. m.
Leave Palmer for Brattleboro, 8.20, 11.00 a. m, and 7.10 p. m, connecting with express for Montreal. Also with Grand Trunk R. R. for the West.
Leave Palmer for Amherst, 8.20 and 11.00 a. m, and 7.10 p. m.

SUBJECT TO CHANGE WITHOUT NOTICE.

D. MACKENZIE, Supt. J. A. SOUTHARD, D. P. A. New London, Ct.
S. W. CUMMINGS, G. P. A., St. Albans.

NEW STOCK OF TEAS. 50c, 60c, 70c, black—Call for samples.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

BOSTON & MAINE R. R.

SOUTHERN DIVISION
(CENTRAL MASSACHUSETTS)
CORRECTED TO OCTOBER 6, 1895.

TRAINS LEAVE WARE:

GOING EAST

FOR Boston—6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14, p. m. Sundays 6.55 a. m.
RETURNING—leave Boston 8.45 a. m.; 1.30, 4.06 p. m. Sundays, 1.30 p. m.
FOR Worcester—6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14 p. m. Sundays, 6.55 a. m.
RETURNING—leave Worcester 9.15 a. m.; 2.25, 4.58 p. m.
FOR Oakdale, Hudson and Waltham—6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14 p. m. Sundays, 6.55 a. m.
FOR Gilbertville, Barre and Coldbrook - 6.55, 9.00 a. m.; 3.14 p. m. Sundays, 6.55 a. m.

GOING WEST

FOR Bondsville, Belchertown, Pansy Park, Amherst, Hadley and Northampton, 7.15, 11.24 a. m., 4.28, 6.47 p. m. Sundays, 4.35 p. m.
RETURNING—leave Northampton 5.55, 8.00 a. m., 2.15, 6.10 p. m. Sundays, 5.55 a. m.

D. J. FLANDERS, Gen'l. Pass'r. Agt.
W. F. BERRY Gen'l Mgr.

F. M. EAGER.

Boots and Shoes Manufactured to Measure.

REPAIRING NEATLY DONE AT SHORT NOTICE.

Dealer in Sewing Machines and Supplies.

Machines to rent or sold on monthly payments.

F. M. EAGER, PALMER.

WHEN BETTS WAS A MAN.

[CONTINUED FROM FIRST PAGE]

Although not gifted with keen perceptions, he soon learned more than he bargained for. In the first place, his guardians were doctors; in the second place, one of them was the head of an insane asylum; in the third place, they were bound for this establishment. By a triumph of reason, Mr. Betts surmised that they were taking him there; by another, they must look upon him as crazy. There were words he heard which added to his dismay. "Restraint," "violent case," "straight jacket." He was certain they were applied to him. His conception of insane asylums was vague, but they must be terrible places, and he felt the cold sweat form upon his forehead. What could he do? If he told them he was sane they would laugh at him. But no matter what they did, he would be a prisoner, perhaps for years, certainly for so long a time that Amanda would be forced to give him up.

Meanwhile the train had been merely crawling along, a fact on which the doctors commented with frequency. As its slow process annoyed his enemies, Betts picked up a crumb of comfort. What was bad for them could not be altogether disadvantageous to him. At last when the brakes were applied again, he felt almost cheered. Another stop meant at least a little postponement of his incarceration. Confused sounds were heard from under the car. Men were running about, steam was escaping from the engine, and now and then a hoarse order was shouted.

The colored porter opened the compartment door with an energy he rarely displayed. "You'se gem'mens required," he said briefly, and pointed to a man close at his heels. The stranger was clad in uniform and carried a musket. Betts noticed a sergeant's stripes on his arm.

"You're doctors, ain't you?" he said. "You're needed outside. We've got half a dozen men pretty badly hurt, and as many more who'll feel better to see you." But, as he spoke he looked more earnestly at the blue-clad figure in the corner than at the physicians.

One physician rose quickly. "Certainly, I'll go at once," he said. "Professor, you had better remain with our friend."

"Naw," interrupted the sergeant, "that won't do. There's work for both. We'll be glad to see you, too, captain," he added, addressing Betts, with a great deal more respect than he had shown for the doctors.

"There are reasons—" cried the one who had volunteered, but he checked himself and then glanced meaningly at his companion.

"Perhaps it can't be avoided," said the latter resignedly. "Our friend will come with us," and he linked his arm in that of Betts.

The little party lost no time in starting out. The train had stopped close to the edge of a deep ravine, across which ran a trestle. On the opposite bank the early morning light showed the figures of a considerable number of men moving about a freight car, which had been thrown upon its side and across the main line. Through the ravine ran a little stream, half way up the hither bank of which were grouped a company of militia. What had happened was briefly told by the sergeant.

The road here ran through a mining country, whose residents, themselves perennially ripe for a strike, had promptly taken up the cause of the dissatisfied railroad men, and had seized the opportunity to damage the trestle. In this they had succeeded to the extent of making it unsafe by the time the troops arrived. The militiamen, attempting to cross the ravine and to carry the natural stronghold on the other side, had been beaten back, their opponents' clubs and stones proving more than a match for the muskets which their commander was loath to use except for purposes of intimidation. Having signally failed in intimidating anybody, the officer was now awaiting surgical treatment along with a respectable proportion of his command, while the victorious foe, perched on the untaken ramparts, hurled derisive epithets at the beaten supporters of law and order.

"The boys are spillin' for another go at those chaps," the sergeant confided to his companions in general, but with a special reference to Betts. "They know how the laugh'll be on 'em when they get home. Licked by miners with clubs! That's a nice dose for the crack company of the regiment. But the captain's laid out and the only lieutenant we've got along's no good. See?"

"Those men have a strong position," observed one of the doctors.

"That's all right. If we had some one to show the way and was told to use our rifles for what they were meant for, the boys wouldn't be takin' nobody's dust up that hill," and again the sergeant looked at Betts. That gentleman said nothing. He was beginning to evolve an idea.

The doctors found that the need of their services had not been exaggerated. Nobody had been fatally wounded, but there were several cases of painful wounds and many minor hurts demanding attention. Both went to work with a will, keeping an eye upon Betts, to be sure, and feeling much relieved that the young man showed no disposition to make an immediate break for liberty. Soon the sergeant strolled up to him. The disgrace of his company was evidently heavy upon the non-com.

"Captain," he said, insinuatingly, "couldn't you do something for us?"

"Really, how can I, sir?" Betts answered, with his usual politeness.

"Why, easy enough. You ain't in the guard?"

"No," said Betts, truthfully.

"I kinder thought not, and so I've been tellin' the boys that here was a regular—"

"Oh!"

"I didn't see any harm in it since you've got on your uniform. So I told the boys here was a regular officer who could do the trick to a turn. They're hot for another turn, captain, and if you'll just ask 'em to walk up that hill with you and do business-you won't be lonesome.

Betts surveyed his surroundings. On the brink of the ravine where the train stood the passengers were gathered in a curious crowd. If he took to flight in their direction, a warning shout from the doctors would insure his capture. To attempt to get away along the gulch would mean his pursuit by the soldiers, who were certain to accord such a favor to the physicians whose coming had been so timely. The only way to freedom was toward the strikers. It did not occur to the young man that the mob was dangerous. His notions of madhouses monopolized all his fears. A deep groan from a patient upon whom both doctors were at work settled his determination. They were hurting their man dreadfully, but probably they would hurt him just as badly every day at the asylum.

[CONTINUED IN SIXTH COLUMN.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Merury,

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physcians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by Druggists, price 75c. per bottle.

Scrofula

Infests the blood of humanity. It appears in varied forms, but is forced to yield to Hood's Sarsaparilla, which purifies and vitalizes the blood and cures all such diseases. Read this:

"In September, 1894, I made a misstep and injured my ankle. Very soon afterwards,

A Sore

two inches across formed and in walking to favor it I sprained my ankle. The sore became worse; I could not put my boot on and I thought I should have to give up at every step. I could not get any relief and had to stop work. I read of a cure of a similar case by Hood's Sarsaparilla and concluded to try it. Before I had taken all of two bottles the sore had healed and the swelling had gone down. My is now well and I have been greatly benefited otherwise. I have increased in weight and am in better health. I cannot say enough in praise of Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. H. BLAKE, So. Berwick, Me.

Foot

This and other similar cures prove that

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills the best family cathartic and liver stimulant. 25c.

HOW TABBY SAVED HER KITTENS.—In the warehouse of George J. Appold & Sons on Water street are several cats which have passed through a strange adventure. Some time ago the old cat became the mother of two kittens, which grew to be favorites with every one in the building. One day the kittens were missing, and all efforts to find them failed. About a month after their disappearance a part of the platform in front of the building had to be removed in order to permit coal to be taken in. There, to the surprise of the porter, he saw the mother cat crouched beside a rat trap, inside of which were the two lost kittnes, receiving nourishment from her through the wires of the trap. The secret was out. The mischievous kittens had crawled into the trap which had long been out of use, and it had "caught" them. Their plight being seen by their mother, she sustained them in the manner which instinct suggested. The kittens had grown so large in the time they had been missed that they filed the narrow precincts of their prison.—Baltimore Sun.

Old Chopper, Good-Bye.

The modern housewife doesn't need the aid of the chopping knife in the preparation of mince pies. She uses None Such Mince Meat; chopped, and deliciously seasoned, ready to fill the crust. Made of the very finest, purest and cleanest materials—makes mince pies as fine in taste and quality as any home-made mince meat. Makes delicious fruit cake and fruit pudding, as well. Sold everywhere. Take no substitute. 10 cents package—2 large pies.

NONE SUCH MINCE MEAT

"Mrs. Peploe's Thanksgiving," a book by a famous humorous writer, will be mailed free to anyone sending name, address and name of this paper.

MERRELL-SOULE CO., Syracuse, N. Y.

No Gun is Fired

in battle on the flag of the Red Cross Society. All over the world it means mercy and help. So, in a lesser degree, does the Red Cross on Johnson's Belladonna Plaster. And it also means that this plaster—used and endorsed by the Society—is superior to all others. Try it for every ailment in which plasters are employed.

JOHNSON & JOHNSON,
Manufacturing Chemists, New York.

LARRABEE'S RHEUMATIC LINIMENT

A standard and sovereign household remedy for over half a century. It is a wonderful curative agent in all painful diseases, such as

Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Catarrh, Lumbago, Backache, Toothache,

and other painful ailments. To be had of all druggists, or by mail on receipt of 25 cents. Trade supplied by Geo. C. Goodwin & Co., or any wholesale druggist.

WINKLEMANN & BROWN DRUG CO.
BALTIMORE, MD., U. S. A.

GET OUTSIDE SOME GLASSES OF THAT ICE COLD SODA.

You will realize that there is some good left in life after all, and something to look forward to when you have had one glass, you will want another, and still another—sometime at least. So much for the pleasure of life. The necessities you will find amongst our things, and medicines to dispose of that disagreeable feeling which may be worse to-morrow if neglected. For all of which call at

ALLEN'S DRUG STORE,
Holden's Block, Palmer.

F. F. MARCY, PALMER, MASS.
Wholesale and Retail Dealer in

ALL KINDS OF LUMBER AND SHINGLES

Windows, doors, blinds, mouldings. Carpenters' and joiners' work done to order.

Also FIRE BRICK and CLAY for sale.

ard and shop at junction of B. & A. and N. L. N. Y. Railroads—west of Depot.

A NICE NEW LINE OF SAMPLES OF FOLDERS.
FOR DANCE PROGRAMS, INVITATIONS, MENUS, ETC.
Just received at the JOURNAL Office.

The Story of

Puritana.

Prof. Dixi Crosby, M. D., LL. D., who for thirty-two years was at the head of Dartmouth Medical College, belonged to the famous Crosby family of physicians, which for several generations has furnished more distinguished medical men than any other family in America. His father was Dr. Asa Crosby, of Dartmouth, who procured the charter of the State medical society, of which he was for thirty years a conspicuous member; one brother, Dr. Josiah Crosby, invented the invalid bed and the method of making extensions of fractured limbs by adhesive strips; another brother, Dr. Thos. R. Crosby, was chief surgeon in Columbian College Hospital during the war, and later professor of animal and vegetable physiology at Dartmouth College; while Dr. Dixi Crosby himself was the inventor and discoverer of various important improvements in medicine and surgery, including a new and unique mode of reducing metacarpophalangeal dislocation, opening of abscess at hip-joint, etc., etc.

At the early age of twenty-four his extraordinary skill and success in overcoming disease had already attracted the attention of medical men throughout the world, and won for him the highest honors. His greatest achievement was the discovery of an original method for perfecting and compounding in permanent form what has become known as his "prize formula," and which, under the name of Puritana, is legally protected.

The foundation of this remarkable medical discovery consists of simple New England roots and herbs, and the original family recipe for it has descended to the long line of Crosby physicians from their Puritan ancestors. Its peculiar vegetable composition rendered it necessary to brew it whenever needed in the ear'y days of its history, and after the scattering of the Puritan families to remote localities, where the necessary ingredients were not to be found, many attempts were made to put it up in permanent form, all of which failed until Dr. Dixi Crosby discovered means and methods, the result of which is: Nature's Cure compounded in the laboratory of Common Sense.

It cures from head to foot.

Puritana

Nature's Cure

For diseases of the Stomach, Liver, Heart, Blood, Kidneys

And for Weak Lungs, Starved Nerves, Fagged Brain

It cures after everything else has failed. It cures cases that have been given up as hopeless. It cures pleasantly. It cures positively. It cures permanently.

Puritana is the prize formula of Prof. Dixi Crosby, M. D., LL. D., for over 30 years at the head of Dartmouth Medical College.

Get of your druggist this great disease-conquering discovery (the price is $1 for the complete treatment, consisting of one bottle of Puritana, one bottle of Puritana Pills, and one bottle of Puritana Tablets, all enclosed in one package) or write us, and you will bless the day when you heard of Puritana. The Puritana Compound Co., Concord, N. H.

We sell the ROYAL WINTHROP GRAND.
Also the HERALD B RANGE, the two BEST STOVES made.

Shaw Brothers, Three Rivers.

Your credit is good—

Don't wonder if this means you. 'Cause it does. It means everybody who wants furniture, carpets, mattings, stoves or ranges, crockeryware, bedwear, baby carriages, or anything else in our line.

And the only requirement we make is that whatever terms of payment you agree to—you will live up to.

Have you ever noticed

how bright the handle of our front door is? Sapolio? Oh, no; just the ordinary usage of our trade.

"WHERE DIRT GATHERS, WASTE RULES."

GREAT SAVING RESULTS FROM THE USE OF

SAPOLIO

4-9

A Man With X Ray Eyes.

A Phenomenon of Nature in Springfield.

"There are many more things in Heaven and earth Horatio, than are dreamt of in your philosophy."

There is in Springfield to-day a man of modest demeanor who makes no pretensions to greatness, but who possesses the most wonderful gift of second sight and the power to penetrate beyond the veil that hitherto has proved impenetrable to science and baffled the hypothetical powers of divination. Prof. A. J. Salisbury has been a resident of Springfield for some time past, during which he has demonstrated in thousands of cases his infallible skill in correctly diagnosing cases that have baffled the skill and thwarted the effort of the best medical practioners of the old school. All to him through the intricacies and complications of diseases are clearly revealed to him through his wonderful occult powers of vision, no matter where in one's anatomy the seeds of disease may lurk, they are clearly revealed and accurately located by Prof. Salisbury without asking the patient a single question. On this fact hinges the success of the Springfield Magnetic Institute. Prof. Salisbury tells the people every pain and ache, and tells you how you feel better than you can yourself, and it stands to reason that the cure is half performed when you are sure you know what your ailments are. After Prof. Salisbury reads your disease, then F. W. Mappherson, M. D., a man of years of experience gives you the medicines for the disease you suffer from, and if possible a cure is speedily effected. And the Springfield Magnetic Institute has justly earned the title—the place where sick people are made well.

Office hours 1 to 6 and 7 to 9 p. m. except Tuesday and Thursday evenings. No office hours on Sunday.

Remember the place, 394 Main Street.

Room 12, (over Forbes & Wallace's,)

SPRINGFIELD, - - - - MASS.

Horse Blankets.

A full line, for both stable .....and street use.....

375 BLANKETS IN STOCK.

PRICES RIGHT.

D. W. Foskit,

Foskit's Mills.

FINE STATIONERY.

Many ladies are troubled to find just the size, shade or weight of correspondence paper which they would like. With some thing like

200 VARIETIES

To select from we ought to be able to please you. Any style of paper in any size or shape, and you may have 100 sheets or 1000, as you prefer. We'd be pleased to show you samples at the JOURNAL Office. Your monogram or initials embossed in color if desired.

HIRES Rootbeer contains the best herbs, berries and roots nature makes for rootbeer making. Take no other.

Made only by The Charles E. Hires Co., Philadelphia. A 25c. package makes 5 gallons. Sold everywhere.

PARKER'S GINGER TONIC

shates Lung Troubles, Debility, distressing stomach and female ills, and is noted for making cures when all other treatment fails. Every mother and invalid should use it.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists

HINDERCORNS The only sure Cure for Corns. Stops all pain. Makes walking easy. 15c. at Druggists.

WANTED—A MAN

in each county for one year to hire and superintend agents. $65 a month. State age, experience and references. Enclose stamp. THE HUBBARD CO., 1023 Filbert Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

EYES EXAMINED FREE.

Dr. Vineberg, Refraction Specialist,

wishes to inform sufferers of headache or nervous complaints arising from defective vision, can be cured by having glasses properly fitted to the eyes.

247 Main Street, - Springfield, Mass.

BRADLEY'S FERTILIZERS.
E. Frank Coe's Fertilizers.
Paris Green. Flagg's Horse and Poultry Food.
W. E. STONE, Palmer and North Wilbraham.

POSTAL

Telegraph and Cable Co.

Office in Holden's Block,

PALMER, : : : : : MASS.

Direct wires to New York and Boston. Office in all the principal cities in the

UNITED STATES.

PROMPT SERVICE,

REASONABLE RATES,

ALL BUSINESS

STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL

WALL PAPERS, MOULDINGS, ETC., AT MASON'S, PALMER.

FOR ALL KINDS OF JOB PRINTING CALL AT THE JOURNAL OFFICE.

"Come on!" Betts cried. The sergeant thrust a sword into his hand. Betts remembered the weapon he had left on the floor of his room, and that recalled the letter he had picked up. Even in his excitement he stopped to make sure that it was still in his pocket. Then he sprang forward, the sergeant giving a joyful warhoop, and started after him, and the rest of the undisabled militiamen swept down the slope. They cleared the brook with Betts still in the lead. As he began the ascent of the other side, he heard the doctors raise a great shout, and turning, saw one of them start in pursuit. After that fear leant him the wings she always had ready for her victims.

To the defenders of the hill the sight of the advancing troops gave the joy which precedes a battle believed to be won before it is begun. So speedy had been the first rout of the soldiers that now the mob could not wait for a second victory, and started pell-mell down the slope to hasten the combat. A well-aimed stone carried away Betts's hat. He stumbled over a boulder, recovered his balance and ran on. A gigantic rioter picked out the small man for his especial prey, and leaped toward him, waving a huge club, but Betts, with the dread of the asylum occupying his every thought, made no attempt to avoid the meeting. He did not even notice that as the big fellow loomed above him the club meant for his head drooped to the ground as the rioter's right arm fell to his side.

For that change in the situation Mr. Betts had to thank the sergeant, who, a dozen feet behind, chuckled as he slipped a fresh cartridge into the breach of his rifle, and then hurried on in pursuit of his leader. The wounded rioter, with an oath, drew a knife from his left hand, but he was too late. Bett's sword, swung instinctively rather than with deadly intent, fell upon the big man's shoulder, his foot slipped on a loose stone, and down he tumbled. The sergeant's bayonet persuaded him not to rise until he yielded himself a prisoner.

Other shots had followed the sergeant's, and two more rioters had dropped. Surprised at this change in the programme, and discouraged by the ignominious fate of their leader, the mob gave way precipitately, and Betts and his followers gained the summit in triumph. Once there the hero of the occasion discovered that he was sadly out of breath, that his legs ached, and that his throat was dry as a bone. Run further he could not, and for this good reason he paused disheartened.

"Captain," the sergeant panted, for climbing the hill had told on his wind, "Company B's your friend—for life. Anything you want—we'll do. 'T was great—the way—you cut—that big chap down—after I—winged him."

Mr. Betts almost forgot the asylum. It occurred to him that at last he must have acted like a man. Then like a flash his fears returned, for the pursuing doctor came in view.

"Any orders, sir?" asked the sergeant.

Betts's brain worked again. Here were 50 men ready to do his bidding. The doctor was hurrying toward him.

"Take that man," Betts commanded, shrilly, "and send him back to the other doctor. Don't let either of them cross the brook. Don't pay any attention to what they say. They're good enough doctors, but they're cracked about other people being lunatics. They'll tell you I'm one, but the truth is I was taking them to an asylum. Grab him!" the young man shrieked as his prosecutor still advanced. "If he won't go peacefully lock him up in a freight car, and put the other in with him."

The sergeant nodded. "Anything else?" he asked.

"Take him away quick, and if he gets noisy,"—here Betts paused to think of an adequate punishment—"kick him, and kick him hard. Kick the other one, too."

A moment later Mr. Betts felt avenged. The doctor, protesting vainly, was being dragged down the conquered slope by two sturdy privates. Behind him marched the sergeant grimly determined to see his orders executed to the letter.

"I beg your pardon," said a voice behind the hero of the day.

Betts turned, to face an elderly gentleman, who, standing hat in hand, forced a card upon him.

"I am a director of this railroad, sir," the new-comer went on. "These ruffians here held me a prisoner for ten hours, sir, captured my car, ran off with my engine, and forced me to eat with their leaders, sir. In defeating them you have done a great service to me personally, as well as to our company. Will you come with me to my car, sir? I shall be most happy to entertain you."

Mr. Betts was developing fast. Again he evolved an idea. Here was a friend who was evidently a man of influence. Thirty minutes later the director was in possession of such facts in his deliverer's story as the narrator cared to reveal.

"Let me think this over, Mr. Betts," he said. His guest remembered Amanda's letter, and improved the opportunity to read it. Like most of the lady's communications, it was brief.

"Pa has been here to see me and aunt," she wrote. "He is just as set as ever about the money, but he says if you can show it when I get back he will say 'yes' to us right off. And he has as good as promised to take you into his grocery, for I tell him he is getting old, and he knows it. I will be home on the Friday morning train, even if it makes me leave here in the middle of the night. I hate travelling like an owl, but your Amanda wants to see her Ally just as quick as she can."

"Now, sir," said the director, coming out of his meditation. "I will pledge myself that your doctors will pursue you no further. I feel a delicacy about offering you a pecuniary reward—"

"If I had $424," volunteered Mr. Betts, "I should be the happiest man in the world."

The director drew a long, narrow book from a travelling desk. A rumble beside the car had taken his companion to a window, from which he was watching a passenger train puff slowly in.

"That's the down night express," said the man of wealth. "It's moving up to the trestle to transfer passengers."

Mr. Betts did not heed him, for, looking from a window of the car just opposite he beheld the face which he had longed to see.

"There's Amanda, sir," he cried, "let me get to her quick."

"Certainly, my dear Mr. Betts," quoth the director, "but take this with you. She may be interested in it."

The muchtried suitor glanced at the slip as he dashed from the magnate's presence. He gave a shout of joy as he read:

"Pay to the order of A. N. Betts, $424."

The Ideal Panacea.

James L. Francis, alderman, Chicago, says: "I regard Dr. King's New Discovery as an Ideal Panacea for Coughs, Colds and Lung Complaints, having used it in my family for the last five years, to the exclusion of physicians' prescriptions or other preparations."

Rev. John Burgus, Keokuk, Iowa, writes: "I have been a minister of the Methodist Episcopal church for 50 years or more, and have never found anything so beneficial, or that gave me such speedy relief as Dr. King's New Discovery. Try this Ideal Cough Remedy now. Trial bottles free of LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

It May Do as Much for You.

Mr. Fred Miller, of Irving, Ill., writes that he had a severe Kidney Trouble for many years, with severe pains in his back, and also that his bladder was affected. He tried many so-called Kidney cures, but without any good result. About a year ago he began the use of Electric Bitters and found relief at once. Electric Bitters is especially adapted to cure all Liver and Kidney troubles, and often gives almost instant relief. One trial will prove our statement. Price only 50 cents for large bottle of LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

THE BEST SALVE in the world for cuts bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

SOME CURIOUS FACTS CONCERNING HEARING.

An inquiry was recently made in London as to the greatest distance at which a man's voice could be heard, leaving, of course, the telephone out of consideration. The reply was most interesting, and was as follows: Eighteen miles is the longest distance on record at which a man's voice has been heard. This occurred in the Grand Canon of the Colorado, where one man shouted the name "Bob" at one end his voice was plainly heard at the other end, which is eighteen miles away. Lieutenant Foster, on Perry's third arctic expedition, found that he could converse with a man across the harbor of Port Bowen, a distance of 6636 feet, or about one mile and a quarter; and Sir John Franklin said that he conversed with ease at a distance of more than a mile. Dr. Young records that at Gibraltar the human voice has been heard at a distance of ten miles.

Sound has remarkable force in water. Colladon, by experiments made in the Lake of Geneva, estimated that a bell submerged in the sea might be heard a distance of more than sixty miles. Franklin says that he heard the striking together of two stones in the water half a mile away. Over water or a surface of ice sound is propagated with great clearness and strength. Dr. Hutton relates that on a quiet part of the Thames near Chelsea he could hear a person read distinctly at the distance of 140 feet, while on the land the same could only be heard at 76 feet. Professor Tyndall, when on Mont Blanc, found the report of a pistol shot no louder than the pop of a champagne bottle. Persons in a balloon can hear voices from the earth a long time after they themselves are in audible to people below.—Harper's Round Table.

Dangerous Drugs.

Avoid the use of white or pink headache powders, they contain dangerous drugs. Taylor's Anti-Headache Powders are brown; they look like ground coffee and they have a delightful aromatic taste. Try them once and you will never be without them. Get them of LeGro & Lynde.

"The kind Boss makes his Biscuits with."

PURE, STRONG, RELIABLE.

Is the verdict arrived at by Chemical Analysis of

BOSS BAKING POWDER

Economy, Health and Satisfactory Results attend its use.

MANUFACTURED BY
C. D. BOSS & SON, New London, Conn.

FOR ALL KINDS OF JOB PRINTING CALL AT THE JOURNAL OFFICE.

Palmer Savings Bank,

Palmer, Mass.

Hours from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m.

President,
H. G. LOOMIS.

Vice Presidents,
C. H. HOBBS. H. P. HOLDEN. C. F. GROSVENOR.

Secretary,
WM. W. LEACH.

Treasurer,
H. W. MCGREGORY.

Trustees,
James B. Shaw, E. G. Hastings, C. H. Hobbs, George Mooers, R. C. Newell, Geo. E. Buck, H. G. Loomis, F. F. Marcy, A. L. Hills, T. D. Potter, H. Waid, Wm. Holbrook, H. P. Holden, Wm. W. Leach, C. F. Grosvenor, Jas. S. Loomis, C. L. Gardner, H. W. McGregory

Board of Investment,
Geo. Mooers, H. G. Loomis, E. G. Hastings, C. H. Hobbs, James B. Shaw.

Auditors,
Wm. W. Leach, C. F. Grosvenor.

PRUNES—5c lb. Fair quality.
Extra large and fine, 13c lb.
Evaporated apples, peaches, apricots.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Reading a book

Won't tell you about your health. Ask your neighbor what he and his family took last Spring when they felt so miserable, so tired-out. He will tell you the standard family remedy for 30 years for Malaria, Chills and Fever, Lassitude, Scrofula, Rheumatism, and all Blood Diseases. A magic boon to tired mothers and puny children. It has cured thousands, will cure you. Nothing new about it; no trial remedy; no temporary stimulant. It does the work thoroughly, honestly, and it's "easy to buy," "easy to take."

DR. CLARK JOHNSON'S

INDIAN BLOOD SYRUP

50c. per bottle; all druggists.

Wall Papers.

New styles, spring patterns. Borders to match.

How nice your rooms will look with new paper on them, and more healthy, too.

For the . . .

largest and best assortment,

. . . go to

LeGRO & LYNDE'S,
next to post office, PALMER.

CARRIAGES.

I have in stock a large and complete line of fine and medium grade carriages.

Top carriages, - - $50 to $350
Open carriages, - - $40 to $200
150 second-hand carriages, $5 to $150

DELIVERY WAGONS OF ALL KINDS.

I have the right styles and low prices.

W. H. SMITH,

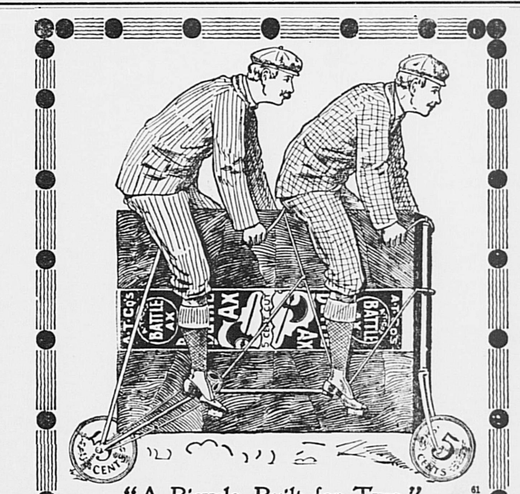
2 Park Street, Springfield.

FINEST STRAWBERRIES in the market. Received daily.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Young mothers dread the summer months on account of the great mortality among children caused by bowel troubles. Perfect safety may be assured those who keep on hand DeWitt's Colic and Cholera cure, and administer it promptly. For cramps, bilious colic, dysentery and diarrhoea, it affords instant relief. LeGro & Lynde.

BEVERE COFFEE—always satisfactory. Put up in red bags—only at Stone's. Chase & Sanborn Coffee.
W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Engraved Address Cards. Plate engraved and 100 cards printed, only $1.50. Styles change often—your old cards may be out of style, probably are—better have some new ones, with correct size of card and style of lettering. At the JOURNAL Office.



"A Bicycle Built for Two." 61

BattleAx PLUG

A GREAT BIG PIECE FOR 10 CENTS

Five cents' worth of "BATTLE AX" will serve two chewers just about as long as 5 cents' worth of other brands will serve one man. This is because a 5 cent piece of "BATTLE AX" is almost as large as the 10 cent piece of other high grade brands.

Teeth Filled Without Pain

BY THE "HALE METHOD."

The only known, tested and successful "method" yet discovered. Is endorsed by physicians, clergymen and all who have had teeth filled at my office during the past four years.

TEETH EXTRACTED WITHOUT PAIN

in fully 95 per cent of cases by the use of a harmless preparation.

"The Hale Method" is owned and controlled exclusively by me in Springfield and at no other office is it used.

LADY ATTENDANT. ELEVATOR

Dr. William L. Roberts, Dentist,

COURT SQUARE THEATRE BUILDING, SPRINGFIELD.

STOCKS. BONDS. GRAIN.

F. W. Davison,

BROKER,

Palmer, Mass.,

Correspondent of the BOSTON STOCK AND GRAIN E

The Palmer Journal.

VOLUME XLVII. PALMER, MASS., FRIDAY EVENING, JUNE 12, 1896. NUMBER 11.

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY EVENING
—BY—
C. B. FISKE & CO.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.—Two dollars a year. A discount of 25 cents to those who pay in advance. Six months, $1.00; three months, 50 cents; single copies, Agents.

ADVERTISING RATES.—One inch (or twelve lines of this type solid) 75 cents for the first insertion, 25 cents for the second, 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. Short advertisements, "Wanted," "To Let," etc., one cent a word for the first insertion, one-half cent a word each subsequent insertion, cash; no charge less than 25 cents. Notices in local column, 10 cents per line. Liberal rates to yearly advertisers.

JOB PRINTING of all kinds executed in the best styles, promptly and at reasonable rates.

C. B. FISKE. L. E. CHANDLER.

[Entered at Post Office as second class matter.]

LOCAL BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

PALMER.

ALLEN, O. P., Wholesale and Retail Druggist and Bookseller.

BARTON, F. D., Dealer in Watches, Clocks and Jewelry, Main street.

BILLS, G. A., Fresh and Salt Beef, Pork, Ham, Lard, Tripe, etc.

BROOKS, EDWIN E., Graduate Optician. With E. S. Brooks, Jeweler, Main street.

BROOKS, E. S., Dealer in Watches, Clocks, Jewelry, Solid Silver and Plated Ware, Main street.

BROWN, C. A. & CO., Hardware, Furnaces, Stoves, Ranges, Paints, Oils and Glass.

BROWN, S. H., Trucking, Light Jobbing, Piano and Furniture Moving. Order box cor. Main and Walnut streets. Orders can also be left at J. F. Foley's store.

CARPENTER, Mrs. L. E., Millinery and Fancy Goods. Also dealer in Human Hair Goods.

CHANDLER BROS., Bicycles.

CLARK & HASTINGS, Wholesale Dealers in Armour & Co's. Dressed Beef, Provisions, Main St.

EAGER, F. M., Boot and Shoe Manufacturer to Order, and dealer in Leather and Findings.

FISKE, C. B. & CO., Publishers PALMER JOURNAL and WARE STANDARD. Fine Book and Job Printers and Bookbinders.

FITCH, A. E., Law and Insurance, Savings Bank Block.

FRANCIS, R. B., Iron Foundry and Machine Shop.

GAMWELL, C. K., Ready made Clothing, Hats, Caps, Gent's Furnishings, etc.

GARDNER, CHAS. L., Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Church street.

GOODES, E., Palmer Boot and Shoe Store, corner Main and Thorndike streets.

HAMILTON, J. A., Dealer in all kinds of Coal, Wood, Grain, Flour, Baled Hay and Straw. Fertilizers and Stock Food. Main street.

HOLBROOK, C. D., Flour, Grain, Feed and Masons' Supplies, Main street.

HOLBROOK, J. F., Dealer in all kinds of Coal. Agent for National and White Star line of steamers. Drafts on Foreign Banks at lowest rates.

LEACH, W. W., Attorney at Law.

LEGRO & LYNDE, Druggists and Newsdealers, Paper Hangings, Shades, Lamps and Fixtures.

MARCY, F. F., Dealer in Lumber, Shingles, etc., wholesale and retail. West of B. & A. R.R. depot.

MARCY, OSCAR C., Livery and Feed Stable, rear of Converse House.

PALMER WATER CO., Office, Lawrence Block. Office hours to October 1, from 8.30 to 10 a. m., from 2 to 3 p. m.

SHAW, J. B., Dealer in Dry Goods, Groceries, etc. Opposite the depot.

WHITE, C. W., Marble and Granite Works. No. 1 Thorndike street.

WOOLRICH & CO., Manufacturers of Ridge's Food, Thorndike street.

THORNDIKE.

ADAMS, A. P., Druggist, Toilet Articles, Confectionery and Cigars.

BONDSVILLE.

HOLDEN, C. L., Dry Goods, Groceries, Clothing Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps, etc.

MORIARTY, M., Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots Shoes, Coal. Agt White Star and Anchor SS Co's

WARE.

ALBERTINE, J. A. Choice Fruits, Tobaccos, Cigars and Confectionery. Low Prices

DAVIS INSURANCE AGENCY represents the best companies and gives lowest rates.

DWIGHT, R. N., Harness, Horse Saddlery, Hardware. Repairing a Specialty. Next to Bank.

EDDY, C. W. Job and Fine Art Printer.

EDDY, MISS MATIE K. Teacher of Oil Painting and Crayon. Sketching or Art Work completed to order.

ELDREDGE, A. HENRY, Sign Painter. Carriages painted in the best manner. West Street.

HARLOW, A. B. Photographer. Instantaneous process only. Opposite the Bank.

HOSMER, F. N. Clothier. Hats, Caps, Gents' Furnishing Good, etc. Sanford's Block.

MARSH, F. E. Gold, Silver and Nickel Plater. Replating tableware a specialty. 7 Bank street.

PRIEST, J. E. Ware Steam Laundry. Carpet cleaning. Office at H. M. Clark's.

RICHARDSON, A. F. Dealer in Boots, Shoes and Rubbers of all kinds. Sagendorph's Block.

ROBINSON, JOHN F. Furniture, Sewing Machines, Pictures, Hardware, Paints and Farming Tools.

SIBLEY, J. B. Hardware, Tools, Agricultural Implements, Paints, Oils and Artists' materials.

SMITH, G. H. W. Jeweler. Watches, Clocks and Spectacles. Repairing in the best manner.

SULLIVAN & STRONG, Ware Cooperative Laundry. Fine Work and Carpet Cleaning. Office, 50 Main Street.

TURNER, H. H. Bookseller and Stationer, and dealer in Paper Hangings, Musical Instruments and Sheet Music.

MONSON.

GROUT, GEO. E. Dealer in Watches Clocks, Jewelry, etc. Towne's Block.

NEWTON, GEO. H., Law Office, Notary Public, Insurance, etc., near Gage's store.

SQUIER & CO., Dealers in Grain, Feed, Hay, Straw, Lumber, Shingles and Building Material.

WARREN.

KELLEY, W. H., Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Quaboag Block, Warren, Mass.

SOCIETY DIRECTORY.

MONSON.

MT. ELLA LODGE, No. 184, A. O. U. W. Meets first and third Tuesdays of each month in A. O. U. W. Hall, Monson.
ALEX. MURPHY, M. W., F. J. ENTWISTLE, Rec.

SEE
THE NICE

BICYCLE

$50

will buy, with all the latest improvements, including

LARGE TUBING,
BARREL HUB,
PATENT OILERS,
NARROW TREAD,
COMBINATION PEDAL,
ETC., ETC., ETC.

E. A. Buck & Co.,

Cross Block,
PALMER.

Mrs R. DeYoung, Middleburg, Ia., writes: I have used One Minute Cough Cure for six years, both for myself and children, and I consider it the quickest acting and most satisfactory Cough Cure I ever used. LeGro & Lynde.

WORCESTER SALT, 56 sacks for butter makers. W. E. STONE, Main St., Palmer.

A NEW STORY.

If we told you the same tale every day you'd tire of it. To-days story tells of tumble in dimities. We bought them at under price, and we sell them the same way.

28-inch DIMITY, 6 3-4c, WORTH FULLY 12 1-2c

New line of dotted Swiss, 15c a yard.

HOSIERY.

Ladies' seamless fast black hose, 12½c and 15c quality, for - - - - - - 10c
Ladies' regular made, fast black hose, very fine quality, 40 gauge, good value at 3 pairs for $1, - - - - - - - 25c

COTTON UNDERWEAR.

12c ladies' plain corset covers, - - - - 10c
39c " night dresses, - - - - - 29c
39c " white skirts, - - - - - 29c
Children's cotton drawers, all sizes, 10c up

GENT'S UNDERWEAR.

Gent's balbriggan shirts and drawers, - 25c
" French balbriggan shirts and drawers, (Worth 50c) 39c
Gent's silk suspenders, 35c quality, - - 25c
" Shawknit half hose, 3 pairs for 25c
" best quality, 2 " " "

NOTIONS.

Large cake buttermilk soap, - - - - 5c
8c card hooks and eyes, now - - - - - **"
6 spools basting cotton, - - - - - - **"
6 " black silk twist, - - - - - - **"
Combs, 5c 7c 10c 15c 25c Unbreakable.

RIBBED UNDERWEAR.

Ladies' ribbed vests, 12½c quality, - - 10c
" " " silk trimmed, - - 15c
" " " short sleeves, - - 25c
Children's ribbed vests, all sizes, - - - 10c
" " " long sleeves, 19c
" quality, - - - - - - 15c

FANS FOR GRADUATION,

in soft liasé effects—touched throughout with spangles, white and colors, - - 75c
Satin fans, very handsomely embroidered, small size, - - - - - - - 98c
Chiffon fans, hand painted, very delicate in effect, SPECIAL PRICE, $1.25

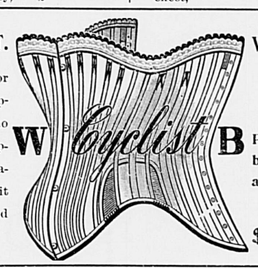
CYCLIST CORSET.

Especially adapted for cyclists, but equally appropriate for ladies who have large hip development and prefer a cutaway corset, by whom it is extensively worn and appreciated.



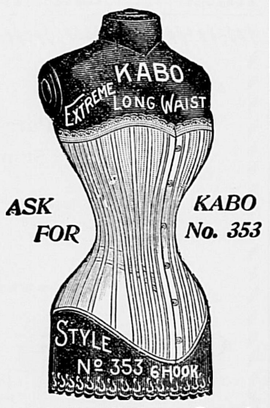
W. B. Cyclist and Athletic Corsets.

Perfect freedom, combined with the shape and gracefulness.

ASK TO SEE THEM.

$1.00 A PAIR.

T. H. TODD, = = MONSON.



ASK FOR KABO No. 353

Perfect fitting. Sure to give satisfaction.

Price only $1.00

For sale by D. L. BODFISH, Palmer.

There is one DRESS STAY that
Won't melt apart,
Can't cut through the dress,
Don't stay bent.
It is
BALL'S PEERLESS.
All lengths; all colors.

Dr. Daniels' Veterinary Medicines.

We always have in stock, the full line:

Condition Powders,
Worm Powders,
Wonder Worker Liniment,
Fever Drops.

AT LeGro & Lynde,

DRUGGISTS,

Next to Post Office,
PALMER. . . . .

CARRIAGES.

150 or more carriages of all kinds in stock. One of the largest varieties in this city. Am crowded to the roof and have 75 more carriages coming and no place for them. If you will take out your pocketbook and talk money we will for the next 10 days give you a BIG REDUCTION from the usual prices.

HARNESSES.

We have a big stock AT LOWEST PRICES. We always save you money.

If you want any kind of vehicle or horse wear you won't touch bottom prices until you get my prices.

D. N. BUTTERWORTH,

60 Dwight Street, Springfield.

Palmer Savings Bank,

Palmer, Mass.

Hours from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m.

President,
H. G. LOOMIS.
Vice Presidents,
C. H. HOBBS. H. P. HOLDEN. C. F. GROSVENOR.
Secretary,
WM. W. LEACH.
Treasurer,
H. W. MCGREGORY.
Trustees,
James B. Shaw, E. G. Hastings, C. H. Hobbs, George Moores, R. C. Newell, Geo. E. Buck, H. G. Loomis, F. F. Marcy, A. L. Hills, T. D. Potter, H. Waid, Wm. Holbrook, H. P. Holden, Wm. W. Leach, C. F. Grosvenor, Jas. S. Loomis, C. L. Gardner, H. W. McGregory
Board of Investment,
Geo. Moores, H. G. Loomis, E. G. Hastings, C. H. Hobbs, James B. Shaw.
Auditors,
Wm. W. Leach. C. F. Grosvenor.

Good stock and the best of care

PRODUCES

A 1 milk and cream.

MAPLE LAWN MILK FARM,

O. D. Wells, Proprietor.

One swallow does not make Spring, but one swallow of One Minute Cough Cure brings relief. LeGro & Lynde.

J. H. Rogers Carriage Co.,

MANUFACTURERS OF

Carriages,

AND DEALERS IN

Carriages of every description.

33 to 39 Sanford St., SPRINGFIELD.

We manufacture and carry in stock the finest line of carriages in New England. Come and look over our stock.

A FINE LINE OF SECOND HAND VEHICLES CONSTANTLY ON HAND . . . .

at very low prices.

F. MARCY, Wholesale and Retail Dealer in PALMER, MASS.

ALL KINDS OF LUMBER AND SHINGLES

Windows, doors, blinds, mouldings. Carpenters' and joiners' work done to order.

Also FIRE BRICK and CLAY for sale.

Yard and shop at junction of B. & A. and N. L. N. Y. Railroads—west of Depot.

A. H. HITCHCOCK,

OPTICIAN,

331 Main Street, Springfield, Mass.
Spectacles and Eye Glasses of all kinds. Artificial eyes furnished.
Oculists' prescriptions promptly and accurately filled.
Mail orders solicited. 13-tf

L. H. HENDEE, M. D.,

OFFICE AND RESIDENCE, PLEASANT ST.
Office hours 7 to 10 a. m., and 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m.

In the Spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughs of—DeWitt's Little Early Risers, for they always cleanse the liver, purify the blood, and invigorate the system. LeGro & Lynde.

SMITH & MURRAY.

SPRINGFIELD.

News of Dress Cottons.

From home and foreign looms came this collection of everything that is newest, brightest and daintiest.

Cotton simplicity; cotton elegance; and the price—lower than you'd expect.

Printed dimities, selected designs, were sold for 19c a yard, now 12 1-2c a yard.

Fancy dress ginghams, usually 10c a yard, now 5c a yard.

Fine wool challies, have been sold for 25c a yard, now 12 1-2c a yard.

36-inch percales, a hundred patterns to select from, usual price 10c a yard, now 6 1-4c a yard.

Pacific chambray prints, were 8c a yard, now 5c a yard.

Rear of main store.

Attend the wrapper sale. Values unapproachable.

49c, 89c, $1.29, $1.69, and $2.39.

Second floor, take elevator.

Perfumery Department.

French tooth brushes, 25c quality for 15c each or two for a quarter.

Special perfumery in the following odors:

Jockey Club, White Rose, Ylang Ylang, Violet, Heliotrpe, } Retail price, 25c an ounce. Our price now 12 1-2c an ounce.

Dress Trimming Department.

A purchase of beaded garniture in black and colors, at 50c on the dollar.

Trimmings that retail for 45c, now 19c yd.
Trimmings that retail for 75c, now 48c yd.
Trimmings that retail for $1, now 59c yd.
Trimmings that retail for $1.75, now 88c yd.
Trimmings that retail for $2, now 98c yd.

These goods are desirable, consequently we lay stress on the price difference in your favor. See the goods.

North store, center.

SMITH & MURRAY.

SPRINGFIELD.

POSTAL Telegraph and Cable Co.

Office in Holden's Block,

PALMER, : : : : : MASS.

Direct wires to New York and Boston. Office in all the principal cities in the

UNITED STATES.

PROMPT SERVICE,

REASONABLE RATES,

ALL BUSINESS

STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL

CARPET CLEANING.

Having put in machinery for cleaning carpets by the method of beating, brushing and airing, I am now ready to receive orders. Special attention paid to taking up and relaying carpets; orders by mail promptly attended to. Carpets called for and delivered free of charge.

26-52 GEO. B. KENERSON, Park St., Palmer.

ANY ONE CAN COOK WITH A

GLENWOOD RANGE

As it is fitted with a THERMOMETER attached to the oven door, that indicates the exact heat in the oven at all times.

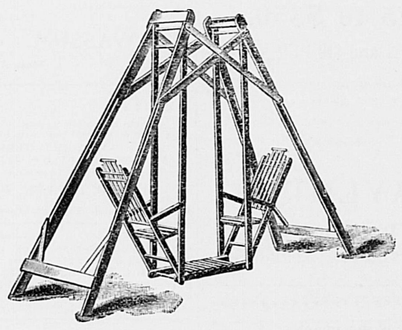
For sale in all prominent cities and towns throughout New England.

MADE BY WEIR STOVE COMPANY, TAUNTON, MASS.

LAWN SWINGS.

ONLY $5.00.



W. E. STONE, LAWRENCE BLOCK, MAIN STREET, PALMER, MASS. , . .

Teeth Filled Without Pain

BY THE "HALE METHOD."

The only known, tested and successful "method" yet discovered. Is endorsed by physicians, clergymen and all who have had teeth filled at my office during the past four years.

TEETH EXTRACTED WITHOUT PAIN

in fully 95 per cent of cases by the use of a harmless preparation.

"The Hale Method" is owned and controlled exclusively by me in Springfield and at no other office is it used. - - - - - - - - -

LADY ATTENDANT. ELEVATOR

Dr. William L. Roberts, Dentist,

COURT SQUARE THEATRE BUILDING, SPRINGFIELD.

"WHERE DIRT GATHERS, WASTE RULES."

GREAT SAVING RESULTS FROM THE USE OF

SAPOLIO

4-9

Little Maid-O'-Dreams.

Little Maid-O'-Dreams, with your
Eerie eyes so clear and pure
Gazing, where we fain would see
Into far futurity—
Tell us what you there behold,
In your visions manifold!
What is on beyond our sight,
Bidding till the morrow's light,
Fairer than we see to-day,
As our dull eyes only may?

Little Maid-O'-Dreams, with face
Like as in some woodland place
Lifts a lily, chaste and white,
From the shadow to the light;—
Tell us, by your subtler glance,
What strange sorcery enchants
You as now,—here, yet afar
As the realms of moon and star?—
Have you magic lamp and ring,
And genii for vassaling?

Little Maid-O'-Dreams, confess
You're divine and nothing less,—
For with mortal palms, we fear,
Yet must pet you, dreaming here—
Yearning, too, to lift the tips
Of your fingers to our lips;
Fearful still you may rebel,
High and Heav'nly oracle!
Thus, though all unmeet our kiss,
Pardon this!—and this!—and this!—

Little Maid-O'-Dreams, we call
Truce and favor, knowing all!—
All your magic is, in truth,
Pure foresight and faith of youth—
You're a child, yet even so,
You're a sage in embryo—
Prescient poet—artist—great
As your dreams anticipate.—
Trusting God and man, you do
Just as heaven inspires you to.—

—James Whitcomb Riley, in Ladies' Home Journal.

AN ARTISTIC BURGLAR.

We were resting on a seat by the seashore at Eastcove, whither I, the rector of Old Stanwick, had gone for a short holiday, accompanied by my friend and parishioner, James Ollacram, Esquire, the eminent iron merchant of our city. He had been out of sorts for some time, and this fact, I suppose, caused him to make the revelation to me which I have attempted to record hereunder.

When he had finished his tale I came to another conclusion.

"You may talk as you like," said my friend, "of the abilities of Campion or any other detective, and the very much overrated intelligence with which some men are endowed. There is, however, a great deal more of it, I assure you, in the novel than in real life. Now look around you," continued Mr. Ollacram, "and consider how many of our great crimes are brought to light. Why, not one-tenth of them, if we were dependent on the wisdom and sagacity of Policeman XX. If the criminal brings intelligence to his 'job' the 'force' is immediately at fault."

I looked at my friend earnestly. He seemed to speak with an air of warmth and knowledge which alike surprised and interested me.

"Yes," he continued, "I am an authority upon the subject. I have been a burglar myself."

"You?" I exclaimed in horror.

Then, rising from my seat, I almost started upon a run. He was a man whom I had esteemed and respected, and one of the very pillars of my church. Mr. Ollacram laughed quietly at my excitement. His coolness was irresistable, and I could only excuse him on the grounds that he had gone suddenly mad.

"You may stare," replied Mr. Ollacram, smiling; "but I assure you there is nothing out of the way in my assertion. Sit down again calmly and I will tell you a short story."

"In the early part of my life I was an artistic burglar, and made a considerable sum of money at the profession. The authorities never caught me, and I will tell you further that they never even suspected me of a crime. The reason is simple. I thought out my plans well before I put them into execution. I invariably laid little traps for the police who were to follow out my trail, and Sherlock Holmes, the prince of modern (story) detectives, would as surely have been landed in a quagmire had he come 'on' one of my burglaries, as he was in his adventure over the 'Yellow Face.'"

I reseated myself on the very end of the form and listened to the following revelation:—

"In those days I dismissed the question of morality from my mind altogether. I ignored all restraint except the restraint of public observation and public opinion.

"My part was studied from the beginning, alternate situations provided for, and once planned out I permitted myself to make no deviation.

"It was in this way that I carried out the burglary in the residence of our mutual friend and neighbor, Chumleigh, in Brown's Terrace."

"Chumleigh! Yes, I knew Chumleigh."

"The houses in the terrace were all alike, and as I lived in one of them with my parents I was perfectly familiar with the features of the others. I could 'go through' them by night as well as by day. Mr. Chumleigh was a respectable merchant, whose wife had recently died, leaving him with three children, the youngest of whom was an infant of but a few weeks old.

"His wife during her life had been a very fashionable woman, and was always very lavish in her display of jewelry. It was this jewelry that attracted me. I concluded that these articles of value would still be found on the third floor, lately occupied by that lady. I also came to the conclusion that Mr. Chumleigh now occupied a different apartment. I therefore determined to gain access to the room in which Mrs. Chumleigh had breathed her last. I trusted myself to be able to do the rest.

"I sent our maid-servant on one occasion to the housekeeper, requesting her to let my father try Mr. Chumleigh's latch key, on the plea that our latch key had been mislaid, and we were consequently unable to open the door. In a few minutes the girl returned, I had obtained the impression in wax, and the latch key, with many thanks, was back in the custody of Mr. Chumleigh's housekeeper. To manufacture a similar key was not a work of great trouble to me, and I thus obtained the means of quiet access.

"As I have said, I always arranged my burglaries with a preconceived idea. Accordingly I now picked up an old pair of boots that had seen their best days on the feet of a costermonger, doubtless, and a cap that would have been kicked by a workhouse messenger. I also obtained surreptitiously the awl, hammer and twine, or 'waxed end,' from a shoemaker who lived in the country.

"I next supplied myself with a used envelope, bearing a postmark, and a portion of a country newspaper. With these articles in my possession I felt satisfied, as an artistic burglar, that I could outwit the most skillful detective. I had, of course, also the usual and necessary instruments which pertain to the faculty of housebreakers, including a leather 'sucker' and a glazier's diamond, for the purpose of removing a pane of glass noiselessly, if it should be necessary to do so. My kit also included a small crowbar or 'jimmy.'

"Mr. Chumleigh stayed late at his club on certain nights, and knowing this fact, one night I 'cleared for action.' I smudged my

[CONTINUED ON FOURTH PAGE.]

AMONG THE FAIRIES.

HOW I CAME TO KNOW THE FAIRIES.

IN TWO CHAPTERS.

[Copyright, 1896, by Walter B. Guild, Boston.]

CHAPTER II.

I looked, and there was my own heart and other hearts all full of wishes, which we could read as easily as print. Close to mine was one named self, which was wishing for great wealth, for its own use and its own satisfaction.

When the heart had shown that wish written on it in big black letters there came a large team nearly full of gold and pearls and diamonds and fine clothes.

"I will state my wish tomorrow."

It soon began to ride over the other hearts, to squeeze out their joys and their goods and to put them all in a big wagon for Self.

Then the heart jumped up and commenced to drive the team and to pick fruit belonging to others and to gather into its own wagon all the wealth it could reach. The harder it drove and the more it gathered the more it wanted, and the smaller and poorer it grew. Soon it sent out a poisonous snake to bite others and to make them give still more for its wagon.

As the load grew and grew there came out wasps and mice, and Self shrank up more and more and looked meaner and meaner. Then the snakes, and the mice, and the quarrel birds who had been the servants of Self all began to sting and bite and gnaw him more than they had done to others, until at last, in agony, poor old Self shrunk up within himself and rolled off the seat down the precipice.

This was just about as you see the magic lantern show sail ships and make their pictures move, only this was not like pictures. It seemed just exactly the same as you do now to me while I tell you about it.

The princess said: "Poor little Self! Because he lacked true wisdom he has gone to the land of Selfishness. You see, Boy Mortal, that he had his wish; but just because he didn't know how to wish wisely, he lost life's best enjoyment."

"Why didn't you teach him how to wish," said I. "It was too bad of you fairies to let him waste all his life just because you never taught him how to wish."

"We wanted to teach him," said the Princess Beautiful, "but he would not let us, and chose another teacher. Now go to the queen and ask for what you most wish, but remember, Boy Mortal, that half of life is to know what you want. The getting is no more important than the knowing what to seek."

The Princess then parted the vines which formed the door of the tent, and we stood before the queen, and I said, "I will state my wish to-morrow."

The queen said: "To-morrow never gets here. It is always to-day. If wisely used, the warning you have had is enough. Now think a minute. Have you seen your enemy in the tent? Think before you speak."

Then the whole idea came like a flash. There was miserable old Self, who was the enemy to everything worth having. The Princess Beautiful had said that he lacked wisdom and didn't know how to wish. It seemed therefore safe to wish for wisdom, and I said: "Most gentle queen," (that is the way they all spoke to her) "I want to know how to wish and to have some real wisdom."

"Boy Mortal," said the queen, "that is the only wise first wish and the way to gain the most true happiness. Seek truth. Wisdom is her servant. Both of these shall wait upon you and be your servants if you truly wish for them."

"Most gentle queen," said I, "may I come here again some time?"

"Yes, Boy Mortal, any time you wish," said the queen. "Here is a little card of directions which you will need to study. Hold it before your eyes whenever you wish to see one of my messengers."

"Now, Boy Mortal, which do you choose, to ride to the brook on a float, or on the back of a flying cat?"

Having seen balloons and kites float in the air, I thought it would be more fun to ride on a flying cat's back, so of course I asked for a cat, and they gave me the one which had made me jump into the fountain. The instant my cat spread his wings both he and anything touching him could not be seen by people or animals outside of fairyland.

When I had gotten on his back he spread his great, beautiful wings and flew through another sparkling fountain. I was provoked enough at this trick to box that cat's ears, but he said: "I am your friend and meant to make you jump into the initiation fountain. Now you have been in our animal fountain you can understand all the animals and talk as much as you wish to all things in fairyland."

"Oh, thank you, dear, good, kind cat," said I. "Now, if you are willing, you may be able to tell me lots of stories."

"Well," said the cat, "you just hold on tight, as in order to get to your home in time to avoid too many questions we must go fast."

Well, after we left fairyland and were going home at the rate of about a mile a minute, the cat lit near the brook and walked alongside of me. He talked all the way, but acted like any common cat, for you see that with his wings folded people could see us as plainly as anything.

"Ask your mother," said he, "if you can bring home a big cat which you saw in the woods, and, if allowed, I will stay at your house most of the time. Meet me here if you can to-morrow." With that he said "Good-by!" and flew away.

When mother said that if I found the cat again and if he would stay we would keep him, you can just guess that I was happy and that I said "All right!"

Now, on a farm there are lots of chores for boys and girls to do. So after I had brought in the wood, the next thing was to see that the ice was chopped out of the brook enough for the cows to drink without any trouble. When this had been done, I turned the cows out of the barn, cleared out their stalls, put a nice new bed of meadow hay for them, and then rode the horse and led the colt down to the brook to drink.

When they had all drank what they wanted we turned around and drove the cattle back to the barn, tied them in their stalls, and fed the cows on pumpkins and hay and the horse on oats and corn and hay. Father then milked the cows, and the chores were done for the night.

From thinking of the flying cat and fairyland as soon as it was light I could hardly sleep and kept looking at the clock, so that I might be all dressed when mother called me down stairs for breakfast. When breakfast was over mother said: "Now for a little while you may try to find your cat, or, when you have braided your stent, you may try as long as you like."

In our neighborhood the boys and girls all had to braid straw for hats, and we had to do a certain amount each day. My stent took about four hours of work—two in the morning and two in the afternoon—and it was unusual for us children to do all of our stent in the morning. As I wanted to have a long time with the cat, however, and to hear his story, I did my full stent before dinner, and then all the afternoon was my own.

When dinner was finished it did not take long to get to the brook, and there, as nicely as you please, was the cat waiting for me. The first thing he said to me was: "You are starting right. I have seen you all the time. Lazy boys would not have done all their work in the morning as you have and would not have gotten so good a chance to hear my stories and see the sights. Hop on."

I climbed obediently upon his back.

I climbed obediently upon his back, and after flying about two minutes he lit and said: "Look around. What do you see?"

"Oh, everything," said I, "and there is a nice comfortable seat that is just my size."

"Well, sit down there, and I will tell you a story, but I want to say before I begin that you may call me Felinus. Don't call me Kitty, Kitty, Kitty or Puss, Puss, Puss, for that makes me think of some little house kitten. My name is Felinus.

"Now be quiet, and I will tell you about Midget and the Dragon," said the cat.

THE END.

SYMPATHY FOR THE ERRING.

I stood in the doorway of the express office on Twenty-third street one evening, says a Detroit Free Press man, when a shabby young man turned in and said:

"Look here, old man, I'm going to strike you fur ten cents, but I'll put ye on to a new racket to pay fur it."

"Well, what is it?"

"I have a new deal."

"You mean a new story?"

"That's it. I am not out of work—want to get over to Jersey—looking for a job, or anything of that sort. I've just escaped from Sing Sing and I am dodging the police."

"But its a fake story?"

"Fur sure, but it's a winner. Keep back in the dark, and I'll ring you in as a pard. Now hear me talk to this gent."

A well dressed man was approaching, and as he came opposite us the vag stepped out and halted him and softly said:

"You won't give us away, sir, even if you don't help us. We cut sticks from Sing Sing this afternoon and want to get over to Newark."

"Escaped from prison, eh?" queried the man, as he peered at me through the darkness.

"Yes, sir. In for five years for robbery. Don't give us away, sir."

"Um. Well, here's a quarter. I hadn't ought to do it, but—"

He passed on, and the vag came back to me with a chuckle, and asked:

"Did you hear it?"

"Yes, that's the new racket, eh?"

"Bran new, sir, and I invented it by myself. I kin play it on nine out o' ten and win every time, but I don't want to play it too often, you know. Thanks. That makes about a dollar I've taken in this evening, and I kin afford to haul off."

"Why didn't you try it on me?" I asked.

"On you? Oh, I seen you talkin' with the cop on the corner, and got on to yer line. It'll make a good item, but don't give it away fur a month. Then I'll be in Boston and won't keer. See? Funny thing, ain't it? Public will let an honest man starve to death, but cheerfully willing to help a convict along. Human nature, old man, and the feller who hits human nature allus wins."

RELIGION IS COSTLY.

Both as a purchaser of materials and supplies, and as an employer the church has important relations to business. It is manifest, therefore, that the financial affairs of the church must be on a large scale, when all its interests are considered. Its expenditures foot up to an aggregate which is truly enormous. Dr. Howard K. Carrol, in the Forum, states that it takes $10,355,000 annually to pay the bills of the Protestant Episcopal church; $23,863,000 to pay those of the Methodist Episcopal church; nearly $14,000,000 for the expenses and contributions of the Presbyterian church (northern); $11,673,000 for those of the Regular Baptists, and $10,355,000 for those of the Congregational denomination, making an aggregate of $88,000,000 every year contributed by 10,768,000 members—an average of $8.16 per member. The grand total for all denominations could hardly be less than $150,000,000, and it might be millions larger. Most of this is made up of voluntary contributions. The value of church buildings, lots and furniture, in 1890 was about $680,000,000. It is quite probable that it is now fully $800,000 000.

IRISH AS SHE IS SPOKE.—A story is told of an Irishman named Pat, who came to this country recently. One day he found a round bit of tin, stamped with the name of a big brewery. A policeman whom he consulted about it, told him for a joke that it was a 5-cent piece. So Pat went into a saloon and called for beer. He drank it and shoved the piece of tin across the bar. The bar-keeper pushed it back and said: "Why, man, that's tin." And Pat replied: "Faith, an' is it tin? I thought it were five; have a glass yourself, thin."

Of Interest to Women.

EDITED BY MISS F. V. DOANE.

Ask the Doctor.

In physical distresses we turn to our doctor; we depend upon him, we trust him, and his faithfulness never fails. When his best efforts have proved futile we know our sorrow in his sorrow; when he has brought joy to our dwelling our joy scarcely exceeds his joy for us. I have seen the quick tears in the eyes of many and many a doctor when he spoke of a patient lost, for whom for a time he had literally given his own life. How often is his great soul burdened with grief, how often has he suffered almost the anguish of a Gethsemane! We appreciate his patience and sympathy and skill when he is near, but when the cloud has passed and we need his services no longer, too often do we allow the flippant criticism, the hasty judgment to blight our regard and impair our confidence!

For five years I have been intimately associated with a woman physician. She has now and then found it convenient to ask my assistance, to confide to me her anxieties and to make me her companion to medical lectures and meetings. Thus I have occasionally been taken behind the scenes and have listened as the doctors have consulted free from restraint. I can truly say my former respect has deepened to veneration, and my interest to astonishment,—

"And still the wonder grew
That one small head could carry all he knew."

When a young man or woman chooses medicine as a profession it is done with the full understanding that a doctor sacrifices himself for the good of humanity. Devotion is taught to the medical student along with anatomy and materia medica, and the doctors talk about action that seems to me the ideal of self-forgetfulness as if it were a mere matter of course.

There are, of course, many questions and discussions and differences of opinion concerning diseases, etc., but their knowledge of all the conditions of health embraces all that is known. The most inexperienced doctor can tell you about sanitation, ventilation, how our houses should be furnished, taken care of, what food we should eat, how it should be cooked, how we should dress, and a thousand other things pertaining to healthful conditions that I do not know enough even to suggest. He knows these things comprehensively and scientifically. Then he goes from house to house, he knows all our circumstances, our means, our habits, our dispositions; there is precious little you and I could tell our family physician about ourselves or our families, but you may be sure he could tell us a great deal that we do not know. My wonder is that he does not tell us—women, housekeepers, mothers—more.

It is no doubt wisdom not to tell to patients and their friends what might unduly alarm,—and a doctor is the personification of discretion,—but there are facts of life connected with everyday affairs which he knows all about and of which we are profoundly ignorant.

Perhaps he does not appreciate our ignorance of things that are so clear to him, or it may be he fears giving offence; it might not seem to be good taste if he told a woman the air in her sitting room was poison, her house was dirty, her food unwholesome and her baby's clothes too tight, although he might think those things in a house where superficially everything might appear to be as it should be. But every doctor is a good talker and he will be true to his professional instinct; and, moreover, he will be glad to help you. If you ask him and he knows you are sincere, he will follow your leading and will be "like unto a man that is a householder, which bringeth out of his treasure things new and old."

These weather-changes and the hot weather bring diseases; "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure;" ask your doctor for suggestions, especially with regard to the care of the little ones; he will be sure to give you valuable information.

Mending.—Use knitting silk to darn cotton hose. Silk will not fade nor harden when laundered.

Use knitting silk to darn chamois gloves and Jersey undergarments. Darn tablecloths with fine linen floss.

Mark underwear with letters embroidered with red "coton a broder," size 16. Mark handkerchiefs with white "coton a broder." The proper embroidery stitch is an over stitch like that on Hamburg trimming. Mark the letters with a pencil; run these lines with the cotton, then embroider over and over the running. You can find fancy letters in almost every newspaper.

Care of Hairbrushes.

The hairbrushes on many of the daintiest dressing tables would strike terror to the heart of a physician were he to examine them closely. They are dainty, with silver or beautifully fragile handles, but the bristles! They may not look dusty or full of dirt, to the casual glance, but run the comb briskly through it, and see the particles fly! Every one of those atoms means death and disease to the hair, "the crowning glory of woman."

Hairbrushes, to be in good condition, should be washed once a week, and that very carefully, as too frequent exposure to water softens the bristles and spoils them.

One teaspoonful of ammonia in one quart of water is the correct solution, and in this the bristles of the brush should be dipped hastily in and out, taking care not to allow the back or handle to touch the water. Dry near artificial heat, but not too quickly.

For School Girls.

Until you make the attempt, you will not believe how hard it is to write in two or three sentences the gist of an occurrence, to relate what is necessary in a story, to describe an event or a person, without using too many words. The girl who can write a clever paragraph will in good time find a newspaper which will use her work. As between producing paragraphs or poems, I advise the paragraph as by far the better factor in forming a really good style. But if girls like verses, there is no reason why they should not acquire so graceful an accomplishment.

As for earning money out of school hours there are not many ways open to a girl. In the first place, the hours of a girl's life at school and at home are very full. She has her lessons to prepare, and there are usually some home duties which fall to her share. A schoolgirl must not overwork, for if she does she will neither do credit to her teacher nor to her abilities. We insist in these days that the best students are those who are in good health, able to walk, to ride a wheel, to play golf and tennis, and to lend a hand at whatever is going on. Pallid, attenuated girls are out of fashion.

The late Eugene Field once narrated a clever Tabor anecdote. According to Mr. Field, Tabor was dining with Roscoe Conling. When the fruit and nuts were brought on Tabor endeavored to crack a large pecan between his back teeth.

"Why, Horace!" exclaimed the amazed New York senator, "where are your crackers?"

"I ate them in my soup an hour ago," was Tabor's reply.—Chicago Times-Herald.

The Journal.

FRIDAY EVENING, JUNE 12, 1896.

PALMER NEWS.

LOCAL NOTICES.

Pianos tuned. Having had three years' experience with Chickering & Son, Boston, in their tuning and repair rooms, I am prepared to tune, cap, voice and repair pianos. All work guaranteed and orders promptly executed. J. Frank Normand, P. O. box 412, Palmer, Mass.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL GRADUATIONS.

Programmes to be Presented in the Various Schools Next Friday.

As announced some time ago, the school board inaugurates this year a new method for the passing of the scholars from the grammar grade to the high school. Many of those completing the grammar course cease their school attendance then, and in order to give them something to show for their work the committee will hereafter give certificates of graduation to all who have maintained a certain standing in the grammar grades. These certificates will admit to the high school, thus doing away with the old method of holding examinations for those who desire to enter. They will be presented next Friday afternoon, when graduation exercises will take place in the several villages with programmes as follows:

Palmer.

Essay. Theresa Newman. "Clouds."
Recitation. William Goodes. "Editing a Paper."
Essay. Francis Burdick. "Slavery."
Essay. Etha Turner "Evangeline."
Recitation. Forrest Whiton. "Collins Graves."
Recitation. Walter Small. "The Arsenal."
Music.
Recitation. Lucretia Siske. "Lily Servosse's Ride."
Recitation. Marion Loomis. "The Courtin.'"
Recitation. Louise Hitchcock. "The Tempest."
Class Prophecy. Etta Boright.
Valedictory. Catherine Cumstock.
Presentation of certificates.
Class Song.

Three Rivers.

Song. School.
Essay. Nettie Trickett. "The Story of Evangeline."
Recitation. Matilda Magee. "True Worth."
Class History. Ella Holt.
Declamation. Earle Paine. "O! Why Should the Spirit of Mortal be Proud?"
Essay. Nellie Ruggles. "A Trip Through Europe."
Music.
Recitation. Grace Holt. "The Day is Done."
Class Prophecy. Kittie Rock.
Recitation. Eva Gauthier. "Mona's Waters."
Declamation. Herbert Barton. "Barbara Frietchie."
Recitation. "Rock of Ages."
Class Will. Frank Twiss.
Recitation. Mary Harrington. "The Bridge Keeper's Story."
Music.
Presentation of certificates.

Thorndike.

Song. Angel of Peace."
Composition. Julia Dailey. "Life of Longfellow."
Recitation. John Hurley. Paul Revere
Composition. Della Sargent. "Evangeline's Journey."
Recitation. Dennis Leary. "The Rope Walk."
Composition. Thomas Kennedy. "Basil's New Home."
Recitation. Leon Page. "The Builders."
Composition. Daniel Crean. "Sisters of Mercy."
Recitation. Arthur Johnson. "Keramos."
Song. "Banner of Freedom."
Four scenes from "Miles Standish."
Characters: "Miles Standish," Agnes Murphy; "John Alden," Nellie Lawlor; "Priscilla," Blanche Murdock.
Presentation of certificates.
Song. "Prayer for the Republic."

Bondsville.

Opening Song. "The Happy Peasants."
Declamation. School. "Our Country."
Essay. John Ferris. "Evangeline."
Quartette. Emma Farr. "We are Nymphs of the Ocean Spray."
Declamation. Misses Moulton, Bond, Farr and Russell. "Duties of American Citizens."
Essay. William Clifford. "China and Japan."
Essay. Elsie May Alden. "The Colonies."
Music. Nellie Agnes Donovan. "Nature."
Declamation. School. "Victory of Perry."
Class History. Charles Herbert Sharratt.
Essay. "The People We Have Met Through Study." Florence Ethel Bond.
Music. Margaret Frances Griffin. "On the Waves."
Declamation. School. "Polish Boy."
Class Flower. Richard Russell Bruce.
Music. Christina Tenent Russell. 'Echo Song."
Class Prophecy. School.
Presentation of certificates. Lulu Berdina Moulton.
Class Ode.

BUSINESS AT THE WIRE MILL.

Something About the Latest Addition to Palmer's Industries.

One of the business firms which has helped to make Worcester what she is, is the Wright & Colton Manufacturing Company, manufacturers of poultry netting and wire cloth of all kinds. This is the company which recently bought the wire mill property west of this village and is now operating it. The mill was started the 12th of March for the manufacture of wire, and since that time an average of about three carloads per week have been shipped. The product of the mill consists of cast-steel card wire, rope wire, wire for button eyes, copper wire, wire for poultry netting, annealed market, and bright and lacquer-finished market wire. Besides these the mill turns out a tinned mattress wire which is acknowledged the best in the market. About forty-five men are now employed, which number will be increased to about sixty, as more machinery is added to the plant. Machines for the tinning of wire are now in process of construction. A galvanizing furnace is in process of construction, and the poultry netting wire will all be galvanized here after this season. The manufacture of screws and the wire from which to make them, is also done by this company.

A peculiar feature of this concern is that it is not dependent upon the market for the disposal of the larger part of its wire. The Wright company at Worcester uses about 3000 tons of wire a year in the manufacture of netting, and at least half of this will be manufactured here. In addition to this the concern has contracts for the production of a large amount of copper wire, and also for its tinned mattress wire mentioned above. The wire which the Worcester branch of the firm will use insures steady work at the mill the year around, a condition of affairs which Palmer merchants will thoroughly appreciate.

The mill is fully equipped with the best of modern machinery, especially designed for the work demanded of it by the officers of the company, and built and put in place by the firm's master mechanic, Mr. H. E. Ferry, who has for nearly a year been superintending the changes at the mill. Power is furnished by a 600-horse power Harris-Corliss engine, under the care of H. C. Manion, engineer; a 150-horse power boiler is at present used, but another is to be put in place soon. The company will install its own electric light plant, and expects to run night and day during the next netting wire season,—from November to June,—the balance of the time on a general assortment of wire. The superintendent of the plant is Mr. John C. Normand, who was with Washburn & Moen for 25 years, and has had a varied experience in the manufacture of wire.

The president of the company is Mr. G. F. Wright; general manager, George M. Wright; secretary and treasurer, S. H. Colton. George M. Wright, who is still in the thirties, is one of the shrewdest of business men, and by his clever management the Wright and Colton corporation has attained its present magnitude. The Palmer branch of the concern buys all of its supplies possible in Palmer, employs a large number of Palmer help, and has a pay roll at present of between $400 and $500 a week, all of which is spent in town. Palmer people will certainly have nothing but good wishes for the continued prosperity of the concern.

No Water Contract Yet—New Alarm Box for the Wire Mill.

The prudential committee of the fire district has not yet succeeded in making a contract with the Palmer Water Company for water for fire protection. The water company is apparently determined to have $1200 this year or nothing, and the fire district has ordered the committee to make the contract at not exceeding $1000. "And there ye are." The water commission made a proposition to the prudential committee to the effect that it would accept a three or five years' contract, at $1000 for the present year and $1200 for each succeeding year. The committee had no power to contract beyond this year, however, and so nothing could be done. There is a feeling among the voters that the contract should not be for more than one year, in view of the trouble with the cement in the pipe at the last fire. If the water mains are to continue shedding cement in the future as in the past, there is a question in the minds of some regarding the ability of the water company to fulfill a contract for five years to come. In the meantime people who are fearful lest no contract might mean no water in case of fire, need not let that trouble them. The water company cannot shut the water off from its mains, and in case of fire the fire engineers have the privilege of taking water wherever they can find it.

A new box, 39, is to be added to the fire alarm system soon, possibly next week, and is to be located at the wire mill. At the annual meeting of the district the matter of moving box 38 from Shearer's Corner to a point near the wire mill was left with the prudential committee. They hardly felt like moving the box away from the houses around it, and as the Wright company was willing to bear a part of the cost of a new box, making the expense to the district about the same as in the event of moving box 38, they decided to add the new box.

Fined $35 for Sabbath Breaking.

Thomas Moran, living on the road to North Wilbraham, whose case for Sabbath breaking was last week continued until Monday in the district court, withdrew his former plea of not guilty when the case was called on Monday, pleaded guilty and was fined $35, the case being continued until to-morrow for performance of sentence.

Clarence Wing is home from Peekskill, N. Y.

C. R. LeGro spent Sunday with friends in Amherst.

Mrs. E. H. Truesdell is ill with a serious stomach complaint.

Miss B. A. Murphy spent Sunday with her cousin in Springfield.

Miss May Cody of Amherst spent Sunday with Miss Ida Barrett.

Mrs. Arnold of Pawtucket, R. I., is visiting her mother, Mrs. L. B. Fish.

Miss May Parsons of Springfield spent Sunday with Miss Mabel Smith.

Mrs. Cornelius Wilson of Hartford is visiting her daughter, Mrs. H. C. Strong.

Mr. and Mrs. William Oare are spending a vacation in New York and Brooklyn.

Mrs. H. S. Hobson visited her aunt, Mrs. H. E. Abbey, in Springfield, Sunday.

Miss Agnes Maney of Boston spent a part of last week with Mrs. Thomas Roche.

Miss Addie Rogers is home from the Albany academy for her summer vacation.

Charles Atkins is home for the summer vacation from Worcester Military Academy.

Rev. Harvey Smith of Hazardville, Ct., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Cambridge Moulton.

Miss Collins of Winchendon has been the guest this week of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Holbrook.

Miss L. H. Brigham has gone to Mechanicsville, N. Y., for a stay of a couple of weeks.

Miss Ruth Hendee of Albany, New York, is the guest of her brother, Dr. L. H. Hendee.

Mrs. J. W. Bray and two children of Florence have been spending the week with Mrs. G. H. Bray.

George Keith had a valuable driving horse die Wednesday night of inflammation of the bowels.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Allen of Belchertown were guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Rice, Tuesday.

Mrs. H. M. Auger of Jamaica, N. Y., is visiting at the home of E. G. Hastings on North Main street.

A few from this place attended the Western Massachusetts Interscholastic athletic meet at Amherst Saturday.

The freshmen of the high school have organized a baseball team; Clifton Hobson is captain and Harry Giffin is manager.

W. A. Weld has returned from Westboro, where he has been for several weeks on account of the illness and death of his father.

Rev. Fred Viggers will preach in the Advent chapel next Sunday. The subject will be "What shall become of the wicked?"

Fred Winter, who is still seriously sick in Boston from hemorrhages last week, is slightly better, and it is hoped that he will ultimately recover.

At the weekly shoot of the Rod and Gun Club Tuesday afternoon, A. J. Adams brought down 13 out of 20 "birds," and W. J. Keith 11 out of 20.

The Clipper baseball nine of this village defeated a Monson nine 17 to 16 in a 10-inning game at Monson last Saturday. To-morrow the Clippers play at Three Rivers.

The Flynt Building and Construction Company has contracted to build a storehouse 280 by 74 feet, three stories, for the Lewiston Bleach and Dye Works at Lewiston, Me.

Miss Linden Frost was called to Round Plain Monday by the illness of her father, Rev. S. T. Frost. Mr. Frost was formerly pastor of the Baptist church in this village.

The body of Chauncey Squires was brought from Boston Monday for burial, and was interred in the cemetery at the Four Corners. Mr. Squires was formerly a resident of Three Rivers.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of the Congregational church will give a social in the church parlors next Wednesday evening, when the officers for the coming six months will be elected.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Peck, Mr. and Mrs. Cambridge Moulton and Mrs. Lyman Dimock attended as delegates the Westfield Baptist Sunday school convention at Huntington on Wednesday.

One civil entry was made in the district court last Saturday, William W. Leach, executor of the estate of Dr. W. H. Stowe, against W. W. Klemmer of Springfield, an action of contract.

The Order of the Eastern Star will celebrate its third anniversary this evening, and has invited the Springfield and Warren chapters to be present. Refreshments will be served.

The school board will hold a meeting next Monday, at which time the question of teachers for the coming year will be discussed. It is understood that all the present teachers will be reappointed.

An advertisement for bids for hauling brick and furnishing sand for use in the construction of the new epileptic hospital will be found in another column, and will be of interest to Palmer teamsters.

Grand Master J. A. Blake and suite of Boston paid an official visit to Washington council, Royal Arch Masons, Monday evening. After official business was transacted a social time and banquet was held.

A hearing will be held next Monday morning in the district court regarding the seizure of liquor which was made by the towns' prosecuting committee at the Converse House on the morning of Memorial Day.

Miss L. Belle Baker, formerly of Palmer, was married on Wednesday evening of last week to Harry T. Lovering of Manchester, N. H. Mr. Lovering is assistant foreman of the Mirror composing room in that place.

The annual strawberry and ice cream festival was given in the Congregational church parlors by the ladies of the society Tuesday evening. An excellent supper was served, and a large number were in attendance.

The case of Henry McGilp against the town of Belchertown for damages received by being thrown from his wagon came before the superior court at Northampton Tuesday. The case was decided in favor of the defendant.

At the annual meeting of the Y. P. C. U. of the Universalist church, held last Friday evening, the following officers were elected: President, Edwin Brooks; vice president, Joseph Page; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. George Moore.

The abandoned school buildings at Thorndike did not bring very large prices last Saturday. The large building near the new house was sold to R. H. Bond for $150, while the one on the Thorndike road went to the Thorndike Co. for $100.

The Universalist society has chosen these delegates to the Y. P. C. U. convention at Jersey City next month: Mrs. W. W. Leach, Miss Lizzie Wassum and E. E. Brooks; alternates, Mrs. G. A. Moore, Mrs. Walter Shaw and Miss Ethel Ely.

Mrs. C. C. Shaw gave a party to her friends and neighbors at her home on Walnut street Monday, in commemoration of her eighty-third birthday. Relatives from Hartford and Stafford were present, and the affair was an enjoyable one.

Dr. Squires of Springfield, assisted by Dr. Wiser of that city and Dr. J. P. Schneider of Palmer, performed a surgical operation on Mrs. L. B. Fish Tuesday. Her friends will be glad to know that she is rapidly recovering, and will soon be about again.

The Boston Stock and Grain Exchange in the Holden block is said to be doing a good business, and it is rumored that a well-known business man has been very successful in the stock market the past week, his profits running well up into the hundreds.

The many friends of George W. Randall will be saddened to hear that last Saturday night he was stricken with a paralytic shock. Mr. Randall is a prominent citizen of Palmer, having lived here many years. He is at present in Denver, Col., at the home of his daughter.

The Monson sportsmen have challenged the Palmer Rod and Gun Club to a friendly contest of skill at Monson to-morrow, each club to be represented by seven men. The Palmer Club will send Fred Caryl, W. J. Keith, Adams, Hopkins, S. Keith, Thompson, and Dewey.

A meeting of the Young Men's Library Association will be held on Monday evening, to act on the proposed amendment to the by-laws so as to allow a majority vote of members of the association to elect new members, instead of requiring a three-fourths vote as at present.

The funeral of David Bodfish, who dropped dead in the Congregational church last week, was held in Wareham Sunday afternoon. Rev. F. E. Jenkins of Palmer officiated. Prayer was offered at the house of D. L. Bodfish on Park street Saturday morning at nine o'clock, before the body was taken to Wareham.

Daniel O'Connor of Bondsville was before the district court Monday, charged with drunkenness. He agreed to take the pledge for five years, and the case was continued for two weeks. This morning John Dalley and William Sullivan of Monson were arraigned for drunkenness; Dalley paid a fine of $5, and Sullivan's case was continued till the 27th.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Dillon, Daniel Dillon and Miss Lula A. Dillon, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Holbrook and Mr. and Mrs. William Merriam left this morning to attend the graduation at Tufts College, which takes place this evening. David Dillon and Henry Holbrook are members of the graduating class.

An effort is being made by Mme. Anna von Rydingsvard, the state agent, to organize a chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution in Palmer, and all ladies in this and near-by towns who can trace a lineal descent from participants in the Revolution and are interested in the matter, are requested to send their names to Miss L. H. Brigham of Palmer.

Palmer has always tried to keep up with the ways and doings of the cities. The latest effort in that line was the holding of a cat show on the lawn of H. C. Strong last Saturday, under the management of several young girls living in that locality. About thirty cats were on exhibition. The judges were H. C. Strong and Michael Dillon, Jr., and the manner in which they picked the winners showed that they were thoroughly acquainted with all the peculiar characteristics of the feline race. First prize was awarded to "Dick," a large cat owned by Mark Sullivan; second prize was won by "Darkey," also owned by Mr. Sullivan; third prize was awarded to a kitten of H. C. Strong's.

Next Sunday will be observed as Children's Day by the Protestant churches. At the Universalist church in the morning Rev. Mr. Moulton will preach an appropriate sermon on the theme: "Your reverence; is it decreasing toward sacred things? If so, how can it be increased?" In the evening at 5 there will be a concert by the Sunday school; the service will be "Nature's Voices," with Mrs. W. W. Leach in charge of the literary department and Mrs. W. H. Small as director of the music. At the Congregational church in the morning there will be an appropriate sermon for the children, and several infants will be baptized. In the evening the children of the Sunday school will give a concert, "Room for the Children," under the direction of Mrs. J. C. Wing. At the Baptist church in the evening the concert exercise will be entitled, "In Life's Garden," under the care of Mrs. D. G. Buskey and Mrs. Fred Thompson.

THREE RIVERS.

Oscar Bullis from California is visiting his sister, Mrs. W. B. Provo.

Miss Jane Gokey is dangerously sick, and her recovery is considered doubtfully.

Miss Fannie Barnes spent Monday evening with some of her classmates in Bondsville.

Mrs. Hanlan died at her home at the Riverside Hotel Wednesday. Funeral today.

Miss Etta Ruggles, from the Virginia Day Nursery at New York, is at her home for a few days.

The A. O. U. W. served a strawberry supper Tuesday evening. A few were united from other lodges.

Preaching in the Baptist church next Sunday at 10.45 a. m. by E. A. Thomas; Children's Day exercises in the evening.

Mrs. A. S. Geer had her Sunday school class met with her at her home on Springfield street Thursday afternoon after school.

Mrs. Arthur Brown gave a sociable to the Baptist Christian Endeavor Society at her home last evening. Ice cream and cake were served, and a very good time was enjoyed by all.

BONDSVILLE.

Mrs. Richard Russell spent Sunday in Gilbertville.

Olin Parent is home from Middletown for over Sunday.

The W. C. T. U. met with Mrs. R. E. Smith yesterday afternoon.

Rev. J. W. Fulton and family of Ware visited O. A. Parent last Friday.

Mrs. Mary Wright has returned from an extended visit with friends in Ware.

O. B. Smith, a former agent of the Boston Duck Co., visited friends in town Friday.

The members of the Loyal Legion will attend the convention in Ware to-morrow.

The ball game between the Chicopee Falls nine and the Bondsvilles resulted in a defeat for the latter.

The engagement is announced of Miss Nellie Quirk of this village to John Manning of Three Rivers.

George L. Chaffee and family took a carriage drive to Stafford Springs Saturday, returning Monday.

The time of the Sunday evening meetings has been changed, each coming one hour later than formerly.

The graduating exercises of the grammar school will be held next Friday afternoon in the hall at the school building.

John Hayes has resigned his position in the finishing room of the Boston Duck Co., and will travel for an electric company.

H. A. Stevens, master mechanic for the Boston Duck Co., and Charles Evans went to the electrical exposition in New York Tuesday, returning Thursday.

The semi-annual business meeting of the Epworth League was held at the parsonage Friday evening, and officers were elected as follows: President, Miss Mabel E. Ryther; first vice president, Mrs. Bruce; second vice president, Miss Maggie Bruce; third vice president, Miss Alice Thompson; fourth vice president, Francis Jones; finance, Miss Alice Merrifield; secretary, Henry Sharratt; pianist, Miss Maggie Bruce.

THORNDIKE.

Mr. Laughravin has opened a barber shop in Hendrick's block.

A Polish wedding party danced at Union Hall on Saturday evening.

The Polish Benefit and Aid Society will hold its first picnic on July Fourth.

C. C. Bond and wife of Springfield have been visiting at N. W. Bond's the last week.

Mrs. M. J. Cleary and children of Springfield are the guests of Mrs. Olney on the farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith have returned to their home in Gardner after a week's vacation in town.

The Christian Endeavor Society gave a social and entertainment in the church vestry on Tuesday evening.

Miss Williston of Holyoke, a former teacher in the schools here, was the guest of Mrs. G. A. Murdock during the week.

The two school buildings were sold at auction on Saturday to R. L. Bond and C. H. Hobbs for $150 and $100 respectively.

J. Harvey Goodrich and Miss Etta Rancor, who have been visiting for a few days at N. W. Bond's, have returned to their home in Hartford.

Mrs. Huldah Morse and Mrs. Everett Morse and her friend from the West, who have been visiting at L. E. Bixby's, have returned to Hartford.

Services at the Catholic church next Sunday will be at 9 a. m. instead of at the usual hour, 10, as the pastor is to attend the confirmation exercises at Ware on that day.

The Ware ball club had good practice chasing the ball last Saturday in the game here. They were not in the game at all, and the score was 46 to 7 in favor of the home team.

The Columbian Band has been engaged by the St. John's Society of Indian Orchard to accompany them in the Cathedral Parish Golden Jubilee parade, which will be held June 22d.

William McKenzie will move with his father to Jewett City in about two weeks, where he has secured a position in the mills as boss dyer. Mr. McKenzie has been in the employ of the Thorndike Co. for several years.

At a meeting of the Christian Endeavor society on Tuesday, the following officers were chosen for a term of six months: President, C. A. Tabor; vice president, Frank Shuttleworth; secretary, Mrs. C. F. Mooers; treasurer, Miss Lucy Talmage.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. W. Clark go to Northampton to-morrow to attend the graduating exercises of the class of '96 of Smith College, of which their daughter, Genevra, is a member. Miss Clark will receive the degree of B. A. She is in the cast of "As You Like It," the play of the senior dramatics, which will be presented in the Academy of Music to-morrow evening.

BORN.

At Palmer, 29th ult., a son to J. J. and Mary Conway.

MARRIED.

At Warren, 10th, by Rev. H. G. Hale, Walter E. Freeman and May E. Lincoln.
At Warren, 8th, by Rev. A. R. Nichols, William H. Hallows and Ella Bestick.

DIED.

At Three Rivers, 9th, Mrs. Mary Hanley, 74.
At Belchertown, 7th, Mrs. Daniel Ballou.

CHOICE cabbage plants for sale. 4-10 H. D. GEER, Three Rivers.

FOR SALE.—A 2-story octagon bay window, as good as new. G. W. LYMAN, Palmer.

TO RENT.—Two tenements on Fox avenue. tf-44 Apply to G. S. HOLDEN.

FOR SALE.—Cherry chamber set, two-thirds whiteiron bedstead, and kitchen range, in good order. Enquire at house of C. B. FISKE.

TO RENT.—Good up and down stairs tenement, six rooms, on Spring street. tf-4 GEORGE A. KEITH, Palmer.

BICYCLES REPAIRED, lawn mowers repaired and sharpened, and light machine work done. 13-10 G. B. KENERSON, Park street, Palmer.

WANTED.—Local salesman to sell matches, this and neighboring towns. Quick sales, large profits. Man with horse and wagon preferred. P. O. Box 2178, Boston, Mass. 1-11

WILL sell the following articles right: A good 8-horse power engine with 10 H. P. boiler, 2 pony teams, platform scales, furniture wagon, buggy, skeleton wagon, road cart, track harness, and cheap single harness, with trotting boots, etc. Pasturing to rent. tf-10 D. F. HOLDEN.

35,000 Cabbage Plants for Sale.

CHARLES S. RUGGLES,

Three Rivers, - - Mass.

NOTICE TO TEAMSTERS.

Proposals will be received for drawing about 2,000,000 brick from Palmer switch in front of depot, and from Mt. Bunyan switch to the new hospital; also for delivering sand by the bushel or yard.

Bids will close Monday night, June 15th. I can be seen at hospital grounds Saturday and Monday, or bids may be left at the Mt. Bunyan Granite Co's. office at the quarry, or at 69 South Main street, Palmer. 1-11 HASCAL DODGE.

MORTGAGE SALE OF REAL ESTATE IN PALMER, MASS.

Notice is hereby given that the sale of real-estate under power in Mortgage Deed from Frederick J. Wassum to Helena M. Davis, advertised to take place on the premises on Tuesday, June 2d, 1896, at twelve o'clock noon, was adjourned to Tuesday, June 16th, 1896.

And pursuant to said notice and adjournment, said sale will take place on the mortgaged premises on Pleasant street at twelve o'clock noon, June 16th, 1896, at which time and place will be sold at public auction all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage, which mortgage is recorded in Hampden County Registry of Deeds, Book 404, Page 198, and the property is described therein as follows:

Beginning on said (Pleasant) street at the northeasterly corner of lands of J. H. Tuthill and thence running northerly on said street ten rods to land of Frank Sedgwick, thence easterly on line of land of said Sedgwick nine rods to land of S. S. Taft; thence southerly on land of said Taft and land of Charles Keith ten rods to land of said Tuthill, thence westerly on said Tuthill's land nine rods to the place of beginning.

Said premises will be sold subject to unpaid taxes and subject to a mortgage (and interest) held by the Palmer Savings Bank.

HELENA M. DAVIS, Mortgagee.
By ALLEN WEBSTER, Her Attorney. 1-11

THAT JOB OF PRINTING. There's no better place at which to get it done than the JOURNAL Office. Experienced workmen, skilled in every branch of the art.

DRINK AT MEALS.

An Important Part.

The real trouble with tea and coffee drinking is not generally known. It is common knowledge with every one that physicians advise the discontinuance of both tea and coffee when a person is sick, particularly when the digestive machinery is affected. Any person with a slight knowledge of chemistry can make the following experiments, securing the results as given. Coagulated egg albumen when mixed with artificial gastric juices, will be practically entirely digested in eight hours.

When tea is added during the process of digestion, 66 per cent of albumen will be digested, leaving 34 per cent undigested, while if a decoction of coffee is mixed with the albumen, the results will be but 61 per cent digested and 39 per cent undigested. This means one thing, and the experiment speaks that fact plainly. When tea or coffee is taken into the human stomach, they very seriously interfere with the natural and healthful operation. Where a person has an exceedingly powerful digestive apparatus, he can stand this abuse for a time, but it is sure to tell sooner or later.

In addition to the above it may be said that any ordinary analytical chemist can analyze coffee and show the poisonous alkaloids of much the same character as found in strychnine, whisky, tobacco and morphine. These poisons have a direct effect upon the liver, and a furred tongue, costive bowels, bad skin and various other indications of approaching sickness are apparent. These facts have been recognized by physicians for many years, but it is difficult to induce people to leave off their habits even when those habits are shown to be injurious and to shorten the existence of the human body.

The manager of La Vita Inn, a health institution at Battle Creek, Mich., made a large number of experiments in the direction of a food drink that would be at once nourishing, palatable and fragrant, without any of the poisonous or injurious properties. His experiments were confined to compounding and arranging products of various cereals, or grains, such as were intended by nature for man's subsistence. Being in a position to note the effect of the beverage upon weak stomachs, and patients who needed the most nourishing food and drink that could be obtained, his experiments were conducted under what would probably be considered the most favorable circumstances.

After continued use and the most positive evidence of the healthful properties of the food-drink, patients who had been healed wished to continue the use of the cereal drink after their return to their homes, and others made demand for it.

In order to supply this demand and the public generally, the Postum Cereal Co., Limited, was formed. All people who drink coffee and tea do not care to discontinue their use, although quite satisfied of their hurtful properties. There are enough people, however, in America who hold their health in high enough esteem to be willing to give a little attention to their food and drink. There is no habit the creature acquires which produces as much real enjoyment as the old fashioned habit of being thoroughly well. When a man can inhale a deep breath of pure air and feel that every part of the machinery of the human body is working perfectly, the feeling of comfort produces a deep sense of easy content and thankfulness to the Creator for the mere priviledge of living.

Postum is a thoroughly healthful food drink. It can be taken at each meal by all members of the family, including the children. It quickly establishes itself as an important part of the meal, and when left out, one misses the fragrant odor, the comforting flavor and the health-giving properties.

1 lb. coffee (30 cents) gives 40 to 45 cups.
1 package Postum (25 cents) gives 100 cups.
About 3 to 1 in favor of Postum.

This item of economy is by no means the chief consideration. Health, comfort and red blood speak out strongly for the natural drink.

This pure food drink brews exactly the color of the richest coffee, and has much the same fragrance and taste, with none of the harmful properties.

WANTED.—Energetic men, with or without experience to sell choice fruit and ornamental stock. Good pay, no lost time, first class territory. Complete outfit free. Write for terms. Nelson Bogue, Batavia Nurseries, Batavia, N. Y.

E. S. Bryant, D. M. D., Dentist,

Lynde's Block, Palmer.
Office hours: 8.30 to 12.30. 1.30 to 5 p. m.

PIANOS

are always in fashion, but it is not always that people can afford to be in fashion, as they can this summer with pianos so cheap.

$75 to $350.

$25 DOWN and $10 PER MONTH.

We are always pleased to show you goods. . . .

TAYLOR'S
Music House,
412 MAIN STREET, SPRINGFIELD.

Good looking people

usually have good teeth. LeGRO'S TOOTH POWDER will keep the teeth white, gums healthy and breath pure.

LeGro & Lynde, Druggists,
Next to Post Office, Palmer.

CARRIAGES.

I have in stock a large and complete line of fine and medium grade carriages.

Top carriages, - - $50 to $350
Open carriages, - - $40 to $200
150 second-hand carriages, $5 to $150
DELIVERY WAGONS OF ALL KINDS.
I have the right styles and low prices.

W. H. SMITH,
2 Park Street, Springfield.

Eczema is a frightful affliction, but like all other skin diseases it can be permanently cured by applications of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It never fails to cure piles. LeGro & Lynde.

Meekins, Packard & Wheat.

CHAMBER SETS.

We are doing business in these for summer homes and hotels all over New England.

Such makes, styles and finishes as you'd never expect to find at the prices we are selling them for—

FROM $13.50 UPWARD.

Among them are antique and mahogany finish sets, solid oak, maple and curly birch.

Don't fail to inspect them. Fourth floor.

COUCHES.

Prices that mean quick selling.

An inventory of the stock brings forward some designs that are to be discontinued, and down go the prices from 25 to 33⅓ per cent.

Couches that were
$19.50 NOW $15.00
22.00 " 17.00
25.00 " 20.00
28.00 " 20.00

Divans that were
$16.50 NOW $12.00
30.00 " 22.00
Fifth floor.

BRUSSELS CARPETS.

85c and 90c a yard

for some of the best brussels carpets ever on our floor are making busy times in this department. Our patrons from all over this section are quick to realize our efforts to provide the BEST GOODS at prices never before beaten in the history of carpets, and by BEST GOODS we mean all that those words imply—MAKES, QUALITIES, DESIGNS.

A selection is a simple matter from these lines. Carpet department.

MEEKINS, PACKARD & WHEAT,
SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

YOU have needed it. have waited for it. can now have it.

..... HERE IT IS. .....

A new process blue flame

Oil Cooking Stove.

A phenomenal stove that

burns common coal oil,

"kerosene," with a blue flame,

WITHOUT ODOR.

You cannot afford to be without it.

COME AND SEE IT.

C. A. Brown & Co.,
Main Street,
PALMER.

IMPORTANT NOTICE!

I have an assortment of
Spring and Summer Suitings, Also Black Cloths and Fancy Trouserings, which I offer for sale at a

LOW PRICE.

Will make them up in the most fashionable style. CALL AND SEE THEM.

F. J. WASSUM,
Main Street, Palmer.

TEETH. . .

Artificial teeth without plates. Teeth extracted without pain with local anaesthetic.
GAS ADMINISTERED.
Office hours from 8 to 12 a. m., 1 to 5.30 p. m.
OPEN EVENINGS.
Dr. O. P. ROLLER, D. D. S.,
Lawrence Block, Palmer, Mass.

A. L. Wooster, a prominent citizen of Osseo Mich., after suffering excruciatingly from piles for twenty years, was cured in a short time by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, an absolute cure for all skin diseases. More of this preparation is used than all others combined. LeGro & Lynde.

For the bath.

Soaps, sponges, brushes, toilet waters and powders, sea salt, etc.

Proper bathing is a luxury. The things cost but little if bought of us.

LeGRO & LYNDE,
Next to Post Office,
PALMER.

Insurance

of every kind placed at short notice, and all favors duly appreciated.

Yours truly,
S. H. HELLYAR.
Office at Ridge's Foo Factory

Young mothers dread the summer months on account of the great mortality among children caused by bowel troubles. Perfect safety may be assured those who keep on hand DeWitt's Colic and Cholera cure, and administer it promptly. For cramps, bilious colic, dysentery and diarrhoea, it affords instant relief. LeGro & Lynde.

Palmer has never seen so many shirt waists at one time as we are showing on our counters.

DAINTY DIMITIES, BEAUTIFUL LINENS, AND PERCAILES IN EVERY CONCEIVABLE PATTERN.

Elegant Silk Waists at
$3.00, $3.50, $4.00 and $5.00.

Leather Belts, Gilt Belts and Silk Belts . . . at all prices. . . .

Straw Hats for Men and Boys.
Outing Shirts in French Flannel and Laundered Goods. . . . . .

AN ELEGANT LINE OF NECKWEAR ALWAYS ON HAND. . . . . .

Don't fail to see stock before purchasing.

D. L. BODFISH,
Cross Block,
PALMER.

A large assortment of . . .

New Parasols and Fans,
Summer Gloves and Mitts,
Summer Wash Goods,

in dainty designs and beautiful colorings, only need to be seen to be appreciated. . . . . .

GROCERIES

That tempt poor appetites and please all for quality and price. . . . . .

A LINE OF

Kennedy's Sweet Goods,

- - - just the thing for pic-nics.

J. B. SHAW, Dry Goods and Groceries.
Feeney's Block,
PALMER.

The Latest Goods

for men is what we want to talk about. Only give us an opportunity and we'll convince you that we have everything you need at this season. Call and see what we have, that's all we ask. The neckwear we have chosen for your inspection isn't to be duplicated in any near-by place. The new creations are simply wonderful—can't begin to describe them, you'll have to see them.

The Spring Hats,

Have you noticed 'em? Missed it if you haven't; all the popular makes in derbys, and those soft flanges for such as prefer them.

Fancy Shirts

are more varied in design than ever. You can't fail to be pleased with what we've selected for you. Of course those who come first will have the pick of the stock. We may be able to duplicate the figures and we may not. Better not put off your seeing them.

C. K. Gamwell, Palmer, Mass.

THAT..."RAMBLER"

- - - - is a mighty fine wheel.

AT...G. A. MOORE'S,
Holden's Block,
Palmer, Mass.

Boston Stock and Grain Exchange.

Incorporated Under the Laws of Massachusetts. Capital $100,000, Fully Paid.

All New York and Boston Stocks. Also Chicago Grains and Provisions bought . . . . and sold for Cash, or on 1 per cent margins. . . . .

Quotations on view between the hours of ten and three daily. Orders by mail or telephone given strict attention. TELEPHONE CONNECTION.

G. B. HAYES, Manager, HOLDEN'S BLOCK, PALMER, MASS.

The Journal.

FRIDAY EVENING, JUNE 12, 1896.

NEIGHBORHOOD NOTES.

MONSON.

LOCAL NOTICES.

25 Dollars Reward.

The above reward will be paid to any person for evidence that shall lead to the prosecution and conviction of any one engaged in the illegal sale of spirituous liquors or intoxicating drinks in the town of Monson.

J. H. THOMPSON, C. C. KEEP, H. SQUIER, } Prosecuting Committee.

Academy Commencement Programme.

The Academy commencement exercises will begin at 8 p. m. next Sunday with the baccalaurate sermon by Prof. William North Rice of Wesleyan university. There will be special music, and a quartette composed of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Noreross, Mrs. Rufus Flynt of Palmer, and Mr. Mason of Worcester, will sing. The public examinations will take place at the Academy Monday from 9 a. m. to 12 m., and from 1.30 to 4 p. m. The class-day exercises will begin at 7 in the evening, with the planting of the ivy on the campus; the other exercises will be in the chapel with this programme:

Ivy essay. Mabel L. Bowe, '97.
Class History. Grace S. Cushman.
Class Statistics and Characteristics. Lake W. Closson.
"What Poets Have Said of Our Class Flower." Presentations. Annie Murphy, '99
Prophecy. W. Eugene Manchester.
Class Will. Bert Parley Anderson.
Class Song. Words by Mabelle E. Watson.

The graduating exercises will be held Tuesday at 10 a. m. in Memorial Hall, with this programme:

Invocation.
Music. Philharmonic Orchestra.
Salutatory, with essay, "The Fates." Gertrude Blair Gage.
Essay. "Strange Stories from Ovid." Grace Ethel Webber.
Oration. "The French and American Revolutions Contrasted." Horace Wakefield Cristy.
Music.
Essay. "Music the Universal Language." Grace Sedgwick Cushman.
Essay. "Two Busy-Bodies." Katherine Risley Smith.
Oration. "Prejudice versus Patriotism." Leonard Albert Prouty.
Music.
Essay. "The Evolution of the English Drama." Edith Laurana Hurlburt.
Essay. "Ideals." Mabelle Estella Watson.
Oration. "William of Orange, with" Valedictory Addresses. George Warner Bennett.
Music.
Presentation of diplomas.

The graduating class numbers 13, as follows: Classical course, Horace Clay Broughton of Philadelphia, Horace Wakefield Cristy of Worcester, Grace Sedgwick Cushman, Gertrude Blair Gage, Grace Ethel Webber; Latin-scientific, Bert Parley Anderson, Edith Laurana Hurlburt of Somers, Ct., Leonard Albert Prouty of West Brookfield, Katherine Risley Smith of Stafford Springs, Mabelle Estella Watson; academic, George Warner Bennett, Luke Watson Closson, Daniel Joseph Gallivan. The class motto is "He conquers who conquers himself." The class colors are yellow and white, and the class flower is the daisy.

The alumni dinner will be at the Century Hotel at 1 p. m., and conveyances will be in waiting at the hall. The tickets for the dinner are limited to 100, and the price is 75 cents; tickets may be obtained of T. L. Cushman. Preferences will be given alumni until Monday. The toastmaster will be Samuel S. Parks of Chicago, Ill., of the class of '82. The senior class reception will be held in the Academy chapel, Tuesday evening, at 8 o'clock, and the school will close Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock.

The senior class reception will be held in the Academy chapel Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, and school will close Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock.

The annual meeting of the trustees will be held next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Flynt and Packard library.

The order of public examinations next Monday will be as follows:

8.45. Chapel exercises.
9. Vocal music, Miss Cantwell.
9.30. First year Latin, English literature, geometry, algebra.
10.20. Physics, Cicero, German, algebra, American history.
11.10. Geology, civil government, senior geometry, Virgil, English.
1.30. Greek history, advanced German, solid geometry, English.
2.20. Botany, first year Greek, psychology, ancient history.
3.10. Botany, senior Latin, American literature, geometry.

Various School Matters.

Pupils whose marks for the year reach a certain average will be admitted to the academy without examination. This is a plan for which Miss Wood, superintendent of schools, should have credit. She has felt for some time that on account of nervousness many of the children did not do as good work on examinations as they should. The committee was glad to try the plan, which meets with general approval. The following pupils will therefore be allowed entrance next fall without examinations: Frank McGuire, Edward Sutcliffe, Irene Deneen, Grace Locke, Mabelle Sanderson, Martha Anderson, Bessie Taylor, Frank Pendergast, Emma Merrick, Lena Bradway, Mamie Looney, Lizzie Gough, Blanche Cushman, Sadie Hobbs, Carl Grant, Louise Shaw, Mabelle Brown, Helen Moulton, Arthur Vaille, Mabelle Crocke, Ruth Johnson, Florence King, Arthur Moore, Mamie Hayes, George Ellis, Stella Harding, Maud Sweet, Ruth Keeney, Ralph Needham.

Examinations will be held to-morrow morning and Monday morning.

Are You • • •

wearing high shoes this hot weather and suffering with hot feet?

Low shoes are much cooler for a street or house shoe.

LADIES' LOW SHOES

were never so generally worn as this season.

With our large assortment it is almost impossible for anyone to ask for a style that we cannot show them.

Geo. L. Fuller,

the distributor of fine fitting shoes.

Monson, - - Mass.

The schools will begin Sept. 8, instead of Aug. 31.

On account of the crowded condition of No. 1, pupils who live south of the Methodist church may be obliged to attend No. 8 school.

The No. 6 school will be continued two weeks more to make up for the loss of that time at the beginning of the term.

The following teachers showed enterprise by attending the school exhibit in Springfield: Misses Sutcliffe, Clara Sutcliffe, Bennett and Corcoran.

There will be an adjourned meeting of the school committee Monday evening.

Annoyed by Tramps.

The people living near the railroad station have been much annoyed and somewhat frightened by the large number of tramps seen about there nights, who have begged their breakfast from the people. Complaint was made to Agent Thompson, and an investigation revealed the fact that the tramps found lodging in the box cars which stood on the siding. As the tramps are obliged to wash their faces and hands and to work for their breakfasts when lodged at the town's expense, they evidently preferred the car accommodations; only one stayed in the lockup in May. Mr. Thompson now sees that the car doors are locked at night.

Patrick Ryan is putting a piazza on his house.

The S. F. Cushman mill is shut down for the week.

The Windsor Club will elect officers Tuesday evening, July 7.

Mrs. W. H. Gifford returned last Friday from a visit to Swansea.

Miss Alice Allen of Worcester spent Sunday with Miss Myrtis Perrin.

Mrs. Walter Cheesman of Denver, Col., is stopping at the Century Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Bonesler of Brooklyn are at the Century Hotel for the summer.

Charles P. Dow is the winner of the prize for the best two Monson Academy yells.

Dr. A. T. Robinson of Mansfield is visiting his mother, Mrs. Lorenzo Hutchinson.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Pierce of New Haven are visiting Mrs. Fannie Pierce.

James Pendergast has put a two-room addition and a bay window on his house.

Ralph Clifford has sold to Henry Wentworth his North Main street residence.

Mrs. W. C. Dewey and two daughters of Springfield are visiting friends in town.

A merry-go-round located on Park avenue has attracted crowds of people this week.

Mrs. Albert Danforth picked a pansy this weeks which was two inches in diameter.

Lewis Royce has presented to Flynt Park a snapping turtle which weighs 27 pounds.

Children's Sunday will be observed at the Methodist church one week from next Sunday.

Mr. Rhodes of Cincinnati has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. Gould of South Main street.

T. J. Hynes has the contract for building a six-room cottage on Pearl street for R. J. Murphy.

A granophone is on exhibition at the W. N. Flynt & Sons' store, and is quite a curiosity.

The King's Daughters have a rose party in the parlors of the Congregational church this evening.

The W. N. Flynt Granite Company have the foundation in for A. A. Babbitt's house on Gates street.

Rev. F. S. Hatch will take for his subject at the Congregational church Sunday, "The spirit of the child."

Mrs. Ansel Ward of Grange has been spending the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sutcliffe.

Dr. G. E. Fuller was present at the annual meeting of the Massachusetts Medical Society in Boston Wednesday.

Miss Carrie Aldrich has purchased a building lot of Charles L. Clough at South Monson, and expects to erect a house.

A. D. Norcross, L. C. Flynt and F. G. Nelson of New York leave next Monday for a ten-days' trip to Northern Canada

Mrs. Morris of Webster and William Morris of Hartford, Ct., have resently been guests of Mr. Morris on Park avenue.

The public exercises at the various schools have been well attended, and have been very good. The schools closed this afternoon.

Mr. Meyer of Milwaukee has been the guest of his brother, Julius Heimann, at the Century Hotel for several days this week.

The Monson water system has been extended through Stewart avenue, and a hydrant set near the house of Julius Stewart.

Charlie, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Robbins, dug potatoes this week which are as large as good-sized shag-bark walnuts.

Children's Sunday at the Universalist church will the 28th. The exercises for the evening concert will be entitled "Lilies and Lessons."

Postmaster J. P. Herlihy swept up a $5 bill among other things Tuesday morning; he found an owner for the money in the afternoon.

The W. N. Flynt Granite company has the contract to furnish the stone for the gymnasium to be built for Wesleyan Academy at Wilbraham.

Contractor Nelligan of Ware has put in concrete gutters at the Methodist church, walks at the residence of C. R. Buffington, H. C. Norcross, Mrs. Parker, and others.

Shoe-dealer G. L. Fuller has one of his show windows draped with the colors of Monson academy, blue and white, and the other with the colors of the graduating class.

Charles R. Adams, a former teacher in the Academy and very popular in town, is to be married the 24th to Miss Abbie Parker at Dorcester. Monson friends have received cards.

At a recent entertainment held in Memorial Hall a party of young men, representatives of respected families, conducted themselves in true hoodlum fashion. All were old enough to know better.

Newsdealer W. J. Murphy has made some changes in his barber shop to accommodate the paper department. A front window is fitted up with a rack for papers. The window can be raised so that sales can be made from the street.

The young man who "Registered" the "Forest Lake Mishaps" recently, got things slightly twisted. Guess again, Newsy, and have that refactory wheel in your head repaired, and you may be able to have an authentic story next time.

Jesse Moulton, who recently picked up a sum of money at the depot, has received two fine jack-knives from the owner of the money, G. F. Newton of Worcester. Mr. Newton wrote that "one knife is for every day and one for Sunday."

Monson lodge of Odd Fellows will meet at Odd Fellows' hall at 2.30 p. m. one week from Sunday, and march to No. 1 cemetery, where they will decorate all graves of Odd Fellows. The lodge cordially invites all members of the order in town to join with them in this memorial service.

A special town meeting was held Saturday afternoon with about 10 present. There was some delay caused by the non-arrival of the warrant at the hour specified. Nelson A. Bugbee was chosen moderator, and it was voted to accept Stewart avenue as a town road as laid out by the selectmen.

H. G. Rogers is laid up with a sore leg. In unloading a barrel of sugar the latter part of last week the barrel fell on his leg, bruising it badly. He was about the house, however, until Tuesday, when he was obliged to take to his bed. It was feared for a day or two that an abscess might form, but is now better.

The Y. P. C. U. of the Universalist church had a business meeting Monday evening, when it was voted to have an ice cream social in the near future, but no date was set. These are the delegates chosen to attend the convention to be held in Jersey City, N. J., in July: Miss Lena M. Babbitt, W. L. Ricketts and C. W. King.

Mr. Bowen of England has been a guest at E. Ballou's this week. Mr. Bowen left England six weeks ago and has been traveling all the time, visiting points of interest in Canada and the United States. He says that although it has rained nights since he left home, he has had no occasion to unfurl his umbrella until reaching Monson.

The prizes of $1 and $2 offered by Dr. N. W. Rand to the scholars at the Green street school for the best and second best essays on "Birds," were awarded yesterday to Miss Martha Anderson and Miss Maud Sweet respectively. About a dozen essays were submitted. The judges were Horace Squier, Dr. N. W. Rand and Prof. James H. Tufts.

Dr. Luley of Springfield performed an operation for appendicitis Tuesday afternoon upon Wilbert McEwen of South Monson, assisted by Dr. G. E. Fuller, Dr. A. T. Robinson of Mansfield and Dr. H. A. Merchant. Mr. McEwen was taken sick Friday, but his condition was not considered dangerous until early Tuesday. The patient seems to be doing well.

The class of '99, Monson Academy, numbering 33 members, recently made choice of these committees: To choose a class motto, W. N. Flynt, Walter Monilton, Grace Rathburn; to choose class colors, Ralph Morris, Marion Tucker, Howard Buffington. The committees have reported old gold and ivory for the class colors, and "Ad astra per aspera" for the motto.

A parish meeting was held at St. Patrick's church Sunday afternoon with a good attendance. It was almost unanimously voted to use this year's surplus funds in repairing the church. New floors will be laid, the church will be refrescoed and, there will be new stations. The work will not be begun at present. The work of improving St. Patrick's cemetery is going on, though slowly.

The Monson Cornet Band gave an ice cream and strawberry festival in Memorial Hall Tuesday evening, preceded by an open air concert. There was an entertainment consisting of vocal and instrumental music, recitations, and Indian club swinging. A dance followed. The affair brought out a large company which seemed to have a good time. The proceeds are to be used for the purchase of uniforms.

It is understood that a petition is to be circulated and presented to every man, woman and child over 12 years of age, asking them to express their views as to the admission of an electric road to town. The circular is to give a copy of the franchise granted by the towns of Brattleboro, Vt., Easthampton, Amherst, Greenfield and Warren to the electric road companies, and will ask if the Monson people are willing to grant a similar franchise.

People will be glad to know that the passenger end of the platform at the New London Northern station is to be lowered from its present height of 3½ feet to one foot from the ground. A number of accidents have happened on account of the awkwardness of stepping across from the platform to the car, some of them serious ones, as in the case of Conductor Charles Quinn, who lost a leg there two years ago. The change means harder work on the part of those who load express matter, as it will have to be lifted into the car instead of rolled in. Steps will lead from the platform to the waiting rooms and to the freight end, which will remain at its present height. Station Agent Thompson has long wanted the change made, and was able to bring it about when J. O. Olmstead, superintendent of bridges and construction, was in town Wednesday night.

BELCHERTOWN.

Mr. Scoville of Longmeadow has purchased the Horatio Rice place.

The Clapp homestead has been opened for the season, the families of D. P. Clapp and Mr. Hill arriving last Saturday. Many guests will be entertained there during the season from New York, Brooklyn, Chicago and other places.

WEST WARREN.

Edward Dufresne is recovering from his severe illness.

The children of the M. E church are rehearsing for Children's Day, the 21st of June.

The ladies of the M. E. church gave a lawn party on J. W. Brown's grounds Friday afternoon and evening.

Presiding Elder E. R. Thorndike held the first quarterly conference last Wednesday evening in the M. E. church.

Two electric lights have been placed on the Warren road, one at No. 4 at the crossroads, and one through the narrows near Launderville's house.

BRIMFIELD.

Miss Ruth Brown is substituting as librarian for Miss Tarbell during the latter's absence in Natick and vicinity.

Ezra G. Bemis has sold his house near Sherman lake to J. L. Bacon, who expects to occupy it in the early part of July. Mr. Benis will return to Rome, his former home.

Celebrated His 80th Birthday.

There was a pleasant social gathering at the home of Jonathan Webber last Sunday, the occasion being the celebration of the 80th birthday. Among those present were the following: Mrs. A. B. Miller and daughter from Coventry, Ct., Charles M. Webber of Monson, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Webber of Palmer, Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Webber and son Rea of Wilbraham, Sadie M. Webber of Boston, Sena J. Webber, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Webber of Somerville. Mrs. Edwin Webber of Brimfield, the widow of a brother of Mr. Webber, was also present. The dining-room was prettily decorated with cut flowers, the principal piece being a basket filled with ferns and 80 roses. A large, ornamented birthday cake was presented to Mr. Webber, also a handsome easy-chair.

WALES.

The assessors have completed their field work and have settled down to business revising the valuation.

H. H. Hall & Co. have advertised their meat market for sale, which affords a good opportunity for the right man to go into business.

E. L. Needham has a cellar nearly stoned for a house on the burned site which he purchased of Mrs. C. Harris on Main street. He intends to have it completed by September first.

A. H. Shaw of Monson, with friends took a large string of pickerel and pout from the Wales pond Wednesday. Wales was Mr. Shaw's native home, and he knows just how to bait the hook for fish here.

The Center grammar school held impressive memorial exercises at the close of school last Friday. The room was decorated with flags and flowers, appropriate songs were sang by the children, and selections recited. Several of the old soldiers turned out to help on the ceremonies, and speeches were made by Rev. Mr. Camp and Comrades Burley, Needham and Freeman, after which the school, led by the soldiers, marched to the cemetery and decorated the soldiers' graves.

A delegation consisting of D. W. Foskit and Oscar Brown of Brimfield, accompanied by H. A. McFarland of Wales, attended a hearing before the Boston and Albany Railroad officials at Boston Tuesday in reference to the establishing of a passenger and freight station at the Gooley crossing for the benefit of Brimfield, Wales and Holland. The delegation was cordially received, and encouragement was given that the company would favorably consider the matter.

WARREN.

E. Allen Day is remodeling his residence on Coy's Hill.

The F. M. T. S baseball club will play the Wares on the Southbridge street grounds to-morrow afternoon.

The engagement of Miss Lyla M. McDonough of Natewa, Neb., and George A. Thyng is announced.

The semi-annual meeting of Court Warren, No. 87, Foresters of America, will be held next Monday evening.

Rev. and Mrs. Harris G. Hale attended the meeting of the Congregational Club in Worcester Monday evening.

Charles L. Harwood is home from the Mass. Institute of Technology, Boston, for his summer vacation.

Hellyar and Duncan are planning to make the trip to Boston and return on their wheels next Sunday; the distance is about 150 miles.

Mrs. Emma L. Guilbert and daughter Louise have gone to Holyoke to spend a few weeks with her sister, Mrs. Frederick Webber.

Miss Maria H. Dow, formerly a milliner in town, who has been spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Butler, has returned to Cleveland, Ohio.

The Y. P. C. U. of the Universalist church will hold a lawn party on the park this evening if the weather is favorable. Cake, ice cream and lemonade will be on sale.

Next Sunday will be observed as Children's Sunday at the Congregational church, with a sermon to the children in the morning and a Sunday school concert in the evening.

The F. M. T. S. baseball club will hold a dance in Brigham's Hall this evening. Music will be furnished by Hoone's orchestra of North Brookfield. J. J. McEvoy will be prompter.

The Hibernians are making arrangements to hold their annual picnic in Flannery's grove July 4th. The Father Matthew Temperance society has accepted a challenge from them to pull a tug of war for a purse of $25.

The wedding of Miss May E. Lincoln and Walter E. Freeman took place Wednesday afternoon at 2.30 at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. H. E. Rollins, on Bacon street, Rev. Harris G. Hale performing the ceremony in the presence of immediate relatives only. Mr. and Mrs. Freeman will make their home at the Hotel Ramsdell.

Ella, youngest daughter of R. P. Bestick, and William H. Hallows were married Monday at 12.30 by Rev. A. R. Nichols of the Methodist church. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents before a few friends. After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Hallows will reside in Henry Greene's house on Maple street.

The fire engineers had the department out Tuesday evening to test its ability to handle a fire on Carl street; 1000 feet of hose were laid from the pump shop to High street, and this supplied water to the steamer, from which 1100 feet of hose was laid to near the house of John Carley. Through this amount of hose they succeeded in throwing a stream over 125 feet horizontally, and about 100 feet high. The test was very satisfactory to all, and it is the intention of the engineers to try all the outlying streets, especially Washington and Richardson streets, in the near future.

A very large audience was present Tuesday evening at the high school graduation exercises in the town hall. President Merrill E. Gates of Amherst delivered the address of the evening on the subject, "Good Citizenship." It was the finest address ever heard in the town hall, and was full of interest to all. Superintendent Albert Robinson spoke to the class and presented the diplomas. The following musical programme was rendered during the evening: Piano solo, "Seconde Valse Britante,", Miss Edith Gleason; and these selections by the school," "High School March," "Anchored," and "County Fair Waltz Song." The class motto was "Esse quam videri," and the class colors were gold and white. The graduates were Miss Mabel Edna Cronch, Miss Hermine DeLuce, Miss Katie Elizabeth Lathe and Miss Jennie Elizabeth Whiting.

A very pleasant occasion was the gathering in honor of the eightieth birthday of Mr. David Slade Stebbins, at his West Brookfield home on Tuesday, June 2d. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Morse of Belchertown, Mrs. F. A. Towne of Ludlow, Mrs. E G. Hastings of Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Parent of Bondsville, Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Walker and daughter Eleanor of West Warren. On behalf of the friends Mr. A. W. Morse in a neat speech, presented suitable gifts to Mr. and Mrs. Stebbins, both of whom responded feelingly. Mr. Stebbins is one of the oldest residents of West Brookfield, being well known there and in the adjoining towns, and is held in the highest respect by all. Both Mr. Stebbins and his wife have been for many years members of the Congregational church and, although not wealthy, have always been liberal contributors to its support and to all benevolent objects. Mr. Stebbins is in excellent health, and looks and appears no older than many men twenty years his junior. Mrs. Stebbins passed through a severe illness last winter, but is now fully recovered and in better health than for several years. A similar gathering was held about two years ago, on the occasion of the seventy-fifth birthday of Mrs. Stebbins.

Pastor to be Installed.

The installation of Rev. Theodore Adolph Fischer as psstor of the Universalist church will take place next Friday at 2.30 p. m., with this programme: Reading of Scripture, Rev. A. N. Foster of Lynn; sermon, Rev. Almon A. Gunnison of Worcester; prayer and act of ordination, Rev. Dr. C. H. Leonard, dean of Tufts divinity school; fellowship of the church, Rev. L. M. Powers of Somerville; address to the minister, Rev. Charles Conklin of Springfield; address to the people, Rev. W. S. Perkins of Meriden, Ct.; benediction, the pastor.

For Keeping a Liquor Nuisance.

Daniel Connelly was brought before Judge J. W. Tyler this morning for maintaining a liquor nuisance in the "Dive" at West Warren last November. He pleaded guilty to the charge and was sentenced to pay a fine of $75, with two months in jail. Constable J. W. Quinlan went to Fitchburg yesterday and brought Connelly to town. As they were nearing the lockup Connelly escaped from him and started for West Warren on the run, but was caught near the engine house by Sheriff Putnam and was lodged in the lockup, though not without severe handling on the part of the officers.

Injunction Against the Electric Road.

The selectmen, with the town counsel, Lawyer Hopkins of Worcester, appeared before the superior court at Fitchburg Wednesday and were gained a temporary injunction against the Warren, Brookfield and Spencer electric road, to restrain them from laying iron in Warren until the road had been graded as far as the bridge in the center of Warren. This injunction was served Thursday, and all work was immediately stopped and the men left for Spencer and Southbridge. The trouble arises over the bridge which crosses the Boston and Albany tracks, which must be rebuilt, and either the town or the electric road must be at an expense of $4000. The selectmen are endeavoring to place this burden on the road, as the franchise plainly reads. It becomes more and more apparent that the electric road was to be built at this time only as far as Penfield's studio,—which would make it of very little advantage to the town,—if they had not been stopped two miles from town. Now it will probably be built all the way through to West Warren if they begin again.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER.

ABSOLUTELY PURE.

A cream of tartar Baking Powder. Highest of all in leavening power.—Latest United States Government Food Report.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall Street, New York.

Mr. James Perdue, an old soldier residing at Monroe, Mich., was severely afflicted with rheumatism, but received prompt relief from pain by using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. He says: "At times my back would ache so badly that I could hardly raise up. If I had not gotten relief I would not be here to write these few lines. Chamberlain's Pain Balm has done me a great deal of good and I feel very thankful for it." For sale by O. P. Allen, Palmer; Paige & Mason, Three Rivers; G. L. Keeney, Monson; A. P. Adams, Thorndike; William Kennedy, Ware.

LEGISLATIVE MATTERS.

BOSTON, June 10,1896.

The Central Court was prorogued a little after noon to-day, after having sat till after midnight last night, expecting to be sent home then, never to return. But there was pending a very important bill for the people of Boston, as regards the quality of their board of aldermen, and very important to the state as regards the soundness of the Australian ballot law. The bill abolished the present system of electing aldermen and substituted a system of aldermen at large, with nominations by caucuses in districts, each party to nominate 12 candidates, but each voter to have the right to vote for only seven. To this bill the Senate attached a requirement that the candidates should be grouped by parties. This the House positively and persistently refused to accept. Ultimately the branches disagreed, the Senate refused to ask for a new committee of conference, two having been tried already, and thus the bill failed. Mr. McCarthy of Boston, in whose name it stood, tried his best to persuade the House to recede in order to save the bill, but a two-thirds vote was necessary and it was so evident that he could not get this that he withdrew his motion. It was better that this bill should be defeated than that the principle of the Australian ballot should be successfully attacked in this way. As was said in the House, if the names of candidates are grouped by parties, instead of alphabetically, and each party has some distinguishing emblem, say a rooster for one and a cow for another, the voter who would tell the difference between a rooster and a cow would know where to put his X, even though he should not be able to read the name of a single candidate on the ticket. Boston needed the bill badly, but Boston had better wait for another year than that the loose methods of voting in some of the states should be introduced into Massachusetts.

A recess committee of the House has been appointed to sit during the recess and investigate the workings of the caucus law in Boston. Some very tough stories were told in the House regarding the criminal acts committed in both Democratic and Republican caucuses, and if they were half true the administration of the law ought to be investigated. The chairman of the committee is Mr. Harwood of Newton, who was chairman of the Norfolk county investigating committee on the part of the House, and who is likely to be promoted to the Senate next year. He has proved to be a valuable man, and will doubtless find out the crooked things in the Boston caucuses, if there is anything which a searchlight will disclose.

The Norfolk county investigation, with its smirch upon the character of two of the three county commissioners, has been a somewhat expensive proceeding for the state. The cash outlay has been about $8900, to say nothing of the cost to the county for counsel fees. Of the amount charged to the state, $5500 is for legal expenses, and of this total the charge of Moorfield Storey, who conducted the examination of witnesses in behalf of the state, is $3500. This is for about four weeks' work. The stenographer's charge, after he had thrown off something from the regular rates, was $3700. But this was a very difficult task. The stenographer had to employ four first-class assistants; and at times he had 12 typewriter girls writing out the report. So the money had to be distributed to a good number before all it covers is accounted for; but the lawyer's fee went to him alone. The county commissioners propose to have the county pay the fee of Robert M. Morse, who defended them, but an injunction has been procured against the payment of money from the county treasury for this purpose. Considering the nature of the investigating committee's report and the fact that the cause of the expense was the wrong doing of the commissioners, it does not seem to be justice that the honest men should be taxed for the defense of rogues in covering up proceedings by which the honest men have been compelled to pay a great deal of money in extra taxes, some of which it is presumed to have got into pockets where it had no just lodgment.

The Whitney pipe line bill has at last been enacted and signed by the governor, after being amended so as to meet some of the objections which were found in the bill. But not all of the points were answered and it would still have been a popular thing for the lieutenant governor to have interposed another veto, saying that it still remained true that there was plenty of opportunity for Mr. Whitney to try his system of producing and distributing gas, and that the bill might well go over to another year. The amendments to the bill which the incorporators accepted rather than lose the bill altogether shows how untrue were the pleas that these extreme powers were necessary for the enterprise. Great restrictions have been put on the bill, and yet Whitney was glad to get it. Doubtless he would have been glad to get it even if still more restrictions had been imposed. Doubtless the plan is now to come to the Legislature of 1897 and procure amendments to make it like the bill he wanted to get this year. Meanwhile, let us hope that the electrical discoveries by Edison and Tesla will make it possible to light our houses without gas or kerosene or the present forms of electrical energy.

There was much fear lest the lieutenant governor would veto the southern union station bill, for the business organizations of Boston made a strong, but twelfth-hour demonstration against it and pointed out that there were serious defects in the plan. These objections were formulated by ex-Attorney General Pillsbury, and they were all well founded and strong. If the same amount of work had been done earlier in the session, it is quite possible that the arguments would have been effective, but the committee worked long before it agreed upon the bill. The matter was engineered very carefully and shrewdly from the beginning, and the railroads succeeded in their purpose admirably. The power of the corporations is tremendous, and the people are often but putty in their hands.

The House is prorogued with two contests for the coming session of 1897 facing the members who will return and the new ones who may be elected. A new speaker must be elected, for Speaker Meyer has given notice that he will not return, and Assistant Clerk Kimball has decided to be a candidate for the clerkship against the present Clerk Sleeper, who ousted Clerk McLaughlin at the beginning of the session. The outlook for the speakership is that Representative Bates of Boston will be elected, for he is an able and popular man, and seems to have a hold on the House. But Col. Clarke of Wellesley will have friends; so will Mr. Lowell of Boston, and possibly others. But the chances at prorogation seem decidedly to favor Mr. Bates. In the case of the clerkship, some of the leading Republicans of the House are already pronounced in favor of Mr. Kimball instead of Mr. Sleeper. He has been there for many years and is well posted on parliamentary law, and has been obliged to give help to the speaker right over the head of Clerk Sleeper. He is far more competent for the place than the clerk, though no one can honestly deny that the latter has tried to do his best in the position. But Mr. Sleeper has neither that readiness and distinctness in reading, nor that quickness to see the parliamentary situation which are essential in a clerk. Mr. Kimball is as much of a Republican as is Mr. Sleeper, and the rule that the state should get the best, though requiring the election of Mr. McLaughlin, yet, since he will not again risk his fate with a Republican house, requires the election of Mr. Kimball. LANDON.

Mothers will find Chamberlain's Cough Remedy especially valuable for croup and whooping cough. It will give prompt relief and is safe and pleasant. We have sold it for several years and it has never failed to give the most perfect satisfaction. G. W. Richards, Duquesne, Pa. Sold by O. P. Allen, Palmer; Paige & Mason, Three Rivers; G. L. Keeney, Monson; A. P. Adams, Thorndike; William Kennedy, Ware.

Always in season, Hopkins' Steamed Hominy (Hulled Corn). Elegant lunch in milk. Qt. can, 10c.

If it required an annual outlay of $100.00 to insure a family against any serious consequences from an attack of bowel complaint during the year there are many who would feel it their duty to pay it; that they could not afford to risk their lives, and those of their family for such an amount.

Any one can get this insurance for 25 cents, being the price of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. In almost every neighborhood some one has died from an attack of bowel complaint before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. One or two doses of this remedy will cure any ordinary case. It never fails. Can you afford to take the risk for so small an amount? For sale by O. P. Allen, Palmer; Paige & Mason, Three Rivers; G. L. Keeney, Monson; A. P. Adams, Thorndike; William Kennedy, Ware.

Forbes & Wallace's,

Springfield.

A SALE OF BLACK SILKS.

At the peremptory auction sales of black silks held in New York last week, by order of Cutter's Silk Manufacturing Co., and the Phoenix Silk Manufacturing Co., our New York organization was a large buyer. The result is that we have a fine quality

BLACK SILKS TO SELL AT UNEXAMPLED PRICES.

Of the Phoenix silks we are going to sell—

At 55c a yard —the 59c quality, 19-inch black surah.
At 55c a yard —the 75c quality, 24-inch black surah.
At 55c a yard —the 87½c quality, 21-inch black gros grain.
At 59c a yard —the $1 quality, 24 inch black brocaded India.
At 85c a yard —the $1 quality, 21-inch black satin duchess.

Of Cutter's silks—all pure dye silks—we are going to sell

At 69c a yard —the $1 quality, 21-inch black gros grain.
At 89c a yard —the $1.25 quality, 20½inch black gros grain.
At $1 a yard —the $1.37 quality, 21-inch black gros grain.
At $1 a yard —the $1 50 quality, 21-inch black brocaded satin taffeta.

This is by far the greatest sale of black dress silks that has been held in Springfield for a long time. Perhaps the conditions that make it won't occur again in a generation. Wise, careful, thrifty people will come, and come quickly.

GRADUATION DRESSES.

Stuffs for graduating dresses—white and cream cashmeres, silks, organdies, mulls and muslins—everything that is likely to be thought of, in bigger abundance than can be found elsewhere.

DRESS GOODS—

Cotton and wool cashmere, 36 inches wide, 18c and 25c a yard.
Wool cashmere, 38 inches, 37½c.
Wool henrietta, 38 inches, 50c.
Brilliantine, 38 inches, 50c and 75c.
Albatross, 38 inches, 50c.
Crepon, 38 inches, 50c.
Bedford cord, 44 inches, 75c.
Silk and wool fabric, 40 inches, 75c.
Figured silk and wool, 40 inches, $1.
Lansdowne, 40 inches, $1.

SILKS—

Figured India, 25 inches, 75c a yard.
Plain India, 25 inches, 50c and 75c; 30 inches, 62½c.
Crepe de chine, 22-inch, $1.
Satin, 20-inch, 75c and $1.25.
Faille, 20-inch, $1.

COTTON STUFFS, ETC.

Swiss muslins, 27 to 42 inches, 27½c, 15c, 20c, 25c, 37½c.
India linens, 27 to 36 inches, 6¼c to 50c.
Dotted muslins, 12½c, 15c, 20c, 25c, 37c, 50c.
India mulls, 36 inches wide, 25c, 37½c, 50c.
White French organdies, 36-inch, 25c, 50c and 37½c; 72 inches wide, 50c, 65c, 75c, 87½c, $1 and $1.25.

No trouble to show all we have, and we send samples with pleasure.

Left aisle.

Forbes & Wallace,

Main, Vernon and Pynchon streets, Springfield, Mass.

June 9, '96.

Received this day:

Mosquito netting—black, blue, pink and green.
Ever-ready dress stays.
Milward's needles.
Morse, Kealey & Co's. darning cotton.
500 yd. spools basting cotton.
Ladies' hose supporters.
Dress shields. Safety pins.
Leather belts. Satin bows.
Ladies' hose 10c, 25c. Men's hose 5c, 12c.
Children's hose 10c. Ladies' night robes $1.
Corset covers 10c, 25c. Corset covers 50c, $1.

W. E. STONE, Lawrence, Block, Main Street, Palmer.

FINE GRANULATED SUGAR, confection sugar, pulverized sugar, lump sugar, Cox's gelatine, Plymouth Rock gelatine, tangle foot fly paper, Bakers' cocoa shells, new cheese—full cream, 1 gallon cans apple, table mustard in butter dishes and sugar bowls, 1 lb. blocks codfish, 3 lb. boxes codfish, whale codfish, salmon trout—pickled, salmon, red—pickled, mackerel—pickled.

W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer.

Telephone.

C. H. HOBBY, PIANO TUNER.

Orders for tuning may be left at O. P. Allen's drug store, Palmer; or may be sent to me by mail to Mansfield, Ct.

One minute is the standard time, and One Minute Cough Cure is the standard preparation for every form of cough or cold. It is the only harmless remedy that produces immediate results. LeGro & Lynde.

We never promise more than we can fulfill.

BLOW AND BLUSTER !

Ridiculous superlatives and metaphorical compounds won't sell clothes. Plain, common sense, backed by facts, does the busfness.

That $10.50 Suit

—talked so much about. Hard to make strangers, who have been paying $16 and $18 elsewhere, understand now we can afford to chip off $6 or $8 from the regular retail price. Old friends know the why—doubling our business. Sack in serges, cheviots, worsteds, cassimeres and Scotches, for men and young men—$10.50. Good serviceable suits—$6.50 and $7.85.

Cutaway Suit, $13.75.

A carefully-made and trimmed black clay worsted. We picked this suit out for a leader—otherwise the price would have been $16. A little better than we have done before in semi-dress suits. Fancy gray worsteds—several hundred taken from $20 and $25 lines and now marked $14.50.

Men's Trousers.

Just to get you talking about our Summer patterns we make special prices for a few days—for working, business and dress, $1.93, $2.50, $3.85, $4.90.

Boys' Suit Sale.

Bound to get more mothers interested, even if we get the short end of the deal. 300 all-wool suits, sizes 6 to 16 years, taken from the regular $6.50, $7.50 and $8.50 lines, and marked at one price—$4.25.

HAYNES & CO.,

Clothiers, Tailors, Hatters, Furnishers.

SPRINGFIELD, = = = MASS.

Sign of the Golden Globes.

Every pledge made in the papers is redeemed at the store.

Coal! Coal!! Coal!!!

Better order your coal at once, as it will be higher next month.

Prices as follows, which are subject to advance any time:

Lehigh Egg, $5.60
" Stove, 5.75
" Chestnut, 5.75
Lackawanna Egg, $5.30
" Stove, 5.50

In bags 10c extra per ton. 16c an hour for good men to house and bin.

R. M. & THEO. REYNOLDS, = MONSON.

CENTRAL VERMONT RAILROAD.

NEW LONDON DIVISION.

TAKING EFFECT DECEMBER 22, 1895.

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

Leave Brattleboro, 5.40 and 10.30 a. m. and 4.25 p. m. for New London, connecting at Millers Falls with Fitchburg R. R., at Belchertown with Central Massachusetts R. R., and at Palmer with B. & A. R. R. for Worcester, Boston, Springfield, at New London with the N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R.
Leave Amherst, 7.05 a. m., 12.13 and 5.57 p. m.
Leave Palmer, 8.25 a. m., 1.50 and 7.00 p. m.
Leave Will

Marble statuary, and statuettes, ornaments—so delicate, so easily discolored—ought to be cleaned with Pearline. That will bring back their snowy purity and without the least risk of harm. Some of the soaps and other substances that are sold for washing and cleaning would ruin them. So with mantels, slabs, tables, basins, etc. Clean them with Pearline. Then you won't see them getting yellow or dingy. With everything you can wash, there's some point that makes Pearline's washing better, as well as easier. 474

SCROFULA CURED.

E. C. Caswell of Brockport, N. Y., says: "I was terribly afflicted with scrofula, and had lost all hope of being cured. A friend advised me to take which I did with great benefit, and I recommend it to others." It restores the liver to a healthy condition, and cures constipation, scrofula, rheumatism, dyspepsia, and all kidney, bladder and urinary diseases.

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

LARRABEE'S RHEUMATIC LINIMENT

A standard and sovereign household remedy for over half a century. It is a wonderful curative agent in all painful diseases, such as

Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuralgia, Backache, Catarrh, Toothache,

and other painful ailments. To be had of all druggists, or by mail on receipt of 25 cents. Trade supplied by Geo. C. Goodwin & Co., or any wholesale druggist.

WINKLEMANN & BROWN DRUG CO. BALTIMORE, MD., U. S. A.

Beautiful Lady

May or may not be the meaning of the word belladonna. But many women know (and others are daily learning) how excellent a thing for aches and pains in any part of the body is JOHNSON'S BELLADONNA PLASTER. It is fine, smooth, elegant, and full of quick and kindly healing. Try one and we shall not need to advertise them any more—not for you at least. On the face cloth of the genuine see the bright Red Cross.

JOHNSON & JOHNSON, Manufacturing Chemists, New York.

PURE PARIS GREEN, 1 lb., ½ lb. and ¼ lb. boxes. W. E. STONE, Main St., Palmer.

Piano and Banjo Lessons

given by

Misses Annie and Carrie Fish,

22-tf Palmer.

AN ARTISTIC BURGLAR.

[CONTINUED FROM FIRST PAGE]

face, donned my old clothes, and sallied forth by the back door, which, like all the doors of Brown's Terrace, opened out on a back lane.

"The house that I intended to burglarize was now wrapt in darkness. From that fact I knew that the nurse and little ones had retired to rest. I walked boldly to the front door, and using my latch key, let myself into the house, and shut the door behind me as quietly as possible.

"It is not a pleasant feeling, I assure you, to find yourself burglariously on the premises of another. The very stillness awes you, and a thousand eyes behind quite a number of revolvers seem to be peeping at you from every turn and corner. The darkness is frightsome. If you have an associate the work may come much easier, but to be alone in a burglary requires the strongest kind of courage.

"I left the old boots in the passage, so as to create the belief that the burglar had taken off his boots before going up stairs. The farther the detectives followed their track the farther would they go from mine. I then went to the rear of the house and opened a window, leaving it open. In this way the belief would be induced that I had entered and departed by the same way.

"I then went cautiously up those dark stairs. Here and there the steps gave forth a little creak, beneath my footsteps, as if protesting against the tread of the intruder. It was very aggravating, but I proceeded steadily, and shortly found myself at the foot of the room recently occupied by the deceased lady. Here a slight difficulty presented itself, but a little professional manipulation succeeded in effecting an entrance.

"I closed the door of the bedroom softly, and then proceeded to light my candle. The next thing was to arrange my accessories so as to induce the opinion of the (false) identity of the burglar, and to establish a theory that he had been disturbed in his quest. I had rolled a few bread crumbs in the old newspaper. This I now opened and laid it on the bed, with the 'waxed end' close beside it. Then I laid the old cap on a chair and the awl and the hammer on the drawers. They were intended to tell a tale. Having thus arranged my supposed surprise, I proceeded to work—solid work. All the jewelry I found in a box, locked, and placed in a locked drawer.

"The locks, however, made little difference to me. I appreciated all. I was rather touched, I confess, when I discovered the dead lady's wedding and engagement rings tied with a piece of black silk and carefully placed in the corner of the little box. How those rings had kept the poor woman thinking, from the time she put them on until her dying day! I actually began to soliloquize in spite of myself. Then I adhered to my plan and placed them in the corner of the envelope I had brought with me to the house for that purpose. I had previously torn the envelope diagonally across, leaving the postage stamp and obliterating stamp visible.

"I had also left the final letters of a name, and the words'—rn, Beasley Road,' on the envelope, to be studied by the detectives. The rings I left behind me.

"I never did believe in making a litter about a bedroom, so having placed the valuables in my pockets I closed the drawers and looked closely about the room for something

[CONTINUED IN SIXTH COLUMN.]

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury,

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physcians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

☞Sold by Druggists, price 75c. per bottle.

Sour

Stomach, sometimes called waterbrash, and burning pain, distress, nausea, dyspepsia, are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This it accomplishes because with its wonderful power as a blood purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla gently tones and strengthens the stomach and digestive organs, invigorates the liver, creates an appetite, gives refreshing sleep, and raises the health tone. In cases of dyspepsia and indigestion it seems to have "a magic touch."

"For over 12 years I suffered from sour

Stomach

with severe pains across my shoulders, and great distress. I had violent nausea which would leave me very weak and faint, difficult to get my breath. These spells came oftener and more severe. I did not receive any lasting benefit from physicians, but found such happy effects from a trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I took several bottles and mean to always keep it in the house. I am now able to do all my own work, which for six years I have been unable to do. My husband and son have also been greatly benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla—for pains in the back, and after the grip. I gladly recommend this grand blood medicine." MRS. PETER BURBY, Leominster, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.

Hood's Pills cure all Liver Ills and Sick Headache. 25 cents.

"Pretty fast traveling," said the drummer on the New York express to Mulcahy. "Ah, now!" replied Mr. Mulcahy, "ye should see the thrains in Ireland. I mind whin I was in the station at Dublin wanst, and me cousin, Mike Branilan, was aboored the train, and his gurl had come down to bid him good-by. Just as the thrain started, Mike stuck his head of the windy to kiss her good-by, and begorra! he kissed a cow in the next county!"

Wholesome, pure and full of fruit.

NONE SUCH MINCE MEAT

is a luxury, but within the means of all. Accept no substitutes.

Send name and address for booklet, "Mrs. Popkins' Thanksgiving." Merrell-Soule Co., Syracuse, N. Y.

EYES EXAMINED FREE.

Dr. Vineberg, Refraction Specialist,

wishes to inform sufferers of headache or nervous complaints arising from defective vision, can be cured by having glasses properly fitted to the eyes.

247 Main Street, - Springfield, Mass.

WALL PAPERS,

MOULDINGS, ETC.,

AT MASON'S, PALMER.

GET OUTSIDE SOME GLASSES OF THAT ICE COLD SODA.

You will realize that there is some good left in life after all, and something to look forward to when you have had one glass, you will want another, and still another—sometime at least. So much for the pleasure of life. The necessities you will find amongst our things, and medicines to dispose of that disagreeable feeling which may be worse to-morrow if neglected. For all of which call at

ALLEN'S DRUG STORE, Holden's Block, Palmer.

F. M. EAGER.

Boots and Shoes Manufactured to Measure.

REPAIRING NEATLY DONE AT SHORT NOTICE.

Dealer in Sewing Machines and Supplies.

Machines to rent or sold on monthly payments.

F. M. EAGER, PALMER.

Horse Blankets.

A full line, for both stable .....and street use.....

375 BLANKETS IN STOCK.

PRICES RIGHT.

D. W. Foskit,

Foskit's Mills.

Wall Papers.

New styles, spring patterns. Borders to match.

How nice your rooms will look with new paper on them, and more healthy, too.

For the . . .

largest and best assortment,

. . . go to

LeGRO & LYNDE'S,

next to post office, PALMER.

Did you ever think how readily the blood is poisoned by constipation? Bad blood means bad health and premature old age. DeWitt's Little early Risers, the famosu little pills, overcomes obstinate constipation. LeGro & Lynde.

Puritana

Nature's Cure

Puritana will positively give any man, woman, or child Perfect Digestion;—the kind of digestion that brings New Life.

92% of all sickness and all disorders of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, Lungs, Nerves, Brain, and Skin is caused by improper working of the

Stomach

Puritana makes the

Heart Right,
Lungs Right,
Blood Right,
Kidneys Right,
Nerves Right,
Health Right.

Because it makes the Stomach right.

Get of your druggist this great disease-conquering discoverer (the price is $1 for the complete treatment, one bottle of Puritana, one bottle of Puritana Pills, and one bottle of Puritana Tablets, all in one package), and you will bless the day when you heard of Puritana. The Puritana Compound Co., Concord, N. H.

HIRES Rootbeer contains the best herbs, berries and roots nature makes for rootbeer making. Take no other.

Made only by The Charles E. Hires Co., Philadelphia. A 25c. package makes 5 gallons. Sold everywhere.

HINDERCORNS The only sure Cure for Corns. Stops all pain. Makes walking easy. 15c. at Druggists.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists

If you are CONSUMPTIVE or have indigestion, Painful life or debility of any kind use PARKER'S GINGER TONIC. Many who were hopeless and discouraged have regained health by its use.

A SYMBOL OF PURITY.

—The seal of a government the world over, signifies quality and stability, and so the name—"John P. Squire & Co.," means pure lard, and purity in all her products. All New England knows that.—New England Grocer.

JOHN P. SQUIRE & CO., BOSTON.

WANTED---A MAN

in each county for one year to hire and superintend agents. $65 a month. State age, experience and references. Enclose stamp. THE HUBBARD CO., 1023 Filbert Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

BUTTER PAPER, cut for 1 lb. prints. W. E. STONE, Lawrence block, Palmer.

more. You may judge at my surprise when I heard a key turned in the door below stairs, and the movements of Mr. Chumleigh in the hall.

"He had returned earlier than I had expected. Calmly I blew out my candle and left the room silently, creeping down the stairs to meet him if he had any intention of coming up. Then my heart began to beat in earnest. I really thought that such pulsation would attract him. I saw him enter a bedroom, light the gas, and deliberately examine the chambers of a revolver which he had lifted. Then I knew my light had been observed and that he was prepared to make an example of the intruder. Quick as thought I stepped past the door of the lighted room. I trusted to his not seeing me, and he did not. I rapidly concealed myself in the corner of the stairs. Meantime my heart was thumping.

"I had scarcely steadied myself when Mr. Chumleigh turned on the gas, and muttering something to himself, crept up the stairs as cautiously as I had previously descended. When he was well on his way I crept down once again, and when I heard him strike the light in his late wife's room, I noiselessly let myself out by the front door, and as noiselessly closed it behind me.

"You look surprised, sir," he continued, "but it was not a bad night's work. I netted over £300 for my plunder, and I had the satisfaction of not having robbed his dead wife's treasured rings. This in itself was a satisfaction. Of course, I had committed felony, and a shameful crime, I admit; but the business of a burglar and the business of a moralist cannot be expected to agree in every particular.

"The morning papers told us of the burglary of the preceding night. As a neighbor I went up to sympathize. A sturdy policeman was standing at the door, and two others were making search inside.

"'Here's where the cove has put off his boots,' said one of the policemen, 'and a nice blooming pair of beetle crushers they are.'

"They certainly did not look respectable in daylight.

"'He came through this window here,' said another, in strong Irish accent, to Mr. Chumleigh, 'left his boots here and went up the stairs in his bare feet.'

"'And the coolness of the fellow!' added the other. 'Why he has sat down and ate his tucker on the bed with the Morning News for a clane table cloth.'

Then the detectives went upstairs and came down stairs, and measured and studied and looked wise. And one saw it was a new hand, and said so from the first; and the other said it was an old hand and shook his head. Everybody was satisfied on one point, and that was that the perpetrator of the act was a shoemaker who lived on Beasley Road.

"I had some interesting experiences over that burglary. It was amusing to hear the theories of the detectives and the public. The police went dashing about everywhere and arresting everybody. There was not a shoemaker in the country but the 'heye' of some inspector was upon him. The mystery never was solved, and after a time I had the jewelry melted and it turned me in, as I told you before, £300 sterling."

"And do you mean to tell me, Mr. Ollacram, that this narrative is actually true?" I asked him angrily, as I moved farther from one whose very touch seemed now contamination.

"True, sir?" Mr. Ollacram replied. "Every word of it—as true as those other detective yarns we are reading in the magazine to-day. And if this is the period for an artistic detective, why should we not invent an equally artistic and intelligent burglar?"

Then I knew that Mr. Ollacram had been jokingly taking a hand at his parson, but I send you his tale notwithstanding.—Cassels.

Some two months ago a boy who asked for employment in a local manufactory was told to come again when he reached 11 years of age, as he was at the time under the proper age. Last Tuesday morning the manager found him coming into the works about 7.20 and said to him: "Oh, so you're coming to make a start, eh?" "Yes, sir," answered the youngster. "Well, but look here, sonny," remarked the man, "why didn't you come at 6 o'clock? That's the time we begin here." "Yes, I know that, sir," replied the lad on the nail. "But you told me not to come again till I was full up to 11, and I wasn't 11 till 16 minutes past 7!"—Strand Magazine.

Dangerous Drugs.

Avoid the use of white or pink headache powders, they contain dangerous drugs Taylor's Anti-Headache Powders are brown; they look like ground coffee and they have a delightful aromatic taste. Try them once and you will never be without them. Get them of LeGro & Lynde.

DANGEROUS

but not more so than the quickly advancing diseases caused by bad blood! More people die from failure to take simple healthful precautions than from lawless people. The first sign may be a weak, tired feeling, lack of energy, dizziness or headache. DON'T neglect that sign! It's easier to prevent than cure. Get at once

DR. CLARK JOHNSON'S INDIAN BLOOD SYRUP

It's the best blood remedy. It's a cure, not for a day or a week, but a permanent cure, prompt and sure. Over 20,000,000 bottles sold.

50c. per bottle; all druggists.

The Ideal Panacea.

James L. Francis, alderman, Chicago, says: "I regard Dr. King's New Discovery as an Ideal Panacea for Coughs, Colds and Lung Complaints, having used it in my family for the last five years, to the exclusion of physicians' prescriptions or other preparations."

Rev. John Burgus, Keokuk, Iowa, writes: "I have been a minister of the Methodist Episcopal church for 50 years or more, and have never found anything so beneficial, or that gave me such speedy relief as Dr. King's New Discovery. Try this Ideal Cough Remedy now. Trial bottles free of LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

It May Do as Much for You.

Mr. Fred Miller, of Irving, Ill., writes that he had a severe Kidney Trouble for many years, with severe pains in his back, and also that his bladder was affected. He tried many so-called Kidney cures, but without any good result. About a year ago he began the use of Electric Bitters and found relief at once. Electric Bitters is especially adapted to cure all Liver and Kidney troubles, and often gives almost instant relief. One trial will prove our statement. Price only 50 cents for large bottle of LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

THE BEST SALVE in the world for cuts bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware.

A combination of leavening agents that are pure, strong and pre-eminently satisfactory in their action, has resulted in which is "The kind Boss makes his biscuits with" and has for 32 years. Over 3,000,000 pounds sold in the past year testify to their popularity.

BOSS BAKING POWDER

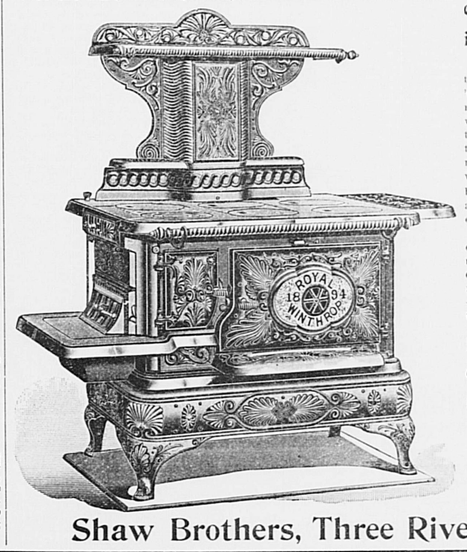
MANUFACTURERS C. D. BOSS & SON, NEW LONDON, CONN.

We sell the ROYAL WINTHROP GRAND. Also the HERALD B RANGE, the two BEST STOVES made.



Your credit is good---

Don't wonder if this means you. 'Cause it does. It means everybody who wants furniture, carpets, mattings, stoves or ranges, crockeryware, bedwear, baby carriages, or anything else in our line.

And the only requirement we make is that whatever terms of payment you agree to—you will live up to.

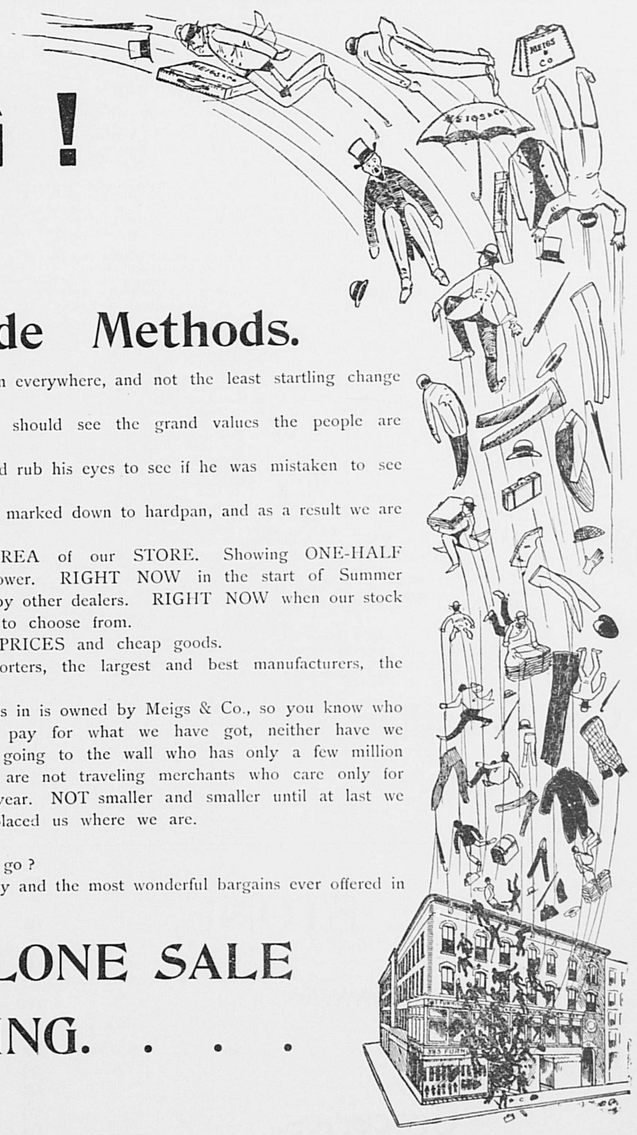
Have you ever noticed

how bright the handle of our front door is? Sapolio? Oh, no; just the ordinary usage of our trade.

Shaw Brothers, Three Rivers.

A GREAT CYCLONE

IN MEN'S AND BOYS' CLOTHING!



Interesting Facts to Those . . . . . Who Want to Buy New Suits.

Here is the Cyclone. In men's clothing you have the choice of elegant fabric, honorably finished, and breathing style and fit in every swell curve, as follows:

All our $20 and 25 Sack Suits for	$13.50
All our $18 and 20 Sack and Cutaway Suits for	11.50
All our $15 and 16 Sack and Cutaway Suits for	9.50
All our $10 and 12 Sack Suits for	6.50

Men's Pants.

All our $7.50 for	$6.00
All our $6.50 for	5.00
All our $5.00 for	3.87
All our $3.50 and 4.00 for	2.38
All our $2.50 and 3.00 for	1.69
ottonade Pants,	.98

...A...

∴ CYCLONE ∴

which kills high prices and cheap goods.

One=half Million

WORTH OF SUMMER CLOTHING

Distributed to the people of Western Massachusetts

At 20 per cent to 40 per cent discount.

Here is the Cyclone. Mothers who wish to have their boys well dressed will find by far the largest and most complete assortment of suits for the little fellows and their big brothers.

All odd sizes and broken lots of our $3.50 and 4.00 Boy's Knee Pant Suits for	$1.89
All our 75c Wash Suits for	.48
All our $2.50 Knee Pant Suits for	1.89
All our $2.00 Knee Pant Suits for	.98
All our $3.50, 4.50 and $5.00 Boys' Knee Suits for	2.38

Boys' Long Pant Suits.

All our $6.50 Long Pant Suits for	$4.00
All our $10.00 Long Pant Suits for	6.00
All our $12.00 Long Pant Suits for	8.00
2000 Boys' 75c all-wool Knee Pants	.48

Evolution in Trade Methods.

Everything in life is changing. Evolution seems to be going on everywhere, and not the least startling change is to be seen in THIS STORE.

What would the old merchant of half a century ago say if he should see the grand values the people are getting here in our store to-day.

He would be bewildered to see such crowds buying. He would rub his eyes to see if he was mistaken to see such low prices on first quality goods.

Every SUIT, every PANT, every ARTICLE in our store is marked down to hardpan, and as a result we are DOUBLING—TREBLING our business.

THE MIGHTY FORCE of our PRICES. The LARGE AREA of our STORE. Showing ONE-HALF MILLION stock are potent illustrations of our buying and selling power. RIGHT NOW in the start of Summer demands. RIGHT NOW when a harvest of big profits are sought by other dealers. RIGHT NOW when our stock contains the richest fashions and the greatest assortment of styles to choose from.

WE start our "Cyclone Sale." A cyclone that kills HIGH PRICES and cheap goods.

In our store you find clothing from the largest and best importers, the largest and best manufacturers, the largest and best wholesalers.

Our stock is owned by Meigs & Co. The store we do business in is owned by Meigs & Co., so you know who you are buying from. We are not trying to raise money enough to pay for what we have got, neither have we (like some of the little fellows) saved some poor manufacturer from going to the wall who has only a few million dollars' worth of goods left and has sent them one whole box. We are not traveling merchants who care only for your money. We are here to stay, growing larger and larger every year. NOT smaller and smaller until at last we are lost sight of. Honest, upright straightforward methods have placed us where we are.

If the saving of money is an object to you?

If you want to make one dollar go as far as two usually go?

If you want to see the greatest value-giving days in our history and the most wonderful bargains ever offered in this popular store, then come to our

MID=SUMMER CYCLONE SALE . . . OF CLOTHING. . . .

MEIGS & CO.

CLOTHIERS, HATTERS, FURNISHERS.

Corner Main and Harrison Avenue.

SPRINGFIELD, = = = MASS.

MEIGS & CO.

CLOTHIERS, HATTERS, FURNISHERS.

The Palmer Journal.

VOLUME XLVII. PALMER, MASS., FRIDAY EVENING, JUNE 19, 1896. NUMBER 12.

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY EVENING
—BY—
C. B. FISKE & CO.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.—Two dollars a year. A discount of 25 cents to those who pay in advance. Six months, $1.00; three months, 50 cents; single copies, 1 cent.

ADVERTISING RATES.—One inch (or twelve lines of this type solid) 75 cents for the first insertion, 25 cents for the second, 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. Short advertisements, "Wanted," "To Let," etc., one cent a word for the first insertion, one-half cent a word each subsequent insertion, cash; no charge less than 25 cents. Notices in local column, 15 cents per line. Liberal rates to yearly advertisers.

JOB PRINTING of all kinds executed in the best styles, promptly and at reasonable rates.

C. B. FISKE. L. E. CHANDLER.

[Entered at Post Office as second class matter.]

LOCAL BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

PALMER.

ALLEN, O. P., Wholesale and Retail Druggist and Bookseller.

BARTON, F. D., Dealer in Watches, Clocks and Jewelry, Main street.

BILLS, G. A., Fresh and Salt Beef, Pork, Ham, Lard, Tripe, etc.

BROOKS, EDWIN E., Graduate Optician. With E. S. Brooks, Jeweler, Main street.

BROOKS, E. S., Dealer in Watches, Clocks, Jewelry, Solid Silver and Plated Ware, Main street.

BROWN, C. A. & CO., Hardware, Furnaces, Stoves, Ranges, Paints, Oils and Glass.

BROWN, S. H., Trucking, Light Jobbing, Piano and Furniture Moving. Order box cor. Main and Walnut streets. Orders can also be left at J. F. Foley's store.

CARPENTER, Mrs. L. E., Millinery and Fancy Goods. Also dealer in Human Hair Goods.

CHANDLER BROS., Bicycles.

CLARK & HASTINGS, Wholesale Dealers in Armour & Co's. Dressed Beef, Provisions, Main St.

EAGER, F. M., Boot and Shoe Manufacturer to Order, and dealer in Leather and Findings.

FISKE, C. B. & CO., Publishers PALMER JOURNAL and WARE STANDARD. Fine Book and Job Printers and Bookbinders.

FITCH, A. E., Law and Insurance, Savings Bank Block.

FRANCIS, R. B., Iron Foundry and Machine Shop.

GAMWELL, C. K., Ready made Clothing, Hats, Caps, Gent's Furnishings, etc.

GARDNER, CHAS. L., Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Church street.

GOODES, E., Palmer Boot and Shoe Store, corner Main and Thorndike streets.

HAMILTON, J. A., Dealer in all kinds of Coal, Wood, Grain, Flour, Baled Hay and Straw. Fertilizers and Stock Food. Main street.

HOLBROOK, C. D., Flour, Grain, Feed and Masons' Supplies, Main street.

HOLBROOK, J. F., Dealer in all kinds of Coal. Agent for National and White Star line of steamers. Drafts on Foreign Banks at lowest rates.

LEACH, W. W., Attorney at Law.

LEGRO & LYNDE, Druggists and Newsdealers, Paper Hangings, Shades, Lamps and Fixtures.

MARCY, F. F., Dealer in Lumber, Shingles, etc., wholesale and retail. West of B. & A. R. R. depot.

MARCY, OSCAR C., Livery and Feed Stable, rear of Converse House.

PALMER WATER CO., Office, Lawrence Block. Office hours to October 1, from 8.30 to 10 a. m., from 2 to 3 p. m.

SHAW, J. B., Dealer in Dry Goods, Groceries, etc. Opposite the depot.

WHITE, C. W., Marble and Granite Works. No. 1 Thorndike street.

WOOLRICH & CO., Manufacturers of Ridge's Food, Thorndike street.

THORNDIKE.

ADAMS, A. P., Druggist, Toilet Articles, Confectionery and Cigars.

BONDSVILLE.

HOLDEN, C. L., Dry Goods, Groceries, Clothing, Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps, etc.

MORIARTY, M., Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots, Shoes, Coal. Agt White Star and Anchor SS Co's.

WARE.

ALBERTINE, J. A. Choice Fruits, Tobaccos, Cigars and Confectionery. Low Prices

DAVIS INSURANCE AGENCY represents the best companies and gives lowest rates.

DWIGHT, E. N., Harness, Horse Saddlery, Hardware. Repairing a Specialty. Next to Bank.

EDDY, C. W. Job and Fine Art Printer.

EDDY, MISS MATIE K. Teacher of Oil Painting and Crayon. Sketching or Art Work completed to order.

ELDREDGE, A. HENRY, Sign Painter. Carriages painted in the best manner. West Street.

HARLOW, A. B. Photographer. Instantaneous process only. Opposite the Bank.

HOSMER, F. N. Clothier. Hats, Caps, Gents' Furnishing Good, etc. Sanford's Block.

MARSH, F. E. Gold, Silver and Nickel Plater. Replating tableware a specialty. 7 Bank street.

PRIEST, J. E. Ware Steam Laundry. Carpet cleaning. Office at H. M. Clark's.

RICHARDSON, A. F. Dealer in Boots, Shoes and Rubbers of all kinds. Sagendorph's Block.

ROBINSON, JOHN F. Furniture, Sewing Machines, Pictures, Hardware, Paints and Farming Tools.

SIBLEY, J. B. Hardware, Tools, Agricultural Implements, Paints, Oils and Artists' materials.

SMITH, G. H. W. Jeweler. Watches, Clocks and Spectacles. Repairing in the best manner.

SULLIVAN & STRONG, Ware Cooperative Laundry. Fine Work and Carpet Cleaning. Office, 50 Main Street.

TURNER, H. H. Bookseller and Stationer, and dealer in Paper Hangings, Musical Instruments and Sheet Music.

MONSON.

GROUT, GEO. E. Dealer in Watches Clocks, Jewelry, etc. Towne's Block.

NEWTON, GEO. H., Law Office, Notary Public, Insurance, etc., near Gage's store.

SQUIER & CO., Dealers in Grain, Feed, Hay, Straw, Lumber, Shingles and Building Material.

WARREN.

KELLEY, W. H., Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Quaboag Block, Warren, Mass.

SOCIETY DIRECTORY.

MONSON.

MT. ELLA LODGE, No. 184, A. O. U. W. Meets first and third Tuesdays of each month in A. O. U. W. Hall, Monson.
ALEX. MURPHY, M. W., F. J. ENTWISTLE, Rec.

F. M. EAGER.

Boots and Shoes Manufactured to Measure.

REPAIRING NEATLY DONE AT SHORT NOTICE.

Dealer in Sewing Machines and Supplies.

Machines to rent or sold on monthly payments.

F. M. EAGER, PALMER.

CARRIAGES.

I have in stock a large and complete line of fine and medium grade carriages.

Top carriages, - - $50 to $350
Open carriages, - - $40 to $200
150 second-hand carriages, $5 to $150

DELIVERY WAGONS OF ALL KINDS.

I have the right styles and low prices.

W. H. SMITH,

2 Park Street, Springfield.

WALL PAPERS,

MOULDINGS, ETC.,

AT MASON'S, PALMER.

Mrs. R. DeYoung, Middleburg, Ia., writes: I have used One Minute Cough Cure for six years, both for myself and children, and I consider it the quickest acting and most satisfactory Cough Cure I ever used. LeGro & Lynde.

WORCESTER SALT, 56 sacks for butter makers. W. E. STONE, Main St., Palmer.

TOO MANY COOKS SPOIL THE BROTH.

In our case its too many cookers and not cooks enough. We have a surplus of kitchen things, a flood of handy and useful utensils necessary to you, but very much in our way just now. To get them off our hands and into yours we break price in the middle—we can't break the ware—it's tin and glass ware.

AT 5c EACH.

GLASS WARE.

7-inch Oblong Dishes—Heavy square-edge dish, very useful.
7-inch Plates—A most attractive pattern.
Flanged Foot Tumblers—One of the heaviest of brilliant tumblers.
7-inch Oval Dishes—Useful for forty purposes.
Deep Low Footed Dishes—Size 5¼-inch. One of the most practical dishes.
Tankard Cream Pitchers—High, beautiful and stylish.
Deep Round Dishes—Measuring full 5¼ inches in diameter.
Round Deep Dishes—5¼ inch, footed, scalloped edge.
Cups and Saucers—Both cup and saucer together constitute one piece. Worth double.
Table Goblets—Of artistic design and finish.
High Footed Jellies—Measures 4¾ inches in diameter.
Low Sugar Bowls and Covers—This 4¼ inch sugar bowl and cover are counted as one piece.
Tin Stamped Pans—holding from ½ pint to 4 quarts.
Tin Pie Plates—7 inch to 10 inch. Superior quality.
Tin Square and Drip Biscuit Pans, Funnels, Cups, Biscuit Cutlery, Dippers, Measures, and other things too numerous to mention, all at one uniform price of 5 CENTS EACH.

AT 10c EACH.

OUR VARIETY IS LEGON.

Heavy milk pans, holding 8, 10 and 12 quarts; milk strainers, colanders, tea and coffee pots, large dippers, rinsing pans, galvanized and double tin wash bowls, dust pans, muffin pans, sauce pans—all sizes, bread and drip pans, fry pans, large screw drivers, 1-pound polished wood hammer, 1 large bottle ammonia, brushes of all kinds, shawl straps, bottle of bay rum, 1 large bottle petrolatum jelly, lemon squeezers, 1 bottle fine shoe dressing, spring hinges, soup servers, 60-foot clothes line, milk cans, large whisk broom, oil stone with hard wood cover, paint brushes, steak pounder, flour scoops, knife trays, feather dusters, flour sifters.

JAPANESE FANS.

Palm leaf pans, well bound,	2c each.
Jap fans, with gilt decorations,	8c "
12-inch fans, with sprays and flowers,	10c "
13 " " lavender and pink, silver,	15c "
13 " " black, white, very handsome,	19c "

SILK AND FEATHER FANS.

White tipped feather fans,	58c each.
12-inch gauze, all colors,	75c "
10 " silk fan, spangled,	98c "
White gauze, with hand painted flowers,	$1.25 "

T. H. TODD, = = MONSON.

Dr. Daniels' Veterinary Medicines.

We always have in stock, the full line:

Condition Powders,
Worm Powders,
Wonder Worker Liniment,
Fever Drops.

AT LeGro & Lynde,

DRUGGISTS,

Next to Post Office, PALMER. . . . .

CARPET CLEANING.

Having put in machinery for cleaning carpets by the method of beating, brushing and airing, I am now ready to receive orders. Special attention paid to taking up and relaying carpets; orders by mail promptly attended to. Carpets called for and delivered free of charge.

26-52 GEO. B. KENERSON, Park St., Palmer.

F. F. MARCY, PALMER, MASS.
Wholesale and Retail Dealer in
ALL KINDS OF LUMBER AND SHINGLES

Windows, doors, blinds, mouldings. Carpenters' and joiners' work done to order.

Also FIRE BRICK and CLAY for sale.

Yard and shop at junction of B. & A. and N. L. N. Y. Railroads—west of Depot.

CARRIAGES.

150 or more carriages of all kinds in stock. One of the largest varieties in this city. Am crowded to the roof and have 75 more carriages coming and no place for them. If you will take out your pocket-book and talk money we will for the next 10 days give you a BIG REDUCTION from the usual prices.

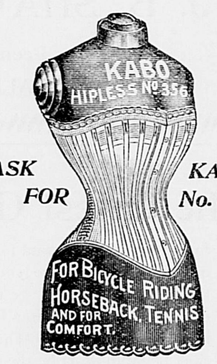
HARNESSES.

We have a big stock AT LOWEST PRICES. We always save you money.

If you want any kind of vehicle or horse wear you won't touch bottom prices until you get my prices.

D. N. BUTTERWORTH,

60 Dwight Street, Springfield.



ASK FOR KABO No. 356

A perfect fitting corset for general wear, as well as for all athletic sports.

Price $1.00

For sale by D. L. BODFISH, Palmer.

There is one DRESS STAY that
Won't melt apart,
Can't cut through the dress,
Don't stay bent.
It is
BALL'S PEERLESS.
All lengths; all colors.

Palmer Savings Bank,

Palmer, Mass.

Hours from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m.

President,
H. G. LOOMIS.
Vice Presidents,
C. H. HOBBS. H. P. HOLDEN. C. F. GROSVENOR.
Secretary,
WM. W. LEACH.
Treasurer,
H. W. McGREGORY.
Trustees,
James B. Shaw, E. G. Hastings, C. H. Hobbs, George Mooers, R. C. Newell, Geo. E. Buck, H. G. Loomis, F. F. Marcy, A. L. Hills, T. D. Potter, H. Waid, Wm. Holbrook, H. P. Holden, Wm. W. Leach, C. F. Grosvenor, Jas. S. Loomis, C. L. Gardner, H. W. McGregory
Board of Investment,
Geo. Mooers, H. G. Loomis, E. G. Hastings, C. H. Hobbs, James B. Shaw.
Auditors,
Wm. W. Leach. C. F. Grosvenor.

Good stock and the best of care

PRODUCES

A 1 milk and cream.

MAPLE LAWN MILK FARM,

O. D. Wells, Proprietor.

One swallow does not make Spring, but one swallow of One Minute Cough Cure brings relief. LeGro & Lynde.

SMITH & MURRAY.

SPRINGFIELD.

There's many money-saving opportunities around the store this week.

The selling of silks, silk waists, ribbons and men's furnishings are especially interesting.

Men's Furnishings.

We sell you men's neckwear, the right sorts, at prices others pay the makers.

All our 37-cent neckwear, in tecks and four-in-hands, to-day are 25c each.

15c bows,	now 10c each.
19c "	now 12½c "
25c "	now 10c "

MEN'S SUMMER UNDERWEAR.

Odd lots reduced a fourth.

25c, 37½c and 50c,
were 35c, 49c and 62½c each.

MENS'S NEGLIGEE SHIRTS.

Good style, sizes 14 to 17, 50c each, value not less than 65c.

Main store, left.

Ribbons from the Big Auction Sale.

Note the prices, see the goods.

No. 12 ribbon, all colors,	10c yard.
No. 16 " " "	12½c "
No. 22 " " "	15c "

Special value in blacks,

Big Sale of Silk Waists.

Last week we purchased all the desirable silk waists from the well-known waist manufacturers, Schwab & Frankenhauser, New York.

This is not cheap goods, but finest waists made of dollar-yard silks, latest style. The makers have been getting $10 for them, and were being retailed for $11.50 and $12.50.

To-day we will sell them for $5.95 each.

Second floor, take elevator.

SMITH & MURRAY.

SPRINGFIELD.

. . . THE WOOD MOWER. . . .

THE AKRON BUCKEYE MOWER. THE YANKEE HAY RAKE.
THE NEW YORK CHAMPION HAY RAKE. THE CLIPPER HAY RAKE.

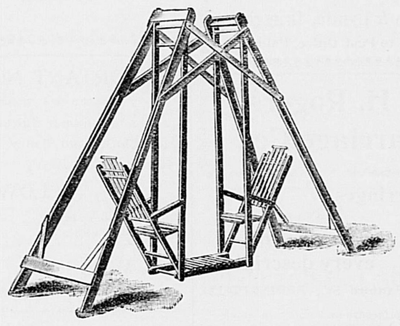
Tedders, Scythes and Haying Tools in Full Equipment.

LOW PRICES AND GOOD GOODS.

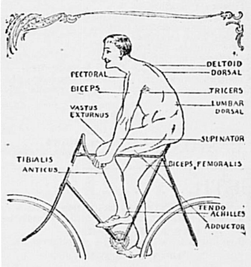
E. A. Buck & Co., CROSS BLOCK, ... PALMER.

LAWN SWINGS.

ONLY $5.00.



W. E. STONE, LAWRENCE BLOCK, MAIN STREET, PALMER, MASS. . . .



This Picture Shows

the muscles developed by cycling. This isn't theory—it's fact. Every man, woman and child who ride the Rambler wheel develops these muscles—in doing so makes perfect health. We say the Rambler wheel because it's the only perfect wheel—its strength means economy—it's light, rigid frame and easy running qualities, health. Trying to ride a poor wheel is like trying to keep from drowning with your arms and legs tied—a lot of effort and no gain.

G. A. MOORE, = PALMER.

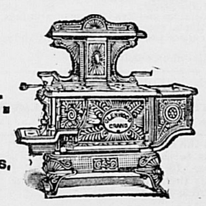
GLENWOOD RANGES

MAKE

COOKING EASY.

THREE GOLD MEDALS.

WEIR STOVE COMPANY, TAUNTON, MASS,
Agents in All Prominent Cities and Towns in New England.



Written for the PALMER JOURNAL.

O Joyous June.

O joyous June, O jubilee
Of all the months and days,
The leaves are dancing on the tree,
The blossoms are ablaze;
And blooming in her balmy bower,
Or wild by the wayside,
The red rose, queen of every flower,
Is blushing like a bride.

Forget-me-nots in shady nooks
As if they'd dropt in showers,
Are brighter by the running brooks
Than any other flowers.
A hundred handsome buds are seen
From dawn till close of day,
While marguerites in snowy sheen
Make all the meadows gay.

Fresh buttercups, like yellow gold
Are gathered near and far
By fingers fine that love to fold
And fondle every star.
Wild lupins blue and purple bloom
A happy sisterhood,
And many a blossom's rare perfume
Wins us within the wood.

And all day long the pretty birds
With tender throats attune,
Warble the mystic, winning words
That charm the ear of June.
The hermit thrush, hid in the heart
Of some deep wood and grees,
Sings till his songs becomes a part
Of all the sylvan scene.

O joyous June, O jubilee
Of all the days and hours,
The rays of all the suns we see
Are flashing in thy flowers;
The beauty of the earth and sky,
Of star and sun and moon,
Bring paradise before the eye,
And joy that's all of June.

MOSES TEGGART.

AMONG THE FAIRIES.

TOMMY JONES, THE FROG HUNTER.

COMPLETE IN THIS ISSUE.

[Copyright, 1896, by Walter B. Guild, Boston.]

Tommy Jones was one of those boys who liked to throw stones at any harmless little bird, turtle, frog or other helpless creature which could not throw anything back at him.

He was always picking upon and annoying all of the smaller boys and girls, and was a regular little tyrant whenever he saw any chance to bother any one smaller and weaker than himself.

One day Tommy said to me, "Come on, Walter; come with me and kill a lot of frogs."

Now, ever since I had gotten acquainted with the fairies I had known that Felinus, the flying cat, was ready to tell of my cruel act, so that unless I behaved well there would be no more rides through the air on his back and no more visits with the fairies.

You see, the fairies are especially kind-hearted, but when it comes to punishing a cruel boy or man who kills innocent birds or frogs "just for fun," they sometimes give them a scare that will last for a lifetime.

"Get a rock, Pat," said Tommy.

Now, Felinus had heard Tommy's invitation, and he looked at me in such a queer sort of way that I immediately said, "No; and don't you go either, Tom."

Tommy called me a little "goody goody tied to his mother's apron string, Sunday school, white-haired darling baby boy," and ran away just too quickly for me to catch him and teach him better manners.

As soon as Tommy was out of sight Felinus said: "Now, I am just glad you didn't catch him. You ought to be above fighting because a foolish fellow calls you names. It wouldn't have proved anything to your credit if you had caught him and given him a solid pounding. You just leave Tommy's case to my treatment, and I'll show him one of our fairy frogs from Frog River, Fairyland. Say nothing, but be ready to get up early to-morrow morning, before sunrise."

Now, we sold milk, and in warm weather we used to put the night's milk in a big can and set it in a spring to keep cool until morning. Father had said that lately the milk had seemed to be thin and watery looking, and that he thought the cows needed more cornstalks and a few beets and small potatoes to eat, so as to make their milk richer, and that we had better turn them into the north pasture.

I knew Tommy Jones and thought that perhaps if he should go to visit his aunt up in New Hampshire our milk might be richer, but father said, "Oh, no; it can't be that he would steal the milk and pour water into the can to fill it up." I didn't want to think so either, but all the same I knew where Nellie Smith's lead pencils had gone, and I had my own opinion of Thomas Jones, Esq.

The next morning, just about half an hour before sunrise, Felinus jumped up on my bed and brushed his velvety paw across my face to awaken me. "Jump up," he said, "and be quick about it if you want to see some fun." I put on my clothes and ran out after Felinus.

We were just nicely settled behind the little clump of bushes by the spring when along came Tommy with a two-quart can in his hand. Pat Brady was with him, and Pat was Tommy's regular chum.

Pat said to Tommy: "What's that alongside of the can there? Sure it's the biggest frog ever I saw," said Patsy.

Tommy looked, and sure as you live there was a fairy frog half as large as himself. "Get a rock Pat," said Tommy, "and we will kill him." They each picked up a stone as large as your fist, ran toward the frog and threw them with all their might.

The frog was sitting in as round-shouldered and sleepy looking a posture as I ever saw a lazy boy take, and as his back was turned toward the boys they, of course, thought that they would kill the largest frog that ever lived.

You see, they were not acquainted with fairy frogs and did not know that the uncles and cousins of this frog were, many of them, as large as a man.

They didn't know either, that this honest, sleepy-looking frog was watching them through a mirror which he had placed in the water for their special benefit.

Felinus and I saw the whole performance, and what did Mr. Fairy Frog do but stand on his hind legs and catch the stones, one in each hand, just as easily as the best catcher in the Boston base ball club would catch a ball. Well, you may think all you wish to think, but Pat and Tom didn't stop to think, but ran for all they were worth. They dropped the two-quart can, and their hats blew off their heads, but fast as they ran the frog ran faster, and, what was still worse, out came two more frogs, each with a can in his hand. They jumped leapfrog fashion upon the shoulders of Tommy and Pat and put the cans over the boys' heads. Then they began to drum upon the bottoms of their fairy milk cans in such a lively way that Tommy and Pat were frightened half out of their wits.

First the frogs would pound and drum on the bottom of the cans; then they would scratch with some gravel stones, as if they were trying to cut a hole through to get at the boys.

The third frog just stood on his hind legs, opened his mouth and croaked; then he laughed a most unthinkable kind of laugh; then he would croak a regular frog croak, only so loud that it seemed as if all the frogs Tommy and Patsy had ever killed had joined in one awful croak.

Felinus then ran out and gave the greatest growl you ever heard. Tommy could bear no more, so he just dropped down on his knees, and Patsy began to stagger and tremble.

How they both begged when the frog spoke and told them to keep still and never to tell a living soul about their adventure!

"Now go back and get your hats and the can," said the frogs, "and if either of you ever comes here again to steal milk, or if you ever kill another frog, you will see us again."

The boys promised as much as you could wish, and the frog who had caught the stones which they threw at him now came up and took each boy by the hand and said, "Shake hands on it to never break your promise."

The boys each shook hands with all three of the frogs, and then with each other, and made a great ceremony, as the frogs directed.

Then the frogs took the fairy milk cans off from the boys' heads, and the boys got their hats and the milk can which they had brought and started to go home as sheepishly as ever I saw any two boys in my life.

The first frog then stepped up and told them that they would have to eat the stones that they threw at him, and offered each boy the one he had thrown. This seared them again, and they both said: "We can't eat a rock, sir. Please won't you forgive us without it, sir. We thought that you was only a frog, sir."

The frog then puffed himself up to about twice his usual size, and looked very dignified as he said:

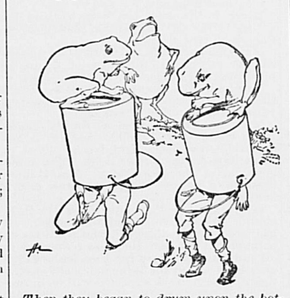
"Well, if you really are telling the truth, you can eat what I give you."

The boys reached out their hands, and somehow the frog passed them each a big, juicy orange instead of the stone. He saw them eat the oranges before he let them get away.

On finding such kindness, both Tommy and Patsy were completely surprised. They said that it was too good to expect that a frog which they had tried to kill should give them the best oranges they ever tasted.

Felinus smiled, and as soon as they were out of hearing I fairly roared with laughter. But I have never before told any one about it, not even father, so you are the very first to hear of Tommy's reform. For Tommy was reformed.

The teacher noticed at school that Tommy and Patsy behaved better. There were not so many pencils lost as there used to be.



Then they began to drum upon the bottoms of their fairy milk cans.

There was no more coaxing of us boys to go frog hunting, and father said he noticed a great improvement in the milk since the cows had been turned into the north pasture.

It is always risky at any time to be with people who do not behave themselves, but I never expected to be mistaken for Tommy. However, his bad habits and the careless gossip of some highly respectable frogs who ought to have known better very nearly left you children without any uncle to tell you these stories.

DO NOT FORGET.

That rapid eating is slow suicide.

That happy children are almost invariably healthy children.

That the sleeping in a cold room establishes a habit of breathing through the nose, never with the mouth open.

That a severe paroxysm of coughing may often be arrested by a tablespoonful of glycerine in a wineglass of hot milk.

That to compel a child to eat anything against which its palate naturally rebels is a cruelty at the moment, and is likely to produce evil results later on.

That bits of white wax used freely when packing white garments or fabrics, such as tulle or silk evening gowns, choice lace, crepe, shawls, etc., will keep them from turning yellow.

That a few drops of the tincture of benzoin put into the water in which the face is bathed will prevent the shiny appearance of the skin with which so many people are afected, especially in warm weather.

That cold water is the salvation of the complexion. It strengthens the skin by stimulating the circulation, and renders it almost proof against chaps and eruptions. When the skin needs cleaning, warm water is absolutely necessary.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Frederick Loker-Lampson, in his recent autobiography, tells of a patient in an English hospital who one morning, told his servant that he was sure his last illness was beginning: "I'm very ill. Go for the doctor; I have lost my appetite; I can't get through my penny roll." "Well," said John, much relieved, "when the baker comes this morning, all the penny rolls was gone, sir, so I gave you a two-penny roll."

"We must discipline Deacon Brown," said the good church member. "Why?" "I heard my boy say that he danced on Elder Smith's neck."—Chicago Post.

ARTHUR E. FITCH NOMINATED

For Clerk of the District Court of Eastern Hampden.

Acting Governor Wolcott sent to the executive council last Saturday the name of Arthur E. Fitch of Palmer for the position of clerk of the district court of Eastern Hampden, an office created by the Legislature this year. Mr. Fitch will enter upon his new duties July 1st.

Arthur Eugene Fitch was born at Kingsville, Ontario, July 22d, 1857. His father's father was one of the early Baptist ministers of that country, and Mr. Fitch's father followed his father's vocation. While Mr. Fitch was still young his father, who had not then been ordained to the ministry, moved from Kingsville to Woodstock and entered college there, graduating in 1864. Removing to Port Burwell he preached in the Baptist church five years, going from there to Topeka, Kan., as pastor of the First Baptist church. At the end of a year he returned to Port Burwell, again taking the pastorate and remaining five years more. Here Arthur E. Fitch began his education, which was continued at Woodstock, to which place the family again went. At Woodstock he attended the Canadian Literary Institute, now Woodstock College, for three years. He was unable to carry out his desire of studying law, and was for a time employed in a commission house in Toronto, later in a music store in Simcoe. A course of study at this time enabled him in 1879 to pass an examination which admitted him to membership in the law society of Upper Canada as a student of the laws. He was for a time in the law office of Killmaster & Wells of Simcoe, and later in the office of Ansley, Slaght & Walsh. His parents having moved to Buda, Ill., he went there in 1880, and by teaching school saved sufficient money to enable him to attend the law school of the State University of Iowa at Iowa City, which he entered in 1882, graduating the following year and being admitted to the Iowa bar, and also to practice before the United States courts. He then went to Fort Dodge, where for ten months he was stenographer in the office of Duncombe & Clarke. In May, 1884, he went to Livermore, Iowa, where he opened an office, remaining until 1888, when he came to Palmer and entered the office of S. S. Taft, whom he later succeeded.

Mr. Fitch is a Republican in politics, a Mason, an Odd Fellow, and regent of Quaboag council of the Royal Arcanum. He is a member of the Baptist church, and was for three years and a half superintendent of its Sunday school. He married, in 1886, Lura N., daughter of G. H. Newton of Monson. Three children have been born to them, two only of whom are living. Mr. Fitch has many friends in this and the surrounding villages who congratulate him on his appointment.

PALMER NEWS.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE MEETING.

New Teacher for the High School—District Schools to be Reopened—Teachers Elected—Action Regarding Palmer and Three Rivers Buildings.

At the monthly meeting of the school board Monday evening a new teacher was engaged for the high school, Miss Sarah E. Faunce of Plymouth. Miss Faunce is a graduate of Mt. Holyoke, and has also done post graduate work there. She will teach the sciences, and has had six years of training in that direction.

It was found that enough pupils reside in some of the outlying districts to warrant the reopening of the schools there, and accordingly those in the Forest Lake, Shorley and Palmer Center districts will be opened in September.

The resignations of Miss Carrie A. Parker at Thorndike and Miss Mabel S. Merrill at Three Rivers were accepted, and Miss Mary K. Norton of Rutland, Vt., was engaged for the Thorndike school. There is a possibility that one less grade will be needed at Three Rivers next term, so no teacher was engaged for that place. The other teachers were all reelected as follows:

PALMER.—High—Miss Anna L. Fisherdick, Miss Grace E. Rickey. Grammar building—Miss Clara D. Eddy, Miss Abbie J. Wallace, Miss Helen L. Robinson, Miss Mabel J. Sedgwick, Mrs. Ellen S. Leach, Miss Lizzie F. Brown.
THORNDIKE.—Miss Effie W. Moffatt, Miss Minnie V. Jillson, Mrs. Mary E. Murdock, Miss Annie E. O'Connor, Miss S. Beulah Thayer.
THREE RIVERS.—Miss Helen L. Sweet, Miss Jennie C. Twiss, Miss Cora B. Clark, Miss Kate M. Twiss, Miss Annie B. Crane.
BONDSVILLE.—Miss Dora P. Cleveland, Miss Josie E. Shea, Miss Emma F. Barney, Miss Maggie T. Shea, Miss Harriet B. Thayer.
WIRE MILL.—Miss B. M. Dowd.
MASON DISTRICT.—Miss Annie Bishop.
TEACHER OF MUSIC.—Miss Nellie M. Mahoney.

The arrangement of the grades and salaries of teachers, also the district teachers and their salaries, was left with a sub-committee consisting of Rev. W. H. Hart and C. H. Hobbs. Messrs. Hobbs, Hart and Holden, with Superintendent Small, were appointed a committee to consider the high school course, laboratory equipment, sewerage and music.

At the annual town meeting, after listening to the order of the state inspector regarding necessary repairs at the grammar school buildings in Three Rivers and the Depot village, the voters appointed the chairman of the school board, the chairman of the selectmen and the chairman of the board of health, —W. A. Breckenridge, J. F. Twiss and Dr. William Holbrook,—a committee to investigate the matter and make recommendation of what was needed at a special town meeting to be called for that purpose. No such meeting has been called, and the school board sent the following notification to Dr. Holbrook, chairman of the special committee:

The school committee respectfully informs the committee of which you are chairman that the school buildings in Three Rivers and Palmer are in such a condition that there is a grave possibility that these buildings will not be ready for school purposes in September. If the children of Palmer are deprived of school facilities, the school committee will not assume the responsibility.

It is understood that Inspector Buxton, who ordered the changes in the buildings, has visited the Three Rivers building since making the order, and is considerably displeased because nothing has been done in the matter, as this building is considered to be in particularly bad shape. Should the changes remain unmade when school opens in September, it is not improbable that the school committee will be forbidden to use the building, in which case there would be no place for holding the school sessions.

Dr. Holbrook was seen regarding the matter, and said that the special committee had not held a meeting, but was to hold one to-morrow for the purpose of investigating the condition of the buildings. This meeting would have been held if the committee had not received the note from the school committee; a meeting was arranged for some time ago, but other matters prevented the members from getting together. He thought the inspectors were rather crowding the town of Palmer, which raised more per capita for school matters than any other town in the state, and which had recently expended $28,000 for two new buildings. Regarding the possibility of the inspector's forbidding the use of the Three Rivers building, he said he did not think that would be done if the local board of health pronounced it all right. He did not know what the special committee's report would be, or what action they would take, as they had not yet inspected the buildings, but propose to do so to-morrow.

Rev. H. F. Moulton will preach his annual sermon in St. Paul's Universalist church next Sunday morning.

At the Baptist church next Sunday morning Rev. Mr. Minard will speak on "The Bible School." An offering will be made for the Baptist hospital in Boston.

Graduation Week at the High School.

The exercises of graduation week at the high school will commence next Sunday evening, when the class will attend the Baptist church by invitation, and listen to an address by the pastor, Rev. C. R. Minard. There will be special music, and a quartette composed of Mrs. A. D. Norcross of Monson, Mrs. Rufus Flynt of Palmer, C. F. Orcutt of Monson and F. H. Mason of Worcester will render the following selections:

Offertory in C.	Alexander Leel'provost
Duet. "The Lord is my Shepherd."	Smart
Te Deum.	Cowles
"Thou Art the Rest."	Miss Sawyer
"Be Thou With Me."	Hiller

Mrs. W. H. Small will preside at the organ.

The class-day exercises will be held next Wednesday evening at 6.30 on the school lawn, with this programme:

Address by the class president, Walter H. Brown
History, Miss Lula A. Dillon
Sermon, Ernest E. Hobson
Statistics, Miss Phebe D. Hastings
Prophecy, Misses Ella Bray and Ola M. Northrop
Class Song, Miss Ethel H. Ely
Quotations, Misses Fannie L. Barnes and Alice M. Armstrong
Will, Charles R. LeGro

The public is cordially invited to these exercises. After they are over the class, by invitation of Landlord E. R. Pierce, will go to the Converse House for the evening. Mr. Pierce will furnish a musical and literary entertainment, and refreshments.

The graduating exercises will take place next Friday evening in the opera house, when President Capen of Tufts College will deliver the address to the class and the public. After the graduation exercises the class will hold a reception, for which one thousand invitations have been issued, one being sent to each alumnus of the school whose present address could be obtained. There will be dancing and light refreshments.

The following are the members of the graduating class and the subjects of the essays which they were required to write:

CLASSICAL COURSE.

Fannie L. Barnes.
"Where There's a Will There's a Way."
Ola M. Northrop.
"The Liberty of Woman."
Lula A. Dillon.
"Humor and Humorists."
Ethel H. Ely.
"Sprouts."
Helen Converse.
"Character Sketch of 'John Halifax, Gentlemen.'"
Phebe D. Hastings.
"What's Worth While."
Alice M. Armstrong.
"Keys."
Ella Bray.
"Stepping Stones."
Walter H. Brown.
"Actors and the Stage."
Ernest E. Hobson.
"In Memoriam Militum."
Charles R. LeGro.
"A College Education."

ENGLISH COURSE.

Charles L. O'Connor.
"Politics of Europe and America at the Time of Scott."
John F. Roche.
"Evils of Immigration."
Jeremiah F. Sugrue.
"An Intellectual Education."
William T. Sargent.
"Economy."

The class motto is "Qui non proficit, deficit." The class colors are green and white, and the class flower is the white rose.

Commercial Street Nuisance to be Abated.

The local board of health has decided to abate the long-continued nuisance on Commercial street below River, where the sewer empties into a ditch which runs for some distance parallel with the street just outside its boundary line, and will serve legal notice on the selectmen within a few days that the work must be done at once. The selectmen have expected this, and prepared for it when the Walnut and West Main street sewers were laid. All that will be necessary to do now is to connect the manhole at the foot of Walnut street with the one at the foot of Thorndike street, and the sewage which is now emptied into the open air on Commercial street will be carried through West Main street into the river direct. A 15-inch pipe will be put in between Walnut and Thorndike streets; the distance is about 425 feet, and the cost will be about $325. This pipe will leave the bottom of the Walnut street manhole, and will carry all the sewage unless there should be an unusual amount of surface water at some time, in which event it will simply overflow into the 24-inch brick sewer now leading from the Walnut street manhole down Commercial street, which leaves the manhole at a higher point than will the new pipe. As this would occur only at rare intervals, and then only because of extra surface water, there can be no objection to its emptying into the present ditch beside Commercial street.

This action of the board of health will be generally appreciated, as the lower end of Commercial street has been in bad odor for a long time. The state board of health ordered the matter remedied a few years ago, but the town officials got the order revoked until action could be taken in annual town meeting regarding the sewer plan for the whole village, which at that time was in process of completion. All abuttors will be required to connect their buildings with the new sewers as soon as completed.

The Journal.

FRIDAY EVENING, JUNE 19, 1896.

LOCAL NOTICES.

Pianos tuned. Having had three years' experience with Chickering & Son, Boston, in their tuning and repair rooms, I am prepared to tune, cap, voice and repair pianos. All work guaranteed and orders promptly executed. J. Frank Normand, P. O. box 412, Palmer, Mass.

All bills due me—previous to 1896—will be collected by legal process after July 15th. E. Goodes.

Farewell tour of Mrs. Gen. Tom Thumb and a capable company to-night at the opera house.

PALMER NEWS.

Great Smoke but Little Fire.

The fire department was called out at 3.20 Sunday afternoon by an alarm from box 68, and word was passed along that the Baptist church was in flames. The department responded very promptly, but on arrival at the church found that their services were not needed. There was smoke enough, for it was pouring from the windows of the audience room in volumes which betokened that there must be fire somewhere; fortunately it was all in the furnace. On account of the all day's rain a fire was built in the afternoon to take some of the dampness out of the audience room before the people gathered for the concert in the evening. On account of the dampness and long unuse the chimney refused to "draw," and the smoke filled the building. Passers-by saw it issuing in dense clouds, and supposing that the place was on fire, pulled the box.

The fire department turned out well, sixteen of the twenty men in the company reaching the church with the "jumper." The box did not work as it should when the alarm was pulled, striking 38—the Shearer's Corner box number—at first, after which there was a hitch in the "8" part of the number until the last round, when it worked all right.

Death of George W. Randall.

George W. Randall, a long-time and well-known resident of Palmer, died Sunday at Denver, Col., where he went several months ago for his health. Mr. Randall was 77 years old, and had lived in Palmer since 1839. In his earlier life he was superintendent of the construction of railways in the Genesee valley in New York, and also in Rhode Island. When the railroad was built between Springfield and Worcester Mr. Randall had charge of a part of the work near Charlston. A carpenter by trade, he worked on the construction of the mills in Thorndike. He was one of the first postmasters of Three Rivers, and later held the office of deputy sheriff for several years, being also well known throughout this section as an auctioneer, which business he followed for many years. His love for horses was very great, and for a number of years he kept a livery stable in this place. He was a prominent member of the Methodist church at Four Corners, remaining loyal until the disbanding of the society several years ago. He leaves three daughters, Mrs. John Sedgwick of Palmer, Mrs. George King and Mrs. Herbert Sanger of Denver, and one son, George, of Denver. The burial was at Denver.

Beer Returned to the Converse House.

There was a hearing in the district court Monday morning regarding the beer seized at the Converse House during the raid of Memorial Day. W. W. Leach appeared for the commonwealth, and T. W. Kenefick for E. R. Pierce, the claimant of the beer. Mr. Leach moved that the stuff be returned because of a misnomer in the warrant, it reading E. N. Pierce instead of E. R. Mr. Kenefick announced that his client did not wish to take advantage of any informality whatever,—either that mentioned or any other which might exist,—but wished to claim the property on a different basis. Mr. Leach was of the opinion that the beer could not legally be forfeited under the misnomer, and moved its return, which was ordered.

Mr. Pierce states that the beer was sent to him as a present, for his own personal use, and that none of it had been sold. It was in bottles in the cellar when the raid was made, and the searchers were told of its existence and where it was. He states that he has never sold liquor without a license, and does not propose to commence now.

Business Man Hurt.

W. H. Hitchcock had a narrow escape from serious accident if not death Tuesday evening. About 9 o'clock he went to the barn to put a bandage on the hind leg of his horse. He went into the stall and put his hand on the animal without speaking to it, and remembers nothing more of what happened until he was taken out of the stall by W. E. Stone, who heard the horse kicking and went out to find Mr. Hitchcock unconscious at the side of the stall beside the horse's forelegs. When the animal drew up its leg to kick it evidently knocked Mr. Hitchcock forward in the stall, where he had apparently been pawed over not a little before being found, for his body was badly bruised; besides this he had one rib fractured and a cut on his nose; his clothes were also badly torn. He has been confined to his bed for a few days, but fortunately his injuries are not serious, and he will be out again soon.

Death of Mrs. Child.

Mrs. Laura E. Child, 67, of this place, died last Sunday at the home of her nephew, William C. Dewey, in Springfield. Mrs. Child was the daughter of Capt. A. N. Dewey and the widow of James K. Child, formerly of Sprinfield. She had been a resident of this place since 1835 until last October, when she went to live with Mr. Dewey in Springfield. While there she had two paralytic shocks, one in January, and another in Febuary, since which time she had failed steadily. She leaves beside her nephew a brother, C. E. Dewey of Palmer, and a sister, Mrs. A. M. Nelson of St. Louis. The body was brought to Palmer for burial, and the funeral was held Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Child was a member of the Congregational church of this place, and took an active part in its doings, especially the work of the Ladies' Society, of which she was president for several years. She will be greatly missed both in church and social circles.

Baseball.

The Palmer high school team crossed bats with the Monson Academy team Saturday morning on the driving park. Eight innings were played, and the score was a tie, 8 to 8. The Palmer team was weakened by the absence of two men, Sugrue and Hobson, but played a good game considering the fact that they had to play against ten men, the umpire favoring Monson on nearly every decision. The features of the game were the battery work of Connor and Shaw and the batting of Sargent for the Palmers, and the catching of Gavin and the batting of Bugbee for Monson. The high school team has played good ball this year, having lost but one game.

The Clippers defeated the Palmer high school seniors Saturday afternoon by a score of 17 to 16 in ten innings.

Contract with the Water Company.

The prudential committee of the fire district has at last made a contract with the Palmer Water Company for water for fire protection during the coming year, and the price is $1000, the same as last year. The water company, however, notifies the fire district that it will not renew the contract at this price, but hereafter must have $20 per hydrant, or $1200 for the 60 hydrants now in. This it will probably have no difficulty in getting, as the general opinion among the voters of the district is that the price is reasonable; their objection to paying it this year was the manner in which the scheme was sprung on them.

Successful Liquor Raid.

Officers Thompson and Keep from Monson made a search for liquor early Sunday morning in the barn owned by F. L. Pierce just across the river from this village, and secured a pint bottle of whisky. In addition they found forty or fifty empty bottles, the majority of which had evidently contained whisky, judging from the few drops of fluid left in the bottom, and a dozen or so empty lager beer bottles. A hearing in the matter will be held in the district court the 29th.

A. T. Wing is painting his West Main street residence.

Misses May and Abbie Moynahan are visiting friends in Bondsville.

Miss Carrie Tuthill is home from Brown University at Providence.

Herbert Shaw of Brookfield spent Sunday with his father, W. H. Shaw.

The poles of the Central Massachusetts Electric Company are being painted.

The senior class of the high school was photographed by Woodhead, Monday.

Mrs. Hiram Randall has returned from a two-weeks' visit with friends in Westfield.

Rev. H. F. Moulton attended the ordination of Rev. T. A. Fisher in Warren to-day.

W. Woodhead of Fitchburg is engaged in taking photographs for "Pictorial Palmer."

Mrs. E. H. Rollins leaves next Wednesday with her two sons and her mother for Vermont.

F. A. Royce has so far recovered that he is able to work about half time in the post office.

The Boston Stock and Grain Exchange has been connected with the telephone exchange.

H. A. Rindge has the contract to draw about 250 tons of rock for the new epileptic hospital.

A. P. Cristy, editor of the Worcester Telegram, was the guest of J. M. Sisk on Tuesday.

Miss Bessie Moore is stopping in town on her way from Smith College to her home in Newtonville.

The schools of the town, with the exception of the high, closed to-day for the summer vacation.

Calvin Hastings arrived home yesterday from Worcester Academy, where he graduated this year.

Prof. H. H. Brown, who has been taking a special course at Harvard, is home for the summer vacation.

A few from this place attended the reception of the senior class of Monson Academy Tuesday evening.

Mrs. D. Williams of Boston is visiting her sister, Mrs. G. F. Sedgwick, and will remain several weeks.

The subject at the Congregational church next Sunday morning will be "The name that will grow forever."

Dr. William Holbrook will attend the reunion of his regiment, the 10th Mass., at North Adams next Tuesday.

At the weekly shoot of the Rod and Gun Club H. P. Holden scored 14 out of 20; Silas and W. J. Keith each 10 out of 20.

Miss Bertha Hastings of Smith College and Miss Carrie Tuthill of Brown University are home for the summer vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Moore have gone to housekeeping in the upper tenement of Mr. Chilson's new house on Squier street.

Miss H. E. Dodge of Boston and Miss Nellie Murray of Pittsburg, Pa., are the guests of their cousin, Mrs. L. E. Chandler.

Miss Bessie Royce returned last evening from Tilton, N. H., where she has been taking a special course in music and art.

Good Cheer Rebekah Degree lodge will hold a meeting next Tuesday evening and work the initiatory degree on six candidates.

The school committee advertises in another column for proposals for transporting the pupils in the other villages to the high school.

The Order of the Eastern Star celebrated its third anniversary Friday evening. Invited guests were present from the Springfield and Warren chapters.

G. M. Atkins & Co. have the contract for the excavating and putting in the foundations for the new epileptic hospital buildings, and have a force of men at work.

The meeting of the Young Men's Library Association, called for Monday evening, was postponed on account of the inability of some of the members to be present.

The class of '91 of the Palmer high school will hold a reunion and banquet at the Converse House next Thursday evening. Mrs. G. H. Wilkins will chaperone the party.

The standing grass at the epileptic hospital will be sold at auction next Wednesday at 2 o'clock p. m. There is about 150 tons of it, and this will be divided into lots to suit purchasers.

The firemen will have the steamer out for practice to-morrow evening at 6 o'clock, and also to have a photograph of the apparatus, company and building taken for "Pictorial Palmer."

Contractors are asked to bid on the hauling of lime, cement and lumber from the railroad tracks to the new epileptic hospital. Also for cleaning 80,000 old brick on the premises.

Services at St. Thomas's Catholic church next Sunday, the fourth after Pentecost, will be at the usual hours, masses at 8 30 and 10.30 a. m., Sunday school at 3 p. m. and vespers at 7.30.

The services at the Baptist church next Sunday evening, when an address will be given to the graduating class of the high school, will be a union service, and will begin at 7.30.

The superior court has granted a divorce nisi to Bertha B. Landis of Palmer from George B. Landis of Trenton, N. J., for non-support, with leave to resume maiden name, Bertha B. Borden.

S. W. Stanchfield secured the contract for hauling brick from the railroad station to the new epileptic hospital, also the contract for furnishing the sand needed, bids for which were opened Monday.

The Central Massachusetts Electric Company is running an incandescent wire to Three Rivers, and will light the Union and Catholic churches there, Shaw Bros.' store and the residence of R. C. Newell.

The body of Isaac Northrop, 78, uncle of H. A. Northrop, was brought to this place yesterday from Fairfield, Vt., and interred in the Four Corners cemetery. Mr. Northrop was formerly a resident of Three Rivers.

Miss Ada G. Wing, who received her degree from Brown University this week, is to be one of the speakers at the 10th reunion of her class at Wellesley next Tuesday, her subject being, "Post-graduate co-education."

Evidently there will be no general observance of the Fourth in this village. The merchants have agreed however to close their places of business at noon for the rest of the day, not opening until Monday morning.

Mrs. General Tom Thumb and the Lilliputians gave an entertainment in the opera house this afternoon which was attended by a large number of the children. These little people will give another performance this evening.

The trustees of the Palmer Savings Bank held a meeting Monday afternoon and declared a semi-annual dividend of 2½ per cent. It was also voted to close the bank at noon on Saturdays during the summer months, commencing to-morrow.

Joseph Clark attended the reunion of his company, E, 36th Mass., at West Brookfield on Wednesday. H. H. Paine attended the reunion of his regiment, the 57th Mass., at Worcester the same day, and has since been visiting his son at Groton.

H. S. Hobson left this morning to attend the 12th annual reunion of the Kearsage veterans, celebrating the 32d anniversary of the sinking of the Alabama off Cherbourg, June, 19, 1864. The reunion will take place at the United States Hotel, Boston.

Evidently the graduating class of the high school was not unanimous in its acceptance of Rev. Mr. Minard's invitation to attend services at the Baptist church next Sunday evening, as he has received a note from the Catholic members declining to attend.

Children's Day was observed in the Protestant churches Sunday. In the evening the concerts given by the Sabbath schools were very enjoyable and helpful. In spite of the rain, a goodly number attended. All the churches were handsomely decorated with flowers.

Mrs. Cornelius Harrington, 36, died at her home on Cross avenue Sunday. She leaves a husband and five small children. Mr. Harrington is a steady, hard-working man, having been employed for some time by J. F. Holbrook on his coal delivery team, and much sympathy is felt for him.

Rehearsals for "Living Whist," to be presented the 30th and July 1st under the auspices of the Universalist society, are being held frequently under the direction of Mrs. Day of Worcester. There are about 100 in the cast, and the dances and movements are said to be very pretty.

Hoodlums have been doing considerable damage to the property of the agricultural society at the driving park lately, smashing glass and defacing the buildings. Some of the young rascals are well known, and a close watch is being kept for others, who will be likely to repent of their actions when caught.

A brake beam which broke just when its services were needed most allowed a flat car loaded with trap rock to run off an open switch on the New London Northern road near the crossing of the Boston and Albany tracks Wednesday afternoon, and it was a couple of hours before it could be replaced on the rails.

Harry, the 7-years-old son of Edward McDonald, was hit in the head by a bullet from an air gun in the hands of his brother Tuesday afternoon. The bullet, a large buckshot, entered the flesh and plowed a furrow nearly an inch long under the skin. The little fellow's head is somewhat sore, but no serious results are expected.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of the Congregational church elected these officers Wednesday evening: President, F. B. Pope; vice president, Miss Julia Allen; secretary, Miss Effie G. Shaw; treasurer, Albert Shaw; corresponding secretary, Mrs. L. E. Chandler; chairman of lookout committee, Miss Lelah Sharpe; prayer meeting, Miss Carrie Roper; temperance and missionary, H. R. Heath; musical and social, Miss Mabel Sedgwick.

A Palmer man and his father went through Springfield yesterday en route for New York. The father got off to do some shopping, telling his son to meet him at a certain train. The son went to the train but did not see him there and immediately thought something had happened and notified the police. By and by a telegram came from New Haven stating that the father was on the train which the son was to have taken. It was a relief, but the son wasn't altogether pleased with himself.—Springfield Republican, June 16.

The office of the Postal Telegraph Company in the Holden block has been closed, permanently. The wires between this place and Monson run through so many trees that it is impossible to prevent the circuit from "grounding" at times and rendering the whole line useless, so the branch from the main line to Palmer has been cut out. Miss Blamires, the operator, will go to Stafford Springs and have charge of the Western Union office there.

M. J. Dillon, who is constructing the new sewer, had a narrow escape from injury on Tuesday afternoon. He was working in the ditch on Thorndike street, hurrying to get in some pipe before the earth at the side, which was cracked, should cave in; he was stooping down adjusting a piece of pipe, when H. Waid, who was looking on, shouted to him, and he straightened up just as the bank caved and buried him to his waist. Had he been stooping over he would have been covered with earth.

Daniel Kee of Bondsville was before the district court Tuesday charged with an assault on his wife last Saturday. Their family relations are evidently not the pleasantest, for she wanted him "sent to jail and shut up forever." Kee admitted that he had been drinking; he had taken two drinks, which he discovered was just one too many, as he found that he couldn't stand as much as in years gone by. The evidence showed that he had thrown a stone at his wife, which hit her on the hand, for which privilege he paid $5.

An inquest was held in the district court room Wednesday before Judge Robinson on the death of Charles E. Dupont, who was killed at Three Rivers May 25th by the fall of a part of the bridge near the Athol station, which was being repaired by the town. A dozen witnesses were examined, and the stenographer's copy of the testimony will be ready in a few days. The evidence went to show that the men engaged in repairing the bridge were of the opinion that it was safe, as they were at work upon the upper part of it when it went down. They had taken care to warn spectators away, especially children, and were unaware of the presence of the Dupont boy upon the bridge.

The members of the Palmer Rod and Gun Club who went to Monson last Saturday afternoon for a friendly contest of skill with the club there were evidently not a little nervous, for they did not shoot in their usual good form, being "done up" in good shape, as the following score will show:

MONSON.
Wiliam Charles,	15
W. E. Manchester,	13
E. L. Wales,	12
William Peck,	11
H. C. Norcross,	9
W. Murphy,	8
W. N. Manchester,	6—74
PALMER.
F. J. Adams,	16
S. E. Keith,	9
M. Hopkins,	7
F. Caryl,	7
W. J. Keith,	7
J. Dewey,	6
H. Thompson,	0—52

The boys propose to try again, however, and are planning for a shoot on the Palmer grounds the Fourth of July, when they have invited the Monson and Ware clubs to attend. In addition to the club shoot there will be sweepstakes, and a pleasant afternoon's sport is anticipated.

THREE RIVERS.

Miss Etta Ruggles expects to return to New York next Saturday.

Horace Paine has been appointed burial agent by the selectmen.

Children's Sunday will be observed next Sabbath at the Union church.

Emory Paine spent Sunday in Springfield with his daughter, Mrs. Putnam.

F. E. Hillman has gone to housekeeping in Howard's block, in the tenement vacated by Michael Kennedy.

Oscar Bullis, who has been visiting his sister, Mrs. W. P. Provo, has gone to Canada to visit friends.

Mr. Anderson of Norwich, Ct., has accepted the position of overseer of dyeing in place of Mr. Ansel, resigned.

Mr. and Mrs. Barnes and Miss Clara Green took a ride to Springfield on their wheels last Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Mary Hanly died at the Riverside Hotel Wednesday, June 10. She was a former resident of Springfield, but had lived in this village for the last 16 years. The interment was at Chicopee Friday. Mrs. Hanley is survived by two daughters, who mourn her death.

It is expected that repairs on the U. E. church will be completed this week. It has been newly shingled, the walls inside painted and frescoed, the pews refinished in oil, and a new carpet has been laid. It has also been wired for 34 incandescent electric lights, which it is expected will be in running order for the concert Sunday evening. A new organ, made by the Estey Organ Co. of Brattleboro, Vt., has also been purchased and placed in the church this week. It will be appreciated by the choir and congregation very much.

BONDSVILLE.

Two Polander families left Monday for Woonsocket, R. I.

Miss Ora Parent is home for the summer from Smith College.

Charles N. Shaw spent part of last week in camp with the militia.

Several from here attended the college ball game at Amherst Saturday.

Richard Donovan has finished a course in bookkeeping at Springfield.

Miss Alice Darling of Monson is the guest of her brother, Charles Darling.

Miss Alice Merrifield has been very ill with grippe, but is now much improved.

Rufus Bond and family took a carriage drive to Hartford last week, returning Monday.

Mrs. Henry Morgan has been spending a week with her niece, Mrs. Crosier, in Mittineague.

Rev. R. E. Smith has been suffering for more than a week with an ulcerated tooth, on account of which there was no church service Sunday.

The loafers of Thorndike played the loafers here Tuesday. The Thorndike people understood the art of loafing better, however, for the game resulted in a victory for the home team.

The luck of the Bondsville nine has not been so good of late as during the first few games. The game at Gilbertville was a very poor one, with a score of 25 to 9 in favor of the Gilbertvilles. A game with the Wares is booked for to-morrow on the home grounds.

Henry Leonard Orters of Bridgeport, a first-class elocutionist, will give readings and impersonations in the M. E. church this evening under the auspices of the Epworth League. Miss Carrie Joe Fish will furnish banjo music and Miss Parent will preside at the piano.

The Children's Day concert last Sunday was a very successful one, in spite of the rain. The church was prettily decorated with ferns, daisies and buttercup. Nearly all the children taking part were from the primary department, of which Mrs. O. A. Parent is superintendent.

THORNDIKE.

Mrs. William Graves and family of Clinton are visiting here.

W. J. McCormick has placed a new sign over his place of business.

John Stokes has opened hair dressing rooms in Lawlor's building.

Mrs. E. C. Lyons and family of Springfield are visiting her parents here.

Mrs. John K. Walker has gone on a few weeks' visit to Brattleboro, Vt.

The Foresters will elect officers at their meeting next Tuesday evening.

John Crimmings was called to Spencer Monday by the sudden death of his brother.

Edward Hallez, it is said, will soon put up a building on land adjoining the Wilson property on Commercial street.

The programme which was presented at the grammar school graduation to-day was very interesting. A large number of visitors were present.

Judge Harkness will bring suit against the electric company of Chicago for injuries which his wife received in that city while on her way from Utah to this place.

William McKenzie left on Saturday for Jewett City, Ct., for his new position in the mill there. James McKenzie of North Adams, formerly of this place, is to be his second-hand.

Children's Sunday will be observed at the Congregational church on Sunday next. The pastor, Rev. G. M. Gerrish, will deliver a sermon in the morning to the children, and at 5 p. m. the children will give a concert.

"The After Nine Club" gave their last "blow out" on Saturday evening to the members and a few friends. The club has always abandoned the club room during the summer months, and will do the same this season.

A new club has been formed during the week, to be known as the Thorndike Sporting Club, with quarters in Lawlor's block. The club is soon to give a minstrel show. A meeting of the members will be held this evening.

The Columbian Band will leave Monday morning for Springfield, where it will take part in the parade. The band has been putting in extra rehearsals during the week, and will no doubt make a good showing among the many bands which are to be present.

The Y. P. S. C. E. has chosen these committees: Lookout, Frank Suttleworth, Miss Maude J. Murdock, C. A. Tabor; prayer meeting, Rev. G. M. Gerrish, Mrs. C. F. Mooers, Miss Lucy A. Talmadge; social, Mrs. G. M. Gerrish, Miss Annie A. Bishop, Miss Ada J. Murdock; missionary, Miss Ella E. McGilp, Mrs. C. A. Tabor, Miss Genevra T. Clark.

Kathazena, the three-years-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kothowoski, who arrived last week from Poland, had a narrow escape from being scalded Wednesday afternoon by falling head first into a tub of hot water placed upon the floor by the mother, who was doing some washing. The child was pulled out, however, before any serious injuries were received.

McKINLEY AND HOBART.

The Republican national convention finished its work at St. Louis yesterday and adjourned. The result was what had been expected for some time, and the choice of the delegates for the first place was William McKinley of Ohio, he being nominated on the first ballot. Garret A. Hobart of New Jersey was named for second place. Forty silver delegates, headed by Senator Teller of Colorado, seceded from the convention because the platform did not declare for free silver. The platform calls for protection to the American industries by means of a tariff, and the restoration of reciprocity arrangements negotiated by the last Republican administration; favors such protection as will lead to the production on American soil of all the sugar which American people use, advocates most ample protection to the wool industry, favors the restoring of the early American policy of discriminating duties for the upbuilding of our merchant marine and the protection of our shipping and the foreign carrying trade. The party is unreservedly for sound money, and opposed to the free coinage of silver, except by international agreement with the leading commercial nations of the world; all silver and paper currency must be maintained at parity with gold, and all measures designed to maintain inviolably the obligations of the United States and all our money, whether coin or paper, at the present standard, are favored. Generous recognition of veterans in the matter of pensions is advocated, as well as their preference in the matter of employment, whenever practicable. Careful watch over our interests in the Western hemisphere is advocated, the control of the Hawaiian Island by the United States, also the building, owning and operating by this country of the Nicaragua canal. The massacres in Armenia are deplored, and the protection of American citizens and American property in all parts of the earth insisted upon. The right of the Monroe Doctrine is emphasized, and sympathy with Cuba is expressed. Continued enlargement of the navy is favored, as well as restriction of foreign immigration. The extension of the Civil Service law is urged. A free and unrestricted ballot for every citizen of the United States is demanded, and lynchings unqualifiedly condemned. A national board of arbitration is favored, and an immediate return to the free homestead policy. The admission of the remaining territories is advocated, also the representation of Alaska in Congress. The wise and legitimate efforts to promote temperance and morality are favored. Equal pay for equal work by women is favored, also their admission to wider spheres of usefulness, while their cooperation in rescuing the country from Democratic and Populistic misrule and mismanagement is welcomed.

PHYSICIANS FIND

All People Not Alike.

A letter carrier said his wife liked coffee so well and seemed to really need it at breakfast, it was too bad for the doctor to order her to discontinue it. He told her that her bad complexion, dyspepsia, nervousness and occasional palpitation of the heart all came from one cause, and that was coffee drinking. The good man went on further to say: "My child, if you were as strong as your husband and had the miles of outdoor walking to do that he has daily, you could drink one cup of coffee, or perhaps two, at breakfast and dinner without any very bad effects, but the same poisonous alkaloids exist in coffee as are found in tobacco, whisky, strychnine and morphine. There is not so great a proportion of them in coffee as in other drugs, but a sufficient amount exists to seriously injure any one whose constitution is a little below par. All of these drugs can be used for a time by perfectly healthy people, but if their use is persisted in long enough, the human body finally gives evidence of the steady poison, and many people who do not know this fact die because of their unnatural habits. If you could use a hot drink in the morning made from the nourishing grains that nature has provided for the use of man, it would satisfy your appetite and fatten your body."

A wholesome, delicious hot drink of the kind that old doctor referred to is found in Postum Coffee, made from grains by the Postum Cereal Co. Lim. of Battle Creek, Mich.; it brews the rich color of Java or Mocha, has a grand fragrance and the pungent taste demanded by all coffee drinkers. No poisonous alkaloids are found here, and man is only safe when he sticks to Nature's food, furnished by the Creator, prepared in a number of different ways, to be sure. Ruddy health and red blood will follow the discontinuance of unnatural drinks and the substitution therefor of the Cereal food drink. Its use will tell the facts more plainly in the body than words can be made to express. Grocers furnish it and experience teaches that it goes about three times as far as coffee.

DIED.

At Palmer, 14th, Mrs. Cornelius Harrington, 36.
At Springfield, 14th, Mrs. Laura E. Child, 67.
At Denver, Col., 14th, George W. Randall, 77, formerly of Palmer.
At Winterset, Iowa, 11th, William Webster, 77, formerly of Palmer and uncle of William Webster of this place.

CHOICE cabbage plants for sale.
4-10 H. D. GEER, Three Rivers.

FOR SALE.—A 2-story octagon bay window, as good as new. G. W. LYMAN, Palmer.

TO RENT.—Two tenements on Fox avenue.
tf-44 Apply to G. S. HOLDEN.

GOOD PASTURAGE for two or three horses, fine water and shade, no barb wire. Apply to J. H. WOOLRICH, Food Factory. 2-12

WANTED.—A strong woman to work two days a week, washing and ironing.
1-12 MRS. G. E. BUCK, Palmer.

FOR SALE.—Cherry chamber set, two-thirds white iron bedstead, and kitchen range, in good order. Enquire at house of C. B. FISKE.

TO RENT.—Good up and down stairs tenement, six rooms, on Spring street.
tf-4 GEORGE A. KEITH, Palmer.

WILL sell the following articles right: A good 8-horse power engine with 10 H. P. boiler, 2 pony teams, platform scales, furniture wagon, buggy, skeleton wagon, road cart, track harness, and cheap single harness, with trotting boots, etc. Pasturing to rent. tf-10 D. F. HOLDEN.

TRANSPORTATION OF HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS.

The School Committee will receive bids for the transportation of High School pupils from Three Rivers, Thorndike and Bondsville, and return, for the next school year, until 12 o'clock, noon, Monday, July 13th.

Vehicles and drivers must be satisfactory to the committee. Bids must be sealed, marked "Transportation," and mailed to W. H. Small, Secretary.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

Palmer, Mass., June 19th, 1896. 2-12

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

Bids will be received until Monday noon, June 29th, for the cleaning of about 80,000 old brick on the grounds of the Mass. State Hospital for Epileptics.

Also for the hauling of lime and cement (per 100 lbs.) from the Boston & Albany freight yard and from the Mt. Banyan switch to the grounds, and lumber per 1000 feet.

Address bids to M. J. SISK.
HASCAL DODGE, Contractor. 1-12

THERE IS NO NEED

Of any one buying a cheap, unreliable piano, because we are always ready to give reliable information about Pianos.

We can tell you in ten minutes some funny things that may be worth dollars to you when you get ready to buy. The time to gain knowledge is before you need it—not after.

TAYLOR'S
Music House,
412 MAIN STREET, SPRINGFIELD.

We have the largest and best variety . . of . .
TRUSSES
We apply them and guarantee satisfaction or money returned.
LeGro & Lynde, Druggists,
Next to Post Office, PALMER.

PALMER SAVINGS BANK,
PALMER, MASS.
Money deposited on or before Wednesday, July 1, 1896, will commence interest from that date.

STANDING GRASS AT AUCTION.

The entire grass crop on the farm of the Mass. Hospital for Epileptics at Palmer, Mass., will be sold at public auction on the premises on Wednesday, June 24th, 1896, at 2 p. m.

There will be about 150 tons of the finest grass in this section. About twenty acres were seeded last spring to oats, herd's grass, red top and clover.

Will be sold in lots to suit the purchaser. Terms, cash at time of sale.

WILLIAM A. BARNES, Auctioneer.
Per order Trustees.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE.

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a mortgage deed given by Bridget A. McCarthy to the North Brookfield Savings Bank dated October 27, 1892, and recorded in Hampden county registry of deeds, book 497, page 125, and for breach of the conditions of said mortgage deed, will be sold at public auction on the premises therein described, on Saturday, the eleventh day of July, 1896, at three o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular the premises described in said mortgage deed and thereby conveyed, namely: A certain farm with the buildings thereon, situated in said Holland on the easterly side of the road leading from Holland to Fiskdale, bounded and described as follows: Beginning at the northwesterly corner thereof on line of said road, thence running easterly by land of Horace James, thence southerly by land of L. Hiscox, thence westerly by land of L. Moore, thence southerly by land of said Moore, thence westerly by land of Wm. A. Lynn, thence southerly by said Lynn's land, thence westerly by land of Abner Blodget and land of said Moore, thence northerly by said road to the place of beginning, containing one hundred fifty acres, more or less. Terms made known at time and place of sale.

NORTH BROOKFIELD SAVINGS BANK,
Mortgagee.
By CHARLES E. BATCHELLER, Treasurer. 3-12

Piano and Banjo Lessons
given by
Misses Annie and Carrie Fish,
22-tf Palmer.

Eczema is a frightful affliction, but like all other skin diseases it can be permanently cured by applications of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It never fails to cure piles. LeGro & Lynde.

A GOOD . . . . .
TOOTH BRUSH
AND A GOOD
TOOTH POWDER
ARE TWIN LUXURIES — GET THEM OF —
LeGro & Lynde, Druggists,
Next to Post Office, Palmer.

J. H. Rogers Carriage Co.,
MANUFACTURERS OF
Carriages,
AND DEALERS IN
Carriages of every description.
33 to 39 Sanford St., SPRINGFIELD.
We manufacture and carry in stock the finest line of carriages in New England. Come and look over our stock.
A FINE LINE OF SECOND HAND VEHICLES CONSTANTLY ON HAND . . . .
at very low prices.

BICYCLES REPAIRED, lawn mowers repaired and sharpened, and light machine work done.
13-10 G. B. KENERSON, Park street, Palmer.

35,000 Cabbage Plants for Sale.
CHARLES S. RUGGLES,
Three Rivers, - - Mass.

WANTED.—Energetic men, with or without experience to sell choice fruit and ornamental stock. Good pay, no lost time, first class territory. Complete outfit free. Write for terms. Nelson Bogue, Batavia Nurseries, Batavia, N. Y.

E. S. Bryant, D. M. D.,
Dentist,
Lynde's Block, Palmer.
Office hours: 8.30 to 12.30. 1.30 to 5 p. m.

A. H. HITCHCOCK,
OPTICIAN,
331 Main Street, Springfield, Mass.
Spectacles and Eye Glasses of all kinds.
Artificial eyes furnished.
Oculists' prescriptions promptly and accurately filled.
Mail orders solicited. 13-tf

L. H. HENDEE, M. D.,
OFFICE AND RESIDENCE, PLEASANT ST.
Office hours 7 to 10 a. m., and 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m.

In the Spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughs of—DeWitt's Little Early Risers, for they always cleanse the liver, purify the blood, and invigorate the system LeGro & Lynde.

Meekins, Packard & Wheat.

PARLOR TABLES AT COST.

We've closed out the manufacturer's remaining stock at figures that brought no profits to him, merely the fact of having disposed of them and paid for materials consumed.

You are to reap the benefits of this transaction.

Half a dozen styles brought out in Antique oak,
solid mahogany,
bird's eye maple,
mahogany finish.
Read the prices.
Examine the goods.

You'll agree they are the greatest offerings ever shown hereabouts.

Regular $8.50 tables at	$5.00
7.50	5.00
6.00	4.00
5.50	3.75

Aside from the above our regular line includes many excellent values.

Tables in Antique oak,
mahogany finish,
bird's eye maple,
curly birch,
At 75, 98 cents, $1.40, $1.87 and $2.00.
Two special numbers at $1.50 and $3.50 that would easily sell for half as much more.

An extensive line of exclusive styles in selected solid mahogany is always on our floor for those desiring tables particularly choice. The prices will please you.

Second floor.

A WORD TO THOSE WHO BUY CARPETS IN SPRINGFIELD.

Our present stock of Ingrain Carpets exceeds by far all the others of the city combined, both in size and variety of patterns.

Rubbish has no place here. We are satisfied to deal in reliable makes, that our patrons may know they are getting the best there is for money expended.

Hundreds of rolls of Hartford and Lowell Ingrains in the choicest designs.

Our "Agawam" all wool Ingrain has no equal at its price.

See our extra heavy Ingrains at 37½ cents a yard. Compare them with any offered elsewhere at 45 cents.

Full Extra Supers, part cotton—only 35 cents—for full weight.

The cheaper grades at 25 cents.

Remember we guarantee all our carpets to come up fully to their recommend.

Carpet department.

MEEKINS, PACKARD & WHEAT,
SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

YOU have needed it. have waited for it. can now have it.
. . . . . HERE IT IS. . . . . .
A new process blue flame
Oil Cooking Stove.
A phenomenal stove that
burns common coal oil,
"kerosene," with a blue flame,
WITHOUT ODOR.
You cannot afford to be without it.
COME AND SEE IT.
C. A. Brown & Co.,
Main Street, PALMER.

IMPORTANT NOTICE!
I have an assortment of
Spring and Summer Suitings, Also Black Cloths and Fancy Trouserings, which I offer for sale at a
LOW PRICE.
Will make them up in the most fashionable style.
CALL AND SEE THEM.
F. J. WASSUM,
Main Street, Palmer.

June 9, '96.

Received this day:

Mosquito netting—black, blue, pink and green.
Ever-ready dress stays.
Milward's needles.
Morse, Kealey & Co's. darning cotton.
500 yd. spools basting cotton.
Ladies' hose supporters.
Dress shields. Safety pins.
Leather belts. Satin bows.
Ladies' hose 10c, 25c. Men's hose 5c, 13c.
Children's hose 10c. Ladies' night robes $1.
Corset covers 10c, 25c. Corset covers 50c, $1.

W. E. STONE, Lawrence Block, Main Street, Palmer.

TEETH. . .
Artificial teeth without plates. Teeth extracted without pain with local anaesthetic.
GAS ADMINISTERED.
Office hours from 8 to 12 a. m., 1 to 5.30 p. m.
OPEN EVENINGS.
Dr. O. P. ROLLER, D. D. S.,
Lawrence Block, Palmer, Mass.

A. L. Wooster, a prominent citizen of Osseo Mich., after suffering excruciatingly from piles for twenty years, was cured in a short time by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, an absolute cure for all skin diseases. More of this preparation is used than all others combined. LeGro & Lynde.

Insurance
of every kind placed at short notice, and all favors duly appreciated.
Yours truly,
S. H. HELLYAR.
Office at Ridge's Foo Factory

Young mothers dread the summer months on account of the great mortality among children caused by bowel troubles. Perfect safety may be assured those who keep on hand DeWitt's Colic and Cholera cure, and administer it promptly. For cramps, bilious colic, dysentery and diarrhoea, it affords instant relief. LeGro & Lynde.

DID YOU HEAR SOMETHING DROP?

Keep your ear to the ground and you will learn that it is the price of our clothing. . . . . .

During this month we shall sell our stock of Men's and Boys' Clothing at a Discount of 10 per cent.

10 per cent discount
Sale of Clothing
Now on at Bodfish's.

CUT OUT THIS COUPON AND GET YOUR DISCOUNT.

. . . Our loss is your gain. . . .

D. L. BODFISH,
Cross Block,
PALMER.

A large assortment of . . .
New Parasols and Fans,
Summer Gloves and Mitts,
Summer Wash Goods,
in dainty designs and beautiful colorings, only need to be seen to be appreciated. . . . . .

GROCERIES
That tempt poor appetites and please all for quality and price. . . . . .
A LINE OF
Kennedy's Sweet Goods,
- - - just the thing for pic-nics.

J. B. SHAW, Dry Goods and Groceries.
Feeney's Block,
PALMER.

The Latest Goods
for men is what we want to talk about. Only give us an opportunity and we'll convince you that we have everything you need at this season. Call and see what we have, that's all we ask. The neckwear we have chosen for your inspection isn't to be duplicated in any near-by place. The new creations are simply wonderful—can't begin to describe them, you'll have to see them.

The Spring Hats,
Have you noticed 'em? Missed it if you haven't; all the popular makes in derbys, and those soft flanges for such as prefer them.

Fancy Shirts
are more varied in design than ever. You can't fail to be pleased with what we've selected for you. Of course those who come first will have the pick of the stock. We may be able to duplicate the figures and we may not. Better not

The Journal.

FRIDAY EVENING, JUNE 19, 1896.

NEIGHBORHOOD NOTES.

MONSON.

LOCAL NOTICES.

To Rent—Two first-class tenements. J. M. Foley.

25 Dollars Reward.

The above reward will be paid to any person for evidence that shall lead to the prosecution and conviction of any one engaged in the illegal sale of spirituous liquors or intoxicating drinks in the town of Monson.

J. H. THOMPSON, C. C. KEEP, H. SQUIER, } Prosecuting Committee.

THE ACADEMY COMMENCEMENT.

Closing Acts and Scenes of the Year at Monson Academy.

Monson Academy has closed the 90th year of its existence. The last year has been a successful one, despite the changes in the corps of teachers. The death of Prof. Walter E Morse, instructor in Greek and Latin, February 3, was a severe blow, and one from which the school has not recovered. His place was taken by Prof. Albert W. Crockett, who, on account of ill-health, has resigned. Miss Hibbard is a new teacher, and with Principal Burke and Miss Pease will remain another year. Miss Strong and Miss Tucker have resigned. The former will probably remain at her home during the coming year. She has made many friends during her stay in Monson, who will regret her departure. Miss Tucker's approaching marriage is her reason for resigning, and the best wishes of a host of friends will go with her to her Washington home. Miss Lee and Miss Cantwell will continue the instruction of music the coming year. Miss Tapley, the matron of Hammond Hall, has also been engaged for another year. The number of students for the year has been 102, average for the three terms, 96. The graduating class numbered 15.

The commencement exercises began Sunday evening with the baccalaureate sermon by Rev. Dr. William North Rice, of Wesleyan University, at the Congregational church. The church was handsomely trimmed with flowers by members of the class of '96. The head usher was Mr. Manchester, assisted by Messrs. Dow, Avery, Fuller, Richards, Phillips, Cushman and Flynt, all members of the lower classes of the Academy. The order of worship was the same as has been used for many years, and is an undenominational responsive service, prepared especially for Monson Academy. A special edition is issued each year, containing the class motto and tied with the class colors. Of these only a limited number is printed, and a copy is presented by the senior class to each member of the school. Rev. Harry Blackford of the Universalist church read the Scripture lesson, Rev. F. S. Hatch offered prayer; Prof. J. S. R. Coy presided at the organ, and a quartette composed of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Norcross, Mrs. Rufus Flynt of Palmer and H. F. Mason of Worcester, sang. An exceptionally fine musical programme was rendered.

Dr. Rice delivered an eloquent sermon upon the subject: "Jesus the example of Consecration," and spoke in part as follows:

The text expresses the fact which was the foundation of the transcendent nobleness of the character of Jesus. No quality so attracts our admiration as unselfishness revealed in self-sacrifice. The self-sacrifice of Jesus was not a matter of impulse, but of principle. It was not a self-sacrifice for friends, or for interests closely connected with himself, but for the great cause of righteousness in the world. Precisely in that characteristic does he call upon us to follow his example. All true goodness of character has its foundation in consecration to a high ideal. Such consecration glorifies all naturally amiable traits of character.

The study of the life of Jesus will show how all the varied excellencies of his character were connected with that fundamental principal. A life of continuous consecration is naturally a sinless life, and the sinlessness of Jesus is a fact of immense significance. But the perfection of his consecration appears in that he not only did his duty, but did it lovingly; it was his meat to do the Father's will. The wonderful courage of Jesus, his yet more wonderful patience, his breadth of sympathy, his triumph over every suggestion to seek a glorious end by unworthy means—are all connected with that fundamental fact of a perfect consecration. A man of imperfect consecration is ready to seek the triumph of his own sect or party by unworthy means. A consecration like that of Jesus involves such faith in God and in righteousness as enables him to welcome seeming failure and disaster. From a worldly point of view no career was ever so disastrous as that life of loneliness and obloquy which ended on Calvary in a felon's death. Yet that life transformed human society and created a new civilization. And the true follower of Jesus is ready, like the Master, to accept the victory that comes only through defeat, the glory that is won through shame.

Public examinations were held Monday and were well attended. The class day exercises were held in the evening. In connection with this, the class of '96 caused a granite marker to be placed near the spot where the ivy was planted. This marker is in two parts, and in it was placed a tin box containing the names of the class, together with interesting dates. The marker is engraved with the figures 96. After the planting of the ivy the large company adjourned to the chapel and listened to interesting exercises.

The annual meeting of the trustees was held in the Flynt and Packard library. In the absence of the president Rev. F. S. Hatch presided. There were ten members present. The treasurer's report showed the receipts and expenditures of the year to have been about equal. These officers were elected: President, Rev. P. W. Lyman; vice president, Rev. F. S. Hatch; treasurer, E. F. Morris; secretary, W. M. Tucker; auditor, S. F. Cushman. Trustees elected to fill vacancies: Lyman C. Flynt in place of W. N. Flynt, Rev. Charles A. Dinsmore of Boston in place of Rev. H. W. Pope. These committees were chosen: Standing, E. F. Morris, Dr. F. W. Ellis, W. M. Tucker; examining, Rev. F. S. Hatch, Dr. Ellis, Prof. W. L. Cowles; appropriations, Mr. Hatch, Dr. Ellis, E. F. Morris; Flynt and Packard library, Dr. Ellis, Dr. P. W. Soule, L. C. Flynt.

Are You • • •

wearing high shoes this hot weather and suffering with hot feet?

Low shoes are much cooler for a street or house shoe.

LADIES' LOW SHOES

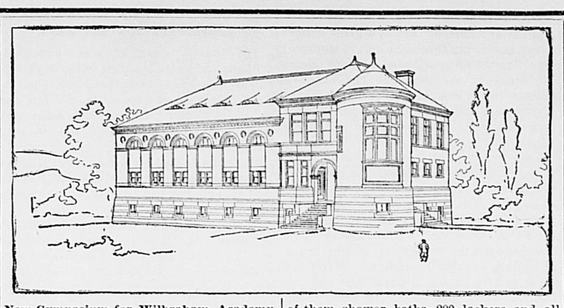
were never so generally worn as this season.

With our large assortment it is almost impossible for anyone to ask for a style that we cannot show them.

Geo. L. Fuller,

the distributor of fine fitting shoes.

Monson, - - Mass.



New Gymnasium for Wilbraham Academy.

All friends of Wesleyan Academy will rejoice in knowing that this institution, now in its 79th year, is to have a fine new gymnasium, the necessary funds having been secured for its erection. It will fill a long-felt want when completed, and furnish means for giving the physical instruction and training that is now looked for in all well-established institutions of learning. The building will stand about on the site of the old gymnasium building and will be rectangular in form, about 60 by 115 feet in dimensions, its most striking feature being the circular tower at the northwest corner, 18 feet in diameter. The western part of the gymnasium will be two stories high, the gymnasium proper running east and back and being somewhat lower. There will be a basement, the walls of which will be built of brownstone and the superstructure of brick. A brick partition separates the gymnasium proper from the rest of the building for fire protection, and the building is rendered fireproof by iron stairs with asphalt treads in the main staircase in the tower. The roof will be of slate. The boys' dressing rooms will be on the ground floor and communicating with the gymnasium by a spiral staircase outside, and will include baths, with hot and cold water, eight of them shower baths, 200 lockers, and all the fittings common to such rooms. The floor will be of asphalt. Similar rooms will be devoted to the girls on the first floor, entrance to the gymnasium being made through the room of the woman assistant. These rooms are about 25 by 30 feet each, and there will also be a private room with bath for the physical director. In the basement, or ground floor, will also be placed the heating and ventilating apparatus, which will be separate from that of the other buildings. The gymnasium proper is about 60 by 75 feet in size, and the roof is finished "timber roof" style. Around it as a gallery is the running track. The floor will be of red birch and the interior finish, as well as that of the other rooms, of North Carolina pine. There will also be bowling alleys and a place to store bicycles, access to which will be gained from the rear of the structure. There will be an examination room in the west end of the building and also a recitation room, both rooms being located over the girls' dressing room. The building will be thoroughly and substantially built and fully equipped in every way with the best apparatus and conveniences. The contract calls for its completion by January 1, H. B. Cummings & Co. of Ware having the contract. Work is being rapidly pushed upon it, and it will doubtless be completed by that time.

The graduating exercises were held Tuesday morning in Memorial Hall, the rooms being literally packed with people. Everything combined to make the affair a success. The day was perfect, the speaking was exceptionally good, the music was fine, and the scene was pretty. The platform was banked with daisies and ferns. From the arch overhead was suspended the class motto, "He conquers who conquers himself," the letters of which were composed of daisies, the background being of yellow, thus carrying out the class colors, white and yellow. On either side of the platform were placed these mottoes, "Still Higher, '97," in purple and white, and "Not words but deeds, '98," in lavender and white. Above the platform was draped the United States flag. The decorations were in charge of the class of '97, with Miss Bowe as chairman. Upon the platform were seated the trustees, the faculty, distinguished alumni, Miss Wood, the school superintendent, the Monson clergy and the graduating class.

The names of the graduates follow: Classical course, Horace Wakefield Cristy of Worcester, Horace Clay Broughton of Philadelphia, Grace Sedgwick Cushman, Gertrude Blair Gage, Grace Ethel Webber; Latin-scientific, Bert Parley Anderson, Edith Laurana Hurlburt of Somers, Ct., Leonard Albert Prouty of West Brookfield, Katherine Risley Smith of Stafford Springs, Mabelle Estelle Watson; academic, George Warner Bennett, Luke Watson Clossom, Daniel Joseph Gallivan. Misses Gage and Cushman will enter Wellesley, Misses Hurlburt and Webber will enter Mount Holyoke college; Messrs. Cristy and Prouty will go to Dartmouth college, Mr. Broughton to Amherst college, Mr. Derrick, a special student, has been admitted to the medical school of Boston University. Mr. Morris, class of '85, now at Williston Seminary, will enter Amherst.

At the close of the exercises, a large number went to the Century Hotel to the alumni dinner, which was an unusually jolly affair, being interspersed with songs, etc. The speaking was enjoyable. Old customs were recalled, the need of a greater endowment was brought out, and the names of those who have been connected with the Academy who have died during the year were mentioned. They include two honored trustees, W. N. Flynt and Rev. Mr. Harding, Charles Bradley '58, A. E. Emerson, S. M. Warner, Miss Emma C. Buell '83, H. F. Smith, H. F. Hills, Origon Storrs, Rev. T. G. Colton, Rev. A. E. Beach and W. E. Morse.

Samuel S. Parks of Chicago, class of '82, was toastmaster, and these toasts were responded to:

"The Academy To-day."	Prof. A. N. Burke
"Our Day."	J. H. Wald
"In Memoriam."	Rev. James Tufts
"The Academy—A Training School for Citizenship."	W. H. Hall.
"The 'Co. Ed' Line."	H. H. Brown
"Memories of '87."	Miss Helen Thresher Hartzell
"Education and Democracy."	Prof. James H. Tufts.
"Class of '96."	H. W. Cristy.

Among the alumni present were Rev. J. H. Ward, editor of the Boston Herald, E. B. Flint, '94, Lincoln; H. A. King, Springfield; Olin Griggs, '94, Wesleyan University; Mr. Rowell; Messrs. Webster, W. H. Hall, West Hartford, Ct.; Mrs. C. O. Thompson, Mrs. Fred Hall, Boston; Mrs. W. S. Best, Roxbury; Mrs. George Holdridge, Austin Cristy, editor of the Worcester Telegram; George Miles, private secretary to C. P. Huntington, New York; E. G. Crowdis, '92, Princeton. These officers of the alumni association were chosen: President, H. A. King; vice president, L. C. Flynt; secretary and treasurer, T. L. Cushman; committee for '97 dinner, Mrs. F. W. Ellis, F. L. Morris, Miss Nellie F. Squier.

The senior reception was held in the evening, the Philharmonic orchestra furnished music for the dancing. A large number were present, including besides some of those present during the exercises of the day, Mrs. Hyde of Hartford, a guest of Mrs. E. D. Cushman, Mr. Sedgwick of Athol, Mrs. Prouty and Mrs. Tyler of West Brookfield, guests at Mrs. W. C. McMaster's, and Miss Hattie Flynt of Palmer.

Mr. Burke will remain in town about two weeks, when he will go to his home in Norwich, Ct. Miss Pease has attended commencement at Mr. Holyoke this week. She, with Miss Wood, school superintendent, will attend the American Institute of Instruction at Bethlehem, N. H., which begins July 9. Miss Cantwell will attend the summer school at Laurel Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Harwood of Enfield are guests of Lorenzo Hutchinson.

Rev. Harry Blackford attended the ordination of Rev. Mr. Fischer at Warren to-day.

Louise, daughter of A. D. Ellis, has been quite ill with pneumonia this week, but is much better.

Mrs. Nugent of South Monson was operated upon for a cancer Tuesday by Dr. Rafftery of Stafford Springs, assisted by Dr. C. W. Jackson.

A pleasant reunion was held to-day on Flynt Park. The participants being ladies who were employed by Merrick, Fay & Co. some 16 years ago, and represented the towns of Amherst, Enfield, Belchertown and Monson.

The non-arrival of an envelope containing a large amount of news, is the reason for the scarcity of local items this week. The fact that the letter had been sent was learned at the office only a few moments before going to press, too late to have the matter rewritten and put in type.

WALES.

C. M. Thompson had a relapse last Sunday, and is in a very critical condition.

William Isgear, a wealthy miner from Canton, Ill., and his sister, Ellen, of Providence, R. I., are visiting in Wales, more especially to look after their mother's grave.

Gilbert Roth got a bad cut on the head from a club in the hands of another man last Saturday night. Dr. Ross took four stitches in the wound, and he is doing well.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. church held a meeting Wednesday with the president, Mrs. G. W. Dimmick. There were many in attendance, and a very pleasant time was enjoyed.

WILBRAHAM.

Commencement exercises at Wesleyan Academy began Sunday with the baccalaureate sermon. Principal W. R. Newhall was assisted by Rev. J. W. Maynard, '77, of the New York east conference, who took his text from II Corinthians xii: "I seek not yours but you". The junior prize declamations were held in Fisk Hall Monday night, many former students being present, and the exercises were of unusual interest. The class day exercises were held Tuesday in the grove by the Rubicon, an elaborate programme being presented. In the evening a concert was given in the Memorial church. On Wednesday occurred the 70th anniversary of "Old Club," many former members being present. Among them were Col. Russell H. Conwell of Philadelphia, who delivered an address on "Oratory." In the evening there was a social gathering in the chapel under the auspices of the club, with informal speeches by the alumnae. The annual meeting of the trustees was held Tuesday and the trustees whose terms expire this year were unanimously reëlected. The old board of officers were also reëlected, and the various standing committees reappointed; Dr. Newhall was reëlected principal. Miss Emily L. Wyman, who has taught the fine arts in the academy for 17 years, has resigned and will go to Europe for study in July. The reports of the principal, treasurer and standing committee showed the institution to be in a prosperous condition. The treasurer's report showed that the academy has $10,000 more assets than at this time last year, outside the $35,000 gymnasium gift.

BRIMFIELD.

George A. Furniss is home from college in Revere.

Mrs. Porter A. Parker was in Springfield last week.

Mrs. John Noyes has returned from a visit in Springfield.

Fred Blood of Ware was a guest of C. S. Tarbell Wednesday.

George M. Hitchcock is improving his house by a dressing of paint.

F. Lincoln Pierce is home from Tufts College for his summer vacation.

John W. Brown, Jr., returned to his home Wednesday from Maine, where he is attending school.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bixby of Woodstock, Ct., were visiting relatives and friends in town Monday.

Louis S. Brown of the Massachusetts General Hospital at Boston is visiting his brother, Oscar F. Brown.

Mrs. Edward Bliss leaves for Bridgewater Monday, to attend the graduation of her daughter, Florence Charles Bliss, which takes place Tuesday.

Children's Day was observed at the First Congregational church with exercises by the young people. The pulpit never was more beautifully decorated, flowers and palms and maiden-hair ferns being used; much praise is given the ladies who were in charge, for their taste in arranging the flowers. Although the day was stormy, everything was as bright and cheerful as the children who took part. Much credit is due Mrs. Brown for the training of the little ones. The singing by the children was very entertaining, especially the solos by Florence Parker, Tommie Carley and Alice Sawin.

WARREN.

Mr. George De Laval has purchased a very stylish bay horse.

A. E. Shumway has returned from a short trip to Amherst.

H. A. Tidd has been confined to the house this week by an attack of neuralgia.

Miss Nina Gould has returned for the summer vacation from Tufts College.

Charles Harwood has taken a position in the test room in the Knowles pump works.

Work was stopped at the Slater Engine Co's. works Monday on account of an accident to the boiler.

Miss Sarah L. Patrick of West Newton spent a few days this week as the guest of Mrs. J. W. Hastings.

George L. Crosby, who graduates from Amherst next week, spent a few days at home this week, it being senior vacation.

The Fr. Matthew baseball team defeated the Ware team on the Southbridge street grounds last Saturday by a score of 8 to 2.

F. Edward Deluce graduated from Amherst Agricultural College this week. Mrs. F. J. Deluce and Miss Hermine were present at the exercises.

Rev. H. G. Hale will preach in Salem Sunday, and Rev. H. J. Patrich, D. D., of Newtonville, will preach in the Congregational church.

The members of the infant department of the Congregational Sunday school decorated the grave of their late superintendent, J. W. Chadsey, Monday morning.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union met with Mrs. Rebecca Shaw Tuesday afternoon. The subject of "Hygienic Cooking" was ably discussed by members present. The next meeting will be September 5th, as they take a vacation of two months.

Arcturus lodge of Odd Fellows and the Daughters of Rebekah held memorial services in their hall Sunday afternoon. Rev. Harris G. Hale of the Congregational church addressed them, after which the Odd Fellows decorated the graves of former members in the cemetery.

A meeting was held in Grand Army Hall Tuesday evening of those interested in having a procession of trades and horribles on the morning of July 4th. A committee was chosen to make arrangements and solicit funds, as follows: Edgar Butterworth, George Corey, Willie Duncan, Thomas Byron and George P. Sheridan.

The electric road is at a standstill this week. The temporary injunction granted by the court in favor of the town has been sustained. Four carloads of rails have arrived and have been unloaded near the Slater Engine Co's. works, but no work has been done on the line except that the wires have been strung as far as the rails are laid. It now remains for the railroad to put up the $5000 bond asked for by the town, and they will be allowed to proceed.

Mrs. Mary Ann Moore, who was one of our oldest residents, being 90 years old last March, died at her home on Moore avenue Wednesday morning. Mrs. Moore had been a partial invalid for a number of years, but until recently had been out to ride nearly every pleasant day. She was born in a house now standing on Quaboag street, and had always lived in town. She was a member of the Universalist church and very much interested in its welfare. She leaves one daughter, Mrs. Mary M. Richardson, and two sons, Isaac E. and Nathan R. Moore. The funeral will be held from her late residence to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock; Rev. O. I. Darling of Adams will officiate.

Boy's Leg Crushed.

John Cunningham, the ten-years-old son of Patrick Cunningham, met with a very serious accident at the Knowles pump works Tuesday. He had been working only about 10 days there, running the elevator, and at the time of the accident had a number of rods on it which projected over the edge, and when they struck the top of the door frame it threw him so that his leg was caught between the second floor and the elevator. The bone of the leg was crushed below the knee for about five inches. The case was so serious that Dr. Deland went with the patient to the Worcester City Hospital that night on the late train. He was getting along as well as could be expected at last reports, but if blood poisoning sets in it will necessary to amputate the leg just below the knee.

A Pretty June Wedding.

Miss Ella Louise Holman, daughter of Mrs. E. N. Holman, and David Louis King Hathaway were married at the home of the bride's mother on Quaboag street Wednesday evening. Rev. Harris G. Hale performed the ceremony after the Episcopal form, with a ring. The house was very handsomely decorated with laurel and maiden-hair fern. Miss Christine Holman, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Mr. Everett Jenney of Boston was best man. The ushers were Louis Holman and Burton Hobnay, brother of the bride, and Charles E. Goodrich and Augustus N. Kelley. About 75 guests were present, including some from Brooklyn, N. Y., Providence, Webster, and several other places. Frank A. Keith was the caterer. After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Hathaway will live on Quaboag street and will be at home after August 4th.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist church at the Rives Junction she was brought down with pneumonia succeeding la grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption, and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at LeGro & Lynde, Palmer; G. L. Keeney, Monson; F. A. Spencer, Ware. Regular size 50c and $1.

Mothers will find Chamberlain's Cough Remedy especially valuable for croup and whooping cough. It will give prompt relief and is safe and pleasant. We have sold it for several years and it has never failed to give the most perfect satisfaction. G. W. Richards, Duquesne, Pa. Sold by O. P. Allen, Palmer; Paige & Mason, Three Rivers; G. L. Keeney, Monson; A. P. Adams, Thorndike; William Kennedy, Ware.

Always in season, Hopkins' Steamed Hominy (Hulled Corn). Elegant lunch inmilk. Qt. can, 10c.

A hospital for the tender footed—such is the shoe store of Broadhurst Bros., 376 Main street, Springfield, where all deformities of the feet and painful and tender toe joints and bunions are nicely fitted, insuring ease and painless service.

If it required an annual outlay of $100.00 to insure a family against any serious consequences from an attack of bowel complaint during the year there are many who would feel it their duty to pay it; that they could not afford to risk their lives, and those of their family for such an amount.

Any one can get this insurance for 25 cents, being the price of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. In almost every neighborhood some one has died from an attack of bowel complaint before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. One or two doses of this remedy will cure any ordinary case. It never fails. Can you afford to take the risk for so small an amount? For sale by O. P. Allen, Palmer; Paige & Mason, Three Rivers; G. L. Keeney, Monson; A. P. Adams, Thorndike; William Kennedy, Ware.

Mr. James Perdue, an old soldier residing at Monroe, Mich., was severely afflicted with rheumatism, but received prompt relief from pain by using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. He says: "At times my back would ache so badly that I could hardly raise up. If I had not gotten relief I would not be here to write these few lines. Chamberlain's Pain Balm has done me a great deal of good and I feel very thankful for it." For sale by O. P. Allen, Palmer; Paige & Mason, Three Rivers; G. L. Keeney, Monson; A. P. Adams, Thorndike; William Kennedy, Ware.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER.

ABSOLUTELY PURE.

A cream of tartar Baking Powder. Highest of all in leavening power.—Latest United States Government Food Report.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall Street, New York.

POSTAL

Telegraph and Cable Co.

Office in Holden's Block,

PALMER, : : : : MASS.

Direct wires to New York and Boston. Office in all the principal cities in the

UNITED STATES.

PROMPT SERVICE,

REASONABLE RATES,

ALL BUSINESS

STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL

Forbes & Wallace's,

Springfield.

Sheet music at half the publisher's prices. No mistake. Any composition published, that we have, or that we can get—at half the publisher's prices. That means:—

60 cent music at 30 cents.
50 cent music at 25 cents.
40 cent music at 20 cents.

Butterick's Delineator for July is ready with new features, viz: colored millinery and dress fashion plates; 15c a copy, $1 for a year's subscription.

THE MUSLIN UNDERWEAR SALE.

Such muslin underwear as we are offering in this sale is not to be had elsewhere for anything like the prices. It is carefully made muslin underwear, of good materials; not trashy, mean stuff, put together carelessly to go cheap.

Gowns, 50c, 65, 75—
Skirts, 50c, 59, 79—
Corset covers, 25c, 35, 47—
Drawers, 25c, 35, 47—

South store.

OIL STOVES,
GAS STOVES.

Will you blow and fuss, and sweat over the range during the hot weather; and oil stoves to be had for as little as 35 cents, or gas stoves (small) for 19.

We have a few sheet steel oil ranges, slightly damaged by rust—no harm done—at half price—$1.98.

Big enough variety of gas and oil stoves, perhaps, to suit anybody from---and all at prices that nobody else thinks of selling them for.

ICE CREAM FREEZERS.

2-quart size, $1.57
3-quart size, $1.89
4-quart size, $2.31
6-quart size, $2.98
8-quart size, $3.79.

Forbes & Wallace,

Main, Vernon and Pynchon streets,

Springfield, Mass.

FINE GRANULATED SUGAR, confection sugar, pulverized sugar, lump sugar, Cox's gelatine, Plymouth Rock gelatine, tangle foot fly paper, Bakers' cocoa shells, new cheese—full cream, 1 gallon cans apple, table mustard in butter dishes and sugar bowls, 1 lb. blocks codfish, 3 lb. boxes codfish, whale codfish, salmon trout—pickled, salmon, red—pickled, mackerel—pickled.

W. E. STONE, Main street, Palmer. Telephone.

C. H. HOBBY, PIANO TUNER.

Orders for tuning may be left at O. P. Allen's drug store, Palmer; or may be sent to me by mail to Mansfield, Ct.

One minute is the standard time, and One Minute Cough Cure is the standard preparation for every form of cough or cold. It is the only harmless remedy that produces immediate results. LeGro & Lynde.

Teeth Filled Without Pain

BY THE "HALE METHOD."

The only known, tested and successful "method" yet discovered. Is endorsed by physicians, clergymen and all who have had teeth filled at my office during the past four years.

TEETH EXTRACTED WITHOUT PAIN

in fully 95 per cent of cases by the use of a harmless preparation.

"The Hale Method" is owned and controlled exclusively by me in Springfield and at no other office is it used.

LADY ATTENDANT. ELEVATOR

Dr. William L. Roberts, Dentist,

COURT SQUARE THEATRE BUILDING, SPRINGFIELD.

Coal! Coal!! Coal!!!

Better order your coal at once, as it will be higher sure.

Prices as follows, which are subject to advance any time:

Lehigh Egg,	$5.60
" Stove,	5.75
" Chestnut,	5.75
Lackawanna Egg,	$5.30
" Stove,	5.50

16c an hour for good men to house and bin where necessary. All coal delivered in bags, and none sent out that is not screened.

R. M. & THEO. REYNOLDS, = MONSON.

JUNE 13, 1896.

FINEST ROAD-BED ON THE CONTINENT.

BOSTON & ALBANY RAILROAD.

Only Double-Track Route to the West.

ON AND AFTER MAY 25, 1896.

Through Trains will Leave Boston as follows:

No. 7.—Day Express.

8:30 a. m.—Daily, except Sunday. Has Wagner buffet drawing-room car Boston to Albany, there connecting with through cars to all points West. Stops at Palmer 10.53 a. m.

No. 15.—Chicago Special.

10:30 a. m.—Daily. The finest train running in New England. A solid vestibuled Wagner train, comprising buffet, library and smoking car, sleeping cars and dining car Boston to Chicago, via the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern R. R., and also via Michigan Central R. R.

No. 19.—North Shore Limited.

2:00 p. m.—Daily. Has through vestibuled buffet sleeping cars Boston to Detroit and Chicago, via Michigan Central R. R. Dining car attached at Albany.

No. 23.—Cincinnati Express.

3:00 p. m.—Daily. Has through vestibuled buffet sleeping car Boston to Chicago via Lake Shore and Michigan Southern R. R., and to St. Louis and Cincinnati via Big Four Route. Stops at Palmer 5.20 p. m.

No. 9.—Pacific Express.

7:15 p. m.—Daily. Has through sleeping cars Boston to Chicago via Michigan Central. Sleeping car Boston to Buffalo, parlor car Buffalo to Cleveland, sleeping car Cleveland to Chicago via Lake Shore & Michigan Southern.

No. 63.—Albany Express.

11:00 p. m.—Daily, except Saturday. Has sleeping car Boston to Albany. Stops at Palmer 1.46 a. m.

TRAINS LEAVE PALMER FOR BOSTON.

3.45 a. m.	Express.
6.22 "	Accommodation.
7.32 "	"
8.25 "	Daily Express.
10.00 "	Express, except Sunday.
11.42 "	Accommodation.
1.40 p. m.	Express.
3.12 "	"
4.49 "	Accommodation.
6.49 "	Daily Express.
7.55 "	Sundays only. Express.
9.03 "	Express.

Time tables showing local and through service between all Stations, may be obtained at all ticket offices of the Company.

City Office, 366 Washington Street.
